This is a reproduction of a library book that was digitized by Google as part of an ongoing effort to preserve the information in books and make it universally accessible.

Google™ books

https://books.google.com

This is a reproduction of a library book that was digitized by Google as part of an ongoing effort to preserve the information in books and make it universally accessible.

Google™ books

https://books.google.com

Digitized by Google

TRANGÈRE
Impériale

Digitized by Google

FIG. 1.

Digitized by Google

BIB. DOM.
LAVAL. S. J.

A. FRANCK
LIBRAIRIE FRANÇAISE ET ÉTRANGÈRE
Ancienne et Moderne,
Rue de Richelieu, 67
En face de la Bibliothèque Impériale
A PARIS.

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

MONUMENTA HISTORICA BRITANNICA,

OR

Materials for the History of Britain,

FROM

THE EARLIEST PERIOD

TO

THE END OF THE REIGN OF KING HENRY VII.

PUBLISHED

BY

COMMAND OF HER MAJESTY.

MDCCCXLVIII.

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

MONUMENTA HISTORICA BRITANNICA,

OR

Materials for the History of Britain,

FROM

THE EARLIEST PERIOD.

VOLUME I.

(EXTENDING TO THE NORMAN CONQUEST.)

PREPARED AND ILLUSTRATED WITH NOTES BY THE LATE

HENRY PETRIE, ESQ. F.S.A.,

KEEPER OF THE RECORDS IN THE TOWER OF LONDON;

ASSISTED BY

THE REV. JOHN SHARPE, B.A.,

RECTOR OF CASTLE EATON, WILTSHIRE.

PUBLISHED

BY

COMMAND OF HER MAJESTY.

MDCCCXLVIII.

Digitized by Google

The extensive and important Work, of which this Volume forms the first portion, was undertaken at the command of His late Majesty King George the Fourth, in pursuance of an Address presented to His Majesty by the House of Commons in the Year 1822, praying that His Majesty would be pleased to give such directions as He might think fit for the Publication of a complete Edition of the ancient Historians of this Realm.

The Historical Selections and Histories contained in this Volume were collected and prepared for printing by the late Mr. Henry Petrie, assisted by the Rev. John Sharpe, and were printed by command of His late Majesty King William the Fourth, under the direction of the Commissioners of the Public Records of the Kingdom.

The Volume was not finished by Mr. Petrie, and since his death it has been completed and the prefatory matter added by Mr. Thomas Duffus Hardy; it is now published by command of Her Majesty.

LANGDALE, M. R.

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

To

The Queen's Most Excellent Majesty,

THIS VOLUME,

the first of

THE MATERIALS FOR THE HISTORY OF BRITAIN, is with

Her Majesty's Gracious Permission,

Humbly Dedicated by

HER MAJESTY'S

Most Devoted Servant and Faithful Subject,

Thomas Duffus Hardy.

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

General Introduction - - - - - - - - - 1
Preface - - - - - - - - - - - 49
Appendix - - - - - - - - - - 97
Introductory Remarks on the Chronology of the Mediæval Historians - - 103
Chronological Abstract - - - - - - - - 129

Excerpta de Britannia:
Ex Scriptoribus Græcis atque Latinis,
Geographica - - - - - - - - - i
Historica - - - - - - - - - - xxvii
Miscellanea - - - - - - - - - lxxxvii
Ex Inscriptionibus - - - - - - - - - cvi
Indices - - - - - - - - - - - cxxi
Remarks on the Ancient British Coins - - - - - - - cli
Descriptive Catalogue of the Coins, with Plates - - - - - - cliii Fac-similes of MSS.
Map of Britannia Romana.

Gildæ Sapientis de Excidio Britanniæ Historia - - - - - - 1
Epistola - - - - - - - - - - 16
Eulogium Britanniæ sive Historia Britonum, auctore Nennio - - - 47
Venerabilis Bedæ —
Chronicon, sive De Sex hujus Sæculi Ætatibus - - - - - - 83
Historia Ecclesiastica Gentis Anglorum - - - - - - 103
Chronologia brevissima ad Northanymbros spectans - - - - - 290
The Anglo-Saxon Chronicle - - - - - - - - 291
Asserius de Rebus gestis Ælfredi - - - - - - - - 467
Chronicon Aethelweardi - - - - - - - - - 499
Florentii Wigornensis Chronicon - - - - - - - - 522
Appendix — Nomina Archiepiscoporum et Episcoporum Angliæ - - - 616
Genealogia Regum Anglorum - - - - - - 627
Simeonis Dunelmensis Historia de gestis Regum Anglorum - - - - 645
Henrici Huntendunensis Historia Anglorum - - - - - - 689
" L'Estorie des Engles, solum la Translation Maistre Geffrei Gaimar " - 764
Annales Cambriæ - - - - - - - - - - 830
Brut y Tywysogion, or the Chronicle of the Princes of Wales - - - 841
De Bello Hastingensi Carmen - - - - - - - - 856
Indices - - - - - - - - - - - 873

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

GENERAL INTRODUCTION

TO THE

MATERIALS FOR THE HISTORY OF BRITAIN.

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

GENERAL INTRODUCTION

TO THE

MATERIALS FOR THE HISTORY OF BRITAIN.

§ 1. The English Government has been reproached, both at home and abroad, for indifference towards the claims of our early historical literature, because, until the commencement of this great National Work in the year 1823, it had made no attempt to publish our ancient historians; but it must not be forgotten that during the present century a considerable sum of money has been expended in printing the ancient juridical muniments of the realm, which in some instances constitute the genuine sources of historical literature, and in others elucidate the statements and narratives of these very historians. The funds so liberally granted might, perhaps, in some instances, have been more judiciously applied; more might have been done for our early historical literature; and, after the bright example and success of other European States, a collection might have been formed of our early English historians in a manner which would have been honourable to us as a people, and worthy of our position as a great nation. Without stopping, however, to inquire into the merits of other countries in this respect, and the indifference so often imputed to us, it will be enough to show how far the efforts of private individuals have been successful in rescuing from oblivion the stores of our ancient History.

§ 2. The Materials for the History of Britain from the Roman Invasion to the end of the reign of King Henry VII. are numerous, extensive, and vary in degree of importance. Many of them are original, others partly original, partly compiled, and the remainder are mere transcripts from existing authorities, with occasional interpolations and additions. Out of each of these three classes much remains still unpublished. A larger and more valuable portion has been printed, though most imperfectly, during the last three centuries. The series is contained in more than fifty volumes of various sizes; besides numerous detached pieces of importance published in different collections, both Foreign and English, amounting to more than double that number.

Caxton's Chronicles of England.

§ 3. The earliest historical work printed in England issued from the press of the venerable Caxton, in the year 1480; it is entitled "The Chronicles of England," and was undertaken "atte the request of dyverce gentilmen."

This Chronicle is apparently the History of the Kings of England, derived from the Cottonian Manuscript, Galba, E. viii. slightly abridged. The description of Britain which usually accompanies this edition is, with a few additions, taken from the Polichronicon.

The period embraced in this work extends from Albina to the coronation of King Edward IV.(1)

Trevisa's Translation of Higden's Polichronicon.

§ 4. Two years afterwards Caxton printed the Translation of Higden's Polichronicon (2), by John de Trevisa, under the title of "The Polichronicon of Ranulf Higden, Englished "by Trevisa, sette in forme by me, William Caxton, and a little embellyshed fro the olde "making, and also have added such storyes as I could find, fro thende that the said Ranulf

(1) The edition of this Chronicle which was printed at St. Alban's in 1483 is erroneously called The Fructus Temporum. The last-named work was compiled by a schoolmaster of St. Alban's from Caxton's Chronicle, with the addition of brief excerpts from Scripture, commencing with the Creation; it afterwards contains slight notices of the popes and emperors.

(2) Higden's Polichronicon appears to be the same as the Policratica by Roger, a monk of Chester, which he slightly alters and amplifies. It originally ended in the year 1327, but he afterwards continued it to 1345. It was subsequently continued to 1397 by different writers.

Digitized by Google

" fynysshed his book, which was the yere of oure Lorde 1357, unto the yere of the " same 1460." (1)

This translation by Trevisa is generally strict and literal, but sometimes confused from a misapprehension of the author's meaning. Occasionally short notices are inserted by way of explanation. At 1345, where Higden finishes, there is a lacuna to 1354, and the work ends with the treaty of "Bretigne," A.D. 1360. This latter portion is taken from the Continuation of the Polichronicon, which is abridged with little variation. On the whole, Trevisa appears to have been shrewd and well informed.

Caxton, at the conclusion, expresses his desire of adding another book by way of continuation from 1357 to 1460; but he could find no books of authority, except a " lytel " boke named Fasciculus Temporum (2), and another callyd Aureus de Universo (3), in which " said bokes," he says, " I fynde ryght lytel matter syth the sayde time." (4)

Caxton's Continuation of the Polichronicon.

§ 5. In his Continuation (5) of the Polichronicon, Caxton thus excuses himself for the scantiness of the work, and complains of the difficulty of finding materials suitable for his purpose:—" If I coude have founden moo storyes I would have set in hit moo, but the " substance that I can find and knowe I have shortly sette hem in this booke." This ingenuous confession shows how little he was aware of the value of the monkish historians, or even of the existence of those noble manuscripts of their works which were then preserved in the libraries of our monastic establishments; otherwise he might have found it advantageous to print their original works. Perhaps, however, the laity were not yet sufficiently advanced in learning to understand books written in the Latin tongue, or to take pleasure in any other than works of amusement. The literature of the day, which consisted chiefly of polemic and scholastic divinity, was unfavourable to historical literature; and thus the English press was employed in producing a succession of works of inferior importance,

---

(1) The latest date which occurs in Trevisa is 1357, but he has continued his narrative to the year 1360. Caxton, however, has erroneously stated that the Chronicle ends in 1357: his mistake seems to have arisen from that date being the last that is there mentioned. He has also altered the conclusion of Trevisa's translation, which in the Harleian Manuscript 1900 ends thus: " God be thonked of alle his dedes. This translacion is ended in a Thursday " the xviij. day of Averyl, the ȝere of oure Lord a thousand thre hundred four score and seven, the tenthe ȝere of " Kyng Richard the Secunde after the conquest of Englond, the ȝere of my Lordes age, Sire Thomas Lord of Berke- " leye, that made me make this translacion, fyve & thritty." But Caxton has printed it thus: " God be thanked of " al his dedes. This translacion is ended on a Thursdaye the eyhtenethe daye of Apryll the yere of our Lord a thousand " thre honderd and lvii., the xxxi. yere of Kyng Edward the Thyrd after the conquest of Englond, the yere of my " Lordes age, Syr Thomas Lord of Berkely, that made me make this translacion, fyve & thritty." Now as Thomas Lord Berkeley was born on the 4th of January 1353 (Inquis. post mortem 42 Edw. 3. N° 12) he was consequently in the thirty-fifth year of his age in April 1387, the tenth year of the reign of King Richard II.; and as the 18th of April fell on a Thursday in the year 1387, and on a Tuesday in 1357, it is probable that the mistake arose from Caxton's transcriber having written 1357 for 1387; and that Caxton, knowing that 1357 was not the tenth year of the reign of King Richard II., but the thirty-first of King Edward III., substituted the last-mentioned date in order to make the regnal agree with the dominical year.

(2) The Fasciculus Temporum has hardly the slightest notice of England.

(3) The Aureus de Universo has not occurred.

(4) " Thus endeth the book named Proloconycon (sic), made & compiled by Ranulph monk of Chestre, whiche ordeyned it in Latyn; & atte request of the ryght worshipful Lord, Thomas Lord of Berkeley, it was translated in to Englisshe by one Trevisa, thenne Vycarye of the Paryssh of Barkley. And for as moche as syth the accomplysshemente of this sayd booke made by the sayd Ranulph ended the yere of oure Lord a. M.CCC.lvij. many thynges havne fallen whiche ben requysyte tobe added to this werke, by cause mennes wyttes in this tyme ben oblyvyous and lyghtly forgoten, many thyngys dygne tobe putte in memorye, and also there can not be founden in these dayes but fewe that wryte in theyr regystres suche thynges as dayly happen and falle, therefore I, William Caxton, a symple persone, have endevoyred me to wryte fyrst over all the sayd book of Proloconycon (sic), and som what have chaunged the rude and old Engleyssh, that is to wete, certayn wordes which in these dayes be neither usyd ne understanden; & furthermore have put it in emprynte & thende that it maye be had & the maters therin cōprised tobe knowen, for the boke is general touching shortly many notable maters; & also am avysed to make another booke after this sayd werke whiche shal be sett here after the same, and shal have his chapytres & his table a parte. For I dar not presume to sette my booke ne joyne hit to his, for dyverse causes; one is for as moche as I have not ne can gete no bokes of auctoryte treatynge of suche cronykes, except a lytel boke named Fasciculus Temporum, and another callyd Aureus de Universo, in whiche bookes I fynde ryght lytel mater syth the sayde tyme; and another cause is for as moche as my rude symplenesse and ignorant making ought not tobe compared, set, ne joyned to his boke, thenne I shal by the grace of God set my werke after a parte, for to accomplysshe the yeres syth that he fynysshed his book, unto the yere of our Lord M.CCCC.lx. and the fyrst yere of the regne of Kyng Edward the fourthe, whiche amoūte to an honderd and thre yere."

(5) Caxton's Continuation, which is in general very scanty, is chiefly abridged from his Chronicle of England, but it has also additions from other sources. He professes to have modernized Trevisa's translation, and he has occasionally slightly added to it. He has omitted the dialogue between the translator and Thomas Lord Berkeley on the utility of translation, as well as the first thirty-eight chapters of the first book.

Digitized by Google

rather than in multiplying and preserving copies of those works which are of undoubted value and excellence. At the close of the fifteenth and at the commencement of the sixteenth century, England was certainly behind most of the Continental States in the knowledge of ancient literature. She had hardly recovered from the shock inflicted on her by the wars of the rival Houses of York and Lancaster, when the struggles in which they were engaged drew the laity to the field of battle, filled the cloisters with alarm, and left no time or leisure for mere literary occupations. Whilst, therefore, in the century immediately succeeding to these events, the presses of the Continent teemed with original editions of the works of the classical authors, not one was produced in this country. (1)

The Golden Legend.

§ 6. In 1483 Caxton was engaged upon another historical work, called "The Golden Legend." "I have submysed myself," he says, "to translate into Englysshe (2) the "Legende of Sayntes, which is called Legenda Aurea in Latyn, that is to say, The "Golden Legende. Ageynst me here might some persones say that thys Legende hath "be translated before; and trouthe it is; but for as moche as I had by me a legende in "Frenche (3), and another in Latyn, and the thyrd in Englishe, which varyed in many divers "places, and also many histories were comprysed in the two other bookes which were not "in the Englysshe boke; and therefore I have wryten one out of the said thre bookes, "which I have ordered otherwise than the said Englysshe legende is, which was before "made."

Fabian's Chronicle. Capgrave's Legenda Nova Angliæ.

§ 7. From this period, with the exception of Fabian's Chronicle, and Capgrave's Legenda Nova Angliæ, (both of which appeared in 1516 (4),) several years were allowed to elapse before any edition of an original national historian emanated from the English press. The treatise "Britanniæ utriusque Regum et Principum Origo et Gesta," by Geoffrey of Monmouth, had been twice printed at Paris, in 1508 and 1517; and Beda's "Historia Ecclesiastica Gentis Anglorum" (5) had gone through five editions, but that work, it must be remembered, was considered as the common property of the Church, and his "Chronicon, sive De Sex Ætatibus," through four editions, on the Continent, previous to the year 1525. The Paris press also produced in 1495 the "Quadrilogus;" or the "Vita et Processus S. Thomæ Cantuariensis"(6); in 1519 the Epistles of Peter Blois were published by Merlin, and in 1526 an edition of "Scotorum Historia ab illius Gentis Origine," by Hector Boethius.

Polydore Vergil's Gildas.

§ 8. The first historical work deserving that name which appeared from an English press was that of Gildas in 1525, and even that was not undertaken by an Englishman, but by Polydore Vergil, the eminent Italian scholar.

---

(1) Between the years 1465 and 1601 ninety-one first editions of classic writers appeared on the Continent, but not one emanated from the press in England. It may not be uninteresting to compare the number of books published abroad in the fifteenth century with the number printed in England during the same period. Panzer (Annales Typographici) gives the numbers thus: Augsburg, 256; Basle, 320; Bologna, 298; Cologne, 530; Florence, 300; Leipsic, 351; Louvain, 116; Mentz, 134; Milan, 629; Nuremberg, 382; Paris, 751; Rome, 925; Strasburg, 526; Venice, 2,835; London, 31; Westminster, 100; Oxford, 7; St. Alban's, 4.

(2) "Thus endueth the Legende named, in Latyn, Legenda Aurea, which werke I have accomplished at the com- "maundment of Wyllyam Erle of Arondel, & have fynysshed it at Westmestre, the twenty day of Novembre, the yere "of our Lord M.CCCC.Lxxxiij., at the firste yere of the regne of Kyng Richard the Thyrd. By me, William Caxton."

(3) He here alludes to La Legende Dorèe, by Jehan de Vignay. There is in the Lambeth Library (No 223) a manuscript copy of the Golden Legend, in English metre, by Robert de Wottoun; but it does not contain all the Lives in the Legenda Aurea, though it add sseveral Biblelic stories, and also the Lives of several saints, which are not in Caxton's edition. In 1493 Caxton printed a second edition, which is not so full as that of 1483, though he has added to it the Life of Saint Erasmus. Wynkyn de Worde also printed editions of the Golden Legend in 1498, 1512, and 1527, as did Julian Notary in 1503.

(4) The Concordaunce of Histories, a chronicle of England and France, compiled by Robert Fabian in 1493, was printed at London by Pynson in 1516, who also printed in that year The Kalendre of the Newe Legende; in the prologue to which it is said to be "taken out of the Newe Legende of the Santys of Englande, Irelande, Scotlande, "& Wales, for them that understand not the Latin Tongue." The work itself is a very brief abridged translation of Capgrave's Legenda Nova Angliæ, which was printed by Wynkyn de Worde in 1516. Capgrave's work appears to be nearly an abbreviated transcript of Tinmouth's Sanctilogium, changing the order in which the Lives there occur into an alphabetical series. The Lives in Tinmouth's work are arranged according to the calendar, beginning with Edward the Confessor (5th January), and ending with Egwin (30th December).

(5) The Historia Ecclesiastica Gentis Anglorum first appeared about the year 1471, without the name of the printer or of the place where it was printed; but it is ascribed, with much probability, to Conrad Fyner of Eslingen, who produced another edition in 1475; that was followed by others at Strasburg in 1485, at Spires in 1490, at Strasburg in 1500, and at Hagenau in 1506. See further remarks on the Historia Ecclesiastica, at page 69 post.

(6) The compilation by the Monk of Evesham (Faust. B. VIII. 3), omitting the first part of his prologue, and substituting a portion of that of Grime (Vitell. C. XII. 8), from whom nearly all the four first chapters are borrowed.

Digitized by Google

Rastell's Pastyme of People.

§ 9. In 1529 appeared "The Cronycles of dyvers realmys, and most specyally of the realme of Englend, otherwise called The Pastyme of People," a work compiled and printed by John Rastell. (1)

Rastell follows the Polichronicon, Geoffrey of Monmouth, Beda, Caxton's Chronicle, and Fabian, briefly, but with sufficient exactness. In a few instances, he exhibits something of critical sagacity. His work, on the whole, is of little value; nearly all that it contains is to be found elsewhere.

§ 10. That our ancestors commenced their labours at the wrong period of our history must be evident from the works they published. The dawn of historical literature had not yet appeared in England, though classical learning, both Greek and Latin, had considerably advanced.

Halle's Union of the families of Lancaster and York.

Harding's Chronicle.

§ 11. In 1542 (2) we have "The union of the two noble and illustre famelies of Lancastre and Yorke," extending from Henry IV. to Henry VIII., written by Edward Halle. This was followed by the "Chronicle of John Harding, in metre, from the firste begynnyng of Englande unto the reigne of Edward IV., wher he made an end, with a continuacion in prose to this our tyme." (3)

The Duke of Somerset's Expedition into Scotland.

Lanquet's Epitome of Chronicles.

Cooper's Continuation.

§ 12. Five years after the latter publication, there issued from the English press (4) "The Expedicion into Scotlande of the most worthely fortunate Prince Edward Duke of Somerset," by William Patten; and in the following year, 1549, "The Epitome of Chronicles," commenced by Thomas Lanquet, and continued to the reign of Edward VI. by Thomas Cooper, successively Bishop of Lincoln and Winchester. (5)

Proctor's Wyate's Rebellion.

Grafton's Chronicles.

Daye's Gildas.

§ 13. In 1554 the Historie of Wyate's Rebellion was printed by John Proctor (6); in 1562 appeared Richard Grafton's Abridgment of the Chronicles of England (7); and in the year following an edition of Gildas was printed by J. Daye. (8)

§ 14. The publications which have hitherto been mentioned required only a brief notice; but a new and more important class of works is now about to claim the Reader's attention. It must not, however, be supposed, because they are here enumerated, that they are all of the same value and importance; or that the manner in which the greater part of them has been edited supersedes the necessity of new editions. Hitherto little attempt has been made to apply to our early Chronicles those rules of literary criticism to which the classical authors were subjected in the first instance. The several editors of these Chronicles rarely examined into the degree of credibility which ought to be attached to the work they were engaged upon, or what were the sources of the compiler's information, or upon what manuscripts his text ought to have been based; and the consequence has been, that writers have been quoted with respect who are entitled to none, and appeals have been made to mere plagiarists as if they were of primary authority. (9) It will be shown, in noticing the works which are about to pass under review, how far each is of primary or of secondary authority; and the result may perhaps convince the Reader that a considerable portion of that which has been printed is of no authority, and has tended rather to confuse than elucidate our History.

---

(1) Fol. Lond. 1529.

(2) Lond. 1542 (by Berthelette). One copy of this work in the British Museum contains the following note: "The first volume of this copy of Hall's Chronicle differs very materially from the editions of 1548 and 1550. I "believe it to be the edition of 1542 which is mentioned in the third volume of Warton's History of English "Poetry, the existence of which has been denied. The edition noticed by Warton is expressly said to have been "printed by Berthelette; and the type of this, in which alone it differs from the editions of 1548 and 1550, "corresponds with that used by Berthelette in some of his editions of Henry the Eighth's statutes.—Henry Ellis."

(3) 4to, Lond. 1543; printed by Richard Grafton. Sir Henry Ellis, in the Preface to his edition of Harding's Chronicle, states that there were two editions in January 1543.

(4) 12mo, London; printed by Grafton in 1548. George Lily's Chronicon sive Brevis Enumeratio Regum et Principum Britanniæ was published abroad in the same year.

(5) 4to, Lond. 1549. Lanquet died in 1545, before he had proceeded in his work further than the Incarnation. Cooper also published in 1560 a Continuation of his Chronicle, ending with the reign of Queen Mary. The imprint of the first Chronicle (to the reign of Edw. VI.) is 1569, but it is an error of press for 1549.

(6) 8vo, Lond. 1554.

(7) Printed by Richard Tottyl. In 1565 a Manual of the Cronicles of England, printed by Ihon Kingston, appeared; and in 1569 Grafton's "Chronicle at large," printed by Henry Denham, made its appearance.

(8) 8vo, Lond.

(9) The historian Hume was so little acquainted with the relative value of the monkish annalists that he frequently adduces, without any discrimination, secondary and even fourth rate evidence in support of the facts he narrates, as may be seen at the foot of his pages. Thus for the history of the reign of Edward the Confessor he cites indifferently the Saxon Chronicle, Florence of Worcester, William of Malmesbury, Ralph Higden, and Matthew of Westminster.

Digitized by Google

§ 15. Of these works the first is the Chronicle of Marianus Scotus, published at Basle in 1559 (1) by Pistorius.

Marianus Scotus' Chronicle.

§ 16. The next is "Flores Historiarum," attributed to Matthew, a monk of Westminster, edited in the year 1567 (2) by the celebrated Matthew Parker, Archbishop of Canterbury, who devoted the hours unemployed in the discharge of his arduous duties, not only to the study of the Anglo-Saxon language, but also to the cultivation of English antiquities generally. Had that learned and laborious prelate been aware of the relative value of our early national historians, he would undoubtedly have selected for publication some work of more authority and originality than is possessed by the Flores Historiarum, as the following short analysis of that compilation will show.

Parker's edition of Flores Historiarum.

The Flores Historiarum extend from the creation of the world to 1307. Of the compiler nothing seems known. The name of Matthew of Westminster is not to be found in the oldest manuscripts; and the work was in all probability attributed to a supposed person of that name, from the words "Frater Matthæus" being found in the rubric at the beginning of the manuscript of Matthew Paris (the earlier portion of whose work is identical with the "Flores Historiarum"), now in Corpus Christi College, Cambridge. The title was thus suggested to Parker, the earliest editor to whom this manuscript belonged, and from him it has been generally adopted. The oldest manuscript in which it is ascribed to Matthew of Westminster is of the fifteenth century (MS. Cott. Claud. E. viii.) In MS. Cott. Nero, D. v., under A.D. 1235, it is simply called Flores Historiarum, while other copies ascribe it either to Johannes Rochfort, Johannes de Londonia, or Edmundus de Hadenham.

The compiler of the Flores Historiarum at times abridges, and at others merely transcribes, his authors, though often with considerable latitude; he changes the phrase, and frequently makes additions which alter the sense. The chronology of this work being derived from many sources is necessarily liable to great uncertainty. Sometimes the compiler adopts a peculiar computation of his own; thus, when copying Florence, he frequently differs from him a year, and sometimes several years. As he writes in the form of annals he assigns determinate years to the fables of Geoffrey of Monmouth, and for most of the wonderful stories in Malmesbury which that writer's better judgment had left undated. In the earlier parts of the Chronicle he had placed the time of Easter in the margin at the beginning of the year; this date seems to have crept into the text; another source of error is probably to be traced to this circumstance; so that the printed copy appears to assign a specific date to particular transactions, when nothing more was intended by the compiler than to indicate the day on which Easter fell in that particular year. (See MS. Bodley, Laud. 572. Col. c. 86., and MS. Cott. Claud. E. viii.)

From the Creation to the year 1066, nearly all that relates to England is taken from Nennius, Beda, Geoffrey of Monmouth, Malmesbury, Florence of Worcester, Simeon of Durham, Henry of Huntingdon, Osbern, Ailred of Rievaulx, the Lives of Saints Alban, Oswin, Ethelbert and Adelbert, Guthlac, Offa, Ebba, Edmund, Neot, and Dunstan, with some notices of the kings and bishops of Northumbria, from a source apparently known to Simeon of Durham, but given more at length in the Flores than by Simeon. There is also mention made of some bishops not to be found in Florence. All the narrative which cannot be assigned to one or other of these sources is of very little value.

From the year 1066 to 1259 the Flores Historiarum is an abridgment of Matthew Paris (3), more or less scanty, with some few additions from other sources. In the earlier portions of this period these additions are derived chiefly from Malmesbury, Huntingdon, Hoveden, or Ralph de Diceto. Sometimes, by adding circumstances and dates, the compiler seems to amplify Matthew Paris; and though the text at such times is evidently taken from that writer, yet it is hardly reconcileable with him. The compiler of the "Flores" occasionally states the same fact in successive years, and sometimes twice in the same year. In the chronology of this portion of his work are many blunders, and frequent transposition of events from the order in which they occur in Matthew Paris, thus dating them a year later or earlier.

From the year 1259 to 1307 the author gives a general account of transactions at considerable length. Under the year 1265 there is a recapitulation of events from the Parliament of Oxford, A.D. 1208, to the battle of Evesham, A.D. 1265. In the latter part of this division passages occur taken from some authority common to the compiler and Nicholas Trivet; and from 1275 to 1291 the events are generally taken from the same source as the Annals of Waverley, though each contains some circumstances not to be found in the other.

Archbishop Parker, having discovered that the manuscript of Matthew of Westminster which he had used in the edition of the Flores Historiarum of 1567 was imperfect, issued a second edition of that work in 1570.

---

(1) See further at p. 83, post. relative to the Chronicle of Marianus Scotus.

(2) In this year was also published, "The Actis and Deidis of the illuster and vaiȝeand Campioun Schir William Wallace, Knicht of Ellerslie, by Henry the Minstrel, commonly called Blind Harry." 8vo, Edin., 1570, by Robert Lekprevik.

(3) The first part, to page 224, Wats (Præf. in Matt. Paris) thinks, ought to be properly assigned to Roger de Wendover, whose work was also called Flores Historiarum. See MS. Cott. Nero, D. v., A.D. 1235, where these words occur: "Dominus Rogerus de Wendovre hucusque cronica sua digessit."

Digitized by Google

Josseline's Gildas.

§ 17. In the year 1567 John Josseline, secretary to Archbishop Parker, undertook a new edition of Gildas, De Excidio Britanniæ ([1]), in which the avowed alterations and omissions in Polydore's edition were corrected and supplied on manuscript authority.

Newbury's Historia Rerum Anglicarum.

§ 18. In this year ([2]) also appeared, for the first time, the Historia Rerum Anglicarum, by William of Newbury.

He is also sometimes called William of Rievaulx, apparently from having dedicated his History to an abbot of that monastery. Newburg's narrative is highly interesting; the events selected with great judgment. His observations are acute and sensible, and his style is clear and sober. In his Preface he refutes the legendary tales of Geoffrey of Monmouth, and yet he himself occasionally falls into the marvellous. He expresses his intention to treat briefly of the transactions from the Conquest to the accession of King Stephen (the time of his own birth), but from that date to be more full in his narration. His work terminates abruptly at the year 1198; and, as there is no reason to suppose that he ever brought it lower, it is probable that he died soon after that period. ([3])

Parker's edition of Matthew Paris's Historia Major.

§ 19. In 1571 ([4]) Archbishop Parker published the "Historia Major" ([5]) of Matthew Paris. He formed his text upon several manuscripts ([6]), but not with sufficient exactness, as it has been shown by Wats. He used a manuscript of Cecil's (now M.S. Arund. 96.) from 1066 to 1208, then one of Aglionby's to 1189, then Sidney's to 1254, and Lord Arundel's for the continuation to 1272.

This valuable work extends from the year 1066 to the year 1259. It is compiled from Malmesbury, Ailred of Rievaulx, Florence of Worcester, Ralph de Diceto, Henry of Huntingdon, Benedictus Abbas, Roger Hoveden, Robert de Monte ([7]), William of Tyre's "Historia rerum in partibus transmarinis gestarum," the "Historia Ierosolimitana" by Baldric Archbishop of Dol, John of Salisbury's Lives of Archbishops Anselm ([8]) and Beket ([9]), the Epistles of Herebert de Bosham ([10]), of St. Thomas and Peter of Blois ([11]), the Chronicon Terræ Sanctæ ([12]), the History of St. Patric's Purgatory by Henry de Salteria ([13]), the Legenda Wulfrici ([14]), Vita Godrici ([15]), De Inventione St. Amphibali ([16]), and the Visiones Monachi de Evesham. ([17]) The extracts from these authors are abridged, transposed, interpolated, and sometimes confused. There are but few passages relating to Britain which cannot be traced to the above-mentioned authors, and they are generally of little importance. From the year 1201 to the year 1235 the text seems to have been taken from that of Roger of Wendover, with slight alterations and occasional additions chiefly legendary. From an. 1235 to 1269 the work is certainly the production of Matthew Paris. Both portions of the

---

([1]) Between Polydore's edition of Gildas and that by Josseline three others appeared: 8vo, Augsburg, 1534; Basle, 1541; London, (printed by J. Daye,) 1563.

([2]) Newburg's History was first published by Silvius at Antwerp in 1567; it was then printed at Heidelburg in 1587, and again revised and augmented by Picard, at Paris, in 1610, and again in 1632. Hearne's edition appeared in 1719 (3 vols. 8vo, Oxford). Extracts from it were inserted by Leland in his Collectania, I. 226, IV. 311.

([3]) He is supposed to have died about the year 1200.

([4]) Fol. Lond. 1571; printed by Reynold Wolfe. Other editions followed: in 1589, Fol. Zurich; 1606, Fol. Zurich; 1640, Fol. Lond. (Wats); 1644, Fol. Paris; and, 1684, Fol. Lond.

([5]) The Historia Major is properly a portion of what was originally called the Flores Historiarum, extending from the Creation to 1235, and of which that part preceding the year 1066 is printed in Matthew of Westminster.

([6]) The Prologue is taken from the Royal Manuscript, 14 C. vii., and the title is from the rubric prefixed to it, but he has inserted the words "Mat. Par." and "Hist. Major," and changed at the close "præcedentium" for "subse-" quentium."

([7]) Differing, however, frequently a year, and sometimes several, in the chronology from the text in D'Achery's edition of this author.

([8]) John of Salisbury's Life of Anselm is abridged in Capgrave's Legenda Nova. See also No. XI. p. 25.

([9]) Nearly the whole of John of Salisbury's Life of Beket is inserted in the Quadrilogus.

([10]) Herebert de Bosham Manuscript C.C.C. Cantab. CXXIII. Seven of these Letters, those written in the name of Beket, are printed in Lupus's edition of Beket's Letters. His Life of St. Thomas Archbishop of Canterbury is in C.C.C. Oxon, D. 5. 5.

([11]) The Epistles of St. Thomas (Beket) were twice printed in Lupus, and more recently by Dr. Giles; those of Peter of Blois have also been printed more than once.

([12]) Chronicon Terræ Sanctæ, see p. 34, post.

([13]) This author appears to have lived in the middle of the twelfth century. The greater portion of his work is introduced into Matthew Paris's History, and in Messingham.

([14]) For the Legenda Wulfrici, see Capgrave, f. 328.

([15]) Vita Godrici, printed in the Acta Sanctorum, 21 May, vol. v. p. 70. A much more copious narrative by Reginald of Durham has recently been published by the Surtees Society.

([16]) De Inventione St. Amphibali, abridged in Capgrave.

([17]) Visiones Monachi de Evesham (MS. Cott. Calig. A. viii. 17.) The Vita et Processus St. Thomæ Cantuariensis appears to be the compilation of the Monk of Evesham (Faustina, B. viii.), omitting the first part of his prologue, and substituting a portion of that of Grime (Vitell. C. XII. 8.), from whom also the first three and part of the fourth chapters are borrowed, inserting some passages from Fitz Stephen, and adding two visions not in the M.S., Faustina, B. viii., followed by a portion of the Epistles.

Digitized by Google

work, respectively attributed to Wendover and Matthew Paris, being the narratives of persons of great industry, contemporaneous with the events they relate, and who certainly cannot be accused of want of courage in expressing their sentiments upon ecclesiastical as well as secular matters, are highly valuable. Many original documents, such as papal bulls, royal proclamations, letters, and the like, are found in the body of the work. (1)

Parker's edition of Asser's Life of Alfred, Walsingham's Historia Anglia, and Hypodigma Neustriæ.

§ 20. Three years after his edition of Matthew Paris, Archbishop Parker published an edition of Asser's Life of Alfred, printed in Anglo-Saxon characters (2), Walsingham's Historia Anglia (3), and his Hypodigma Neustriæ. (4)

Holinshed's Chron.

§ 21. In 1577 Holinshed's Chronicles of Englande, Scotlande, and Ireland first appeared.

Leslie's De origine, &c.

Buchanan's Hist.

Giraldus Cambr.

§ 22. John Leslie's work (5) issued from the Roman press in 1578. It was followed by Rerum Scoticarum Historia of George Buchanan, from the Edinburgh press, in 1582; and in 1585 the Itinerarium Cambriæ of Giraldus Cambrensis was published at London by Powell.

§ 23. From the foregoing brief mention of the historical works produced in the sixteenth century it is evident that, with the exception of the publications of Parker and Josseline, they are not entitled to rank in the first class of historical literature.

The Heidelberg Collection of Historians.

§ 24. The year 1587 is memorable as being that in which the earliest collection of ancient English historians appeared; it was printed at Heidelberg, at the press of Jerome Commeline. (6) As an indication of the want of knowledge and critical skill displayed by the collector of the materials of which this volume consists, it may be sufficient to state that the Romance of Geoffrey of Monmouth, and a Latin abridgment of Froissart, are placed on the same level of historical evidence as Beda's Ecclesiastical History.

M. Paris's Historia Major, 2d ed.

Howard's Florence of Worcester.

§ 25. In 1589 a second edition of Matthew Paris's Historia Major was issued at Zurich; and Lord William Howard produced, in the year 1592, an edition of Florence of Worcester (7), which has not yet been superseded by a more correct edition. It was reprinted, with additional errors, at Frankfort in 1601.

Savile's Rerum Anglicarum Scriptores.

§ 26. Four years after the publication of Howard's edition of Florence of Worcester, the valuable collection of that distinguished and profound scholar, Sir Henry Savile, appeared under the title of Rerum Anglicarum Scriptores post Bedam præcipui. (8) It contains the Gesta Regum Anglorum, the Historiæ Novellæ, and the Gesta Pontificum, of

---

(1) See also § 33. p. 14.

(2) Aelfredi Regis Gestæ, Fol. Lond. 1574. The title page does not give either the name of the printer or place where it was printed.

(3) Fol. Lond. 1574; printed by Henry Binneman.

(4) Lond. 1574; printed by John Daye. See No. IV., p. 11, post.

(5) De origine, moribus, et rebus gestis Scotorum: accessit regionum et insularum Scotiæ, descriptio, &c.

(6) Rerum Britannicarum, id est, Angliæ, Scotiæ, vicinarumque insularum ac regionum, scriptores vetustiores ac præcipui. (Fol. Heidelberg, 1587.) Some copies have the imprint "Lugduni" instead of "Heidelburg" on the title page. It was not uncommon at that period to print title pages for the purpose of accommodating the impression to various booksellers. The Collection contains:—

1. Galfredi Monumetensis, cognomento Arturi, de Origine et Gestis Regum Britanniæ libri XII.
2. Pontici Virunnii Britannicæ Historiæ libri VI. (An abridgment, with a few additions, of the first six books of Geoffrey of Monmouth. He quotes the verses of Gildas.)
3. Gildæ sapientis de Excidio et Conquestu Britanniæ Epistola.
4. Bedæ Anglo-Saxonis Historiæ Ecclesiasticæ Gentis Anglorum libri V.
5. Continuatio ejusdem Historiæ, incerto auctore, libris tribus comprehensa. (This is nothing more than extracts from Malmesbury's Gesta Regum Anglorum, ending with the account of Berenger, lib. III.; to which are added three chapters at the end from Suger.)
6. Gulielmi Newbricensis de Rebus Anglicis libri VI.
7. Joannis Frossardi Historiarum Epitome, in qua de Bellis inter Anglos et Gallos gestis præcipue agitur. Ab J. S. collecta et Latinitate donata.

All the above-mentioned works, except No. 5, had previously been printed. In a short address to the Reader, the Editor of this volume states that he has followed the series of history, rather than the time in which each author flourished; and therefore he has given precedence to Geoffrey of Monmouth, and his epitomizer Ponticus Virunnius, before Gildas and Beda. He condemns the edition of Geoffrey which Ascensius had previously printed, on account of his having, without reason, arbitrarily changed many passages; these he has restored, by collating the text with a manuscript belonging to Paul Knibius. He also found Polydore Vergil's edition of Gildas equally faulty. He expresses his obligation to Nicolas Pithou for the use of an ancient manuscript of Beda, and also to Paul Knibius for a copy of the anonymous work of the Continuation of Beda's Ecclesiastical History, but which neither the Editor nor Pithou recognized as the first three books of Malmesbury's Gesta Regum Angliæ. See article 5. in this note. For all critical and historical purposes this work is utterly valueless.

(7) Chronichon ex Chronicis, 4to, Lond. 1592. See further on this subject, p. 83, post.

(8) Fol. Lond. 1596.

Digitized by Google

Savile's Rerum Anglicarum Scriptores.

William of Malmesbury; the Gesta Regum Angliæ of Henry of Huntingdon; the Annales of Roger Hoveden; the Chronicon of Æthelweard; and the Historia Croylandensis of Ingulf.

I. Willielmi monachi Malmesburiensis de gestis regum Anglorum, libri quinque, A.D. 449—1125. (f. 1.) This work commences with the arrival of the Saxons in the year 449, and ends in the year 1125. Malmesbury's research has been so extensive that in many instances it is difficult to name his authorities, as several of them appear to be now lost. The basis of his History, in the early parts of it, is the Saxon Chronicle; he uses also Heddius, Alcuin, Beda, and Nennius, and refers to Ethelweard. He borrows from Florence of Worcester, Osbern, Eadmer, various Lives of Saints by Gotscelin, W. of Poitiers, Fulcher of Chartres, and a number of foreign writers; in short, little seems to have escaped him; and his skill and judgment in selecting and arranging have so kept pace with his industry that more information relating to manners and customs is perhaps to be gathered from him than from all those who preceded him. The Historiæ Novellæ, which is a Continuation of the Gesta Regum, is altogether original; it extends from the year 1126 to 1142, when it ends abruptly. The style is much less laboured in this than in the preceding portions of his work.

II. De gestis Pontificum Anglorum, A.D. 601—1122. (f. 111.) The author complains frequently and pathetically of the scantiness of his materials. His authorities are generally the same as those which he had employed in the Gesta Regum, but with a wider range of Ecclesiastical Biography; indeed, it would not be easy to point out any Biographies then in existence which he had not consulted.

III. Henrici Archidiaconi Huntindoniensis historiarum libri viii., A.D. 1154. (f. 168.) Henry of Huntingdon first brought his History down to the year 1135, shortly after the death of Henry I.; he afterwards continued it to the death of his patron, Alexander Bishop of Lincoln, and the appointment of his successor Robert in 1147. He added, at a later period of his life, a further continuation, to the accession of Henry II. in 1154. For a further notice of Huntingdon's History, see p. 89, post.

IV. Rogeri de Hoveden Annalium pars prior et posterior, A.D. 732—1201. (f. 229.) Hoveden's Annals extend from 732 to 1201.——Pars prima, from an. 732 to an. 1154. From the commencement to the death of Ecgberht, an. 837, his History is taken from Simeon of Durham, sometimes literally transcribed, at others condensed; occasionally, however, Hoveden changes the collocation, and makes slight verbal alterations. He then returns to an. 751, and takes up Henry of Huntingdon, who is followed, with a few verbal changes, to the death of Æthelred I. in 872. Then follows a recapitulation of the history of the West Saxon Kings, from Cerdic, continued to Henry I., not always, however, agreeing with Huntingdon's History. He then returns to the year 849, and again transcribes or abridges Simeon of Durham to the year 1122, making a few insertions from other sources. From 1122 to 1148 Huntingdon's History is again resorted to,—abridged, or transcribed with a few additions. From 1148 to 1154 Hoveden's History is very brief and confused; and that part of it relating to Scotland is apparently derived from the same source as the Chronicle of Melros.——Pars secunda, from an.1154 to an. 1201. From 1154 to 1164 it is of the same character; thence, to 1170, it chiefly relates to Beket, inserting twenty-eight of his Epistles, three of which are not found in Lupus's edition. From Christmas 1169 to 1192 Hoveden either abridges or transcribes Benedictus Abbas, or had access to the same materials. When he abridges, it is by compression, and by changing the order of the narration, relating the events belonging to the same transaction connectedly; whereas Benedictus Abbas, by observing a stricter chronological arrangement, frequently separates them. Hoveden, however, has inserted entire many letters and charters which are either omitted or abridged by Benedictus Abbas; and when he gives the journal of the expedition of Richard the First's fleet to Messina, he appears to have had the original document before him, as his account is fuller than that of Benedictus Abbas; he also speaks in the first person, as if he were transcribing the narrative of one that was present, which is not the case with Benedictus Abbas. Hoveden has also, exclusively, several particulars relating to Spain, Portugal, and Scotland. From 1192 he gives an account of Richard the First's captivity and deliverance, with a journal of his transactions from his return to England in March to his landing in France in the following May. From that period to the conclusion, his History is very diffusive, containing many papal bulls, and letters, chiefly ecclesiastical, relating, as might have been expected, to the province of York, or to the northern parts of England, regulations for courts of law, &c. From the commencement to the year 1170 this writer's compilation is of little value; nor is it much more valuable from 1170 to 1192, except where it enlarges the narrative of Benedictus Abbas. But from the period when the work of Benedictus closes, Hoveden is of great importance, is often very minute in his details, and narrates much which is not probably to be found elsewhere. He terminates his History in 1201. (1)

---

(1) Some persons have thought that Hoveden continued his History to the year 1226, but this mistake seems grounded on the Continuation which has been ascribed to Walter of Coventry, who borrows both from Hoveden and Benedictus Abbas, and yet he refers to Hoveden alone.

It is remarkable that Benedictus Abbas should twice (pp. 93, 108) mention Hoveden, and that Hoveden, although he appears to transcribe or abridge Benedictus, should omit all mention of himself. See § 68. nn.[3 4], p. 31.

The Burton Annals (Gale, I.) mention a Hugh Hoveden, as does Robert of Gloucester, but Roger is certainly the person intended. The mistake probably arose from the practice of indicating an author's name by its initial letter only, and the scribe hastily misread H. instead of R. See Tanner's Bibl., p. 414.

Digitized by Google

V. Chronicorum Ethelwerdi, libri iv., A.D. 30—975. (f. 472.) Ethelweard's Chronicle comes down to the year 975. For a further notice of this work, see p. 81, post.

VI. Descriptio compilata per dominum Ingulphum Abbatem Monasterii Croyland, natione Anglicum quondam monachum Fontanissensem, A.D. 664—1051. (f. 484.) No ancient manuscript copy of Ingulf has yet occurred. It appears to have been printed by Savile from an imperfect manuscript; but the only intimation he gives of it is, that it appeared to want the Laws of William the Conqueror. It is printed again more correctly by Fulman in 1684, who made use of a copy belonging to Marsham. On application being made to Lord Romney in 1822 for Marsham's copy, he answered that he knew nothing of it, and supposed it might possibly have been destroyed by his father with many other papers. (1) See more on the subject of Ingulf, p. 18, post.

§ 27. The London edition of this collection is so inaccurately printed as to justify the belief that Savile did not correct the press. It seems that he intended to contribute materials towards the formation of a History of England; and that he regarded the Scriptores post Bedam, a work which unquestionably contains some of the most valuable writers of the twelfth and thirteenth centuries, as the first stone of his future edifice. In his dedication to Queen Elizabeth, he observes, "that though some have undertaken portions of our "history, no one hitherto appears to have attempted to write the whole with that fidelity "and dignity which the magnitude of the work demanded. Polydore, an Italian and a "stranger to our affairs, has left a history defective in plan and execution, and abounding "in errors; while our own historians, overwhelmed by the magnitude of the work, have "omitted more minute particulars. Thus it has happened, most unfortunately for this island, "that your ancestors, most serene Princess, who ruled over a great part of this empire, "though they greatly surpassed their contemporaries in glorious deeds, have been left in "obscurity for want of the light of genius to chronicle their doings. I have sought a remedy "for this evil, attempting to bring to light the most ancient of our authors,—if not the "most eloquent, certainly the most faithful recorders of facts,—to the end that others "possessing both leisure and genius for the task might have these authors ready to their "hand, from whom to derive their materials."

§ 28. At the commencement of the seventeenth century a miscellaneous volume was edited by Camden, and published at Frankfort (2), containing — Camden's Anglica, &c.

I. Asser de rebus gestis Ælfredi Regis. A reprint of Parker's edition, collated, however, with Camden's Manuscript; it also contains, for the first time, the section about the University of Oxford which has given rise to so much controversy. See further on this subject, p. 79, post.

II. Fragmentum de Guilhelmo Conquestore. This is a fragment excerpted from Ordericus Vitalis, p. 656, edit. Du Chesne. It relates to the death of William.

III. Chronica Thomæ Walsingham quondam monachi S. Albani, A.D. 1066—1418. A compilation from earlier writers, extending from 1273 to 1422.

IV. Ypodigma Neustriæ, per Th. de Walsingham. From the beginning to A.D. 1066 this Chronicle is extracted from William of Jumièges; from A.D. 1066 to A.D. 1199 the narrative is taken from Ralph de Diceto, with a few passages from Higden or Matthew of Westminster, and the latter part from Trivet; from A.D. 1199 to A.D. 1307 is also taken from Trivet, with a few short insertions from Matthew of Westminster, and several from Walsingham's larger work; and from A.D. 1307 to A.D. 1418, where it ends, is also abridged from the larger work, with a few variations, particularly in the early part of the reign of Edward III.

V. Vita et Mors Edwardi II. Regis Angliæ, conscripta a Thoma De la Moor, equite aurato, et ejusdem Regis famulo. This work extends from 1307 to 1326. The general history is taken from Adam de Murimuth, abridged in the early part, with additions from other sources, especially relating to the history, deposition, and death of King Edward II. It does not, however, appear that the writer himself had any personal knowledge of King Edward; and the statements relative to his alleged persecutions have very much the air of exaggeration. The work is written with an occasional affectation of learning. In some instances it varies from Murimuth as to names and dates. It seems either an abridgment or only a small portion of a larger work; for it is quoted by Stow, in his Chronicle under the year 1303, and it is frequently referred to down to the year 1350. According to Selden, it was originally written in French; and this is not improbable, for the Chronicle of Geoffrey Baker of Swynbroke (MS. Bodley, 761), which extends to the year 1356,

(1) Bishop Gibson, writing, July 1694, to Dr. Arthur Charlett, Master of University College, says, "Sir John "Marsham's collection must be considerable. There is a curious Ingulphus in your library, which, as his family "says, Obadiah Walker stole from him. I told him what they lay to his charge. His answer was, that Sir John "gave it to him; and that, as an acknowledgment, he presented him with some copies of the Ingulphus printed at "Oxford. It is very probable, though, Sir John did not design to part with the books; nay, he used to be complaining "of Mr. Walker for using him so unkindly." (Gough's Additions to Croyland, 283; cited in Quarterly Review, vol. xxxiv. p. 295.)

(2) Anglica, Normannica, Hibernica, Cambrica, a veteribus scripta. Fol. Francf. 1602 and 1603.

Digitized by Google

Camden's Anglica, &c.

corresponds exactly in matter, and very nearly in language, with this fragment, as far as it goes. There is sufficient to show that they were both derived from the same original; indeed Geoffrey Baker states that his work was compiled at the request of Thomas de la More, from whose French original he had translated it, and to whom he dedicated his task. (1)

VI. Wilhelmus Gemeticensis de Ducum Normannorum gestis. (p. 604.) (2)

VII. Topographia Hiberniæ, sive De Mirabilibus Hiberniæ, auctore Giraldo Cambrense. It is addressed to Henry II., and contains a description of Ireland, its birds and beasts, its climate and wonders, its inhabitants, their manners and customs. Many historical particulars are inserted in this and the under-mentioned works of Giraldus, especially of the personal history of Henry II. and his family.

VIII. Expugnatio Hiberniæ, sive Historia Vaticinalis Silvestris, Giraldi Cambrensis. Dedicated at first to Richard then Count of Poitou; subsequently to King John The transactions relating to the Conquest of Ireland are here minutely and interestingly detailed; there are also various notices relative to England.

IX. Itinerarium Cambriæ, seu Laboriosæ Balduini Cantuariensis archiepiscopi per Walliam legationis accurata descriptio, auctore Silvest. Giraldo Cambrense. Dedicated to Stephen Langton, Archbishop of Canterbury. It gives an account of Archbishop Baldwin's pilgrimage into Wales in the year 1188 to preach the Crusade; and consists of topography, tales, miracles, historical anecdotes, natural history, and some little relating to the Crusades.

X. Cambriæ Descriptio, auctore Sil. Giraldo Cambrense. It is addressed to Archbishop Stephen Langton, but contains little or nothing historical except the genealogies at the beginning.

Camden's Britannia.

§ 29. In the several editions of the Britannia, which he issued in 1590, 1607, and 1610, Camden introduced the following Chronicles.

I. Chronicon Hiberniæ, A.D. 1162—1370. Camden states that the manuscript of the Annals was communicated to him by Lord William Howard of Naworth. The style is rough and barren, but the Chronicle throws great light on Irish History.

II. Chronicon Henrici de Marleburgh, A.D. 1372—1421.

III. Chronicon Manniæ et Insularum, A.D. 1066—1266, adjecta brevi continuatione ad an. 1316. (3)

John of Salisbury's Epistles by Masson.

§ 30. In 1611 the Epistles of John of Salisbury were printed at Paris, by Masson.

John of Salisbury's Epistles are very important, especially during the contest between King Henry II. and Beket. Masson's edition is imperfect; it contains only 302 Epistles, but many more are to be found. (See an account of a projected edition by Baluze, in Dom Brial's notices des MSS. du Roi, tom. 9, p. 2, page 97.) Among the Epistles of St. Thomas (MS. Cott. Claud. B. 11.) there are six from John of Salisbury which do not seem to have been published.

Duchesne's Collection of Norman Writers.

§ 31. Duchesne's Collection of Norman Writers appeared in 1619. (4) The portions of the volume which illustrate English History are—

I. Dudonis super congregationem S. Quintini de moribus et actis primorum Normanniæ Ducum, libri iii., A.D. 860—1002. (f. 49.) Dudo's work extends from the invasion of France by Hastings in 860 to A.D. 1002. The style is verbose, and inflated. Much of his story is related by the several parties introduced in set speeches. There are several notices of transactions between England and Normandy, but they are apparently suspicious. See pp. 71, 72, 73, 78, 92, 93, 97, 138, 156. The only dates given are 876, 912, 943, 1002. He refers to Count Raoul, brother to Duke Richard I., as the authority for his information.

II. Emmæ Anglorum Reginæ, Ricardi I. Ducis Normanorum Filiæ Encomium, A.D. 1012—1040. (p. 161.) The period embraced in this work extends from Sweyne's invasion of England, A.D. 1012, to the accession of Hardecnut in 1040. The author, though contemporary with, and addressing the Queen herself, does not appear to have any great share of information on the subject of which he treats; for instance, he does not seem to have known that Emma had been before married. Some of his statements may justly be questioned; such as Sweyne's piety, the weapons in one ship, the description and ornaments of Sweyne's ship. Some are apparently exaggerated, and some are clearly made in ignorance; as Turkil's defeat of the English at Sceorstan near the Sea, the siege of London, &c. He also considers Edward and Alfred as the sons of Cnut. The whole work is meagre and unsatisfactory. He has, however, many curious particulars; and his style, though inflated, is, for that period, not inelegant. (5)

III. Gesta Guillelmi Ducis Normanorum et Regis Anglorum, a Guillelmo Pictavensi Lexoviorum Archidiacono contemporaneo scripta. The transactions here described are from the year 1036 to the year 1067; but the commencement of the work is lost, as is also the conclusion. Ordericus Vitalis (p. 521) states that it extended to the year 1070. The author, who was a soldier before he took holy orders, and apparently an eye-witness of what he describes, seems to have been more studious

---

(1) Dr. Giles has recently printed, from Mr. Petrie's transcript, the Chronicle of Geoffrey Baker of Swynbroke.

(2) Of this work see p. 13.

(3) A more complete edition of the two last-mentioned Chronicles was published at Copenhagen, 1786. See note (3), p. 33, post.

(4) Folio, Paris, 1619.

(5) Baron Maseres reprinted this work in 1783, for private distribution.

Digitized by Google

Duchesne's Collection of Norman Writers.

of his patron's glory than of truth or accuracy, especially in what relates to England. He makes Edward the Confessor to obtain the crown by William's influence and power; and all that he relates of William's claim or invasion of England must be carefully examined; for though he was chaplain to the Conqueror, yet he was not present with him in his expedition into this country. His style has been highly extolled by Ordericus Vitalis.

IV. Willelmi Calculi Gemmeticensis monachi Historiæ Normannorum libri viii., A.D. 860—1137. From the commencement to the end of the fourth book the narrative is that of Dudo, abridged and interpolated; but nothing relating to England has been added. Book 5, Chapters 4–9, —Book 6, Chapters 10 and 12,—and Book 7, Chapters 8, 9, 31, 32, 34 to 42, (where he appears to have concluded his history,)—relate chiefly to English affairs. Book 8 is by Robert de Monte, and contains a short account of Robert and Rufus, sons of William I., and the death of the latter. The English affairs seem to be often suspiciously, and sometimes falsely, related.

V. Epitaphium Guillelmi Ducis Normannorum et Regis Anglorum. (p. 318.)

VI. Orderici Vitalis Angligenæ cœnobii Uticensis monachi Historiæ Ecclesiasticæ libri xiii.; from the Incarnation to A.D. 1140. (p. 323.) Ordericus writes in a clear style, but his frequent transitions from secular to ecclesiastical affairs render him occasionally obscure. His general history bears a very small proportion to the bulk of his work, which is chiefly taken up with the ecclesiastical transactions of Normandy; and, of that portion, comparatively little relates to England. On examination, it will be found that his information on the interesting period of the Conquest is very circumscribed, having little except what he borrows from William of Poitiers or William of Jumièges. He, however, occasionally brings forward many highly interesting particulars relating to England his native country, and adverts to France, Italy, Spain, and Syria, sometimes at considerable length. He paints the miseries of Normandy under Robert Curthose, and the manners of the nobility, in very lively colours; and bestows high commendations on King Henry I. for delivering that duchy from so calamitous a state.

VII. Gesta Stephani Regis Anglorum et Ducis Normannorum, incerto auctore, A.D. 1138–1152. (p. 926.) The author begins his History with the death of King Henry I., and continues it (though unfortunately with several chasms) to the year 1150, where it ends abruptly. His description of the distracted state of England on the death of Henry I. cannot be correct, as applied to that time; for Henry died on the 1st of December 1135, and Stephen left Normandy, and was crowned on the 22d of that month. The work is apparently written by a contemporary, who seems to have lived in the county of either Hereford or Gloucester, as those parts are more frequently noticed. He gives many descriptions of towns and castles, seemingly with the accuracy of an eye-witness. He seldom specifies a date, and his style is rather florid and diffuse; but he furnishes most interesting matter for the history of those turbulent times, and is perhaps the most important writer in this Collection.

VIII. 1.—Chronica Normanniæ, A.D. 1139–1168. (p. 976.) This is nothing more than an extract from Robert de Monte's Appendix to Sigebert, of which a more accurate edition was published by D'Achery, inter opera Guiberti, p. 760. (see p. 15, § 36.) Du Chesne has not only used a very inaccurate transcript, but, in consequence of a date having been omitted at p. 983, all the marginal dates from 1147 are wrong by a year. 2.—A.D. 1169–1259. Compiled apparently by a monk of Lisieux. Some mistake has also crept into the chronology, probably from the same cause.

IX. Gesta Normannorum in Francia. Extending from the year 837 to the year 896. The work is by an unknown author, but it appears to have been written by a Fleming. It has a few notices of England and Ireland which do not appear in the Saxon Chronicle.

X. Chronica S. Stephani Cadomensis. The Chronicle of St. Stephen of Caen begins in the year 633, and ends in the year 1293. This Chronicle consists of short annals, and gives the successions of the Kings of France, the Emperor, &c., and, after the Norman Conquest, the succession of the Kings of England. The early part seems to have been gathered from the same source as the succession of the Kings of France in Asserii Annales. It seems to have been rather a chronicle of Rouen than of St. Stephen of Caen.

XI. Nomina Normannorum qui floruerunt in Anglia ante Conquestum. A short list, of dubious authority. It is followed by copies of the Battle Abbey Roll, the Feoda Normanniæ, &c., and a collection of charters, genealogical tables, and other matter illustrative of the volume.

Selden's Eadmer's Historiæ Novorum.

§ 32. In 1623 (1) Selden published Eadmer's Historiæ Novorum, in six books, extending from the year 959 to the year 1122. Selden's Preface contains an account of Eadmer's History and of Domesday Book, as well as a list of unpublished authors who treat of Anselm's times. It has been reprinted at the end of the works of Anselm, by Gerberon.

Eadmer's principal object in writing his History appears to have been to relate the ecclesiastical transactions of his own time, but more especially those of Anselm Archbishop of Canterbury on the question of investiture, which he has detailed at great length; he also inserts various important notices of civil transactions, and many curious traits in the characters of William Rufus and other persons living at that period. At first sight Eadmer may possibly be thought a partial evidence in the disputes between the King and the Archbishop, for he was Anselm's constant attendant and confidential adviser; yet he states the arguments on either side with great apparent fidelity.

(1) Eadmeri monachi Cantuariensis Historiæ Novorum sive sui sæculi, libri sex. Fol. Lond. 1623.

Digitized by Google

Wats's Matthew Paris's Historia Major.

§ 33. In the year 1640 Wats published a volume (1) containing—

I. Matthæi Paris monachi Albanensis Angli Historia Major, ab an. 1066 ad an. 1259, cum Continuatione Guillelmi Rishanger ut putatur ad annum 1272. Wats's Collations of the Historia Major are very important, and, until Mr. Coxe's valuable edition of Roger Wendover appeared, furnished perhaps the only printed text of that author which enabled the student to ascertain what alterations or additions had been made by Matthew Paris, as well as the changes and omissions in Archbishop Parker's edition. The Continuation from 1259 to 1272, ascribed to Rishanger, appears to have much in common with the Cottonian MS. Claud. D. vi., and is to be found in a great measure in Trivet. Whether it be rightly attributed to Rishanger is not easy to determine, but at any rate it appears to have been written or compiled by a monk of St. Alban's, and contains much valuable information.

II. Matthæi Parisiensis Additamenta, necnon auctarium additamentorum. The Additamenta consists of a collection of papal bulls, charters, royal proclamations, &c. referred to in the body of the History. This portion of Wats's labours is also very carefully executed.

III. Vitæ duorum Offarum, sive Offanorum Merciorum Regum, Cœnobii Sancti Albani fundatorum. Wats considered that the Life of the first Offa was fabulous, Matthew Paris having confused the Offa of Mercia with his continental namesake. The History seems to be based on the same materials as those which were used by Saxo Grammaticus in his account of Warmund and Uffo. (Saxo, pp. 59, 63, 64, 65, &c.) The Life of the second or real Offa also contains matter of dubious authority. The author of this Life has taken as his groundwork the few notices relating to the real Offa which are to be found in Huntingdon, Hoveden, or Malmesbury, and these he has enlarged or added to at his pleasure. Indeed there is not a single incident in the whole biography which is not derived from these sources. Wats is of opinion that though these two Lives may not have been entirely written by Matthew Paris, yet that the style had been polished by him. That they were not both written by him seems pretty clear, as Wendover had already made use of the Life of the real Offa (see Coxe's Wendover, vol. 1. p. 251); but there is a possibility that the Life of the first Offa was written by Matthew Paris after his return from Norway, where he had been sent by Pope Innocent IV. (2) on a special mission, in the year 1248, and may have arisen out of circumstances which would naturally be suggested to him during this excursion into Scandinavia.

IV. Vitæ viginti trium Abbatum Sancti Albani. These Lives extend from Willegod, the first abbot on the foundation of the monastery by Offa, to John the twenty-third abbot. Many of the Lives of these abbots, especially those prior to the Norman Conquest, contain very curious and valuable notices, whether their historical information be received as genuine or not; after that period they seem to be more authentic, but still there is much that is fabulous mixed up with transactions which are within the range of credibility. As usual in similar works the narrative is for the greater part domestic and local, but it contains many interesting notices of manners and customs.

Wheloc's Beda's Historia Ecclesiastica.

§ 34. It was not until the year 1644 that any English publisher considered Beda's Historia Ecclesiastica of sufficient interest to be printed at an English press (3); and the surprise of the Reader cannot fail to be further awakened by the fact that the Saxon Chronicle, that valuable monument of the ancient language of the kingdom, had been permitted to remain unpublished until the year 1644, especially when it is remembered that no other European nation has such an unparalleled history for seven centuries in its own vernacular language. Abraham Wheloc, professor of Arabic and Anglo-Saxon in the university of Cambridge, must be commemorated for having first published both these works, together with the Anglo-Saxon version of Beda's History, usually attributed to Alfred the Great. (4)

D'Achery's Lanfranc's Epistles.

§ 35. In 1648, D'Achery published the Epistles of Lanfranc, Archbishop of Canterbury. (5) They are sixty in number, and for the most part relate to public affairs. (6)

---

(1) Fol. Lond. 1640; Par. 1644; Lond. 1684. Wats reprinted Parker's edition verbatim, but he gave the result of collations of MSS. Otho, B. v., Nero, D. v., Bibl. Reg. 14. C. VII., C.C.C. Cant. XXVI., C.C.C. Cant. XVI., and Bibl. du Roi, 6048 B. He does not, however, seem to notice Claud. D. VI.

(2) M. Paris, p. 505, ed. Paris, 1644.

(3) Historia Ecclesiastica Gentis Anglorum, cum Paraphrasi Aluredi Regis Saxonicâ, Cantab. fol. 1644–5. It is printed in double columns; one in Latin, the other in Anglo-Saxon. The Preface to Beda has a third column, being a Latin rendering of the Anglo-Saxon Paraphrase, which differs considerably from the original.

(4) Wheloc's Chronologia Saxonica, ab A.D. 1 ad ann. 1070, cum Versione Latina, is taken from MS. Cott. Otho, B. xi. (since destroyed by fire), and MS. C.C.C. Cantab. CLXXIII. It is followed by "Nomina Pontificum urbis "Romanæ; ecclesiæ Cantuariensis Archiepiscoporum, Episcoporum Hrofensis ecclesiæ," &c.

(5) B. Lanfranci Cantuariensis Archiepiscopi et totius Angliæ primatis Epistolarum Liber. (Inter opera Lanfranci a D'Achery, Paris, fol., 1648.)

(6) The account of the contest between the sees of Canterbury and York, and the decrees of the Council of London, which should form a part of the Collection, are inserted in the Life of Lanfranc by Milo, which is prefixed to his works. Several of the epistles are printed in the first volume of Wilkins's Concilia.

Digitized by Google

The Appendix to this volume contains several minor pieces of importance to English History:—

1. Chronicon Beccensis Abbatiæ, A.D. 1024—1468. To the close of the thirteenth century this work contains various notices of English affairs.

2. Compendium Vitæ Theobaldi quinti abbatis Becci postea Archiepiscopi Cantuariensis.

3. Vita S. Augustini Cantuariensis Archiepiscopi, by Gotscelinus. The writer of it was unknown to D'Achery. (See Wharton's Anglia Sacra, vol. ii. p. 57.)

D'Achery's Robert de Torigny or del Mont.

§ 36. In 1651 D'Achery published the work of Robert de Torigny or del Mont ([1]), a monk, and afterwards prior of Bec in Normandy.

In the Preface to this work, Robert states his reasons for adopting Sigebert's Chronicle as the basis of his additions. He would willingly have inserted the series of the Kings of Britain in their proper places, as they had been omitted by Sigebert, had it not been attended with inconvenience; he therefore inserts an abridgment of Geoffrey of Monmouth by Henry of Huntingdon, to whom he had shown a copy of the work at Bec in the year 1139, when he was on his way to Rome with Archbishop Theobald. Most of the additions relating to England are from the works of Henry of Huntingdon, Ordericus Vitalis, and Eadmer. From the year 1147 to 1184 the narrative seems to be an original composition, and relates chiefly to England or Normandy. ([2])

Twysden's Historiæ Anglicanæ Scriptores Decem.

§ 37. The elaborate collection of Sir Roger Twysden ([3]) demands more particular attention. It was published in the year 1652 ([4]), under the title of Historiæ Anglicanæ Scriptores Decem; and, with the exception of Wats's edition of Matthew Paris and Smith's Beda, was, until the publications of the English Historical Society made their appearance in 1838 and the following years, by far the most efficiently edited of any book of this class printed in England. Selden's Preface to the work, however, exhibits rather his vast range of learning than his acquaintance with the writers whose works he discusses. The collection contains:—

I. Simeon monachus Dunelmensis de Dunelmensi ecclesia. It extends from the year 635 to the year 1096. It has been a matter of some doubt whether Simeon or Prior Turgot were the author of this History. Rudd, in a Dissertation prefixed to Bedford's edition ([5]), decides in favour of the former; and on this point he is right. The question respecting Simeon's age, which Rudd justly insists was much earlier than Bale states it to be, may be determined, from the circumstance of Alfred of Beverley having abridged his History probably as early as 1142; and it may be added that the passage where the author affirms that he had handled the body of Cuthbert in the year 1104 might apply to Simeon, a monk, but could not to Turgot the prior, for, in the account of the translation, mention is made of the monks performing that office; but the Prior, though present, appears to have been a mere spectator (Mabil. Act. Ben., tom. vi. p. 310). And in the Miracles of St. Cuthbert, by Reginald de Coldingham (see the edition of that work published by the Surtees Society, cap. xl. p. 84, ed. 1835), the monks who performed that office, with Prior Turgot, are named, and Simeon occurs among the number. It is, however, to be remarked that Turgot, and all the rest, are said to have handled the body, though they did not all assist in the removal. The greater part of the First Book of this History is extracted from Beda's Ecclesiastical History and from his Life of St. Cuthbert; from Chapter 6 of Book II. to Chapter 20 of Book III. are almost identical with the Translationes Beati Cuthberti (Act. Benedict., ibid.) There is, however, very little original matter of a general nature until near the conclusion of the Third Book.

II. De Ranulpho Episcopo et de aliis Episcopis Dunelmensibus, A.D. 1099—1154, (p. 59,) containing notices of northern affairs, chiefly local and ecclesiastical. In the account of William Cumin (p. 63) Bedford's edition differs from Twysden.

III. Epistola Simeonis de Archiepiscopis Eboraci, A.D. 627—796. (p. 75.) This is an account of the succession of the Archbishops of York, from Paulinus, A.D. 627, to the consecration of Eanbald in 796; afterwards, to the year 1154, it contains the names only of the Archbishops. The names after Thurstan, who resigned A.D. 1139, must have been added by a later hand, as Dean Hugh, to whom this epistle is addressed, had ceased to hold that office in 1138 (Joh. Hagustald. ap. Decem Script. col. 264). A copy on paper of this little work, ending with Thurstan, is in the Cottonian collection, Titus, A. XIX. 1.

IV. Simeon de obsessione Dunelmi et de probitate Uchtredi Comitis. (p. 79.) The subject of this piece is the siege of Durham by the Scots, under Malcolm, son of Keneth (?), A.D. 969 (?), and an account of Uthred Earl of Northumberland, and the succession of those earls to the time of

---

([1]) Roberti de Monte, ad Sigibertum accessiones, ab A.D. 876 ad A.D. 1100, cum Appendice ejusdem Roberti ad A.D. 1184. (A D'Achery, inter opera Guiberti Novigent. Abb. Lutetiæ, 1651, fol.) See p. 13, viii.

([2]) A new edition of "De Monte" has just appeared in the Monumenta Germaniæ Scriptores VI., p. 475.

([3]) "Twysden's Collection" appears to have been collected by a graduate of Cambridge, named Jennyngs, collated with the manuscripts in Matthew Parker's collection at Corpus, and carried by him through the press. Twysden, Selden, and Usher superintended the progress of the work. The Glossary was contributed by Somner. It was intended to publish another volume; and Jennyng's collection for that purpose, re-collated by Fulman, are in the Bodleian Library.

([4]) Fol. Lond. 1652.

([5]) 8vo, Lond. 1732.

Digitized by Google

Twysden's Historiæ Anglicanæ Scriptores Decem.

William the Conqueror. The early part is of very doubtful authority. The time assigned is erroneous, as the siege is said to have taken place while Aldhun was bishop, which did not occur till the year 990; again, it is stated that Ethelred was driven from his kingdom, and that he married Emma during his exile.

V. Simeonis Dunelmensis Historia de Regibus Anglorum et Deiorum. (1)

VI. Continuatio Historiæ Simeonis Dunelmensis, per Johannem priorem Hagustaldensem. (p. 257.) This work, extending from the year 1130 to the year 1154, is, for the greater part, a compilation. From the commencement of the History to the year 1135 there are slight notices of northern affairs, chiefly monastic; thence, to the year 1139, it is mostly an abridgment of the work of Richard prior of Hexham, with some additions. From 1139 to 1153 the narrative is much fuller, though it mostly relates to northern transactions; the chronology from the year 1140 is a year too late, and is confused.

VII. Historia de Sancto Cuthberto (p. 67); of little value, as all the facts appear more fully elsewhere.

VIII. Ricardus prior Hagustaldensis de Statu et Episcopis Hagustaldensis ecclesiæ. (p. 285.) The period embraced in this work extends from the year 674 to the reign of King Stephen. It has little relating to general history, and appears to have been derived from Beda, Heddius, Simeon of Durham, and some unknown source.

IX. Historia Ricardi prioris Hagustaldensis de Gestis Regis Stephani et de Bello Standardi, A.D. 1135—1139. (p. 309.) This is a very important work, being composed by a contemporary, though it almost entirely relates to northern affairs. It was freely used by John of Hexham.

X. Serlo monachus de Bello inter Regem Scotiæ et Barones Angliæ (p. 33): Verses on the defeat of the Scots, at Baggamor (Northallerton), who are treated very contemptuously.

XI. Ailredus abbas Rievallensis de Bello Standardi, A.D. 1138. (p. 337.) The greater portion of this piece is occupied with declamatory speeches at the Battle of the Standard; these, from this writer's practice, may justly be suspected to have been composed by himself. Several notices of manners and customs may be gathered from the work.

XII. Ailredus abbas Rievallis de Genealogia Regum Anglorum. (p. 347.) Except the anecdotes of Malcolm and his family, this work possesses little or no value. It is chiefly derived from Florence of Worcester, Malmesbury, Huntingdon, and other well-known writers; but Ailred appears to take considerable license in amplifying his authorities, more especially in the speeches which he attributes to the various personages of whom he writes.

XIII. Ailredus abbas Rievallensis de Vita S. Edwardi Regis et Confessoris. (p. 369.) This is almost entirely derived from Osbert, to whose Life of the Confessor Ailred appears to refer in his Preface addressed to Laurence abbot of Westminster, at whose request this piece was written.

XIV. Ailredi abbatis Rievallensis Historia de quadam Sancti moniali de Wattun. (p. 415.)

XV. Radulfi de Diceto, Decani Londoniensis, Abbreviationes Chronicorum et Ymagines Historiarum.

The Abbreviationes (p. 499) extend from the Creation to the year 1147, but the portion preceding Pope Gregory I., an. 589, being of no importance to English History, was omitted by Twysden. Diceto's account of English affairs prior to the year 1148 is taken from Beda, Florence of Worcester and his continuator, William of Malmesbury, Huntingdon, Eadmer, Simeon of Durham, Geoffrey of Monmouth, Sigebert Gemblacensis, Robert de Monte, Historia Eliensis, and Historia Ramesiensis, with some slight additions to ecclesiastical affairs, especially those of the See of London. The chronology of the Abbreviationes is extremely faulty, and nearly the whole work is of little value as an original composition.

The Ymagines (p. 510) extend, as Diceto himself states, from the year 1148 to the year 1193, but they are continued to the year 1201. They form an extensive collection of occurrences, chiefly ecclesiastical, more especially those which are connected with the sees of Canterbury and London; they advert also to civil and military transactions, both foreign and domestic, and contain a great number of letters, papal bulls, and manifestoes, though many of them are abridged. Ralph de Diceto's manner is very inartificial; he appears to be collecting materials for history rather than composing a history. (2) He is, however, a valuable writer; and the Ymagines are highly important as the testimony of a man who took part in some of the transactions which he relates.

XVI. Radulphi de Diceto Series Causæ inter Henricum Regem et Thomam Archiepiscopum. (p. 711.) Twysden has only printed the skeleton of this work; the whole is in MS. Cott. Vesp. A. XXII. 3.

XVII. Chronicon Joannis Brompton abbatis Jorvollensis, extending from the year 588 (598) to the year 1200. The author appears to have used great diligence in compiling this Chronicle, and especially in collecting the Anglo-Saxon Laws, and translating them into Latin, many of which, not occurring in Saxon, were omitted by Wilkins (3); but as almost every one of his historical

---

(1) See p. 87, post.

(2) Ralph de Diceto seems to have been distinguished in his own time as a chronicler. He has inserted a letter from Longchamp Bishop of Ely, desiring him to incorporate in his Chronicle the Epistle of the "Old Man of the Mountain," in exculpation of King Richard I. (Col. 681.)

(3) These are, Alfred and Guthrum (p. 828), Athelstan (845-50), Edmund (859), Ethelred (894-901).

Digitized by Google

statements may be assigned to some preceding author, his work is of little or no use. The few notices which cannot be so appropriated are very slight, and generally of doubtful credit. Whether John Brompton were the compiler or merely the owner of this Chronicle is not known, but the latter is the more probable; at all events it must have been drawn up after the middle of the fourteenth century, as it contains many extracts from Higden, who is referred to. (p. 1145.)

Twysden's Historiæ Anglicanæ Scriptores Decem.

XVIII. Gervasius Dorobernensis de Combustione et Reparatione Dorobernensis ecclesiæ. (p. 1285.) This account of the fire in Canterbury Cathedral in 1174 is highly interesting to the antiquary.

XIX. Imaginationes Gervasii Dorobernensis de Discordiis inter Monachos Dorobernenses et Baldewinum Archiepiscopum. (p. 1303.) This piece enters into a detailed account of the disputes between the Archbishop and the monks of Canterbury as to the right of election; it consists chiefly of papal bulls and letters.

XX. Gervasii Monachi Dorobernensis Chronica de tempore Regum Angliæ Stephani, Henrici 2^i^, et Ricardi 1^mi^. (p. 1334.) The Chronicle extends from the year 1100 to 1200, and is principally derived from Henry of Huntingdon and the Continuation of Florence of Worcester. (1) It appears from the concluding words of the author (col. 1628) that this work is only a portion of his Chronicle, for he there states his reasons for terminating the first part of his work with the death of King Richard I., and refers to the contents of his second part; but this is probably lost, unless it be contained in part in the Polistorie (MS. Harl. 636). It is chiefly valuable for the reign of Henry II.; and the Prologue is very important as containing an account of the different modes of computation adopted in the monastic Chronicles.

XXI. Actus Pontificum Cantuariensis ecclesiæ, autore Gervasio Dorobernensi (p. 1630), containing the Lives of the Archbishops of Canterbury, from Augustine to the death of Hubert Walter, in the year 1205. The authorities of Gervase are chiefly Beda, Gotscelin, Osbern, Eadmer, Malmesbury, Florence of Worcester, William Crispin, and the authors whom he had used in his Chronicle. It appears to be a portion of a larger work, as neither the succession of the Kings, nor their donations, mentioned in his Prologue, are to be found in it, as it has come down to us in Twysden's edition. (2)

XXII. Chronica Pontificum ecclesiæ Eboraci, autore Thoma Stubbs, Dominicano. (p. 1685.) This work contains brief notices of the Lives of the Archbishops of York from 625 to 1373, and of the contentions between the two Primates on the subject of canonical obedience.

XXIII. Epistola Radulphi Archiepiscopi Cantuariensis Calixto Papæ missa quærentis de injuria sibi et ecclesiæ Cant. in consecratione Archiepiscopi Eboracensis. (p. 1735.) The title shows the nature of this letter.

XXIV. Decreta Papalia de Primatu Cantuariæ. (p. 1749.)

XXV. Chronica Guillielmi Thorne Monachi S. Augustini Cantuariensis. (p. 1753.) This is a very extensive history of St. Augustine's Abbey, from its foundation to the year 1397, but it contains scarcely any notice of public affairs.

XXVI. Evidentiæ Ecclesiæ Christi Cantuariæ, being a chronological series of donations to Christ Church, Canterbury, from the year 616 to about the year 1100, where it ends imperfectly.

XXVII. Chronologia spectans ad cœnobium SS. Petri et Pauli, Augustinique Anglorum Apostoli Cantuariæ (p. 2229), extending from the year 597 to the year 1419, and divided into seven columns. (3)

XXVIII. Sursum redditio Abbathiæ S. Augustini Cantuariæ; 30 Hen. VIII. (p. 2293.)

XXIX. Henrici Knighton Canonici Leycestrensis Chronica de eventibus Angliæ a tempore Regis Eadgari usque ad mortem Regis Ricardi Secundi. (p. 2297.) The author states his intention of following the laudable example of preceding writers in collecting the events of past times for the benefit of posterity; and with this view he adopts the Seventh Book of Higden for his basis, making such additions from other sources as might occur to him; and, that his work may not commence abruptly, he states that he will prefix an Introduction in sixteen chapters, the initials of which will display the name of the writer. Before the year 1300 there is very little new matter; afterwards by degrees it becomes full, and towards the end to a great extent original.

XXX. Depositio Regis Ricardi Secundi. (p. 2743.) Taken from the Parliament Roll of the first year of the reign of King Henry IV.

XXXI. Responsiones Adæ quondam Wigorniensis episcopi modo Wyntoniensis electi confirmati, ad appellationem contra ipsum propositam. A. D. 1334. (p. 2763.)

XXXII. Scriptura Saxonica de Dunelmensis urbis situ. A mere correct reprint of the same passage occurring in Simeon, col. 76.

Taylor's Hist. of Gavelkind:—Relatio de Willelmo Comite Normannorum.

§ 38. In the year 1663, Taylor, in his History of Gavelkind, printed from a manuscript in the Bodleian Library the little work entitled "Brevis Relatio de Willelmo nobilissimo Comite Normannorum, authore anonymo."(4) This account, though brief, is apparently faithful. The

(1) It seems likely that Gervase had a copy of the Continuation of Florence which came lower down than that from which Howard's text was taken, as it has much during the whole of Stephen's reign, apparently by one who resided in the West of England, which is not to be found elsewhere.

(2) Leland in his Collectanea (i. 256) has printed some extracts from this work, which are not found in Twysden.

(3) 1. Year of our Lord. 2. Indiction. 3. Number of years since the advent of Augustine. 4. Popes. 5. Archbishops of Canterbury. 6. Kings of Kent. 7. Abbots of S. Augustine.

(4) Rollo, Northmanus Britannicus, auctore Roberto Deynaldo; folio, Rothomagi, 1660. Taylor seems to think that the author was a monk of Battle. It has been reprinted by Dr. Giles.

Digitized by Google

author appears to have written during the reign of King Henry I., who is mentioned in several places as the reigning monarch. The portion succeeding the list of the Earls of Normandy is to be found at the end of William of Jumièges. (1)

Epistles of Peter of Blois.

§ 39. In 1667 the Epistles of Peter of Blois were published at Paris by Gussanville.(2) Many of these Epistles relate to transactions connected with England, and are exceedingly curious for the pictures they give of the manners of the court and of the times by one well acquainted with both.

Gerberon's edition of Anselm.

§ 40. The works of Archbishop Anselm were published in the year 1675 by Gerberon, a Benedictine monk. The correspondence of this eminent man throws much light upon the History of England. (3)

Lupus's edition of Beket's Letters.

§ 41. In 1682 the Letters of Thomas Beket were printed by Christianus Lupus, at Brussels. (4) The manuscript from which this edition is taken is in the Vatican Library. Prefixed to it is the treatise called the Quadrilogus.

Fulman's Quinque Scriptores.

§ 42. The collection of the Quinque Scriptores appeared in 1684, edited by William Fulman, under the auspices of Bishop Fell. This volume is often, but erroneously, considered as the first volume of Gale's collection. The misconception appears to have arisen from the following circumstances. In 1687, three years after the publication of Fulman's volume (Quinque Scriptores), Gale issued a collection to which he also gave the title of Quinque Scriptores, and this he designated as Volume II., because it contained authors of a more modern date than those which he intended for his first volume. Gale's first volume did not appear until 1691; and then, instead of calling it Volume I., he merely entitled it Quindecim Scriptores. Not knowing the true state of the case, some have considered the Quindecim Scriptores (being the last published) as the third volume of Gale's Collection, or, as it is sometimes called, the third volume of Gale and Fell's Collection; whereas the volume which Fulman published in 1684 is a work entirely distinct from the two volumes published by Gale in 1687 and 1691, although the three volumes are usually sold together under the name of Gale's Collection. Gale also printed a new title page to the volume which he had published in 1687, giving it the same date as his other publication, 1691. A presentation copy of his two volumes, with the altered title page of the volume published in 1687, is in King George the Third's Library, now in the British Museum.(5) The volumes consist of—

I. Ingulfi Croylandensis Historia, embracing the period between the years 626 and 1089. This is a new edition of Ingulf's Chronicle less correctly published by Savile (see p. 11). The work consists chiefly of an account of the foundation and progress of the Abbey of Croyland (6), with copies of the charters granted by its benefactors, many of which are justly suspected to be forgeries. (7) Whatever it contains of a more general nature, in the early part especially, is very slight, and seems merely to have been introduced for the purpose of connecting the charters together by a continuous narrative. From the accession of Edward the Confessor it takes more the form of annals, following and abridging the same authorities as appear to have been used by Florence of Worcester. It has, however, some anecdotes, chiefly of a local and personal nature, which are not to be found in any preceding writer. It contains many curious particulars, both in its charters and narrative, relating to manners and customs; and the autobiography of the writer forms a considerable and amusing portion of the History; most of his assertions, however, may be rejected, as of little authority. The account of Turketul's early life (p. 36) is very erroneous, as is also the

---

(1) Apud Duchesne, p. 315.

(2) This is a great improvement on the earlier editions of Merlin in 1519, and of Busæus in 1660.

(3) Reprinted, fol. Par. 1721, see p. 25. xi. The previous edition by Picard is very defective in the collection of Anselm's letters. At the end of his edition Gerberon also printed these works of Eadmer:—I. Eadmerus de Vita S. Anselmi, the defects of which Wharton has supplied in his Anglia Sacra, ii. 181; and II. Historia Novorum, with Selden's notes.

(4) See p. 8, note (11). The Letters have been reprinted by Dr. Giles in a new order, but so confused and ill arranged as to be unintelligible.

(5) This is the amended title page: "Historiæ Britannicæ, Saxonicæ, Anglo-Danicæ, Anglicanæ, Scriptores XX," &c. The title page shows the order in which he intended his volumes to be read.

(6) The author states his intention of compiling a History of Croyland Monastery, from the information of the monks then living who had been instructed by their predecessors, and from the inspection of ancient muniments. From the foundation of the abbey to the thirty-fourth year of the reign of Edgar he professes to have abridged or transcribed the monastic Chronicle, which was compiled under the direction and authority of Abbot Turketul, by brother Sweetman, from the relation of the oldest members of the monastery.

(7) Hickes has written a very learned exposition of these forged charters.

Digitized by Google

narrative of Athelstane having bestowed his sister in marriage; and the account of the visit of William Duke of Normandy to Edward the Confessor in 1051 does not agree with the relation in the Saxon Chronicle. More reliance may have been placed on Ingulf's narrative of transactions about the time of the Conquest than they would otherwise be entitled to, from the circumstance of the professed author having, at one period, been in the immediate service of William the Conqueror, together with the seeming truthful and authentic style of his narrative (1); but the anachronisms and erroneous statements which will be discovered on a careful analysis of the work are sufficient to prove that the author was not contemporary with the facts he has described. Sir Francis Palgrave, in a very able article (Quarterly Review, vol. xxxiv. No. LXVII, pp. 289—298), has adduced evidence to show that Ingulf's History of Croyland cannot be assigned to an earlier period than the latter end of the thirteenth or the beginning of the fourteenth century.

Fulman's Quinque Scriptores.

II. Petri Blesensis Continuatio ad Historiam Ingulfi. (p. 108.) The Continuation, which is attributed to Peter of Blois, extends from the year 1089 to the year 1117 (2); and the little general history which is contained in this work seems to be taken from William of Malmesbury; it contains, however, some very curious particulars of lectures delivered at Cambridge, and of the ceremony of laying the foundation of the church at Croyland. There seems to be some ground for thinking that this Continuation was written at a period long subsequent to that to which it professes to belong, though, if the letters prefixed be genuine, it must be the work of Peter of Blois. It must also be remembered that the work, as published in this Collection, is only a portion of a larger work. Reyner, in his Apostolatus Bened. (p. 161), quotes a passage from the "Historia inedita" of Peter of Blois, apparently belonging to this Continuation, though not found in the printed copy. In his 14th Letter also (ed. Gussanville, p. 25), there is a notice by Peter of Blois, far too important to be omitted in this question:—"Illud autem noveritis, quod ad gratiam, et magnificentiam Domini Regis jam de actibus ejus librum ex magna parte composui."

III. Historiæ Croylandensis Continuatio [prima], from the year 1149 to the year 1470. (p. 451.) The writer intended a Continuation of the History of Peter of Blois from the time of Abbot Waldef in the reign of King Stephen. His work is, however, almost entirely taken up with the private history of Croyland, particularly the disputes and law suits between his monastery and that of Spalding; but he often gives short interesting notices of public affairs. He was Prior of Croyland about the year 1470, where he composed his work from such scattered materials as he could collect from former times, and latterly from his own observation.

IV. Historiæ Croylandensis Continuatio alter, from the year 1459 to the year 1486. (p. 549.) The author professes to supply the secular matters omitted by his predecessor, the writer of the preceding Continuation. His work is written with impartiality and diligence, and is valuable as being composed by a person contemporary with the transactions he relates. He appears to have been in the confidence of King Edward IV., of whom he was a decided partisan, but an enemy of King Richard III. (3)

V. Continuatio tertia, A.D. 1486. (p. 581.)

VI. Chronica de Mailros, inchota per Abbatem de Dundrainand ab A.D. 731, continuata per varios ad A.D. 1270. (p. 135.) To the middle of the twelfth century this Chronicle is of no value, unless it be for the succession of the Scottish Kings. In the early part, the author, endeavouring to incorporate Henry of Huntingdon with Simeon of Durham, commits frequent chronological blunders; but after the middle of the twelfth century the Chronicle contains many important notices of Scotland and of the northern parts of England. The writer professes to collect his materials from various sources, and probably began his task early in the thirteenth century. The compilers of the Annals of Lanercost and Fordun make frequent use of this Chronicle. (4)

VII. Annales Monasterii de Burton in agro Staffordensi, ab A.D. 1004 ad 1263. (p. 245.) From the year 1004 to the year 1202, except some slight notices relating to Burton, it consists of extracts from Hoveden (here miscalled Hugo de Hoveden); the remainder of the Annals appears to be taken principally from Matthew Paris.

§ 43. Thomas Gale published his valuable collection entitled Historiæ Anglicanæ Scriptores Quinque in the year 1687 (5), containing—

Gale's Historiæ Anglicanæ Scriptores Quinque.

I. Annales de Margan, sive Chronica abbreviata, from the year 1066 to the year 1232. (p. 1.) To the year 1100 these Annals are taken almost entirely from the works of William of Malmesbury and Florence of Worcester; from the year 1100 to the year 1130 a Chronicle of Winchester seems to be the author's authority; from the year 1130 to the year 1142 they are for the most part an

(1) The learned editors of the Collection of French historians, writing of Ingulf, observe, "Il avoit tout vu, en bon "connoisseur, et ce qu'il rapporte il l'écrit en homme lettré judicieux et vrai;" and Dr. Henry, speaking of him, says, that Ingulphus published an excellent History of the Abbey of Croyland from its foundation, A.D. 664 to A.D. 1091, with which he had introduced much of the general history of the kingdom, with a variety of curious anecdotes that are nowhere else to be found; but it is exactly these curious anecdotes which Sir Francis Palgrave properly observes must be unsparingly rejected.

(2) The work professes to have been written between the years 1191 and 1200, and continued to the time of King Stephen, but the latter part is apparently lost, as it ends abruptly, A.D. 1117.

(3) The author, who appears to be a civilian or canonist, assigns, as his reason for not continuing his History, the fear of being accused either of flattery or malevolence towards the reigning prince. (See p. 557.)

(4) An excellent edition of this Chronicle was published by Mr. Stevenson for the Bannatyne Club, in 1835.

(5) See § 42, antea.

Digitized by Google

Gale's Historiæ Anglicanæ Scriptores Quinque.

abridgment of Malmesbury; afterwards to the year 1212 they appear to be derived from the same source as the Annals of Waverley; after the year 1212, though the resemblance between those Annals still continues, the author has added much of a local nature. The notices of public events are slight to the year 1171, but they afterwards become fuller; and from 1222 they chiefly relate to transactions in Wales and the neighbourhood of Margan. The Chronicle ends imperfectly.

II. Chronicon Thomæ Wikes, aliter Chronicon Salisburiensis Monasterii, ab adventu Conquestoris ad annum 1307. (p. 21.) There is nothing in the work to show why the author of this Chronicle should be called Thomas Wikes (1); the ascription of it to him seems to rest on Bale's authority. From the year 1066 to the year 1136 it is chiefly taken from Florence of Worcester and the Continuation of Florence, but the chronology is disturbed; from the year 1156 to the year 1193 it is principally derived from Newburg; from the year 1208 to the year 1263 the notices by degrees become fuller; and from the year 1263, when the style seems to change, to the year 1294, they are at considerable length; the remainder, to the death of King Edward I., in the year 1307 (misread by Gale 1304), is from Higden.

III. Annales Waverleienses, A.D. 1291. (p. 129.) To the year 999, where the first part of these Chronicles seems to end, the notices relating to England are few and short; it then follows the Saxon Chronicle verbatim to a great extent, Huntingdon, and Robert de Monte, but principally the latter. Gale printed only the portion subsequent to the Norman Conquest. By some unaccountable oversight the transactions of the year 1264 are printed as of the year 1255, and those of the year 1265 as of the year 1264.

IV. Itinerarium Regis Anglorum Richardi et aliorum in terram Hieroslymorum, auctore Gaufrido Vinisauf (p. 247), from the year 1187 to the year 1192. Gale, on the authority of the rubric in a manuscript (F.f. 1.25) in the Public Library at Cambridge, ascribes this Chronicle to Geoffrey Vinisauf. Trivet, who wrote in the beginning of the fourteenth century, quotes it (p. 97) as the work of Richard, a canon of the Holy Trinity, London; and the Chronicon Terræ Sanctæ, (apud Martene et Durand., Ampliss. Collectio. tom. 5. p. 544, which is ascribed to a contemporary, Ralph de Coggeshale, who possibly may have added the latter part to it), refers those who are desirous of being more fully informed concerning this Crusade ad librum quem Dominus Prior Sanctæ Trinitatis de London ex Gallica lingua in Latinum, tam eleganti quam veraci stylo, fecit transferri. It appears from this that the author is yet to be indentified, and that Richard, the canon of the Holy Trinity, was probably only the translator; and the circumstance of its being a translation may account for the apology in the Preface, as in its present state it is in a style rather over-carefully than negligently composed. It may perhaps be inferred that the author was one of Richard's foreign subjects; for although some few of the English nobility are occasionally mentioned with honour, yet the English collectively are very sparingly noticed. Trivet says that the Chronicle was written both in prose and verse; and Leland states that he had only seen the verse, which was tolerable. Giraldus Cambrensis commends and abridges the account of the march and death of the Emperor Frederic. (See Mr. Brewer's edition of Giraldus Cambrensis de Instructione Principum, p. 128 et seq.) The writer enters into a minute detail of particulars relating to the Second Crusade, and more especially of the transactions of King Richard I., whose extraordinary prowess he takes every opportunity of celebrating. In the course of the narrative many curious notices occur relating to shipping and arms, and the attack and defence of towns and fieldworks. The author frequently mentions his being present with King Richard, and apologizes for his style from his having written while in the camp or field.

V. Versus magistri Gaufridi Vinesaugh de eodem Rege glorioso Richardo. (p. 430.) This is also quoted by Trivet under the name of "De Vinesauf" (p. 135), which shows that he did not confound Richard with Geoffrey. See also Bromton, p. 1280.

VI. Historia Captionis Damietæ, from 1217 to 1219. (p. 435.) The events which occurred during the siege are described at length, the writer having been present. Several curious particulars of attack and defence are mentioned, but it has no immediate connexion with English history. From passages at pp. 439—441, it may be conjectured to be the work of a Fleming or Dutchman. (2) Matthew Paris has inserted a large portion of it in his History.

VII. Chronica Walteri Hemingforde canonici de Gisseburne de gestis regum Angliæ, ab A.D. 1066—1272. (p. 453.) This Chronicle, to the year 1146, is principally taken from Simeon of Durham or Roger Hoveden, and Henry of Huntingdon; from that time to the year 1197, from William of Newburg; and afterwards from Matthew Paris. Gale only printed a portion, intending to give the remainder in another volume, but he was prevented by death or other causes from fulfilling his intention (3), and the remainder was published by Hearne. This author is sometimes called Walter de Gisburn (Tiberius B. IV. fol. 93^{b}), and in one manuscript Walter de Hemingburght (Lansd. 234).

---

(1) The name of Thomas de Wyke, Canonicus de Oseney, occurs under the year 1282, of Robert de Wykes in 1246, of Edith de Weyke in 1269, and of John de Wyke in 1283.

(2) It is also printed in Gesta Dei, per Francos, where it is brought lower down, and ascribed to Jacobus de Vitriaco. It was printed as a new work, from a unique manuscript in Gray's Inn, by Dr. Giles, in 1846, under the title of "Incerti Scriptoris narratio de rebus in bello Sancto gestis, A.D. 1217, 1218." But the most complete edition was published by Eccard in his Scriptores Medii Ævi.

(3) See Hearne's Preface to Walter de Hemingford, p. xxiii; and see further note (4). p. 30, post.

Digitized by Google

§ 45. In 1691 Gale published another volume, containing the works of more ancient writers, entitled Historiæ Britannicæ, Saxonicæ, Anglo-Danicæ Scriptores xv., which he called his first volume, though it is generally considered as the third volume of Gale's collection.(1) The fifteen writers were —

Gale's Historiæ Britannicæ, Saxonicæ, Anglo-Danicæ Scriptores xv.

I. Gildas Sapiens de Excidio Britanniæ. (2) (p. 1.)

II. Vita S. Wilfridi episcopi Eboracensis, auctore Eddio Stephano (3), (p. 38,) from the year 633 to the year 709. Heddius (4) relates minutely Wilfrid's education, his journey to Rome, the foundation of Rippon, and the various decrees of the Popes for his restoration. His notices of manners, customs, buildings, &c. are valuable. His style is inflated, and his facts comparatively few. Yet his narrative furnishes a valuable commentary upon the corresponding passages of Beda's Historia Ecclesiastica, and throws light upon what would otherwise have remained in obscurity. Malmesbury says of Heddius, "quæ Stephanus presbyter, de Wilfrido magno verborum agmine egit, in compendium coarctabo." (Gest. Pontif., lib. 3.)

III. Eulogium Britanniæ, sive Historia Britonum, auctore Nennio.(5) (p. 96.)

IV. Chronicon Fani S. Neoti sive Annales Joan. Asserii (6) ut non nullis videtur. (7) (p. 141.) This Chronicle is a servile compilation from Beda, the Saxon Chronicle, the source of the Chronicon Cadomense (8), Vita S. Eucherii (9), Abbo Floriacensis, Vita S. Edmundi, and a few other writers.

V. Polychronicon Ranulphi Higdeni monachi Cestrensis. (p. 174.) Except a few interpolations, there is scarcely a passage in this work that is not taken from some preceding writer. See p. 3. § 4.

VI. W. Malmesburiensis Vita Aldhelmi, seu de Gestis Pontificum, lib. 5^{us} (10), (p. 337,) from the year 675 to the year 1125. Malmesbury enters at length into the events of Aldhelm's life, and brings out many curious particulars relating to the literature, manners, and customs of that age. The style is in Malmesbury's general manner, and his good sense and judgment are conspicuous throughout. He laments the want of materials, and observes that the miraculous circumstances of Aldhelm's life are such as tradition alone supports; and when he relates events which he had himself witnessed, he always notifies it to the Reader. He is indebted to Faricius abbot of Abbendon for many of his materials.

VII. Historia Ramesiensis, from the year 924 to the year 1066. (p. 383.) This is an account, written apparently with great truth and candour, of the foundation and fortunes of Ramsey Abbey prior to the Norman Conquest; it contains also slight notices of public events, with many curious particulars of the manner of acquiring property, and of the arts and customs of the age in which it was written. The charters entered in this work are, in general, confessedly translated from the Saxon. The general history affords little or nothing new; it seems derived from Malmesbury, many of whose expressions are adopted. The Fourth Part of this History, which Gale sought for in vain (11), is to be found in Spelman's copy, now in the Bodleian Library.

VIII. Historia Ecclesiæ Eliensis, sive Libellus quorundam insignium Operum B. Ædelwoldi Episcopi. (p. 463.) This History, extending from 963 to 984, is said, in the Prologue, to have been translated from the Anglo-Saxon at the desire of Bishop Herveus (12), in order to supply the omissions in the Life of Bishop Ethewold (13) relating to Ely. It contains several curious particulars relating to the mode of acquiring property. Wharton (Anglia Sacra, vol. I. præf. xliv) rightly

---

(1) See § 42, p.18.

(2) See p. 59, post.

(3) It had been previously printed by Mabillon (Acta Benedict., sæc. 4. p. 1) from an imperfect manuscript, but he has added several very useful notes to it; and at a subsequent period Gale enabled him to complete his edition.

(4) Heddius, surnamed Stephen, was brought by Wilfred out of Kent to teach the Roman mode of chanting the church service to the Northumbrian clergy.

(5) See p. 62, post.

(6) It seems extraordinary that this composition should ever have been assigned to Asser, as Abbo, who is quoted therein, lived nearly a century after his time; and the compiler is at times so exact in copying his authorities, that he writes at one period as if he were Beda, at another the author of the Life of Eucherius, and afterwards Asser. There are, besides, other internal marks of a much later origin than Asser. (See further on this subject, p. 79, post.)

(7) See § 186, post.

(8) Duchesne Script. Normanniæ.

(9) Duchesne Script. Franciæ, tom. I. p. 791.

(10) The manuscripts used by Gale in this volume, and by Wharton (Anglia Sacra, vol. II.), have been inaccurately transcribed. Gale's copy, however, is much more accurate and readable than Wharton's. Both of their manuscripts appear to have been taken from that ancient copy in the Library of Magdalene College, Oxford, the only copy on vellum hitherto discovered; but even this is imperfect, and exhibits a very lamentable instance of wayward diligence. It appears that Malmesbury gave more than one edition of this work as well as of his others. The Magdalene copy seems to have been the latest edition; but some person who possessed the first edition, thinking it the more authentic, has erased, altered, and interlined this copy, until he had, as he supposed, restored it to its original purity. Owing to this, several sections or paragraphs are entirely lost. It, however, affords many corrections of the printed copy.

(11) Gale omitted the Preface, in which it appears that the author lived during the time of Abbot Walter, who died in 1160.

(12) He presided over the see of Ely from the year 1109 to the year 1131.

(13) Apparently that by Wolstan, who barely mentions his foundation at Ely.

Digitized by Google

Gale's Historiæ Britannica, Saxonicæ, Anglo-Danicæ Scriptores xv.

observes that it is substantially the same as part of the Second Book of the Liber Eliensis, with the addition of some encomiastic verses on Bishop Ethelwold.

IX. Excerpta e Secundo Libro Historiæ Eliensis (p. 489), from the year 970 to the year 1066. This is a portion of the Second Book (1) of the Liber Eliensis, which, in the Ely manuscript, reaches to the year 1107. It contains very little of a public nature. The author uses and quotes Florence of Worcester, the Saxon Chronicle, Osbern, and Malmesbury, and had seen W. of Poictiers. He gives various interesting details respecting the monastic modes of acquiring property.

X. Chronica Johannis Wallingford (2), (p. 525,) from the year 449 to the year 1035. The author of this Chronicle seems frequently desirous of examining and comparing authorities, and yet the result is only error and absurdity, confounding persons and places, and setting chronology at defiance. (3) Of all chroniclers he is perhaps the most perplexing; he often speaks so much with the appearance of truth, that it is both vexatious and mortifying to find, on examination, that he is in reality full of error and confusion. He seems to have used Beda, Malmesbury, Huntingdon, Florence of Worcester, W. of Jumieges, Bridferth's Life of St. Dunstan, the Life of St. Neot, the Life of Guthlac by Felix, and of Edward the Martyr by Gotscelin. He repeatedly mentions his intention of composing a larger Chronicle. The Lives of Saints form by far the larger portion of this work. Many of these have been confessedly omitted by Gale, and he has passed over several others without notice. (4)

XI. Historia compendiosa de Regibus Britonum, auctore Ranulfo de Diceto. (p. 553.) From Brutus to Cadwallader. This appears to be an abridgment of Geoffrey of Monmouth, with slight additions from Beda and Alfred of Beverley. (5)

XII. Gulielmi Malmesburiensis de Antiquitate Glastoniensis ecclesiæ. (p. 289.) This is an account of the foundation, endowments, and privileges of Glastonbury. Malmesbury appears to have been trammeled by his task: he had a certain quantity of materials placed in his hands in order that he might elevate as much as possible the dignity of Glastonbury, and his criticism seems frequently struggling against his employment. Although much of what he had to relate was pure fable, and many of the charters to which he refers were probably forgeries, yet he has, as usual, made the most of his materials, and given many curious particulars of manners and customs. It has been printed from a manuscript avowedly interpolated; no genuine manuscript, however, has yet occurred. (6)

XIII. Johannis Fordun Scoti-Chronicon, sive Scottorum Historia. (p. 563.) This includes only the first four books of Fordun, and part of the fifth book. (7)

XIV. De Pontificibus et Sanctis ecclesiæ Eboracensis Poema, auctore Flacco Alcwino. (p. 701.) To v. 1210 is almost entirely a versification of Beda; thence it is continued to the death of Archbishop Ælbert (Ethelberht), in the year 781. It is reprinted in Mabillon's Acta.

XV. De Partitione Provinciæ in schiras et episcopatus et regna. (p. 560.) This piece appears to have been compiled in the reign of King Edward III., as it reckons ten kings of the Norman line to have been crowned at London. It is apparently a portion of John Pike's collections.

XVI. List of the Anglo-Saxon Kings, from the "Textus Roffensis," with extracts from Domesday Book.

---

(1) A portion of the first book had been published in Mabillon's Acta Bened.

(2) In the beginning of the manuscript (Cott. Jul. D. vii. 6.) is a rubric, "Hic est liber fratris Johannis Wallingford quem . . . . ." (the remainder being obliterated). In another part is the figure of a monk, and over it "Frater Johannes de Wallingford quandoque infirmarius," which has induced Gale to consider one John Wallingford to be the author, and to be the same person as Abbot John Wallingford who died in the year 1214. But this appears to be an erroneous conclusion, for at the end of the volume is a list of all the monks of St. Alban's who died from the time that John Wallingford entered the Society in the year 1231; and under the year 1258 occurs as follows:—"xix. kl. Sep-"tembris, apud Wymundham, obiit Johannes de Wallingford sacerdos Domini, et scriptor hujus libri."

(3) A few of his blunders may be noticed. Charlemagne is said to have subdued England (Saxony); Offa to have put Ethelbert King of Wessex (East Anglia) to death; Brichtric King of the West Saxons to have been tributary to Offa; Alfred to have attempted to violate Fretheswitha. Rollo comes to Ethelingai to assist Alfred, A.D. 878. Guthrum, after his baptism (878), returns home till recalled by Athelstan during the reign of his father, Edward the Elder. Edgiva, wife of Charles the Simple of France, comes to England, and her brother bestows her on Sihtric King of Northumbria, by whom she has Guthrid and Olaf (Anlaf). Edward the Martyr reproves Gunnild (Ethelfrida), and on leaving her she stabs him. Ethelred had engaged a body of Danish soldiers in his service, whom he was compelled to sacrifice to the clamour of his people, A.D. 1002. Swain and Olave come to avenge the slaughter; Ethelred, alarmed at their approach, goes to Normandy to buy assistance from Duke Richard, and leaves his children with him. London is besieged, and Olaf makes peace with Ethelred. The Battle of Assandun is fought before the death of Ethelred.

(4) Gale, having stated generally in his Preface that he should make omissions, often prints passages continuously without noting the omissions.

(5) It would seem that the only reason for ascribing this compilation to Ralph de Diceto is, that the compiler has made much use of that writer's works. It forms part of what is called Suppletio Historiæ Regum Angliæ, quantum ad Reges Saxonum, Danorum, et Normannorum; Johannis Pike. The author repeatedly refers to a former compilation, "Hæc Breom," or "Brom;" or "De Compendio Brom," which has been erroneously read "De Compendio Brevi" by Wharton.

(6) Some sensible remarks on this work will be found in Wharton's Anglia Sacra, Pars I. præf. p. xxxviii. For another edition of it, see § 56, p. 29, post.

(7) See afterwards § 78, p. 33, post.

Digitized by Google

§ 46. In the year 1691 Henry Wharton published the Collection which he called Anglia Sacra, in two volumes, of which the first contains — Wharton's Anglia Sacra, Pars I.

DE SEDE CANTUARIENSI.

I. Stephen Birchington's Lives of the Archbishops of Canterbury (p. 1), from the foundation of the See to the translation of William of Wittlesey in 1368. A short enumeration of the principle actions of the several archbishops, except those of Robert Winchelsey and John de Stretford, whose disputes with Edward I. and Edward III., especially the latter, are related at greater length.

II. The Life of Simon Sudbury (Ex Speculo Parvulorum, Lib. v. Cap. 27.), (p. 49,) by William Chartham, from the year 1370 to 1381. A short but curious history.

III. Excerpts from the Chronicle of Christ's Church, Canterbury, relating to Robert Winchelsey Archbishop of Canterbury. (p. 50.)

IV. Dies Obituales of the Archbishops of Canterbury, from the Martyrology and Obituary of Christ Church, Canterbury; from S. Augustine to Henry Dene, with occasional mention of their benefactions. (p. 52.)

V. Anonymous History of the Controversy between the Sees of Canterbury and York relative to the Primacy. (p. 65.)

VI. Professions made by various Bishops to the See of Canterbury. (p. 78.)

VII. Catalogue of the Archbishops of Canterbury, from Augustine to Walter de Reynolds, taken from the Register of Henry de Estra, prior of Christ's Church, Canterbury. (p. 83.)

VIII. Succession of the Archbishops of Canterbury to the year 1148, from the Short Annals of Rochester. (p. 85.)

IX. Indiculus of the Successions of the Archbishops of Canterbury, by Ralph de Diceto. (p. 87.)

X. The Rights [jura] due to Christ's Church, Canterbury, after the death of its Suffragans; taken from the Cottonian MS., Vitellius, E. 17. (p. 88.)

XI. Epistle of Boniface Archbishop of Canterbury to King Henry III., relative to his Right in the Bishoprick of Rochester; from the Cottonian MS. Vitellius, E. 5.

XII. Indiculus of the Succession of the Archbishops of Canterbury from S. Augustine to William Warham, by a Canon of Lichfield; together with a laborious dissertation by the Editor, fixing the exact date of each bishop's succession. (p. 89.)

XIII. A Dissertation by the Editor, whether Elfric Archbishop of Canterbury was the same person as Elfric Grammaticus. (p. 125.)

XIV. A History of the Deans and Priors of Christ's Church, Canterbury, by the Editor. (p. 135.)

XV. A Fragment relating to the Institution of the Archdeacons of Canterbury, from the Cottonian Manuscript, Tiberius, C. 9. (p. 150.)

XVI. Chronicon Cœnobii S. Crucis Edinburgensis (p. 152); extending from the Invasion of Julius Cæsar to the year 1163. Wharton has printed the whole of it from the year 595.

XVII. 1.—History of the Abbey of Abingdon, from its foundation to the year 1152; from the additions to the Chronicle of Florence of Worcester, by a Monk of Abingdon, A.D. 948–1130. (p. 163.) From the Lambeth MS.

2.—Additamenta ex Historia Cœnobii Melndoniensis, from MS. Cott. Claud. B. VI. (p. 169.)

XVIII. Charter of King Aethelred to the Abbey of Sherborn, A.D. 998. (p. 170.)

XIX. Epistle of Pope Alexander III. to King Henry II., concerning Thomas Beket Archbishop of Canterbury, from the Cottonian Manuscript, Vitellius, E. 10. (p. 171.) The authority of this Letter is disputed; it is not to be found in Lupus' editon of Beket's Letters.

XX. Epistle of Walter de Reynelds Archbishop of Canterbury to Pope John XXII., relative to the canonization of Robert Winchelsey Archbishop of Canterbury, A.D. 1326. (p. 173.)

XXI. The Testimony of Walter of Suthfeld, Bishop of Norwich, relative to the power of the Archbishop of Canterbury over the Priory of Canterbury. (p. 174.) From the Arundel Register, f. 15.

XXII. Benefices pertaining to the collation or presentation of the Archbishop of Canterbury in the year 1400. p. 175. (Ibid. f. 258.)

DE SEDE WINTONIENSI.

XXIII. 1.—Thomæ Rudborne monachi Winton. Historia Major, de fundatione et successione ecclesiæ Wintoniensis. (p. 177). In five books, ending A.D. 1138. Both the commencement and end are defective; some of the lacunæ may be supplied from Leland's Collectanea, vol. i. p. 420.

2.—Thomæ Rudborne prologus in Historiam suam Minorem. (p. 287.)

XXIV. The Annals of the Church of Winchester, by a Monk of Winchester, from the year 633 to 1277. To the year 1202 these Annals are entirely compiled from Richard of Devises, Geoffrey of Monmouth, Malmesbury, Huntingdon, and Florence of Worcester. From 1202 the author gives a general account of public affairs, and the succession of the Bishops of Winchester. Wharton has only printed the notices respecting Winchester, and such others as he considered worth preserving. The earlier portion will be found in Dugdale's Monasticon, vol. i. p. 31.

Digitized by Google

Wharton's Anglia Sacra, Pars I.

XXV. Succession of the Bishops of Winchester, from the year 1277 to the Reformation. (p. 315.)

XXVI. 1.—An Epistle from the Monks of Winchester, to Alexander II., A.D. 1071 (p. 320); from the Cottonian Manuscript, Vitellius, E. 4.

2.—The Pope's answer. (p. 321.)

3.—His Letter to Lanfranc on the same occasion. (p. 322.)

4.—Lantfredi Epistola præmissa Historiæ de Miraculis S. Swithuni. (Ibid.)

XXVII. Succession of the Priors of the Church of Winchester, by the Editor. (p. 323.)

XXVIII. Elogium of William Waynflete. (p. 326.) From the Triumphus Amoris, &c. of W. D. Savona in 1485.

DE SEDE ROFFENSI.

XXIX. Collectanea de rebus Eccl. Roffens. (p. 327), from the Textus Roffensis of Ernulphus Bishop of Rochester.

XXX. The Annals of the Church of Rochester, from the Ecclesiastical History of Edmund de Hadenham, monk of Rochester, from A.D. 604 to A.D. 1307.

XXXI. Historia Roffensis, Will. de Dene, notarii publici, A.D. 1314—1350. (p. 356.)

XXXII. Continuatio Historiæ Roffensis, or the Succession of the Bishops of Rochester, from the year 1352 to the Reformation, by the Editor. (p. 378.)

XXXIII. Libellus a monachis Roffens. A.D. 1306, oblatus de jure elegendi Episcopi. (p. 384.)

XXXIV. Charter of King John relative to the Patronage of the Bishoprick of Rochester. Ex registro Warham, f. 111. (p. 386.)

XXXV. Jura Episcopatus Roffensis, A.D. 1360. (p. 388.)

XXXVI. Excerpta quædam ex consuetudinario Roffensi. (p. 390.)

XXXVII. Succession of the Priors of the Church of Rochester, by the Editor. (p. 392.)

DE SEDE NORWICENSI.

XXXVIII. The Annals of the Church of Norwich, by Bartholomew de Cotton, monk of Norwich, from the year 1042 to 1299. (p. 395.)

XXXIX. The anonymous Continuation of Bartholomew de Cotton's History of the Bishops of Norwich, to 1445. (p. 413.)

XL. Succession of the Bishops of Norwich, from the year 1446 to the Reformation, by the Editor. (p. 418.)

XLI. Succession of the Priors of Norwich, from the foundation to the year 1540, by the Editor. (p. 420.)

DE SEDE COVENTRENSI ET LICFELDENSI.

XLII. History of the Bishops of Coventry and Lichfield, from the foundation of the See to the year 1347; by Thomas Chesterfeld, canon of Lichfield. (p. 421.)

XLIII. William Whitlocke's Additamenta to the History of Lichfield. (p. 444.)

XLIV. Continuation of the History of Lichfield, from the year 1359 to 1559, by William Whitlocke. (p. 448.)

XLV. Epistola Leonis [III.] Papæ ad Kenulpham Regem. (p. 460.)

XLVI. Epistola Episcoporum Angliæ ad Leonem Papam. (p. 461.)

XLVII. Succession of the Priors of Coventry and Lichfield, to 1539. (p. 463.)

XLVIII. Succession of the Deans of Lichfield, to 1536, by the Editor. (p. 465.)

DE SEDE WIGORNIENSI.

XLIX. Annales de rebus Ecclesiæ Wigorniensis, from its foundation to the year 1308, by a Monk of Worcester. (1) (p. 467.)

L. Continuation of the History of the Bishops of Worcester, from the year 1302 to the year 1540, by the Editor. (p. 531.)

LI. Vita S. Wlstani Episcopi Wigorniensis, auctore Hemmingo monacho Wigorniensi. (p. 541.)

LII. Acts of the Synod at Worcester in the year 1092. (p. 542.)

LIII. Composition between the Bishop and Monks of Worcester in the year 1224, concerning the election of the Prior of Worcester. (p. 543.)

LIV. Succession of the Priors of Worcester, by the Editor. (p. 546.)

DE SEDE BATHONIENSI ET WILLENSI.

LV. History of the Bishops of Bath and Wells, from the foundation of the See to the year 1423, by a Canon of Wells. (p. 553.)

LVI. The Continuation of the History of the Bishops of Bath and Wells, from the year 1424 to 1540, by the Editor. (p. 572.)

---

(1) The basis of the Annales Wigornenses is the Chronicle of Winchester (Vespasian, E. IV. 12.), miscalled Waverley; the Prologue to which is curious, as it appears to point out the method in which chronicles were generally compiled. Wharton has printed whatever related to Worcester, or to ecclesiastical matters generally, and sometimes the general history.

Digitized by Google

LVII. The History of the Controversy between the Bishops of Bath and the Monks of Glastonbury, by Adam de Domersham, monk of Glastonbury. (p. 578.) Wharton's Anglia Sacra, Pars I.

LVIII. Succession of the Priors of Bath, to 1539, by the Editor. (p. 586.)

LIX. Succession of the Deans of Wells, to 1540, by the Editor. (p. 588.)

DE SEDE ELIENSI.

LX. The History of Ely, from the foundation of the church to the year 1107, by Thomas, a monk of Ely. (p. 593.)

LXI. The Continuation of the History of Ely, from the year 1108 to 1169, by Richard prior of Ely. (p. 615.)

LXII. The Continuation of the History of Ely, from 1174 to 1388, by a monk of Ely; with a further Continuation from 1388 to 1486. (p. 666.)

LXIII. The Continuation of the History of Ely, from the year 1486 to 1554, by Robert Stewarde, last prior of Ely. (p. 675.)

LXIV. The History of the Conversion of the Abbey of Ely into a Bishoprick, written by Richard, a monk of Ely. (p. 678.)

LXV. A Fragment concerning the Dignity of the Abbot of Ely, by Thomas, a monk of Ely; from the Cottonian Manuscript, Titus, A. 1. (p. 682.)

LXVI. Succession of the Priors of Ely, by the Editor. (p. 683.)

LXVII. The Genealogy of Robert Stewarde, last prior of Ely. (p. 686.)

DE SEDE DUNELMENSI.

LXVIII. The History of the Succession of the Bishops of Durham, from the foundation of the See to the year 1096; by the Editor. (p. 691.)

LXIX. The Continuation of Turgot's History of the Bishops of Durham, from the year 1096 to 1144, by an anonymous monk of Durham. (p. 705.)

LXX. The History of the Church of Durham, from the year 1144 to 1214, by Geoffrey, sacrist of Coldingham. (p. 718.)

LXXI. The History of the Church of Durham, from the year 1214 to 1336, by Robert of Graystanes, Bishop of Durham. (p. 732.)

LXXII. Continuation of the History of Durham, from the year 1333 to 1559, by William de Chambre. (p. 765.)

LXXIII. Succession of the Priors of Durham, to 1540, by the Editor. (p. 784.)

The Second Volume of this Collection was published in the same year. It contains — Wharton's Anglia Sacra, Pars II.

I. William of Malmesbury's Fifth Book of the Gesta Pontificum, or the Life of Aldhelm Bishop of Sherburn. ([1]) (p. 1.)

II. Epistle of St. Odo Archbishop of Canterbury, about the Life of Archbishop Wilfred. (p. 50.)

III. The Historia Minor of the Life of St. Augustine, apostle of the English, by Gotcelin, monk of St. Augustine, Canterbury. This is little more than an abridgement of his larger work. (p. 51.)

IV. Metrical Lives of Thathwyn, Nothelm, and Cuthbert, Archbishops of Canterbury. (p. 71.)

V. The Life of St. Bregwin Archbishop of Canterbury, attributed to Osberne, upon Wharton's conjecture. (p. 73.)

VI. The Life of Odo Archbishop of Canterbury. ([2]) (p. 78.)

VII. The Life of St. Dunstan Archbishop of Canterbury. The basis of this History is apparently Bridfirth's, with some passages from Adelard, but the author appears to have added much from other sources. (p. 88.)

VIII. The Life and Passion of St. Elphege Archbishop of Canterbury, and Martyr; by Osberne. The style is very declamatory, and the narrative is often very prolix, but it contains several curious and valuable particulars. It appears to have been written about the year 1080. (p. 122.)

IX. The History of the Translation of the Body of St. Elphege Archbishop of Canterbury from London to Canterbury; by Osberne. It is short, and contains little that is remarkable. (p. 143.)

X. Epistle of Adelard to Archbishop Elphege, relative to the Life of Dunstan. (p. 148.)

XI. The Life of St. Anselm Archbishop of Canterbury, by John of Salisbury, Bishop of Chartres. It was composed ([3]) by the desire of Thomas Beket, and presented to the Pope at the Council of Tours in 1163, with a view to the canonization of Anselm. (p. 149.)

XII. Bull of Pope Alexander III. relative to the canonization of St. Anselm (p. 177); and a Letter of Anselm, iii. 47. (p. 178.)

([1]) See note ([10]), p. 21, antea.

([2]) Wharton, in his text, by an oversight, attributed this to Osberne, but corrected his error afterwards, and assigns it correctly to Eadmer (Præf. p. xiii.) That Eadmer is the author appears from internal evidence, especially from that part of it relating to Edwy and the two women. The facts mentioned in this Life are few, and most of them seem to be taken from the Life of Oswald. The author had evidently seen a Life of Odo composed before the end of the tenth century.

([3]) It is taken, often literally, from Eadmer's Life of Anselm, with a few additions. See note ([3]), p. 18, antea.

Digitized by Google

Wharton's Anglia Sacra, Pars II.

XIII. Eadmer's Life of Anselm. (p. 181.)

XIV. Eadmer's Life of Bregwin Archbishop of Canterbury. (1) (p. 184.)

XV. Eadmer's Life of St. Oswald Bishop of Worcester (2) and Archbishop of York. (p. 191.)

XVI. Eadmer's Life of St. Dunstan Archbishop of Canterbury. It substance this is the same as Osberne's, but generally more scanty; it is, however, occasionally fuller. (p. 211.)

XVII. Eadmer's Epistle relative to the Body of St. Dunstan. (p. 222.)

XVIII. Search for the Coffin in the Shrine of St. Dunstan, made by command of Archbishop Warham, on the 20th April 1508. (p. 227.)

XIX. Letter from Archbishop Warham to the Abbot of Glastonbury in 1508. (p. 229.)

XX. Letter to the Archbishop from the Abbot of Glastonbury in reply. (p. 230.)

XXI. Letter from Archbishop Warham to the Abbot of Glastonbury, 10th July, 23 Hen. VII. (p. 232.)

XXII. Nicolas's Epistle to Eadmer relative to the Primacy of the See of York over Scotland. (p. 234.)

XXIII. Charter of Thurstan Archbishop of York, relative to the Consecration of Robert Bishop of St. Andrews; from the Cottonian Manuscript, Titus, A. 19. (p. 237.)

XXIV. Eadmer's Epistle to the monks of Worcester, relative to the Election of a Bishop. (p. 238.) From the Cottonian Manuscript, Claud. A. 1.

XXV. William of Malmesbury's Life of St. Wulstan Bishop of Worcester. It is very interesting, especially in the third book; there are, however, some curious particulars in the portions omitted by Wharton. (p. 239.)

XXVI. The Life of Gundulf Bishop of Rochester, by a monk of Rochester. The facts mentioned in this Life are comparatively few, and the author has given a summary of the whole in twenty verses. (p. 271.)

XXVII. (1.) The Life of Robert Betun, Bishop of Hereford, by William of Wickham, prior of Lanthony. (p. 293.) It contains very few facts worth recording. Wharton has omitted the miracles.—(2.) Succession of the Priors of Lanthony, by the Editor. (p. 322.)

XXVIII. The Metrical Life of Robert Grosthed, Bishop of Lincoln, by Richard, monk of Bardney. Wharton omitted much of this Life, and printed three portions only, because no other Life of Grosthed occurred to him. It was written in the year 1503, and the manuscript appears to have been burned.

XXIX. The Life of Robert Grosthed, from the Annals of Lanercost. (p. 341.)

XXX. Epistle of the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, London, to Pope Clement V. for the canonization of Robert Grosthed, Bishop of Lincoln. (p. 343.)

XXXI. Miscellaneous pieces relative to Robert Grosthed:—1. A Letter of Giraldus Cambrensis; 2. A quotation from Roger Bacon, both in praise of Robert Grosthed; 3. A List of his writings, published and unpublished, by Wharton; 4. An Extract from John of Tinmuth, respecting him; 5. His defence of his claim to visit the Religious Houses in his diocese. (p. 344—348.)

XXXII. An Extract from the Speculum Ecclesiæ (ii. 23, 24), containing an account of the Life of Hugh Nonant, Bishop of Coventry and Lichfield. (p. 351.)

XXXIII. The Life of William of Wickham, Bishop of Winchester, by Thomas Chaundler, chancellor of Oxford. (p. 355.)

XXXIV. The Life of Thomas de Bekinton, Bishop of Bath and Wells, by Thomas Chaundler, chancellor of Oxford. (p. 357.)

XXXV. An extract from Capgrave's treatise "De illustribus Henricis," giving an account of Henry Le Spenser, Bishop of Norwich. (p. 359.)

XXXVI. The Articles propounded by Richard Scrope, Archbishop of York, against Henry IV. King of England. (p. 362.)

XXXVII. Clement Maydestone's History of the Martyrdom of Richard Scrope Archbishop of York. (p. 369.)

XXXVIII. The Life of Geoffrey Plantagenet Archbishop of York, by Giraldus Cambrensis. (p. 375.) It contains much curious detail of events in the latter part of the reign of King Henry II., and of the beginning of that of Richard I.; the crimes imputed to Longchamp Bishop of Ely are perhaps overcharged.

XXXIX. Legenda S. Remigii, or the Lives of the Bishops of Lincoln, by Giraldus Cambrensis. (3) (p. 408.)

---

(1) Eadmer's knowledge of Bregwin seems to have been very slight; he has, however, incidentally given several curious particulars. It has been abridged by Tinemuth; and his abridgment is printed, by mistake, under the name of Osberne in the Anglia Sacra.

(2) An abridgment of Eadmer's Life of Oswald is printed in the Act. Benedict. sæc. 5. from Capgrave, as the work of an anonymous author.

(3) This piece, which is in three books, is addressed to Stephen Langton Archbishop of Canterbury. It contains accounts of Remigius and his successors Bishops of Lincoln, viz. Robert Bloet, Alexander, Robert de Querceto, Geoffrey Plantagenet, Walter de Constantiis, and Hugh, with a digression on the Lives of Thomas Beket, Henry de Blois Bishop of Winchester, Bartholomew Iscanus Bishop of Exeter, Roger Bishop of Worcester, Baldwin Archbishop of Canterbury, and Hugh Bishop of Lincoln. These Lives are in general brief; but they contain various curious particulars and traits of character. Wharton has, however, omitted all the miracles.

Digitized by Google

XL. The Lives of Six contemporary Bishops, by Giraldus Cambrensis. (p. 420.)—Two epigrams of the same. (pp. 434, 335.) Wharton's Anglia Sacra, Pars II.

XLI. The Epistle of Giraldus Cambrensis to Stephen Langton, Archbishop of Canterbury. (p. 435.)

XLII. An Epistle to the Chapter of Hereford concerning his writings, by Giraldus Cambrensis. (p. 439.)

XLIII. Catalogue of the Works written by Giraldus Cambrensis.

XLIV. The Second Book of the Description of Wales, or Liber Secundus de Illaudabilibus Walliæ, by Giraldus Cambrensis. (p. 447.) It relates to the peculiar vices of the Welch, and suggests the best mode of subduing and keeping that country in subjection; it is the sequel to the Descriptio Cambriæ, mentioned at p. 12, and contains much curious matter, though nearly all the ancient historical notices seem derived from Geoffrey of Monmouth.

XLV. Retractationes Giraldi Cambrensis. (p. 455.)

XLVI. 1. Giraldus Cambrensis De rebus a se gestis, libri tres. (p. 475.) Unfortunately very imperfect.

2.—Seven extracts from the Patent Rolls of King John relating to Giraldus. (p. 512.)

XLVII. Giraldus Cambrensis De jure et statu Menevensis ecclesiæ.

XLVIII. The History of the Life of St. David Bishop of St. David's, by Giraldus Cambrensis. Little more than an abridgment of Ricemarch. (1) (p. 628.)

XLIX. Carmen Simonis de Fraxino Canonici Herefordensis Giraldo transmissam. (p. 641.)

L. Additamenta to the foregoing Life of St. David, by Giraldus Cambrensis, taken from his Life; by Ricemarch Bishop of St. David's.

LI. Annales ecclesiæ Menevensis, by a Canon of St. David's, from the year 438 to 1286. (p. 648.)

LII. The Life of David Fitzgerald (or David II.) Bishop of St. David's, by a Canon of St. David's. (p. 652.)

LIII. The Life of Archbishop Dubric, by Benedict a monk of Gloucester. (p. 654.) This piece is apparently compounded of the Life of S. Dubric (MS. Cott. Vesp. A. xiv. 4. (5.), and of Chapters 1, 2, and 3 of Geoffrey of Monmouth, and the Historiola de primo statu Landavensis ecclesiæ. It is abridged in Capgrave's Legenda Nova.

LIV. The Life of St. Teliav Bishop of Llandaff, by Geoffrey alias Stephen of Llandaff. (2) With few omissions this is verbally the same as that given in the Liber Landavensis. Since Wharton's time it has been published by the Welch Society.

LV. Historiola de prima statu Landavensis ecclesiæ. (3) (p. 667.) Wharton has omitted all the grants that had already been printed.

LVI. Requisitio Urbani Landavensis episcopi versus Calixtum Papam II. apud Remis. (p. 673.)

LVII. The Epistle of Pope Honorius II. relative to Urban Bishop of Llandaff. (p. 674.)

LVIII. The History of the Archbishops of Canterbury, from the foundation of the see to the year 1240, by Ralph De Diceto dean of London. (p. 675.)

LIX. Henry Archdeacon of Huntingdon's Epistle to Walter, De mundi contemptu. (p. 694.) This is part of the Tenth Book of Henry of Huntingdon's history, and contains much curious information.

§ 47. In 1692 Edmund Gibson, afterwards Bishop of London, produced an enlarged edition of the Saxon Chronicle (4), which, on the whole, was carefully executed. Gibson used Wheloc's edition as the basis of his own. He has prefixed to the Chronicle an account of his undertaking, a map of Saxon England, and a chronological Index Rerum;—Regulæ generales ad investigandas origines nominum locorum;—Nominum locorum et virorum explicatio;—Index nominum virorum. Gibson's ed. of Saxon Chronicle.

§ 48. The laborious publications of Thomas Hearne must now claim the attention of the Reader; but only the more important of these will be here noticed, as his indiscriminate love of antiquity induced him to publish many worthless and contemptible articles along with the most valuable historical pieces, and to reprint in ignorance what others had already published.(5) Hearne never attempted to correct even the palpable errors of his own transcriber. Hearne's Collections.

---

(1) Vita B. David, qui et Dewi, episcopi et confessoris, per Ricemarchum (MS. Cott. Vesp. A. xiv. 4. (6.) and MS. Bodl. 285, 16.) The author, who was Bishop of St. David's, collected his materials from various sources. He died about the year 1099 (see Annal. Menev. MS. Harl. 838). Giraldus states in his preface, that he was importuned to compose the Life of David by the Canons of St. David's; but that he does not purpose servilely following the ancient and nearly obsolete Life of that Saint, but he intends changing both the language and arrangement, retrenching or adding whenever he shall find it necessary. Giraldus, however, has added nothing of importance to the narrative of Ricemarch; he frequently retains his very words, and his alterations are chiefly confined to softening down the ruder and plainer language of the ancient Life. Capgrave has also abridged Ricemarch's work.

(2) Abridged in Capgrave.

(3) The grants contained in this piece have the boundaries in Welch, in the same manner as the Saxon boundaries occur in Anglo-Saxon Charters; and, if they can be depended on, contain some interesting notices.

(4) Chronicon Saxonicum, edidit ac Latinum fecit Edmundus Gibson, 4to, Oxon. 1692.

(5) For example, Historia Anonyma Edwardi 3i, he described as "ante hac inedita," whereas Hall had printed it only nine years before.

Digitized by Google

Hearne's Collection.

§ 49. In the year 1716 he published:—

I. Annales sive Historia de gestis Regum Britanniæ, Aluredi Beverlacensis. This work does not contain a single fact which may not be found in Beda, Florence of Worcester, Henry of Huntingdon, Geoffrey of Monmouth, and Simeon of Durham; but the chief sources are the two writers last named. The manuscript used by Hearne seems to have been very faulty, especially in the proper names, which are strangely disfigured.

II. T. Livii Foro-juliensis, Vita Regis Henrici Quinti. With a few additions, this is a very faithful abridgment of Elmham. It is written in a clear unaffected style. Hearne, however, thinks him an original writer: "Quippe quæ non ex alio fonte quam e proprio ingenio fluxisse videatur." (Præf. p. vi.)

III. Joannis Rossi, antiquarii Warwicensis, Historia Regum Angliæ. This History extends from the first peopling of Britain to the accession of King Henry VII.; and, except when it notices changes of fashions, &c., is of little value or authority. The author consulted and cites the chief historians and writers who had preceded him.

§ 50. In 1719 Hearne brought out:—

I. Chronica T. Sprotti. (1) These Chronicles are seemingly of no value, being chiefly taken from Higden; they contain several very gross blunders, not, however, to be found in that writer.

II. A remarkable Fragment of an old English history of the affairs of King Edward IV. This Fragment was published with the Chronica T. Sprotti. It extends from the birth of King Edward IV. in the year 1440 to the year 1470. The writer of this Fragment, which contains many important facts, was an eye-witness of what he relates.

III. Historia sive Chronica Rerum Anglicarum, Guilielmi Neubrigensis. (2)

§ 51. In the following year, 1720, Hearne published Robert of Avesbury's (3) "Historia de mirabilibus gestis Edwardi III." It may be suspected that the manuscripts which Hearne used are either not so full as the work was originally written, or that the author of the Historia borrowed from some contemporary (4); for Knighton evidently often compiles from the same source, and relates events nearly in the same order, though more circumstantially. Avesbury's History, as printed by Hearne, breaks off just before the battle of Poitiers, yet there is found at the end of the book a list of those who were killed and wounded in that battle. This fact proves either that this list has been added, or that the manuscripts from which it has been printed were incomplete; for if the battle had taken place during the author's life, he would hardly have omitted all notice of it, and given only a list of the killed and wounded. In further proof that the printed text does not contain all that was once to be found in manuscript copies of this author, it may be mentioned that the passage quoted by Camden from Avesbury about the Fortunate Islands (5) is not to be found in Hearne's printed text. (6)

§ 52. In 1722 Hearne published the Scoti-Chronicon of John de Fordun. He printed it from a manuscript formerly belonging to Gale, which he considered as the genuine work of Fordun. (7) It consists of five books, ending with the death of King David I. in the year 1147; collections for the remainder, to 1385; and Bower's Continuation from that year.

§ 53. In 1724 he published Robert of Gloucester's Chronicle (8), in English verse, ending in the year 1271. This work, which was probably composed early in the fourteenth

---

(1) There seems no ground whatever for attributing these Chronicles to Sprott; they are both brought down more than a century after the time of his death. They appear to have been compiled by a Monk of St. Augustin's.

(2) For an account of Newbury's History, see § 18. p. 8. Hearne's edition contains nineteen canons of the Council of Lateran (vol. i. p. 251), and a short addition at the end of Chapter 33. of Book 5. (p. 599,) which are not in Picard's edition. The remaining variations are in general merely verbal, and not of much importance. The manuscript used by Hearne, and which he supposed to have been a presentation copy to the Convent de Novo-burgo, is now in the possession of the Duke of Buckingham.

(3) Except the rubric, there is nothing throughout the work by which the compiler may be discovered, unless apparent partiality to the Archbishop of Canterbury in the dispute with the King may be said to indicate the Registrar of the Archiepiscopal Court.

(4) MS. Harl. 200, in the title, says "compilavit."

(5) See col. iv., edit. 1695.

(6) Hearne also published in 1720 the "Textus Roffensis," compiled by Ernulfus Bishop of Rochester, who collected all the charters and Anglo-Saxon remains relating to that church; to which he prefixed the Anglo-Saxon and Anglo-Norman Laws, the "Judicia civitatis Lundoniæ," &c.

(7) See Goodal's edition for the authorities of Fordun.

(8) There seems no authority for ascribing these verses to Robert of Gloucester, except the passage at p. 560, which may designate the person who first compiled the Chronicle, and not the versifier.

Digitized by Google

century (1), appears to have been derived from Henry of Huntingdon, Geoffrey of Monmouth, Malmesbury, the Life of Edward the Confessor by Ailred of Rievaulx, and the Annals of Winchester and of Waverley. Robert occasionally seems to mistake his authors, and often appears to add to them (2), occasionally with some humour, and shrewdness of observation. (3) Hearne's Collection.

§ 54. In 1725 he published Peter Langtoft's Chronicle, abridged and translated by Robert of Brunne (4), in English verse, from a manuscript in the Inner Temple Library. Everything in it of any consequence may be found elsewhere, except, perhaps, some satirical verses relative to the Scots and English. (5) The translation seems close, and is valuable as a specimen of the English of the period.

§ 55. Elmham's (6) Vita et Gesta Henrici Quinti was published by Hearne in 1727. After a slight review of Henry's conduct previous to his accession, a full account of his coronation, and a brief description of the insurrection of the Lollards, the author gives a very ample narrative of the King's military transactions in France, and of those of his commanders; but of the domestic affairs of England the notices are very slight. His style is so extremely inflated as occasionally to suffocate the sense.

§ 56. William of Malmesbury's "Antiquitates Glastoniæ," which had been published by Gale in 1691 (7), was reprinted by Hearne in the same year, on the ground that Gale had omitted many passages, and that his edition was very faulty. Gale's omissions, however, are the interpolations of Malmesbury's text. (See p. 22, No. XII.)

§ 57. In the same year Hearne also printed the "Historia de rebus gestis Glastonensibus," Adami de Domerham, embracing the period between the years 1126 and 1290, and being a continuation of Malmesbury's account of Glastonbury. This Chronicle makes no allusion to public affairs, and consists almost entirely of copies of papal bulls, and other legal documents relating to the usurpation of the Abbey by Savaric Bishop of Bath, and the recovery of its independence. The principal facts mentioned in this History are to be found in the short abstract printed by Wharton in the First Volume of his Anglia Sacra.

§ 58. In 1729 Hearne published "Vita Edwardi 2di, Monachi cujusdam Malmesburiensis." This valuable writer frequently enters into a detail of transactions unusually minute (8), and traces them to their causes, apparently with great impartiality and knowledge. He occasionally mentions the rumours of the day, but offers no opinion as to their accuracy. He refers to various events of past times, and appears to be well informed. Sometimes he compares passing events with Scripture facts, and speaks with much freedom of the excesses of the nobility, and the venality of the Court of Rome; but when much excited by his subject, he runs into a declamatory vein. Though he was evidently a spectator of what was passing, he gives no hint as to who he was, or where he resided. Among the writers of that period, the author of this Life of King Edward II. is entitled to a conspicuous place. The work properly ends at the year 1325; for what follows, to the year 1348, is a compilation from Higden, and from the Continuation of Murimuth, sometimes abridged.

§ 59. The same year he published "Annales Edwardi Secundi, Johannis de Trokelowe." The writer of these Annals was a monk of St. Alban's (9), and an eye-witness of many of the

---

(1) Certainly after the year 1298, as the Canonization of St. Louis King of France is mentioned (p. 531).

(2) pp. 313, 350, 383, 431, 443, 516. (3) pp. 268, 369, &c.

(4) The First Part of Robert of Brunne is translated from Wace's French metrical version of Geoffrey of Monmouth, which Langtoft merely abridged. It is the Second Part, from Ina to the death of King Edward I., which Hearne has printed, and which is taken from Langtoft, with occasional insertions and many omissions. This will be apparant by comparing Brunne's version with the manuscript copy of Langtoft in Bibl. Reg. 20. A. XI. and 20. A. II. Hearne's preface and appendix to this work extend to 226 pages, but all that relates to P. Langtoft and Robert of Brunne, or their respective performances, might be comprised in a dozen.

(5) pp. 266, 273, 276, 277, &c. These verses are from the manuscript in College of Arms, 14. 4.

(6) Hearne thinks that Elmham (from a passage in his preface) was a foreigner; but it is probably nothing more than his usual bombastic mode of expressing that he had no skill in composition: "Non enim valeo extra fores rhetoricæ positus peregrinas et advena tantam materiam condigna amicire clamide," &c.

(7) See No. XII. p. 22.

(8) The paragraph relating to Robert L'Ewer, under the year 1323, (page 225,) shows that the punishment of peine forte is much older than is imagined by Blackstone in his Commentaries.

(9) In a note, in Dr. Gale's handwriting, to the Cottonian Manuscript, Claud. D. VI. No. 4. the Annals are said to be by a monk of St. Alban's. In Wallingford's Obituary of the Monks of St. Alban's during his own times the following entry occurs under the year 1249:—"Id. Februar., Johannis Trokelow." (Julius D. VII. f. 112.) But this must have been a very different person from the writer of these Annals, as they extend from the year 1307 to the year 1323.

Digitized by Google

Hearne's Collection.

transactions which he narrates. They appear to be the Annals referred to by Walsingham under the name of Rishanger. (1)

§ 60. Hearne also printed in 1729 the "Chronicon fratris Henrici de Blaneforde," extending from 1323 to 1325. The writer (p. 70) speaks as a contemporary, and evidently intended his work as a continuation of Trokelowe's Annals. (2)

§ 61. He also published in 1729 the "Historia Vitæ et Regni Ricardi Secundi Angliæ Regis, a Monacho quodam de Evesham consignata" (3), extending from A.D. 1377 to 1402. From the year 1377 to the year 1390 there is so great an agreement between this History and Walsingham that it can only be accounted for by supposing both writers to have drawn their materials from a common source. The variations between the two writers are of such a nature as to preclude the possibility of either having borrowed from the other. This writer's chronology is variable; he sometimes begins the year on the 1st of January, and sometimes on the 25th of March, which seems to indicate two sources.

§ 62. In 1731 Hearne printed "Historia de Rebus Gestis Edwardi I. (1272—1307), Edwardi II. (1307—1316), et Edwardi III. (1327—1346)," by Walter Hemingford. The early part of this work is of no value; but, from the Provisions of Oxford in the year 1258 to the latter end of the reign of King Edward I., it becomes important; and although it is sometimes carelessly, and at others scantily, written, yet it is, perhaps, one of the best contemporaneous sources of information for the period. (4) It has been nearly all transcribed by the compiler of the Abingdon Chronicle (in manuscript), by Knighton, and by Trivet, unless there was one common source to which they all had access. The portion relating to the reign of King Edward II. is of little value, and does not appear to have been used by any subsequent compiler; but that which refers to the reign of King Edward III. is of more importance, as it contains many original papers. It is nearly all found in Walsingham.

§ 63. The "Historia Anonyma Edwardi III., ante hac inedita," was reprinted by Hearne in 1731, not knowing that it had been printed by Hall in 1722. (See p. 32, § 73.)

§ 64. Hearne's next publication of any importance was Otterbourne's Chronicle, printed in 1732. The period comprised in this Chronicle is from Brute to the year 1420. It is a mere compilation from well known sources; indeed the writer speaks of himself in his prologue as a mere compiler, but gives no other information concerning himself. (5)

§ 65. In the same volume with the last-mentioned work (6) Hearne published the "Chronicon Johannis Wethamsted." (7) This Chronicle has comparatively few facts, enshrouded in a multitude of words. The numerous speeches which he ascribes to the

---

(1) Walsingham seems to have been misled by observing, at the head of the MS. No. 4. in the same volume as these Annals (Cott. Claud. D. VI. 9.), these words:—"Incip. Cron. fratris W. de Rishanger;" and the succeeding articles to Blanford having no titles at the beginning, he supposed that the whole was written by Rishanger, overlooking Trokelowe's name at the end of No. 9.

(2) In the MS. Cott. Claud. D. VI. 10. Blaneford's Chronicon follows the Annales of Trokelowe, without any interval; thus:—"Hucusque scripsit frater Johannes de Trokelowe. Incipiunt Cron. fratris Henrici de Blaneford." The rubrics are in the same hand to the end.

(3) There are passages in the Historia (pp. 109, 117) which would lead to the supposition that the author was a person connected with St. Alban's. The latter portion of the work, however, as well as some notices in the earlier part of it, bespeak an Evesham man, and a contemporary. Hearne was at one time inclined to suppose that the author was Joseph of Evesham, mentioned at the end of the second volume of Leland's Itinerary, but he afterwards found that he could not reconcile this opinion with facts.

(4) Perhaps the only part of the History that was composed by Hemingford is that which terminates in the year 1297; for, first, he only professes in his prologue to bring his History to the year 1300; secondly, there is frequent mention of Gisburn before that year, but afterwards it does not occur; thirdly, all the ancient manuscripts (with one exception (Lansd. 234), which ends in the year 1307,) break off abruptly in the year 1297; fourthly, the portion relating to the reign of King Edward II. appears, from internal evidence, to have been written by a resident at Durham or Carlisle, and certainly not by a man of Gisburn. With respect to the portion relating to King Edward III., Hemingford does not appear to have lived later than the year 1308. The ascription to Hemingford appears to have originated with Bale, who found it so ascribed in the Manuscript of Trinity College, Cambridge. Hemingford's Chronicle is often cited as that of Walter de Gisburn, in consequence of his connexion with that monastery; and in the Lansdowne MS. No. 234. it is attributed to Walter de Hemingburght, canon of Gisburn. (See p. 20. Art. VII.)

(5) Hearne thought there were two T. Otterbournes who compiled the work, one who lived in the reign of King Edward III., and another who died in 1420 or 1421; and Tanner mentions two of that name.

(6) The title of this volume is "Duo rerum Anglicarum scriptores veteres. T. Otterbourne et Johannes Whethamsted."

(7) The portion of this Chronicle relating to the monastery of St. Alban's is omitted by Hearne.

Digitized by Google

persons whom he mentions are very verbose, and the verses which he introduces are filled with an affectation of literature. Hearne's Collection.

§ 66. With this Chronicle Hearne printed the "Collectarium mansuetudinum et bonorum morum Regis Henrici Sexti, per Johannem Blakman," which is an enumeration of King Henry's virtues and good conduct, drawn up with a view to his canonization; it develops some interesting traits in that monarch's character.

§ 67. In 1733 the Annales de Dunstaple was published by Hearne. The early part of these Annals to the year 1202 (1) contains very little relating to Dunstaple, but from that period to the year 1297 there is a full history of that priory and town, and also frequent notices of public affairs. The authors (2) have used many barbarous terms, and some peculiarities of orthography.

§ 68. Two years afterwards, in 1735, Hearne published "Benedictus abbas Petroburgensis (3) de Vita et Gestis Henrici II^{di} et Ricardi I^{mi}." This History both begins and ends abruptly; but it is highly important, and enters into a very minute detail of events, generally in the order in which they occurred. It introduces copies of a great number of original documents, and is particularly attentive to the affairs of Scotland and the North of England. It contains a great deal not to be found in Hoveden, though sometimes merely the substance of letters is given in Benedictus, which are inserted at full in Hoveden. This History appears to have been abbreviated by Hoveden (4) and by Brompton, and occasionally by Walter of Coventry.

§ 69. During the time that Hearne was issuing his several volumes from the press Hall and Sparke also published their Collections.

§ 70. In 1719 Hall printed at Oxford the "Annales Sex Regum Angliæ," by Nicholas Trivet. (5) This Chronicle, which extends from A.D. 1135 to A.D. 1307, has scarcely anything worth attention before the year 1200; after that period it is not always easy to assign the materials to their original authors, especially towards the end, as there are several writers nearly contemporaneous with each other, whose priority it is difficult to settle. The author states, in his Preface, that he studied at Paris, and made diligent collections from the Chronicles which he found in that city of all that related to English affairs. His work, contains some very curious anecdotes, which seem exclusively his own. He is exceedingly accurate in tracing the measures of our Kings in Normandy and other parts of France, and also notices generally foreign transactions. He attends particularly to the history of the Dominicans. His chronology appears to be well considered. Hall's Collection.

§ 71. Three years afterwards, in 1722, Hall published the Continuation of Trivet's Annals, from the year 1307 to the year 1318. (6) It is a valuable continuation of those Annals, and contains several particulars not to be met with elsewhere, except in Walsingham, who has copied them.

---

(1) Wanley thinks, probably correctly, that Prior Richard began these Annals, or caused them to be begun. He became prior in 1202.

(2) The manuscript is written by different hands, and has been much damaged by fire.

(3) That Benedict of Peterborough was not the author of this work seems probable from the following circumstances:—(1.) The ascription to him in the manuscript is in a late hand. (2.) Boston of Bury, Leland, Bale, Pits, &c. knew nothing of Benedict as the writer of a History of this kind. (3.) R. Swapham, a monk of Peterborough, (see Sparkes's Collection, p. 99,) enumerates Benedict's writings, but does not mention this History. He does, however, mention a History of King Henry II. and his genealogy, as having been written by the order of Benedict (scribere fecit); but this seems to mean only a transcript, in the same manner that he alludes to two other books, there mentioned as having been written or copied. (4.) The writer was, in all probability, a northern man, or at least had his materials from that part of the kingdom, as the transactions of the province of York and of Scotland are more largely discussed than those of any other part of the island. (5.) Benedict wrote a Life of Beket, with whom he appears to have been on the most intimate terms; yet that part of the History which relates to Beket is despatched in a few sentences, and has all the appearance of compilation. (6.) Benedict was elected prior of Canterbury in the year 1175, within a few months after a part of the church had been burned (5th Sept. 1174). Gervaise, a monk of that cathedral at the time when this fire occurred, has left a minute and circumstantial account of the damage done by it; yet the writer of this History has given a much more exaggerated, and certainly a false, account of the whole business. These six circumstances must certainly induce the belief that Benedictus, Abbot of Peterborough, and formerly Prior of Canterbury, was not the author of the Vita et Gesta Henrici 2^{di} et Ricardi 1^{mi}.

(4) He mentions Hoveden thus:—"R. de Hoveden unum de clericis Regis." (See IV. p. 10.)

(5) It is probable that this work, as published by Hall, is only a Latin translation from the French original.

(6) The writer seems to have been a resident in the diocese of Salisbury or of Wells.

Digitized by Google

Hall's Collection.

§ 72. In this year Hall also printed at the Oxford press the Chronicle of Adam Murimuth, from the year 1303 to the year 1336. From the year 1303 to the year 1307 this writer borrows almost every thing from Matthew of Westminster; but after the death of King Edward I. he relates what he himself saw or heard from others. ([1]) It seems to have been a very popular Chronicle, as it has been frequently drawn upon by other writers, especially by Walsingham. As the contemporaneous evidence of a man who had the means of being well informed, it is a valuable composition.

§ 73. The Continuation of Murimuth's Chronicle was also printed at Oxford by Hall in 1722. It extends from the year 1336 to the year 1380, but it has no necessary connexion with Murimuth's Chronicle. It is rather a part of Higden's Polichronicon and its Continuation; and, from the year 1377, is nearly the same as the "Vita Regis Ricardi" published by Hearne. The Chronicle, however, appears to have been carefully compiled; and was certainly composed in part before the year 1387, as at that period Trevisa made use of it to the year 1361. Walsingham has inserted nearly the whole of it in his History.

§ 74. Hall appears to have been a very careless editor; he passes unnoticed several gross blunders and inaccuracies in his manuscripts which might have been easily rectified, or at least the Reader's attention should have been called to them.

Wise's Life of Alfred.

Smith's Beda.

§ 75. It may be here noticed that Wise published in 1722 a new edition of Asser's Life of Alfred the Great ([2]) at Oxford, and in the same year Smith's valuable edition of Beda made its appearance from the Cambridge press. ([3])

Sparke's Historiæ Anglicanæ Scriptores.

§ 76. In 1723 Joseph Sparke ([4]) published at London (folio) the Historiæ Anglicanæ Scriptores varii, containing seven articles; viz.—

I. Chronicon Angliæ, per Johannem abbatem Burgi Sancti Petri, A.D. 654—1368. ([5]) This History is derived, with very little exception, from the Chronicle of Florence of Worcester and its Continuation, from Ingulf and Peter of Blois' Continuation, from Malmesbury, Simeon of Durham, Henry of Huntingdon, and Hugo Candidus; it has also much in common with Walter of Coventry. The chronology is very confused, and the author has frequently confounded different persons of the same name.

II. Hugonis Candidi ([6]) Cœnobii Burgensis Historia, from the year 654 to the year 1175. This History contains very little of a general nature. The author seems to have used and amplified the Saxon Chronicle.

III. Roberti Swapham ([7]) Historia Cœnobii Burgensis (p. 97), from the year 1177 to the year 1245. This is a Continuation of the History by Hugo Candidus, and is entirely confined to the affairs of the monastery of Peterborough.

IV. Walteri de Whytleseye Historia Cœnobii Burgensis (p. 125), from the year 1246 to the year 1321. To the year 1264 it is entirely occupied with the affairs of Peterborough; it then relates some very curious particulars of fines and presents to the King (Henry III.) and his Barons during the Civil War, and the means taken to reimburse the Abbot. The most interesting portions of the remainder contain the annual expenditure of Abbot Godfrey, and an account of the presents made to Kings Edward the First and Second.

V. Historiæ Cœnobii Burgensis Continuatio, per Anonymum, (p. 217,) from the year 1321 to the year 1338. The most remarkable circumstances mentioned in this History are the account of forged bonds, and the expense of entertaining King Edward III.

VI. Historia vetus Cœnobii Petriburgensis, versibus Gallicanis. (p. 241.) This is an abridgment, in French verse, of Hugo Candidus to the year 1138.

([1]) Adam Murimuth appears subsequently to have continued his Chronicle several years later, as some manuscripts bring it down to the year 1341, others to 1343, and J. de Reding quotes it to the year 1345. Leland and Bale state that Murimuth wrote a Chronicle from the year 1320 to the year 1380; but this is apparently a mistake, arising from their having seen a copy of his Chronicle, with the Continuation to the year 1380.

([2]) See p. 80, § 189.

([3]) Folio, 1722, curâ Johannis Smith. (See p. 72.)

([4]) Sparke's advertisement (Nichols's Anecdotes of the Eighteenth Century, vol. i.), states his intention of publishing several volumes of Chronicles to the time of King Henry VIII., and specifies Johannes Sarisburiensis, Hemingford (De Vita Edwardi 1[mi], afterwards printed by Hearne), Radulphus Niger, and Radulphus de Coggeshale. Why he did not proceed in his undertaking does not appear, but it is probable that want of encouragement was the cause, as he survived the publication of his present volume for nearly twenty years.

([5]) Sparke has satisfactorily shown that there is no ground for ascribing this Chronicle to John abbot of Peterborough, but he has not stated what circumstances induced him to assign the latter part of it to Robert Boston. The manuscript (Cott. Claud. A. v. 1.), except from the years 868 to 889, is in one handwriting, and has no notice either of John of Peterborough or of Robert Boston as its compiler or author. The present title is in a modern hand.

([6]) Hugo Candidus was a monk of Peterborough during the time of Abbot John (circa 1116).

([7]) He was a monk and afterwards cellarer of Peterborough, and is supposed to have died about the year 1273.

Digitized by Google

VII. Vita S. Thomæ Cantuariensis Archiepiscopi, a Willielmo filio Stephani conscripta. Fitz-Stephen is, perhaps, the most interesting of Beket's biographers; he enters into a detail of various transactions, and especially of the Council at Northampton and Beket's death, at both of which he was present. His description of London is highly worthy of attention.

Bertram's Britannicarum Gentium Historiæ Antiquæ Scriptores Tres.

§ 77. The Collection entitled Britannicarum Gentium Historiæ Antiquæ Scriptores Tres,—Ricardus Corinensis ([1]), Gildas Badonicus, Nennius Banchorensis,—by Charles Julius Bertram ([2]), now demands notice. An inattentive Reader might suppose, from Bertram's title of Gildas and Nennius, that he had printed them from manuscripts; but he has merely reprinted Gale's edition, making such transpositions as he supposed necessary for the restoration of those writers to their original form, and affixing marks of reprobation to such parts as he supposed were not genuine. He omits the Epistle of Gildas; and places the Capitula in Nennius at the head of the several Chapters, and transposes Appendix I. to the head of the Preface. He marks all rubrics as interpolations, and considers Chapters 11 to 13, 38 to 43, 48 to 50, 52, 62 to 64 inclusive, to be doubtful. His notes on Nennius are brief, and of no importance. He considers little to be genuine before the end of the Ninth Chapter. The second edition of Nennius is described in the title page as "longe correctior;" but this must either apply to his having formerly reprinted Gale incorrectly, or to his own conjectural emendation or regulation of the text. There is no reason for thinking he ever consulted, or even saw, a single manuscript of those which he has printed. The difference between his two editions seems to consist in a few unimportant additions to the Preface of 1757, and in a more exact reprint of Gale's Collations.

§ 78. Three other works, of the same nature as those which have been already described, were also published before the close of the eighteenth century ([3]); viz.

Goodall's Fordun's Scoti-Chronicon and Bower's Continuation.

I. Fordun's Scoti-Chronicon, with Supplements and a Continuation by Walter Bower, edited by Walter Goodall, and published at Edinburgh in 1759. Bower has interpolated the first five Books of Fordun, and has afterwards interwoven Fordun's Collections for the Continuation of his History; but he has at times so enlarged them as to make it appear that both had obtained their facts from a common source. ([4]) Although Bower's portion throughout contains much which is either extraneous or fabulous, yet some of the most authentic materials are also furnished by him, His authority seems equal to Fordun, at least in the early additions, and afterwards his opportunities were probably much greater than those of Fordun for ascertaining the truth of public transactions, as his rank in life was far above that of his predecessor. Neither seems to have possessed much judgment, and both appear to have had very strong national partialities.

Pegge's Annales Eliæ de Trickingham.

II. Annales Eliæ de Trickingham, Monachi ordinis Benedictini, edited by Pegge in 1789. These Annals contain very little of any value ([5]), and if Pegge's copy were correctly transcribed the original is very faulty.

([1]) Great doubt hangs over the authenticity of the work of Richard of Cirencester. Bertram himself speaks doubtfully about the author,—"Auctor creditur celeberrimus Ricardus Corinensis e Cirecestria oriundus;" and he gives no account of the manuscript. Stukeley states, p. 12, that Bertram first mentioned a manuscript of Richard of Cirencester, being a History of Roman Britain, and an ancient map annexed, as being in a friend's hands. At Stukeley's request Bertram sent an extract from the manuscript, and afterwards an imitation of the handwriting of it, which Casley, the keeper of the Cotton Library, pronounced to be four hundred years old. Stukeley then pressed Bertram to get the manuscript into his hands, if possible, which at length with some difficulty he accomplished, and sent Stukeley a transcript of the whole, and a drawing of the map. The fact of the author (Richard of Cirencester) anticipating objections to his work, and the apologies he offers for any mistake he may have committed, are very suspicious circumstances; nor is the marvellous manner in which Bertram got possession of the manuscript, and his silence as to its place of deposit and owner, less so. Enquiries which have recently been made at Copenhagen tend to strengthen these suspicions.

([2]) 8vo, Hafniæ (Copenhagen), 1757.

([3]) The Reader's attention may also be directed to the following works:—

1. B. Albini, sive Alcuini, opera, post editionem ab And. Quercetano curatam, de nova collata, cura et studio Frobenii; 2 vols. fol. Ratisb. 1777. Du Chesne's edition appeared in 1617, fol. Paris.
2. Antiquitates Celto-Normannicæ, containing the Chronicle of Man and the Isles; abridged by Camden, with a translation, and extracts from various authors; edited by James Johnstone, 4 Copenhag. 1786. Concerning the previous edition, see § 29, III. p. 12.
3. Epistolæ S. Bonifacii, ordine chronologico dispositæ, a S. A. Würdtwein, fol. Magont. 1789. Previous editions by Surarius, 4 Mogunt, 1605, 1629.

([4]) The resemblance to Wyntoun is to be found as well in Fordun's portion as in Bower's. If Fordun be compared with Wyntoun, it would appear that there must have been a common original, or else that Wyntoun copied from Fordun, and Bower from Wyntoun as well as from Fordun. Some of the additions to Fordun in Bower are also to be found in Wyntoun, but each has occasionally much that has been omitted by the others.

([5]) The notices to the year 1200 are very brief, except those relating to Peterborough; they afterwards become fuller, and advert to the affairs of Ramsey. The principal authorities used by this writer are John of Peterborough, Hugo Candidus, Florence of Worcester, and Matthew of Westminster. Pegge, in a letter to J. Nicholls, suggests that Elias de Trickingham lived about the year 1320, though his Chronicle ends A.D. 1270.

Digitized by Google

Wyntoun's Orygynale Cronykil of Scotland.

III. The Orygynale Cronykil of Scotland, by Andrew of Wyntoun, edited by David Macpherson in 1795.(1) Wyntoun begins his History at the Creation, but Macpherson properly omitted such chapters of the earlier books as do not relate to Britain. The most important portion of Wyntoun's Chronicle is that which extends from the year 1333 to the year 1390. It is very interesting; and, from the number of minute particulars which are mentioned, it appears to have been drawn up from authentic materials, although, perhaps, with a strong bias towards the writer's countrymen. These materials seem to have been common to this writer, to Fordun, and to Bower. Yet if Bower used them, it must have been in a separate form, as his resemblance to Wyntoun ceases where these end; but the general likeness probably arises from each using the same materials. Each has incidents which are not mentioned in the other; and although Wyntoun be generally fuller of details than Bower, yet that last-mentioned writer describes many minute circumstances intimately connected with the common narrative which are wanting in Wyntoun. To establish the fact that there was a common original seems to be important, as it would afford the testimony of two witnesses, instead of one, to the existence of contemporaneous evidence.

Deficiencies and imperfections of the early editions of the ancient English Historians.

§ 79. From the foregoing notice of the printed works of the ancient English Historians and Chronicles, amounting to about one hundred and fifty (2), and filling about twenty volumes in folio, and thirty others mostly in octavo, which had been published in England and on the Continent before the commencement of the National Collection of Materials for the History of Britain, it might be supposed by those unacquainted with the subject that there was little need of this Publication.(3) But it must be observed, in reply to such an objection, that, putting out of the question more exalted views, many works most important for the History of Britain are even yet only to be found in voluminous publications connected with other empires. For instance, the Chronicon Anglicanum, from the year 1066 to the year 1200, by Ralph Coggeshale, occurs only in Martene and Durand's (4) Veterum Scriptorum Collectio, and in Dom Bouquet's Recueil des Historiens des Gaules. The Libellus de Motibus Anglicanis sub Johanne Rege(5), and the Chronicon Terræ Sanctæ(6), by the same author, are also only to be met with in the bulky collections of Martene and

(1) Lond. two vols. 8vo.

(2) The Lives and Miracles of the English Saints, published in the Acta Sanctorum and other works of that nature, are not included in this enumeration, nor are the Proceedings of Councils and Synods. It has not been thought expedient to refer to those Materials for English History, from the apprehension of swelling these remarks, which, it is feared, may be considered by some as too long already. Nor has it been deemed advisable to describe particularly any of the numerous publications which have issued from the press during this century, but as it may be interesting to the reader to know what Historical works have appeared during that period, a list of such works will be found in the Appendix.

(3) A similar objection might have been urged in France, Germany, Italy, and Denmark against the publication of the great National Collections of those countries; but the Governments of these realms, in this respect, it must be admitted, in advance of Great Britain, were fully alive to the necessity of giving to their own countries, and to the world, authentic and uniform editions of the Materials for the History of their respective empires and states, and have not been deterred from this great project.

(4) Vol. v. Coll. 801–870, fol., Paris, 1729, and in Dom Bouquet, vol. xviii. The portions of Coggeshale's Chronicle, extending from 1066 to 1200, and from 1213 to 1216, are printed in Martene's Amplissima Collectio, tom. 5. as distinct works, and were taken from an imperfect manuscript, now in the Royal Library at Paris. Nor were the editors of Dom Bouquet's Collection aware that there were complete manuscripts of Coggeshale, extending from the year 1066 to the year 1244, extant in England. From the year 1187 to the end, the Chronicle is filled with highly interesting matter. The account of the Battle of Tiberias, and the events immediately following it, are from the Chronicon Terræ Sanctæ, which has been improperly ascribed to Coggeshale.

(5) Vol. v. Coll. 871–882. This fragment, extending from the year 1213 to the year 1216, is a portion of Ralph Coggeshale's Chronicle, referred to in the previous note, which was mistaken for and printed as a distinct work.

(6) Coll. 548, 581. This Chronicon appears to have been written by an eye-witness, an inhabitant of Syria, and it is addressed to some person of importance (" vestræ excellentiæ "), immediately after the capture of Jerusalem. He calls Guy of Lusignan " Rex noster," and speaks of what he saw during the siege of Jerusalem, where he says that he was wounded in the nose by an arrow, the shaft of which was drawn out, but the iron still remained. The writer, whose style is very declamatory, also frequently adduces Scripture facts as connected with the various places which are mentioned. The ascription of this work to Coggeshale seems to rest upon the authority of Bale, who was probably induced to suppose him the author from finding the manuscript (Coll. Arm. Norf. II.) in company with Coggeshale's undoubted Chronicle. But although Coggeshale might possibly have made additions to his Chronicle from Vinisauf, it is evident, from the circumstances above mentioned, that he could not have been the author of the Chronicon Terræ Sanctæ, though he may have seen it; yet, in describing these transactions, he inserts various circumstances from Vinisauf, who apparently had also seen the Chronicle, which would hardly have been the case had he written from his own knowledge.

The latter part of the Chronicon Terræ Sanctæ is abridged from Vinisauf (i. e. from Richard prior of the Holy Trinity), who is thus referred to for fuller information: — " Si quis plenius scire desideret legat librum quem " Dominus Prior Sanctæ Trinitatis de London, ex Gallica lingua in Latinum, tam eleganti quam veraci stylo, transferri " fecit."

Digitized by Google

Deficiencies and imperfections of the early editions of the ancient English Historians.

Durand (1), and Bouquet. The Gesta Stephani Regis Anglorum et Ducis Normannorum occur only in the Historiæ Normannorum Scriptores Antiqui of Du Chesne, a rare and expensive volume. (2) The Treatise of Giraldus Cambrensis de Instructione Principum, until its publication in the year 1846 by a private society (3), was printed only in the Recueil des Historiens des Gaules, as well as the Continuation of Hoveden's Annals; and the work of Ordericus Vitalis occurred only in Du Chesne's Historiæ Normannorum Scriptores Antiqui (4), until it was edited by M. Aug. le Prevost for the Historical Society of France, in 1838–40; besides which many others still remain unpublished. Again, even of the historical works which have lately been printed by the zeal of individuals or societies, many are intended for the use only of the members of such societies, and are not available to the public. It is well known that the constitution of the Roxburgh, the Bannatyne, and the Maitland Clubs prevents the sale of such works as they may print; and although under the auspices of these bodies such important historical works as the Scala Chronica and the Chronicle of Lanercost have been printed, scarcely any benefit has accrued to historical literature generally from the circumstance. But the gravest objection remains to be mentioned. Most of the publications above enumerated abound with defects of the most glaring description. Many of the works in the valuable collections of Savile, Twysden, and Gale have been printed from manuscripts of inferior value, perhaps the only one known to the editor (5), and others have been as carelessly transcribed as printed; in others the same matter, in the "ipsissima verba" of earlier authors, has been repeated by subsequent writers, and published as original compositions. Thus repetition on repetition constantly occurs, which increases to an incredible degree the labour of tracing information to its original source, as well as the difficulty of ascertaining the probable credibility of the several narratives. For instance, a very considerable portion of Henry of Huntingdon's Chronicle is repeated exactly in that of Roger Hoveden: The Res Gestæ Alfredi of Asser are inserted in the Chronicle of Florence of Worcester: Hoveden, besides his compilation from Henry of Huntingdon, also incorporates much of Simeon of Durham, and the Chronicle of Benedict Abbas: Walsingham's Hypodigma Neustriæ is in many places only an abridgment of his own larger work printed in the same volume; and Walsingham himself is such a plagiarist as to be undeserving of the name of Historian, for if his work were reduced to what was original only, very little of it would remain. It is easy to conceive the effect which this must have upon narrations founded upon such statements.

§ 80. Faulty chronology had been allowed to remain unnoticed; indeed no portion of our History has been more neglected than our chronology. Some writers commenced the new year on the 25th of December, some on the Circumcision or 1st of January, others on the 25th of March, and others, even the same writers, now at one, now at another of these three periods; while others begin the year at Easter, varying its commencement as Easter varied; and others, to complete the difficulty, have reckoned one or two more years from the Birth of Christ different from the modern computation. Thus there has necessarily arisen a variation of one, two, or even more years in the narration of the same event, involving History in the greatest confusion, not easy to rectify or reconcile. Yet towards the elucidation of all these difficulties the editors of the volumes in question have offered no assistance

---

(1) Vol. v.

(2) pp. 927, 975, fol., Paris, 1619. See ante, No. VII. p. 13. An edition has very lately been issued by the English Historical Society.

(3) 8vo, Lond. 1846. Edited by the Rev. John S. Brewer. The object of the author is to show by example the advantages of a good prince over one of a contrary character. In pursuit of this object he has preserved many curious details relating to King Henry II. and his family; but as the author appears to have written with great bitterness and prejudice against the King, it is probable that many of his statements are at least much exaggerated. He has many passages nearly in common with his Expugnatio Hiberniæ, and a considerable portion of the first part of Vinisauf. On the whole, however, notwithstanding his prejudices, his work is highly valuable and interesting. Mr. Brewer has printed only the historical portion of this work.

(4) p. 319, fol., Paris, 1619. See ante, No. VI. p. 13.

(5) It has already been mentioned (§ 16, p. 7) that Archbishop Parker's first edition of Matthew of Westminster was taken from an incomplete manuscript, and that when this was discovered by that conscientious prelate he issued a second edition from a more perfect copy.

Digitized by Google

Deficiencies and imperfections of the early editions of the ancient English Historians.

whatever to the Reader, which is the more extraordinary as Gervase of Canterbury had called attention to these facts in the Preface to his Chronicle. (1) § 81. The names of persons and places have also been so metamorphosed as scarcely to be intelligible, even to the skilful; nor have various readings, often of great consequence been preserved. In addition to these objections, each editor has pursued his own plan of publication, regardless of what had been previously done by those who had preceded him in the same department of literature.

§ 82. These faults, and many other deficiencies and inaccuracies which disfigure the publications above alluded to, as well as the capriciously exorbitant price at which most of these works are sold, have long excited public attention and demanded remedy; but any attempt to rectify this state of things has hitherto been suspended from the conviction, forced painfully upon those who have made the attempt, that an accurate and uniform edition of the Ancient National Historians was a work too gigantic to be undertaken by private individuals, or even by an association of publishers, and that, if ever accomplished, it can only be by the aid afforded by the Government. (2)

Plans for forming a National Collection of Historians.

§ 83. At the close of the eighteenth century an attempt was made by Mr. John Pinkerton to collect and publish the National Historians of the Middle Ages, under the title of Scriptores Rerum Anglicarum, in a manner worthy of the subject and of the empire. He called public attention to the neglected state of this important branch of our National History, by a series of letters in the Gentleman's Magazine, which attracted the notice of the historian Gibbon. The importance of the subject, togther with the success which had attended the various Historical Collections published on the Continent, but more especially that of the Benedictines (Recueil des Historiens des Gaules et de la France), induced Gibbon to co-operate with Pinkerton in attempting the formation of a grand National English Collection on the model of that work. He wrote an elegant and powerful address to the nation on the subject, in which he associated himself in the task with Pinkerton, and seemed to regard the proposed Collection as a favourite pursuit: he expressed the hope that his life might be extended for twenty years, in order that he might see its completion; but on the very day on which their joint prospectus was to have appeared, Gibbon died, and their magnificent project was abandoned.

---

(1) Inter ipsos etiam chronicæ scriptores nonnulla dissensio est. Nam cum omnium unica et præcipui sit intentio annos Domini eorumque continentias supputatione veraci enarrare, ipsos Domini annos, diversis modis et terminis numerant; sicque in Ecclesiam Dei multa mendaciorum confusionem inducunt. Quidam enim annos Domini incipiunt computare ab Annunciatione, alii a Nativitate, quidam a Circumcisione, quidam vero a Passione, ap. Decem Script. col. 1336.

(2) Upon the suspension of this Volume, as after mentioned (p. 42), in August 1835, the English Historical Society was formed, for the publication of an accurate, uniform, and elegant edition of the English Chronicles, from the earliest period to the accession of King Henry VIII. The only real difference between the plan of this society and that of Mr. Petrie is, that in the former each author is printed separately, and consequently may be obtained in one or more volumes. This, of course, could not be expected in a work which, like the present, was necessarily printed in folio. The society, which was thus established in 1835, has up to the present time, February 1848, published the following works: —

Gildas de Excidio Britanniæ, ad fidem Codd. MS. recensuit J. Stevenson, 8vo.
Nennii Historia Britonum, ad fidem Codd. MS. recensuit J. Stevenson, 8vo.
Ricardi Divisiensis de Rebus Gestis Ricardi Primi Regis Angliæ Chronicon; nunc primum typis mandatum, curante J. Stevenson.
Codex Diplomaticus Ævi Saxonici, opera J. M. Kemble, Vol. 1–5., 8vo.
Bedæ (Venerabilis) Historia Ecclesiastica Gentis Anglorum, ed. J Stevenson, 8vo.
Bedæ Opera Historica Minora, ad fidem Codd. MSS. recensuit J. Stevenson, 8vo.
Rogeri de Wendover Chronica, edit. H. O. Coxe.
Appendix ad Rogeri de Wendover Flores Historiarum, edit. H. O. Coxe.
F. Nicholai Triveti Annales, edit. T. Hog.
Willielmi Malmesbiriensis Gesta Regum Anglorum atque Historia Novella ad fidem Codd. MSS. recensuit Thomas Duffus Hardy.
Gesta Stephani Regis Anglorum.
Adami Murimuthensis Chronica sui Temporis, cum eorundem Continuatione ad 1380, ad fidem Codd. MSS. edidit et recensuit Thomas Hog, 8vo.
Chronicque de la Traison et Mort Richart Deux, Roy Dengleterre, &c., par B. Williams, 8vo.

Four only of this collection can be considered as adding any thing to our ancient stores.

Digitized by Google

Plans for forming a National Collection of Historians.

§ 84. No attempt, either to carry out the scheme of Pinkerton and Gibbon, or to proceed on any other plan, even though less comprehensive, was made, until the years 1818 and 1819, when meetings of several noblemen and gentlemen took place at Spencer House, for the purpose of considering the expediency of adopting measures for the publication of a National Collection of Materials for the History of Britain. It was then agreed, that no association of individuals, however zealous or liberal, could be expected to carry on an undertaking of such magnitude and duration; and it was determined, through the medium of the Earl of Liverpool, to bring the design under the notice of His Majesty's Government. It was determined, that the late Henry Petrie, Esq., then keeper of His Majesty's Records in the Tower of London, who had devoted the greater portion of his life to the investigation of the early history of his country, should be requested to draw up a plan for collecting and publishing the Historical Muniments of the Kingdom, extending from the earliest notices of the Island to the death of King Henry VII.

Mr. Petrie's Plan for the Publication of the Materials for the History of Britain.

§ 85. In an outline of a plan for this Collection, which Mr. Petrie accordingly addressed to the Commissioners of Public Records in 1821, and who sent it to the Government in 1822, he called attention to the reproach under which this country lay in the estimation of other nations in consequence of our want of national feeling towards our ancient literature; and he pointed out the confused, imperfect, and unsatisfactory manner in which the Materials for the History of Britain had hitherto been published. He proposed, as a remedy for these and other defects and inconveniences, that a grand National Collection, on a plan similar in some respects, but not in all, to that pursued in France by the Benedictines in their noble work before referred to, — the Recueil des Historiens des Gaules et de la France, — should be undertaken, namely, that all the ancient evidences relating to Britain, whether printed or in manuscript, domestic or foreign, should be collected, the genuine separated from the spurious or interpolated, and original writers from abbreviators or transcribers, so that all information might be traced back as far as practicable to its original source, and all mere compilation rejected: that the text of each author should be taken from the best manuscripts extant, and carefully collated with the more important existing manuscripts, and that all variations should be placed in notes at the foot of each page: that no liberty, however slight, should be taken with, or abridgment made in, original matter: that whenever a writer, in copying a preceding one, had made any addition to, or alteration in, the words of the author from whom he was compiling, such additions or alterations should be given in notes at the foot of the text of the original writer: and that critical and explanatory notes should be added, together with complete Indices and Glossaries.

§ 86. Mr. Petrie's object being to present to his country and to the world a complete body of Materials for early English History, and to form a "Corpus Historiæ" rather than a "Corpus Historicorum," he proposed to collect his materials from different sources, whether printed or manuscript. (1) It was intended to embrace —

I. Excerpts from the Greek and Roman Writers, whether historians, geographers, panegyrists, or poets, of all notices relating to Britain.

II. Copies of all Inscriptions found on Marble or Stone, containing names of places or of officers connected with Britain.

III. General Histories (2), Chronicles, and Annals of England, whether written by Englishmen or foreigners. These he proposed to separate into three classes:—

1. Original Matter; such as pieces written either by authors contemporary, or nearly so, with the events described, or by later authors, the sources of whose information are unknown.

---

(1) In Appendix II. will be found a list of the chief works connected with this subject which Mr. Petrie proposed to embody in this Collection.

(2) Lord Bacon, writing of the Materials for History, observes:—"History which may be called just and perfect "History is of three kinds, according to the object which it propoundeth or pretendeth to represent; for it either "representeth a time, or a person, or an action. The first we call Chronicles, the second Lives, and the third "Narrations or Relations. Of these, although Chronicles be the most complete and absolute kind of History, and "hath most estimation and glory, yet Lives excelleth it in profit and use, and Narratives or Relations in verity and "sincerity."

Digitized by Google

Mr. Petrie's Plan for the Publication of the Materials for the History of Britain.

Under this division are such works as the Saxon Chronicle, the Historia Ecclesiastica Gentis Anglorum by Beda, the Historia Britonum by Nennius, Gildas's Epistola de Excidio Britonum, &c. &c.

From foreign authors of this class, such as Anastasius Bibliothecarius, &c. (who, however, are neither numerous nor important.) All notices relating to Britain were to be excerpted.

2. Mixed Matter; or pieces partly original, and partly compiled from sources still extant.

In dealing with this class, consisting of such works as the Annales of Roger Hoveden (for an analysis of which see p. 10, Art. IV.),—the Historia Regum Angliæ, by Henry of Huntingdon,—and the Vita et Gesta Henrici Secundi et Ricardi Primi, by Benedict of Peterborough,—Mr. Petrie proposed to omit all such matter as could be shown to have been indubitably and servilely copied from existing writers, as the portion thus omitted had already appeared in its proper place. But where it might happen that such borrowed matter was of small extent, and intricately woven with the remainder, or accompanied by the compiler's observations (as is the case with much of William of Malmesbury's Gesta Regum Anglorum), or where there is any doubt as to the source whence it is derived,—or even where no doubt does exist as to the source, if the variation of phrase is such as to require that the portion alluded to should be given,—that under any other circumstances the borrowed matter should be retained, with a marginal reference to its original or presumed original.

3. Mere Compilation; as where earlier writers are transcribed, without addition of any fact or observation; or transcribed, and occasionally interpolated; or abridged, either by extract or by compression, and reformation of style.

This class, being mere compilation from existing works, the originals of which would have appeared in their proper places, Mr. Petrie proposed to exclude from his Collection. But even in this case, if any occasional interpolation, or change of phrase from the original by the copyist, should give a different shade of meaning or tone of expression to the original writer, the variation would in this case be noticed as a rejected reading inserted beneath the text of such original writer.

Mr. Petrie pledged himself that in this part of his plan he would use due caution, and employ it only under such circumstances as seemed most imperatively to demand the exercise of his editorial discretion. It may be proper to remark, that Mr. Petrie considered it criminal to meddle with what he called the sanctity of a manuscript; and he never could bring himself to tamper with a word or sentence, the meaning of which might be unintelligible or evidently corrupt; he deemed it sufficient to mark the passage as faulty by a *.

IV. Histories of particular Monasteries. Of this valuable but neglected source of original information, as far as general history is concerned, Mr. Petrie proposed to avail himself largely. He divided it into four classes:—

1. Writers who intermix public affairs largely with those of their own monastery; as Ingulf (Gale, I.)

2. Writers who confine their history almost entirely to a particular society, but yet have a large portion of narrative mixed therewith; as the Chronica Guillielmi Thorne (X. Scriptores), and Historia Ramesiensis (Gale, III.)

3. Collections consisting almost wholly of charters, with only sufficient narrative to connect them; as the Chronicon Abbendoniæ (MS. Cott. Claud. C. ix.)

4. Mere chartularies; as the Textus Roffensis Heming, Cartularium (Hearne).

Mr. Petrie considered that the first three classes of this Division would come strictly within the scope of this portion of his plan, and he proposed that the selections which he intended to publish should be regulated by the laws laid down under the Second Class of General Histories, Division III.; and that it would be advisable to retain entire all original pieces written before the year 1200, and merely to give excerpts from those of a later period. The Fourth Class of this Division, being only chartularies, would be found in its place under Division VIII.

Digitized by Google

Mr. Petrie's Plan for the Publication of the Materials for the History of Britain.

V. Lives and Biographies of celebrated Men and Saints. Mr. Petrie considered it difficult exactly to determine to what extent such Biographies ought to be admitted into a Collection of Materials for the History of Britain, especially as the editors of the Recueil des Historiens des Gaules et de la France had deemed it advisable to give only extracts from particular Lives and Miracles of Saints, which they classed with Letters and Charters as Appendices to that Collection; and even with these limitations such extracts were used but sparingly, because the editors of that work considered materials of this class as belonging rather to particular than to general history. But as Mr. Petrie's object was to collect not merely Historians, but rather Materials for History, he considered that contemporary Biography had a just claim to form an integral and a prominent part of the work, as it describes the actions of celebrated men, of whom, possibly, no other memorial exists, and illustrates, in the only way often to be obtained, the manners, usages, and customs of the period to which each relates. With this view, Mr. Petrie proposed to retain entire the Lives of the more important historical individuals, and of others to give only such portions as could be depended on; but wholly to omit those which are clearly fabulous, and afforded no illustrations of the manners and usages of the time when the author of the piece lived (such, for instance, as the Lives of St. Rumwold, St. Edwold, &c., which are to be found in Capgrave's Legenda Nova Angliæ); in such cases a notice of their contents, and of the reasons for their rejection, being inserted. When prose Lives are versified, either by the same author, as Beda's Life of Cuthbert and Ailred's Life of Edward the Confessor,—or by another person, as Wolstan's versification of Lantfred's Miracles of St. Swithin,—Mr. Petrie was of opinion that the Life in prose should be retained, and any variation in the narrative which the verse might afford should be placed at the foot of the page. In some cases several Lives of the same individual occur, composed nearly at the same time, and in a great measure from the same materials; but as they contain also matter of an unknown origin, Mr. Petrie considered that it would be proper to retain them all. This last observation applies especially to the Lives of St. Dunstan and of Becket. As the Lives of Saints are frequently anonymous, it was proposed to arrange them according to the period at which the Saint is supposed to have lived.

VI. Miracles of Saints. Mr. Petrie's plan embraced this class of Materials, on the ground of its occasionally containing much curious and valuable information, notwithstanding the general absence of historical incident by which they are for the most part characterized. Yet while they were intended solely to exalt the dignity of the canonized individual to whom they were attributed, they incidentally exhibit information not only of a private but also of a general nature, which may be sought for in vain elsewhere. Sensible of their importance in this respect, Mr. Petrie proposed to select from them all incidents which appeared likely to afford any illustration of manners, usages, or traits of character, which may be searched for in vain in the more formal pages of the professed Historian, and also every thing tending to throw light upon the civil or ecclesiastical polity of the Realm, excluding only mere declamation, and such passages as were devoid of historical interest, yet at the same time retaining the titles of such Chapters or Sections as were purposely omitted.(1)

VII. Letters. Ancient Letters afford Materials for History of the first importance, and as such occupy a prominent place in Mr. Petrie's plan. Strange as it may appear, no collection of any early Letters of celebrated men has ever appeared in England, except those of Grosteste published by Brown in his "Fasciculus," although these documents abound with most valuable and important data for general History. Mr. Petrie judiciously proposed to exclude those which consist of mere declamation without the introduction of a tangible fact or opinion worth preserving, such as many of the Epistles of Alcuin, Peter of Blois, and others; but, whenever the historical matter in Letters of this description bore any adequate proportion to the whole, then to retain the Letter entire; otherwise extracts, he conceived, from it would be sufficient. When the Letters of any one person were sufficiently numerous

(1) It may be remarked that the Miracles were always on the side of virtue and against oppression, and consequently had a moral effect.

Digitized by Google

Mr. Petrie's Plan for the Publication of the Materials for the History of Britain.

to be conveniently kept together, he intended to do so; but otherwise to arrange them under one general chronological order.

VIII. Charters, Papal Bulls, and other Diplomatic Writings. These documents formed another important Division of Mr. Petrie's plan for the publication of Materials for History. He recommended that all such as were written before the Norman Invasion, whether by sovereigns or subjects, ecclesiastics or laymen, should be inserted in the Collection; but from that period to the year 1200, when the series of Charter Rolls in the Record Office in the Tower of London commences, that a selection should be made containing a very large portion of whatever might be discovered. (1) Mr. Petrie proposed to arrange the Charters chronologically, except when they occurred in a Chronicle, and that then they should be retained in their places, having, however, if practicable, been collated with their originals or contemporaneous transcripts.

Many Charters are suspected of having been forged; and it not unfrequently happens that this can be satisfactorily demonstrated. In many instances, however, the proof of forgery is not complete; and as they are nearly all of high antiquity, Mr. Petrie considered it proper to print the whole, with such elucidation as can be obtained, and thus submit them to the judgment of the critical world.

IX. Proceedings of Councils and Synods also claimed Mr. Petrie's attention. His plan embraced the acts and canons of all such assemblies as were held anterior to the Norman Conquest, whether they were provincial or general; but after that era he proposed to include only those which demand more especial notice, either from the information which they possess in themselves, or from the influence which they may have exerted upon the subsequent political or constitutional History of the Empire.

X. Laws. The Collection of Anglo-Saxon Laws, as well as the Anglo-Norman and Welsh Laws (2), were considered by Mr. Petrie proper objects for a place in this grand Collection of Materials for the History of Britain, and he intended that they should form a distinct Division of the Work.

XI. Historical Poems. Of these Mr. Petrie intended to insert in the Collection such only as were contemporaneous with their subject matter, or nearly so.

XII. Miscellanea, or Remnants of History. (3) Writers such as Walter Mapes, Giraldus Cambrensis, and others of the same class, though not professed historians, contain much curious historical information. From this class Mr. Petrie intended to select every passage throwing any light on history, manners, customs, or usages.

XIII. Coins and Medals. With respect to this Division, so intimately connected with History, Mr. Petrie's plan was, that all the different types which have been discovered of coins and medals struck in or having relation to Britain, together with those generally called British or Celtic, and which have been found in any part of the Island, should be engraved. He questioned to what extent the Anglo-Gallic coins should be noticed; but he thought it would be advisable to engrave all the Anglo-Saxon coins which were known.

XIV. Seals. Under this Division Mr. Petrie proposed to insert engravings of all royal seals, those of the great officers of the Crown, and of archbishops, as belonged to the period embraced by the whole Collection; together with a selection from those of the immediate branches of the Royal Family, the principal nobility, bishops, corporations, &c. He thought that this selection ought to be copious to the end of the twelfth century, but afterwards it should be on a more contracted scale.

§ 87. It may be here observed, as applicable to the whole, that in making selections, whether from general or particular histories, lives, miracles, charters, miscellanea, or seals,

---

(1) Since Mr. Petrie first proposed this plan the whole of the Charter Rolls, extending from the year 1199 to 1216, have been printed at the public cost.

(2) This Division of Mr. Petrie's plan has already been published. The Anglo-Saxon and Anglo-Norman portion was published in the year 1840, under the title of "Ancient Laws and Institutes of England," edited by Mr. Benjamin Thorpe; and the Welch Laws in the year 1841, under the title of "Ancient Laws and Institutes of Wales," edited by Mr. Aneurin Owen.

(3) Lord Bacon, treating of Remnants of History, writes:—"Remnants of History are, when industrious "persons, by an exact and scrupulous diligence and observation, out of monuments, names, words, proverbs, traditions, "private records and evidences, fragments of stones, passages of books that concern not story, and the like, do save "and recover somewhat from the deluge of time."

Digitized by Google

Mr. Petrie's Plan for the Publication of the Materials for the History of Britain.

Mr. Petrie deemed it advisable to be more comprehensive in his selections during the period anterior to the Norman Invasion, when materials of every kind are comparatively scanty and proportionably valuable, than afterwards, when materials become more abundant; and that at all times the existence of a doubt whether a particular piece ought to be retained, afforded sufficient ground for admitting it into the Collection.

§ 88. Mr. Petrie proposed to distribute the materials thus collected into periods arranged chronologically, according to the order of time in which each piece was written, but, where this was impracticable, according to the time when each piece begins. Thus, in the period anterior to the Conquest, such matter as would be taken from Florence of Worcester would precede that derived from Simeon of Durham, and Simeon's History would stand before that of Henry of Huntingdon. But when a work ends during a given period, but does not begin in it, it would be right to place it in the Collection according to such termination. Mr. Petrie considered it essential to his plan, that, if possible, an author should be comprised in a single volume, but when that was impossible, that then all his original matter should be found in one volume; and in no case should any author's work be divided more than once, or run into more than two volumes of the Collection. This portion of Mr. Petrie's plan, the length of his periods, differs essentially from that of Dom Bouquet, whose periods of division are so very short as to cause much dissatisfaction and opposition in France, as well as in England; but as this feature of Mr. Petrie's plan has been considered open to objection, the subject will presently be more fully discussed, and its relative advantages and disadvantages candidly stated and balanced.

§ 89. Mr. Petrie also proposed to give a chronological table of events, at the end of each period, and, when any doubt or difficulty existed as to the exact year in which any event happened, to specify the various years which different authors have assigned to it, so that the Reader might use his own discretion by either adopting or rejecting the date assigned in the chronological table framed by the Editor. (1)

Mr. Petrie's Plan approved by the Government.

§ 90. Mr. Petrie's plan having been approved by the Government, the Right Honourable Nicholas Vansittart (afterwards Lord Bexley), then Chancellor of the Exchequer, brought the subject under the consideration of the House of Commons on the 25th July 1822; and the House having resolved itself into a committee on this subject, the Chancellor of the Exchequer expatiated on the advantages which would arise from having an uniform and regular edition of our Ancient National Historians published by authority and at the public expense, and concluded by moving, "That an humble address be presented to His Majesty, "to represent to His Majesty that the editions of the works of our Ancient Historians are "incorrect and defective; that many of their writings still remain in manuscript, and in some "cases in a single copy only; and that an uniform and convenient edition of the whole, "published under His Majesty's royal sanction, would be an undertaking honourable to His "Majesty's reign, and conducive to the advancement of historical and constitutional know-"ledge; that this House therefore humbly beseeches His Majesty that He would be "graciously pleased to give such directions as His Majesty in his wisdom may think fit for "the publication of a complete edition of the Ancient Historians of this Realm; and that "this House begs leave to assure His Majesty that whatever expense may be necessary for "this purpose will be made good by this House." The address of the House of Commons to His Majesty King George IV. was unanimously agreed to; and on the 19th of December following Mr. Secretary Peel conveyed to the Commissioners on the Public Records of Great Britain His Majesty's assent to the prayer of the address of the House of Commons, and authorized the Commissioners to take measures for carrying His Majesty's gracious intentions into effect.

§ 91. The work was accordingly commenced in May 1823, and Mr. Petrie was appointed the principal editor, and a sub-commissioner of Public Records, for the purpose of

(1) For reasons which will be explained hereafter, it has been deemed inexpedient to publish the Chronological Abstract from the Saxon Invasion to the Norman Conquest. The Abstract of the Roman period will alone appear in this Volume.

Digitized by Google

Mr. Petrie's Plan approved by the Government.

carrying out the plan which he had submitted to the Government; and shortly afterwards the Reverend John Sharpe, the able translator of William of Malmesbury's History of England, was appointed as co-editor with Mr. Petrie.(1)

§ 92. Notwithstanding several embarrassing difficulties, the work steadily proceeded until the year 1832, when it was interrupted by Mr. Petrie's severe illness; and after the whole of the text of the present volume had been prepared, and a large collection of materials for other volumes had been made, it was suspended in August 1835 by order of the then Commissioners on the Public Records, owing to a misunderstanding which had arisen between Mr. Petrie and the Commissioners; nor had this misunderstanding been removed when the Record Commission expired by efflux of time, after the decease of His late Majesty King William the Fourth. (2)

§ 93. Had the work not been suspended, it is probable that Mr. Petrie might have lived to have witnessed the completion of several successive volumes. After the publication of the first, the series would have gone on rapidly, as several works were nearly ready for printing, but the suspension of the undertaking completely paralyzed his efforts.

§ 94. Mr. Petrie's ill health, brought on chiefly by anxiety and disappointment occasioned by the interruption of his work, suspended its completion; and he died on the 17th March 1842, at the advanced age of seventy-four, having acquired the well merited estimation and deep respect of those who knew his great historical learning and high moral integrity. The feeling of unfeigned admiration of his talents and character would dictate, and possibly excuse, a warmer panegyric, but it might be thought unbecoming in this place to indulge in expressions of esteem and veneration. It is extremely to be lamented that Mr. Petrie's valuable life had not been protracted till he had at least completed his intended work down to the period of the Norman Conquest; for he had repeatedly observed, that, could he only extend his labours to this epoch, he should establish a base on which any person of common ability and assiduity, who would be content to pursue his plan, might erect a column of authentic History which might rival those raised in any other country, and exhibit the value of our national Historians. (3)

§ 95. This Volume has remained upwards of twelve years in an unfinished state, in consequence of Mr. Petrie's death, and Mr. Sharpe's disinclination to continue the work after Mr. Petrie's decease, arising from the dispersion of his library, and the circumstance of his having left no decisive plan, and but scanty materials for the General Introduction. This, perhaps, is the most appropriate place to state that the executors of Mr. Petrie have liberally placed in the hands of the writer of these prefatory pages the whole of the valuable collection of notes and memoranda amassed by that eminent scholar, during a long and laborious life spent in the examination of materials both in England and on the Continent; and that the Rev. Mr. Sharpe, Mr. Petrie's co-editor, who, more than any other individual, could state what were his sentiments and intentions upon all points, has also rendered his most valuable assistance. Yet, notwithstanding these great aids, the writer of these pages cannot but feel that the present Volume necessarily suffers from being intrusted to one whose experience is so far inferior to that of him who planned, and, had he been permitted, would have executed, the work.

---

(1) The Reverend W. Conybeare was also associated with Mr. Petrie and the Reverend John Sharpe, but his other avocations prevented him from undertaking any portion of the work.

(2) The editors of the Materials for the History of Britain have been several times accused of unnecessarily delaying the appearance of this Volume; but when the magnitude of the work, and the great care bestowed on its execution, are considered, as well as the difficulties attendant on carrying out for the first time an extensive plan, it will be admitted that due diligence has been employed. The first volume of the Recueil des Historiens des Gaules et de la France,—a work, be it remembered, which was executed, not by one or two private individuals, but by a large body of ecclesiastics, whose Rule secluded them from secular interruptions, and who were trained up in historical investigations,—was much longer in preparation than this Volume had been before it was suspended, it having been commenced in 1723, but not published before 1738. The Acta Sanctorum of the Bollandists was in active preparation from 1629 until 1643 before its first volume was published, although collections had been in progress by Rosweyd from 1607 until his death in 1629 (see Præfatio Generalis, p. x.); and a period of fifteen years elapsed between the publication of the acts which relate to the months of January and February respectively.

(3) The forcible expressions of Johnson on the planting of trees seem so apposite to the facts mentioned in the text, that no apology is necessary for quoting them in illustration: "There is a frightful interval between the "seed and timber. He that calculates the growth of trees has the unwelcome remembrance of the shortness of "life driven hard upon him. He knows that he is doing what will never benefit himself; and when he rejoices "to see the stem arise, is disposed to repine that another shall cut it down."

Digitized by Google

Observations on the Plan adopted by Mr. Petrie.

§ 96. Having enumerated and described some of the materials out of which Mr. Petrie intended to construct the grand national work entrusted to his care, it now becomes necessary, in justice to the reputation of Mr. Petrie who advised it, and in justification of the Government for sanctioning it, to call particular attention to the plan upon which the work has been conducted.

§ 97. The subject is one which obviously demands much consideration; for the symmetry and even the utility of the structure must depend upon the just distribution of its parts, and their adaptation to that end which the whole is intended to accomplish.

§ 98. It has already been stated that the plan adopted by Mr. Petrie bears some analogy to the one pursued by Dom Bouquet (1) in the "Recueil des Historiens des Gaules et de la France," and which was continued after his death by his associates the Benedictines of St. Maur, a body to whom historical literature owes so many obligations. At an early stage of Mr. Petrie's inquiries, this great undertaking had obtained a considerable reputation, and its merits had been recognized, over the whole of Europe. So greatly indeed was it admired by the historical scholars of England, that when Gibbon and Pinkerton contemplated an uniform edition of our early English Chronicles, Gibbon considered that "this noble collection might be proposed as a model for such a national work," and recommended its adoption in the work of which he undertook the superintendence. (2)

§ 99. To understand the merits of Dom Bouquet's plan, and the force of the objections which have been raised against his system, it will be necessary to explain it fully, and then show in what particulars it differs from that adopted by Mr. Petrie.

§ 100. The peculiarities of Dom Bouquet's system are broadly marked, and easily defined. They may be reduced to two heads:—I. The omission of all matter which is borrowed verbally by later writers from earlier authors whose works had already occurred in a preceding part of the collection; and, II. The arbitrary division of an author's work into chronological periods.

I. Bouquet rejected from the text of an author all such passages as are not original, or which could be traced to some other existing work anterior in point of time to that under his examination. He justly contended that much confusion and error had arisen from the uncritical manner in which the historical works of the Middle Ages had hitherto been edited; that, during that period, a system of borrowing from existing authorities without any acknowledgment prevailed to an extent which demanded a careful examination of the materials out of which History is constructed; that the attempt to separate primary from secondary evidence was the duty of every editor; that many circumstances assumed as well established facts, and resting apparently upon an accumulation of evidence, were found, when subjected to his test, to be based upon the unsupported statement of a single authority. He therefore rejected all such portions of a History or Chronicle as could be satisfactorily shown to have been derived from other sources, and referred them back to the author from whom they were borrowed.

---

(1) The plan under consideration has been called Dom Bouquet's, for the sake of convenience; but it was, in truth, the deliberate conviction of the greatest French scholars of the last century. As early as 1676 Colbert entertained the design of publishing a complete National Collection of the Historians of his country; but the difficulty of deciding upon the best plan for publication so retarded the execution of the project that nothing was accomplished. In 1717 Daguesseau, then Chancellor of France, proposed to continue and complete Du Chesne's collection; and for this purpose he invited to his house the most celebrated historians and antiquaries of his time. At this meeting the subject was discussed: the Benedictines, Martene and Durand, Baluz, Renaudol, and Lelong, were of the assembly. Searches in furtherance of the work were prosecuted in various libraries, and to these inquiries the world is indebted for the vast collections of D'Achery, Martene, Durand, and others; but no progress was made in the new publication until 1723, when Martin Bouquet was recommended to and accepted by the Minister as a person most competent to undertake the duties of Editor of the proposed work. In six years he had prepared two volumes for the press. Owing, however, to various circumstances over which he had no control, nothing appeared until 1738. In 1754 eight volumes had been published, when Bouquet died. The work proceeded with regularity to the thirteenth volume, which appeared in 1786, when all further progress was suspended by the French Revolution. After an interval of ten years it was resumed by the Institute, who fixed on Dom Brial, another Benedictine, for the Editor, Bouquet's former associate. Under his care it reached the nineteenth volume, with unimpaired credit and success. These details have been mentioned in order to show what sanction the plan adopted by these eminent scholars has received, not only when it was first put in execution, but in subsequent times, by persons most competent to form an opinion on the subject. Another volume, making the twentieth, has been published since the death of Dom Brial.

(2) See p. 37, § 84.

Digitized by Google

Observations on the Plan adopted by Mr. Petrie.

It must not, however, be assumed that the passages so rejected were regarded by Dom Bouquet as useless and devoid of authority. Although he considered that they were out of place in the text from which he rejected them, yet he thought them of primary importance when brought to bear on the Chronicle to which they were ultimately referrible. He considered those rejected passages in the light sometimes of additions to, sometimes of interpolations of, and sometimes even as various readings of the text of the original writer, and he employed them accordingly for the purpose of correcting and illustrating that text as occasion demanded.

II. The second peculiarity of Dom Bouquet's plan is this:—He divided the History of France into periods, and arranged his materials in accordance with these chronological divisions. To effect this, he is frequently compelled to divide Chronicles and Histories into segments, and thus destroy their unity. He thus announces his plan:

"Du Chesne, to render his Collection more convenient, has divided many of his "Chronicles according to the respective reigns to which they relate. This mode of division "is approved of by many persons, as all matter relating to each separate reign is thus found "collected together; others, however, are of opinion that a good chronological table would "answer the same purpose, and that the Chronicles should be printed without division, and "placed under the reign at which they each terminate. There are objections to both of "these plans; but the latter is open to the greatest. If we place each Chronicle under "the reign in which it terminates, the distinction no longer exists between the acts of our "three races of kings; for as the Chronicles treat indiscriminately of one race or another, "among the acts of the second race there will be found matter relating to thefirst; and, in "the same manner, among the third will be found matter relating to the first and second. To "obviate this inconvenience, we shall divide our Chronicles; but less frequently than Du "Chesne; for instance, we shall take all materials relating to the first race, then all con-"cerning the second. For those which relate to the third we shall fix epochs, into which "we shall divide the Chronicles; for example, from the time of Hugh Capet down to "the end of the reign of Louis VII., that is, from the year 987 to the year 1180. Thus "our Chronicles will be less divided, and there will not be as many divisions as reigns. To "object to our plan that by such division the Chronicles lose much of their force is useless. "In Chronicles we seek for facts only; and in most cases these facts have no connexion with "each other. Besides, we are often obliged to retrench from these Chronicles many things "which are foreign to our purpose, and which bear no relation whatever to our History. If "we may retrench, we may also divide them."

Dom Bouquet contended that much practical utility must result from this part of his plan; it enabled a historian to obtain, in one or two volumes, all the materials, systematically arranged, required for the history of the period upon which he might be engaged. It brought together all the materials requisite for the elucidation of the history of any given period, and afforded the means not only of a more ready examination of the whole, but also for comparing the several portions with each other; thus shedding light upon the whole as a series.

§ 101. It now becomes necessary to inquire how far Mr. Petrie approved Dom Bouquet's plan, and adopted it in the following Work.

§ 102. Mr. Petrie adopted the first portion of Dom Bouquet's plan, on the ground which has just been explained, that the Materials for the History of Britain with which he had to deal were precisely in the same category as those for the History of France upon which Dom Bouquet had been engaged, and that they required an equally strict critical examination. For instance, many of the early annalists of both Kingdoms commence their respective works with the Creation of the world, or with the Incarnation of our Saviour, or with some other grand epoch, excerpting largely from the Old and New Testament, and from the earlier as well as the later Roman and Greek writers who had treated on the same subject as themselves. They continue their narrative by introducing the exact words of earlier writers of their own country, until they bring their Histories nearly down to their own times, when they cease to be copyists or compilers, and become original writers. In rejecting such mere compilations, and such only, as have already appeared in another part of the Collection, both French and English editors agree.

Digitized by Google

Observations on the Plan adopted by Mr. Petrie.

§ 103. With such caution, however, did Mr. Petrie apply this part of Bouquet's system to his own Collection, that in the present volume, which consists of 872 pages (1), and embraces the writings of twelve authors, besides the Saxon Chronicle, the matter which he rejected would not fill above eighteen pages. It is, therefore, evident that Mr. Petrie considered this part of Bouquet's plan rather in the light of a rule which might be departed from as occasion required, than as one which demanded an undeviating application.

§ 104. Of the second division of Dom Bouquet's plan Mr. Petrie did not so entirely approve; he considered that it demanded considerable modification. He was too practical, and too sound a critic, not to perceive in it many disadvantages. So long as it was confined to charters, letters, and similar documents, its adoption would be attended with no inconvenience or difficulty; but it presented formidable obstacles when extensive Chronicles and continuous Histories were subjected to its operation. He saw instances in Bouquet's Collection in which Chronicles had been truncated and dispersed, one portion appearing in one volume, another in a second, and so on, and each occasionally separated from the other by one or more intervening volumes; for instance, portions of the Chronique de St. Denys occur in the third, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, tenth, eleventh, and twelfth volumes of his Collection. In adopting, therefore, this feature of Bouquet's system, Mr. Petrie made a most important modification; so important, indeed, as to give a different character to the whole work, and to draw a broad line of distinction between it and its prototype. Instead of separating his materials into small sections, he divided them into eras, each marked out by the occurrence of some well-defined and important event in the History of the nation; the first extended from the Roman Invasion to the Norman Conquest; the second from the accession of William the Conqueror to the end of the reign of King Richard I.; the third from the commencement of the reign of King John to the deposition of King Richard II.; and the fourth from the accession of King Henry VI. to the end of the reign of King Henry VII., where he intended to close his collection.

§ 105. By thus extending the periods of division over a longer space of time Mr. Petrie thought that he had secured all the advantages which Bouquet contemplated in his plan, without any of the disadvantages which had been found to result from it. He was persuaded, that, while its utility was obvious, the objections which could be advanced against it were rather imaginary than real, and that they would be forgotten in the practical advantages which it secured to those who were engaged in historical investigations. He admitted that the division of a Chronicle into parts, each of which was to be found in a separate volume, was objectionable; but he contended that as no Chronicle would be separated into more than two portions, and as even such instances would be of comparatively rare occurrence, the difficulty would be felt to be no greater than is experienced in turning from the first to the second volume of Clarendon's History of the Rebellion, or any other work consisting of more than one volume.

§ 106. Such is the difference between Dom Bouquet's plan and that of Mr. Petrie. It now becomes necessary to consider the objections which have been urged against the system which the latter has adopted in the publication of the Materials for the History of Britain.

§ 107. The principal objections which have been brought forward appear in a Paper on the arrangement of the Materials for the History of Britain, which was drawn up by the Rev. John S. Brewer, and which is printed at page 915 of the Appendix to the Report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons on the Record Commission in 1836. From the admitted talent of Mr. Brewer, as well as the circumstances under which this Paper appeared, it may be assumed that it embodies the chief arguments which can be adduced against Mr. Petrie's system.

§ 108. As Mr. Brewer's Paper is too long for insertion here, his objections have been reduced to five heads, for the fuller elucidation of which the Reader is referred to the Paper itself:—

(1) That portion of the volume devoted to the classical excerpts is not, of course, included; nor is that portion of the text of Marianus Scotus which Florence has introduced into his Chronicle taken into the calculation, as Mr. Petrie considered it had no relation to England. (See note (2), p. 86.)

Digitized by Google

Observations on the Plan adopted by Mr. Petrie.

1st. That Chronicles so divided will appear in such a state of mutilation as not only to give additional trouble to the Reader, but also to create in his mind some distrust that the editor may have omitted portions which he did not consider it essential to his plan to retain, but which are necessary to the unlearned Reader.

2d. That no author, without considerable labour, can, in such a shape, be compared with himself, which it is frequently necessary to do, as he alone can interpret himself.

3d. That it is next to impossible to form a correct opinion of the credibility of an author whose works are so truncated and divided into segments, and thrown into different volumes, which are sometimes separated from each other by intervening volumes.

4th. That Bouquet's plan is grounded upon an imperfect view of the study of History; that even an approximation to his plan is impracticable, were it even desirable; for, if the periods of division be short, each author is subjected to great mutilation; if lengthened, the advantages of the plan are sacrificed, most of its disadvantages retained, and others incurred.

5th. The impossibility of obtaining any one author in a separate form.

§ 109. Without taking upon himself the responsibility of replying in detail to these objections, the writer of these remarks cannot but observe, that, however they may affect Dom Bouquet's plan, they do not apply to that of Mr. Petrie; that though the two systems have unquestionably much in common, yet they are not by any means identical, as it has been sufficiently shown.

§ 110. Moreover, it should not be forgotten that it is always easier to suggest difficulties than to remove them. Objections, equally weighty in the opinions of those who urged them, might be easily advanced against any other plan which might be advocated. Each has its own peculiar merits, and its own peculiar disadvantages; and that system must be the best which embodies the most good with the least evil, and provides for the wants of the many rather than the few. It is impossible to satisfy all parties interested in this great literary question; for instance, one class of persons will be satisfied with nothing less than the publication of the works of a chronicler exactly as they were written, without any retrenchment whatever, even though the greater portion be copied verbatim from one or more earlier authors (1); another class would reject from a Chronicle whatever matter is not original, and publish the work in a volume by itself, and not in a collection, on the ground of it thus being more convenient to read and cheaper to purchase (2); a third entirely approves of the present plan without any alteration whatever, considering that the conveniences and advantages derived from it more than counterbalance all the objections by which it has been assailed; and a fourth would adopt the same, with this modification,—of dividing the periods according to the times embraced by the Chronicles, and not dividing the Chronicles to make them suit the periods.

§ 111. It is a difficult and a delicate task to adjust the balance between these different opinions, each of which is supported by arguments both numerous and weighty; nor would the Editor attempt rashly to adjudicate in a matter of so much importance; but as some

---

(1) Muratori's Collection of the Italian chroniclers and historians may be taken as an example. His plan, though definite and intelligible, is hardly satisfactory. He gives the works of each author without division; his text is carefully edited, and notes are appended just sufficient to render each author intelligible to the Reader; but he affords no assistance to the labours of the historical enquirer. It is true Muratori furnishes a faithful text; but the Reader must be his own editor, and must arrange and digest the materials which have been furnished, and spread, without system, through eight and twenty volumes. The mind of his Reader thus becomes confused and oppressed in toiling through a number of chronicles, biographies, poems, and such like materials for history, for information bearing on the subject about which he is interested; and, if he be an author wishing to write the history of any particular period, he has the inconvenience of turning over many heavy volumes, where one properly arranged might have contained all necessary for his purpose. It would seem that Muratori was aware of the defect of his plan, and endeavoured to remedy it by his Annals, which are a faithful abstract of his twenty-eight volumes of original historians. Whatever faults may be noticed in his great collections, they must be forgotten in the remembrance that they were undertaken and finished by oneindefatigable compiler.

(2) The works of the English Historical Society, noticed at p. 36, note (2), fall under this class, but that Society has not been able fully to carry out this part of its plan.

Digitized by Google

definite opinion may be expected from him, he feels that he ought neither to shrink from performing his duty because a difficulty is in the way, nor ought he to pass it by unnoticed. He thinks that many useful suggestions, which Mr. Petrie would have adopted in his succeeding volumes, are to be found in the great national collection of the German Historians, now in the course of publication under the superintendence of Dr. Pertz. The plan of that work seems to possess much to recommend it, and to unite in itself the advantages of Dom Bouquet's and Mr. Petrie's systems, without being exposed to the two objections which have been advanced against them.

Observations on the Plan adopted by Mr. Petrie.

§ 112. It may be said, however, that in the publication of the succeeding volumes of the Materials for the History of Britain it is too late to adopt Dr. Pertz's system, whatever may be its merits. The Editor, however, considers it quite practicable, if it be thought advisable, to engraft Dr. Pertz's plan upon that which has been so far adopted by Mr. Petrie, without offering any violence to the unity of his design, and without any practical inconvenience. ([1]) It is, of course, too late now to place the remainder of the Saxon Chronicle, and the Histories of Florence of Worcester, Simeon of Durham, and Henry of Huntingdon, in this volume; but the portions of those works subsequent to the Norman Conquest might form another volume, which should be called Volume I. Part II., instead of Volume V. as Mr. Petrie had intended. Indeed it will be necessary, whatever may be the ultimate determination of the Government, to complete, at least, those works. The Lives of Saints, Proceedings of Councils, Historical Letters, and Poems, might follow, each in their series, terminating with the year 1066. Thus all the practical advantages of Mr. Petrie's system will be retained, and the objections which have been brought against it removed.

([1]) One great change in Mr. Petrie's plan has already taken place:—The Anglo-Saxon and Welch Laws were intended to form an integral part of his Collection, but they have been published as separate and distinct works. (See note ([2]), p. 40.)

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

PREFACE.

OF THE CONTENTS OF THE FIRST VOLUME OF THE MATERIALS FOR THE HISTORY OF BRITAIN,

AND

OF THE SOURCES WHENCE DERIVED.

Ex Scriptoribus Græcis atque Latinis Excerpta de Britannia. (1)

Extracts from the Greek and Roman writers.

§ 113. Few historical data are extant relating to Britain anterior to its invasion by Julius Cæsar. The only authors who have referred to it are Herodotus (under the name of the Islands of the Cassiterides), Aristotle, and Polybius. (2) It does not appear that the ancients, with the exception of the three writers just mentioned, knew for certain whether it was an island, or an isthmus joined eastward to the continent of France; nor were they certain from what countries the first inhabitants of the island migrated. It is a remarkable fact, that no historian, either Greek or Roman, has condescended to write an especial History of Britain and its inhabitants during the period in which it was under the Roman yoke, while Gaul and Spain had their several historians. With the exception of Tacitus, no classical author has treated of the government of any one proprætor out of the many who represented the imperial majesty of Rome in Britain. It is owing to these circumstances, that the accounts of the civil state of the island, its laws and government, are so vague and scanty during that period; and even those ancient writers who have alluded to it, have done so only incidentally, and in subordination to the great events of Roman history. But for these incidental notices, meagre as they are, and some votive inscriptions found on stones and altars, all that would have been left on record would have been the commemoration of victories gained over barbarians, gathered from the coins struck by the Roman emperors, or by usurpers, as emblems of their sovereignty here.

§ 114. As it was Mr. Petrie's plan to trace all historical facts to their original source, he deemed it indispensable to collect all passages relating to Britain known to exist in the

---

(1) This portion of the Work has been reprinted in two different publications by Dr. Giles, who had obtained the loan of a printed copy of Mr. Petrie's work from the Government, "for the common purposes of reference, on his "pledging himself to show it to no one." Dr. Giles has nevertheless copied, and without acknowledgment printed and published as his own, the whole of Mr. Petrie's collection, even to the adoption of typographical errors. It is true that Dr. Giles has differently arranged the extracts, and occasionally added a few words at the beginning and end of some of the excerpts,—which may give his work the appearance of being original,—and has also introduced a few passages not in Mr. Petrie's unfinished work, which was printed in 1833.

(2) Such dubious passages as those occurring in the Greek Poem, by Onomacritus, attributed to Orpheus, on the Argonautic Expedition, are of course excluded; but, lest it might be supposed that they had been overlooked, since Camden has referred to them, they are inserted below:—

Argo loquitur.

Νῦν γὰρ δὴ λυγρῇ τε καὶ ἀλγεινῇ κακότητι
Ἔξομαι, ἣν νήσοισιν Ἰερνίσιν ἄσσον ἵκωμαι.
Εἰ γὰρ μὴ μ' ἱερῇσιν ἐπιγνάμψαντες ἄκρῃσιν
Κόλπον ἔσω γαίης τε καὶ ἀτρυγέτοιο θαλάσσης
Ἴξεσθ', ἀμ πέλαγός κεν Ἀτλαντικὸν ἐκτὸς ἵκωμαι. *

Should I approach Iernian Isles too near,
Danger and dread calamity I fear,
Unless within the sacred capes you bend
Your course, and to the safety harbour tend Between the barren sea and inland shore;
Outward the Atlantic wave I must explore.

ἶδ' εὐρέα δώματ' ἀνάσσης
Δημητρὸς †

He saw the stately court of royal Ceres!

* Orpheus, ver. 1163-7, 8vo. Leips. 1764.

† Orpheus, ver. 1187-8, 8vo. Leips. 1764.

Digitized by Google

Extracts from the Greek and Roman writers.

works of the Greek and Roman historians, poets, orators, jurists, panegyrists, and in the fathers of the Church. The principle on which he formed these extracts was this: he selected those passages only in which the word BRITANNIA, or its equivalent, was mentioned, excluding all those which were only of indirect allusion. The value of these excerpts will be seen by the Chronolgical Abstract. In executing this portion of his Work, he made extracts from the works of about forty-nine Greek and seventy-nine Roman writers, thinly scattered over a period of seventeen hundred years. These he divided under three heads,—GEOGRAPHICAL, HISTORICAL, and MISCELLANEOUS. The list is subjoined:—

1. HERODOTUS of Halicarnassus, who flourished 445 years A.C.
2. ARISTOTLE of Stagira, who flourished 345 years A.C.
3. POLYBIUS of Arcadia, who flourished about 260 years A.C. The excerpt is taken from his Universal History.
4. TITUS LUCRETIUS CARUS, the Roman poet, who died 51 years A.C.
5. PUBLIUS VIRGILIUS MARO, born 70 years A.C.
6. CAIUS VALERIUS CATULLUS, the poet, born 65 years A.C.
7. STRABO, the celebrated geographer, born at Amasia in Pontus, about 54 years A.C.
8. SEXTUS AURELIUS PROPERTIUS, the poet, born about 50 years A.C.
9. ALBIUS TIBULLUS, the poet, born about 47 years A.C.
10. DIODORUS SICULUS, who flourished about 44 years A.C. The extracts are taken from the first, third, and fifth books of his "Bibliotheca Historica."
11. CAIUS JULIUS CÆSAR, who died 44 years A.C. The extracts are taken from his works "De Bello Gallico" and "De Bello Civili."
12. M. T. CICERO, who was put to death 43 years A.C. The extracts are taken from his "Epistolæ ad Familiares" and his treatise "De Natura Deorum."
13. PUBLIUS OVIDIUS NASO, born A.C. 38.
14. VELLEIUS PATERCULUS, the Roman historian, born about A.C. 19. The extract is taken from his "Historia Romana."
15. MESSALLA CORVINUS, who flourished 10 years A.C. The extract is taken from his treatise "De Progenie Augusti."
16. QUINTUS HORATIUS FLACCUS, who died 8 years A.C.
17. GRATIUS FALISCUS, the Latin poet, who died 6 years A.C. The extract is taken from his Cynegeticon.
18. CAIUS CORNELIUS TACITUS, the historian, who lived in the time of Nero and the succeeding Emperors until Hadrian. The extracts are taken from all his works.
19. C. PLINIUS SECUNDUS, the natural historian, born A.D. 23.
20. SILIUS ITALICUS, born A.D. 25.
21. VALERIUS MAXIMUS, the historian, who lived about A.D. 30. The extracts are from his "Facta et Dicta Memorabilia."
22. FLAVIUS JOSEPHUS, the Jewish Historian, born A.D. 37. The extracts are taken from his History of the Jewish Wars.
23. MARCUS VALERIUS MARTIALIS, the epigramist, born A.D. 40.
24. MARCUS FABIUS QUINTILIANUS, the rhetorician, born A.D. 42. The extract is from his "Institutiones Oratoriæ."
25. DECIMUS JUNIUS JUVENALIS, the poet, born A.D. 42.
26. POMPONIUS MELA, who flourished A.D. 45. The extracts are from his geographical work "De Situ Orbis."
27. PLUTARCH, born A.D. 50. The extracts are taken from his works, "De Defectu Oraculorum," "De Placitis Philosophorum," and from his Lives.
28. PUBLIUS PAPINIUS STATIUS, the poet, born A.D. 61.
29. LUCIUS ANNÆUS SENECA of Cordova, who was put to death A.D. 65. The extracts are from his "Ludus de Morte Claudii Cæsaris," the tragedy of "Octavia," and the "Consolatio ad Marciam."
30. MARCUS ANNÆUS LUCANUS of Cordova, the poet, who died A.D. 65.
31. CAIUS JULIUS SOLINUS, supposed to have flourished about A.D. 80. He wrote the Polyhistor, a collection of historical and geographical annotations on the most celebrated places of every country.

Digitized by Google

Extracts from the Greek and Roman writers.

32. Sextus Julius Frontinus, the geometrician, who wrote his work "De Strategematibus," from which the extract is taken, about the year A.D. 83.
33. Valerius Flaccus, the poet, who died A.D. 88. The short extract is from his poem on the Argonautic Expedition.
34. Dioscorides, a physician of Amazarba in Cilicia, who flourished towards the close of the first century, though the exact time in which he lived has been a question of much critical discussion. Some suppose him to have lived in the reign of Nero. The extract is taken from his work "De Medica Materia."
35. Anthologia (1) Veterum Latinorum Epigrammatum et Poematum. The extract is from a poem, "De Laudibus Claudii Cæsaris," by an anonymous author.
36. Clemens Romanus, one of the fathers of the Church, who died about A.D. 100. The extract is from his Epistola ad Corinthios.
37. C. Tranquillus Suetonius, the historian, who flourished at the commencement of the second century.
38. Lucius Annæus Julius Florus, who lived in the second century. The extracts are from his "Epitomes Rerum Romanorum."
39. The Epitomes of Titus Livius, generally attributed to Lucius Annæus Julius Florus, mentioned above.
40. Claudius Ptolemæus, who flourished A.D. 120. The excerpts are from his Geography and his Tetrabiblos.
41. Oppian, a Greek poet of Cilicia, who flourished A.D. 140. The extract is from his poem on Hunting, called Cynegeticon.
42. Pausanias, who is supposed to have flourished about A.D. 140. The extract is taken from his "Descriptio Græciæ."
43. Appianus Alexandrinus, the historian, who flourished about A.D. 140.
44. Apollonius Dyscolus, a grammarian of Alexandria, who flourished A.D. 150.
45. Dio Cassius, the historian, born A.D. 155. The extracts are taken from his History of Rome.
46. Aelius Aristides, a Greek orator, who flourished A.D. 160.
47. Theophilus Bishop of Antioch, who flourished about A.D. 170. The extract is from his work "De Fide Christianorum."
48. Polyænus, who flourished A.D. 180. The extract is taken from his "Stratagemata."
49. Dionysius Periegetes, who is supposed to have lived at the end of the second century. His Geographical Treatise, written in Greek hexameters, was published by Hudson, at Oxford, in 1712, which edition has been used for this work.
50. Hegesippus, Bishop of Rome, who flourished in the second century. The extracts printed at p. xxxv are taken from the work "De Bello Judaico," generally attributed to him, thought by some to be the production of St. Ambrose, who lived in the fourth century.
51. Titus Flavius Clemens, of Alexandria, commonly called "Clemens Alexandrinus," who flourished A.D. 206.
52. The Sybilline Oracles, supposed to have been composed about the second century.
53. Septimius Fl. Tertullianus, the celebrated Christian writer, born at Carthage about the middle of the second century.
54. Minucius Felix, an African lawyer, who flourished A.D. 210. The extract is taken from his Defence of the Christian Religion, called Octavius.
55. Athenæus, a grammarian of Naucratis, who flourished about A.D. 220. The extract is from his "Deipnosophistæ."
56. Claudius Aelian, a writer on natural history, who flourished about A.D. 220. The extract is from his work "De Natura Animalium."
57. Herodian, a Greek historian, who died about A.D. 240.
58. Origenes Adamantius, the Greek father, who died A.D. 254.

---

(1) Anthologia Veterum Latinorum Epigrammatum et Poematum, sive Catalecta Poetarum Latinorum, in vi. libros, digesta ex marmoribus et monumentis inscriptionum vetustis et codicibus MSS. eruta.

Digitized by Google

Extracts from the Greek and Roman writers.

59. Eusebius, the ecclesiastical historian, surnamed Pamphilus. He was born in Palestine, about A.D. 267, and died in the year A.D. 340. The extracts are taken from his work "De Vita Constantini" (1), &c.
60. Marcus Aurelius Olympius Nemesianus, a Latin poet, who flourished about A.D. 280, under the Emperor Carus and his sons Carinus and Numerian. All that remain of his works are an imperfect poem on Hunting, called Cynegeticon, and four Eclogues. In the eighth century he was so highly esteemed that he was read among the classics in the schools.
61. Ex Panegyricis Veteribus. The Panegyrics of Claudius Mamertinus were composed A.D. 292.
62. Eumenius, an orator at the court of Constantius Chlorus, and author of certain Panegyrics pronounced before the Emperor A.D. 296 and 310. His oration Pro Instaurandis Scholis, made A.D. 297, is printed with his Panegyric to Constantius, among the Panegyrici Veteres.
63. Marcianus Heracleota, who flourished about the end of the third century. The extracts incorporated in this Collection are taken from his "Periplus Maris Externi," which was printed by Hudson among the Geographi Minores, in 1698.
64. Agathemerus, the geographer, who lived in the third century. His work from which the extracts are taken was printed in the second volume of the Geographi Minores, by Hudson, in 1703.
65. Aelius Spartianus, the historian, who flourished at the end of the third century. His Roman History, published among the Scriptores Historiæ Augustæ, has furnished the extracts for this Collection.
66. Julius Capitolinus, who flourished at the end of the third century. He wrote an account of the Lives of Verus, Antoninus Pius, the Gordians, &c. The extracts are taken from his Life of Antoninus Pius, printed among the Scriptores Historiæ Augustæ.
67. Aelius Lampridius, a Latin historian, who flourished at the end of the third century. He wrote the Lives of the Emperors Commodus, Heliogabalus, and Alexander Severus, published among the Scriptores Historiæ Augustæ.
68. Flavius Vopiscus, a native of Syracuse, who lived at the end of the third century. His History of the Lives of the Emperors Aurelian, Tacitus, Florianus, Probus, Firmus, Saturninus, Proculus, Bonosus, Carus, Numerianus, and Carinus, is printed among the Historiæ Augustæ Scriptores.
69. Dorothæus Bishop of Tyre flourished cir. A.D. 303, and is said to have suffered martyrdom at the age of 107. Very little is known respecting him. The work entitled "Synopsis de Vita et Morte Prophetarum, Apostolorum, et Discipulorum Domini," from which the extract at page c. is taken, is attributed to him; but it is manifestly spurious, and was probably composed at the commencement of the sixth century.
70. An anonymous Panegyric of Maximianus and Constantinus, composed about A.D. 307.
71. An anonymous Panegyric of Constantinus Augustus, composed about A.D. 313.
72. Libanius, a celebrated Sophist; born of a noble family, at Antioch, on the Orontes, A.D. 314. He seems to have lived to the reign of Arcadius, i.e. beyond the seventieth year of his age.
73. Synodus Episcoporum qui in civitate Arelatensium, apud Marinum episcopum Ecclesiæ Catholicæ, temporibus Constantini Augusti, Volusiani, et Anniani, coss., convenerunt. This Council met A.D. 314.
74. St. Athanasius, Bishop of Alexandria in the year 326; died in 373, towards the close of the fourth century.
75. St. Basil, surnamed the Great, born at Neocæsarea in Cappadocia, A.D. 326, studied under Libanius at Antioch and Constantinople. He returned to his

(1) De Vita Constantini, libri iv. This work is rather a Panegyric than a Life, being written in a florid and oratorical style. Some have denied it to be Eusebius'. It is subjoined to the Ecclesiastical History.

Digitized by Google

native country, A.D. 355, where he taught rhetoric. About A.D. 370 he succeeded Eusebius in the Bishopric of Cæsarea, which church he governed for eight years; and died A.D. 378. Extracts from the Greek and Roman writers.

76. Flavius Claudius Julianus; born 6th November 331, at Constantinople; younger son of Constantius, brother of Constantine the Great; raised to the dignity of Cæsar, 6th November 355; died of a wound received in battle, June 363. The extracts are taken from his Epistles.

77. Saint Jerom, Hieronymus, born A. D. 331, at Stridon, a town on the confines of Pannonia and Dalmatia; resided four years in the Syrian Deserts, and then returned to Rome. He afterwards retired to Bethlehem, where, in a monastery founded by Paula, he spent his old age, and died A.D. 420.

78. St. Ambrose, born at Arles, or, according to others, at Treves or Lyons, A.D. 333 according to Cave, or A.D. 340 according to Dupin. He remained at Milan as governor for five years, of which place he was made bishop on the death of Auxentius, in the thirty-fourth year of his age. He died at Milan, 4th April 397.

79. Expositio totius Mundi, which is supposed to have been written about A.D. 340, by an anonymous author. It is to be found among the Geographi Minores, published by Hudson, at Oxford, A.D. 1712.

80. St. Chrysostom, Bishop of Constantinople, born at Antioch, A.D. 347, died in Armenia, A.D. 407. His works fill eleven volumes, folio.

81. Eutropius, a Latin historian, who flourished A.D. 360. The excerpta are from his "Breviarium Historiæ Romanæ," edited by Havercamp, 1729.

82. Sextus Aurelius Victor, a Roman historian, who lived in the fourth century, probably in the reigns of Constantius and Theodosius, A.D. 361. Julian appointed him Prefect of Pannonia; and, as a recompence for his services, he was honoured with a statue of brass. He was afterwards made Præfect of Rome, and A.D. 369 Consul with Valentinian. He appears to have lived until the end of the fourth century.

83. Latinus Pacatus, an orator of Drepanum. His Panegyric to Theodosius Augustus was made A.D. 391.

84. Sextus Rufus Festus, a Latin Historian, who flourished A.D. 370. He is styled "Vir Consularis," but nothing is known of his personal history. His two remaining works are:—I. De Historia Romana Libellus, which sometimes bears the title of Breviarium rerum gestarum populi Romani, ending in the time of Jovian; and, II. De regionibus urbis Romæ, containing a catalogue of the monuments and edifices of Rome. The extracts are taken from his Breviarium.

85. Claudius Claudianus, a Latin poet, who flourished in the fourth century, under the Emperor Theodosius and his sons Arcadius and Honorius. He was born near the year 365, and came to Rome 395. The time of his death is uncertain.

86. Ammianus Marcellinus, who flourished A.D. 380. He wrote a History of the Roman Emperors from the time of Domitian, where Suetonius breaks off. An anonymous author who wrote the Life of Constantius Chlorus, Constantine the Great, and other Roman Emperors, is printed at the end of the first volume of the works of Ammianus Marcellinus, Leips. 1808, pp. 609, 628. (1)

87. Quintus Aurelius Symmachus, a citizen and senator of Rome, and Consul A.D. 391. He was an earnest opposer of the Christian Religion. Ammianus Marcellinus speaks of him as a man of great learning and modesty.

88. Lucius Ampelius, who is supposed to have flourished at the beginning of the fourth century.

89. Itinerarium Antonii Augusti. The author of this Itinerary is not known, but he is supposed by some persons to have lived in the second century, and by others not until the fourth.

90. Eunapius Sardianus, a native of Sardis in Lydia; he flourished in the fourth century, under the Emperors Valentinian, Valens, and Gratian; and was a sophist;

(1) The same extract also appears in Murator. Script. Rer. Ital. I. xxiv. p. 635.

Digitized by Google

Extracts from the Greek and Roman writers.

physician, and historian. He was brought up under Chrysanthus. He wrote a History of the Cæsars, from Claudius, where Herodian left off, down to the reign of Arcadius and Honorius. Photius speaks well of this History, but complains "that the author is so partial to the heathen Emperors as to prefer Julian the "Apostate to Constantine the Great." This History is lost, but the substance of it is to be found in Zosimus, who is supposed to have done little more than copy it. In Labbe there are about seven pages of "Excerpta de Legationibus"(1); and all that remains of his writings besides are the Lives of the Sophists.

91. Julius Firmicus Maternus, a writer who flourished under Constans and Constantius. He is only known as the author of a book against Paganism, entitled "De Errore profanarum Religionum"; a production of the fourth century, displaying much learned research in the historical development of the different Heathen systems.

92. Rufus Festus Avienus, a poet, who wrote about the latter end of the fourth century. Only fragments of his Geographical Poem have been preserved. They were first published in the year 1634; the copy in Wernsdorf's Poetæ Latini Minores has been used for this Collection.

93. Ex Cosmographia Æthico ascripta, composed about the end of the fourth century.

94. Aethicus Ister, who is supposed to have flourished towards the end of the fourth century. His Cosmography is usually published with the Itinerary of Antoninus. The edition of 1722, by Gronovius, has been used for these excerpts.

95. Flavius Vegetius Renatus, a Latin writer, who lived in the fourth century, under Valentinian, to whom his work "Epitome Institutore Rei Militaris" is dedicated. This is a compilation from many authors. Little is known of the author; he was probably a military man, and bore the title of "Comes."

96. Decimus Magnus Ausonius, a poet of the fourth century, who was born at Bordeaux, and made preceptor to Gratian, son of the Emperor Valentinian. He was appointed Consul by the Emperor Gratian A.D. 379. The time of his death is uncertain, but he was living A.D. 392.

97. Tabula Peutingeriana, which is supposed to have been composed in the fourth century (2); nearly all the portion relating to Britain has, however, perished.

98. Zosimus, an historian, who lived at the end of the fourth and beginning of the fifth century; he had the title of "Comes," and was Advocate of the Treasury at Rome. There are extant six books of his History, the first of which, concisely written, extends from Augustus to Dioclesian; the other five books are written more at large, particularly when the writer comes to the times of Theodosius the Great, and his children Arcadius and Honorius, with whom he was the contemporary. The beginning of the sixth book only is preserved. Zosimus drew his narrative from historians now lost, viz. Dexippus, Eunapius, and Olympiodorus. His style is far superior to that of the writers of his age.

99. Paulus Orosius, a learned Spanish ecclesiastic, who flourished in the fifth century; he was born at Tarragona in Catalonia, and was a disciple of St. Augustin. In A.D. 414 he was sent to Africa by Eutropius and Paul, two Spanish bishops, to solicit Augustin's assistance against heretics. In A.D. 415, Augustin sent him to St. Jerom, at Jerusalem, to consult him relative to a metaphysical disquisition on the origin of the soul; and on his return he brought into Africa the relics of St. Stephen. By the advice of Augustin he wrote a History, in seven books, under the title, it is said, of Miseria Humana, containing an account of wars, plagues, earthquakes, floods, &c. &c., ab init. mund. to A.D. 416. This was written to show that such calamities had not been more frequent since the introduction of Christianity than before. It was translated into Anglo-Saxon by King Alfred. He also wrote a Defence of Free-will. The time of his death is unknown.

100. Claudius Rutilius Numantianus, who flourished about the times of Honorius and Arcadius, A.D. 420. He was a Gaul by birth, of consular dignity, præfect and

(1) Fabricius attributes this fragment to another Eunapius, who lived somewhat earlier.

(2) There is no vestige of the original now remaining; the copy appears to have been made in the beginning of the fifteenth century.

Digitized by Google

tribune. He left only one work, a Poem called Itinerarium, of which the first book and the beginning of the second are all that remain.

101. Theodoretus Bishop of Cyrrhus in Syria, A.D. 420. In consequence of his supposed attachment to the Nestorian errors he was condemned by the Synod of Ephesus, but was restored by the fourth General Council, held at Chalcedon. He was alive in 460.

102. Sulpicius Severus, who flourished about the beginning of the fifth century; a disciple of St. Martin of Tours, whose Life he wrote, and a friend of Paulinus Bishop of Nola; born at Agen in the province of Aquitane; lived till about A.D. 420.

103. Notitia utriusque Imperii apud Græveii Thesaurum, believed to have been written at the beginning of the fifth century.

104. Olympiodorus, a native of Thebes, poet and historian, ambassador to the King of the Huns; he flourished cir. A.D. 425, and wrote in Greek twenty-two books of Historical Narratives dedicated to the Emperor Theodosius the younger. They embraced the events that occurred in the Roman Empire, particularly in the West, from A.D. 407 to A.D. 425. All that remains of this writer appears to be in Photius.

105. Socrates, surnamed Scholasticus, an ecclesiastical historian, who flourished about the middle of the fifth century. He was born at Constantinople, in the reign of Theodosius, and studied grammar under Helladius and Ammonius. In the decline of his life he undertook to write the History of the Church, beginning at the year A.D. 309, where Eusebius ends, and he continued it down to A.D. 440, in seven books.

106. Sozomenus, Hermias, an ecclesiastical historian of the fifth century; he studied the law at Berytus in Phœnicia; at Constantinople he became a pleader at the bar. His Ecclesiastical History, in two books, from the Ascension of Christ to A.D. 323, is lost. He then continued his History in a more circumstantial manner to A.D. 440, which he dedicated to the Emperor Theodosius the younger, and this part is extant.

107. The Codex Theodosianus. This Code was promulgated A.D. 438. (1)

108. Sidonius Apollinaris, born at Lyons about A.D. 438. Gennadius says of him,—"Sidonius Bishop of Auvergne wrote various and welcome volumes, and was a "man of sound learning; he was entirely skilled in divine and human affairs, "and of a quick capacity. He wrote to different persons a remarkable volume, "composed in different metres and in prose. He was powerful in Christian "strength, and was esteemed a wonderful catholic father and teacher."

109. Prosperus Aquitanus, a disciple of St. Augustine. He died in 466, and was a learned and voluminous writer. He continued the Chronicon of St. Jerom from A.D. 377 to A.D. 445. Another Chronicle, from A.D. 378 to A.D. 456, printed in Labbe, Bibl. Nov. Mss^tor, tom. I., has also been attributed to him.

110. Stephanus Byzantinus, a Greek grammarian, who flourished about A.D. 490. The excerpts printed in this Collection are taken from his book "De Urbibus."

111. Gennadius, a presbyter of Marseilles, who flourished at the close of the fifth century. The extract is taken from his "Catalogus Illustrium Virorum." Nothing is known of him except that which he himself states at the end of his catalogue;—that he wrote eight books against all heresies, and six books against Nestorius, and eleven books against Eutyches, three books against Pelagius, and a treatise on the Millennium, a work on the Apocalypse of St. John, an Epistle concerning his own faith, and the Catalogue of illustrious men.

112. Aurelius Cassiodorus, born at Sequillace in Calabria, flourished during the sixth century, and called by way of distinction "the Senator." Theodoric made him governor of Sicily, and afterwards his secretary. He was then raised to the consulate, which he administered alone, A.D. 514. He was continued in favour by Athalaric, who succeeded Theodoric about A.D. 524; but afterwards, in 537, being discarded from all his offices by King Vitiges, he retired into a monastery of his own foundation in the extreme parts of Calabria, where he invented many curious pieces of mechanism, water clocks, sun dials, perpetual lamps, &c. He died cir. A.D. 575. His chief works are his "Commentaries on the Psalms," his "Variarum Epistolarum," libri xii., and his "Historiæ Ecclesiasticæ," called "Tripartitæ," because formed from the Greek authors Sozomenus, Socrates, and Theodoretus.

(1) Consularia Theodosiana, seu Chronologia nova constitutionum Codicis Theodosiani centum viginti septem annorum, ab A.D. 312 ad A.D. 438, sub sedecim Imperatoribus.

Digitized by Google

Extracts from the Greek and Roman writers.

113. The Codex Justinianus, composed between the 13th February A.D. 528 and the 7th of April A.D. 529.

114. Jornandes, a Goth, who wrote about A.D. 552. The extracts are taken from his work De Rebus Geticis, which he states in his dedication to be an extract from the lost History of Cassiodorus.

115. Gregory Bishop of Tours, who composed an Ecclesiastical History of the Franks, in ten books, from the earliest period to the year 592. He died in 595.

116. Procopius, a Greek historian of the sixth century, born at Cæsarea in Palestine. He went thence to Constantinople in the time of the Emperor Anastasius, by whom, as well as by Justin I. and Justinian, he was greatly esteemed. By profession he was a rhetorician and a pleader, and was secretary to Belisarius, whom he attended in the wars of Persia, Africa, and Italy. Afterwards he was admitted into the senate, and became præfect or governor of Constantinople, where he seems to have died about A.D. 565. His History contains eight books:—two of the Persian War, epitomized by Photius in the sixty-third chapter of his Bibliotheca; two of the War of the Vandals; and four of the War of the Goths.

117. Venantius Honorius Clementianus Fortunatus, a Christian poet of the sixth century, a native of Italy, who studied at Ravenna. Hilduin abbot of St. Denis gave him the title of "Scholastissimus." He went to France in the time of Sigebert King of Austrasia, upon whose marriage with Brunehild, A.D. 563, he composed an Epithalamium. He was much esteemed by Gregory of Tours, and raised to the bishopric of Poictiers. He died about the beginning of the seventh century, some say in A.D. 609. His works consist of eleven books of poetry, mostly elegiac, hymns, letters, and lives of saints, amongst which are four books of the Life of St. Martin in heroic verse.

118. Vibius Sequester. The age in which this writer lived is not known. The short extract which occurs in this Collection is taken from his work De Fluminibus, which was first printed by Oberlin, in 1773; but the edition which has been here used is that by Bipont, in 1809.

119. Priscianus Periegetes, who is supposed to have flourished towards the end of the sixth century. His work was printed by Wernsdorf, among the Poetæ Latini Minores, in 1788.

120. Isidorus Bishop of Seville, who died A.D. 636. He was a man of great learning, and the author of numerous works, amongst which are twenty books of the Origines sive Etymologiæ.

121. The Greek Menology.

122. Ex anonymo Ravennate Geographo. The author is supposed to have flourished in the seventh century.

123. Georgius Cedrenus, a Greek monk, who lived in the eleventh century. He wrote annals from the beginning of the world to the reign of Isaac Comnenus, Emperor of Constantinople, who succeeded Michael IV. in A.D. 1057. This compendium is made up out of the works of three authors; viz., Georgius Syncellus, whose chronology he follows from the Creation to Dioclesian; Theophanes, from Diocletian to Michael Curopalates; and Thracesius Scylitzes, from Curopalates to his own time.

124. John Xiphiline of Trebizond, who lived at the commencement of the twelfth century. He abridged the works of Dio Cassius from the thirty-fifth to the eightieth book. The extracts printed at pp. lv. lxii. are printed from the edition of Reimarus, 1752.

Digitized by Google

125. Zonaras, one of the Byzantine historians. He flourished about A.D. 1100. Those passages only have been extracted from his Annals which are not found in Dio Cassius or other ancient authors. Extracts from the Greek and Roman writers.

126. John Tzetzes was the son of Michael Tzetzes and Eudocia: His paternal grandfather was John Tzetzes; his maternal grandfather, a Greek; and his maternal grandmother, an Iberian. He was well skilled in Hebrew and Syrian, rhetoric, geometry, &c. He seems to have written his work in A.D. 1176, according to Gerbelius.

127. Nicephorus Callistus, born at the latter end of the thirteenth century. He dedicated his Ecclesiastical History to Andronicus II., the son of Michael Palæologus who ejected the Latins from the empire of Constantinople.

§ 115. The Addenda relate solely to the Druidical religion, and the Excerpts entirely concern Gaul; they are taken from Diodorus Siculus, Strabo, Pomponius Mela, Pliny the younger, and Suetonius Tranquillus.

§ 116. The Extracts have been compiled with great care from the best editions of the works of the different authors from which they have been taken, and the references to them are invariably made in a note at the foot of the page. It is possible, however, that some may have been overlooked where perhaps only a brief verbal notice occurs, as "Britannia," "Caledonia," "Thule," without any important reference to facts; and it is not impossible that some noted under the word "Britannia" may refer to Brittany; but this the context will show. An English translation accompanies the Greek extracts.

ROMAN INSCRIPTIONS.

§ 117. A collection of Roman Inscriptions found on stones and marbles, commemorative of some event connected with the occupation of this island by that great people, follows the Excerpta. Roman Inscriptions.

§ 118. The Inscriptions are taken from the works of Gruter, Gudius, Muratori, Maffei, Camden (Gough's edition), Whitaker, Lysons, and Hodgson, as well as from the Archæologia and the Gentleman's Magazine; and they have been copied from stones found on the Continent and in England. (1)

§ 119. The Reader must not expect to find in this Collection a copy of every Roman Inscription which may have been discovered in Britain. It is expressly confined to those only which bear upon general and not upon particular history. Many persons, perhaps would have preferred that all Roman Inscriptions discovered in Britain should have been included, on the ground that every thing illustrating our connexion with that celebrated people must be desirable, and would elucidate some portion of local or particular history. However interesting a collection of this sort might be, and there is no doubt of its importance, it is questionable how far it could be accomplished in a work like the present. Mr. Petrie considered that the Inscriptions which he had selected were sufficient for every useful purpose, as they vary little in their information: a victorious legion, the death of a commander, the performance of a vow, a tribute to the memory of a departed relative, are the subjects generally commemorated. To form a complete collection of such votive tablets is hardly practicable, as the Romans were resident in this island for four centuries, and of course their exuviæ are scattered over a very wide surface. Their monuments are being daily exhumed, and affording matter of investigation to the learned; and when it is remembered how far beneath the surface of the earth these remains are found, it may be a source of congratulation that we possess so many of their relics. A diligent study of the "Notitia utriusque imperii," as published at p. xxiii of this Volume, may perhaps point out places where many Inscriptions might still be found, as it designates the positions of the Roman Legions in Britain. It becomes necessary to draw a line somewhere; and the limit prescribed by Mr. Petrie is, perhaps, the best, as being the most accurately defined.

---

(1) This portion of the work was not finished when it was suspended in the year 1835. Mr. Petrie left it to the last, in the hope that other data might be found before the volume was completed, but his collections have not been found. Mr. Newton, of the British Museum, has supplied those Inscriptions which have letters added to the numerals, as 24 a, 24 b, &c., and also several additional notes.

Digitized by Google

BRITISH COINS.

British Coins.

§ 120. Following the Roman Inscriptions are Engravings of the principal BRITISH COINS. The specimens have been taken from the collection in the British Museum. Doubtful coins have been excluded.

ROMAN COINS AND MEDALS.

Roman Coins.

§ 121. After the British Coins will be found Engravings of all ROMAN COINS AND MEDALS struck in Britain, or having any connexion with it. The examples have been selected from the great national collection in the British Museum; and from the private cabinets of distinguished numismatists, when better specimens than those in the British Museum were to be obtained. Where there is any doubt as to their relation to this empire they are designedly omitted.

§ 122. This Division of the Work will be found to contain a complete and valuable body of Materials for the History of Britain from the Roman Invasion to the arrival of the Saxons. Students and historians need not for the future consume their time in searching the classical writers for isolated and detached passages bearing on their respective inquiries, as every sentence having any direct connexion with Britain has been extracted and concentrated in a few pages. What Eichorn did for Grecian History has been done by Mr. Petrie for the History of Britain under the Romans.

Contents of the Second Division of the Work.

§ 123. The Second Division of the Work, containing the First Part of the Materials for the History of Britain, from the arrival of the Saxons to the Norman Conquest, follows the Classical Division. It contains:—

Gildæ Sapientis de Excidio Britanniæ Historia et Epistola, extending from the Incarnation to A.D. 560; the text of which has been compared with two manuscripts.

Eulogium Britanniæ, sive Historia Britonum, by Nennius, from Brute to A.D. 680; collated with twenty-six manuscripts.

Chronicon Venerabilis Bedæ, sive De sex hujus sæculi ætatibus, extending from the Creation of the World to A.D. 725; the "Sexta Ætas" has been collated with two manuscripts.

Bedæ Historia Ecclesiastica Gentis Anglorum, from Julius Cæsar to A.D. 731; compared with the celebrated Cambridge manuscript used by Smith, and with several others.

Chronologia Brevissima ad Northanhymbros spectans, ab anno Domini usque ad annum Domini 737; also taken from the Cambridge manuscript.

The Anglo-Saxon Chronicle to A.D. 1066; the text of which has been compared with all the known manuscripts, and translated into English.

Asserius de Rebus Gestis Ælfredi, extending from A.D. 849 to A.D. 887; collated with the only known manuscripts.

Chronicon Aethelweardi, from the Incarnation to A.D. 975; taken from Saville's text, as no manuscript has been discovered.

Florentii Wigornensis Chronicon, from the Incarnation to A.D. 1066; collated with three manuscripts.

The Appendix to the Chronicle of Florence of Worcester, containing Nomina Archiepiscoporum et Episcoporum Angliæ, et Genealogia Regum Anglorum.

The Historia de Gestis Anglorum, by Simeon of Durham, from A.D. 732 to A.D. 1066; compared with the unique Cambridge manuscript.

The Historia Anglorum, by Henry of Huntingdon, from the Incarnation to A.D. 1066; collated with four manuscripts.

The Norman French Poem, entitled "L'Estorie des Engles, solum la translation Maistre Geoffroi Gaimar," from A.D. 495 to A.D. 1066; hitherto unedited; taken from four manuscripts.

Digitized by Google

The Annales Cambriæ, from A.D. 444 to A.D. 1066; collated with three manuscripts.

The Brut y Tywysogion, or the Chronicle of the Princes of Wales, from A.D. 681 to A.D. 1066; collated with five manuscripts: And

The Carmen de Bello Hastingensi; printed for the first time from the unique Brussels manuscript.

Upon each of which works a few prefatory remarks relative to its author, its contents, and the period which it embraces, are offered.

GILDAS.

Gildas.

§ 124. Gildas (or Gildus, as the name is given by Beda and Alcuin), by some surnamed the Wise, by others Badonicus, claims, on account of his antiquity, the earliest place in this Collection. His Life has been twice written at different times; the first is attributed to an anonymous monk of St. Gildas de Ruys in Brittanny (1), in the eleventh century; and the second to Caradoc of Llancarvan (2), who flourished in the twelfth century. As both of these authors have confounded the actions of two persons at least of the name of Gildas, it will be advisable, in this sketch of his Life, to rely on the few and obscure notices relating to himself, which are to be discovered in his work.

§ 125. It appears from these notices that Gildas was born in Britain, in the year of the siege of Mount Badon (3); that he exercised some kind of ecclesiastical function (4); that

---

(1) Sancti Gildæ Sapientis Vita, auctore Monacho Ruyensi anonymo; ex MS° Ruyensi;—is printed by Mabillon, Acta SS. Benedictinorum, sæc. I. It has been conjectured that there were two, if not three, persons who bore the name of Gildas, and who have been severally designated as Gildas Albanius, Gildas Cambrius, and Gildas Sapiens or Badonicus; and Archbishop Usher (Primordia) is of opinion that the Monk of Ruys has confounded the actions of Gildas Albanius with those of Gildas Badonicus; the first of whom he considers was born about A.D. 425, while the latter is said to have died in A.D. 570. But it must be remarked that both are said to have been born in Scotland, then called Ireland. One was the son of Nau*, the other of Cau; the eldest son of one was Huel, of the other Cuil. Both Lives have stories of a bell, both Gildas's go to Ireland, both go to Rome, and both build churches. The Monk of Ruys quotes several passages from Gildas De Excidio, and assigns it to him; and Caradoc calls him "Historiographus Britonum†," and says that he wrote Historias de Regibus Britonum.

Dr. O'Conor (Rer. Hibernicar. Scriptores, t. I. prolegom. pars 1ma, p. xcix) is also of opinion that two persons have been confounded; that while Caradoc thought he was writing the Life of Gildas Badonicus, he was in fact composing that of Gildas Albanius; that the name is exclusively Irish; that the only Gildas mentioned in British History was unquestionably Irish; that his name shows his Irish origin, as does also the bitterness with which he attacks the Britons (pars 2, p. xxix); and he doubts not, that in the period between St. Patrick, an. 422, and the invasion of Ireland by King Henry II., he could find more than a thousand Gildas's, who were either bishops, priests, scribes, or amanuenses (pp. cxcvi-cxcviii).

Dr. O'Conor, however, appears only to have seen extracts from Caradoc, or he would have found that, if there be any confusion of persons, Caradoc has blundered as well as the Monk of Ruys; for though, when the elder brother of Gildas is said to have been killed by Arthur, Dr. O'Conor gets rid of the difficulty by understanding it of Aurelius Ambrosius (pars 1ma, p. xcix), yet that substitution could never avail with respect to Melras and Guenheviu.

If, however, it be allowed to sift the two Lives, and allot to each that which will not accord with the proposed time of the other, two persons will be brought into action, the later of whom is considered as the author of the Excidium; but when he was born is still a matter of dispute. Mabillon (Act. Ben. t. I. p. 139-144) assigns A.D. 484, grounding his argument on Malmesbury's statement, that Hengist died thirty-nine years after the arrival of the Saxons, and that his immediate successors made no attempt to enlarge their paternal boundaries; and that, therefore, the battle of Badon must have been fought before the death of Hengist, i. e. before A.D. 485 (488). But it may be observed, that Malmesbury's account is rather an illation than evidence; his scanty authorities furnished him with no account of the transactions of the successors of Hengist, and he therefore assumed that they had not done anything. Besides, it does not seem necessarily implied that the battle of Badon was fought against the Kings of Kent.

Usher places the event in A.D. 520; and the Harleian Manuscript, No. 3859, (supposing the birth of Gildas to have taken place in the same year as the battle of Badon,) ascribes it to A.D. 516, and the death of Gildas to A.D. 570, which is nearly the time usually assigned.

(2) The evidence now extant to prove that Caradoc of Lancarvan was the author of the Vita Sancti Gildæ consists of a manuscript belonging to the Dean and Chapter of Durham (B. II. 35.) written about the end of the twelfth century; a manuscript in C.C.C. Cambridge, of the thirteenth century, which ascribes it to Caradoc by a couplet appended to it; and the Royal manuscripts in the British Museum, 13 B. VII. fol. 20., written about the reign of King Henry the Eighth.

(3) "From this time, now the citizens, now the enemy, triumphed . . . . . till the year of the siege of Mount "Badon, from which the forty-fourth year is now revolving, as I know, the first month being already gone, the same "also being the year of my own nativity." (C. 2. p. 15.)

(4) See pp. 3, 4.

* Ricemarc (Anglia Sacra, 2. 630), who wrote before Caradoc, calls him Cau.

† Usher (Primordia, 174), seems to consider the work different from the "Excidium."

Digitized by Google

Gildas. he was contemporaneous with various British Princes, whose vices he enumerates and condemns (1); that he crossed the sea; and that, at the earnest request of his friends, after ten years entreaty, he composed his Epistle. (2)

§ 126. Various dates have been assigned to the siege of Mount Badon; but, according to the Annales Cambriæ, apparently the best of all existing authorities, it took place in A.D. 516 (3); consequently, in that year was Gildas born.

§ 127. It appears to have been generally allowed, from a passage in Gildas (4), supported by the authority of the Monk of Ruys, that Gildas wrote his Epistle in Armorica. It seems that he went abroad at least as early as A.D. 550, in the thirty-fourth year of his age; a computation which nearly agrees with the account given by the Monk of Ruys, who says that Gildas went to France in his thirtieth year. If he took ten years to consider and mature his History, it would bring the period of its composition to A.D. 560, which corresponds exactly with forty-four years after the siege of Mount Badon. If the Cambrian Annals, under A.D. 565, are to be understood as speaking of Gildas Badonicus, he must have sailed to Ireland in that year. (5) His death, according to the Cambrian Annals (6), as well as Tigernach, happened in A.D. 570.

§ 128. The Epistle of Gildas contains but very few incidents of historical interest, and those are involved in a multitude of words. The account which he gives of his materials in Chapter 2. prepares his reader to expect a very meagre narrative; and such is precisely the character of the work. It may be divided into two periods; the former extends from the first invasion of Britain by the Romans to the revolt of Maximus at the close of the fourth century, and the latter from the revolt of Maximus to the author's own time. In the earlier portion he exhibits but an indistinct acquaintance with the events which took place towards the conclusion of the Roman domination in Britain, and during the following century: his narrative is general, confused, and declamatory, and except in very few instances it cannot be traced to any known source. It is remarkable that when he comes to his own times he is, if possible, more obscure, and his facts less copious.

§ 129. As to his authorities, Gildas says that he wrote more from foreign relation than from written evidences pertaining to his own country. And the vague and meagre manner in which the Roman transactions in the island are hinted at, rather than described, perfectly coincides with his own acknowledgment; nevertheless, Ruffinus's version of the Ecclesiastical History of Eusebius, the Epistles of St. Jerome, and perhaps the Ecclesiastical History of Sulpicius Severus, may be traced in his pages. But for the second period his veracity must rest entirely on his own authority, as none of the contemporaneous Greek or Roman writers afford it any support, but the contrary; his statement relative to the abandonment of the Island by the Romans from the empire of Maximus, and the subsequent erection of the Roman walls, are wholly irreconcileable with their testimony. From the early part of the fifth century, however, when the Greek and Roman writers cease to notice the affairs of Britain, his narrative, on whatever authority it may have been founded, has been adopted without question by Beda and succeeding authors, and accepted, notwithstanding its barrenness of facts and pompous obscurity, by all but general consent, as the basis of early

---

(1) See p. 62.

(2) In his Preface he says, "I refrained from writing more than ten revolving years, owing to a want of information, which still obtains." And in the Second Chapter he continues this subject:—"But I will endeavour to bring "these matters forward, not so much from domestic as foreign relation, which, broken by repeated chasms, are not "sufficiently perspicuous;" from this it seems possible that he passed over to Britanny, where the present work is thought to have been written.

(3) See p. 830 c. It is not, however, to be concealed that Beda supposed that the forty-four years mentioned by Gildas were to be reckoned from A.D. 449, the date of the arrival of the Saxons in Britain; but Beda was undoubtedly betrayed into an error on that subject by the involved style of Gildas. It is now generally understood to identify the year of the writer's birth with that of the siege or battle of Mount Badon.

(4) "Quantum tamen potuero, non tam ex scripturis patriæ scriptorumve monimentis, quippe quæ, vel si qua "fuerint, aut ignibus hostium exusta, aut civium exsilii classe longius deportata non compareant, quam transmarina "relatione, quæ crebris irrupta intercapedinibus non satis claret." (p. 7 B.) Besides the importance of this passage towards substantiating what is advanced in the text, it upsets at once all claims made by any writers since the time of Gildas, of possessing more accurate and extensive information upon early British History.

(5) CXXI = 565, Navigatio Gildæ in Hybernia, p. 831 A.

(6) CXXVI = 570, Gildas obiit, p. 831 B.

Digitized by Google

Gildas.

English History. (1) It may be remarked that some parts of this treatise are wholly unintelligible, either from the corruption of manuscripts or the carelessness of the transcriber.

§ 130. The treatise De Excidio Britanniæ was first published in the year 1525 (2), by Polydore Vergil (3), who took his text from two manuscripts not now known to exist. He has neither mentioned the age of the manuscripts which he used, nor has he preserved any of their verbal or phraseological variations; but he acknowledges that he occasionally omitted, and sometimes transposed, portions of the text; and he might, with truth, have added, that he also substituted one term for another, whenever he thought the expression of his author obscure.

§ 131. In 1568, John Josseline, secretary to Archbishop Parker, gave a new edition of the text of Gildas (4), in which the avowed alterations and omissions of Polydore Vergil were corrected and supplied on the authority of two manuscripts; one of which appears to have been a Cottonian Manuscript, formerly marked Vitellius, A. VI., but described by him as being upwards of six hundred years old, and to have formerly belonged to Christ Church, Canterbury; and the second, now in the Public Library at Cambridge, marked D.d. 1. 17., which, as he informs his readers, was once the property of the abbey of Glastonbury, but when he wrote "was the sole property of a Kentish gentleman in the profession of the law." (5)

§ 132. Thomas Gale also published at Oxford, in A.D. 1691, a new edition of Gildas, in which he chiefly relied on a manuscript, likewise in the Public Library at Cambridge, marked F.f. 1. 27.; he also used the Cottonian Manuscript Vitellius, A. VI., which had previously been consulted by Josseline. This latter, the most ancient of all the manuscripts of Gildas which have been known, has unfortunately been destroyed; but, in Smith's catalogue, it is said to have been written in a character approaching the Saxon, from which it may be inferred that it was as old as the eleventh century.

§ 133. The only manuscripts of Gildas now remaining are, one in the Public Library at Cambridge, above referred to as D.d. 1. 17., in large folio, mutilated at the beginning (6), written on vellum, in double columns, of the fifteenth century. This manuscript, which is designated as B. in the various readings of this Work, exhibits frequent blunders of the scribe, and wants many passages, which have been supplied in the margins, apparently by Josseline.

§ 134. The second manuscript, which Mr. Petrie has called, in his notes, A., is also in the Public Library at Cambridge (F.f. 1. 27.), in medium folio, written on vellum, in double columns, about the latter end of the twelfth century. (7) When compared with Josseline's

---

(1) Gibbon (Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire) has more than once expressed great contempt for Gildas. He writes,—"A monk, who, in the profound ignorance of human life, has presumed to exercise the office of historian, "strangely disfigures the state of Britain at the time of its separation from the Roman Empire. Gildas describes in "florid language the improvements of agriculture, the foreign trade which flowed with every tide into the Thames and "Severn, the solid and lofty construction of public and private edifices. He accuses the sinful luxury of the British "people,—of a people, according to the same writer, ignorant of the most simple arts, and incapable, without the aid "of the Romans, of providing walls of stone, or weapons of iron, for defence of their native land."

(2) Opus Novum. Gildas Britannus monachus, cui Sapientis cognomentum est inditum, de Calamitate Excidio et Conquestu Britanniæ, quam Angliam nunc vocant, auctor vetustus a multis diu desideratus, et nuper in gratiam D. Cuthberti Tonstalli Londinensis Episcopi formulis excussus. Lond. 1525, 12mo.

(3) Leland, who has published copious extracts from Gildas (Coll. iv. 61.), either made use of Polydore's edition or a manuscript of the same family.

(4) Gildæ, cui cognomentum est Sapientis, de Excidio et Conquestu Britanniæ et flebili castigatione, reges, principes, et sacerdotes, epistola, vetustissimorum exemplariorum auxilio non solum a mendis plurimis vindicata, sed etiam accessione eorum, quæ in prima editione a Polydoro Vergilio resecta erant, multipliciter aucta. Londini, 1568, 8vo.

(5) In his address to Archbishop Parker, Josseline writes,—"Incidi nuper, humanissime domine, tua quidam "auctoritate usus, in duos veteres codices Gildæ Britonis, quorum alter literarum notis valde peregrinis et ab usu "nostro jamdiu alienis, quippe amplius sexcentis hinc annis scriptus, ad bibliothecam Augustinensem Cantuariæ olim "pertinuit; alter quidem multo recentior et scriptura non æque diligenti, qui tamen minimum ab illo altero "discrepat, fuit olim Glastoniensis cœnobii, at jam est cujusdam generosi jurisperiti Cantiani solus et proprius."

(6) The whole of the Preface, and a small portion of the beginning of the work, are wanting.

(7) The Rev. J. Stevenson, in his edition of Gildas, published for the English Historical Society in 1838, states that this manuscript (F. f. 1. 27.) apparently once belonged to Durham, even if it were not transcribed in that monastery. It seems necessary to state here, that, besides the editions of Polydore Vergil, Josseline, Gale, and Stevenson, which were printed in England, others have appeared on the Continent, viz. in the years 1541, 1568, 1569, 1576, 1587, and 1677 respectively, besides that of Bertram from the Copenhagen press in 1757. See pp. 5, 8. ante.

Digitized by Google

Gildas. edition, the following variations will be observed:—the prologue is much shorter; there are a set of rubrics, slightly dissimilar, prefixed in a body to the text, and adapted to a division of chapters different from that adopted by the scribe; a long rubric by way of summary or title; many various readings, of which some are merely glosses which have slid into the text, while others are the result of carelessness in the scribe; many brief glosses or notes, mostly interlinear, but sometimes marginal. It ends with Chapter 26; adding, out of place, the titles of some of the preceding chapters, agreeing entirely with those of Josseline. These are followed by two verses, from which it would appear that this manuscript was derived from a copy written either by an anonymous scribe, or by one Cormac, who not only abbreviated the prologue, which has already been noticed, but also cut off whatever followed the Twenty-sixth Chapter; and instead of "Epistola" substituted "Historia" for the title of his performance, thereby inducing Gale to divide the work of Gildas (which was evidently originally written consecutively) into two portions, which he entitled respectively the History and the Epistle of Gildas.

§ 135. Gale selected this manuscript for the basis of his edition, because he thought it was free from the gross errors and interpolations which deformed that of Josceline; whereas it is clear to a demonstration, that it exhibits the text of Gildas not only in a depraved but in a truncated form. If, at any future time, a copy of the older Cottonian Manuscript which was destroyed by the fire of 1731 should be found, it will undoubtedly appear that the text of Josceline is the only correct one which had hitherto appeared, and that Gale had taken a liberty, not unusual with him, of arbitrarily changing, and without notice, and sometimes without the appearance of necessity, such words as he supposed to be corrupt; thus Josseline's text, which he states, and apparently with truth, to have been prepared with the utmost exactness, will be restored to the place it has unduly lost. Such was Mr. Petrie's deliberate conclusion; yet, however strong his opinions were on the subject, as he could not demonstrate that Gale had no manuscript authority for the several changes which he had made in Josseline's text, he thought himself under the necessity of adopting the text of Gale, subject to such corrections as were to be obtained from the Cambridge manuscripts. He also collated Gale's text with Josseline's edition; and occasionally, though it is of very slender authority, with that of Polydore Vergil. The two manuscripts above referred to in the Public Library at Cambridge have also been collated; and whatever variations they severally exhibit, which are not merely blunders of the scribes, have been retained among the various readings, under the designations of A. and B.; and even such readings as would have been rejected if the sense had been clear, have not been neglected when the text was obscure.

NENNIUS.

Nennius. § 136. Of the author of the Historia Britonum nothing is known. The work at various periods has been indifferently ascribed to Nennius, Gildas, Mark the Anchorite, and to an anonymous writer; but as the composition, for some centuries past, has been generally attributed to Nennius, it was thought advisable to associate his name with it in this edition of the work.

§ 137. The title of Nennius to the authorship rests on the authority of two prologues prefixed to some copies of the work (1), and of some verses inserted in one copy. Without stopping to inquire who Nennius was (2), it will be necessary to consider what reliance is to be placed on these prologues and verses.

---

(1) The only ancient copy which contains both prologues is in the Public Library at Cambridge (F.f. 1. 27. 2.), a manuscript written on vellum, towards the end of the twelfth or the beginning of the thirteenth century. It has been adopted by Mr. Petrie for the text of this Edition. There is also a modern copy of this Cambridge Manuscript, belonging to the University of Glasgow, written in the seventeenth century, which also contains both prologues.

(2) From a few notices respecting Nennius, the reputed author, which occur in the prologues and verses, and also from some glosses found in the body of the work, it appears that he was the disciple of Elbod; that he compiled his History by order of his superiors (seniorum jussu), and completed it in the year 858; that he was subject to a priest called Beulan, whom he styles Master, and to whom he inscribed a copy of his compilation; that he addressed certain verses to Samuel, the son of Beulan, for whose information he glossed his work; and that he belonged to some community either of regular or secular clergy.

Digitized by Google

Nennius.

§ 138. There are still extant about thirty manuscript copies of the Historia Britonum, in five of which, written between the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries, there is a short prologue assigning the work to Nennius the disciple of St. Elbod (1); and in one manuscript, written in the close of the twelfth or beginning of the thirteenth century, there is, in addition to this prologue, another and a longer one, also assigning it to Nennius the disciple of Elbod, and which further states that he finished his work in A.D. 858. Though both of these prologues contain matter to the same effect, yet on the most cursory view it is apparent that they were not both written by the same person, and that neither of them is the composition of the author of the work itself. There is also an anachronism in the date of the longer prologue, which proves, beyond a possibility of doubt, that it was not written at the time it professes to have been; for the year 858 is called the twenty-fourth of Mervin (2),—an error into which no author at that time could have fallen, as he must have known that Rodri, and not Mervin, was the reigning sovereign at that time.

§ 139. It may further be remarked that the manuscript containing the two prologues is the only one in which the verses mentioned above are found; it also contains one or two passages (3) identifying the writer with the disciple of a priest called Beulan, the father of Samuel, to whom the verses in question are addressed. (4) The verses and the passages relating to Beulan are clearly interpolations or additions by some scribe, who seems to have glossed the Historia Britonum for Samuel's information. It may be therefore inferred that the writer could not have been the author of either of the prologues, for in them Nennius is called the disciple of Elbod, and in the gloss the author is identified as the disciple or pupil of Beulan.

§ 140. Besides these facts, it must be remembered that whenever the Historia Britonum is cited by any of the earlier English Historians it is never attributed to Nennius, but, on the contrary, to Gildas; for instance, William of Malmesbury, who wrote his Gesta Regum before the year 1125, cites the Historia Britonum thus,—"ut in gestis Britonum legitur;" and afterwards he states that the Britons were indebted to Gildas, an historian neither inelegant nor unlearned, for whatever notice they obtain among other nations. It is therefore clear that, had Malmesbury known that Nennius was the author of the work in question, he would have attributed it to him, and not to Gildas. Henry of Huntingdon and Geoffrey of Monmouth also cite the work as Gildas's, and make no allusion whatever to Nennius; Giraldus Cambrensis also evidently considered Gildas to have been the author of it; and their opinions ought to be of some weight; for Nennius being a Welsh name, they would not have been likely to have suppressed it, as those authors were particularly interested about every thing connected with that Principality. Geoffrey of Gaimar, who composed his Poem about the middle of the twelfth century, also probably alluded to the Historia Britonum when he writes "Ke Gilde diste en la Geste." It is therefore not unfair to assume that these authors must have seen copies of the Historia Britonum, earlier than any at present extant, ascribing it to Gildas, or that it was the current opinion at that time that Gildas was the author; and that neither of the prologues in question were then known.

§ 141. It should also be stated that the most ancient manuscript of the Historia Britonum (Harl. 3359) does not ascribe it to any author in particular; and that one in the Vatican Library, little inferior in antiquity to the Harleian Manuscript, ascribes it to Mark

---

(1) Præf. p. 47 B. Elbod is apparently the same person who, in the Annales Cambriæ, an. 768, is said to have caused the Roman mode of keeping Easter to be observed in Wales, and who was Bishop of Venedotia at the time of his death in the year 809. (Annales Cambriæ, p. 834 c.)

(2) Egimus itaque hæc, nostris infirmioribus subveniendo, octingentesimo quinquagesimo octavo anno Dominicæ Incarnationis, vigesimo vero quarto Mervini Regis Britonum (Præf. p. 48 B). By this A.D. 858 is made coincident with the twenty-fourth year of Mervin King of Britain, a statement apparently quite at variance with other dates in the body of the work. The year A.D. 858 answers to the twentieth year of the reign of Rodri.

(3) These passages are evidently glosses which some scribe has inserted in the text by mistake.

(4) In the rubric prefixed to the verses above mentioned, Samuel, to whom they are addressed, is called "filius magistri sui Beulani presbyteri, ad quem historiam suam scripserat;" and in the marginal glosses in manuscripts L. and M. cap. 3, "Samuel infans magistri mei Beulani," is again mentioned; and in Chapter 65 he writes, "sed cum "inutiles magistro meo, id est, Beulano presbytero, visæ sunt genealogiæ Saxonum, et aliarum gentium, nolui eas "scribere."

Digitized by Google

Nennius.

the Anchorite; that several manuscripts of the twelfth century assign it to Gildas; consequently the claim of Nennius to the authorship is by no means established.

§ 142. The claims of Gildas to the authorship appear to rest on better, though still untenable, ground. In the "Capitula" to his History, which occur in one manuscript only, and which were written long after the time of Gildas, he is made to promise a larger work; and the scribe adds, "quem et postea facit." At the end of the History the promise is repeated much more fully; and the scribe further adds, that the work was written, but destroyed by the British Kings, whose conduct it severely censured.

§ 143. The ascription of the Historia Britonum to Gildas was probably occasioned by the tradition that he had composed such a work, and early scribes, seeing an anonymous History similar to that which he is said to have promised, attributed the composition to him.(1) The style, however, of the two works clearly denotes different authors; and the period to which the Historia Britonum comes down (if the genealogies(2) of the Saxon Kings are to be considered part of the original work) is long after the death of Gildas. But on this subject it should be remarked that there is good ground for believing that all the matter in the Historia Britonum, later than the accounts of the exploits of Arthur, is subsequent interpolation.

§ 144. It now remains to consider the claim of Mark the Anchorite to the authorship of the Historia Britonum. It rests on the authority of a single manuscript in the Vatican Library, apparently of the tenth century, containing a treatise in which these words occur: "Incipit "Istoria Brittonum, edita ab Anachoreta Marco ejusdem gentis Episcopo." The ascription to him may have arisen thus: some scribe finding in an anonymous compilation (the Historia Britonum) a tale similar to that which is told by Heric in his Life of St. Germanus, on the authority of Mark the Anchorite, assumed that the whole of the Historia Britonum was the work of Mark, and prefixed a corresponding title to it, which at length found its way into the Vatican Manuscript. His claim to the authorship of the Historia Britonum has been disputed, because the date of 976, mentioned in the work, is irreconcileable with the statement of Heric(3), that Mark was an old man in the year 876(4); but as the date 976 clearly refers to the year when the manuscript was written, and not the year when the work was composed, the objection to Mark being the author must rest on other ground. The date in question differs in each of the six classes into which the manuscripts of the Historia Britonum are divided; it ranges between A.D. 831 and A.D. 976.(5) Mark's title to the authorship, therefore, is only better than that of Nennius, by being earlier; but with such imperfect and scanty evidence, it is impossible to arrive at any other conclusion than that the work in question is the production of an anonymous author who is yet to be identified.

§ 145. In the preface it is stated (6) that the author collected his materials from the tradition of his elders; from the monuments of the ancient inhabitants of Britain; from the Chronicles of Isidore, Jerome, Prosper, and Eusebius, as well as from the Histories of the Scots and Saxons. (7) Notwithstanding this distinct statement of his authorities, the confused and disjointed manner in which passages, apparently derived from known authors, are mixed

(1) The copies of the Historia Britonum which are attributed to Gildas are designated C. G. H. I. K. L. M. N. O. P. Q. R. S. T. U. V. and W.

(2) The genealogies, which are not found in several ancient manuscripts, alone exhibit dates later than the time of Gildas. The computation of the number of years said to have elapsed since the nativity and preaching of Jesus Christ to the time when the manuscript was written varies in each class of manuscripts from A.D. 831 to A.D. 976; the date therefore evidently refers to the year in which the copy of the manuscript was made, and not to the time when the work was composed. It may be generally remarked that the variations in the different manuscript copies of the Historia Britonum are of such a nature as to prove that the work does not exist as it was originally written.

(3) Heric relates the story in question from the dictation of Mark, who is described as being an "old man." Now as Heric published his work in the year 876, and Mark was then an old man, it is beyond the bounds of credibility to suppose that he was alive in the year 976, the year to which he refers in connexion with King Edmund.

(4) "Fertur unum famosum inter cetera, cujus ad nos notitia per sanctum senem Marcum, ejusdem gentis "episcopum decucurrit," &c.

(5) Mark, by birth a Briton, was educated in Ireland, and after a long exercise of his episcopal functions retired to France, during the reign of Charles the Bold, about the year 870, and became an Anchorite at St. Medard's at Soisson.

(6) Partim majorum traditionibus, partim scriptis, partim etiam monimentis veterum Britanniæ incolarum, partim et de annalibus Romanorum, insuper et de Chronicis Sanctorum patrum, Ysidori scilicet Jeronimi, Prosperi, Eusebii necnon et de historiis Scottorum Saxonumque, p. 47.

(7) By the Histories of the Saxons, the genealogies above mentioned were probably intended.

Digitized by Google

Nennius.

with a much larger portion of matter of uncertain origin, renders it extremely difficult to recognize and appropriate them. Portions of Chapters I. III. IX. XII. XIV. XVI. XVII. XIX. XX. XXIII. seem to have been extracted from Jerome's version of the Chronicle of Eusebius; parts of Chapters II. XIV. XXVII. XXXIII. XXXV. XXXVI. XXXVII. resemble Gildas, or perhaps occasionally Beda; and Chapter XXVI. is derived from Prosper's Chronicle. In Chapter XLIX. the "Liber S. Germani" is quoted; but what there occurs,—except the story of the Calf, differing, but not materially, from that related by Heric (1),—contains nothing in common with any known Life of that Saint. This is followed by a legend of St. Patric, in some of its incidents resembling that attributed to Probus, but in others differing both from it, and from every other account of St. Patric now known to be extant. The compiler of the Historia Britonum seems to have intended to avail himself of the Chronology of Eusebius; and the pretended synchronisms in Chapters V. and IX., and the uncertain periods assigned to some events in Chapters VI. and X., appear to be adaptations derived from that work. But whether it arises from the compiler using materials already depraved, or from his confusing dates as well as incidents derived from different sources, without possessing the skill to make them consistent with each other, or from the negligence of successive transcribers, the materials are now generally so confused and contradictory that it has seldom been found practicable to reconcile them. Some notion of their discrepancies may be formed by observing that the years assigned for the Nativity in Chapters I. XV. XXVI. LVIII. agree neither with Eusebius, nor with Isidore, nor with each other. This has led to the supposition, that such parts are necessarily interpolations. And possibly some of them, if not interpolations, are at least glosses which have found their way from the margin into the text. (2) In support of this view, it must be recollected that not only each of the prologues, but the First Chapter also, is omitted in several copies, and that in the few ancient manuscripts in which the second prologue or apologia only occurs, it is inserted by a different hand.

§ 146. The Historia Britonum was first printed by Gale, in the year 1691, among the Quindecim Scriptores, from a manuscript in the Public Library at Cambridge (F. f. 1. 27.), compared with other copies in the Cottonian collection. Gale omitted certain parts of the compilation as it stands in that manuscript, but added, by way of Appendix, some various readings, and a few notes.

§ 147. The Manuscripts which have been examined for the present edition amount to twenty-six; they are designated by the letters from A. to A A., and may be divided into six Classes.

Class I. A.—The Manuscript F. f. 1. 27. in the Public Library at Cambridge, in medium folio, written on vellum, about the end of the twelfth century, in double columns. It contains,—1. Præfatio (3); 2. Apologia (4); 3. Capitula (5); 4. De malis et perversis naturis hominum (6); 5. Versus Nennii ad Samulem (6); 6. Versus ejusdem Nennii (6); 7. Nota quædam chronologicæ (7); 8. Historia Britonum (8); 9. Civitates Britanniæ (9); 10. De Mirabilibus Britanniæ. (3)

This Manuscript has exclusively many passages in the text which are found in a few others in the margin, but are wholly wanting in the far greater number of copies; it also contains the prologue, and the "Apologia" or abbreviated prologue (10), the capitula (11), the mention of Anaraut (12), &c. The apparent glosses discoverable in

---

(1) p. 63, De Miraculis S. Germani.

(2) It has indeed been supposed that the interpolater was detected in the person of one Samuel; but the passage in the manuscripts L. and M. in Chapter III., "sic inveni ut tibi Samuel, id est, infans magistri mei, id est, Beulani presbyteri," is clearly a gloss by the compiler or scribe for the information of Samuel, if the title of the verses which have been more than once referred to be admitted as evidence of their connexion.

(3) p. 47. (4) p. 48. (5) pp. 48–52.
(6) p. 81. (7) p. 53. (8) pp. 53–80.
(9) p. 77. (10) p. 48. (11) pp. 48–52.

(12) p. 53 B. Anaraut or Anarod was the eldest son of Rodri the Great, and grandson of Mervyn who was slain in battle by the King of Mercia in the year 838. The thirtieth year of Anarod, which occurs in the text, must mean the thirtieth year of his age, which would answer to about the year 858, and not the thirtieth year of his reign, which would agree with the year 902; but see note c, p. 53.

Digitized by Google

Nennius.

the text of this Manuscript seem to indicate that it was formed from at least two different copies, if not interpolated from other sources. It is difficult to understand why Dr. Gale, and after him Mr. Petrie, should have selected for their text this Manuscript, which is not the most ancient, and apparently exhibits proofs of having been copied from an interpolated Manuscript; for it would seem that as certain passages which occur in this Manuscript are not to be found in others, and in some are placed in the margin, therefore the passages in question have been added to the original text. Mr. Petrie has unfortunately left no memorandum explanatory of his preference for this Manuscript, nor for his classification generally of the twenty-six Manuscripts which he had consulted; but the present Editor, however, knows, from various conversations which he has happily had with Mr. Petrie, that he considered the Manuscript in question the most authentic, notwithstanding the objections which have been urged against it. He argued, that as not only the prologues, but also the first chapter, are omitted in several copies, and that in the few ancient manuscripts in which even the second prologue occurs it is an insertion by a different hand, it would seem hardly warrantable to assume that whatever is wanting in other copies formed no part of the original compilation. He used also to remark that much of the disposition to repudiate certain portions found in this Manuscript has arisen from their apparent absurdity; but, if that mode of determining the genuineness of a copy should be adopted, that the rejection might here be carried to a much greater extent.

Class II. B.—A Manuscript in the Library of Corpus Christi, Cambridge, (CXXXIX. 22. 3.), in medium folio, written on vellum, in double columns, towards the close of the twelfth or beginning of the thirteenth century. Compared with Manuscript A. it contains Nos. 2. 5. and 6. added in a different hand; 7. and 8. ending with Cap. lxv. 9. and 10. In the margins, or interlined, are many of the variations or additions found in the text of the Manuscript in the Public Library at Cambridge. In its original form, before the marginal and interlineal passages were added, this Manuscript resembled the Cottonian Manuscript, Nero, D. VIII. 2. described below (G).

C.—A Manuscript in the Library of the Dean and Chapter of Durham, (B. II. 35, 6.) in large folio, written on vellum, in double columns, towards the end of the twelfth century. Compared with Manuscript A. No. 2. added; 7. 8. ending as Manuscript B. with Cap. lxv. 9. and 10. In the margins are inserted many of the peculiarities of Manuscript A.

D.—The Royal Manuscript, 13 B. VII., on paper, written in the sixteenth century. This resembles the Corpus Christi Manuscript, CXXXIX., inserting, however, in the text, the marginal and interlineary additions of that copy, and omitting No. 5. of Manuscript A.

E.—A Manuscript in the Library of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, c. 1., in folio, written on paper, in the sixteenth century. It resembles the Manuscript in the Public Library at Cambridge, omitting, however, the two prologues, the capitula, the two sets of verses "De malis et perversis," &c.

F.—A Manuscript in the College of St. John the Baptist, Oxford, 99. 3., written on vellum, at the beginning of the thirteenth century. It resembles the Manuscript in Corpus Christi College Library, but is without marginal or other additions, except the apologia, which appears to have been added after the Manuscript was written. It ends, mutilated, at Chapter XXXVIII.

Digitized by Google

Class III. G.—The Cottonian Manuscript, Nero, D. VIII. 2., written on vellum, in folio, in double columns, about the beginning of the thirteenth century. It is like the Corpus Christi Manuscript, with its additions.

H.—The Cottonian Manuscript, Caligula, A. VIII., in quarto, written on vellum, in the twelfth century.

I.—The Cottonian Manuscript, Julius, D. v. 1., written on vellum, in small octavo, in the fourteenth century.

K.—A Manuscript in the Bodleian Library, Oxford, 16. 3. 3., written on vellum, in octavo.

L.—A Manuscript in the Public Library at Cambridge, M. m. 1. 29., on vellum, in small folio, of the twelfth century.

M.—A Manuscript in the Public Library at Cambridge, I. i. VI. 11., on vellum, in small folio, of the thirteenth century.

N.—A Manuscript in the Bibliotheque du Roi at Paris (6274. 1.), written on vellum, in quarto, in the twelfth century.

O.—A Manuscript in Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, CCCLXIII., on vellum, in small quarto, of the fifteenth century.

P.—A Manuscript in the Bibliotheque du Roi at Paris (5232. 2.), on vellum, in folio, written in double columns, in the thirteenth century.

Q.—A Manuscript in the Bibliotheque du Roi at Paris (S. Victor. 567.), written on vellum, towards the close of the twelfth century.

R.—A Manuscript in the Public Library at Rouen (123), on vellum, of the thirteenth century.

These (from H. to R. inclusive), with the following variations, all resemble the Cottonian Manuscript, Nero, D. VIII.

H. has the "Mirabilia" mutilated, and slightly abridged; it has in the margin most of the marginal variations of the Corpus Christi Manuscript, CXXXIX., inserted apparently by Bale in the margins, whence they were printed by Gale.

K. has a few verbal variations like the Durham Manuscript (B. II. 35. 6.), and some interlineary glosses.

M. ends at Chapter LIX., and has inserted in Chapters II. and III. four passages from Henry of Huntingdon. ([1])

N. has additions in Chapters III. and XXXVIII.

P. wants the end of Chapter I., and the beginning of Chapter II., and the latter part of the "Mirabilia."

Q. has an addition in Chapter I.

R. has an addition in Chapter III.

Class IV. S.—The Royal Manuscript, 13 D. v. 2., in folio, written on vellum, in double columns, in the thirteenth century. It is like the Cottonian Manuscript, Nero, D. VIII., with the addition of "Britanniæ Descriptio" from Henry of Huntingdon.([2])

T.—Manuscript Conybere, formerly Dering, on vellum, small quarto, of the fourteenth century.

U.—The Royal Manuscript, 13 B. XV., on paper, in quarto, of the sixteenth century.

V.—A Manuscript in the Public Library at Cambridge, F. f. 1. 27. 3., on vellum, in medium folio, written in double columns, in the thirteenth century.

W.—Manuscript, Norfolk, 30, in the College of Arms, on vellum, in quarto, of the beginning of the fourteenth century.

These, from S. to V., resemble the Royal Manuscript, 13 D. v., with the following variation:—The Manuscript in the Public Library at Cambridge, F. f. 1. 27. 3., adds, partly in the text, and partly in the margins, most of the unusual variations found in the work attributed to Marcus Anachoreta; as does also Manuscript, Norfolk, 30., partly interlined and partly marginal.

([1]) p. 694.

([2]) p. 691.

Digitized by Google

Nennius.

Class V. X.—The Harleian Manuscript 3859, on vellum, in large octavo, of the tenth century. This copy, which has neither rubrics nor titles of any kind, contains,—1. Historia Britonum (1), Chapters I. LXV.; 2. Genealogiæ Regum Saxonum; 3. Notæ Chronologicæ (2); 4. Annales Cambriæ, ab A.D. circiter 444 ad usque annum 953 (3); 5. Genealogiæ Regis Hoeli Dha et Helenæ uxoris ejus; 6. Civitates Britanniæ; 7. Mirabilia Britanniæ. This is the most ancient copy which has yet occurred; but the Historia is often slightly compressed, either by omission, substitution, or transposition. The Genealogiæ Regum Saxonum is apparently the genealogy from which Chapter LXVI. of the Manuscript in the Public Library at Cambridge (F. f. 1. 27.) was abridged.(4) The Annales Cambriæ are printed at p. 830 of this Volume, and the Genealogiæ Regis Hoeli Dha will be given elsewhere.

Class VI. Y.—The Cottonian Manuscript, Vespasian, D. XXI. 1., on vellum, in small quarto, of the twelfth century.

Z.—The Cottonian Manuscript, Vespasian, B. XXV. 7., on vellum, in medium quarto, of the twelfth century.

AA.—The Cottonian Manuscript, Vitellius, XIII. 11., on vellum, in small quarto, of the thirteenth century.

These Manuscripts, composing Class VI., have scarcely any variation from the Harleian Manuscript 3859, except that they begin with Chapter II., and omit the Annales Cambriæ and the Genealogiæ Regis Hoeli Dha. It may be added that the manuscripts described above as C. G. H. I. K. L. M. N. O. P. Q. R. S. T. U. V. W. are attributed to Gildas. (See p. 64, and note (1) there.)

§ 148. It has already been mentioned that the Manuscript in the Public Library at Cambridge (F. f. 1. 27.), here marked as A., has been selected for the text of this Work on account of its fullness. It is given entire, and has been collated throughout with the copies here marked C. N. T. U. X. and Y., and with the greater portion of Z. and AA.; and all variations, not merely verbal, affecting the sense, have been retained in the margin. The remaining copies have been carefully examined, and whatever new matter they contained has been, in like manner, preserved.

§ 149. The Historia Britonum ascribed to Mark differs from that attributed to Nennius. It omits, transposes, and changes the form of expression, in a greater or less degree; it adds a few passages, which are also, for the most part, to be found either in the text or in the margins of the Manuscripts in the Bibliotheque du Roi, 6274, the Cambridge copy, F. f. 1. 27. 3., and the Norfolk, 30, in the College of Arms. It begins with Chapter I. as printed in this edition, slightly enlarges and transposes the list of Cities from the end of Chapter LXVI. to Chapter II., places Chapters LXII. and LXIV. between Chapters LIV. and LV., and thus ends with Chapter LXII. of this edition. It was published in the year 1819, with an English translation by the Rev. Mr. Gunn. Such variations of Mr. Gunn's text as are not merely verbal will be found among the various readings marked BB. (5)

---

(1) p. 74 B. (2) p. 76 A. (3) p. 830.

(4) See remarks on Manuscript A., pp. 65, 66.

(5) In 1834 the Record Commission directed that researches should be made at Rome to ascertain what manuscripts relative to English affairs are preserved in the libraries of that city. The individual by whom these investigations were conducted, not being aware that the work of Mark the Hermit had been published already, transcribed it. His copy furnishes some variations from that supplied by Gunn's edition, the more important of which here follow.

		Gunn's edition.	Record transcript.
45	16	annus Eadmundi	annus imperii Eadmundi
46	21	guoranegon	guorancgon
	22	merdin	merduin
	24	caratauc	carastauc
47	4	pensauelcoin	pensa Velcoin
	8	Brittanniæ insulæ	om. insulæ
48	8	taliæ—Iuahi	Italiæ—Iuachi
	16	sanctimonialis reae, id est iliae, scilicet	sanctimonialis filie reae suut
49	3	filii—filii—filii—	filius—filius—filius
	11	suum. Ut	suum ut
	17	amabilis	amabalisque
	24	superabat	imperabat
50	10	VIIII.	VIII.
	21	et manent ibi tertiam partem Bryttanniæ	om.
	29	remaneret	permaneret
51	1	cujusdam qui	cujusdam agnominis qui

Digitized by Google

BEDA.

§ 150. Of Beda, surnamed the Venerable (1), there are extant two memoirs (2), written apparently in the eleventh century; but as they add very little to the brief notices relating to himself which may be found at the conclusion of his Ecclesiastical History (3), they may be dismissed for the present without further comment. From the notices before alluded to it appears that Beda was born in the territory of the united monasteries of St. Peter and St. Paul, at Wearmouth and Jarrow, probably A.D. 672 (4); that in his seventh year he was placed in the former of these monasteries, where he was successively under the care of Abbot Benedict and of Ceolfrid, with whom he probably removed to Jarrow on its first foundation, and there he was constantly occupied in studying the Holy Scriptures, in performing his regular religious duties, and in daily chanting the service of the Church (5), a great portion of his time being devoted to study, teaching, and composition (6); that in the year 691, when he was nineteen years of age, he was ordained deacon; and in the year 702, in the thirtieth year of his age, was admitted to the priesthood, between which time and the year 731, before he had completed the fifty-ninth year of his age, and when these Notices were written, he composed the principal part of his works. To this summary is to be subjoined that Beda died on the Eve of Ascension Day, the 26th May, (that is, the Wednesday in Rogation week,) A.D. 735, in the sixty-third year of his age (7), and was buried at Jarrow, whence his remains were afterwards removed to Durham. (8)

		Gunn's edition.	Record transcript.
51	7	ceola	coeola
	14	omnis	omnibus
52	19	aras	oras (?)
55	4	Flisa	Elisæ
	5	Flisa	Elisa
	13	dominum	dominium
57	17	XXXII.	XXXV.
59	4	novam	novem
	12	VIII.	VIIII^{em}
60	26	CCCC.XLIII.	CCCC.XLVIII.
61	15	gemania	germania
	17	henegest	heuegest
	18	ginctglis	guictglis
62	5	CCCC.XLVII.	CCC.XLVII. (sic)
	8	anni—DXLII.	annum—DCXLII (sic)
	10	DXLVII.	DCXLVII. (sic)
	22	omnibus	comitibus
63	11	sequenti autem	sequentis vero
	13	ejus	vivus
	27	præfactus	præfectus
65	6	morati	metali
	17	nobus—nobis	nobis—vobis
66	7	propinare	proponere
	15	ochgul (vel tingle)	ochgul (vel angle)
	22	impruidenter	impudenter
	30	filium	ad filiam
67	3	guaul	guaal
	10	insulas aliquas vere-rant	insulas ad quas venerant
	20, 21	consilis. Rex	consilio rex
68	6	infantula	infantulo
	10	ad	ab
	13	se	te
	16	invente	vivente
	19	idem	iisdem
	32	qui	quia
69	1	erigeret	erigerent
	2	materiæ	materia
	10	militiæ	miliciæ
70	8	interfetiaris	interficieris
	23	ostandent	ostendant
71	6	res pondere	respondere
72	12	unde	vade
	29	harsum	horsum
74	21	formari	firmari
	25	discordium	discordiam
75	3	exuis	ex suis
	9	nos—nimader	vos—nimad
	26	nimader	nimad
76	4	etast—suder	aeast—sud
77	10	accusantibus	accurrentibus
79	6	lusas	bassas
	8	cacoit celidan	catcoit celidon
80	15	CCCC.XLVII.	CCC.XLVII. (sic)
	16	DXLVII.	DCXLVII. (sic)
	23	dominas	dominus
81	23	mauum—iseruinus	mauun—seruinus
82	20	CCCLXII.	CCCLXV.
83	1	cruachangli	cruachanæli

(1) The epithet of "Venerable" appears to have been first applied to Beda in the ninth century. Boniface, the apostle of Germany, Beda's contemporary, calls him the Candle sent by God for the spiritual illumination of the Church.

(2) Vita Venerabilis Bedæ presbyteri et Giruensis monachi. Vita Bedæ, auctore anonymo pervetusto incertæ ætatis, ap. Mabillon. Acta Benedict. sæc. 3. p. 1.

(3) Lib. 5. cap. XXIV. p. 286.

(4) Some authorities state that Beda was born in the year 673, and others in the year 674, which latter date Mr. Stevenson, following the reasoning of Pagi, has adopted.

(5) p. 286. "Atque inter observantiam disciplinæ regularis et quotidianam cantandi in ecclesiâ curam, semper "aut discere, aut docere, aut scribere, dulce habui." H. E. v. 24.

(6) Excepting Trumberht, Beda has not mentioned the name of any of his instructors. Page 213. H. E. IV. 3.

(7) A very affecting account of the death of this remarkable man is to be found in Malmesbury's Gesta Regum Angliæ, 661, and in Cuthbert's Letter to Cuthwine, which has been frequently printed.

(8) The bones of Beda were stolen away from Jarrow between the years 1021 and 1041, and deposited in the cathedral at Durham, by a Presbyter named Ælfred, the son of Westou.

Digitized by Google

Beda.

§ 151. In the Chapter of his Ecclesiastical History already referred to, Beda has enumerated his varied and numerous works, to which are to be added some few others (1), composed at a later period of his life. His industry, his multifarious learning, and the character of his works, are too well known to require notice in this place; but such of his writings as are historical will be described, as they form part of the Collection of Materials for the History of Britain. Of these his Chronicon de Sex Ætatibus Sæculi occurs first.

§ 152. Beda composed a work entitled De Temporibus, A.D. 703, and another called De Ratione Temporum, A.D. 725. To each of these he appended a Chronicle, extending from the Creation of the World to his own time, entitled De Sex Ætatibus Seculi. The former was first printed at Basle in the year 1529, together with his work De Natura Rerum; the latter, which forms the Second Part of his treatise De Ratione Temporum, was first published separately at Padua, in quarto, in the year 1505. The first-mentioned Chronicle is very brief, and is almost wholly taken from the Thirty-ninth Chapter of the Fifth Book of Isidore's Origines; the next, which is much more ample, is borrowed principally from the Chronicle of Eusebius. The former does not contain any passages used in this Collection; the latter, throughout the Sexta Ætas, contains various extracts from Eutropius, Orosius, and Gildas, relating to Britain. These are likewise to be found in his Historia Ecclesiastica; but since they are variously placed as to chronology in the several works, it has been thought right to insert the Sexta Ætas also in this Collection, omitting the preceding Ages as foreign to its object. This portion, taken from Smith's edition, has been collated with two manuscripts belonging to Sir Thomas Phillipps, Bart., marked No. 60. and No. 61, on vellum, in large quarto, apparently written at the end of the tenth or the beginning of the eleventh century; and the few variations therein occurring which seemed of the slightest importance have been inserted in the margin. These manuscripts are respectively designated by the letters A. and B.

§ 153. Beda's Ecclesiastical History (2) of the Angles claims the next notice. It comprehends the period between Cæsar's Invasion of Britain and the year 731. The Prologue, in which he states his principal authorities whence he derived the knowledge of such events as he had not himself witnessed, is dedicated to Ceolwolf King of Northumbria. The portion preceding the arrival of Saint Augustine, A.D. 597, is brief, and is principally derived from Orosius, Gildas, and the Life of Saint German, by Constantius Lugdunensis. (Lib. I. cc. xvii–xxii. (3) The remainder, certainly the most interesting portion of his History, embraces a period of rather more than one hundred and thirty years. The conversion of the several states of the Heptarchy to Christianity, as well as the succeeding transactions, chiefly, however, of an ecclesiastical character, to the time when the work concludes, are fully described.

§ 154. Beda's authorities for his statements during this latter portion of his work were derived from written documents and verbal information. He appears to have used the Life of Gregory the Great (Lib. II. c. i.) (4), the Legends of Cuthbert of Lindisfarn (Lib. IV. c. xxviii.) (5), of Ethelburga abbess of Barking (Lib. IV. cc. vii–ix.) (6), and of Furseus

---

(1) Carmen de Divino Judicio ad Accam: Epistola de Sexta Mundi Ætate ad Plegwinum: Epistolæ ad Ecgbertum Antistitem.

(2) Though Beda has entitled his History Ecclesiastical, it is in fact a Regal, and perhaps the only authentic, history of the period it embraces. His motive in calling it an Ecclesiastical rather than a Regal history might have been to divert the reigning monarchs from all desire to know its contents, as the title promised nothing that reflected on themselves; for there is no doubt that at that period, and for some ages afterwards, a fear of exciting the displeasure of the ruling powers was prevalent among authors. Gregory of Tours had previously styled his work "Historia Ecclesiastica," yet he states, at the commencement of the second book, that he intended to narrate fully civil events as much as ecclesiastical. Ordericus Vitalis may also be mentioned as having employed a similar title to his work.

(3) At p. 122 et seq. many various readings are given from Constantius.

(4) It does not appear who was the author of the Life of Gregory the Great which was consulted by Beda; but a great portion of the narrative, as given by Beda, is to be found also in the Life written by Paulus Diaconus. (Acta Sanctorum, Mart. vol. ii. p. 13.)

(5) This Legend was written by a Monk of Lindisfarn, apparently between A.D. 698 and A.D. 705. Beda seems to have incorporated almost the whole into his Life of Cuthbert, without any acknowledgment, unless he refers to it in his Preface to his Ecclesiastical History, where he says that his matter, both in that work and in the Life of Cuthbert, was taken "partim ex eis quæ de illo (Cuthberto) prius a fratribus ecclesiæ Lindisfarnensis scripta reperi." This Legend is printed in the Acta Sanctorum, 20 March.

(6) Ethelburga abbess of Barking was the daughter of Offa King of East Anglia, and sister of Erkenwald Bishop of London, who founded that abbey for her. Beda does not state whence he obtained his information respecting her. The middle portion of her Life, as given in Capgrave, is derived from Beda. (See Capgrave Nova Legenda Angliæ, f. 139.)

Digitized by Google

(Lib. III. c. xix.) (1); there are also extracts from the treatise De Locis Sanctis of Arcuulf. (Lib. v. c. xv.) (2) Albinus abbot of St. Augustine's, Canterbury, and Nothelm afterwards Archbishop of Canterbury, appear to have furnished Beda with accurate information relative to the affairs of the kingdom of Kent, and especially the Sees of Canterbury and Rochester (Prol.), which could only have been derived from written documents. Daniel Bishop of Winchester seems to have given him valuable information relative to the History of the kingdoms of the West and South Saxons (p. 107); and from Cyniberet Bishop of Lindsey he received some materials relating to the History of that See. (p. 107.) A great portion of his History of the kingdom of Northumbria is founded on local and verbal communications, which he received either from eye-witnesses, or from persons of credibility and rank, and for which Beda generally gives the names of his informants.

§ 155. Beda's learning is very extraordinary for the age in which he lived; and his diligence in collecting materials for his work, both written and oral, was unwearied. The best proofs of these are his writings, a catalogue of which he has himself left, amounting to nearly forty separate treatises. (pp. 286, 287.) His style is clear and unaffected; but as he has to relate the transactions of so many provinces, often from the information of persons entirely separated from each other, his narrative occasionally becomes confused and disjointed; and his work at times exhibits traces of the peculiar modes of thinking which prevailed in the age in which he lived. These are trifling defects, compared with its merits; for, in addition to the circumstance of the Ecclesiastical History being the only contemporary authority, its value is greatly increased by the judgment, fidelity, and candour of its author.

§ 156. The first edition of Beda's Ecclesiastical History which appeared is without imprint or date, but it probably issued from the press of Conrad Fyner at Eslingen, between the years 1471 and 1475. The text of this edition appears to have been taken from an ancient and good manuscript, though it is very often disfigured through the carelessness of the transcriber or compositor. Its principal depravations are of proper names; it also exhibits numerous omissions, sometimes of single words, at others of several together. The rubrics are retained in a body at the Head of each Book, as in the manuscripts; and the text ends at the beginning of Chapter XXIV. Book v. Of this very rare edition there is a copy in the Library of the Earl Spencer, and another in the Royal Library at Paris. It was followed by others successively at Strasbourg in 1483, at Spires in 1490, and at Strasbourg in 1500. In the last-mentioned edition the rubrics are given at the beginning of the volume, and also distributed and placed at the Head of the several Chapters, and titles are supplied for those portions which thenceforward have been designated as Chapters XIV. and XV. of Book v. With these exceptions, and the corrections of a few manifest errors of the press, it is an obvious reprint of the first edition. The Hagenau edition, in 1506, by John Rynman, is also a reprint of the preceding. Thus far, all editions which have been seen were printed in small folio, in double columns, in a gothic letter, and were appended to the Translation by Ruffinus of the Ecclesiastical History of Eusebius. It was next published singly at Antwerp, in 1550, by Gravius, in folio. From the advertisement prefixed to this edition, it appears to have been a reprint of that of 1500, but with very numerous corrections, seemingly on manuscript authority, although none be mentioned. It supplies the conclusion of Chapter XXIV. Book v., which had been hitherto wanting. Here also first appeared the Continuation of the Epitome to A.D. 767. It was reprinted from Gravius, in 16mo, without the advertisement, in the years 1566 (3) at Louvain, and 1601 at Cologne; at Basle in 1563, in folio, by Hervagius, among Beda's collected works; and from Hervagius reprinted, in folio, at Cologne, in the years 1612 and 1688; at Heidelberg in 1587, in small folio, by Commeline; and, according to a false title page, at Lyons, among the Scriptores Vetustiores. Commeline seems to have had the use of a good manuscript belonging to Nicolas Pithou, which enabled him to correct many errors of the preceding editions. He omits all the rubrics. It was next

(1) There are two anonymous Legends of great antiquity which are printed in the Acta Sanctorum, but it nowhere appears whether Beda refers to either of these. 16 January, Acta Sanct. p. 40. Vit. No. 35-41. Mirac. 3 4, 15. Al. Vit. lib. ii. No. 8, 12, 31. Comp. Beda and Mabil. Act. Ben. sæc. 2. 299.

(2) The treatise De Locis Sanctis is printed in Mabil. Acta SS. Ord. S. Benedict. III. ii. 456.

(3) According to Oudin, an edition of Beda's Ecclesiastical History was published at Paris, 1554, among his other works, but no copy of it has been seen in England.

Digitized by Google

Beda. printed at Cambridge, in the year 1644, in folio, by Wheloc, with the Latin and Anglo-Saxon version. Wheloc's text appears to have been taken from the Cologne edition of 1612, collated with the Cottonian Manuscript, Tiberius, C. II., a small folio, certainly older than the tenth century; with a Manuscript in Trinity College, Cambridge, R. 5. 27., in small folio, of the twelfth century; and with a Manuscript which formerly belonged to Dr. Ward, Master of Sidney College, Cambridge, (marked Δ 5. 17.,) in medium folio, of the latter end of the fourteenth century. From these Wheloc has given a number of improved readings in the margins, many of which agree with the edition of 1587; and he seems occasionally to have corrected the more trifling errors of the Cologne edition without notice. The Anglo-Saxon translation, generally attributed to King Alfred, then first published, was taken from the Cottonian Manuscript, Otho, B. XI., and from the Manuscript in Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, CLXXIII. It is printed in parallel columns with the Latin, and is accompanied by many notes, chiefly theological and polemical, among which are inserted portions of numerous Saxon homilies. This was succeeded by an edition published at Paris, in 1681, in quarto, by the Jesuit P. F. Chifflet; his text appears to have been formed from that of Wheloc, collated with several manuscripts, but more especially with a copy formerly belonging to the church of St. Maximin at Treves (see § 162). To this edition Chifflet prefixed a Dissertation concerning the Life, &c. of Beda, in which he erroneously maintains that he died A.D. 762; and he also added a few notes, chiefly chronological. This edition was followed by one at Cambridge, in 1722, in folio, by Smith. This very valuable volume contains all Beda's historical works, together with an improved edition of the Anglo-Saxon translation of the Ecclesiastical History. It was commenced by John Smith, canon of Durham, and, after his death, completed by his son George. The basis of Smith's text of the Ecclesiastical History is that of Chifflet, corrected so as to represent the celebrated manuscript belonging to Dr. More, Bishop of Ely, and collated also with the Cottonian Manuscripts, Tiberius, C. II., in small folio, in double columns, of the eighth or ninth century, and Tiberius, A. XIV., in medium folio, in double columns, of the eleventh century, and the Royal Manuscript, 13. C. v., in medium folio, of the eleventh century, all in the British Museum. Besides elucidating the text by a great number of learned and generally useful notes, Smith, for the first time, placed in the margin such dates as were ascertainable, and subjoined such various readings derived from manuscripts or preceding editions as seemed of importance, either as affecting the sense, or as tending to show the depraved state of the previous texts. Although there was every reason for believing that Smith's edition had been prepared in such a manner as to preclude the necessity of a further examination of manuscripts, still it was thought advisable to put its correctness and fidelity to the test of collation. For this purpose, portions of several very ancient manuscripts, which had not been seen by Smith, have been compared with his text; and the Cambridge copy used by him has been collated throughout. The result of the former examination has been a conviction of the pre-eminence of the Cambridge copy, the variations from its readings being almost always for the worse; and of the latter, a decisive proof of Smith's care and skill, as well as of his learning (1).

§ 157. Bishop More's Manuscript, used by Smith, is now in the Public Library at Cambridge, marked K.K. 5. 16. It is a large quarto, consisting of 128 leaves, each containing 30 to 33 lines in a page, and is the work of at least two scribes, who were employed on it at the same time. The manuscript was evidently carefully revised and corrected immediately after it was written, though some errors still remain uncorrected. The omissions of the scribes, which were by no means unfrequent, are either supplied between the lines, or carried to the side margin; or, if of considerable extent, as happens in a few instances, to the lower margin. Other errors have been corrected either by erasure or by expunction. It has some modes of spelling rather uncommon, probably all provincialisms, such as using u for o,—epist*u*la, pr*u*mptus, ad*u*lescens; v for b,—La*v*ienus for La*b*ienus, acer*v*a for acer*b*a. The dates are mostly expressed by numerals. The rubrics, as usual, are prefixed in a body to the several books. The writing is of great beauty, which, as well as the form of the contractions, &c., will be readily perceived by examining the fac-simile.

(1) A valuable edition of Beda's historical works has been lately published by the Rev. Joseph Stevenson for the English Historical Socety. Mr. Stevenson's prefaces and notes to his two volumes are replete with learned information.

Digitized by Google

§ 158. As to the late interlineary gloss mentioned by Smith, it is little else than an occasional extension or explanation of the contractions. Immediately at the end of the Ecclesiastical History follows, in the same kind of hand, Cædmon's Hymn, in Saxon; and after that, in a hand which also occurs in the body of the book, certain chronological notes, mostly derived from the Ecclesiastical History, which have been thought to fix a precise date for the transcription of the volume. These notices, which may be seen at page 290 of this volume, exhibit the length of the reigns of several Northumbrian Kings, from Ida to Ceolwulf, together with the relative dates of certain other events. The sum of years assigned to the regal series lead to A.D. 737, in which the reign of Ceolwulf terminated; and if all the following dates concurred with that year, a strong presumption would be raised that the volume might have been written at that period. But when it is observed that out of nine of these dates, five only concur with the year 737, and that the remaining four would require respectively the years 734, 748, 738, and 741, it would seem that the utmost any one would hence be warranted in assuming would be that the copy in question was derived from another which had actually been written in the year 737. But still, as far as an opinion can be formed from the writing and other appearances in the volume, there is strong ground for conjecturing that it was transcribed not many years after the supposed date; and the Hymn of Cædmon seems to afford a decisive proof that it was written in England. The only indication discernible of its foreign possessor is afforded by the words "S. Julian," written in a late hand, at the end of the volume, which may possibly signify the monastery of St. Julian at Angers, or that at Tours. Beda.

§ 159. The following Manuscripts have also been compared to a certain extent, as before stated:—

§ 160. Manuscript Phillipps, in medium folio, of the ninth or tenth century. (P. II.) In this copy, which has lost a part of the Preface, and a small portion near the end of the work, occasionally single words, and sometimes several, are wanting. Its other variations, which are numerous, are, with few exceptions, depravations; yet at times it is correct where Bishop More's Manuscript is faulty.

§ 161. The Harleian Manuscript, 4978, in small folio, of the tenth century. Such portions as have been compared with Smith's edition afford very few variations, and those verbal, and for the worse. It is a very fine manuscript, but part of Book III. has been supplied by a later hand. It wants all following what is called "Oratio Bedæ," where, doubtless, Beda's work originally concluded.

§ 162. Manuscript Phillipps, oblong quarto, of the eleventh century. (P. II.) This manuscript seems to have been derived from Bishop More's Manuscript, either directly or intermediately, or rather, perhaps, from a common original, as it agrees with most of the peculiarities of that copy. It omits, indeed, the Saxon Hymn, and the chronological notices found at the end of More's Manuscript, but it has the like extracts from Isidore and Pope Gregory that are exhibited in that copy. In some instances it corrects the false readings of that manuscript; but, although otherwise a very good copy, it has many verbal errors. It is apparently the book formerly belonging to the church of St. Maximin at Treves which was used by Chifflet for his edition.

§ 163. Manuscript F. Douce, in large folio, double columns, of the end of the twelfth century.

§ 164. Manuscript Lord Gosford, in medium folio, double columns, of the twelfth or thirteenth century. A comparison of various portions of these two last-mentioned copies with Smith's text produced scarcely any variations, and such as did occur were either transpositions or manifest blunders of the scribe.

§ 165. Manuscript Phillipps, 1089, in large quarto, double columns, of the end of the twelfth century, and Manuscript Phillipps, III., in small folio, double columns, of the fourteenth century, are noticed on account of their having a continuation of the concluding epitome, from A.D. 733 to A.D. 766. They are the only copies of the kind which have occurred, and the latter was probably used for the Antwerp edition of 1550.

§ 166. The text which has been adopted for this Work is that of Smith, with the correction of a few verbal errors, apparently of the press, from More's Manuscript. Such of Smith's notes as seemed pertinent, though not always quite satisfactory, have been wholly or in part retained, and are designated by the letter S.

Digitized by Google

Beda.

§ 167. The marginal chronology was collated with great care by Smith, sometimes directly from the text or the epitome, at others by a comparison of events with each other. Where Beda failed he had recourse to the Saxon Chronicle, Florence of Worcester, or such other aids as occurred, with more or less apparent success. These dates have been verified, and, where necessary or practicable, rectified, and their number enlarged. The various readings retained by Smith have been regulated, and all the variations of Manuscript More which affected the sense, and were not noticed by him, have been added and marked M.; but such other variations of that copy as were mere errors of the scribe have been left unnoticed.

THE SAXON CHRONICLE.

The Saxon Chronicle.

§ 168. The Anglo-Saxon Chronicle or Chronicles, embracing, in the several copies in which it is found, the interval between Cæsar's Invasion of Britain and the accession of Henry II., is, with the exception of Beda's Ecclesiastical History, the source whence nearly all our chroniclers about or not long after the Conquest have principally derived their information.

§ 169. Of its composition nothing is known that can be relied on (1), but it is evidently the work of various and successive writers; and the general account of the formation given by Geoffrey Gaimar (2) may probably be received as not far from the truth, though the apparent enlargement of that account exhibited by Fordun (3) may possibly be questioned. At what time it began to receive its present form, how the few and brief notices which occur between the period of the arrival of the Saxons in Britain and that of Augustine were preserved, and by what chronological scheme they were originally connected so as to enable the subsequent compiler to adapt them to the era of the Incarnation (4), we have no information. Gaimar, indeed, attributes this or a similar compilation to King Alfred; but be that as it may, there can be little doubt that the Chronicle existed in a collected form at the close of the ninth century, since Asser at that period translated and incorporated its notices extending from A.D. 849 to A.D. 887 with his Life of Alfred; and it would be difficult to suppose that the copy which he used did not contain the portion preceding A.D. 849. Gaimar, as above noticed, seems indeed to attribute the composition of this, or at least a similar work, to King Alfred; and if it could be supposed that it took its present form either under his direction or in his time, the extraordinary general accordance amongst all the copies now remaining, from the earliest period to the close of the ninth century, might be satisfactorily explained; for although this uniformity extends more or less into the eleventh century, yet after the end of the ninth century it is occasionally interrupted, as well by omissions as by the insertion of apparently detached contemporaneous narratives in some copies, of which the substance only, if any part, is to be found in others. And this observation will apply especially to the account of the Danish Invasion in the year 893 and following years, to the History of Æthelflaed's exploits in the early part of the tenth century, to the poetical insertions under the years 937, 972, 975, 979, &c., and to the Northern transactions of the tenth century, recorded in Manuscripts D. E. and F. But still there is nothing discoverable in the Chronicle, either as to its successive compilers or continuators, though there is evidence, by incidental notices, of its contemporaneous progress after the year 891; for instance, under the year 1012, the body of Elfege is said to be now at London, and eleven years afterwards its removal to Canterbury is described.

§ 170. In one part, A.D. 1087, however, the first person is used; yet there is not any thing to fix the compiler or the place where it was composed, though some copies which

(1) Certain portions have been attributed to Archbishop Plegmund, to St. Dunstan, and to King Alfred.

(2) The Reader is referred to the very curious account of the formation and contents of the book to which Gaimar alludes at p. 792, line 2316 et seq., and p. 807, line 3451 et seq., of this volume. If the copies which Alfred ordered to be made were distributed among the monasteries for the perusal of the monks, the members of each of those fraternities might easily interweave the notabilia of their own foundations with Alfred's compilation; and this may perhaps account for those copies where distinct notices are given of particular persons, possessions, and events connected with some great religious foundation. (See note (13), p. 78.)

(3) Edit. Hearne, IV. 1348.

(4) It is evident from Beda's statement in his Ecclesiastical History, that annals of some sort were kept in some monasteries; for he acknowledges his obligation to various ecclesiastical dignitaries for personal communications as well as for written documents, and he also acknowledges assistance "ex scriptis priorum." Malmesbury (Prol. Gest. Reg.) evidently refers to these Annals:—"Sunt sane quædam vestustatis indicia chronico more et patrio sermone per annos Domini ordinata."

Digitized by Google

belonged to particular monasteries (Abingdon, Worcester, or Peterborough, for instance) have occasionally insertions relating to those societies; these seem to be mere local additions. With respect to the sources from which the Chronicle is derived, it may be observed, that, excepting the Introduction([1]), and the account of ecclesiastical affairs down to A.D. 731, apparently taken from Beda, little can now be referred to any antecedent authority, though the early military and other incidents which do not appear in his Ecclesiastical History must have been derived from some source at present unknown. The Saxon Chronicle.

§ 171. The Anglo-Saxon Chronicle was first published under the title of "Chronologia Anglo-Saxonica," by Abraham Wheloc, at Cambridge, in the year 1644, in folio, with a Latin translation. His text was taken from a Manuscript in the Cottonian Collection (§§ 34. 181), collated with another Manuscript at Corpus Christi College, Cambridge (§ 175), which, as well as the other copies, will be presently described.

§ 172. It was next edited by Edmund Gibson, afterwards Bishop of London, at Oxford, in the year 1692, in quarto. In addition to Wheloc's text, Gibson used a Manuscript in the Bodleian Library (§ 179), and copies of two others in the Cottonian collection. (§§ 176. 180.) Besides giving a new Latin version of his text, greatly enlarged, he added a preface, notes, and indexes, glossarial and chronological.

§ 173. The latest edition was published at London in 1823, in quarto, by the Reverend James Ingram, B.D., now President of Trinity College, Oxford. Dr. Ingram collated all the known manuscripts, among which were two in the Cottonian collection not employed by Gibson; and of his text, thus considerably enlarged, he gave an English version, together with a preface, notes, indexes of persons and places, and a brief grammar of the Anglo-Saxon language.

§ 174. For the present occasion it has been deemed expedient to re-construct the text, and to adopt for its basis the oldest manuscript known, now in the Library of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge; and in describing this and the other copies they will be designated successively by the letters A. to G., premising that none of the manuscripts have any original title or heading.

§ 175. A.—A manuscript on vellum, in medium folio, in Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, CLXXIII., containing annals from Julius Cæsar to the year 1070, written in double columns to the year 417, at folio 9, but afterwards in single columns. The first original hand ends at page 33, with the year 891, whence it is continued in a variety of hands. Between A.D. 1 and A.D. 891, it contains many interlineary additions, apparently of the twelfth century. They are, for the greater part, written on erasures of the original text, mostly taken from Beda, through the medium, as it would seem, of a copy resembling D. or E., and were apparently intended to supply supposed deficiencies in the original narrative. Wheloc, who collated this copy, has inadvertently ascribed these additions to Josseline,—who indeed did insert in the margins many collations from various copies,—and, on his supposed authority, assigned them to the Codex Petroburgensis; whereas Josseline merely says occasionally, "Sic et in Cod. Petroburg."; and indeed many of them, at least in substance, agree with a Manuscript E. (a Peterborough manuscript), as well as with D. and F. During the continuation of the original hand the manuscript contains some uniform peculiarities of spelling, such as Cuom for Com, Walas for Wealas, hiera for hiora, slog for sloh, Miercna for Mercna. From these philological peculiarities it would appear that, while all the other copies of the Saxon Chronicle exhibit a West Saxon origin, this manuscript was written in the dialect of the kingdom of Mercia. But, with this exception, and some other slight variations or omissions not noticed by Wheloc, it appears in its original condition to have agreed very closely with the Cottonian Manuscript C., used by him for his text. The narrative of this copy, to A.D. 806, relates chiefly to transactions south of the Thames, its notices of Northern matters being generally brief and taken from Beda; but from that year it becomes general to A.D. 925. Afterwards its notices are few, and only at intervals.

§ 176. B.—The Cottonian Manuscript, Tiberius, A. VI., originally a small folio, but now much shrunk by fire. It extends from the Incarnation to A.D. 977, and is written in one uniform hand, apparently of the latter part of the tenth century; but it may be doubted whether the transcript was completed, as the dates after A.D. 552 are only occasionally marked. To A.D. 918 the text varies but little from that of Wheloc, or Manuscript G.; but the compiler of this or a similar copy, having found the Annals of Mercia during the government of Æthelfleda in a separate form, instead of attempting to distribute them chronologically among the events of the original Chronicle, returned from A.D. 918 to A.D. 896, and thence inserted them continuously to A.D. 919, when the two accounts run into one. Thenceforward to A.D. 934 it differs from Manuscript G., but afterwards, till it ceases at A.D. 975, it again resembles that copy. There is a transcript of this Manuscript in the Bodleian Library, Laud. 661 (formerly G. 36.), which was used by Gibson, and referred to by him as Manuscript Cant.; but its chronology, having been copied from that supplied by Josseline in Manuscript B., is of course of no authority. The original was first collated by Dr. Ingram.

([1]) See note [b], p. 291; note [a], p. 292; note [a], p. 299.

Digitized by Google

The Saxon Chronicle.

§ 177. C.—The Cottonian Manuscript, Tiberius, B. I., in square folio; from the Invasion of Julius Cæsar to A.D. 1066; written apparently in the same hand to A.D. 1046, afterwards in various hands. It appears to have been transcribed from a copy of the same class as B., as far as that Manuscript extends, but its chronology is complete. Afterwards it agrees for the most part with Manuscripts D. E. and F. to A.D. 1056, when it becomes blank to A.D. 1065, and ends, in a hand of the twelfth century, with the story of the Dane at Stamford Bridge in A.D. 1066. In a few instances, differing from the other copies, it seems to begin the year at Easter. (See § 183.) By Josseline it has been termed "Chronicon Abbendoniæ" and "Manuscript Boyer." Its variations were first printed by Dr. Ingram.

§ 178. D.—The Cottonian Manuscript, Tiberius, B. IV., is in medium folio; from the Incarnation to A.D. 1079; written in one hand to A.D. 1016, afterwards in several. It is much mutilated from A.D. 261 to A.D. 693, but part of the hiatus has been filled up by Josceline from other copies; it is also mutilated at the end. To A.D. 806 it has much in common with Manuscripts E. and F. It sometimes enlarges the text, not only by fuller extracts from Beda, but by the addition of many events relating especially to Mercia and Northumbria, which would seem to imply the existence of a distinct Chronicle at least during the greater part of the eighth century; and it probably also agreed with Manuscript E. in that portion which is now lost in that copy. Afterwards it is nearly the same as Manuscripts A. and G. to the beginning of the tenth century, when it interweaves the account of Æthelflæd's exploits, sometimes abridged, chronologically, but rather confusedly, and with some repetitions. After the middle of the tenth century it has some peculiar circumstances relating to the Northumbrian affairs, whenceforward it agrees generally with Manuscripts C. E. and F. It is called "Chronicon Wigorniæ" by Josseline. Its variations were first printed by Dr. Ingram. The portion extending from A.D. 1043 to the end has been printed by Lye, as an Appendix to his Saxon Dictionary, from a faulty transcript by Lambard, now at Christ Church, Canterbury.

§ 179. E.—The Bodleian Manuscript, Laud. 636. (formerly E. 80.), from the Incarnation to A.D. 1154, a small quarto, originally interleaved in folio; is written in double columns from A.D. 12 to A.D. 476, afterwards in single columns. The hand as well as the ink vary but little to A.D. 1122, whence to A.D. 1154, where it ends, mutilated, it is in various hands. On the margin, between A.D. 1128 and A.D. 1140, is inserted a brief Chronicle, in French, from Brutus to Edward I.; and on the interleaving, and sometimes on the margin of the Chronicle, are collations from Manuscript A., apparently by Lisle, together with a few notes. To A.D. 891, in common with Manuscript D., it is derived from a copy similar to Manuscript A., but with large additions, either from Beda or from a copy like that used for Manuscript D. It contains only a few scanty notices between A.D. 891 and A.D. 975, many years being wholly blank; but from that time it agrees more or less with Manuscripts C. D. and F. till they severally end. From A.D. 655 it has many late additions concerning Peterborough, to which monastery it appears to have belonged. It has also certain Latin notices interspersed between A.D. 114 and A.D. 812, which are derived from a source similar to that of the Chronicon Cadomense, printed by Duchesne.

§ 180. F.—The Cottonian Manuscript, Domitian, A. VIII. 2., from the Incarnation to A.D. 1056, in Saxon and Latin, in octavo or small quarto, is in a hand apparently of the twelfth century, and nearly of the same character throughout. It is often carelessly written, has many erasures, and is sometimes illegible, in which state it ends. Its basis, to A.D. 891, in common with Manuscripts D. and E., was a copy similar to Manuscript G., with many additions, for the greater part resembling those copies; but the text, as compared with them, is generally compressed or slightly abbreviated. Like Manuscript E. it contains very little between A.D. 891 and A.D. 975, after which latter date it again coincides with Manuscripts C. D. and E., with some variations. It is mutilated or illegible till it ends. It contains also various peculiar additions, chiefly relating to Kentish ecclesiastical affairs, of which the first occurs under A.D. 694. The Latin version follows the text, year by year, and it is generally very close, but it has occasionally insertions which apparently are not translations. Mr. Petrie did not deem it necessary to print this version, except where it affords new matter, or where the text is defective. Among Junius's Manuscripts, Bodley, No. 10., are his collations of this copy with Wheloc's edition; he does not notice the Latin translation. This manuscript is the "Codex Cotton." of Gibson. The Saxon Chronicle.

Digitized by Google

§ 181. G.—The Cottonian Manuscript, Otho, B. xi. 2., from the Invasion of Julius Cæsar to A.D. 1001, is in small folio, according to Wanley, but now greatly shrunk by fire. This volume was supposed to have been entirely destroyed, but a considerable portion of Beda's Ecclesiastical History (No. I.), and three damaged leaves of the Saxon Chronicle, in a hand apparently of the eleventh century (No. II.), beginning A.D. 837 and ending A.D. 871, have lately been recovered (see the fac-simile). This manuscript formed the basis of Wheloc's edition, and a comparison of his text with such portions of these leaves as are readily legible, seems to show that he transcribed it very carefully. A transcript by Lambard, apparently from this copy, is among Usher's collections at Dublin. ([1])

§ 182. The basis of the present edition, to A.D. 975, as has been already mentioned, is Manuscript A., the passages inserted in the text from other copies being placed in brackets from A.D. 975 to A.D. 1066. It is taken from various copies, each being referred to at the beginning of the year. In constructing the text Mr. Petrie endeavoured, where practicable, to render it as full as possible, by incorporating all the additional facts from the several copies, without attending to their differences of style or dialect, as a philological work was not the object of the present Collection. Where this could not be conveniently done the variations form a second text, and every variation occurring in the several copies, however minute, has been preserved.

§ 183. It may be proper to state that the year throughout may be considered as beginning on Christmas Day, except in Manuscript C., in which, about the middle of the eleventh century, it begins at Easter or Lady Day.

ASSER.

§ 184. Asser, the Historian of Alfred the Great, was apparently a native of South Wales, and, according to his own statement, was invited by that monarch to assist him in his studies about A.D. 885. ([2]) He does not, however, distinctly inform his readers what office or dignity he filled before his appearance at King Alfred's court; but the following circumstances render it probable that he had presided over the monastery if not over the See of St. David's. He says he was educated, tonsured, and finally ordained there. ([2]) He mentions that injuries had been frequently perpetrated on that see and monastery by King Hemeyd, and speaks of the expulsion of the prelates, and particularly of his kinsman Archbishop Novis, and also of himself with them. ([3]) He says that his dependents expected to attain to a greater degree of security if he should acquire the friendship of Alfred ([4]); that he had possessions or jurisdiction to the west and to the north of the Severn ([5]); that he could not remain in Wessex, Asser.

([1]) It may be worth while to notice, as a hint to future enquiries, that a note is inserted in Mr. Brewer's copy of the Saxon Chronicle, by the celebrated Dr. Brett, to whom it formerly belonged, to the effect that a manuscript of the Anglo-Saxon Chronicle existed in the library of St. Germains at Paris, containing additions not found in any of "the printed copies. These are his words:—"Dom. Ruinart Benedictinus in Urbani Papæ vita, p. 171,-Chronici "Saxonici Kr. apud monasterium S. Germani de Pratis in Suberbiis Parisiensibus meminit, in quo pluro de Concilio "Placentiæ, A.D. 1094, celebrato et de Proscedis Augustæ ab Henrico imp. secessu inveniuntur, quorum hic "est altum silentium."

([2]) p. 487 c. ([3]) p. 488 A. ([4]) p. 488 A B. ([5]) p. 487 c.

Digitized by Google

Asser. as Alfred had desired, without the advice of his clergy (1), who, for the benefit of St. David's, advised or permitted him to enter into an engagement with the King to that effect. (2) In addition to these brief notices obtained from his own Work, it may be stated that Giraldus Cambrensis (Itiner. Cambr, ap. Camd. Scripp. p. 855.) places Asser second after Novis in his list of the bishops of St. David's; and though the series of prelates of that see is there strangely distorted, still it shows that, before Giraldus wrote, Asser had been included among the bishops of St. David's; and, lastly, in the Annales Cambriæ, where the names of the Welsh bishops only occur, and even of those there are very few, the death of Bishop Asser is recorded. (3) The Annales Ecclesiæ Menevensis, written by a canon of St. David's, also place him among the bishops of that see. (4) That he ultimately, however, became bishop of Shirburn (5) admits of no doubt; he does not, indeed, mention that see, for he relates only that Alfred gave him successively Amesbury and Banwell (6), and at a later period Exeter with its district in Devonshire and Cornwall (7); and possibly at the time that he wrote the Life of Alfred he might not have obtained that bishoprick, but his name occurs in all the ancient catalogues of its Prelates. (Tiber. B. v. f. 20 B, etc.) Bishop Asser witnesses charters of Edward the Elder in A.D. 901, A.D. 903, and A.D. 904; and in another charter of the same King, without date, he is called Bishop of Shirburn, and receives certain lands for the benefit of himself and of the church of Shirburn, in exchange for Plympton; and when his death is noticed in the Saxon Chronicle (8) he is expressly called Bishop of Shirburn. Here, however, a difficulty must be obviated: Florence of Worcester makes Swithelm to succeed to the See of Shirburn on the death of Asser in A.D. 883 (9) (for which there is no authority in the Saxon Chronicle); and if the statement were well founded it would be necessary to admit either that the previous statement were erroneous, or that within a very short interval the see had been filled by two persons of the same name, which would be contrary to all other lists of the prelates of that See, as well as to that appended to his Chronicle by Florence himself, in which the immediate successor of Asser is called Ethelward, between whom and Sighelm two other bishops intervene. Besides which, Florence, neither in this list nor in his Chronicle, repeats the name of Asser; nor does the list recognise the name of Bishop Swithelm, mentioned in the Chronicle. It is probable, therefore, that Florence was mistaken, as Sighelm, the only name in the least resembling Swithelm in the catalogue, occurs several degrees lower than Asser. From what has been already stated, it appears that Asser's connexion after the decease of Alfred was continued with King Edward his successor, until his own death, which, according to the Annales Cambriæ (10), took place in A.D. 908, or, according to the Saxon Chronicle (11), in the year 910. It has been remarked by an acute writer, "that his language throughout is that of one writing in the character of a Welshman, and "for the use of Welshmen." (12)

§ 185. Asser's Life of Alfred may be ranged under two heads: 1st, The general history of the period between A.D. 849, being the year of Alfred's birth, and A.D. 887; and, 2d, that which relates personally to that great monarch and to his family until A.D. 893, which was his forty-fifth year. The first portion, with the exception of a few explanatory remarks, is a translation of the Saxon Chronicle (13); the second seems to be chiefly the result of the author's personal observation, and is the source of all that can be authentically known of the

---

(1) p. 487 D. (2) p. 488 A. (3) p. 836 D.; Welsh Chron. 847; Sax. Chron. 374.
(4) Angl. Sacr. II. 648. (5) p. 620 D.; 374. (6) p. 488 D. (7) p. 489 A.
(8) p. 374. (9) p. 560. (10) p. 836 D. (11) p. 374.

(12) Lingard's Anglo-Saxon Church, II. 421, where the literary history of this treatise is carefully investigated in relation to the attempt lately made by Mr. Wright to convict it of being a forgery of the eleventh century.

(13) The copy of the Saxon Chronicle used by Asser appears to have ended about A D. 887. Although he mentions Alfred's forty-fifth year, A.D. 893, yet he takes no notice of the transactions of that year, when the Danes returned from France, nor of the six preceding years. The resemblance between the Saxon Chronicle and Asser was noticed by Bishop Gibson, but he does not determine which had the priority; though, if Gibson had reflected, he might with great safety have decided against Asser's claim to be the earlier writer. Such a supposition would involve the absurdity of admitting that it was merely from the casual circumstance of Asser's visit to Alfred about A.D. 884 that the Anglo-Saxons were induced to compose their annals, and to embody in them the work of a stranger. (See note (2), p. 74.) That Asser borrowed from the Saxon Chronicle does not seem to admit of a doubt, for the Chronicle comes regularly down to A.D. 849, at which time Asser takes it up, and uses it to A.D. 887; and, when he stops, the Chronicle continues its course without interruption. It ought, however, to be stated, that Asser's chronology slightly differs in several instances from that of the Saxon Chronicle.

Digitized by Google

private life of that eminent Prince. What induced Asser to break off his narrative at that particular point, and so abruptly, cannot now be determined. Asser.

§ 186. In addition to this Life of Alfred, a Chronicle has been published by Gale, under the title of Chronicon Fani S. Neoti, sive Annales Johannes Asserii, taken from a manuscript of the twelfth century, now belonging to Trinity College, Cambridge. This work, to which in the manuscript the above title has been prefixed in a modern hand, is an anonymous compilation, beginning with Julius Cæsar's Invasion of Britain, and ending, apparently mutilated, in A.D. 914. Besides Cuthbert's Epistle describing the death of Beda, the Visions of Charles le Gros (1), and of Rollo (2), it consists of excerpts from the Saxon Chronicle, from Beda, from a source used by the author of the Chronicon Cadomense (3), and by others whom it is unnecessary here to name; from the Lives of St. Neot (4) and of St. Eucherius (5) Bishop of Orleans, from the Life of St. Edmund, by Abbo, and especially from Asser's Life of Alfred. The work offers very little worthy of remark, and was probably compiled towards the latter end of the twelfth century; but, whencesoever it may have taken its present form, the extract from Abbo, who wrote about fourscore years after Asser's death (6), at once puts an end to all pretence for assigning it to Asser.

§ 187. Asser's Life of Alfred was first published by Archbishop Parker, in A.D. 1574, at London, in folio. That eminent Prelate caused it to be printed in Saxon characters, out of reverence, as he observes, for the archetype, or very ancient manuscript, from which he seems to say (for there is some ambiguity in his statement) his edition was taken without addition or diminution; and he further asserts, that he had deposited in the Library of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, the manuscript which he had used, in order that, if necessary, his fidelity might be tested by collation.

§ 188. It was reprinted at Frankfort, in folio, in A.D. 1603, in what is termed "Camden's Collection." (7) In the Dedicatory Epistle Camden briefly states that Asser's Life of Alfred had been already published by Archbishop Parker; but although he then inserted in the text the celebrated passage concerning the foundation of the University of Oxford (8), he neither

---

(1) This Vision has been erroneously attributed to Charles le Chauve (see Bouquet, IX. 60). It is to be found in Hariulfe's Chronicle (lib. iii. c. 21), printed in the second volume of D'Achery's Spicilegium, p. 323, ed. Paris, 1723.

(2) See page 479, note [b], of this volume.

(3) Du Chesne Scripp. Norm. p. 1015.

(4) Four Lives, at least, of St. Neot have been written, and three of these have been ascribed to William of Ramsey, a monk of Croyland. Two only, however, can be safely attributed to him, and these were published by Whitaker in his Life of St. Neot; one taken from a Manuscript in Magdalen College, Oxford, and the other from a Manuscript in the Bodleian Library. A third Life of St. Neot is printed in the Acta Benedictor. iiij. p. 2; and the fourth does not appear to have been printed; it is the Cottonian Manuscript, Vespasian, D. XIV.

(5) Act. Sanct.

(6) Abbo was killed in November 1004. See Hist. Lit. de la France, vii. 163.

(7) See § 28. I., p. 11.

(8) The clause relating to Oxford was first printed in Camden's Britannia, ed. 1600, where it is said to have been taken "ex optimo exemplari Asserii." It appears, however, to have been known, and to have excited some attention, before its publication; for in December 1599 it seems (from the MS. Twyne ex Archiv. Univ. Oxon.) that Mr. T. Allen desired Mr. T. James to examine the manuscript used by Archbishop Parker for his text of Asser, which he supposed to be at Benet College, apparently with a view to ascertain whether Parker might not have designedly omitted the passage in question. James, who seems to have inspected more than 100 volumes of manuscripts in that collection, could find no copy of Asser at Benet College; but on his return to London, on the last day of March 1600, he saw a manuscript in Lord Lumley's library, which he was told, and from certain indications he was persuaded that he was told rightly, was the old copy used by Archbishop Parker, and in which the clause about Oxford was wanting. James supposed that Allen had already seen this manuscript, and that it also had been seen by Camden, although he would not answer Allen's query about it. He added further that it had ochre marks, such as Parker usually made in the books which he read, and that it was written in at least two hands, the latter portion in the latest. In 1603 the same passage was inserted by Camden without notice in the Frankfort edition of Asser. In 1608 B. Twyne published his Apologia, and at p. 144 repeats Camden's phrase from the Britannia,—that it was taken "ex optimo exemplari," and insinuated that Parker either omitted it designedly, or that he had used an imperfect manuscript which he had himself seen in Lord Lumley's library; and he then states, on the authority of T. Allen, that the copy used by Camden formerly belonged to Savile, but that it had been lent by him to Nettleton, and was afterwards lost. Twyne, in 1622, in conversation with Camden, stated the doubts which were entertained about this passage, and intreated him at once to dispel them by referring explicitly to the copy whence he had taken it. To this request Camden at first answered evasively, but afterwards told Twyne that "he caused the whole history "to be transcribed out of a manuscript copy which he had then in his hands, and which he took to have been written "about the time of Richard II." Sir John Spelman (ob. 1645), Life of Alfred, p. 182, denies the genuineness of the paragraph (see p. 489, note [c], of this volume). He says, that Usher procured him a sight of the manuscript supposed to have been used by Parker; that it wanted the Oxford notice; that it was written in two hands, but that the notices such insertion, nor gives the slightest intimation that he had on this occasion made use of any additional manuscript authority for the emendation of his text.

Digitized by Google

Asser.

§ 189. The latest edition of Asser was published by Wise, in the year 1722, in octavo, at the Oxford press. Wise compared the editions of Parker and of Camden, and procured collations of such manuscripts as could be obtained. Of these the principal was that formerly in the Cottonian Collection, Otho, A. XII., apparently the very ancient copy referred to by Parker; but from a facsimile of it, which Wise fortunately caused to be engraved, it seems to have been at least as old as the early part of the eleventh century. What further he did for the improvement of his edition may be seen at p. 465, stated in his own words.

§ 190. To every one who may have read the Life of Alfred with a moderate degree of attention, it must have occurred that the narrative exhibits at least certain inconsistencies. Thus, at p. 477, it is said that Alfred not only succeeded to the throne with the good will of all men, on the death of his brother, but that, by reason of his good qualities, he might have easily obtained it during his brother's life-time; and from this time, down to his being surprised by the Danes, and his temporary flight to Ethelingay (p. 480 B), Alfred is described as incessantly and laudably exerting himself against the enemy, without a shadow of imputation on his character. Yet, at pp. 489 E and 481, in direct contradiction to this, it is stated, that his misfortunes did not come upon him undeservedly, inasmuch as, in the beginning of his reign, led away by youthful passions, he had neglected the complaints of his subjects; but, notwithstanding this grievous imputation on his character, it is said, at p. 481 D, that he was met at Egbritestone by the whole population of Somersetshire, and the adjoining counties of Wiltshire and Hampshire, who, on seeing the King, as it were, restored to life, were filled with unspeakable delight. Now the explanation of this inconsistency, and of other similar difficulties, seems to be, that many passages of the printed text formed no part of Asser's work, but were the insertions of Archbishop Parker.(1) Reasons have been given in note (1), below, for supposing that Parker did make additions to the text of the latter did not occur till after the part where the clause should have been found, and that it had red ochre marks. He does not say where he saw the book, but the description agrees with James's account of the Lumley Manuscript. Usher (Primordia, p. 342, ed. 1639) scouts the clause, and says that the Lumley copy described by Twyne was then in the Cottonian Collection; that the additions mentioned by Twyne were taken from the Annales; and that Parker, instead of being chargeable with omissions, was rather blameable for inadvertently inserting in the text what had not the slightest pretension to a place there. Wise (p. 137) says the Cottonian Manuscript was in two or more hands; and, in conformity with Spelman's remarks, his collation indicates no change of hand, except avowed insertions, till after the place where the clause in question, if anywhere, is to be found.

It may be remarked, that although this clause was doubted immediately on its appearance, none of the disputants ever saw the manuscript whence it was said to have been taken; and that, unless Twyne's statements of Camden's assertion (that he had caused the whole of Asser to be transcribed from a manuscript copy for the Frankfort edition) be inaccurate, Camden must have told an untruth,—a conclusion at which we should, of course, be most unwilling to arrive; for, in his Preface, he distinctly declares that he reprinted Parker's edition. And even if this declaration were wanting, there are peculiarities in Parker's edition, which are repeated by Camden, and which clearly demonstrate that Camden servilely followed Parker, retaining even his blunders and inaccuracies, except with respect to the disputed passage.

It has been thought advisable to bring these notices together, not merely as affecting the question of the passage relative to Oxford, but as also showing, almost to a certainty, that the old Cottonian Manuscript, Otho, A. XII., was the ancient copy used by Parker.

(1) In support of this opinion it is to be observed,—(1) that Usher (Primordia, p. 342, ed. 1639) directly asserts that Parker made insertions in the text, "ut immerito in suspicionem vocatus sit hic a Twyno Matthæus Cantua- "riensis Archiepiscopus quasi veritatis aut charitatis odio aliquid omisisset; quum culpandus potius fuerit quod ex "incertis illis annalibus complura editioni suæ addidisset et cum Asserianis non satis recto judicio commiscuisset:" (2) that these passages were all wanting in the ancient Cottonian Manuscript, Otho, A. XII.: (3) that they do not occur in the Chronicle of Florence of Worcester, who appears to have used a copy of Asser's work similar to, but in some instances more correctly written than the Cottonian Manuscript: (4) that they are mostly omitted in a paper transcript of the work in question, written in the sixteenth century, now among the Cottonian Manuscripts: (5) Parker says he placed the "primaria exemplaria" of all the books he published in the library of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge. The only manuscript of Asser to be found there at present is No. C., written on paper in a hand of the sixteenth century, and apparently a transcript of the old Cottonian Manuscript, Otho, A. XII., which, at p. 339, wants, as did that copy, all between the words "exercitu coluit" (p. 479 A) and the words "ipso anno, mense Aug." (p. 480 A.) But in the margin is noted "Deest annus 887;" and half a leaf, in a smaller and different hand, is interposed, containing the words "an Dñic. Inc." to "pariter perierunt" (p. 480 A), taken from the Flores Historiarum, more commonly called Matthew of Westminster, but now inserted without notice in the printed text. Again, all the matter is wanting in the manuscript between "subtraheret" (p. 480) and "Eodem anno frater" (p. 481 B); but a mark refers to the lower margin, where, in a different hand from that of the manuscript, is the following note: —"Hic inseritur in alio opere ascripto Asserio, scriptum quoddam e vita S. Neoti;" and accordingly the account of St. Neot, like the former example, now stands in the printed text without notice.

Digitized by Google

ancient copy of Asser: it remains now to point out whence these additions were chiefly taken. Fortunately, this will not occupy much time, for, in the manuscript volume above referred to in Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, separated only by a few leaves (on which are chronological and other notices relating to Alfred in the handwriting of Archbishop Parker), is a copy of the "Annales" mentioned at § 184, which have been falsely assigned to Asser. In this compilation are to be found nearly all the passages of the present text which were wanting in the old Cottonian Manuscript, Otho, A. XII. Indeed, in one of the presumed interpolations there is a distinct reference to it as a work of Asser, and a passage is there inserted from it, without acknowledgment. Asser.

§ 191. It is difficult to find an apology for Archbishop Parker's mode of thus editing an author, more especially after his repeated protestations of his strict accuracy; but it may be urged, in extenuation of the fault, that it must have originated in ignorance, though founded on the persuasion, however erroneous, that the two works, the Life of Alfred and the Annals, were written by the same person. He certainly saw so much in the pseudo-Asser which really belonged to the work of the genuine Asser, that he hastily and inconsiderately assumed both to be the work of Asser Bishop of Shirburn, the contemporary of King Alfred; and, having come to that conclusion, he attempted to make a more complete text of the Life of that sovereign by the insertion of such passages as seemed to him to supply the deficiencies of the old manuscript, which he made the basis of his text.

§ 192. In the present edition the text of Wise has been retained; but, in order to exhibit more readily what was contained in the old Cottonian Manuscript, Otho, A. XII., all the passages which that copy wanted have been placed within brackets, and are referred to their presumed sources. The text has also been compared with the only manuscripts which could be discovered; one in Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, No. c., also used by Wise, and the Cottonian Manuscript, Otho, A. XII., both of the sixteenth century, and written on paper. The first-mentioned, as it has already been observed, is apparently a transcript of the old Cottonian Manuscript, Otho, A. XII., which was destroyed by fire. The present Otho, A. XII. is also a copy of the ancient Otho, A. XII., but containing a few insertions, taken either from the pseudo-Asser, or from Parker's printed edition.

§ 193. In addition to these collations such variations of the pseudo-Asser as seemed likely to afford any possible chance of elucidating the text, or were not elsewhere discoverable, have been placed among the notes.

AETHELWEARD.

§ 194. Patricius Consul (1) Fabius Quæstor Ethelwerdus was, according to his own account, lineally descended from King Ethelwulf, being the great great grandson of King Aethelred (2), the brother of Alfred the Great; but he does not mention whether it was through the paternal or maternal line that he derived his royal origin, nor does he afford his readers any other autobiographical information. It is, however, highly probable that he was the Ealdorman Aethelweard, to whom Elfric addressed some of his works (3), and who was sent, conjointly with Aelfeah Bishop of Winton, by King Aethelred, to King Anlaf at Southampton, in the year 994 (4); nor is it improbable that he was the same person as Aethelweard "dux," who Aethelweard.

(1) Of these titles of honour which Aethelweard prefixes to his name, it may be observed that Patricius and Consul are synonimous, as is shown by Eccard. (De Rebus Franciæ Orientalis, vol. i. p. 383.) Whatever they might have been in earlier times, at this period they signified nothing more than the Anglo-Saxon Ealdorman, one who presided over a district with judicial authority; and in this sense they are equivalent to Dux, and oftentimes used for it. See Eccard, ibid. p. 161. Matthæus de Nobilitate, p. 26, brings forward various instances to prove that this title was applied to the præfects of the provinces. The Anglo-Saxons derived it from the Burgundians.

(2) "Hactenus, nugositate relicta, de filiis Athulfi incipiam loqui. Namque fuere numero fratres quinque: Primus, "Ethelstanus, qui et regnum obtinuerat simul cum patre suo; secundus, Ethelbald, qui et Occidentalium Anglorum "rex; tertius, Ethelbyrht rex Cantuariorum; quartus, Ethered, qui post obitum Edelbyrhti successit in regnum, qui "et meus atavus; quintus, Elfred, post omnes successor principatus totius, qui et atavus vester" (p. 514). In this passage Aethelweard calls Ethered atavus, meaning great great grandfather; for in another part of his work he says, Woden was atavus to Hengist; thus,—Woden atavus, Wichta proavus, Wither avus, Wightgild pater Hengist.

(3) His book of Anglo-Saxon Homilies, lately published by the Ælfric Society, and his translation of the Book of Genesis, edited by Thwaites, 8vo. Oxon. 1699.

(4) See Saxon Chronicle, an. 994.

Digitized by Google

Aethelweard.

witnessed several charters made between the years 976 and 998. (1) William of Malmesbury designates him as the noble and magnificent. (2)

§ 195. He composed his Chronicle for the information, and at the request, of his kinswoman Matilda, who stood in the like degree of relationship to King Alfred as he himself did to King Aethelred; but he has not named their respective immediate ancestors. In his Dedicatory Epistle to her (3), he writes:—Concerning our modern pedigree, and the iteration of our propinquity, I shall enlarge at length as to who are our ancestors, and in what manner they are related to us, as far as my memory serves, or my parents have informed me. King Aethelwulf, from whom we are both descended, had five sons; from one of whom, King Aethelred, I appear to be descended, and you from King Alfred, another of the sons of King Aethelwulf. King Alfred sent Ælfthrythe his daughter into Germany, and gave her in marriage to Baldwin (the second Count of Flanders), who had issue by her, two sons, Athulf and Earnulf, and two daughters, Ealhswid and Earmentruth. Earl Earnulf (? second Count of Flanders), your neighbour, is also descended from Ælfthrythe. King Eadweard, the son of King Alfred, had a daughter called Eadgyfu, who was sent by your maternal aunt into France, where she married Charles (the Simple). Eadhild, another daughter of King Eadweard, was given in marriage to Hugh son of Robert (Count of Paris). The other two of King Eadweard's daughters were sent by King Aethelstan to Otho (afterwards Emperor of Germany), that he might choose which of the two he pleased, and he fixed on Eadgyth, to whom you owe your origin. The other was affianced to a King (Lewis the blind Emperor and King of Arles) near Jupiter's mountains (the Great St. Bernard) (4), of whose offspring I have no knowledge, on account of the distance and want of communication.

§ 196. From this it appears that Matilda sprung from Eadgyth, the grand-daughter of Alfred the Great, and wife of the Emperor Otho the First. One of the issue of Otho by Eadgyth was Liudulf Duke of Suabia, who had a daughter Matilda.(5) The fact that no other Matilda or Earnulf is found in their respective genealogical lines renders it almost certain that it is Matilda, daughter of Liudulf Duke of Suabia, to whom Aethelweard dedicated his work.

§ 197. Aethelweard's Chronicle begins with the Creation of the World, and terminates at the death of King Edgar in A.D. 975. It must have been composed between that period and A.D. 1011, as Matilda, to whom it is dedicated, died in the last-mentioned year. (6)

§ 198. The Exordium, to A.D. 167, is apparently derived from Isidore's Origines (7), or from some intermediate work of which Isidore's Chronicle formed the basis, and from Beda's Historia Ecclesiastica. Nearly the whole of the Chronicle is an abridged translation of the Saxon Chronicle, with a few trivial variations and additions. His copy of this Chronicle was evidently occasionally faulty, and he seems also sometimes to have misunderstood it. (8) His authority and value, however, as a writer in an historical point of view, are not to be despised; and he has the merit of being the only Latin historian for two centuries. Malmesbury, however, does not exalt him to the eminence of an historian, and is peculiarly severe on his style. (9)

§ 199. Aethelweard's chronology is very confused. Instead of adopting the year of the Incarnation, he usually reckons by the number of years which had elapsed since the event he last noticed, so that his dates occasionally differ from those in the Saxon Chronicle, and still more from those occurring in the margin of Savile's edition of his History, which are

---

(1) An. 976, Exon., Abbendon; 978, Peterboro'; 982, Abbendon; 983, Abbendon bis; 944, Abbendon bis; 985, Abbendon; 987, Rochester; 988, Wilton; 993, Abbendon; 994, Evesham, Westminster; 995, Abbendon bis, Rochester, Westminster; 996, Abbendon; 998, Rochester.

(2) Prolog. in Gest. Reg. Anglorum.

(3) p. 499.

(4) See Leandri Alberti Descriptio totius Italiæ, p. 706, ed. fol. Colon. 1567.

(5) The author of the Life of Matilda, however, and Ditmar, cited by Struve, (Corpus Hist. Germ. I. 300, ed. Dresd. 1755,) make this Matilda the daughter of Otho, by his second wife Adelheida, and not his grand-daughter. This statement is confirmed by the authors of L'Art de verif les Dates, ii. 12.

(6) See Annales Quedlenburg. ad an. ap. Pertz, tom. 1.

(7) v. 39. (8) pp. 506 B, 507, 517.

(9) "Nam de Elwardo illustri et magnifico viro, qui chronica illa Latine aggressus est digerere, præstat "silere; cujus mihi esset intentio animo, si non essent verba fastidio." (Gesta Regum Anglorum, Prologus.)

Digitized by Google

often not only much more erroneous than the indications of the text, but they also supply new dates when no change of year is indicated. But as it is impossible, under existing circumstances, to determine whether these marginal notes were in the manuscript from which Savile took his text, or were added by him, it has been thought proper to retain them in this edition, and to call the Reader's attention to the errors as they occur, by notes at the foot of the page. Where no marginal date was found in Savile's text, it has been supplied with this mark, ×. Aethelweard.

§ 200. The style of Aethelweard is very faulty; sometimes it is turgid and highly inflated, at other times obscure and barely intelligible. The different members of his sentences are so disjointed, that it is scarcely possible to reduce them to intelligible form. He frequently disregards the usual rules of grammatical construction, by using accusatives absolute(1); the same verb and its derivatives, actively, passively, and deponently (2); and puts singular nominatives to plural verbs. (3) He employs adjectives as substantives, and substantives as adjectives (4); makes the same preposition govern different cases (5), and adverbs genitive cases (6); and joins particles and adverbs to different cases. (7) He affected brevity and terseness, and failed in his attempt to attain ordinary precision. His ungrammatical absurdities and obscurities need not be more minutely particularized, as they will constantly force themselves on the Reader's notice. Some of the defects, however, now observable in his Chronicle, may possibly be attributed to the carelessness of transcribers and printers. (8)

§ 201. Aethelweard's Chronicle was first published by Sir Henry Savile in the Scriptores post Bedam, at London, in the year 1596; it was reprinted at Frankfort in the year 1601. Savile, as usual, has omitted all reference to the manuscript which he used; but it was probably the copy formerly in the Cottonian collection, Otho, A. x., as no notice of any other has occurred. This copy was destroyed by fire in the year 1731. It is described in Smith's catalogue of the Cottonian manuscripts as "vetustus et pulcherrime scriptus;" and although he has not given any further intimation as to its age, it is probable, from certain errors of Savile's transcriber, that it was not written after the eleventh century. (9)

§ 202. As no aid was to be obtained from manuscript collation, Mr. Petrie thought it necessary to reprint Savile's text, however faulty; and such corrections as occurred, either from a comparison with the Saxon Chronicle, or conjecturally, are given in the notes, the only liberty which he has taken with the text being an occasional alteration of the punctuation.

FLORENCE OF WORCESTER.

§ 203. As the Chronicle of Florence of Worcester is undoubtedly founded on that of Marianus Scotus, it is necessary to say a few words relative to that writer and his work, before noticing the Chronicle of Florence. Florence of Worcester.

§ 204. Marianus Scotus was born in Ireland, A. D. 1028, and appears to have retired from the world in 1052; four years afterwards he quitted his own country, and became Marianus Scotus.

---

(1) Accusatives absolute:—quos et fugatos, 503 D, 504 A; multosque interemptos, 511 A; fugatas turmas, 511 C; quos et superatos, 511 D; superatos exercitus, 512 A; mixta arma, 513 E; arma omissa, 516 B.

(2) Verbs used actively, deponently, and passively:—sortior, used passively, 500 C; deponently, 502 C, 505 C:—populantur, used deponently, 515 A, 517 A; actively, 510 D:—amplector, used actively, 514 B:—suscitaretur, deponently, 519 A.

(3) Plural verbs with singular nominatives:—Ceorl dux, occidunt, 511 C; Mercia plebs iterant, 514 C; pars petunt, 520 A.

(4) Adjectives used as substantives, and substantives as adjectives:—equestris, 517 D; gallias, 503 A; Corunalias, 517 D.

(5) Prepositions governing both cases:—cum centurias, 510 A; usque in tempore; usque in ortu; usque in hodiernum diem; usque in præsentem diem; usque in hodierna die; post decursu; post decursum; in potestate; in potestatem; in fines; in regnum; juxta Lindissi urbe; præter annis; de gallias.

(6) p. 517 A.

(7) Particles or adverbs joined to different cases:—excepto annis; excepto his; excepto supra memoratis bellis; excepto provinciæ; excepto Barbaræ gentis; oblitus, with genitive and ablative cases, 513 C.

(8) For instance, rt has been constantly mistaken for st; thus post occurs for port, 511 B; et for ex, 515 A; ligno for ligno, 517 A; Aelfdyde for Aelfdryde, 499 D; Brodbyrht for Hrodbyrht, 499 D; Aelfstanus for Aedelstanus, 499 D.

(9) See note (8), p. 503.

Digitized by Google

Marianus Scotus.

a monk in the Irish monastery of St. Martin at Cologne; he was ordained priest in 1059, by Sigefrid, abbot of Fulda, at Wurtzburg; thence he went to Fulda as a recluse, and in 1069 he left Fulda and retired to Mentz, still as a recluse, where he died in 1082 or 1083. (1) During the leisure afforded by his seclusion Marianus composed a General Chronology, interspersed with some historical notices, extending from the Creation of the World to his own time. For the earlier portion of this work his chief authorities for the events he related were Eusebius, Cassiodorus, and Beda.

§ 205. The chronology which he adopted was twofold; (1) according to the Evangelists, and (2) according to the Dionysian era, which he supposed to be twenty-two years later than the true date, as deducible from the Gospel. He also supplied tables and wrote dissertations for the support of his hypothesis, which is, however, now universally considered to be unfounded. (2)

§ 206. Mixed with his collections, which in the latter part of the work relate almost wholly to the German Empire or the Popedom, there occur, between A.D. 48 and the termination of his work, about threescore brief notices connected either with Britain or Ireland. Of this number, those which relate to Britain form the larger portion, and are, with little exception, derived from Beda's Chronicle; the others are almost wholly personal notices of a few Irish monks, or of Marianus himself.

§ 207. His Chronicle was printed at Basle, A.D. 1559, in folio, from a mutilated and interpolated manuscript; and it has been left nearly in the same imperfect condition by Struvius in the re-publication of Pistorus's collection (i. 441), in the year 1726. The best known copy of his entire work is the Vatican Manuscript (Palat. Vatic. 830.), which has many claims to be considered the autograph of Marianus himself. It has been adopted as the text of the recent admirable edition by Professor Waitz, which forms a portion of Dr. Pertz's collection of German Historians. (3) Another copy, inferior only to that in the Vatican, occurs in the Cottonian Manuscript, Nero, C. v., in the British Museum.

§ 208. It has been erroneously thought, on the supposed authority of William of Malmesbury, that Robert who was Bishop of Hereford from the year 1079 to the year 1095 had abridged the Chronicle of Marianus Scotus (4); but the work of Robert (of which two very fine manuscripts remain in the Bodleian Library) consists merely of an abridgement and simplification of its preliminary tables and dissertations.

Florence of Worcester.

§ 209. Of Florence, a monk of Worcester, nothing appears to be known, except "that "by his own labour and skill this Chronicle of Chronicles surpassed all others; and that he "died on the Nones of July in the year 1118."(5) Florence adopted for the basis of his Chronicle that of Marianus Scotus. The copy which he used, if not that now in the Cottonian Library, Nero, C. v., resembled it very closely, which he enlarged, and apparently continued to the year 1117. His additions are inserted chronologically, and relate almost wholly to Britain.

§ 210. From the year 455 to the year 597 Florence chiefly uses the Saxon Chronicle, making, however, such short additions to it from other sources as frequently clear the sense. Afterwards, to the year 732, he principally follows Beda's Ecclesiastical History and Life of St. Cuthbert, as well as the Saxon Chronicle, adding brief historical notices apparently taken from the Lives of Saints Alduf, Aldham, Eormrilda, Sexburga, Hildelitha, Egwinus, and Guthlac. From the year 732 to the year 849 it is taken from the Saxon Chronicle, except slight notices of the Saints Withburh, Kenulf, and Swithun, and a few entries of the succession of the Kings and Bishops of Mercia and Northumbria. From the year 849 to the year 888, Florence abridges or transposes Asser's Life of Alfred, occasionally adding a few passages from the Saxon Chronicle, and some short notices of St. Wistan and St. Edmund taken from Abbo. From the year 888 to the year 946 Florence again chiefly confines himself to the Saxon Chronicle, though he frequently differs from it in his chronology. From the year 946 to the year 971 he has extracted scarcely anything from the Saxon Chronicle,

---

(1) According to Waitz ap. Pertz, Scripp. v. 484.

(2) William of Malmesbury (II. 470, § 292,) remarks that in his time this system had few or no admirers. See further on the errors of the Chronology of Marianus, post.

(3) Scripp. v. 481—562.

(4) Tanner, Bibl., p. 636.

(5) A.D. 1118, in the Manuscript CCC. Oxon.

Digitized by Google

and has apparently confined himself to the Lives of Saint Dunstan, Oswald, and Ethelwold; but from the year 971 to the year 992 he again borrows from the Saxon Chronicle, adding a few passages from another source. From the year 992 to the year 1082 the Saxon Chronicle is again used, with some other large gatherings from well-known sources. After the year 1082 Florence still carries on his Chronicle on the plan of Marianus. Though he still attends principally to domestic transactions, yet he also notices foreign affairs, but they are mostly connected with the German Empire. Florence of Worcester.

§ 211. Florence selected his materials with great fidelity, industry, and judgment. His extracts from Beda are carefully made, and his transcript of the larger part of Asser's Life of Alfred is generally so exact that through it a very valuable collation of that work is obtainable. His translations from the Saxon Chronicle are, with few exceptions, very close, until the year 1030. After that period there is such a resemblance between his notices relating to Britain, and those of the Chronicle as we now possess it, as the use of one common original would necessarily afford; each is at times fuller of detail than the other, and each has incidents not noticed by the other. He does not, however, retain the same mode of reckoning the year as the Chronicle, but begins it on the First of January.

§ 212. The Continuation of Florence appears to have been carried on contemporaneously by one or more monks of Worcester. It was probably at first brought down only to the year 1131, as it ceases at that time in several manuscripts; and it ends variously in others between the last-mentioned year and the year 1141.

§ 213. One at least of these continuators seems to have been named John. Ordericus Vitalis(1) says, that, by order of Bishop Wolstan, John, a monk of Worcester, inserted the transactions of nearly one hundred years in Marianus down to the time that he himself was writing; and among these additions were many things relating to King William I., and his two sons, William and Henry. There appears, however, to be some confusion in this account with respect both to times and persons, which may probably be removed by supposing that Florence had made the insertions and begun the Continuation of Marianus by order of Wolstan; and that Ordericus, either finding John employed on the work, or perceiving that his portion of the Continuation followed upon the labours of Marianus and of Florence, in the manuscript which he saw, without interruption, hence supposed the whole of the additions had been made by him. In corroboration of this supposition, it may be observed that a person named John appears in the Manuscript in Corpus Christi Library, Oxford, at least as a contemporary interpolater, if not a continuator; that this copy seems to have belonged to the church of Worcester; and there it was, as he himself states (2) that Ordericus saw a copy of the Chronicle in question.

§ 214. Prefixed to the Chronicle are Lists of the Popes, beginning with St. Peter; of the seventy Disciples; of the Jewish High Priests, before and after the captivity; and of the Archbishops and Bishops of the several Sees in England, from the time of St. Augustine; and these are followed by the Regal Genealogies, and a specification of the limits of the several Heptarchic Kingdoms, as well as of their respective sees. The List of the Popes is found in Marianus(3); the other Lists were probably added by Florence, as he appears to use them in his Chronicle, and they occur in all the manuscripts. The Regal and Episcopal series are grounded on some very ancient Lists still remaining.

§ 215. The Chronicle of Florence of Worcester was first published in the year 1592, at London, in quarto, from manuscripts then in the possession of Lord William Howard of Naworth, third son of Thomas Duke of Norfolk; and it was reprinted very faultily at Frankfort in the year 1601.

§ 216. The two Manuscripts used by Howard are now in the Library of Trinity College, Dublin; one is in small quarto, written on vellum, in the thirteenth century, in two different hands, the first of which ceases in the year 1131, while the other continues, from the period where the first leaves off, to the year 1137, at which time it ends. Like all other copies it contains the Lists and Genealogies prefixed, and also the usual Tables and Dissertations of Marianus, which were omitted by Howard. The other Manuscript from which he obtained the remainder of the Continuation is in small duodecimo, written by various hands. It is described as a compilation from different authors, and among others from Florence; and the Continuation of his Chronicle is carried on to the year 1141, where it ends, mutilated; it has also the Lists and Genealogies prefixed as in the other Manuscripts.

(1) p. 504, ed. Du Chesne. (2) p. 504. (3) See Pertz, Scripp. v. 487.

Digitized by Google

Florence of Worcester.

§ 217. From what has been already stated, it will readily occur that, separately, the Chronicle of Marianus has scarcely any connexion with this island; and that its interest, so far as this Collection is concerned, is derived almost wholly from the additions which Florence of Worcester incorporated with its text. It was, therefore, deemed advisable generally to reclaim his share from the confused mass, and, with the exception of the few notices relating to England not derived from Beda's Chronicle, to omit that portion of Marianus which precedes the year 1000 ([1]); but after that time, as his foreign narrative is not prolix, and may be considered as nearly the work of a contemporary writer, his Chronicle, as exhibited by Florence, collated with the Manuscript in the Cottonian Collection, Nero, C. v., is preserved entire. ([2])

§ 218. The text of this Edition has been collated throughout with two manuscripts. One, here designated as A., is in the Library of Corpus Christi, Oxford, on parchment, written in double columns, about the middle of the twelfth century; a very fair copy, in one hand till near the conclusion. It appears to have belonged to the church of Worcester. Besides the usual Dissertations prefixed by Marianus, it contains the Genealogies of Kings and Bishops, &c. above mentioned, and the Continuation of Florence, ending mutilated at the year 1140. This copy supplies some small omissions, and corrects many corrupt readings of Howard's printed text. It wanted, however, several portions of the text, which have been afterwards inserted in the margin, where it has also various additions from William of Malmesbury; and, in a later hand, many insertions, mostly from the same author, relating to the death and succession of a number of Bishops, for the greater part, as it would seem, placed almost at random as regards chronology. In the Continuation, after the year 1128, it contains several additions by a contemporaneous monk of Worcester, being mostly relations of visions and other marvellous tales, which were probably added by the person named John before referred to. (§ 213.)

§ 219. The other Manuscript, here denominated B., is in the Lambeth Library, in large folio, very finely written in double columns, in a beautiful hand of the latter part of the twelfth century. It has nearly the same pieces prefixed as the Manuscript in Corpus Christi, Oxford, and contains the Continuation, ending in the year 1131. It agrees with that copy, where uninterpolated, in most of its variations from the printed text; its only additions consisting of various notices relating to Abingdon, to which monastery it formerly belonged.

§ 220. Besides these two copies, the following have been carefully examined:—

§ 221. I.—A Manuscript in the Bodleian Library, No. 297., on vellum, in large folio, double columns, of the latter part of the twelfth century, containing Florence, with the Continuation ending in the year 1131. In addition to the marginal and other variations of the Manuscript in Corpus Christi, Oxford, which in the Bodleian Manuscript are placed in the text, it contains further insertions from William of Malmesbury, the Annales of Asser, Frodoard, and Eadmer, together with various notices and charters connected with Bury, probably added by a monk of that monastery. It also contains a few marginal insertions from Beda, and from other sources. Such portions of the original text as have been compared with the Manuscript in Corpus Christi, Oxford, agree with this Bodleian copy. Its dates, through the carelessness of the scribes, are frequently misplaced. In consequence of an imperfect and hasty examination, it has been considered, though improperly, as the best copy of Marianus now extant.

§ 222. II.—A Manuscript in Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, XCII., in large folio, written on vellum, in double columns, towards the end of the twelfth or the beginning of the thirteenth century; containing Florence, with the Continuation to the year 1131. It contains

---

([1]) The Reader must bear in mind that Mr. Petrie's plan excluded from the text of a Chronicle all matter which is not original, consequently, except in a few instances, to which attention is called in the notes, no portion of the work of Marianus appears in this edition, which is confined to the genuine work of Florence. Howard's text is the Chronicle of Marianus Scotus, with additions by Florence of Worcester.

([2]) It should be remembered that when Mr. Petrie prepared this text of Florence, the edition of Marianus by Waitz, derived from the Vatican Manuscript (which supersedes the Cottonian Manuscript), had not appeared.

Digitized by Google

in the text the greater part of the additions of the Manuscript at Corpus Christi, Oxford, as well as the copy in the Lambeth Library. The remainder of those additions is in the margin, where also are supplied various portions of the text which had been unintentionally omitted by the scribe, together with many passages added from Geoffrey of Monmouth, William of Malmesbury, and Henry of Huntingdon. The dates are often erroneous, in like manner as those in the Manuscript in the Bodleian Library, No. 297. After the Continuation of Florence ceases, a further Continuation, compiled from various sources, to the year 1295 is added; but this portion will be described in its proper place. This Manuscript formerly belonged to Peterborough. Florence of Worcester.

§ 223. III.—In the Manuscript in Magdalen College, Oxford, No. 36., in small folio, of the thirteenth century, is a transcript of Florence and the Continuation from the year 1002 to the year 1131, adding some of the insertions of the Lambeth Manuscript, with a few brief extracts from William of Malmesbury and Henry of Huntingdon. It is further continued to the year 1226, but the remainder will be noticed in its proper place, together with other copies nearly similar of the same compilation.

§ 224. IV.—The Cottonian Manuscript, Vitellius, A. XIII., and the Manuscript in the Library of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, CLXXXV., erroneously attributed to Walter of Coventry.

SIMEON OF DURHAM.

§ 225. Simeon, a monk and precentor of Durham, was probably connected with that church during the lifetime of Bishop Walcher(1), who was murdered in the year 1080. He certainly was one of the nine monks who were present with Prior Turgot at the examination of St. Cuthbert's remains in 1104(2), preparatory to their translation. The time of the death of Simeon of Durham has not been ascertained, but it is not probable that he survived long after the year 1129(3), at which period his Chronicle, as it now occurs, terminates. Bale, however, asserts that Simeon flourished in the year 1164; and his statement has given rise to much unnecessary controversy with respect to the writings attributed to him. Bale's opinion was founded on the rubric prefixed to the only known manuscript of Simeon's Chronicle(4), where it seems to be asserted that the work had been continued 429 years from the age of Beda, which number, added to 735, the year of Beda's decease, would make exactly 1164. But, however this might apply to the time of the rubricator or interpolater of the manuscript in question, it does not agree with the text of the Chronicle; for the year 1129, in which year it ends, was the 394th instead of the 429th year from the death of Beda. Simeon of Durham.

§ 226. The History of the Kings of England, by Simeon of Durham, consists properly of two Chronicles, the first embracing the period between the years 616 and 957, the other extending from the year 849 (to which it returns) to 1129.

§ 227. The first Chronicle contains, in addition to the Annals, the Legends of Ethelberht and Ethelred, sons of Eormanred King of Kent; the genealogies of the Northumbrian Kings; extracts or transcripts from some of Beda's pieces; and an account of certain Bishops of Hexham. In the Annals anterior to the year 849 there are occasionally notices resembling the epitome at the end of Beda and the Saxon Chronicle. From that time to the year 887 Asser's Life of Alfred is extracted, and often amplified in a strangely inflated manner; but, from that period to the year 957, where the first part ceases, its notices chiefly relate to Northern affairs; and many of these notices, between an. 735 and 802, are not to be found in any preceding writer. Interspersed with the narrative are several verses taken from Boetius "De Consolatione Philosophiæ."

§ 228. The greater portion of the second Chronicle, extending from the year 849 to the year 1129, is only an abridgment of the works of Florence of Worcester and his

(1) Hist. Eccl. Dunelm. lib. iii. c. 21.

(2) "Reginaldi monachi Dunelmensis libellus de admirandis B. Cuthberti virtutibus," p. 84, ed. 1835. It is worthy of notice, however, that when Simeon mentions this event in his Chronicle (ad an.) he mentions facts which are not easily reconciled with the narrative of Reginald.

(3) Caligula, A. VIII. This is a History of Durham, extending to nearly the end of the twelfth century, and ending imperfectly; chiefly compiled from William of Malmesbury, Roger Hoveden, Simeon of Durham, and the Lives and Miracles of Cuthbert, who are all regularly quoted. It is preceded by Reginald's Preface to Cuthbert's Miracles.

(4) Manuscript in the Library of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, No. CXXXIX.

Digitized by Google

Simeon of Durham.

continuator, with which are intermixed various extracts from the preceding Chronicle just described, as well as from William of Malmesbury who is named, and Eadmer, together with a few passages relating to the See of Durham, or to the Northern part of England, which cannot be assigned to any other writer. From the year 1119 to the year 1129, the matter is apparently original.

§ 229. Unless Simeon of Durham issued successive editions of his Chronicle, it may be questioned whether he brought it much lower down than the year 1119, as it is found abbreviated to that date in the Cottonian Manuscript, Caligula, A. VIII.; and the Manuscript used by the compiler to whom Roger Hoveden was indebted for the first part of his Chronicle seems to have terminated in the year 1121.

§ 230. From a comparison of the times of the Abbots of St. Mary's York, and of Whitby, mentioned under the year 1074, it would seem that the Cottonian Manuscript, Caligula, A. VIII., was written in the year 1132. The Manuscript used by Hoveden between the years 1132 and 1148, and the Manuscript in the Library of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, No. CXXXIX., from which the present text is taken, was written between the years 1161 and 1180. At all events, the Cambridge Manuscript, if not continued, has at least been interpolated, by a later hand; several passages relating to posterior transactions being there discoverable as well in the text as interlined in the margin.

§ 231. Both Chronicles, to the year 1129, were used by Alfred of Beverley about the year 1143; and they were continued from the year 1129 to the death of King Stephen, probably soon after that event, by John of Hexham.

§ 232. Besides having been employed by Hoveden, as already mentioned, the two Chronicles of Simeon of Durham, together with their Continuation just noticed, were used by the compiler of the Annals of Mailros.

§ 233. In deference to the rubric at the head of the Cambridge Manuscript, and the generally received opinion, both Chronicles are ascribed to Simeon of Durham in the present Collection. But there seem strong grounds for doubting how far the first, as exhibited in the Cambridge Manuscript, can be rightly attributed to him; not to mention that in the Manuscript in question, the first Chronicle is completely separated from the second, by the insertion of several sheets from William of Malmesbury above referred to; and in support of this hypothesis the following reasons may be assigned:—

§ 234. I.—Simeon can hardly be supposed to have compiled a Chronicle breaking off abruptly at the year 957, when he had Florence of Worcester before him, from whom he might not only have supplied its deficiencies, but have continued it, as he did the second Chronicle, to the year 1118, in one unbroken series.

§ 235. II.—For the greater part, the first Chronicle differs entirely in style and manner from the other works attributed to Simeon ([1]), and especially from the second Chronicle.

§ 236. III.—The first Chronicle contains only three passages resembling the Historia Ecclesiastica Dunelmensis. The first (A.D. 793) seems the source whence the description of Lindisfarne in that History is taken, a previous account being there referred to. The other two passages, one at the year 875, and the other at the year 934, have only a general resemblance in the two works, so that it cannot be determined which is the original.

§ 237. IV.—The bulk of the first Chronicle, that is to say, the Passion of Ethelred and Ethelberht ([2]), the Genealogy of the Northumbrian Kings, the Annals to the year 803, and the excerpts from Asser, are all in a style ridiculously inflated; but the excerpts from Beda's Lives of the Abbots of Wearmouth adhere closely to the original, and the account of the

---

([1]) I. The History of the Church, or more properly of the See, of Durham, from its foundation at Lindisfarne, A.D. 635, to the year 1096. This work has been sometimes attributed to Prior Turgot, without any just foundation.

II. An Account of the Archbishops of York, addressed to Hugh dean of York.

III. A Description of the Siege of Durham, and the Acts of Uchtred, and of the Earls of Northumbria that succeeded him.

IV. The History of the English Kings, from the beginning of the seventh century to the year 1129.

The above are all printed in Twysden's "decem Scriptores" (see p. 15 ante). Simeon is also said, by Bale, to have written Epistles to Elmer prior of Canterbury; but no copy of these appears to be now extant. And the abbreviations of William of Malmesbury, mentioned also by Bale, consist of certain extracts interposed, by a later hand, between the two parts of Simeon's Chronicle in the Manuscript from which this Work has been printed.

([2]) The "Passio beatorum martyrum Ethelredi et Ethelberti, cum genealogia eorum," is in the Bodleian Library, No. 285—13.

Digitized by Google

translation of Acca and of Alchmund are sufficiently unaffected. These seem to have been interpolated by a Hexham man, who, at page 661, after his account of Acca, says "ad historiam redeam," and then the inflated style appears again. Simeon of Durham.

§ 238. V.—The Chronicle seems to have been written, in part at least, long before Simeon's time; for the Passion of Ethelred and Ethelberht describes their remains as still at Wakering; but about the year 991 they were translated to Ramsey (1), and Gotscelin, who wrote anew an account of their Passion about the year 1090, says they were removed thither from Wakering at that period; and moreover he borrows and inserts in his work, almost verbatim, the account of the Sheepstealer. (2)

§ 239. It may be added, that the Chronicle was probably mutilated from A.D. 803 to A.D. 830, when Simeon used it. At least, it appears to have been in the copy used by the compiler of the first part of Hoveden, as well as in the Cambridge Manuscript.

§ 240. The History of the English Kings, and the other works attributed to Simeon, were published by Twysden, among the "Scriptores x.," in the year 1652. Twysden obtained the History of the English Kings from the only copy which has occurred, preserved in the library of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, No. cxxxix. It is very fairly written, on vellum, in double columns, medium folio, in a hand of the latter part of the twelfth century, but the proper names have been depraved by the scribe.

§ 241. In the present Edition, the first of the Chronicles just described is given entire; while of the second, such passages are retained as are not derived from Florence of Worcester, or the other writers already noticed. Those which precede A.D. 957 are appended to the preceding Chronicle, the remainder to Florence of Worcester. Those which follow A.D. 1119 will of course be wholly preserved in their proper places.

HENRY OF HUNTINGDON.

§ 242. Henry archdeacon of Huntingdon was apparently born in England, towards the close of the eleventh century. Nicholas, his father, was a distinguished ecclesiastic, who died in the year 1110, and was buried at Lincoln. Henry was brought up from childhood in the family of Robert Bloet (3), who held the See of Lincoln from the year 1093 to the year 1123, where he appears to have been under the tuition of Albinus Andegavensis, and thence, on the death of Nicholas, the first Archdeacon of Huntingdon, was appointed by Bishop Bloet to the vacant office. (4) Henry of Huntingdon.

§ 243. About the year 1130 Henry of Huntingdon addressed his work "De Serie Regum potentissimorum" to King Henry I. In the year 1135, or perhaps shortly after, he published the first edition of his History of England, brought down to the death of that Monarch. In the year 1139, at which time his History had become known abroad, he accompanied Archbishop Theobald to Rome, and on the way thither, at Bec in Normandy, first saw the British History of Geoffrey of Monmouth in the hands of Robert del Mont (5), the chronographer; and there he probably made the abridgment of that work which he addressed to his friend Warin. (6) He wrote his celebrated Epistle "De Contemptu Mundi" (7) about the year 1145, and afterwards issued a second edition of his History of England, continued to the year 1148, which appears to have been published in that year; and soon after the death of King Stephen he further continued it to the accession of King Henry II. in the year 1154. Connected with his History of England he also wrote a treatise "De Miraculis Anglorum," and at different times composed various pieces in verse. No copy of the first edition of his History of England has occurred in a separate form; but there are several copies of the second edition, wherein are collected and arranged, probably by himself, the remainder of his works; and this arrangement, as it appears, was continued in all subsequent copies of them. How long he survived the accession of King Henry II. has not been ascertained.

---

(1) The translation of these Martyrs occurred in the reign of King Ethelred. They were removed to Ramsey, with the consent of Earl Ethelwin, in whose territory they were buried, by the assistance of Archbishop Oswald. See Capgrav. Nov. Legenda Angl. f. cxliii.

(2) p. 648.

(3) Anglia Sacra, ii. 694.

(4) Anglia Sacra, ii. 695, 696.

(5) Called also Robert de Torigny. See § 36. p. 15.

(6) Pertz, Scripp. v. 481.

(7) Anglia Sacra, ii. 694.

Digitized by Google

Henry of Huntingdon.

§ 244. Henry of Huntingdon addressed his History of England to Alexander Bishop of Lincoln, at whose desire he had undertaken to write the History of the English Nation. He states, that in the early portion of his History he rested chiefly on the authority of Beda, and that the succeeding narrative down to his own times was mostly derived from the Chronicles. In the First and Second Books, which embrace the Roman period from the Invasion of Julius Cæsar, as well as that which preceded the mission of St. Augustine, his authorities are Eutropius, the Epitome of Aurelius Victor, Beda's Ecclesiastical History and Chronicle, Nennius (whom he calls Gildas), and latterly the Saxon Chronicle. The Third Book, describing the Conversion to Christianity of the kingdoms of the Heptarchy, is wholly abridged from Beda. The earliest portion of the next three Books, which extend to the death of King William I. in the year 1087, is also borrowed from Beda; the remainder, with a few exceptions, is an abridgment of the Saxon Chronicle. In the beginning of the Seventh Book, which reaches from the year 1087 to the death of King Henry I. in the year 1135, he professes to relate only what he himself had seen, or at least what he had heard from eye-witnesses. But it seems difficult to reconcile this statement with the contents of his work; for down to the year 1127 its resemblance to the Saxon Chronicle is for the greater part as close as at any preceding period; after that time, however, there seems no doubt of his being wholly a contemporary and original writer. Besides the authorities assigned for the period during which his matter is avowedly derived from earlier writers, there are certain passages of the work which cannot be traced to any known source; and it must be confessed that some of them have at least the appearance of great amplification, if not of pure invention.

§ 245. The copy of the Saxon Chronicle used by Henry of Huntingdon was probably of the scantier class, in some respects resembling the Cottonian Manuscripts, Tiberius, A. VI., or Tiberius, B. I., but continued to a later period than either of those copies. In his translation or version of the Saxon Chronicle, either through haste, or from having an erroneous copy, his chronological series during the larger portion of the work becomes so confused as to render every endeavour to make it consistent wholly unavailing. The only resource, therefore, left has been resorted to; and dates, where requisite, have been supplied in the margin from the Saxon Chronicle. In order to show more distinctly this mode of proceeding some of his more remarkable aberrations are now given. (1.) From the arrival of the Saxons, A.D. 449, to the foundation of the West Saxon Kingdom in the year 519, the chronology agrees with the Saxon Chronicle, except in three or four instances. By misreckoning the thirteenth year of Cerdic for his twelfth year ([1]), as it should be according to his own scheme, he gains a year; and by calling his sixteenth year as his eighteenth year ([1]), he becomes two years in advance; so that the eclipses of the sun which occurred in the years 538 and 540 fall, according to his computation, in the years 540 and 542; and this excess of two years is continued to the year 584. (2.) By confounding Ceaulin's expulsion with his death, Henry of Huntingdon places the reign of Ceolric three years too early; and thence to the year 686 he loses sometimes four, sometimes five, and sometimes six years, by misreckoning the intermediate years. (3.) He confounds Aldhelm's election to the Bishoprick of Sherborne with his death, and places the foundation of that See in Ina's twentieth year, A.D. 708, instead of his seventeenth year, A.D. 705; he then reckons a year short to the year 725, by mistaking Ina's twenty-first year for the twentieth; he then loses two years to the year 729; and after the year 733 reckons an interval of two years instead of four years. (4.) He gives the years of the Incarnation at the years 769, 786, and 800; and, by reckoning backward from these dates severally, he agrees with the Saxon Chronicle for the accession of Kinewulf in the year 755, and of Brithric in the year 784. But in his progressive chronology, by misreckoning he becomes too much in advance up to the year 780; and then, by an omission, loses four years, and places the commencement of Brithric's reign in the year 780 instead of in the year 784. (5.) From Ecgberht's accession in the year 800 until the year 823 he agrees with the Saxon Chronicle, except that he rightly places the death of Charlemagne in the year 814, and that of Pope Leo III. in the year 815. He then loses one year by neglecting the blank year 824 in the Chronicle, and so continues wrong until the year 865, the accession of Ethered,—avowedly contrary to his own design, for he calls the year 870 the fifth regnal year of that King, which, by his mode of computing, would give the year 866 as the date of his accession. (6.) His usual computation during the reign of Alfred the Great is one year short to the year 891, when he becomes more confused, and gains from one to ten years. The false dates and blunders in the chronology noticed above are not a tithe of those which exist in this writer's History; but it has not been deemed advisable to swell the list of his chronological blunders, a sufficient number having been pointed out to draw attention to the fact. Henry of Huntingdon.

([1]) p. 712 D.

Digitized by Google

§ 246. Henry of Huntingdon's History of England was first printed in Sir Henry Savile's collection of the "Scriptores post Bedam" in the year 1596, and was reprinted at Frankfort in the year 1603. Savile appears to have collated several Manuscripts, but has not specified them. For the present edition the text of Savile has been collated with four Manuscripts.

§ 247. A.—Manuscript, Norfolk, Arundel, vellum, No. 48.

§ 248. B.—Manuscript, Grosvenor, vellum, in small folio, in a hand of the early part of the thirteenth century, and ending in the year 1148.

§ 249. C.—A Manuscript in the Library of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, No. CCLXXX., in quarto, written on vellum, in the thirteenth century.

§ 250. D.—The Royal Manuscript in the British Museum, 13 B. VI., on vellum, in small quarto, of the fourteenth century, both ending in the year 1154.

§ 251. The variations obtained by the collation of the first seven Books are, on the whole, very few, and those mostly verbal, although they occasionally supply the means of correcting the blunders of the scribes. In the Eighth Book the variations have been much more valuable, having rectified many mistakes of Savile's printed text, and afforded some additions thereto.

§ 252. It may be right to add, that Mr. Petrie did not deem it necessary to print the Third Book, as it is merely an abridgment of Beda, and therefore did not fall within the plan of his Collection.

GEOFFREY GAIMAR.

§ 253. The little that is known concerning Geoffrey Gaimar is supplied by himself at the conclusion of his Estorie des Engles. (1) It there appears that he was of Troyes; that he translated his Estorie for a lady named Constance, apparently the wife of Richard Fitz Gilbert, who assisted him in his labours; that he procured a variety of books to enable him to perform his task, which he seems to say began with the History of Jason and the Golden Fleece; and that he was prepared to continue his present work, if required, by appending to it the Life of King Henry I. To this account it may be added, that, from various circumstances relating to persons and places, it seems probable that he composed his Estorie either in Yorkshire or Lincolnshire, about or soon after the middle of the twelfth century. The presumed first part of his work, beginning with Jason, is apparently lost; that portion which is now extant begins abruptly with the arrival of Cerdic and the Saxons, in the year 495, and seems to refer to Wace's translation of the "Brute," which precedes it in three out of the four manuscript copies now remaining; though it is possible that the reference may intend to designate the lost portion above noticed, supposing it to have been continuous with the present work. It ends with the death of William Rufus, in the year 1100. Geoffrey Gaimar.

§ 254. The basis of this work is taken from the Saxon Chronicle, to which Gaimar seems not unfrequently to refer, under the several designations of the "Verie Geste" (2), "Vielle Geste" (3), "la Geste" (4), "l'Estorie" (5), "la Vraie Estorie" (6), "l'Estorie de Wincestre" (7), "Croniz" (8), "Cronicles" (9), "Liveres" (10), "Livre Ancien" (11), "li Ancienz" (12), "l'Antive Gent." (13) He also refers to "l'Estorie" in the story of Haveloc (14), to Gildas (15), to "li Bref" for St. Cuthbert's translation (16), to the Life of Guthlac (17), to "la Vie et Estorie" of St. Edmund King of the East Angles (18), "l'Estorie" for the coronation and for the penance

(1) pp. 801, 2; 812; 828, 2; 829, 1, 2.
(2) p. 774, 2.
(3) p. 794, 2.
(4) p. 791.
(5) pp. 788; 792, 2.
(6) p. 791, 2.
(7) pp. 791, 829.
(8) p. 792, 2.
(9) pp. 776; 789, 2.
(10) p. 805, 2.
(11) p. 776, 2.
(12) pp. 786; 784, 2.
(13) p. 792.
(14) p. 774.
(15) p. 765.
(16) p. 780.
(17) p. 784.
(18) p. 801, 2.

Digitized by Google

Geoffrey Gaimar.

of Elfthryth Queen of Edgar (1); and, in the conclusion of his work, "li Livre de Wassinburc" (2), and "le Livre d'Oxenford" (2), or Geoffrey of Monmouth's British History, are cited. (2)

§ 255. A Manuscript of the Saxon Chronicle, nearly resembling the Manuscripts D. and E., supplied him with the basis of his work till near the close of the tenth century; but thenceforward his notices derived from it are few and occasional. These, in his translation, are frequently abbreviated, though the narrative is also often enlarged; sometimes expletively, by mere reduplication; sometimes, as it would seem, from an illation of incidents; and at other times, by the insertion of matters wholly new, but apparently obtained from preceding narrations of a description more or less fabulous, but having occasionally among them various incidents which bespeak credible authority. The principal of these are facts derived from the Romance of Haveloc (3), the account of the death of Cynewlf King of Wessex (4), the description of the composition of the Saxon Chronicle (5), the Stories of Buern (6), the character of Alfred (7), of Eadgar and Aelfthrythe (8), of the murder of Edward the Martyr (9), of the duel between Edmund Ironside and Cnute (10), of the exile of the children of Edmund Ironside (11), and of the flight of Earl Godwin. (12)

§ 256. In his version of the Chronicle, Gaimar does not always adhere to chronological order: he often mistakes the sense, confounds different persons of the same name, and distorts strangely the names of persons and places. In the portions after the Conquest, his narration, in a few instances, resembles that of Florence of Worcester, or of Simeon of Durham; but, generally speaking, though his account of William Rufus seems sometimes to be taken from a source known to William of Malmesbury and to Ordericus Vitalis, he cannot be traced decisively to any known author. It may be remarked, that although his description of the death of William Rufus would, from its minuteness, lead to the supposition that he spoke from good information, yet the mention of his obsequies being celebrated by Walkelin Bishop of Winchester, who had been dead nearly two years previously, seems to cast some doubt on its general exactness.

§ 257. In this Collection, the History of Gaimar is printed from a Manuscript, by far the fullest copy at present known, in the Royal Collection at the British Museum, 13 A. 21., octavo, in double columns, of the early part of the thirteenth century; collated with two others, in the libraries of the Dean and Chapter of Durham, and of the Dean and Chapter of Lincoln, both in small quarto, in double columns, also of the thirteenth century; and with another manuscript belonging to the Arundel Collection at the Herald's College, in quarto, in double columns, of the fourteenth century. The two former manuscripts have few variations from each other; they want various passages found in A., and seem occasionally slightly abbreviated; and before the conclusion, they interpose a versified description of Britain, translated nearly from Henry of Huntingdon. The last, compared with A., wants many considerable passages, and the language is generally somewhat modernized. These manuscripts are respectively designated by the letters A. B. C. and D.

ANNALES CAMBRIÆ,

AB AN. CIRCITER 444 ADUSQUE AN. 1066.

Annales Cambriæ.

§ 258. The anonymous Annals of Cambria, now first printed, are derived from three copies, which have been respectively distinguished by the letters A. B. and C.

§ 259. A.—Manuscript in the Harleian Collection, No. 3859, in parchment, in octavo, in triple columns, of the latter part of the tenth or the beginning of the eleventh century, inserted without title or introduction in the body of a Manuscript of Nennius, already described at page 68. It appears to have been written in South Wales, probably at St. David's, as the Bishop of that see, as well as its monastery, are repeatedly noticed; and it forms the basis of the legitimate History of Wales. The earlier portion appears to have been taken from an

---

(1) pp. 812, 2; 814.
(2) p. 829.
(3) p. 769, et seq.
(4) p. 786, 2.
(5) p. 774. Query, 792—807.
(6) pp. 795. 797, 798.
(7) p. 807.
(8) p. 812, note a; p. 814.
(9) pp. 813; 809, note a.
(10) p. 817.
(11) p. 819.
(12) p. 822.

Digitized by Google

Irish Chronicle, which was also used by Tigernach, and by the compiler of the Annals of Ulster, with which it occasionally agrees till near the end of the fifth century. During its first century it contains scarcely anything relating to Britain; and its earliest direct concurrence with English History is in mentioning the mission of St. Augustine, when the Angles are first mentioned. Its notices throughout, though very brief, are highly valuable. The chronology is designated by the repetition of the word "annus" for each successive year, whether blank or otherwise, and every tenth year is marked x. xx., &c. Annales Cambriæ.

§ 260. From a comparison of the dates assigned by Tigernach and other ancient writers to many of the events here noticed, it may be conjectured that the era on which its chronology rests would concur with the year 444 of the Incarnation, though no probable reason can be assigned for this particular period having been selected for its commencement. But although the starting point cannot be determined with certainty, the internal or relative chronology may generally be depended on; for as every tenth year was to be numbered, the transcriber was not likely greatly to err, although he might occasionally place the event to be noticed against the wrong "annus." It may be added that the scribe of this copy appears frequently to have been either careless or ignorant.

§ 261. B.—"Annales ab Orbe Condito adusque A.D. 1286;" Manuscript, in folio, written in triple columns, in a hand of the close of the thirteenth century, without title or introduction, on certain fly leaves prefixed to an abridged copy of Domesday Book in the Public Record Office, in the custody of the Master of the Rolls, formerly in charge of the King's Remembrancer in the Court of Exchequer. The basis of this Chronicle, down to the empire of Leo I., A.D. 457, is derived from the Thirty-ninth Chapter of the Fifth Book of Isidore's Origines, apparently through the medium of Beda's shorter Chronicle, with some insertions relating to general Ecclesiastical History from another source, and with the further addition of a few brief notices taken from Geoffrey of Monmouth's British History. With the exception of the mission of St. Patrick, it has no notice relating either to Britain or to Ireland from the Invasion of Julius Cæsar to the arrival of Hengist, here placed twelve years after the accession of Leo I. From that period it agrees nearly with Manuscript A., until that copy ends; it is continued, rather briefly, to the beginning of the thirteenth century, but afterwards becomes much fuller on Welch affairs. It is apparently the work of one or more Welchmen, and has frequent notices relating to the monastery of Strata Florida, where the latter part was probably composed. In the portion derived from Isidore, the computation by the length of reign of the several emperors is adopted; but this, by the omission or confusion of different persons, is utterly false, inasmuch as it would place the accession of Leo in the year 397 instead of the year 457, the arrival of Hengist in the year 409 instead of the year 449, and the change of Easter Day, the first incident of Manuscript A., in the year 420 instead of the year 453. It was doubtless intended that from the time of its concurrence with Manuscript A., down to the year 1097, where the common era is adopted, each successive year should, as in that copy, have been noted by the word "annus"; but, owing apparently to some mis-reckoning of the intervening or blank years, and the want of a check similar to that of numbering the tenth year observed in Manuscript A., its chronology from that point also is constantly running into confusion; so that, assuming its agreement with the former Manuscript at the year 453, after having undergone a great number of intermediate variations, it will be found to have lost seven years at the year 954, where the copy ends; and in like manner at the year 1098, where, as has already been observed, the common era is adopted, it will be found to be eight years short of the true reckoning.

§ 262. C.—"Annales ab Orbe Condito adusque an. 1286;" Manuscript in the Cottonian Collection, Domitian, A. I., in small octavo, of the end of the thirteenth century. Of this Chronicle, the portion extending from the Creation to the Empire of Heraclius, A.D. 614–40, consists, like the early part of Manuscript B., of extracts from Isidore's Origines, apparently through the medium of Beda; of a few brief extracts from Geoffrey of Monmouth; and also of a portion of the notices contained in Manuscript A. during the same period. Thenceforward it agrees nearly with Manuscript A. till that copy ceases, and generally with Manuscript B. to the year 1203; afterwards it is wholly different, and has fewer and briefer notices of Wales, and these have mostly an air of partiality towards the English. Its chronology, like that of Manuscript B., is founded, first, on the length of reign of the several

Digitized by Google

Annales Cambriæ.

Emperors, and afterwards on the repetition of the word "annus." The former portion, from causes similar to those already described with respect to Manuscript B., is utterly false; the latter portion, down to the year 1135, is subject to the same kind of errors as that Manuscript; but after that date the "annus" is more carefully noted; and, so far as the means of verifying the chronology occur, during the remainder of the work, it is generally right. The years 1286 and 1288, which are in a later hand, have the date of the Incarnation prefixed. From about the year 1016 to the year 1200, this manuscript has some leaves of parchment interposed, containing brief notices of English affairs. To the year 1135 they are abridged from Florence of Worcester and his Continuator; afterwards, they are taken from another source, and have frequent mention of the Bishops of Worcester. Each notice has a reference to its intended place in the text; but these references are very faulty throughout, as to time, and in the portion of the Chronicle now given are wholly omitted. It may be added that extracts from this copy, which, under the year 735, is attributed to Beda, have been printed by H. Wharton in the Anglia Sacra.

§ 263. From the foregoing statement it will readily appear that whatever relates to events preceding the middle of the fifth century in the copies B. and C. has been prefixed at a later period to the original form of the Chronicle as it stands in Manuscript A., and that, historically, such preliminary matter is worthless. That portion, therefore, has been omitted in this Collection; and the Chronicle is printed, even with its errors, from Manuscript A., collated with Manuscripts B. and C.; and, when Manuscript A. ceases, from Manuscript B., collated with Manuscript C. to the year 1066; and such additional matter as was afforded by collation, and would cohere with the text, has been inserted throughout in brackets. So long as Manuscript A. continues, a numeral has been supplied for each intervening "annus;" and, in order to afford a real approximation to the common era, the date of 444 has been assumed as concurrent with its first "annus," and the year of the Incarnation constantly affixed down to the year 954, which would then correspond with the year 510 of that Manuscript.

§ 264. With respect to the remainder of the period to the year 1066, the chronological notation of the Manuscripts B. and C., as has already been remarked, is so irregular and erroneous, that all attempts to reduce it to order have been unavailing; and the only resource which remained was to afford such occasional approximations to the dates of certain events as were attainable from synchronisms discoverable in the Saxon Chronicle, Florence of Worcester, and other authentic sources.

BRUT Y TYWYSOGION.

Brut y Tywysogion.

§ 265. There are at present extant in the Welch language no less than five Chronicles (1), the bases of which resemble the Annals of "Brut y Tywysogion," or "The Chronicle of the Princes of Wales." Omitting whatever precedes the year 680 of the later copies of these Annals, they all begin at the pretended abdication and death of Caedwala at Rome, with which Geoffrey of Monmouth's History of the Kings of Britain concludes, at the end of the seventh century; but they end at different periods between the middle of the twelfth and the latter part of the thirteenth century.

§ 266. The compilation of the early part (2) of the Chronicle of the Princes given in this Collection, from which the others seem in a great measure derived, has been attributed to Caradoc of Llancarvan, who seems to have flourished about the middle of the twelfth century, but of whom the only early notice hitherto discovered occurs at the conclusion of

(1) Powel, in the Preface to his Historie of Cambria, asserts the existence of upwards of a hundred copies of the Chronicle of the Princes; but this must surely have been written at random, or else during the last two centuries the number must have been considerably lessened, for they have now become scarce.

(2) It is evident, from the exuberance or paucity of the narrative of events, that various persons were engaged from time to time in the compilation of these Chronicles, sometimes for a period of ten or twenty years; and as was the zeal or indifference of the annalist so was his notice of events. Upon the termination of Caradoc's compilation, Gutyn Owain affirms that occurrences were registered in the monastic establishments of Strata Florida and Conway; and that the writers of those establishments adopted the work of Caradoc as the basis of their Annals. Gutyn Owain considered that Caradoc's portion terminated in the year 115; but Mr. Aneurin Owen is of opinion that there is no change of language in any of the manuscripts at that year to justify a conclusion that there was a change of writers at that time, though there is a remarkable alteration at the year 1120.

Digitized by Google

Brut y Tywysogion.

Geoffrey of Monmouth's British History (1), from which it would appear that Caradoc lived about the middle of the twelfth century, and that he was either engaged in or meditated writing a History of the Princes of Wales, but whether in Latin or in Welch it is not stated. However this may be, it seems clear that the present Chronicle was translated from the Latin (2), and that its chronology was an attempted adaptation of the decennary notation observed in the Annales Cambriæ to the era of the Incarnation; but it has been so carelessly executed that the intervals which, according to the Annales, ought to exhibit the events of ten years, at one time contain the events of three years, at another of sixteen years.

§ 267. The text of the Brut y Tywysogion has been taken from the Red Book of Hergest, now preserved at Jesus College, Oxford, a manuscript of the fourteenth century, here marked A. This manuscript has been selected on account of its being entire, and written throughout in the same dialect, the Dimetian, as the majority of existing copies. It has been collated with two manuscripts at Hengwrt, designated as B. and C., with the Cottonian Manuscript, Cleopatra, B. v., here marked E.; and also with the Book of Basingwerk (3), now belonging to Thomas Griffith, Esquire, of Wrexham.

§ 268. The marginal chronology, derived also from the Annales Cambriæ, is taken from the Cottonian Manuscript, Cleopatra, B. v. This copy is called "Brut y Saeson" (4), and consists of the usual Welch text, mixed with a Welch version of considerable portions of the Winchester Annals of Richard of Divizes, and of a few excerpts from other English writers, which it has not been deemed necessary to notice as various readings.

DE BELLO HASTINGENSI CARMEN.

De Bello Hastingensi Carmen.

§ 269. This Poem is the production of an anonymous writer; but from the letters "L" and "W," it is supposed to have been addressed to Lanfranc by Wido or Guido, who held the See of Amiens from the year 1059 to the year 1075, and who is said by Ordericus Vitalis (5) to have composed a poem on this subject immediately after the event, in which he highly extolled William, and vituperated Harold. William of Jumieges refers his readers to a poem by this Guy, which he says was written in hexameters, and which he designated as a respectable production. (6) But beyond these remarks, they afford no clue for the appropriation of his work, as they either spoke of it as hearsay, or else it was of too declamatory a nature to allow of their using it in their respective accounts of William's successful enterprise. So far, indeed, as the laudatory or vituperative character of Guido's composition is concerned, this Poem might well agree with their description. The theory of their identity is also favoured by each having written in heroic verse (7); and the manner in which the heir of Ponthieu, who was apparently great nephew of that Prelate, is mentioned in the Poem, would seem to support

---

(1) "The princes who ruled afterwards in Wales I committed to Caradoc of Lancarvan, who was my contemporary, and to him I left the materials to write that book. The Saxon Kings who succeeded consecutively I committed to William of Malmesbury and Henry of Huntingdon, and commanded them to write concerning the Saxon Kings, and omit the Welch, as they are not possessed of that Welch book which Walter archdeacon of Oxford translated from the Latin, wherein he treats truly and fully of the above Welchmen; and I retranslated the whole from the Welch into Latin."

(2) From the paucity of manuscripts, and the absence of any Latin manuscript of this form, Mr. Aneurin Owen is of opinion that it is difficult to decide whether this Chronicle was originally a Welch compilation or a translation; for the language of the Welch text, at least at the commencement, betrays a Latin origin; and that this is strikingly apparent in one manuscript, in which the rendering is frequently erroneous. There is no copy of the Chronicle of the Princes of Wales in the British Museum written in the Welch Language; and but three, and those in Welch, in Hengwrt Library.

(3) The "Book of Basingwerk" is so styled on account of having been in the Library of Basingwerk Abbey. The early part of this manuscript contains an imperfect version of the Chronicle of the Kings, written about the middle of the fourteenth century, by the celebrated bard and herald Gutyn Owain. The Rev. Peter Roberts adopted this manuscript for the publication of the Chronicle of the Kings. This Chronicle occurs in libraries much more frequently than the Chronicle of the Princes.

(4) The compilation called "Brut y Saeson," or Chronicle of the Saxons, is a corrupted version of the Brut y Tywysogion, amalgamated with the Annales Wyntonienses, in order to connect and detail contemporaneous occurrences in England and Wales. The portion relating to Welch events is very carelessly constructed, the facts in many instances perverted, and the language frequently obscure. A copy of this compilation is in the Cottonian Collection in the British Museum, Cleopatra, A. XIV.

(5) p. 504, 10. ed. Du Chesne.

(6) Opus non contemnendum, p. 669, ed. Camd.

(7) The defects of the second line might be thus supplied, in accordance with the theory here suggested:
"Erigit et decorat L[anfrancum] W[ido] salutat."

Digitized by Google

De Bello Hastingensi Carmen.

this conjecture. Some difficulty, however, might arise in reconciling the style and subject of the Introduction (which seems to bespeak a young man unoccupied, and aiming at celebrity by writing verses,) with the character of a Prelate already so distinguished as to be appointed to accompany Matilda, the wife of the King, to his new dominions, in the year 1068.(1) But whoever may have been the author of this Poem, it would seem from the Introduction that it was composed at no distant period from the event described; and many of its details are not discoverable elsewhere. Assuming that Guy Bishop of Amiens were the author, the proximity of relationship in which he stood to William the Conqueror would tend, on the one hand, to give additional value to the accuracy of the statements, coming from a quarter likely to be so well informed; and, on the other, might call upon us to make allowances for the family predilections of the writer. (2) In various instances, indeed, the narrative is not unlike that of Willielmus Pictaviensis; but this resemblance is only general; each occasionally, in describing the same event, exhibiting circumstances which are not to be found in the other. The narrative embraces a period of about four months; and, if Guy be the author, it was finished before his journey into England in 1068. (3)

§ 270. This Poem was discovered by Dr. Pertz, the learned editor of the Monumenta Germanica. It is in the Royal Library at Brussels, formerly that of the Dukes of Burgundy, in a quarto volume numbered 2694, amid a great variety of other pieces, without title or heading of any kind. It is written continuously in one unbroken series, in a very minute hand, and was apparently composed before the middle of the twelfth century. The Poem seems defective at the end, although there is no indication of such defect in the manuscript.

---

(1) Ord. Vital. p. 510.
(2) Ord. Vital. ad an. p. 510.
(3) See the Archæologia, xxvi. 357.

Digitized by Google

APPENDIX.

THE object of the foregoing pages has been to call attention to some of the principal works, containing materials for the History of Britain down to the reign of Hen. VII., which had issued from the Press between the introduction of printing into this Country and the end of the eighteenth century, when Gibbon and Pinkerton proposed a grand National Collection, similar to that now published under the editorship of Mr. Petrie; but, as it has been suggested that a list of works similar to those already described, which have since appeared, would be acceptable to the Public, and render this general Introduction to the Materials for the History of Britain more complete in itself, the following has been accordingly prepared, though unavoidably imperfect; but all comment on the works in question has been abstained from. Those works which exclusively refer to the periods subsequent to the reign of Hen. VII. and those which originated in and after that reign are not noticed, as they do not fall within the scope of this plan.*

The Origin and Succession of the Bishops of Durham, printed from the original manuscript in the Dean and Chapter's Library at Durham. 1779. Quarto.

Liber Quotidianus contrarotulatoris Garderobæ. Quarto. 1787.

A short metrical Chronicle of England from Brute to 1312. Octavo. Lond. 1802.

Holinshed's Chronicle of England, Scotland, and Ireland. 6 vols. 1807.

Du Chesne (And.) Historiæ Anglicanæ circa tempus Conquestus Angliæ a Guilielmo Notho Normannorum Duce, cum Notis, &c. a Fr. Maseres. Quarto. Lond. 1807.

Froissart's and Monstrelet's Chronicles of England, France, and Spain, by Johnes. 24 vols. Octavo. 1808–10.

Grafton's Chronicle. Quarto. Lond. 2 vols. 1809.

Hall's Chronicle of England. Quarto. Lond. 1809.

The Description of Britain; translated from Richard of Cirencester, with the Original Treatise "De situ Britanniæ"; edited by H. Hatcher. Octavo. Lond. 1809.

Fabyan's New Chronicles of England and France; edited by Sir Henry Ellis. Quarto. Lond. 1811.

Froissart's Chronicles of England, France, Spain, and Portugal; edited by Lord Berners. 2 vols. 1812.

Hardyng's Chronicle, with Grafton's Continuation; edited by Sir Henry Ellis. Quarto. Lond. 1812.

Chanson moult pitoyable des grievouses oppressions qe la povre Commune de Engletere souffre soubz la Cruelte des Justices de Trayllbastun. Un chaunt que fust fet sur la Mort e occysion du tres noble Seignour Symon de Mountfort nadgweres Cuens de Leycestre. Edited by Sir F. Palgrave. Black letter. 1818. Privately printed.

Inventure of ane Parte of the Gold and Silver Cunyeit and Uncunyeit Jowellis and uther Stuff pertening to unquhile oure Soverane Lordis Fader that he had in Depois the Tyme of his Deccis, and that come to the Handis of our Soverane Lord that now is, M.CCCCLXXXVIII. 1818. 4to.

Ane Addicioun of Scottis Croniklis and Deidis, and a short Chronicle of the Reign of James the Second, King of Scots, an historical fragment, from a manuscript in the Auchinleck Library; edited by T. Thomson. Edinb. 4to. n.d. (? 1818). Privately printed.

The "Historia Brittonum," commonly ascribed to Nennius; from a manuscript lately discovered in the Vatican Library, with an English version, &c.; edited by the Rev. W. Gunn. 8vo. Lond. 1819.

Vitæ Dunkeldensis Ecclesiæ Episcoporum, a prima Sedis Fundatione, ad Annum M.D.XV. Ab Alexandro Myln, ejusdem Ecclesiæ Canonico. Edited by Thos. Thomson and Cosmo Innes. Quarto. Edinb. 1823–31. Printed at the expense of the Bannatyne Club.

Hectoris Boethii Murtplacensium et Aberdonensium Episcoporum Vitæ (1522). Iterum in lucem editæ. Quarto. 1825. Printed for the Bannatyne Club.

Rerum Hibernicarum Scriptores Veteres.

Tom. I. Continens Epistolam nuncupatoriam quæ Codicum vetustissimorum Hibernensium notitiam, et Regum Chronologiam complectitur, item prolegomena ad Annales, Partibus II. Quarum prima, vetustissimorum de Hibernia Testimonia Historica, secunda Annalium et Carminum Hiberniensium Catalogos comprehendit. Auctore Carolo O'Connor, S. T. D.

Tom. II. Complectens Annales Tigernachi, ex Codice Bodleiano, Rawlinson, No. 488, Annales Inisfalenses, ex duobus Codicibus, Dubliniense et Bodleiano, itemque Annales Buellianos, ex Codice Cottoniano Titus A. XXV. Nunc primum edidit C. O'Connor, D.D.

Tom. III. Complectens Quatuor Magistrorum Annales Hibernici usque ad annum MC.LXXII. ex ipso O'Clerii autographo in Bibliotheca Stowense servato. Nunc primum versione donati ac notis illustrati curante C. O'Connor, D.D.

Tom. IV. Complectens Annales Ultonienses ab anno D. CCC.XXXI. ad annum D. MC.XXXI. Ex Codice Bodleiano: itemque Indicem Generalem. Nunc primum edidit C. O'Connor, D.D. 1814–26.

The Saxon Chronicle from the Incarnation to the death of King Stephen, &c., with an English Translation by James Ingram. Quarto. Lond. 1823.

Original Letters illustrative of English History; edited by Sir Henry Ellis. 3 vols. 8vo. Lond. 1824.

——— Second Series. 4 vols. 8vo. Lond. 1827.

The Chronicle of London from 1089 to 1483; edited by Sir Harris Nicolas. 4to. Lond. 1827.

Registrum Eleemosynariæ D. Pauli Londinensis. Now first printed from a manuscript in the Harleian Collection, by permission of the Trustees of the British Museum; with corroborative and explanatory Notes by Miss Hackett. London, 1827. 4to. Privately printed.

* The publications of the Record Commission, and the materials for English History which occur in the French, German, and other national collections, are not specified, as they form distinct classes; and all translations, where the original is not given, are designedly omitted, such as Miss Gurney's valuable translation of the Saxon Chronicle.

Digitized by Google

Registrum Wiltunense, Saxonicum et Latinum, in Museo Britannico asservatum, ab anno regis Alfredi 892 ad annum regis Eadwardi 1045. Nunc demum Notis illustraverunt J. Ingram, S.A.S.; Sharon Turner, S.A.S.; T.D. Fosbrooke, S.A.S.; Thomas Phillipps, Bart., S.A.S.; Richard Colt Hoare, Bart., S.A.S.; sumptibus R. C. Hoare. Londini, Typis Nicholsianis. Anno 1827.

Wace Robert — Le Roman de Rou et des Ducs de Normandie; publié pour la première fois d'apres les manuscrits de France et d'Angleterre, &c.; par Fred. Pluguet. 8vo. Rouen, 1827.

King Alfred's Will, Saxon and English. 8vo. Lond. 1828.

The Roll of Karlaverok, an heraldic poem, enumerating the barons, knights, and gentlemen who attended King Edward 1st to the siege of Karlaverok Castle in Scotland anno 1300. From a manuscript in the British Museum, a free translation from the French. Edited by Sir N. H. Nicolas. 1828.

Chronicon Coenobii Sanctæ Crucis Edinburgensis. Iterum in lucem editum. Edited by Robert Pitcairn. Edinb. 1828. 4to. Printed for the Bannatyne Club.

Beckington (Bp. Tho.) A journal during his embassy in 1442 to negotiate a marriage between Henry VI. and a daughter of Count Armagnac, with Notes, &c. by N. Harris Nicolas. Lond. Royal 8vo. 1828.

The ancient English Romance of Havelok the Dane, accompanied by the French text; with an Introduction, Notes, and a Glossary, by Frederick Madden, Esq., F.A.S., F.R.S.L., Sub-keeper of the Manuscripts in the British Museum. London. 4to. 1828. Printed for the Roxburghe Club.

Extrait du Registre des dons, confiscations, maintenues, et autres actes faits dans le Duché de Normandie, pendant les années 1418, 1419, et 1420, par Henri V. Roi d'Angleterre; par Charles Vautier. 12mo. Paris, 1828.

Roll of Arms of Peers and Knights in the reign of Edward II. 8vo. Lond. 1828.

Rolls of Arms of the reigns of Henry III. and Edward III.; edited by Sir Harris Nicolas. 8vo. Lond. 1829.

Cartularium Saxonicum Malmesburiense. Typis medio Montanis exc. Edvinus Offer. (1829). Folio.

Gaufridi Arthurii Monemuthensis archidiaconi postea vero episcopi Asaphensis De Vita et Vaticiniis Merlini Calidonii. Carmen heroicum; edited by G. Ellis. 4to. 1830. Printed for the Roxburghe Club.

Chronicon Vilodunense; sive de Vita et Miraculis Sanctæ Edithæ Regis Edgari filiæ carmen vetus Anglicum. E. Codice unico Cottoniano in Museo Britannico adservato, nunc demum in lucem editum; cura Gulielmi Henrici Black; sumptibus Ricardi Colt Hoare. Londini, 1830. Folio.

Magni Rotuli Scaccarii Normaniæ de Anno ab Incarnatione Domini M.C.LXXXIIII. Willielmo filio Radulfii senescallo quæ extant. 1830. 4to. Privately printed by Henry Petrie, Esq.

Elizabeth of York, Queen of Henry VII. Privy purse expenses from 1502 to 1503; to which are added the wardrobe accounts of Edward IV. an. 1480; edited by Sir Harris Nicolas. 8vo. Lond. 1830.

The Chronicle of Perth; a register of remarkable occurrences, chiefly connected with that city, from the year 1210 to 1668. Edin. 4to. 1830. Printed for the Maitland Club.

Menologium or the poetical calendar of the Anglo-Saxons, by the Rev. Samuel Fox. 8vo. Lond. 1830.

Rotuli de dominabus et pueris et puellis de donatione Regis in XII. comitatibus; de itinere Hugonis de Morewiche, Radulfi Murdac, Willielmi Vavassur et magistri Thome de Hesseburn anno 31 Hen. II. 1135, curante Stacey Grimaldi, Arm. S.A.S. 4to. Lond. 1830.

A Chronicle of the Kings of Scotland, from Fergus I. to James VI. in the year 1611; edited by J. W. Mackenzie, 1830. Printed for the Maitland Club.

Registrum Cartarum Prioratus Tutteburiensis, Manuscript. No. LIX., inter Codices Arundellianos in Bibliotheca Fecialium Londini asservatum. Registrum Cartarum Prioratus De Novo Loco, Manuscript. No. LX., inter Codices Arundellianos in Bibliotheca Collegii Fecialium Londini asservatum. Royal 8vo. Lond. 1831.

The Scrope and Grosvenor Roll. De controversia in curia militari inter Ricardum Le Scrope et Robertum Grosvenor, milites; Rege Ricardo Secundo, M.CCC.LXXXV. —M.CCC.XC.; edit. N. H. Nicolas, 1832. Impl. 8vo. Privately printed.

Registrum Monasterii de Passelet, cartas privilegia conventiones aliaque munimenta complectens a domo fundata A.D. 1163, usque ad A.D. 1529; edited by Cosmo Innes. 4to. 1832. Printed for the Maitland Club.

The History of the battle of Agincourt, and of expedition of Henry V. to France in 1415, and the roll of the men-at-arms in the English Army, edited by Sir N. H. Nicolas. Royal 8vo. 1832.

The ancient English Romance of William and the Werwolf, edited from an unique copy in King's College Library, Cambridge; with an Introduction and Glossary by F. Madden, and two letters from the Hon. Algernon Herbert, addressed to the Earl of Cawdor, discussing the subject of Werwolves and the original etymology of Werwolf. Black letter. 4to. 1832. Printed for the Roxburghe Club.

Ancient Criminal Trials in Scotland, compiled from original records, from 1483 to 1624, by Robert Pitcairne. 7 vols. Edin. 1833. Printed at the expense of the Maitland Club.

Cartularium comitatus de Levenax ab initio seculi decimi tertii usque ad annum 1398; edited by James Dennistoun jun. Edin. 4to. 1833. Printed for the Maitland Club.

Excerpta Historica, edited by Samuel Bentley. Royal 8vo. Lond. 1833.

Catalogue of Pictish Kings, from a manuscript of the thirteenth century; by Sir Thomas Phillipps, Bart. Vol. II. Part ii. of Transactions of the Royal Society of Literature. 4to.

Beowulf, an Anglo-Saxon poem; edited by John M. Kemble. 8vo. Lond. 1833.

Extrait des Chartes et autres actes Normands ou Anglo Normands qui se trouvent dans les archives de Calvados; par A. L. D'Anisy. Caen, 1834.

Illustrations of Scottish History from the twelfth to the sixteenth century, selected from unpublished manuscripts in the British Museum and the Tower of London; edited by Jos. Stevenson. 4to. 1834.

Instrumenta publica, sive processus super fidelitatibus et homagiis Scotorum, Domino Regi Angliæ factis, A.D. 1291–1296. 4to. 1834. Printed for the Bannatyne Club.

Roll of Arms of the reign of King Richard the Second; edited by T. Willement. Royal 4to. 1834.

Reginaldi monachi Dunelmensis libellus de Admirandis Beati Cuthberti virtutibus; edited by the Rev. J. Raine. 1835. Printed for the Surtees Society.

Digitized by Google

Chronica de Mailros, e codice unico in Bibliotheca Cottoniana servato, nunc iterum in lucem edita, notulis indiceque, curâ Jos. Stevenson. 4to. 1835. Printed for the Bannatyne Club.

S. Patricii Opuscula; ed. J. L. Vilanueva. Dublin, 1835.

Le Roman de Brut, &c.; par Le Roux de Lincy. Rouen, 1836.

Wills and Inventories illustrative of the History, Manners, Language, Statistics, &c. of the Northern Counties of England, from the eleventh century downwards; edited by the Rev. J. Raine. 1835. Printed for the Surtees Society.

Testamenta Eboracensia; or, Wills registered at York, illustrative of the History, Manners, Language, &c. of the Province of York, from the year 1300 downwards; edited by the Rev. J. Raine. 1836. Printed for the Surtees Society.

Chronique des Ducs de Normandie; par Benoit [de S. More]; publiée pour la premiere fois; par Francisque Michel. 3 vols. 4to. Paris, 1836, 1838, 1844.

Vie de S. Thomas, Archevesque de Cantorberi.
Chronique de Jordan Fantosme.
} In Appendix to the preceding.

Compota Domestica Familiarum de Bukingham et d'Angouleme, 1443-52-63, quibus annexæ expensæ cujusdam comitis in itinere, 1273; edited by W. B. D. D. Turnbull, with emendations. 4to. 1836. Privately printed for the Abbotsford Club.

Scalacronica, by Sir Thomas Gray, of Heton; a chronicle of England and Scotland from A.D. 1056 to A.D. 1362, now first printed from the unique manuscript; with an Introduction and Notes by Joseph Stevenson. Edinb. 4to. 1836. Printed at the expense of the Maitland Club.

Registrum Episcopatus Moraviensis, e pluribus codicibus consarcinatum circa A.D. 1400, cum continuatione diplomatum recentiorum usque A.D. 1623; edited by Cosmo Innes. 4to. 1837. Printed for the Bannatyne Club.

Liber Sancte Marie de Melros; munimenta vetustiora monasterii Cisterciensis de Melros; edited by Cosmo Innes. Edinb. 4to. 1837. Printed for the Bannatyne Club.

The Life and Death of King James the First of Scotland; edited by Joseph Stevenson. Edin. 4to. 1837. Printed for the Maitland Club.

Chroniques Anglo-Normandes, recueil d'extraits et d'escrits relatifs a l'histoire de Normandie et d'Angleterre pendant les xi^e & xii^e siècles publié; par Francisque Michel. 3 vols. 8vo. Rouen, 1836–40.

They contain—

1. Extrait de la Chronique de Geoffroi Gaimar.
2. Continuation du Brut d'Angleterre de Wace; par un anonyme.
3. Extrait de l'Histoire de Seint Aedward le Roi, translatée du Latin.
4. Extrait de la Chronique de Pierre de Langtoft.
5. Extrait de l'Estoire e la Généalogie des Dux qui unt esté par ordre en Normandie; par Benoit de S. More.
6. De gestis Herewardi Saxonis.
7. Vita et Passio Waldevi Comitis.
8. Vita Haroldi Regis.
9. De Inventione Sanctæ Crucis Walthamensis.
10. Widonis Carmen de Hastingae Proelio.
11. Du Roi Guillaume d'Angleterre.
12. Le dit de Guillaume d'Angleterre.

Galfridi Monemuthensis Archidiaconi vita Merlini, vie de Merlin, attribuée a Geoffroy de Monmouth, &c.; par Francisque Michel et Thomas Wright. Paris, 1837.

Froissart Chroniques, avec notes et eclaircissements; par J. A. C. Buchon. Paris, 1837.

Wace (Master), his Chronicle of the Norman Conquest from the Roman de Rou; translated by Edgar Taylor. Royal 8vo. 1837.

Vie de Saint Thomas, Archevesque de Cantorberi, from the Wolfenbuttel manuscript; by Immanuel Bekker. Berlin, 1838.

Anglo-Norman Poem on the Conquest of Ireland; edited by Francisque Michel, with an introductory Essay by Thomas Wright. Lond. 1838.

Deposition of Richard II.; edited by Thomas Wright. 4to. 1838. Printed by the Camden Society.

Restoration of King Edward IV.; edited by John Bruce. 4to. 1838. Printed by the Camden Society.

Miscellanea Biographica: Lives of Oswin, King of Northumberland; two lives of Cuthbert, Bishop of Lindisfarne; and a life of Eata, Bishop of Hexham; edited by the Rev. J. Raine. 1838.

Bedæ Historia Ecclesiastica Gentis Anglorum; edit. J. Stevenson. Lond. Royal 8vo. 1838. Printed for the English Historical Society.

Chronicon Ricardi Divisiensis de rebus gestis Ricardi Primi Regis Angliæ; ed. J. Stevenson. Royal 8vo. 1838. Printed for the English Historical Society.

Gildas de Excidio Britanniæ; ed. J. Stevenson. Royal 8vo. Lond. 1838. Printed for the English Historical Society.

Nennii Historia Britonum; ed. J. Stevenson. Royal 8vo. Lond. 1838. Printed for the English Historical Society

Chronicon de Lanercost, 1201–1346, e codice Cottoniano nunc primum typis mandatum; edited by Jos. Stevenson. 2 vols. 4to. 1839. Printed for the Bannatyne Club.

The Durham Historians, Galfrid of Coldingham, Robert Greystanes, and William Chambre; with an Appendix of 355 original documents. Edited by the Rev. J. Raine. 1839. Printed for the Surtees Society.

The Accounts of the Great Chamberlains of Scotland, and some other officers of the Crown, rendered at the Exchequer, 1326–1453; edited by Thomas Thomson. 3 vols. 4to. 1817. Dated 1837–45. Printed for the Bannatyne Club.

Chroniques de Normandie; publiées pour la première fois d'apres deux manuscrits de la bibliothèque du Roi a Paris; par Francisque Michel. Rouen, 1839.

Political Songs of England from John to Edw. II.; edited by T. Wright. 1839. Printed for the Camden Society.

Historia de gestis Regum Britannorum et Anglorum a Cassibellano ad an. 20 Edw. 3. (1346), per quendam canonicum de Lanercost in comitatu Cumbriæ. 4to. Edinb. 1839.

Codex Diplomaticus Ævi Saxonici; opera J. M. Kemble. 6 vols. Royal 8vo. Lond. 1839–48. Printed for the English Historical Society.

William de Rishanger's Chronicle; edited by J. O. Halliwell. 4to. 1840. Printed for the Camden Society.

Warkworth's Chronicle from 1461 to 1474; edited by J. O. Halliwell. 1840. Printed for the Camden Society.

Magni Rotuli Scaccarii Normanniæ sub Regibus Angliæ; opera Thomæ Stapleton; sumptibus Soc. Antiq. Londinensis. 8vo. 1840.

A Diary of the Expedition of King Edward I. into Scotland, A.D. 1296. Printed for the Bannatyne Club.

Histoire des Ducs de Normandie et des Rois d'Angleterre; publiée d'apres deux manuscrits de la bibliothèque du Roi, &c.; par Francisque Michel. Paris, 1840.

Chronica Jocelini de Brakelonda; edited by John Gage Rokewode. 4to. 1840. Printed for the Camden Society.

Digitized by Google

Liber Cartarum Sancte Crucis; munimenta ecclesie Sancte Crucis de Edwinesburg; edited by Cosmo Innes. 4to. 1840. Printed for the Bannatyne Club.

Jordan Fantosme's Anglo-Norman Chronicle of the War between the English and the Scots in 1173 and 1174; with a Translation, Notes, &c. Edited by Francisque Michel. Paris, 1840.

Landavensis Liber, Llyfr Teilo, or the Ancient Register of the Cathedral Church of Llandaff, from manuscripts; with an English Translation and Notes by W. J. Rees; Plates of Fac-similes, &c. Llandovery. Royal 8vo. 1840. Published for the Welsh Manuscripts Society.

Willelmi Malmesbiriensis Monachi gesta Regum Anglorum atque Historia Novella; ed. T. D. Hardy. Royal 8vo. London, 1840. Printed for the English Historical Society.

Van den Derden Edewaert Coninc van Engelant Rymkronyk geschreven omtrent het jaer 1347, door Jan de Klerk van Antwerpen, en uitgeven met Aenteekeningen; door J. F. Willems. 8vo. Gent, 1840.

Original Letters of the Paston Family, written during the Reigns of Henry VI., Edward IV., and Richard III. 4to. 1840–1.

Liber Cartarum Prioratus Sancti Andree in Scotia, e Registro ipso in Archivis Baronum de Panmure hodie asservato; edited by Cosmo Innes. Edinb. Royal 4to. 1841. Printed for the Bannatyne Club.

Documents illustrative of Sir William Wallace, his Life and Times; edited by Joseph Stevenson. 4to. 1841. Printed for the Maitland Club.

Venerabilis Bedæ Opera Historica; ed. J. Stevenson. Royal 8vo. Lond. 1841. Printed for the English Historical Society.

Rogeri de Wendover Chronica, sive Flores Historiarum; ed. H. O. Coxe; cum Appendice. 5 vols. Royal 8vo. Lond. 1841–44. Printed for the English Historical Society.

Account of the Controversy between Reginald Lord Grey of Ruthyn and Sir Edw. Hastings in the Court of Chivalry in the reign of King Henry IV.; edited by Sir Charles George Young, Garter. London. Fol. 1841. Privately printed.

Liber Conventus S. Katherine Senensis prope Edinburgum; edited by Jas. Maidment. 4to. 1841. Printed at the expense of the Abbotsford Club.

The Chartularies of Balmerino and Lindores, now first printed from the original manuscripts; edited by W. B. D. D. Turnbull. 4to. 1841. Printed at the expense of the Abbotsford Club.

Liber Vitæ Ecclesiæ Dunelmensis, necnon Obituaria duo ejusdem Ecclesiæ; edited by the Rev. J. Stevenson. 1841. Printed for the Surtees Society.

Manners and Household Expenses of England in the XIII. & XV. Centuries, illustrated from original Records; viz., I.—Household Roll of Eleanor, Countess of Leicester, A.D. 1265. II.—Accounts of the Executors of Eleanor, Queen Consort of Edward I., A.D. 1291. III.—Accounts and Memoranda of Sir John Howard, first Duke of Norfolk, A.D. 1462 to A.D. 1471. Edited, with Introduction, by T. Hudson Turner. 4to. 1841. Printed for the Roxburghe Club.

The Annals of Ireland, by James Grace, of Kilkenny; edited from the manuscript in the Library of Trinity College, Dublin, in the original Latin, with a Translation and Notes, by the Rev. Richard Butler. 1842. Published by the Irish Archæological Society.

The Annals of Multifernan; edited by Aquilla Smith. 1842. Published by the Irish Archæological Society.

Notices of original unprinted Documents, preserved in the Office of the Queen's Remembrancer, and Chapter House, Westminster, illustrative of the History of Scotland; edited by Jos. Stevenson. 4to. 1842. Printed at the expense of the Maitland Club.

The Black Prince, an historical poem; written in French by Chandos Herald; with a Translation and Notes by the Rev. Henry O. Coxe. 4to. 1842. Printed for the Roxburghe Club.

Registrum de Dunfermelyn, Liber Cartarum Abbatie Benedictine S.S. Trinitatis, et B. Margarete Regine de Dunfermelyn; edited by Cosmo Innes. 4to. 1842. Printed for the Bannatyne Club.

Extracta e variis Cronicis Scocie; edited by W. B. Turnbull. 4to. Edinb. 1842.

Liber Ecclesie de Scon, Munimenta Vetustiora Monasterii Sancte Trinitatis et Sancti Michaelis de Scon; edited by Cosmo Innes. 4to. 1843. Printed for the Bannatyne Club.

Registrum Episcopatus Glasguensis; Munimenta Ecclesie Metropolitane Glasguensis, a sede restaurata seculo ineunte XII. ad reformatam religionem; edited by Cosmo Innes. 2 vols. 4to. 1843. Published simultaneously by the Maitland and Bannatyne Clubs.

Bedæ Opera omnia; edit. J. A. Giles. 12 vols. 8vo. Lond. 1843–44.

Arnulphi Lexoviensis Epistolæ; ed. J. A. Giles. Oxon. 1844.

Aldhelmi Opera; ed. J. A. Giles. 8vo. 1844.

French Chronicle of London; edited by G. J. Aungier. Printed for the Camden Society. 4to. 1844.

Galfridi Monemutensis Historia Britonum; ed. J. A. Giles. 8vo. Lond. 1844.

Registrum Prioratus Omnium Sanctorum juxta Dublin; edited by the Rev. Richard Butler. 1845. Published by the Irish Archæological Society.

Chronicle of the Monastery of Abingdon from 1218 to 1304; edited by J. O. Halliwell. Reading. Small 4to. 1844.

Registrum Prioratus Omnium Sanctorum juxta Dublin, from a manuscript; with Additions and Notes by R. Butler. 4to. 1845.

Registrum Episcopatus Aberdonensis Ecclesie Cathedralis Aberdonensis regesta que extant in unum collecta; by Cosmo Innes. 4to. 1845. Printed for the Spalding Club.

Chronicon Angliæ Petriburgense iterum post Sparke; ed. J. A. Giles. 8vo. Lond. 1845.

The Life and Martyrdom of Thomas Beket, Archbishop of Canterbury, from the series of Lives and Legends now proved to have been composed by Robert of Gloucester; edited by William Henry Black. Lond. 8vo. 1845. Printed for the Percy Society.

The Life of St. Godric of Finchale; by Reginald, a monk of Durham, his contemporary. Edited by the Rev. J. Stevenson. 1845.

Scriptores rerum gestarum Willelmi Conquestoris, Will. II., &c.; ed. J. A. Giles. 8vo. Lond. 1845.

Triveti (Nic.) Annales Sex Regum Angliæ qui a comitibus Andegavensibus originem traxerunt, A.D. 1136–1307; ed. Th. Hog. Royal 8vo. Lond. 1845. Printed for the English Historical Society.

De Antiquis Legibus Liber; edited by Thomas Stapleton. 4to. 1846.

Chronicle of Calais temp. Hen. VII. and Hen. VIII.; edited by John G. Nichols. Printed for the Camden Society. 4to. 1846.

Digitized by Google

Liber S. Marie de Calchou, Registrum Cartarum Abbacie Tironensis de Kelso, 1133–1567; edited by Cosmo Innes. 2 vols. Edinb. 4to. 1846. Printed for the Bannatyne Club.

Incerti Scriptoris narratio de rebus in bello sancto gestis, A.D. 1217, 1218; ed. J. A. Giles. 8vo. Lond. 1846. See Note (²), p. 20.

Adami Murimuthensis Chronica sui Temporis, nunc primum per decem annos aucta (1303–1346), cum eorundem continuatione ad (1380), a quodam anonymo; ed. Th. Hog. Royal 8vo. Lond. 1846. Printed for the English Historical Society.

Chronique de la Traison et Mort de Richart Deux Roy Dengleterre, mise en lumière d'après un manuscrit de la Bibliothéque de Paris par Benj. Williams. Royal 8vo. Lond. 1846. Printed for the English Historical Society.

Gesta Stephani Regis Anglorum et Ducis Normannorum, ab A. Duchesne edita; ed. R. C. Sewell. Royal 8vo. Lond. 1846. Printed for the English Historical Society.

Original Letters illustrative of English History. Third Series. Edited by Sir Henry Ellis. 4 vols. 8vo. Lond. 1846.

Herberti de Losinga, Osberti de Clara, et Elmeri Prioris Cantuariensis Epistolæ; ed. R. Anstruther. 8vo. Brus. 1846.

Alani Tewkesberiensis scripta quæ extant omnia; ed. J. A. Giles. 8vo. Lond. 1846.

Chronicon Monasterii de Bello, nunc primum typis mandatum; ed. J. S. Brewer, M.A. 8vo. 1846. Printed by the Anglia Christiana Society.

Giraldus Cambrensis de Instructione Principum, Libri III.; ed. J. S. Brewer, M.A. 8vo. 1846. Printed by the Anglia Christiana Society.

Original Letters of Royal and Illustrious Ladies of Great Britain from the commencement of the 12th century to the close of the Reign of Queen Mary; by Mary Anne Everett Wood. Lond. 8vo. 1846.

Ecclesiastical Taxation of Ireland, A.D. 1306; edited from the original Exchequer Roll, London, by the Rev. William Reeves. Published by the Irish Archæological Society. 1847.

Galfridi le Baker de Swinbroke Chronicon Edwardi II. et Edwardi III.; ed. J. A. Giles. 8vo. Lond. 1847.

Relation or true account of England under Henry VII.; by Sneyd. 4to. 1847.

Carte Monialium de Northberwic, Prioratus Cisterciensis B. Marie de Northberwic, munimenta vetustaque supersunt; edited by Cosmo Innes. 4to. 1847. Printed at the expense of the Bannatyne Club.

Liber S. Marie de Dryburgh, Registrum Cartarum Abbacie Premonstratensis de Dryburgh; edited by Cosmo Innes. 4to. 1847. Printed for the Bannatyne Club.

Liber Insule Missarum Abbacie Canonicorum Regularium B. Virginis et S. Johannis de Inchaffery registrum vetus; edited by Cosmo Innes. 4to. 1847. Printed at the expense of the Bannatyne Club.

The Coucher Book of Whalley Abbey; edited by W. A. Hulton. 1847. 4to.

Lazamon's Brut, or Chronicle of Britain; a poetical semi-Saxon paraphrase of the Brut of Wace; edited by Sir Frederic Madden, K.H. 3 vols. 8vo. Lond. 1847.

Gesta Regis Henrici Quinti, auctore capellano in exercitu regio; edited by Benj. Williams, Esq. 8vo. 1848. Printed for the English Historical Society.

Incerti Scriptoris Chronicon Angliæ regnantibus Ricardo II., Henrico IV., Henrico V., et Henrico VI.; ed. J. A. Giles. 8vo. Lond. 1848.

Petri Blesensis Epistolæ; ed. J. A. Giles. 4 vols. 8vo. Lond. 1848.

Chronicon Walteri de Hemingburgh; edit. H. C. Hamilton. 8vo. Lond. 1848. Printed for the English Historical Society.

Florentii Wigorniensis Chronicon ex Chronicis; edit. Benj. Thorpe. 8vo. Lond. 1848. Printed for the English Historical Society.

The Anglo-Saxon Version of the Life of St. Guthlac, Hermit of Crowland, now first printed from a manuscript in the Cottonian Library; with a Translation and Notes, by C. W. Goodwin, M.A. 12mo. 1848.

Annals of the Kingdom of Ireland, by the Four Masters, from the earliest period to the year 1616; edited from the autograph manuscript, with a Translation and copious Notes, by John O'Donovan. 3 vols. Dublin. Royal 4to. 1848.

The Irish version of the "Historia Britonum" of Nennius; edited by James Henthorn Todd, D.D., with Preface and Notes by the Hon. Algernon Herbert. Published by the Irish Archæological Society. 1848.

The Chronicle of the Abbey of Peterborough; edited by Thomas Stapleton. 8vo. Lond. Printed for the Camden Society.

HISTORICAL PIECES PUBLISHED IN THE ARCHÆOLOGIA.

Letter of Edward the Black Prince to the Bishop of Worcester, 20th Oct. 1356, relative to the Battle of Poitiers; by Charles Lyttelton, Bishop of Carlisle. I. 213–215.

The Ceremonial of the Funeral of King Edward IV.; by Thos. Astle, Esq. I. pp. 350–357.

The Roll of King Edward III. Fleet before Calais; VI. 213–215.

Subsidy Roll, 51 Edw. III.; by John Topham. VII. 337–347.

An Inventory of the Crown Jewels, 3 Edw. III.; by Craven Ord. X. 241–260.

An Account of the Entertainment of King Henry VI. at the Abbey of Bury St. Edmunds; by Craven Ord. XV. 65–71.

"Rotulus Familiæ," 18 Edw. I., with a Translation and Notes; by Samuel Lysons, Esq. XV. pp. 350–362.

Roll of the Expenses of King Edward I. at Rhuddlan Castle in Wales, A.D. 1281 and 1282, with a Translation by Samuel Lysons. XVI. 32–79.

Roll of Purchases made for the Tournament of Windsor Park, 6 Edw. I.; by Samuel Lysons. XVII. 297–310.

Poems on the Death of King Edward III., and on the disturbances of the earlier part of the reign of King Richard the Second. XVIII. 21-28.

An Account of the first Battle of St. Albans; by John Bayley. XX. 519–523.

An Account of the second Invasion of England in 1471 by Edward IV.; from a French manuscript; by Edward Jerningham. XXI. 11–23.

Extracts from the "Liber Memorandorum Camerariorum Receptæ Scaccarii," relative to the jewels pledged in the 17th of Henry VI. to Cardinal Beaufort. XXI. 34–38.

Poem of the Siege of Rouen, written in the reign of King Henry the Fifth. XXI. 43–78.

Digitized by Google

Political Poem, written by an adherent of the House of Lancaster in the last year of the reign of Richard II., 1399. XXI. 81-91.

Croisades, a survey of Egypt and Syria by Sir Gilbert de Lannoy, sent thither by King Henry V.; by the Rev. John Webb; XXI. 281–287.

Creton's French Metrical History of the Deposition of King Richard II.; translated by the Rev. John Webb; XXI. 295–423.

A Narrative of the Progress of Edward I. in his Invasion of Scotland in 1296; by Sir Harris Nicolas; XXI. 478–498.

An Account of the Army with which King Richard II. invaded Scotland, A.D. 1385; by Nicholas Harris Nicolas, Esq.; XXII. 13-19.

An Historical Relation of certain Passages about the End of King Edward III., and of his Death; by Thomas Amyot; XXII. 204–284.

Old English Poem on the Siege of Rouen in 1418; by Sir F. Madden; XXII. 350–398.

Archbishop Arundel's Letter to Henry IV.; by T. Amyot; XXIII. 297.

Narratives of the Arrival of Louis de Bruges, Seigneur de la Gruthuyse, in England, and of his Creation as Earl of Winchester in 1472; by Sir F. Madden; XXVI. 265–286.

Documents relating to Perkin Warbeck; by Sir F. Madden; XXVII. 153–210.

Extracts from Bernard André's Life of Henry VII., so far as it relates to Perkin Warbeck; XXVII. 154, 155.

Extracts from the Liberate Rolls relative to Loans supplied by Italian Merchants to the Kings of England; by Edward A. Bond; XXVIII. 261–326.

Anglo-Saxon Poem, printed by Hickes from a manuscript now lost, with an English Translation; XXVIII. 339–345.

Political Song, written on the accession of Edward IV. to the throne in 1461; XXIX. 130, 131.

Political Poems of the reigns of Henry VI. and Edward IV.; by Sir F. Madden; XXIX. 318–347.

Political Poem on the Death of the Duke of Suffolk in 1450; XXIX. 319–326.

Political Poem on the State by a Lancastrian in 1485; XXIX. 326–330.

Political Poem on the Yorkist Lords; XXIX. 330–334.

Political Poem on the Position of the Yorkists and Lancastrians, and the Policy to be observed by the former; XXIX. 340–342.

A Poem on the Battle of Northampton, 10th July 1460; XXIX. 334–340.

Phœnix, the King of Birds, an Anglo-Saxon song of the tenth or eleventh century, with a Translation by George Stephens; XXX. 256–322.

Expenses of the Great Wardrobe of King Edward the Third from A.D. 1347 to 1349; by Sir Harris Nicolas; XXXI. 1. 163.

Account of the Ceremonial of the Marriage of the Princess Margaret, Sister of King Edward the Fourth, to Charles Duke of Burgundy, in 1468; by Sir Thomas Phillipps, Bart.; XXXI. 326–338.

Copy of an Historical Document, printed by Machlinia, dated in 1475; by Sir Henry Ellis; XXXII. 325–331.

Digitized by Google

INTRODUCTORY REMARKS

ON THE

CHRONOLOGY OF THE MEDIÆVAL HISTORIANS,

IN CONNEXION WITH THE CHRONOLOGICAL ABSTRACT.

---

§ 1. Several allusions have been made in the foregoing pages ([1]) to the faulty Chronology which prevails in the works of the Mediæval Historians and Annalists, and to the defective attempts of the various editors who published their works during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries to reconcile discrepancies; and it now becomes necessary to explain specifically how those discrepancies originated. They appear to have arisen entirely from the want of a settled chronological system; each author having employed such eras and epochs as best suited his purpose, or with which he was best acquainted. Those authors who flourished before the Dionysian or vulgar era of the Incarnation came into general use either adopted the era of the building of Rome, the Olympiad, the era of the Creation, the Roman consular year, or they marked the progress of events by cycles and other fixed periods, or by eclipses and astronomical observations. At a later period, even long after the Dionysian era was introduced, historians were by no means uniform in their method of noting the course of time, some dated from the Passion or Death of our Lord, some from his Nativity, and others from his first preaching ([2]); and though the greater number adopted the era of his Incarnation, they did not all commence it in the same year. For instance, many adhered to the epoch commonly called the "Verus annus," or the true year of the Birth of our Lord, which is two full years earlier than the vulgar era ([3]); others employed the Dionysian or vulgar era; and a few observed the era of the Incarnation first used by Paul Bishop of Fossombrone, and afterwards by Marianus Scotus, which is represented as twenty-

---

([1]) See pp. 7, 35, 73, 77, 82, 84, 85, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95.

([2]) The epoch of the Passion of Christ is as undecided as that of the Nativity; and if the one be uncertain, the other must necessarily be so too. It is usually referred to the 18th of Tiberius, and is often confounded with Christ's Preaching, commonly assigned to the 15th of Tiberius, A.D. 28. (See note ([2]), p. 109. and note (†), p. 130.) The difficulty is increased by the opinions of the ancient Fathers of the Church. Tertullian, Clemens Alexandrinus, Julius Africanus, Lactantius, and Saint Austin affirm that Christ preached but one year in public; Eusebius and St. Jerome make it two; Ignatius, three years; and Irenæus was of opinion that Christ was nearly fifty years old when he was crucified, and that his ministry consequently extended to several years. With respect to the date of the Passion, Petavius (p. 424) says, that the followers of Marianus Scotus adopted, without alteration, the Golden Numbers laid down in the Nicene Calendar, supposing they would recur always in a fixed and immoveable order; and they assumed it as an axiom, that Christ was crucified Luna xv., March 25th. And as it was necessary, for these to coincide, that the Golden Number should be xiii. and the New Moon March 11, they inferred for a certainty that on the day of Christ's Passion the Lunar Cycle was xiii.; the New Moon, March 11; and the Dominical Letter, B. Having laid this down, they fancied that these notations did not coincide with the years of the Crucifixion as fixed by Dionysius and Beda: For in this thirty-fourth year the Cycle of the Moon was xvi.; the New Moon, March 8; the Moon fifteen days old on March 22, Monday. No other year corresponds with these notations except A.D. 12, Lunar Cycle xiii., Dominical Letter C B. Hence their mistake that Dionysius had commenced twenty-two years too late. This mistake was not uncommon in the times of Marianus.

([3]) Spanheim, Vossius, and many others are of opinion that it is impossible to determine the true year of the Birth of Christ. They allege that the uncertainty of the several different epochs,—the late date of the institution of the Christian era,—the different computations of the reign of Herod, and of the taxation under Cyrenius,—the thirty years before Christ commenced his ministry,—present insuperable difficulties.

Digitized by Google

two years earlier than the vulgar era. Again, some dated from the more celebrated events peculiar to the history of the writer's own country, as the arrival of the Saxons in Britain, or the conversion of the Angles to Christianity; others computed by the number of years which had elapsed since the event they last noticed.

§ 2. In addition to the uncertainty as to the year in which the Christian era commenced, there was no settled day for commemorating the commencement of the New Year. Some began it at the Incarnation (25th March); others at the Nativity (25th December); others at the Circumcision (1st January); others at the Passion (a moveable feast); others at the Resurrection (another moveable Feast); some with the Imperial, and others with the Pontifical Indiction.

§ 3. Another fruitful source of chronological error is to be traced to the mode in which many of the chronicles were formed. In the principal monasteries, as well in this country as on the continent, monks were appointed to record the events which happened in their own monastery. In some houses other events besides those which immediately concerned them were registered, such as the succession of their own and neighbouring kings, memorable battles, uncommon seasons of dearth or plenty, eclipses, the succession of Popes and other foreign potentates in some way connected with the country. Fortunately for the science of History, some of these monks, not content with merely noticing passing events, employed their leisure hours in prefixing to their annals a brief digest of the principal facts in Sacred History, following it up, whenever they could obtain materials, with a digest of Secular or Civil History. In England the earliest and most celebrated of these general annalists was the Venerable Beda, who was born about the year 672. Among other works he compiled a Chronicle, which he called "De sex ætatibus sæculi," in the year 725, and which is the earliest attempt towards a universal History in this country. (1) This work, and his Ecclesiastical History, which he produced at a much later period of his life, have been the groundwork of History employed by nearly all English chroniclers and annalists.

§ 4. In the compilation of a Chronicle the compiler would probably copy or extract the earlier portion of his Annals from Beda's Chronicle and Ecclesiastical History. This alone would create a confusion at starting; for Beda in his Chronicle places the Nativity of Christ (2) two full years earlier than the era of the Incarnation, which he subsequently employed in the greater parts of his Ecclesiastical History; consequently the same events in one work are placed two years earlier than in the other, while others are placed in both works two years earlier than the vulgar era. When Beda's works end, he would probably take up the Saxon Chronicle, and introduce into his Annals such facts as he thought worthy of being made part of his work; he would also collect, from other monasteries or from foreign histories, all remarkable facts, anecdotes, or narrations which interested him; these he would also make part of his Chronicle, continuing this process of compilation down to his own time. Now, as a different Chronology may have been adopted in some or all of the Chronicles from which he had made up his work, it follows, as a necessary consequence, that, unless the compiler had been at the pains of ascertaining the commencements of the several eras and years respectively introduced by the authors from whose Histories he derived his information, there would be diversity in the dates, productive of endless error. Such a Chronicle as here described might be called an original Chronicle, to distinguish it from others, which will be now described.

---

(1) This is proved by the Chronicles and Annals which are still extant. Nearly all the early part of the Saxon Chronicle is taken from Beda's Ecclesiastical History and Chronicle; the remainder appears to have been made up from "memorabilia" kept in various monasteries; hence arises that difference between the copies, which will be presently explained.

(2) It must be remembered that the era of the Incarnation was not recognized till after the year 533; consequently, when an event before that year is said to have happened in any given year of the Christian era, such a date rests merely on the hypothesis of the Chronicler, and may have been assumed correctly or incorrectly. For instance, when it is said that the Saxons arrived in England A.D. 449, this is the date assumed by Beda; and he could only arrive at it by inference, as no author before him has expressly stated that the Saxon Invasion took place in the year 449 of the vulgar era; nor could any contemporary writer have so distinguished the year of that occurrence, for the era of the Incarnation was not at that time in use.

Digitized by Google

§ 5. Some scribes, either too indolent, or perhaps incompetent to compile a Chronicle themselves, would adopt one that had been made at some other monastery; this they would copy verbatim, and continue it by merely adding, yearly or occasionally, such events as were of common notoriety, or which concerned either immediately or remotely their own house, dating the additions according to the chronological computations observed in their own monastery. Now, the result of both these modes is almost irreconcilable confusion in the Chronology.

§ 6. Again, there is another way in which chronological blunders happen. The observance of certain festivals dependent on the falling of Easter rendered it necessary to construct tables showing when that feast would happen in each year. It is not necessary to enumerate the various tables which have been used for that object at different periods; it is sufficient for this purpose to mention, that Paschal or Decennovary tables were constructed by Dionysius Exiguus, about the year 526, which speedily superseded all others then in use in Roman Christendom. At what period the Dionysian tables were introduced into Britain is not known; but Beda constantly refers to them, and made several improvements in them. These tables, in process of time, became available for other purposes than those for which they were intended, and became one of the foundations of Chronological History. They were employed in recording such "notabilia" connected with the establishments in which they were used as were of sufficient importance to be committed to writing. Take one of these tables as an instance, and the use to which it could be appropriated will be apparent.

	Anni Domini.	Indictiones.	Epactæ.	Concurrentes.	Cycli Lunares.	Decima quarta Luna.	Dies Dominicus Paschæ.	Luna ipsius Diei.	Littera Dominicalis.
	DLXXXIX.	VII.	—	V.	XVII.	Nonæ Aprilis -	4 Iduum Aprilis -	XVIII	A
	DXC.	VIII.	XI.	VI.	XVIII	8 Calend. Aprilis -	7 Calend. Aprilis -	XV.	G F
	DXCI.	IX.	XXII.	VII.	XIX.	Idus Aprilis -	17 Calend. Maii -	XVI.	E
	DXCII.	X.	III.	II.	I.	4 Nonarum Aprilis	8 Iduum Aprilis -	XVII.	D
	DXCIII.	XI.	XIV.	III.	II.	11 Calend. Aprilis	4 Calend. Aprilis -	XXI.	C
	DXCIV.	XII.	XXV.	IV.	III.	4 Iduum Aprilis -	3 Iduum Aprilis -	XV.	B A
	DXCV.	XIII.	VI.	V.	IV.	3 Calend. Aprilis -	3 Nonarum Aprilis	XVII.	G
Ogdoas	DXCVI.	XIV.	XVII.	VII.	V.	14 Calend. Maii -	10 Calend. Maii -	XVII.	F	Augustine despatched into Britain from Rome.
	DXCVII.	XV.	XXVIII	I.	VI.	7 Iduum Aprilis -	18 Calend. Maii -	XXI.	E	Augustine arrives in England.
	DXCVIII.	I.	IX.	II.	VII.	6 Calend. Aprilis -	3 Calend. Aprilis -	XVI.	D C
	DXCIX.	II.	XX.	III.	VIII.	17 Calend. Maii -	13 Calend. Maii -	XVII.	B
	DC.	III.	I.	V.	IX.	2 Nonarum Aprilis	4 Iduum Aprilis -	XX.	A
	DCI.	IV.	XII.	VI.	X.	9 Calend. Aprilis -	7 Calend. Aprilis -	XVI.	G
	DCII.	V.	XXIII.	VII.	XI.	2 Iduum Aprilis -	17 Calend. Maii -	XVII.	F E
	DCIII.	VI.	IV.	I.	XII.	Calend. Aprilis -	7 Iduum Aprilis -	XX.	D	Battle of Daegastan.
	DCIV.	VII.	XV.	III.	XIII.	12 Calend. Aprilis	9 Calend. Aprilis -	XV.	C	Pope Gregory dies. Essex converted to Christianity.
	DCV.	VII.	XXVI.	IV.	XIV.	5 Iduum Aprilis -	3 Iduum Aprilis -	XVI.	B
	DCVI.	IX.	VII.	V.	XV.	4 Calend. Aprilis -	3 Nonarum Aprilis	XIX.	A G
Hendecas	DCVII.	X.	XVIII.	VI.	XVI.	15 Calend. Maii -	9 Calend. Maii -	XX.	F

§ 7. Now, nothing was apparently more common than to enter an event in a wrong year, especially too as the Roman numerals alone were used, which are easily misread. When many events occurred in one year the entry was necessarily run on into the next line, and so became intermixed with the events which belonged to another year.(1) This

(1) This is the case with the manuscripts of Florence, and various errors have accordingly crept into the printed text.

Digitized by Google

could easily be discovered in the original manuscript, but not so in a copy. Unless the copyist were very careful, he would in such instances probably commit a blunder.

§ 8. The extent of the errors and inconsistencies which appear in the Chronology of the early writers will be sufficiently shown in discussing the Chronology of those authors whose works are printed in this Volume.

Gildas.

§ 9. The earliest British historian is Gildas, who flourished about the middle of the sixth century, and it is remarkable that no trace of any era can be discovered in this work. The only event to which he has assigned a date is that of the composition of his work, and he particularizes it as being the 44th year from the siege of Mount Badon. Beda attempted to affix a definite date to that occurrence, but his date has been universally condemned, it having been founded on a misconception of the passage.

§ 10. Gildas refers to several well known events in History, but his allusions are vague and indistinct. His notices of the first Invasion of Britain by the Romans, the Introduction of Christianity in the reign of Tiberius, the Persecution of the Christians under Diocletian, the British Martyrs, and the restoration of better times after Christianity was embraced by the Emperors of Rome, were apparently derived from the Ecclesiastical History of Eusebius, but he affixes no dates to those events. Equally destitute of date are his references to the spread of the Arian heresy, to the usurpation of the supremacy in Britain by Maximus, to his immediate desertion of the Island, and establishment of the seat of government at Treves, the death of Gratian, and expulsion of Valentinian from Italy, and the destruction of Maximus himself near Aquileia. The absence of all mention of dates thus far is not attended with any serious disadvantage; but as he ascribes the decline and ruin of Britain to the altered state of things induced by the circumstances last mentioned, it is much to be regretted that he has left no mention of the time during which the events subsequent to the fall of Maximus occurred. He speaks of the oppression and sufferings of the Britons through the incursions of the barbarians from the North and North-west, consequent upon the defenceless condition to which Maximus had reduced them; he then describes their embassy to Rome for aid, the arrival of a Roman legion, its effectual assistance, the repair, under the Roman advice, of the rampart (probably that of Antoninus), and the return of the barbarians on the withdrawal of the Roman legion. He mentions another embassy to Rome, and the further assistance granted; the enemy repulsed; the wall, from sea to sea, repaired for future protection; and the return of the Romans, after intimating their determination not again to set out upon such expeditions. He further mentions the renewed incursions of the invaders, the increased distress and difficulties of the Britons, and their re-application to Rome for further assistance. The last application he states was made to Aetius, "now thrice Consul," and it must therefore be referred either to the very year of his third consulate, which is concurrent with A.D. 446, or shortly after that time. These occurrences embrace the period between the death of Maximus in A.D. 388 and A.D. 446. It has been usual to consider that these events, according to the order of their relation, must necessarily have preceded the occurrences he subsequently describes; but there is really nothing in the author's narrative to justify such an assumption; the whole context, on the contrary, seems to point to a different conclusion, and the evidence within reach from other sources distinctly contradicts it. If the coming of the Saxons, and their reception by Guortigern, must, upon no other authority than the order in which the narrative of Gildas proceeds, be referred to a period subsequent to the last application from Britain to Aetius, the whole series of events, as derived from other writers, must be disturbed, and their authority rejected, merely to sustain the doubtful inference of Beda, who evidently was ignorant of the date of the event, for he assigns three distinct periods to their coming.(1) After the unsuccessful application to the Romans for assistance, Gildas then adverts to a more prosperous turn in the affairs of the Britons:—the departure of the invaders, and the return of plenteousness and abundance in the Island. He then resumes his narrative from an earlier period, but apparently without the most distant intention of fixing or assigning any particular date. He describes the coming of the Saxons into Britain under favour of Guortigern, whom he calls "Dux Britannorum," and details the sufferings and mischiefs which arose in the Island from the Saxons; their frequent conflicts with the Britons; the valour of Ambrosius Aurelianus, the last survivor of the Roman imperial family in Britain; and the various successes,—at one time of the Britons and another of the Saxons,—until the siege of Mount Badon, which was in the year of the author's own nativity.

(1) See Hist. Eccles. note [a], p. 120 of this volume.

Digitized by Google

Gildas.

§ 11. Upon a careful examination of all the evidence that exists in writers nearly contemporary, and after full consideration of the learned criticisms of Usher and others, it has been deemed advisable to place in the Chronological Abstract the several applications to the Romans for aid, and their final abandonment of the Island, as concurrent with the landing of the Saxons in Britain, and their gradual establishment there, rather than as consequent upon the refusal of the Romans to afford the assistance for which the Britons are represented to have applied to them in vain.

Nennius.

§ 12. The Chronology of the writer, commonly called Nennius, presents considerable difficulties, owing to the corrupted state of all existing manuscripts. It is inconsistent and irregular throughout; indeed there is scarcely a single date in the whole work that can be relied upon with certainty.

§ 13. The dates which occur in his work may be divided into two classes:—I. Such as are peculiar to that History itself, consisting, 1stly, of years to which events therein recorded are actually assigned with reference to some known epoch; 2dly, years to be inferred from the ascertained period of other foreign events, mentioned therein as synchronistic with the domestic occurrences related; and, 3dly, the amount of years said to have elapsed since some given event, of which the date is left to be conjectured from evidence not here recorded: II. Such as do not belong to the History itself, but relate solely to the time when the work was compiled, or successive editions of it issued. These periods, being likewise marked by an intimation of the number of years said to have elapsed from the Creation, or other great epochs in History, to the current year, are varied in accordance with the periods at which the persons successively were engaged in editing or transcribing the History; and although many of the existing manuscripts exhibit some or all of the dates of the current year as synchronistic, whereby the most absurd anachronisms are occasioned, yet nevertheless traces of at least five distinct editions or classes, prior to the eleventh century, may be clearly distinguished.

§ 14. As to the period when the Historia Britonum was first compiled, much difference of opinion has prevailed, and considerable pains have been taken to discover its author. But the corruptions and interpolations which appear in all existing manuscripts of this work must leave the question still in great uncertainty until a purer text can be found. If indeed the History may be taken as one simply containing the traditionary account of Britain (1) from its first becoming peopled down to the exploits of Arthur against the Saxons, there is nothing to contradict the supposition that some writer cotemporary with Gildas (2) was the first compiler of these traditions.

---

(1) If Chapters II., XI. and LIV., and all matter subsequent to LXV., be omitted, except Chapter LXVII., there is no reference to any event later than the middle of the sixth century, and the period when Ida founded the kingdom of Bernicia, circa A.D. 547. Of the Chapters so proposed to be excluded, II. and XI. are confined to an exposition of the number of years elapsed from one epoch to another,—from the Creation to the then current year, repeated at various intervals. Chapter LIV. contains the genealogy of Guortigern, or rather of Firnimail; and the matter subsequent to Chapter LV. (with the exception of Chapter LXVII., containing the names of the cities of Britain), relates wholly to the Saxon Genealogies and the Mirabilia. It is remarkable that the Irish version of Nennius (edit. Todd, 1848) contains none of these passages, except the Mirabilia and the Pedigree of Firnimail. This Pedigree, however, is there introduced (p. 105,) with this singular observation,—"Nennius said this." It may be noticed, that although the Irish version omits the Saxon genealogies, it contains the short passage abridged from them (p. 113) of Ida's descent, and the baptism of Eanfled, contained only in that class of manuscripts which has preserved the interpolations connected with Beulan and Samuel, and thus betrays a later origin than the edition which will be presently described as the first edition.

(2) The description of Britain, with which the Historia Britonum commences, exhibits signs of some common origin with that given by Gildas. The extremities of the Island in length and breadth are the same. The references to the rivers of the Island, and the words "per quæ eidem olim transmarinæ deliciæ ratibus vehebantur" of Gildas look very like the "per quæ olim rates vehebantur ad deportandas divitias causa negotiationis" of Nennius. The twenty-eight cities and the expression "innumerabilia promontoria cum innumeris castellis ex lapidibus et lateribus "fabricatis" point very strongly to the more inflated "bis denis bisque quaternis civitatibus ac nonnullis castellis," &c. of Gildas.

Digitized by Google

Nennius.

§ 15. It is material now to reconsider this question of the authorship (1), in connexion with the chronology of the work, as the authenticity of some of the statements therein found will greatly depend upon the fact, whether the author lived anterior or subsequent to Beda. (2) The Saxon Genealogies afford valuable data upon this point, and establish the greater antiquity of the compilation of the Historia. In those Genealogies the Kings of Kent are brought down to about the year 674, the Kings of the East Angles to about 664, of Mercia to about 716, and of Northumbria to about 738; direct mention being also made of the length of reign of Ecgfrith King of the Northumbrians, who died in A.D. 685, and of the death of Bishop Cuthbert in A.D. 687. It must therefore follow, that, if the Genealogies formed part of the original compilation, its publication must have been subsequent to the appearance of Beda's Ecclesiastical History in 731. That the Genealogies had appeared in copies of this work as early as A.D. 858, might be inferred from the interpolations in that class of manuscripts containing the Prologue which declares that it was written, and the work edited or revised, in A.D. 858; and wherein the glossator or interpolator is made to express his unwillingness to write the Genealogies, "quia inutiles magistro meo visæ sunt." (p. 76 A.) The Genealogies, therefore, may have been composed prior to A.D. 858; and if they did not originally constitute part of the Historia Britonum, they must have been introduced subsequently to A.D. 738. Now, as it can be shown from internal evidence of existing manuscripts that the work was known before the Genealogies could have been composed, it proves that they did not constitute part of the original work; and thus the evidence they would furnish of the work being a later production than the time of Beda is destroyed.

§ 16. The Vatican Manuscript, and one or more of the manuscripts in the Bibliothèque du Roy at Paris, supply incontestible proof that the Historia Britonum was published at least as early as A.D. 674, which was only two years after Beda's birth. The concluding passage of

---

(1) The insufficiency of the ground which the Prologues afford, for ascribing the Historia Britonum to the Nennius therein described, as living in A.D. 858, have been already pointed out. (p. 63.) The two Prologues, but more particularly the longer of the two, have been rejected, if not as altogether spurious, at least as bearing internal evidence of having been considerably interpolated and corrupted. But it was wished, as far as possible to avoid raising the charge of forgery in that case. Mr. Herbert observes in his elaborate Preface to the Irish Nennius, that no motive could exist for a fabricator to impose a nameless sponsor for his fictions, or (what is nearly equivalent to it) a name wholly unknown in History; and therefore is it difficult to resist an impression that some foundation must have existed for connecting the name of Nennius with this History. Were any further argument, however, needed for discrediting the fictions respecting Samuel, Beulan, and Nennius the disciple of Beulan, as the original compiler of the Historia Britonum in the year 858, it might be found in the clear traces of earlier editions than that which exhibits this particular date, and which it has been the habit of connecting with the name of Nennius as its editor. There is reason to believe that one edition issued in A.D. 823, and another in A D. 858; and if some uncertain tradition only had then connected Nennius with the compilation, the editor might desire to perpetuate the evidence, and did at that time prefix the shorter Prologue, subsequently interpolated and transformed as represented in the longer production. But is there any evidence of the existence of an earlier Nennius? It has been said that Nennius was a monk of Bangor, and was one of those who escaped from the slaughter there executed by King Aethilfrid of Northumbria, A.D. 613. There is also named in History one Elbodus, who is said to have been Archbishop of Llandaff, and to have succeeded Dubricius in 612. Could we believe this report, Nennius the monk of Bangor might have been contemporary with Gildas, might have known him, and have derived from him some of the information contained in the Historia; hence the name of Gildas may have shared the tradition; and in some editions, of which no traces have reached us, the editor who had known the tradition of Gildas's connexion with the work may have placed his name at the commencement of it. Though no copy of such an edition has reached our day there may have been many extant in the twelfth century; and hence the impression, so generally received by the Historians of that time, that Gildas was the author. (See p. 63, § 140.)

(2) It is a remarkable fact connected with the work, that there is no allusion to any of Beda's works, or any quotation from them; which shows one of these three things,—either that the groundwork of the Historia Britonum was written before the time of Beda, or that the author was not acquainted with Beda's work, or else that all mention of them was purposely avoided.

Of the first it may be said, that the entire work has the appearance of belonging to an earlier age than that of Beda. But if this be the case, it could hardly have escaped the notice of that diligent author; unless, indeed, he saw nothing material for his purpose in the History that was not fully described by Gildas.

Of the second it may be remarked, that, had they been written considerably after the time of Beda, it is hardly possible to imagine that the author of the Historia Britonum was not acquainted with Beda's works, as they were well known all over Christendom.

Of the third it may be urged, that if the work were written after Beda's time, all allusions to his writings might have been purposely avoided, on account of the antipathy of the writer to every thing Saxon, as the work is undoubtedly the production of a Briton. The Saxon Genealogies are proved to be a later interpolation.

The most probable view then is, that the principal portion of the work, which can be easily traced, was written long before Beda flourished; that he saw it, but found nothing in it to his purpose; and that the prologues and other portions were interpolations at various times. If this suggestion be good, it will account for the discrepancies and anachronisms in the dates, and the variations in the copies.

Digitized by Google

Nennius.

the Historia in the Vatican Manuscript reads:—"Quando Gratianus Æquantius Consul (1) fuit " in Roma, quia tunc a consulibus Romanorum totus orbis regebatur, Saxones a Guorthegirno " anno post Domini Passionem trecentesimo quadragesimo septimo suscepti sunt; ad hunc " quem [quo] nunc scribimus annum sexcentesimum quadragesimum septimum numeramus; " et quicunque hoc legerit," &c. A similar statement is to be found in an earlier part of the work; but though the numerals are there the same, the passage exhibits marks of having been corrupted by an attempted application of the date to the fifth year of king Edmund, which has been erroneously considered as the year in which that manuscript was transcribed.

§ 17. It has been already said that traces of at least five different early editions of the Historia Britonum exist. These appeared at intervals, without any material additions beyond the substitution of the then current year for that in which the prior edition had issued; and in some cases, even though the more recent date was substituted in one part of the work, the older date appears to have been also inadvertently retained in another; and where synchronisms are introduced, as the regnal year of a monarch, and the year of the Incarnation or Passion, there said to be concurrent therewith, one date was left unchanged, though an alteration was made in the other, which occasions, of course, absurd anachronisms.

§ 18. The first edition of this work, or at least the first edition of which there is any trace, may be considered as that in which the editor describes the then current year as the 647th from the Passion of Christ, and not the 647th year after the 347th from the Passion, as the transcriber of the Vatican manuscript, or rather some glossator of the copy issued in A.D. 977, has erroneously interpreted the passage, such a computation being manifestly opposed to reason, for the interpolation could have had foundation only in a misconception of the true meaning of the data. First, the Paris manuscript makes no attempt to connect the date with the fifth year of King Edmund. Secondly, the date so interpreted would reach not only far beyond the fifth of Edmund, but even beyond the period at which the Vatican manuscript itself is believed to have been transcribed, viz., the tenth century. The 347th year after the Passion, according to the computation understood at that time (2), is equivalent to A.D. 374; and 647 years added to that year carries us on to A.D. 1021: thus, $347 + 28 - 1(^2) + 647 = 1021$. It is therefore clear that the true meaning is, that from the Passion of Christ to the coming of the Saxons there had elapsed 347 years, and from the Passion of Christ to the then current year 647 years had elapsed, which year would be concurrent with A.D. 674, and to which year therefore the so-called first edition of the Historia Britonum must be referred.

§ 19. The second edition probably appeared about A.D. 823, which year is there said to be concurrent with the fourth of Mervyn King of Britain, and it is in fact nearly so. According to the best known authorities, Mervyn Vrych, son of Nest, daughter of Cadell of Vale Royal, Prince of Powis, is said to have succeeded to the principality of Gwynedd in right of his wife Essyllt, daughter of Cynan Tindaethwy, about A.D. 818 or 819, and was slain about A.D. 844, although the Gwentian Chronicle says he was killed at the battle of Cyveliog, by Berthwryd King of Mercia, in A.D. 838.

§ 20. In the Harleian Manuscript 3859, and other manuscripts (X. Y. Z. A a.), this passage occurs (C. II. p. 53): "Ab Adam vero usque ad Passionem (2) [? Prædicationem] Christi,

---

(1) It is necessary to bear in mind that Gratian and Æquitius were consuls A.D. 374, which is the same as A.D.P. 347. See note (2) below, and note (1) p. 110. The Irish version of Nennius (p. 79, edit. Todd) reads, "Gradian " and Aequit."

(2) The epoch of the Passion of Christ is so often confounded, or rather identified, in manuscripts of the Middle Ages with that of his Preaching, that it is scarcely possible to say in many cases which of the two was intended by the author, or how far the substitution of one for the other was the result of ignorance and inaccuracy merely in the transcriber. Lactantius, Idatius, Victorius, and some other writers place the Passion of Christ in the consulate of Fufius and Rubellius, A.D. 29, but St. Jerome, Prosper, and others more consistently make that year the epoch of his Baptism and first Preaching only. As this epoch, dated in the fifteenth year of Tiberius, was that usually employed in the earlier centuries of the Christian era, it has been thought preferable to assume that it was the one intended by Nennius, and, therefore, to adopt it concurrently with A.D. 28, as a datum for reducing to the vulgar era of the Incarnation the numerals occurring throughout this Work. To ascertain, therefore, the year of the vulgar era concurrent with the given year of the Preaching, 27 entire years only must be taken, as A.D. 28—1=27. See also note (†) p. 180. The computation of 5199 years from the Creation to the epoch of the Nativity, according to Eusebius, St. Jerome, and Prosper, is chiefly followed by chronologists of the Middle Ages, and is adopted in the Roman Martyrology; and it will be found, on examination, that, however the several manuscript copies of Nennius differ in the numerals, when least vitiated, they accord with the computation of Eusebius and St. Jerome.

Digitized by Google

Nennius. " anni sunt quinque milia ducenti viginti octo; a Passione [? Prædicatione] autem Christi " peracti sunt anni 796, ab Incarnatione autem ejus anni sunt 832." The last two numerals are probably transposed; the correct reading should be 823. Again (C. xi. p. 57) is this passage: " A primo anno quo Saxones venerunt in Britanniam usque ad annum quartum Mervini regis " supputantur anni ccccxxix." One manuscript reads 439; and most probably the correct numerals are ccccxlix, and represent that number which has probably misled many, if not even Beda himself, and created so much speculation in connexion with the event from which the then current year is dated, viz. the coming of the Saxons. The passage beginning " Quando " Gratianus Aequantius," &c. has been already noticed: It is there stated, that 347 years had elapsed from the Passion of Christ to the reception of the Saxons by Guortigern. (1) Thus it appears that the then current year is described,—from the coming of the Saxons to the fourth of Mervin 449 years,—from the Passion of Christ to the coming of the Saxons 347 years; therefore, $347+28-1+449=823$, i.e. the fourth of Mervin. Now in the passage from C. II. the current year is described,—from Adam to the Passion of Christ 5228 years have elapsed,—from the Passion to the current year 796 (2); thus $796+28-1=823$, which also is the year described in C. xi. as the fourth of Mervin. The result of this computation is to place the second edition in A.D. P. 796. A.D. 823, a° Mervini regis 4.

§ 21. The third edition may be assigned to A.D. 858. It has been already said that anachronisms are found in some or all of the existing manuscripts, arising from the transcriber having in some passages substituted the indications of the then current year of the edition he was writing, for those of the current year of the former edition, without effecting a corresponding alteration in all the passages where the current year is indicated, or from his changing the dominical without altering the regnal year. This is particularly apparent in the two Chapters II. and XI. still under consideration. Thus Chapter II. in some manuscripts retains the indications of the current year A.D. 823, above pointed out, together with those of the current year A.D. 907, designated as the thirtieth year of King Anaraut, concurrent with A.M. 6108; and Cap. XI. retains the indications of A.D. 823, which is made coincident with the fourth of King Mervin, together with the current year A.D. 858, in which year the third edition appears to have issued. The indication of A.D. 823 being obscure, and the anachronism formed by a combination of the two current years, not being apparent on first view, it was retained in all existing manuscripts that have been consulted. In the longer Prologue the date 858 is supplied from one of the indications which this Chapter exhibits in some only of the manuscripts; and in proof of its being an interpolation and ignorantly introduced, that year is made to be synchronical with the twenty-fourth (? fourth) of Mervin (3), which year is in truth, upon the only accurate interpretation of which the passage

---

(1) Nennius repeatedly refers to the coming of the Saxons, and their reception by Guortigern in A.D.P. 347, which, by the computation pointed out in the previous note, is concurrent with A.D. 374. In one place it is "ab anno quo primo venerunt;" and elsewhere we find " regnante Gratiano secundo Equantio." The word "secundo" appears to be misplaced here; it can have no reference to the year of the reign of the Emperor, since it does not agree with it, nor can it mark the Number of Gratian's consulate, for it was the year of his third and not second consulate with Æquitius; the passage is probably vitiated, and may have stood, " regnante Gratiano Equantio (or Gratiano III. " et Equitio, Coss.), Saxones primo venerunt in Britanniam anno 347 post Passionem Christi, secundo a Guortigerno " suscepti sunt." This would be quite consistent with the fact apparent from other authorities, that the Saxons made several piratical expeditions about this time on the coasts of Gaul and Britain; and it is distinctly stated in the chronological data found in the earliest copies of Nennius, that the Saxons were received by Guortigern in the consulate of Felix and Taurus, i. e. A.D. 428.

(2) Although at that time, i. e. 823, the use of the epoch of the Predication was not generally adopted as the mode of marking the current year, in the same way as the vulgar era of the Incarnation is now employed, yet that epoch was then better understood, and less uncertain, than the epoch of the Nativity, which in some instances is made to anticipate the vulgar era of the Incarnation by three, four, and even six years. It seems more likely, therefore, that the numerals 796 represent correctly the current year of the publication of the supposed second edition, by marking that number of years as having elapsed since A.M. 5228, the epoch of the Predication, than that the numerals 832 should represent the current year by marking that number of years as having elapsed since A.M. 5199, the epoch of the Nativity, for such years could not both be concurrent, as A.M. $5228-1+796=$ A.M. 6024; whereas A.M. $5199-1+832=$ A.M. 6030; but $6023+1-796=$ A.M. 5228, the epoch of the Predication, as $6023+1-823=$ A.M. 5201, the true year of the commencement of the vulgar era.

(3) It is just possible that the interpolator of the date A.D. 858 in the Prologue, finding in some of the manuscripts which represent the edition of A.D. 823 the numerals inaccurately transcribed 838 in connexion with the fourth of Mervin, concluded that 858 would therefore be the twenty-fourth, and consequently introduced the twenty-fourth of Mervin as a synchronism with A.D. 858.

Digitized by Google

Nennius.

is susceptible, made to indicate the current year represented by A.D. 823. The latter passage in Chapter XI. indicating A.D. 858 does not occur in those manuscripts which represent the indications of A.D. 977 as the current year. In Chapter XI. the year 858 is marked as the current year in this way. From our Lord's Incarnation to the Advent of St. Patrick into Ireland there are twenty-three cycles of nineteen years, and these make up 437 years (1), $19 \times 23 = 437$: from the Advent of St. Patrick to the cycle in which we now are there are twenty-two cycles and three years in Ogdoad of another cycle, which make up 421 years, $19 \times 22 + 3 = 421$: which computation carries us on to A.D. 858, i.e. $437 + 421 = 858$. It is therefore clear that the third edition must be referred to A.D. 858.

§ 22. The indications of the current year of the fourth edition which issued in A.D. 907 are to be also traced in the Second Chapter. This year is marked as being the thirtieth of Anaraut Prince of North Wales, who died about A.D. 915 according to the Cambrian Annals. He was the eldest son of Rodri the Great, and grandson of Mervyn Vrych, and his accession to the principality should be referred to about A.D. 877. The passage is as follows: "A Passione autem Christi peracti sunt anni [DCCCLXXX.] (2) Ab Incarnatione autem ejus "anni sunt [DCCCCVII] (2) usque ad tricesimum annum Anarauht regis Moniæ, id est, Mon, qui "regit modo regnum Wenedotiæ regionis, id est, Guernet; fiunt igitur ab exordio mundi "usque in annum præsentem 6108." Thus, A.M. 5288 + A.D. P. 880 = 6108, and A.M. 5201 + A.D.I. 907 = 6108; A.D. 907 being concurrent with the thirtieth year of Anaraut.

§ 23. The fifth edition issued in A.D. 977, and is represented by the exemplar in the Vatican Library transcribed at the close of the tenth century. The current year of this edition is indicated by the following passage, which usurps the place of the former dates in other manuscripts, and thereby avoids the anachronisms:—"Ita simul fiunt ab Adam usque "ad Prædicationem (3) Christi et 15 annum imperii Imperatoris Tiberii 5228. A Passione "Christi peracti sunt anni 946, ab Incarnatione autem ejus sunt anni 977 [et v^{tus} annus "imperii Eadmundi Regis Anglorum]." (4) The fallacy which has connected the transcription of this exemplar with the fifth of King Eadmund may now be pointed out. Suppose an exemplar of the fifth edition, which issued in A.D. 977, to have been inadvertently glossed in the margin, opposite to the dates A.D.P. 946, with the words "v^{tus} annus "Eadmundi regis Anglorum," the numerals 946 having attracted the glossator's attention, which he mistook for the Dominical year. It is unreasonable to suppose that the mistake could have arisen when the fifth of Edmund was the actually current year, the date A.D. 977 being thirty years after that Monarch's death, and the gloss may not in fact have been added till several years after 977, and within a few years before the transcription of the manuscript which introduced the marginal gloss into the body of the transcript. We may readily imagine that

---

(1) A question will necessarily arise here upon the date A.D.I. 437, how is the year of the Incarnation to be ascertained? Do these figures denote the Dyonisian era of the Incarnation, which, if not in general use to mark the current year at that time, was yet well known and recognised through the writings of Beda? Or do they denote the Eusebian era of the Nativity? Perhaps it may be suggested that the consideration of the true era of the Incarnation is not involved in this computation. It is undeniable that Cyrillus began his Cycle of ninety-five years in A.D. 437. (Cyrilli Prol. Paschal. apud Bucherium, p. 481; ap. Petavium De Doct. Temp. ii. 881.) This, on a very reasonable view, may be the year and circumstance to which the computation points; and if so, it is immaterial whether the advent of St. Patrick should, upon the authority of all chronologists, be referred to A.D. 432, or to A.D. 437. Although that event is, perhaps, the prominent feature in the account, it may not have appeared to the writer so essential by this computation to fix precisely the year of St. Patrick's advent as it was to declare the exact calculation of the cycle; and since the event occurred sufficiently near the commencement of the new cycle, and was important enough to name as an occurrence in connexion with it, greater accuracy, even if demanded, could scarcely be expected from a writer of that time.

(2) The numerals representing the number of years to the current year, from the Passion and the Incarnation, vary in most of the manuscripts. Those here supplied are concurrent with the year of the World 6108, according to the Eusebian calculation, as shown at note (2) p. 109. There is authority for them in the Manuscripts A. and C., the Burney Manuscript, and some others, which read respectively A.D.P. 879 and A.D.I. 912. At p. 65, note 12, it is suggested that this passage in the text might refer to the thirtieth year of the age of Anaraut; but, on consideration of all the circumstances, the regnal year will best explain the difficulty.

(3) See note (2) p. 109.

(4) The imperfect and ungrammatical construction of the sentence, caused by the addition of the concluding words, need scarcely be pointed out to strengthen the charge of interpolation. Were any thing further needed to be said in proof of the accuracy of the view herein advocated, the Reader is referred to a gloss in one of the existing manuscripts (Q.): "A Christo usque ad secundum annum Regis Henrici Secundi Anglorum anni peracti sunt, "1156." (p. 53.)

Digitized by Google

Nennius.

the glossator, impressed with the notion first imparted to him by an association of the figures 946 with the fifth year of King Edmund, that the fifth year of that Monarch was the actual date of the exemplar, might supply that date in the margin wherever he fancied he saw another indication of the current year expressed by the writer. An occasion for this presented itself on meeting with the words "ad hunc quo nunc scribimus annum 647 numeramus." Perhaps without understanding the computation, but satisfied that the current year intended was the fifth of King Edmund, he so glossed the passage, adopting the figures as they appeared: "A tempore " quo advenerunt primo ad Britanniam Saxones usque ad primum imperii annum Regis " Eadmundi 642, ad hunc in quo nos scribimus annos traditione seniorum 647 didicimus, quippe " quia iste imperii quintus antedicti regis est annus." This gloss, like the former, the transcriber of the Vatican Manuscript transferred into the text. Can it for one moment be credited that any person could so have written in reference to the above numerals when the fifth year of King Edmund was actually current? or in the current year of our Lord 977 would not have known that the English Monarch then reigning was not King Edmund, or even that A.D. 977 was not the fifth year of the then reigning Monarch? With this view the passage is reconcilable; on any other, the anachronism is inexplicable.

§ 24. This edition could not have been transcribed before A.D. 977, and some short time must be allowed for the interpolator to have glossed the date 946 with " 5^{tus} annus Eadmundi " Regis Anglorum," and for the gloss to get transferred from the margin to the text of the later transcript. There would be ample time for this, without at all detracting from the presumed antiquity of the Vatican Manuscript.

§ 25. It is unnecessary to repeat what must be apparent to every one conversant with the manuscripts of Nennius, that the numerals and dates throughout are greatly vitiated. The variation of the dates in subsequent editions to suit the altered condition of the current year must have presented an apparent difficulty, and those dates have been again occasionally corrupted by marginal glosses in the copies, pointing out the imaginary discrepancies in the numerals, without, perhaps, understanding the reason of the variations. These glosses by ignorant transcribers have been transferred into the text, sometimes together with, at others in lieu of, the date subjected to the criticism. That this must have multiplied anachronisms none will entertain a doubt. But instead of waiting to inquire whether Mervyn Vrych, or his grandson Mervyn the son of Rodri, be the prince referred to, whose fourth year must be deemed to be concurrent with the 30th of Anarauht, and this same year again reconciled with the fifth of King Eadmund, and A.D. 858 with A.D. 977, it will be more in accordance with sound criticism to adopt a view by which these anachronisms can be accounted for and amended, than attempt to reconcile absolute inconsistencies.

§ 26. The dates which we meet with in Nennius of the second class concern the History itself. It is well known that the mode of noting the current year by reference to the year of Christ's Incarnation was not in general use in Britain at the time when this History was compiled. Nevertheless, there are several allusions made to the number of years by which one event preceded and another followed the Nativity of Christ. From this some notion of the chronology here recognized may be obtained. The last Invasion of Britain by Julius Cæsar (p. 59) is said to have occurred forty-seven years before Christ's Nativity,—in the year of the World 5215. These numerals are either vitiated in the manuscript, or it must be assumed that the writer placed the Nativity seven years before the Dionysian Era, and four years before that to which Eusebius refers the Epoch of Christ's Birth, whilst he exceeds the number of years said by Eusebius to have elapsed from the Creation to the Nativity by seventy-three years. The next date contradicts this view, for the author places the Invasion of Claudius forty-eight years after Christ's Advent, which exceeds the Eusebian epoch by only two years. It is most probable, however, that as the numerals vary in the manuscripts, they are mostly depraved, and that they ought to be amended according to the computation of Eusebius, whom it was the author's design apparently to follow in these particulars. The numerals, when accurately transcribed, show this; and the death of Maximus (p. 62 A) may be instanced. It is placed in A.D.I. 391, A.M. 5590 ([1]); and being reduced to the vulgar

([1]) This date, written $\bar{V}$DCXC, represents 5590; 500 being expressed, as was not unusual, by the Roman numerals DC instead of D singly.

Digitized by Google

era, the correct year of this event, A.D. 388, is given. The most important chronological data, however, which this History affords, are to be found in the various notices of the period to which the advent of the Saxons into Britain is to be referred. Nennius.

§ 27. There can be little doubt, from even the scanty notices which the Greek and Roman writers have left of British affairs, that the coasts of Gaul and Britain began to be greatly infested by Saxon pirates soon after the middle of the fourth century. We find in Nennius distinct allusion to one particular instance of their coming to this Island in the third consulate of Gratian with Æquitius, A.D. 374; and although the accuracy of this notice is weakened by making Guortigern's reception of them cotemporary with this their first recorded advent, yet there is room in many particulars for believing that the two occasions of their visiting Britain are confounded, and that Nennius intended to distinguish these two occasions by connecting their first advent with the consulate of Gratian and Æquitius, and their second advent with the reign of Guortigern, whose age is fixed with equal certainty, not less by synchronical allusions to other events occurring in various parts of the Historia, than by the direct testimony of the chronological data (p. 76), which, whether they formed part of the original compilation or not, is not material to the argument, since they are found in the earliest known manuscripts (X. Y. Z. AA.), and present in their synchronistic accuracy a marked contrast with the other additions to this work. These data are probably grounded on the Fasti of Victor of Aquitaine, and the notices of Britain introduced consistently therewith. From them it appears that Guortigern's accession to the supremacy in Britain was cotemporary with that of Valentinian, son of Placidia, to the Roman empire, A.D. 425; and that the fourth year of his reign was concurrent with the consulate of Felix and Taurus, in which year is also placed the advent of the Saxons to Britain, and their reception by Guortigern in A.D.P. 401 = A.D. 428., i.e. 401 + 28 − 1 = 428. Consistently also with these facts, the victories of Ambrosius are referred to the twelfth year of Guortigern, concurrent with A.D. 437; and the period of his exploits therein assigned seems to be far more agreeable with what is recorded of him by Gildas and Beda than the period with which it has generally been the habit of connecting them.

§ 28. Chapters XXVII. and XXVIII. also supply important data for Chronology. The previous Chapter closes with the death of Maximus; and the events subsequent thereto during the next forty years, more fully detailed by Gildas, are merely glanced at by Nennius in conjunction with anterior occurrences, and the conduct of the Romans contrasted with that of the Britons. The latter are represented as slaying the rulers and protectors sent from Rome, and then asking assistance from the country whose rule they had refused. The object of the Romans was to govern, to help, and to avenge; and having spoiled Britain of its wealth they return with triumph. One application only from the Britons to the Romans is here alluded to, and the author then proceeds:—but after the battle between the Britons and the Romans, when their leaders were slain, and after the death of Maximus the tyrant, "transactoque "Romanorum in Brittania imperio per quadraginta annos sub metu fuerunt. Guortigernus "regnavit in Britannia; et dum ipse regnabat, urgebatur a metu Pictorum Scottorumque, et "a Romanico impetu, necnon et a timore Ambrosii. Interea venerunt tres chiulæ a Germania," &c. If the forty years here mentioned are dated from the death of Maximus in A.D. 388, we are carried onward to A.D. 428, as the time when the occurrences about to be described took place. The advent of the Saxons, and their reception by Guortigern, are then referred to; but the passage in which the date occurs being so manifestly corrupted, it is difficult to understand the statement, unless we assume that two distinct occasions upon which the Saxons came to this Island are alluded to by the writer (1), and that a date is assigned in the passage as it now stands only to the former of them. The corruption of the text in its present form probably occasioned the notion, to which the authority of Beda has since given such extensive currency, that the coming of the Saxons on the invitation of Guortigern took place about the time of the accession of the Emperor Marcianus; and the numerals, which vary from 347 to 449, have doubtlessly aided the misapprehension. Hence, too, in all probability, is derived Beda's dates of 447 and 449, neither of which coincides with the time of Marcianus, who did not receive the empire until A.D. 450. The correct numerals are, however, to be found in many

(1) See note (1) to p. 110.

Digitized by Google

Nennius. of the manuscripts now extant, in the libraries of Rome, Paris, and our own, and are repeated in other parts of this Work in various forms. The date should clearly be "anno CCCXLVII. "post Passionem Christi," giving to the epoch as here used the commencement which it generally obtained at the time, and which has been already explained. (1) One thing is quite certain, that all the varieties in which the numerals having CCCC occur are as far from the true date, if that be A.D. 449, as those having CCC, because it must be remembered that there is no indication of the era of the Incarnation having been used in conjunction with them. Some other explanation therefore must be sought; and the only conclusion at which it seems possible to arrive is that the year of the reception of the Saxons by Guortigern, which is that usually understood by the advent of the Saxons, is here omitted, owing to the vitiated state of the passage; and that the numerals as they now appear have reference to some previous advent, the epoch of which is defined by the synchronism of the consulate of Gratian and Aequitius, is expressed by the numerals CCCXLVII. post Passionem, and accords with the year of the vulgar era 374. The author then mentions the coming of Saint Germanus to Britain "in tempore illius," that is, of Guortigern. The first mission of Saint Germanus all chronologists now place in A.D. 429, and his sojourn in this island is not extended beyond A.D. 430. The occurrences, therefore, in which Guortigern takes part with Germanus, and his death, which that Prelate is made to witness, must have preceded A.D. 431. There is no authority for referring these events to the second mission of Saint Germanus into Britain, and indeed they could not then have taken place. This mission occurred only one year before his death, which took place in A.D. 448. Even this would require the death of Guortigern to anticipate the year usually assigned for his invitation or reception of the Saxons, by a year at least. The whole, however, is quite consistent with the assumption that the first advent of the Saxons to Britain was in the consulate of Gratian and Aequitius, A.D. 374; their second advent and reception by Guortigern, in the Consulate of Felix and Taurus, A.D. 428.

Beda. § 29. It might be reasonably expected that the Chronology of Beda would be consistent, as he has written two works on the subject, "Libellus de ratione computus (2)," and "Liber de temporum ratione;" but, unfortunately, though he has shown the value and necessity of a correct knowledge of Chronology, yet he has not himself been so particular in practice as might be imagined, for he is very often inconsistent with himself.

§ 30. In his historical works he has used several different modes of dating; firstly, by the "annus mundi;" secondly, according to the regnal years of the Emperors of Rome; thirdly, by the Incarnation; and, fourthly, by the Indiction.

§ 31. In his "Chronicon de sex ætatibus" he dates events by the "annus mundi" or year of the world, to which he adds the regnal year of the Emperors of Rome, and occasionally the number of years which have elapsed since certain remarkable events. He only mentions the era of the Incarnation once, and then it is in connexion with the commencement of the Dionysian era.

§ 32. He derived much of his information during the first five centuries from the works of Eusebius, St. Jerome, Prosper of Aquitaine, Eutropius, Cassiodorus, Paulus Orosius, Gildas and other writers who flourished before the era of the Incarnation was usually employed in chronological computation. The years were reckoned by them either from the Creation, from the building of Rome, from the Consuls, or by the Indiction. With the exception of Gildas, who does not employ any Chronology in his History, all the other writers from whom Beda derived the facts mentioned in his Chronicle considered that Christ was born in the forty-second year of the reign of Augustus, the twenty-seventh after the conquest of Egypt and the death of Anthony and Cleopatra, the third year of the 194th Olympiad, and the 752d of the building of Rome,—two years earlier than the Dionysian or vulgar era. To the events which he derived from these authors, Beda has, in many instances, added the year of Christ sometimes according to the "verus annus," but generally according to the vulgar era. He also occasionally falls into errors through not adverting to the various commencements of

(1) See note (2) p. 109.

(2) Dr. Peacock, Art. Arithmetic, in Encyclopædia Metropolitana, p. 471., considers the treatise De computo ecclesiastico, which is attributed to Beda, as spurious. Mr. De Morgan agrees with this.—Companion to British Almanac, p. 10.

Digitized by Google

Beda.

the era of the building of Rome, and other epochs employed by those writers from whom he borrows his facts. The Chronology, however, of each of those writers requires to be carefully examined, and reduced to the era of the Incarnation, by a method applicable to each separately, but inapplicable to them collectively. For instance, Eutropius and Orosius both employ the era of the building of Rome; but in some cases they are in advance of that era, as settled by the computation of Varro, by one or two years, and at other times they fall short of it to the same extent.(1) The consular year as used by Prosper, Cassiodorus, and in the Chronicle of Marcellinus, though well adapted to mark an annular course of events, has also been greatly confused by later writers following that mode in conjunction with some other era. How errors might thus arise will appear by the following table of the year in which the Nativity of our Saviour is placed by the early chroniclers.

3d year before the Christian era, i.e. ante A.D. 3.	1st January.	41st of Augustus.	A.U.C. 750. a. A.D. 3. 41st Augusti. 42d Augusti.	Cn. Cornelius Lentulus and M. Valerius Messalinus, Consuls.
	15th March, ante A.D. 3. 14th March, ante A.D. 3.	42d of Augustus.	C. Calvisius Sabinus II., L. Passienus Rufus, Consuls. a. A.D. 4.
	21st April, ante A.D. 3. 20th April, ante A.D. 2.	A.U.C. 751.	43d of Augustus. A.U.C. 751. A.U.C. 752. a. A.D. 1.
	Christ born, 25th December. 31st December.		C. Cæsar Octavianus Aug. XIII., M. Plautius Siluanus, Consuls. a. A.D. 2.

(1) According to the Varronian computation the death of Cæsar took place on the 15th of March A.U.C. 709 (exiente). Eutropius writes, "Anno Urbis DCC. fere ac nono, interfecto Cæsare, bella civilia reparata sunt." He places the consulate of L. Licinius Lucullus and Marcus Aurelius in A.U.C. 676. This may be taken either for 676-77, or for 675-76, as the year of the consulate began on the 1st of January, and the year of Rome on the 21st of April; but, according to the computation of Varro, this consulate should concur with A.U.C. 679-80. The consulate of P. Cornelius Lentulus and Cnæus Aufidius Orestes he makes concurrent with A.U.C. 681, which may be 681-82; according to Varro it agrees with A.U.C. 682-83. The consulate of Cicero with C. Antonius he places in the A.U.C. 689, which may mean 689-90; according to Varro it is concurrent with A.U.C. 690-91. Eutropius, Orosius, and Beda all make the consulate of Julius Cæsar concurrent with A.U.C. 693, which may be 693-94. Cæsar was consul with Bibulus, according to the computation of Varro, in A.U.C. 694-95, but Beda (page 110) adds to the year of Rome the year before the Incarnation, viz. "ante vero Incarnationis Dominicæ tempus anno sexagesimo;" thus proving that Beda in this instance reduced the era of Rome according to Eutropius and Orosius to the era of the Incarnation according to Dionysius; for had he intended the "verus annus" of Christ's Nativity, he would have said fifty-seven years instead of sixty, the consulate of Cæsar with Bibulus being in fact concurrent with the fifty-ninth year before the era of the Incarnation. In the very next date used by Beda (p. 111) he places an event in the fourth year of Claudius as corresponding with the year of Rome 798, and makes both concurrent with the forty-sixth year of the Incarnation. Now, if either the year of Rome or of the Emperor's reign, as given by Beda, be taken, it will be found that neither can agree with the year forty-six of the Incarnation according to Dionysius. The following table will show the year in question in which the triumph over Britain was celebrated by Claudius, viz. A.D. 44, in the consulate of Crispinus and Taurus, as stated by Cassiodorus (lxxxii. 2).

A.D. 44.	1st January.			L. Quinctius Crispinus II. and M. Statilius Taurus, Consuls.
	24th January, A.D. 44. 23d January, A.D. 45.	Ao 4tus Claudii.
	21st April, A.D. 44. 20th April, A.D. 45.	A.U.C. 797.
	31st December.

From this it follows that Beda places the event in the year of Rome 798 (exiente) as concurrent with the fourth of Claudius (ineunte), which is one year of Rome later than it would be according to the Varronian computation, and reduces the dates to the era of the Nativity of Christ, and not to the era of the Incarnation according to Dionysius. The Chapter in Orosius from which Beda has abridged the above account begins with the year in which Claudius obtained the empire: "anno autem ab urbe condita 795:" consequently, the fourth year of Claudius appears to have been referred by Beda to the year of Rome 798, without adverting either to the time of commencing the era of Rome, or to the day on which the New Year of that era, or of the Emperor's reign, began, according to the computation of the author from whose work a notice of the event is borrowed. Again, Orosius writes under A.U.C. 1138, "Theodosius, interfecto per Maximum Gratiano, imperium Romani orbis solus obtinuit." This may be A.U.C. 1137-38; but the year of Gratian's death is concurrent with the consulate of Merobodes II. and Saturninus, A.U.C. 1135-36. The sacking of Rome by the Goths in A.D. 409 Orosius refers to A.U.C. 1164; but that

Digitized by Google

Beda.

§ 33. The above table will explain how it happens that while Eusebius, Beda, and other writers place the Nativity in the 42d of Augustus, Tertullian affirms that Christ was born in the 41st of Augustus, Orosius in 752d year from the building of Rome, and Cassiodorus writes, "C. Lentulo et M. Messala, Coss. Dominus noster Jesus Christus filius Dei in Bethlehem "nascitur, anno imperii Augusti XLI." These discrepancies arise from the author making the full year of one era concurrent with the full year of some other era; whereas it will be seen that a portion only of such years will concur, and regard must be had to that portion in which the particular event intended to be described actually took place.

§ 34. Beda also narrates events without assigning them to any specific year; and he also gives in his History the date of an event different from that in his Chronicle. Facts are often narrated by him without any relation to priority, consequently cause and effect sometimes seem to be confounded. Events are spread over the reigns of several Emperors in his Chronicle (p. 93), while the narrative of the same occurrences is far more limited in the Ecclesiastical History (lib. I. cc. 12–16); and it is evident that this variation of time as well as of persons did not arise from a more exact knowledge of the subject acquired between the composition of the two works. This seems to shew that there was no intention on the part of Beda to arrange his extracts from different writers in their strict chronological order; and that he continued or varied his narrative in such manner as he deemed convenient, without either the intention or the means of giving to the occurrences he describes their exact relative chronological position. Several instances could be adduced to prove that Beda had no precise knowledge of the time when the events took place which are mentioned by Gildas; and yet he appears to have assigned definite dates to them. In assigning the regnal year of the Emperors and Saxon Kings, he does not always reckon from the death of the preceding monarch (p. 185, n^{b}). In computing the number of years between different events, he either reckons loosely, or his numerals have been depraved by successive scribes. He reckons that between Cæsar's invasion and the Roman abandonment of Britain 470 years had elapsed (p. 117); and (p. 129) he writes that the mission of St. Augustine for the conversion of the Saxons, which he places in A.D. 596, and the 14th of the reign of the Emperor Mauricius, took place about the 150th year of the advent of the Saxons into Britain; elsewhere (p. 284) he associates A.D. 731 with about the 285th year of the same advent. Indeed he appears to have been uncertain of the precise time when the Saxons are said to have come into Britain, and at least three distinct dates of that event are to be gathered from his various statements in the Ecclesiastical History and the Chronicle. (1)

§ 35. Again, in Lib. I. Cap. v. p. 154 A C. he states that the year 616, in which King Æthelbert died, was the twenty-first year since Augustine was sent to preach the Gospel to the English, "post viginti et unum annos acceptæ fidei," and that Æthelbert died on the twenty-fourth of February 616. Now, Augustine was despatched from Rome in 596, and arrived in England in the beginning of 597; twenty-one years, therefore, would reach to A.D. 618. Supposing Æthelbert's conversion to have taken place in the very beginning of 597, it would be barely nineteen years to the 24th of February A.D. 616; both events are event occurred in the consulate of Honorius Aug. VIII. and Theodosius junior Aug. III. A.U.C. 1162. He also mentions the accession of Titus Antoninus Pius under A.U.C. 889; but Antoninus Pius was proclaimed Emperor on the 10th of July A.U.C. 891 = A.D. 138. The accession of Marcus Aurelius Antoninus with Lucius Commodus Verus to the empire took place in March A.U.C. 913 (exiente) = A.D. 161; but Orosius places this event in the year of Rome 911; and Beda, adopting the words of Orosius, reduces the date to the year of the Incarnation 156. The accession of Severus, Beda reduces from A.U.C. 944 of Orosius to the the year 189 of the Incarnation; whereas Severus was proclaimed Emperor in May A.U.C. 946 = A.D. 193. Diocletian was elected Emperor 17th Sept. A.D. 284 = A.U.C. 1037; but Orosius places that event in A.U.C. 1041, which Beda reduces to the year 286 of the Incarnation. From the above it will be seen that the year of one era may be made to correspond (according to circumstances) with two or more years of some other era, and unless we attend to the part of the year in which the occurrence took place considerable error must arise in the Chronology.

---

(1) Pagi (Critica in Baronium, an. 447, No. IX.), in endeavouring to reconcile the discrepancy of the dates 449 and 447, insists that Beda distinguished between the time of the invitation of the Saxons and their arrival; that he restricted the latter to an. 449, the former to 447; and that in referring to the invitation, Beda thought fit to use a form of expression which in strictness related only to their arrival. But if this solution, however strained, were admitted, still the third remains to be accounted for, Pagi having either overlooked or neglected to notice it.

For the reasons given at page 113, the arrival of the Saxons has been assigned to the year 428.

Digitized by Google

placed in the same year, as though "missus" were to be understood as arrival, and neither apparently agrees with the period said to have elapsed. Beda.

§ 36. After the conversion of the Saxons to Christianity, Beda seems to have always employed in his chronological computation the Dionysian era in preference to the "verus annus;" he also adds the Indiction (1), and occasionally the regnal year of the Saxon Sovereigns, but he appears to have reckoned from the Incarnation and Nativity indifferently. When he employs the date of the Indiction he used the Imperial (24th September) and never the Pontifical (25th December). In his Essay "De temporum ratione" (p. 90), in giving rules for finding the Indiction, he states that it commenced and ended on the 24th of September; and in his Ephemeris he writes "Indictiones in octavo calendarum Octobris "semper incipiunt et finiuntur, ibique mutantur." This is important to remember, otherwise many of his dates would seem to be placed in a wrong year. In the time of Beda certainly, and apparently for some years subsequently, the Imperial Indiction was commonly used. (2)

§ 37. There are some passages in his Ecclesiastical History, from which it might be inferred that he calculated the historical year from one Imperial Indiction to the next; but the evidence is hardly sufficient to state that such was uniformly the case.

§ 38. A careful examination of Beda's chronology will show how difficult it is to lay down any general rules for arriving at a satisfactory conclusion. The only way is to examine each date by itself, taking all relative circumstances into the consideration.

§ 39. The Saxon Chronicle, which is the work of many successive hands, extends from the invasion of Julius Cæsar to various periods; the latest about the middle of the twelfth century. The notices which occur in it down to the year 449 are derived principally from Jerome's translation of Eusebius's Chronicle and its Continuations, and Beda's Chronicle and Ecclesiastical History, from the latter of which the few incidents relating to Britain during that period are borrowed. From the year 455 to the year 729 the military events, notices of battles, and other occurrences in which the Britons and Saxons were concerned, are peculiar to the Saxon Chronicle, and do not appear to be supported by contemporary or other authority anterior to the date of its compilation; most of the ecclesiastical notices are taken from Beda's Ecclesiastical History (3); consequently, the same uncertainties in the Chronology which have been just pointed out are wholly applicable to this portion of the Chronicle. Two or three dates, however, occasionally differ from those given by Beda, and in one or two instances dates have been assigned to events which he had left undated. (See p. 306, n^b.) The Saxon Chronicle.

§ 44. From the year 729 to the end of the year 891 the matter seems to have been collected together by the same parties at some period between the death of Beda and the time that Bishop Asser wrote the Life of Alfred; but whence the matter was obtained it is impossible to say, though it was probably collected in the manner stated by Geoffrey Gaimar. (4) The Compilation, perhaps, was completed in the year 891, as in the earliest manuscript all the entries are in a continuous hand down to that year. That manuscript is evidently a copy of an earlier one ending with that year.

§ 41. The mode in which ancient Chronicles were compiled has been already explained (p. 98), and the Saxon Chronicle was, doubtless, formed after that manner; Beda's Chronicle

---

(1) The Cycle of Indictions may be traced as high as the reign of Constantine, but with certainty to that of his son Constantius. It is still employed by the Papal Court, but the commencement of the year of the Indiction ha seen altered to the 1st of January. (See "L'Art de vérifier les Dates," p. 11, and "Dictionnaire Raison. de la Diplomatique," tom. II. p. 25.)

(2) Mr. Kemble, in his Introduction to the "Codex Diplomaticus," p. 80, states, "that Beda himself knew of no other than the Pontifical, in spite of the statement made by himself, that the Indictions commenced on the "24th of September;" but the instances Mr. Kemble has adduced do not appear to justify this statement; moreover, the Charters of Offa (Nos. 141 and 142), dated A.D. 781, Indiction 4, bear his marks of doubtful authenticity. The Charter (No. 140), which precedes them, dated 22d September A.D. 780, Indiction 3, does not bear out Mr. Kemble's opinion; and the quotation from Beda relative to the Council of Heathfield (17th September 680, Indiction 8,) does not touch the case, as the date would not be affected by either commencement of the Indiction.

(3) Some manuscripts are fuller than others, and contain notices relative to the monastery to which the manuscript belonged, or rather where it was written; such, for instance, as those occurring at p. 312, et seq., all having reference to Peterborough.

(4) pp. 792. 807.

Digitized by Google

The Saxon Chronicle.

and Ecclesiastical History being taken as the groundwork, and a few additions from other sources made to it. From the period at which Beda's works cease, the matter was probably collected from those monasteries, where events and "notabilia" were registered (1); so that to his death it observes the same chronology as he used, except perhaps in the additions. From that period the events were dated according to the computation used in the monastery whence the data were taken; hence some events were computed according to the "verus annus" of the birth of Christ, and others according to the Dionysian or vulgar era, for there is evidence in several parts of the Chronicle that the data were taken from monasteries which commence the year at different periods. In one manuscript alone six different computations may be distinctly traced. At what period the Nativity or Midwinter Day was universally adopted as the first day of the new year cannot be stated positively (2); but it seems to have been regularly so considered by the annalists who compiled the latter portion of the Chronicle. It was certainly after the year 891, and perhaps not before the tenth or eleventh century. (3)

§ 42. Other causes of variation in the dates in the Saxon Chronicle may now be noticed. It has been suggested that the Dionysian tables were used in monasteries for recording events, and that occasionally they were entered by mistake under a wrong year. (4) Again, many events are recorded without any year being assigned to them, and which have been supplied by subsequent hands, and often incorrectly; perhaps correctly enough, according to the system of chronology used by the person supplying the date, though incorrectly as far as relates to the other dates in the Chronicle. Sometimes the rubricator, who generally supplied the dates, left one year out by mistake, which would necessarily place a whole sequence of events in wrong years. (See pp. 325, n [b], 341, n [a], 436, n [a], 363, n [c], 372, n [a], 374, n [a].)

§ 43. Another mode of recording transactions has evidently been the occasion of errors. So many events have happened in one year as to more than fill the space allotted for one year's transactions, and the scribe has been obliged to fill or write upon the space appropriated either to the preceding or following year, so that it was almost impossible for another to know in which year the occurrence took place. (5) Besides, the most careful scribe might occasionally enter a fact in the wrong line, especially where the Roman numerals were used. Take the following as an example:—

DCCCVII. - - - - -	Nothing recorded.
DCCCVIII. - - - - -	Nothing recorded.
DCCCIX. - - - - -	Events are recorded.
DCCCX. - - - - -	Nothing recorded.
DCCCXI. - - - - -	Nothing recorded.
DCCCXII. - - - - -	Events are recorded.
DCCCXIII. - - - - -	Events are recorded.
DCCCXIV. - - - - -	Events are recorded.
DCCCXV. - - - - -	Nothing recorded.

---

(1) See note (4) p. 74.

(2) We have said that Beda used the Imperial Indiction, and that there was some evidence to show that he calculated the historical year from one Indiction to the next. Now, as the Pontifical Indiction (which commenced on the 25th of December) afterwards superseded the Imperial, may not this have been the reason why the New Year also began on that day, the year being computed from one Indiction to another?

(3) In some manuscripts the year seems to have commenced at Easter, or the 25th of March, as late as A.D. 1053. (See p. 435, n [a].) As further evidence that the year had previously commenced in some monasteries on the 25th of March (the Incarnation), it may be remarked that Asser borrowed a great portion of his Life of Alfred from the Saxon Chronicle; and as he invariably dated from the Incarnation, it would seem that he considered that feast to be the first day of the New Year. In addition to which it may be mentioned that Asser notices an eclipse of the sun as happening on the 14th of March 879, but which took place on the 14th of March 880 according to the modern computation. This shows, therefore, that he did not commence the New Year until the 25th of March. As the Saxon Chronicle, Florence of Worcester, and Simeon of Durham, all have the same date, it also shows that the 25th of March was then New Year's Day. Again, whenever Aethelweard (who did little more than abridge and translate the Saxon Chronicle into Latin) dated from the Dominical year, it was always from the Incarnation; and this furnishes additional evidence that towards the end of the tenth century the 25th of March was considered as the first day of the New Year. See also the Saxon Chronicle under 978, pp. 397, 398, n [b].

(4) Many instances in the Saxon Chronicle seem to justify this conclusion.

(5) Many instances can be pointed out in the Saxon Chronicle; but see the Fac-similes.

Digitized by Google

DCCCXVI. - - - - -	Events are recorded.	The Saxon Chronicle.
DCCCXVII. - - - - -	Nothing recorded.
DCCCXVIII. - - - - -	Nothing recorded.
DCCCXIX. - - - - -	Events are recorded.
DCCCXX. - - - -	Nothing recorded.

Thus IV. and VI. might easily be mistaken, II. for III., and III. for IIII. Moreover, when several Roman numerals occur together, a careless scribe might easily leave out a letter X., or change a V. into an X. Several instances of this occur in the Saxon Chronicle, and by the repetition of the letter X., events have been anticipated ten years before they happened. The misplacing of numerals also occasioned error; for example, most of the ancient authorities say that Cynewulf reigned XXXI. years, although they all assign 755 for the first and 784 for the last year of his reign. Now, as the same numerals also make XXIX., the correct number, it is clear that the last two have been inverted, thus, XI. for IX.; and in one case, by the omission of C., an event has been made to appear one hundred years before it occurred. Thus it is in one copy of the Chronicle DCCCLXXXIV., — "this year the benevolent Bishop Aethelwod died;" whereas that event did not take place till 984, in which year, viz. DCCCCLXXXIV., it is properly found in all other copies of the Chronicle.

§ 44. Again, in those monasteries which commenced the year at the Incarnation, and those that regarded the Nativity or Midwinter day as the commencement of the New Year, there will be an apparent, or at any rate a nominal, difference of one year in their record of the same transaction. Thus, all events occurring between the 25th of December and the 25th of March will be placed in a different year.

§ 45. Besides the Dominical date, which has just been commented on, the Regnal year is occasionally introduced into the Saxon Chronicle, and the two seldom can be made to correspond. By several calculations and comparisons which have been made, it seems that some chroniclers inaccurately considered, that the first regnal year of a sovereign, and the first year of the præsulate of a bishop, consisted only of the time which occurred between their accessions and the close of the Dominical year. For instance, if a king ascended the throne, or a bishop was consecrated, any time between one New Year's Day and the next, that portion of the unexpired Dominical year, whether it consisted of ten months, or as many days, was considered as forming the first regnal or præsulate year of a sovereign or pontiff, and the second regnal or præsulate year commenced on the first New Year's Day after his accession. These discrepancies occasion no little difficulty and uncertainty in reducing dates to one general system; indeed, in some cases, it is almost impossible to do so.

§ 46. From the foregoing remarks, however, it will be evident to the Reader that the earliest historians, chroniclers, and annalists did not observe any fixed time for the commencement of their historical year, but that each annalist was governed by some local custom, regardless of the period kept by any other writer. The uncertainty of such Chronology must have been very puzzling to subsequent annalists, and fully justifies the condemnation it has received from Gervaise of Canterbury. (1) Other annalists, however, less scrupulous than that author, have not hesitated to alter the dates of events to suit their narration, without using much critical acumen on the subject; others, again, with every desire to do right, have been misled by the difficulty of the subject.

§ 47. In several instances there is a difference of two whole years in the dates assigned to the same events by the northern and southern and western annalists (if such distinction can be recognised). Simeon of Durham, and those who follow him, place the same events, during a portion of the eighth and ninth centuries, apparently two years later than the compilers of the Saxon Chronicles, Ethelweard, Florence of Worcester, Henry of Huntingdon, and those annalists and historians who follow them; and the discrepancy can only be accounted for by supposing that one or more of the causes already enumerated produced it. This fact was first brought prominently before the public by that distinguished scholar and critic, Mr. John Mitchel Kemble, who has rendered such eminent service to Anglo-Saxon literature and history. Mr. Kemble, in his learned Introduction to his Codex Diplomaticus Ævi

(1) Decem Scriptores, col. 1336.

Digitized by Google

The Saxon Chronicle.

Saxonici, states, that "in every case where there is a discrepancy in a date between the northern and southern chroniclers, and a Saxon Charter relating to the time in question is in existence, the Charter invariably corroborates the date in the northern, and falsifies those of the Saxon Chronicle and Florence of Worcester."

§ 48. The value of Mr. Kemble's theory, if correct, lies in affording one more clue to unravel the perplexities that attend Chronology, and not in establishing the superior credit of the Northern Historians; it shows forcibly the necessity of testing the accuracy of every date upon its own merits. His theory, however, wants further confirmation; and by pointing out its fallacy in one particular instance which he has adduced, it will be manifest that his discovery must be used with caution. (1)

§ 49. The accession of Ecgberht of Wessex, is placed in A.D. 800 in the Saxon Chronicle, Ethelweard, Florence of Worcester, Henry of Huntingdon, William of Malmesbury, and other authorities, but Simeon of Durham and the Chronicle of Melrose (2) assign it to the year 802. Mr. Kemble maintains that the northern writers are correct, and adduces three Charters in support of them.

§ 50. His first instance refers to a Charter, which, he says, "was granted in 835 by "King Ecgberht, and confirmed by him in the thirty-fourth year of his reign; that is, "according to Florence, in 834, the year before it was granted; but, according to Simeon, "confirmed in 836, the year after, which is more reasonable." (3) The dates in this Charter are thus given:—"Anno Dominicæ Incarnationis DCCCXXXV., Indictione XIII., ego Ecgbert "rex Occidentalium Saxonum dedi, &c. Hæc donatio fuit facta in Pascha in Dorchestre, "et postera vice eandem donationem liberaliter in Natali confirmavimus, anno imperii "nostri XXXIIII."

§ 51. There is nothing really inconsistent in the date of this Charter with the statement in the Saxon Chronicle that Ecgberht commenced his reign A.D. 800, though, at first sight, illustrated by Mr. Kemble's comment, it appears to militate against it. The date 835, however, can only refer to the time when the Charter was confirmed, and not to the time when the donation was originally made. It was granted at Easter (6th April A.D. 834), and the confirmation made at the following Christmas, in the thirty-fourth year of the reign of Ecgberht, A.D. 834; but as the New Year at that time commenced on Christmas Day, and the Pontifical Indiction changed on the same day, both year and indiction (which, according to the modern computation, would be A.D. 834, Indiction XII.) are, in the Confirmation Charter of King Ecgberht, 835, Indiction XIII. If, therefore, Ecgberht came to the throne between 26th December and 31st December A.D. 800, his thirty-fourth year would have been still incomplete on Christmas Day 834 or 835 (ineunte). That the date does not refer to the donation which was made at Easter, but to the confirmation at Christmas, is clear from analogy; for the date of a grant must have reference to the last act in connexion with it which is technically called "confectio,"—the signing or sealing of the Charter. If the donation had been made at Easter 835, the Christmas following would be 835-36, Indiction XIV., which would then have been the date of the Charter; for the Saxon New Year's Day, and the new Indiction, both changed on the 25th of December. The date 835 in this Charter is in fact Christmas 834 according to the modern computation. But Mr. Kemble grounds his objection also on another Charter granted by King Ecgberht in 838 to Bishop Beornmod, the datal clause of which Charter is this,—"In nomine Domini "nostri Ihesu Christi Salvatoris Mundi, anno Dominicæ Incarnationis DCCCXXXVIII., Indic-"tione I.;" and on the copy of a proceeding at the Council of Kingston, presided over in 838 by Ecgberht. The date of this instrument thus occurs,—"Actum est autem anno

---

(1) Mr. Kemble's preference of the credibility of the northern rather than of the southern chroniclers, as he distinguishes them, is not always justified by the evidence he adduces, as when he seeks to establish the correctness of dates in Simeon by Charters which have no other dates than those which he has himself assigned to them; e. g. the Charter of Offa (No. 168.) and that of Sigiraed (No. 114). (See p. lxxxvii. of Mr. Kemble's Introduction.)

(2) As those portions of the Chronicles of Hoveden and Melrose which relate to the period in question are taken from the Chronicle attributed to Simeon, they may be considered but as one authority.

(3) No. 236. p. 312 of Vol. I. Codex Diplomaticus.

Digitized by Google

"Dominicæ Incarnationis DCCCXXXVIII., Indictione I., die IIII. feria;" and it was afterwards confirmed by King Ethelaulf, Ecgberht's son and successor, in these words:—"Anno ab "Incarnatione Christi DCCCXXXVIII., Indictione II., primo videlicet anno regni Eðeluulfi Regis "post obitum patris sui factum est," &c. The Saxon Chronicle.

§ 52. Here again there is nothing in the dates of these Charters inconsistent with the statement in the Saxon Chronicle that Ecgberht of Wessex commenced his reign in the year 800; but, on the contrary, they confirm it in the most satisfactory manner. Every copy of the Saxon Chronicle now known states that Ecgberht reigned thirty-seven years and seven months. Consequently, if he ascended the throne between the 26th and 31st December A.D. 800 he could not have completed his thirty-seventh year before 31st December 837, and only entered his thirty-eighth year, in which he reigned seven months in January 838. If there were any doubt left on this subject, the confirmation of King Etheluulf, as given above, would certainly remove it; for he there expressly states that the year 839 was the first year of his reign. Now, as he commenced his reign, according to the above view, some time in August A. D. 838, it would consequently be his first regnal year until the same month A.D. 839; but if thirty-seven years and seven months (the length of Ecgberht's reign) be added to 802 it would bring his death to 840, a date which is thus proved from one of the Charters to be incorrect. The instances therefore cited in objection (1) to the Chronology of the Saxon Chronicle and Southern Annalists confirm in a most extraordinary manner the statement there given, that 800, and not 802, was the year of the accession of King Ecgberht; for had his accession not taken place until A.D. 802, as given by Simeon, the first year of Etheluulf would begin in 840; and consequently the date of Etheluulf's confirmation, and the first Charter printed in Mr. Kemble's second volume, and dated in 839(2), might be considered spurious. From the above facts it must appear that the year 800, given in the Saxon Chronicle for the accession of Ecgberht, is the correct one, and the year 802, as given by Simeon of Durham, is wrong.(3) If Simeon here followed a computation founded on the epoch of the Nativity rather than the vulgar era, the discrepancy would be reconciled.

§ 53. A few inferential proofs confirmatory of the truth of the date in the Saxon Chronicle must be now offered. It is a well known fact that Roger Hoveden compiled the greatest part of his "Annales" from the Chronicle of Simeon of Durham, and frequently uses the exact words of that Chronicle; and yet, when speaking of Ecgberht, he says that Ecgberht succeeded Beohtric in the year 800, or, as some will have it, 802. He reigned thirty-seven years and seven months in Wessex.(4) Now, if Hoveden, who probably had considered all the circumstances, had thought that Simeon's date was the correct one, he would have given it, as he has others, without comment.

---

(1) No. 239. page 317 of the first volume of his Cod. Dip. Vol. I.

(2) The date of this Charter is thus given:—"Hactum est autem hæc donatio anno Dominicæ Incarnationis "DCCCXXXVIIII. indict." The year of the Indiction is not given.

(3) A different view of this matter was taken by the writer of these pages at the time he edited Malmesbury's "Gesta Regum Angliæ," but additional evidence and reflection enable him now to correct his error. He then based his opinion on the ground that, admitting the Charter first cited (No. 239) to have been granted by Ecgberht at Easter 834, and confirmed at the Christmas following, in the thirty-fourth year of his reign, the Christmas 834–35 would be the thirty-fourth year (iniens) of the reign, if his accession be placed in 802; whereas it would be his thirty-fourth year (exiens) if his accession be placed in 800. The only difference being, that in order to carry out the former position it would require the computation of the regnal year to be made according to the principle stated at § 45. of these remarks; and for the latter, the second regnal year must be reckoned as commencing on the day following that on which the first full regnal year terminated. This is the proper and true mode of computing the regnal year, although, as before stated, some chroniclers appear to have adopted the less accurate method. There can be no doubt that in computing the current year of a Monarch's reign, and therefore in the dates of Charters, the regnal years were strictly computed, viz. from the day of the King's accession in one year of the Incarnation to the same day in the next year; and for this reason the closer calculation is preferred as that intended in the Charter. It is almost unnecessary to add, that on the same erroneous principle the length of Ecgberht's reign (thirty-seven years and seven months) will appear to be quite consistent with his accession in 802 and his death in 836: but Ethelwulf's confirmation of his father's Charter in 839, in the first year of his reign, necessarily confirms the view we now take, that 800, and not 802, is the correct date of Ecgberht's accession.

(4) Egbertus igitur, anno gratiæ octingentesimo, vel ut quidam volunt octingentesimo secundo, octavus numero decem regum fortissimorum, quos alibi singularis excellentiæ prærogativa notavimus, defuncto Brictrico successit, et regnavit triginta septem annis et septem mensibus super Westsexe.

Digitized by Google

The Saxon Chronicle.

§ 54. It may be remarked, in reference to Mr. Kemble's further objection to the Chronology of the Saxon Chronicle and other writers, that the instance he adduces of a Charter confirming a date given by Florence, who is very good original authority as far as the See of Worcester is concerned, is not a northern chronicler correcting a southern, but one southern correcting another.

§ 55. These remarks upon the Chronology of the Saxon Chronicle have acquired more importance from the weight of Mr. Kemble's well known learning and authority; it was therefore deemed essential to point out the caution with which the Chronology of any of the chronicles should be received; for, doubtless, there is great difficulty in reconciling the statements of one set of chroniclers with others; and the cause of the difficulty has been shown to arise from various causes. There is but one safe rule to be observed when a difficult point in Chronology occurs. It must be sifted and investigated with unprejudiced criticism, and settled upon its own merits; it is not a subject that can be safely dealt with in generalities. It should always be remembered, that when a contemporary author narrates events as happening in his own neighbourhood, he is entitled to greater consideration than one living many centuries later; and he ought generally to be preferred, unless good reason can be otherwise adduced, before an author living far distant from the place of the occurrence, and some centuries after the transactions occurred.

§ 56. The Saxon Chronicle (a great portion of which was written contemporaneously with the events it records) would therefore certainly seem to be better evidence of the truth of those events which relate to the southern and western parts of England than Simeon of Durham; and Simeon, though living several centuries after the events he narrates, would be entitled to as much respect as the Saxon Chronicle, if not to more, when he is narrating transactions which occurred in the northern parts of the kingdom; and just in the same ratio would a statement of Florence of Worcester, when it relates to the district with which he was immediately connected, be entitled to equal if not more consideration than the entry in the Saxon Chronicle of the same transaction. On this subject Mr. Kemble candidly remarks, "I do not mean to say that their (the southern and western writers) dates are not more "accurate than Simeon's, especially after 830; but each must be examined for itself, and on "its own grounds." The marginal and foot notes in every page of this Work will show how scrupulously careful Mr. Petrie has been in calling the attention of the Reader to all real or seeming difficulties or discrepancies, and in endeavouring by all the then available data to explain them. If the Work be continued, the Chronological Abstract for the Saxon period will fix each event to its correct year; and when any doubt or difficulty occurs as to a date, the Reader's attention will be directed to it, and the various years which have been assigned to it by different authors will be specified.

Asser.

§ 57. Asser generally dates from the Incarnation, on which feast he appears to have commenced the New Year (1), and he frequently adds the years of King Alfred's nativity.(2) The earlier portion of his History of Alfred appears to be a translation of the Saxon Chronicle, though his Chronology occasionally differs from it. (3)

Aethelweard.

§ 58. The Chronology of Aethelweard is very confused and perplexing. He does not adopt the Dominical (4) year or any fixed era, but he computes the number of years which have happened between the events he mentioned last and that which he is then narrating. He has in two or three instances referred to the Incarnation, and one of which throws some

---

(1) For instance, under the year 879, he writes, "Eclipsis solis inter nonam et vesperam, sed proprius ad nonam acta est." Now as this eclipse happened on the 14th of March, A.D. 880, it shows that he would not have commenced his New Year until the 25th of March, the feast of the Incarnation, from which he dates.

(2) "Anno Incarnationis 855, nativitatis autem præfati regis septimo."

(3) The events which Asser places under the year 864, the Saxon Chronicle places under 865, and those of 884 are under 885 in the Saxon Chronicle.

(4) "Ex quo etiam ceperat regnum rex Ecgbyrht, impleti sunt anni ab origine mundi numero sex millia (DC.M.), "excepto annis quinque; et ab Incarnatione Dominica anni octingenti (DCCC.); et ab adventu in Britanniam Hengest "et Horsa trecenti et quinquaginta anni (CCCL.); et a principatu Cerdic, ex quo subjugavit Britanniæ partem "occidentalem, qui fuit Ecgbyrhtes regis genitor decimus, transacti sunt anni trecenti (CCC.); et ab adventu Augustini "misso a beato Papa Gregorio cum baptismo ad gentem Anglorum ducenti anni (CC.) et quatuor, post missionemque "illam anno decimo migravit pater Gregorius." (p. 510.)

Digitized by Google

light upon the question of the true date of Ecgberht's accession to the throne, to which reference has already been made. Aethelweard.

§ 59. Although his History is little more than an abridged translation of the Saxon Chronicle, yet he has not followed the same mode of dating events as is there adopted; the consequence is, that there is occasionally a discrepancy between his dates and those in the Saxon Chronicle. It should also be noticed that the marginal Chronology, probably supplied by Savile, frequently differs materially from that in the text, and both are often incorrect; it also supplies new dates when no change of year is indicated in the narrative. On this subject see § 199. p. 82.

§ 60. The Chronology adopted by Florence of Worcester is the same as that of Marianus Scotus, whose Chronicle he has assumed as the basis of his own. Florence of Worcester.

§ 61. In one column is given the year of the Incarnation according to the computation of Dionysius, which he distinguishes by the letters S. D. (secundum Dionysium); and in another, the year of the same era according to the peculiar calculation of Marianus, which he considered to be more in accordance with Evangelical truth; this he points out by the letters S. E. (secundum Evangelium). Between these two eras there is, as before stated, a difference of twenty-two years in the computation; that is, the total number of years of the Evangelical era (S. E.) exceeds the Dionysian (S. D.) by twenty-two. Both of these eras are exhibited in the Chronicle of Florence, down to the year 1118, in which year he concludes his work.

§ 62. As there is evidently some confusion in the earlier portions of the work of Marianus, arising from his misconceiving the true commencement of the Dionysian era, and as this confusion extends equally to the corresponding portion of the Chronicle of Florence, it will be necessary to consider at greater length the system upon which Marianus proceeded.

§ 63. Marianus considered that the Dionysian era, by commencing twenty-two years later than, as he thought, it ought to have done, had caused many errors in the accounts of those writers who had preceded him. To rectify these mistakes, and to adapt all events to a system more consonant with the true system as derived from the Gospels (1), he adopted a plan which acquired him some praise, but found very few imitators. Either the extreme difficulty of rightly apprehending this new principle, or the unsoundness of his reasoning, may have been the cause of this.

§ 64. There are two modes of computing our Lord's Nativity; the first refers it to the year of Rome 751, following the Varronian computation, in the forty-second of the Emperor Augustus, and consulate of Cn. Cornelius Lentulus and M. Valerius Messalinus in the year 4711 of the Julian period. This year forms the first of the epoch of the Nativity, and is designated as the "verus annus;" the other assigning the Nativity to the 25th of December of the year immediately preceding the commencement of the common or vulgar era. The commencement of this latter or vulgar era, on authority now generally admitted, begins on the 1st of January after the Birth of Christ, in the consulate of Caius Julius Cæsar and L. Emilius Paulus, at the close of the year 753 U.C. (2) and the 44th of Augustus (3); Christ being born, according to Dionysius, on the 25th of December in the 4th Indiction, and in the first year of the great Paschal Cycle.

---

(1) The method of his computation may be gathered from his own statements under the year S. E. 455, S. D. 332. He reasoned thus: Christ was crucified on Friday, March 25th; rose again on Sunday, March 27th. In the entire Cycle of Dionysius there are but three years in all to which these coincidences will apply. The Lunar Cycle must be XIII., the Dominical Letter B., which fall in the XIII. CCLX. or CCCCXLIX. years of the Cycle, and are respectively A.D. XII. CCLIX. CCCCXLIX. (for the Dionysian Cycle commences one year before the vulgar era). As the years 259 and 449 are manifestly excluded from these conditions, they fixed upon the year XII. as the date of the Passion: (Lunar Cycle, XIII.; Solar, XXI.; Dominical Letter, C B.) This being the date of the Crucifixion, we must necessarily go back thirty-three years for the Nativity. By this computation the Nativity would fall in the 22d of Augustus, Julian year 24, and the Crucifixion three years before the death of Augustus, which is absurd. See also Fordun's Scoti Chron. iv. 55.

(2) The year of Rome changes on the 21st of April; therefore the 1st of January is in the latter part of the year 753. But the first year of the Christian era is usually spoken of as corresponding with the year 754 of Rome, the greater part of the first Dominical year being in that year of Rome.

(3) The 44th of Augustus reckoned from the 15th of March A.U.C. 709, the date of the death of Julius Cæsar.

Digitized by Google

Florence of Worcester.

§ 65. Marianus, however, asserts that the true era precedes the Dionysian by twenty-two years, and yet he assumes the "verus annus" as the true date, that is, the year corresponding with the consulate of Lentulus and Messalinus (or Messala as he writes it) and the 42d of Augustus. (1) This he calls the first year of the Incarnation, secundum Evangelium; and he designates the consulate of Lentulus and Piso, in which year Christ was born on the 25th of December (according to the usual computation of Dionysius), as the third year of the Incarnation, secundum Evangelium. (2)

§ 66. He makes the consulate of Lentulus and Piso correspond with the 14th Indiction, whereas Dionysius places it in the 3d Indiction; and in carrying out this system Marianus makes the epoch of the Nativity, as adopted by Eusebius and Beda, to fall eighteen years (3) after the date to which Beda and Eusebius do in fact refer it. Thus, ascribing the commencement of the Dionysian era (4), which Dionysius places in the 44th of Augustus, to the 7th of the Emperor Tiberius, twenty-two years later than the "verus annus," (or, as Marianus prefers to call it, the era Secundum Evangelium,) and nineteen years later than the true Dionysian era, now universally adopted as that of our Lord's Incarnation.

§ 67. Here then is ample occasion for confusion; for if the era of Dionysius were in truth twenty-two years later than the "verus annus," as Marianus represents it, and nineteen years later than the year generally assigned for its commencement, the present year, instead of being A.D. 1848, would be 1827.

§ 68. By such a computation the Nativity must be contemporary with Tiberius, the Passion with Claudius, and all intermediate as well as all subsequent events would require to be placed respectively in a year of our Lord less by nineteen years than strict historical truth demands (5), and the chroniclers hitherto deemed worthy of credit have been accustomed to ascribe them.

§ 69. It is clear, therefore, that some extraordinary fallacy attends the computation of Marianus. Happily it only pervades the first four centuries; had he persisted in it to the close of his Chronicle, the result would be most important, (with reference to all those statements which cannot be tested and corrected by other evidence,) materially affecting the chronological order of all such facts as are related by Marianus for the first time, and adopted by Florence, or which rest on their authority only. But it will be evident, upon a careful examination of his Chronicle from the beginning of the era of the Incarnation to A.D. 415 (6),

---

(1) "42 [Octaviani Cæsaris]. Lentulus et Messala v. clar. et consul; Cristus concipitur feria 6, octavo kalendas "April. Dominus noster Jesus Christus, filius Dei, his consulibus, Cassiodoro teste in Betelem Judae octavo die kal. "Januarii dominica nocte nascitur." Marianus, edit. Pertz, p. 500.

(2) "3 S.C. 44 [Octaviani Cæsaris]. Cossus Lentulus et Pisso. Ciclus decenn. incipit Indictione 14a." Marianus, edit. Pertz, p. 500. According to the computation of Dionysius, Christ was born on the 25th of December in this year, and the 1st of January following is the beginning of the era of the Incarnation, known as the Dionysian, vulgar, or common Christian era, A.D. 1.

(3) "19 S.C. 3 [Tiberii]. Sisennas Titilius et Scribonius. Incarnatio incipit juxta Cronicas Eusebii vel Bedae. "Dum numerantur anni nobis versus supra usque ad annum quadragesimum secundum Octaviani Cæsaris." Marianus, edit. Pertz, p. 501.

(4) "23 S.C. 1 S.D. 7 [Tiberii]. Valerius et Aurelius (M. Valerius Messala et M. Aurelius Cotta II.) Incar- "natio secundum Dionisium incipit Indictione quarta [conscripta per ordinem e regione Incarnationis juxta "evangelium]." Ibid. p. 501.

(5) Take, for example, the subjugation of Britain by the Emperor Claudius. This event is described by Marianus under the year S.C. 48, and S.D. 26; but the correct date for the invasion by Claudius is A.D. 43, and for the celebration of his triumph at Rome A.D. 44. Again, the civil contentions by which Rome was distracted after the death of Nero in A.D. 60 are referred by Marianus to the year 50 of the Dionysian era. The death of the Emperor Severus in Britain, in A.D. 211, is placed by Marianus in the year 198 of the era Secundum Dionysium. The birth of St. Patrick, which Marianus refers to the year 394 Secundum Evangelium, and 372 Secundum Dionysium, should be placed in A.D. 391, if the dates in this place were consistent with his alleged commencement of those two eras respectively; but, for the reasons given in the following note, the year to which that event should properly be assigned is A.D. 375.

(6) Under this year, which Marianus calls 437 S.C. and 415 S.D., and makes synchronical with the consular year of Honorius Aug. X. and Theodosius Aug. VI., he describes a revelation made to Lucianus, from which he deduces the accuracy of the date of the Dominical year according to Dionysius. These data, it will be seen, are referrible to A.D. 415; but, pursuing the order of the times and the series of events, it follows that Marianus, to have been consistent in the computation by which he fixes the commencement of the two eras, Secundum Evangelium and Secundum Dionysium, ought to have prefixed to the events described under that year the date 418 S.C. and 396 S.D.; for it will be seen that from the 42d of Augustus, the first year of the Incarnation secundum Evangelium, that Marianus, in the course of this period, has rectified his misapprehension (1) in regard to the true Dionysian era of the Incarnation; and though he continues to preserve the differences of twenty-two years between the presumed era of the Incarnation secundum Evangelium and the era Secundum Dionysium, the dates distinguished by him as S.E. are after that time no longer identical with those which correspond with the "verus annus," or the era of the Incarnation according to Beda and Eusebius, but are in truth nineteen years more advanced than that era; while the years exhibited in the column distinguished by the letters S.D. correctly represent the dates to which the events recorded, as well by Marianus as other chroniclers, are justly ascribable according to the true era of Dionysius, but they are nineteen years more advanced than is consistent with the commencement of the era improperly designated by Marianus as the era of the Incarnation secundum Dionysium, and three years less advanced, or, in other words, exhibit a lapse of years since the beginning of the era less by three than required by the era followed by Eusebius and Beda, and distinguished as the "verus annus."

Digitized by Google

Florence of Worcester.

§ 70. It is now necessary to allude to the Chronology of those portions of Florence of Worcester's Chronicle which he has interwoven into that of Marianus Scotus, and which are not found in that Chronicle.

§ 71. From A.D. 455 to A.D. 732 Florence's additions are chiefly taken from the Saxon Chronicle and Beda's two historical works, though they sometimes differ a year or more in the Chronology from those authorities. (See an. 559, 561, 591, 592, 621, 625, 626, 627, 628, 644, 677, 707, 708.) He has also taken some pains to affix dates to various events he has borrowed from Beda, which that writer left undated. From A.D. 732 to 849 Florence's additions are still principally from the Saxon Chronicle, though he still occasionally varies from it in his Chronology. (See an. 738, 739, 743, 774, 777, 778, 779, 781, 784, 798, 827.) From 849 to 888 he borrows most of his matter from Asser, with whose Chronology he agrees, except in one or two instances. He then returns to the Saxon Chronicle, which he uses to an. 946, though he still continues to differ from it in his Chronology. (See an. 889, 900, 905, 908, 910, 911, 913, 914, 915, 921, 933.) From an. 946 to an. 992 he still borrows from the Chronicle, though his Chronology slightly differs. From an. 992 to an. 1082, when Marianus's Chronicle ends, the Saxon Chronicle is again resorted to, but Florence adds a great deal from other well known sources.

§ 72. To the whole of his additions to Marianus, Florence adds the column "Secundum Evangelium," containing the imaginary twenty-two years difference between the Dionysian inclusive, there had elapsed 418 years, while, from the 7th of Tiberius, the alleged first year of the Incarnation secundum Dionysium, inclusive, there had elapsed only 396 consular years. Owing to this assimilation of the true and alleged era of the Incarnation according to Dionysius, the practical inconvenience of Marianus's computation subsequent to the beginning of the fifth century is confined to the hypothesis, that the era of the Incarnation preceded that now universally adopted by twenty-two years; that the year of our Lord 415 ought properly to be called 437, and the present year, 1848, by the same rule, 1870. But even this assumption of twenty-two years has no foundation in any accurate computation, as will appear at once, from the fact already stated, that Marianus's commencement of the era of the Incarnation secundum Evangelium is clearly identified with the "verus annus" adopted by Eusebius and Beda, which only precedes by three years the true Dionysian era. When Marianus assimilates the true to the alleged Dionysian era, he likewise advances the era Secundum Evangelium in the same ratio. The effect of this is to make the era Secundum Evangelium, which at the beginning was identical with "verus annus," precede that era by nineteen years when the year of assimilation is reached; so that the year 437 S.E. ought, consistently with his computation, to have been S.E. 418, whilst the corresponding year S.D. would still have been 415. But Marianus, in correcting his fallacy in respect to the true era of Dionysius, in order to preserve the apparent difference of twenty-two years, has advanced the era Secundum Evangelium by nineteen; so that, from his own statements, it follows that the years in the column marked S.E. should only be three years in advance of those in the column marked S.D. instead of twenty-two years.

---

(1) The mode by which Marianus effects the assimilation of dates, and reduces the difference between his alleged and the true commencement of the Dionysian era, which he accomplishes in A.D. 408, is ingenious. He increases the number of consular years which had elapsed from the commencement of his alleged era Secundum Evangelium, in order to make them square with the true year of the Dionysian era; and having, as already shown, post-dated that era by nineteen years, it became necessary to increase the intermediate years to the same extent. This result he produced by splitting the consular year into two, and giving to each part of the year thus divided one of the two consuls who were in office, or gave name to the consular year itself. This will be shown by a selection from the years so treated; and by adding the year of Rome correspondent with the A.D. or Dominical year according to the Varronian computation, together with the two eras of Marianus distinguished as S.E. and S.D., it will become manifest also that by this method Marianus, as he approximates to the true Dionysian era, departs in the same ratio and Evangelian calculations. From the year 1082 to 1117, where his Chronicle ends, he still carries on the same computation. In the Continuation to the year 1141 it was also observed.

Digitized by Google

Florence of Worcester.

§ 73. In the Regal Genealogies, no part of which is found in Marianus, the computation Secundum Evangelium is entirely dropped, and the Dionysian era is adopted, at least it is referred to frequently (see p. 635, 637, 639, 640, &c.), and the Chronology is also computed according to it.

§ 74. It has been remarked already that in the Saxon Chronicle there is evidence to show that the compilers of it began the year on different days; and Florence appears in that respect to have followed them in many instances, if not uniformly; but for the later periods he evidently commenced the New Year on the 1st of January. (See an. 916, 956, 1016, 1017, 1060, 1065, 1074, 1079, 1094, 1097, and 1115.) It will in some way account for the variation between his Chronology and that of the Saxon Chronicle noticed above. Marianus seems to have commenced the New Year on the 25th of December. (See an. 1081, 1082, p. 558, edit. Pertz.)

Simeon of Durham.

§ 75. The earliest Chronicle attributed to Simeon of Durham, and printed at pp. 645–688, extends from A.D. 616 to A.D. 957. It appears to have been compiled from Beda's Epitome, the Saxon Chronicle, Asser's Life of Alfred, and from some other sources not used by any preceding writer.

§ 76. The Chronology of that part of this Chronicle derived from Beda is the same, with one or two exceptions, in both works. (1) That taken from the Saxon Chronicle occasionally differs from it two or more years. For instance, the Saxon Chronicle gives the year 741 as the date of the death of Nothelm Archbishop of Canterbury and the consecration of Cuthbyrht his successor, while Simeon states that these events occurred in an. 739. Under an. 741 the Saxon Chronicle also mentions the death of Aethelheard King of Wessex and the succession of Cuthred, which event Simeon notices under an. 739. The Saxon Chronicle gives, under the year 755, the death of Aethelheard King of Mercia, and the succession and expulsion of Beornræd, while Simeon places those events in an. 757. Under an. 762 the death of Bregwine Archbishop of Canterbury is mentioned in the Saxon Chronicle, but Simeon gives the year 765 for the death of that Prelate and the consecration of Jaenberht his successor. Under an. 794 the deaths of Offa and Aethelred are mentioned in the Saxon Chronicle, but Simeon fixes the year 796 for those events. The Saxon Chronicle gives the year 800 for the death of King Beorhtric of Wessex and the succession of Ecgbryht, and Simeon mentions them under 802.

---

from the "verus annus," which has been shown to be identical with the commencement of the era of the Incarnation alleged by Marianus to be Secundum Evangelium; and by so doing he preserves an apparent difference of twenty-two years between the two eras, whereas in truth there ought to be a difference of three (or two full) years only.

Difference.	A.U.C.	A.D.	V.A.	S.C.	S.D.	Consuls.
22 Years -	865	112	115	115	93	Trajanus Aug. VI. and Africanus (p. 511, ed. Pertz).
18 Years -	872	119	122	123	101	Hadrianus Aug. III. and Rusticus (ibid).
13 Years -	964	211	214	220	198	Gentianus and Bassus (p. 515).
11 Years -	981	228	231	239	217	Modestus and Probus (p. 516).
9 Years -	1,080	277	280	290	268	Probus Aug. and Paulinus (p. 521).
8 Years -	1,112	359	362	373	351	Eusebius and Hypatius (p. 527).
7 Years -	1,113	360	363	374	352	Constantius Aug. X. - - - } (p. 527).
				375	353	Julianus V.C. Cons. (Julianus Cæsar III.) }
6 Years -	1,114	361	364	376	354	Faurus V.C. Cons. (Fl. Taurus) } (p. 527).
				377	355	Florentius V.C. Cons. - - }
5 Years -	1,115	362	365	378	356	Mamertinus V.C. Cons. (p. 527). }
				379	357	Nevitta V.C. Cons. (p. 528). }
3 Years -	1,116	363	366	380	358	Julianus V.C. Cons. (Julianus Aug. IV.) }
				381	359	Sallustius V.C. Cons. - - - } (p. 528).
				382	360	Julianus V.C. Cons. - - - }
2 Years -	1,131	378	381	397	375	Valens Aug. VI. V.C. Cons. - } (p. 529).
				398	376	Valentinianus Aug. II. V.C. Cons. }
1 Year -	1,148	395	398	415	393	Olybrius V.C. Cons. - } (p. 530).
				416	394	Probinus V.C. Cons. }
None - -	1,161	408	411	429	407	Bassus V.C. Cons. - } (p. 531).
				430	408	Philippus V.C. Cons. }

(1) See pp. 657, 658.

Digitized by Google

Simeon of Durham.

§ 77. There are also several instances in which the dates in Simeon's Chronicle are one year earlier or later than the Saxon Chronicle. As he evidently compiled his Chronicle from various sources, he may have had before him several copies of the Saxon Chronicle; some of which mentioned events not noticed in others (1), and others perhaps gave different dates for the same events. Take, for instance, Manuscript C. noticed at p. 325, where the date 708 was erroneously given for 709, and in consequence of this mistake each succeeding year to 721 has been made one short by erasure. Again, at p. 341, it will be seen that the rubricator had omitted 801; a later hand has altered the whole series down to the year 824, under the erroneous impression of thus remedying the defect. Again, under the year 893, a similar alteration was made in another manuscript.

§ 78. The Chronology of that portion of this Chronicle derived from Asser has not been altered by Simeon, except in two instances (2), and the same errors in respect to the age of King Alfred are found in both works.

Henry of Huntingdon.

§ 79. Henry of Huntingdon evidently intended to use the Chronology of the Saxon Chronicle, but adapted, for the greater part, to the reigns of the West Saxon kings. In attempting this adaptation it is his practice to consider the year of the Incarnation ending the year of any given king as the first of his successor also; so that, in fact, it tells doubly; and then, either by misreckoning their years as connected with the Chronicle, or by neglecting to reckon accurately its blank years, the whole series becomes so confused as to render any attempt to reconcile it utterly useless.

§ 80. As some of the more glaring errors in his Chronology down to the year 891 have been pointed out at pp. 90, 91, of the Preface, it is hardly necessary to pursue the subject further though it may be generally stated, that from the accession of Aethelstan, A.D. 925 to A.D. 1000, his chronological notices are scanty, loose, and erroneous. From an. 1000 to an. 1016 he uses the year of the Incarnation, which agrees with the Saxon Chronicle; after that period he returns to his former irregular and erroneous method described at p. 98. It may, however, be remarked, that he frequently notices events without any chronological references. From A.D. 1066 to the death of King Stephen he appears to commence the year at Christmas; and his Chronology agrees with the Saxon Chronicle to an. 1132, except an. 1085-6, which he makes one year short, by reckoning them the 18th and 19th of William I., instead of his 19th and 20th. During the reign of William the Conqueror, out of twenty-one years only nine are specified.

Annales Cambriæ and Brut y Tywysogion.

§ 81. The Chronology of the Annales Cambriæ is indicated by the repetition of the word "annus" for each successive year, whether blank or otherwise; and every tenth year is marked X, XX; but as the Chronology of that work, as well as of the Brut, has been fully explained at pp. 93, 95, it will not be repeated here.

§ 82. The Editor is aware, notwithstanding the extent of his remarks on the Chronology of the Mediæval Annalists, that much more remains to be said on this important subject; but he was apprehensive of exhausting the Reader's patience by a more protracted discussion.

§ 83. The Materials for the History of Britain during the Roman period (3) have been collected from all the known original authorities; and as no new data are likely to be found, that period may be considered as closed, and a Chronological Abstract or Table of events has been accordingly constructed.

---

(1) It is remarkable that Simeon mentions transactions in Essex and Wessex which are not noticed in any copy of the Saxon Chronicle now extant, as may be seen under the years 736, 737, 738, 745, 749, 750, 764, &c. There are still manuscripts of the Saxon Chronicle existing which contain many entries not found in other copies. At p. 661 Simeon thus refers to the Saxon Chronicle:—"Refert historia vel chronica hujus patriæ." But the events that he there records are noticed in the Saxon Chronicle, under the year 741; from which it may be inferred that the copy of the Chronicle which Simeon used was different from those now extant.

(2) A.D. 852 for 851, A.D. 878 for 877.

(3) The Roman period of the history of Britain may be said to have terminated with the final settlement of the Saxons in Britain; for though the Romans quitted the shores about the year 436, or rather ceased to exert any authority in the island, they were applied to by the Britons for assistance; and though intestine wars and foreign invasions of the Roman Empire prevented the Emperor from affording to the Britons the assistance they sought, yet a correspondence was kept up with them. The Chronological Abstract has therefore been continued to the year 498.

Digitized by Google

§ 84. The case is far otherwise as to the Anglo-Saxon period. Many narrations and documents (Materials for the History of that period, and affording the means of investigating and ascertaining the dates of the events which took place during its continuance,) remain to be collected, and will have to be printed if this Work should be carried on according to the original intention. In the absence of such Materials any attempt to settle the dates would be unsatisfactory, and would unavoidably lead to considerable errors. Even Mr. Petrie, notwithstanding his learning and industry and general accuracy, has, in his notes to this Volume, in a few instances formed conclusions which the subsequent discovery of documents has shown to be erroneous. A satisfactory correction of such errors cannot be made without reference to documents which are not contained in this Volume; and, on a careful consideration of the subject, it has on the whole been considered better to omit for the present a Chronological Abstract or Table of events during the Anglo-Saxon period. Such a table would find its proper place at the end of the collection of all the Materials relating to the History of that time. In the meanwhile the want of it is to some extent, though very imperfectly, supplied by the Index Rerum at the end of this Volume.

Digitized by Google

CHRONOLOGICAL ABSTRACT.

A.U.C. 694–5 *, a. A.D. 59.

Caius Julius Cæsar and M. Calpurnius Bibulus, Consuls, 110 A, 284 C, 292, 696 A.

A.U.C. 696–7, a. A.D. 57.

Divitiacus King of the Soissons holds the government of Britain, xxvii 1, n [b].

A.U.C. 697–8, a. A.D. 56.

The Veneti ask assistance from Britain, against Cæsar, and obstruct him subsequently on his passage thither, vi 1, xxvii 1, lxxix 1.

A.U.C. 698–9, a. A.D. 55.

Cn. Pompeius Magnus II. and M. Licinius Crassus II., Consuls,—Julius Cæsar, having partly subdued the Gauls and Germans, xlviii 2, xlix 1, although the summer is far advanced, resolves upon an expedition against Britain, xxvii 1; he is induced thereto because Britain had sent supplies to the Gauls in the late wars, xxvii 1; attracted by the size and beauty of the British pearls, xlix 1, n [c]. Cæsar sends Volusenus on before him to obtain information, xxvii 1; proceeds himself with all his forces into the country of the Morini, xxvii 1. Ambassadors from Britain come to Cæsar, xxvii 2; he sends them back with Commius, King of the Atrebates, whose services he employs in Britain, xxvii 2, lxxxvii 1. Volusenus returns to Cæsar without having landed, xxvii 2. Cæsar takes hostages of the Morini, xxvii 2; sails from Gessoriacum (Boulogne), xlviii 2, lxxix 1, 108 B, n [d], 691 B; and goes into the Britannic Island (Britain), till his time unknown to the Romans, i, ii, vii, xxxv 1, xlviii 2, xlix 1, l 2, li 1, lx 2, lxi 1, lxii 1, lxxix 1, lxxxii 2, lxxxvii 1 2, xcii 1, xciv 1, n [f], 7 B C, 57 B, 82, n [d], 83, n [e], 85 A, 110 A, 284 C, 292 bis, 696 B, 705 A; arrives in Britain (26th August), xxvii 1, n [g], 110 B. Great bravery is displayed on landing by Scæva, ensign of the tenth legion, xxviii 1, xxiv 2, n [c], xxxv 1, n [a]. Cæsar defeats the Britons, xxix 2, lxxix 1, 110; they send ambassadors to him, with Commius Atrebas, to treat for peace, xxviii 2, xxix 2, 83, n [c]. On 30th August, it being full moon, Cæsar's fleet, riding at anchor, suffers greatly from the high tides, xxviii, n [c], lii 2, lxxix 1, iii B; his ships are wrecked at the mouth of the Thames, 59 B; having lost part of his fleet, and many of his soldiers, he returns into Gaul to winter about 20th September, xxvii 2, xxxv 1, xlviii 2, xlix 1, li 2, lxxix 1, 59 B, 110 B, 292 bis, 696 B. Cæsar is driven out of Britain, lvi 2, xc 2, 696 C; he sends T. Labienus against the Morini with the legions which he brought back from Britain, xxx 1, n [a]. On the receipt of Cæsar's letters, announcing his success in Britain, the Romans decree a festival of twenty days continuance, xxxi 1, lii 1.

A.U.C. 699-700, a. A.D. 54.

Lucius Domitius Ahenobarbus and Appius Claudius Pulcher, Consuls, xxx 1, lii 1.—Cæsar, having directed ships to be built in Gaul after a model suited for his purpose, and the old ones to be repaired, goes into Italy, xxx 1, lii 1; he returns to Gaul, xxx 1; commands the fleet to meet at the port called Itius (Boulogne), xxx 2; and, as soon as the season permits (having been detained there twenty-five days, xxx 2), he proceeds on a second expedition against Britain in May, xxviii, xxx 1, xxxi 1, n [a], xxxiv, xxxvi, xlix 1, lii 1, lxxix 1, lxxxvii 2, 59 C, 110. Cassibellaun King of the Britons obstructs Cæsar with horsemen and chariots, li 1, lii 2. Cæsar has in his train an elephant, hitherto unknown to the Britons, li 1; he proceeds up the Thames against the enemy under the command of Cassibellaun, lii 2, lxxix 1, 59 B C, 110 C, n [g], D, n [h], 292 bis, 696 C D E, 697 B; he takes Verolamium (St. Albans), 110 D, n [k]. The forces of Belinus, brother of Cassibellaun, under Dolobellus the proconsul, engage Cæsar, 59 B, 696 C. Q. Laberius Durus the tribune attacks Dolobellus, 696 C. The Romans are worsted, and Laberius is slain, xxxii 1, lxxix 1, 110 B C, n [f], 292, 696 C. The Trinovantes (people of Essex and Middlesex), and city of Trinovantum (London), with Mandubratius (Androgeus or Androgonus) its leader, whose father Imanuentius had been slain by Cassibellaun, surrender to Cæsar, and give him hostages, xxxii 2, xxxiii 1, lii 2, lxxix 1, 59 C, 110 C, n [l], 697 B. The Cenimagni and neighbouring people follow the example of the Trinovantes, xxxiii 1, lxxix 2. Cassibellaun sends messengers into Kent for aid, xxxiii 1, 110 D. Cingetorix, Carvilius, Toximagulus, and Segonax, Kings of Kent, being defeated, and Lugotorix taken prisoner, Cassibellaun by Commius Atrebas surrenders to Cæsar, xxxiii 1, 110 D. Cæsar returns into Gaul, xlix 1, lxxix 2, 110 D, 292, 696 B, 697 B; he departs wholly from Britain, leaving therein no portion of his army, lii 2. Britain is subjugated to the Romans by Cæsar, lxxi 1, 7 B C, 59 C, 83, n [c], 110 B D, 284 C, 696 A. Cæsar, if not compelled to return before his time, would have subdued all Britain with its circumjacent islands, liii 1. Cæsar receives intelligence of the death of his daughter Julia, xc 2.

A.U.C. 701–2, a. A.D. 52.

The Gauls, desirous of regaining their former liberty, assemble for the war 8,000 horse and 240,000 foot, lxxxvii 2; Commius commands part of their forces against Cæsar, lxxxvii 1.

A.U.C. 702–3, a. A.D. 51.

Commius, pursued by Cæsar, flies from Gaul into Britain, xci 2.

A.U.C. 704–5, a. A.D. 49.

Cæsar, hemmed in by the soldiers of Afranius in Spain, and unable to repair the bridges, builds ships similar to those used by him against Britain, xxxiv 2.

* The consular year begins on the 1st of January, from which day also is to be computed the annus cavus or full year before the Christian era; the year of Rome changes on the 21st of April. The consular year, therefore, corresponds with the last quarter of one year of Rome and with three quarters of the following year. The computation of Varro is here adopted.

Digitized by Google

A.U.C. 709–10, a. A.D. 44.

Caius Julius Cæsar is slain, 15th March, xxvii, n [a], liii 1, 59 C, 697 C.

Augustus (Octavianus) succeeds to the Empire of the World, 59 D, 292, 697 D.

A.U.C. 719–20, a. A.D. 34.

Antonius II., and Lucius Libo, Consuls, liii 1,—Augustus purposing to lead an expedition into Britain, having proceeded into Gaul, some of the recently subdued nations revolt, liii 1, n [d], liii 2.

A.U.C. 727–8, a. A.D. 26.

Augustus sets forth with the intention of making war against Britain, and, having come into Gaul, the Britons send an embassy to him, liii 2, n [h], lvi 2; he takes tribute from Britain, 59 D, 697 D; the Britons are subjected to him, ci 2.

A.U.C. 749–50, a. A.D. 4.

King Herod dies of dropsy a little before Easter, and his son Archelaus comes to Rome and claims to succeed to the kingdom of Judea, 84 A, 292.

A.U.C. 752–753, a. A.D. 1.

On 25th December, in the *44th year of Augustus, reckoned immediately from the death of Cæsar, the 4th year of the 194th Olympiad, the 4th Indiction, and the 753d year of the building of Rome, Christ is born, according to the computation of Dionysius, and the first of January following is the commencement of the Christian, Dionysian, or vulgar era, 8 B, 82 A, 83, n [d], 292, 500 C, 697 D.

A.D. 7.

Archelaus is accused by the Jews before Augustus, and banished to Vienne in Gaul, 84 A.

Judea is divided into Tetrarchies, between Herod Antipas, Antipater, Lysias, and Philippus, 84 A, 293, n [a].

A.D. 8.

St. John the Evangelist is born, 500 E.

A.D. 14.

The Emperor Augustus dies, 84 B, 667 E. Tiberius succeeds to the Empire, 84 B, 293; among other kingdoms he rules Britain, 698 A.

A.D. 16.

Germanicus, having met with disasters at sea, refits the fleet, and the Roman soldiers who had been thrown on the coast of Britain are released by the petty Kings of the country, xxxvi 1.

A.D. 17.

Herod Antipas, tetrarch of Galilee, commences building the city of Tiberias, 84 B.

A.D. 27.

Pilate is made governor of Judea, 84 B, 293. Herod the tetrarch dedicates the cities called Tiberias and Libias, 84 B.

* Beda, in his Chronicon (Sexta Ætas), following Eusebius places the birth of Christ two years earlier than the Dionysian era, and computes events from that date, namely, in the 42d of Augustus, the 27th from the death of Anthony and Cleopatra, the third year of the 194th Olympiad, and 752d of the building of Rome. As to the epoch of the Nativity observed by different writers, see Preface.

A.D. 29.

Rufus (Fufius) Geminus and Rubellius Geminus, Consuls, 76 D.

John, son of Zacharias, preaches baptism, 84 B. Jesus is baptized, and the Twelve Disciples are chosen, 293, 500 C. Jesus begins his preaching in the 15th of Tiberius.†

A.D. 32.

Jesus Christ is crucified in the 18th of Tiberius, 84 C, 293, 500 C. The Apostles preach the Gospel, 84 C.

A.D. 33.

James the brother of our Lord is ordained first Bishop of Jerusalem, 84 C. Saint Stephen suffers martyrdom, 84 C, 293, 500 C. Herod Agrippa, son of Aristobulus, is imprisoned by Tiberius, 84 C.

A.D. 33.

The Apostle Paul is converted, 293, 500 C.

A.D. 37.

The Emperor Tiberius dies, 84 C. Caius Julius Cæsar Germanicus, surnamed Caligula, succeeds to the Empire, 84 C, 293, 698 B.

Herod Agrippa is set at liberty by Caligula, and made King of Judea, 84 D.

St. Peter establishes his Episcopal See at Antioch, 293, 500 C.

A.D. 40.

The Emperor Caligula goes into Gaul, crosses the Rhine, but returns, liii 2.

Adminius, son of Cinobellinus King of Britain, (Minocynobellinus son of the King of the Britons, lxxix 2,) having been banished by his father, persuades Caligula to an invasion, who makes semblance of marching against Britain, but, coming to the ocean, his design ends in an idle parade, and having sent boasting letters to Rome he returns, xlix 1 2, liii 2, lvi 2, lxiii 1, lxx 2, lxxix 2, 111, n [d], 698 A.

Herod the tetrarch, at the instigation of Herodias, comes to Rome, but, being accused by Agrippa, loses his tetrarchy, and is exiled to Spain, 84 D, 85 A. Pilate destroys himself, 85 A, 293. St. Matthew writes his Gospel about this time in Judea, 85 A, 293.

A.D. 41.

The Emperor Caligula is assassinated, 85 A. Claudius succeeds to the Empire, ci 2, 85 A, 698 B.

James the brother of John is slain by Herod Agrippa, 293, 294.

A.D. 42.

Claudius being consul for the second time, his son, afterwards surnamed Britannicus, is born on the 20th day of his reign, i. e. A.D. 41, xlix 2.

A famine occurs in Syria, predicted by the Prophet Agabus as related by St. Luke, 85 A (n [b]), 111 B (n [f]), 294, 698 C.

† The Emperor Augustus died on the 19th of August A.D. 14, on which day the reign of Tiberius commenced; his 15th imperial year, therefore, would commence on the 19th of August A.D. 28, and the preaching of Jesus ought consequently to be referred to the beginning of A.D. 29. In the computation of the number of years elapsed from the Creation to the preaching of Christ and the 15th of Tiberius, exhibited in St. Jerome's and Prosper's continuation of the Chronicle of Eusebius, the full year, 28, must be taken to correspond with the epoch of Christ's preaching, and it is included in the number of years stated by those writers respectively to have elapsed from that epoch to the Consulates of Valens VI. with Valentinian II. (A.D. 378), and of Theodosius XIV. with Maximus (A.D. 433); viz. by St. Jerome 351 years, i. e. 351 + 27 = 378, and by Prosper 406 years, i. e. 406 + 27 = 433.

Digitized by Google

A.D. 43.

St. Peter the Apostle establishes his Episcopal See at Rome, 85 A, 293, 500 C D, 698 C.

The Romans having refused to send back to Britain certain deserters, xlix 2; the Emperor Claudius is persuaded by Bericus, who had been driven out of Britain by an insurrection, to send an army thither, xlix 2, liv 1, lxxix 2, 111 A, n. Aulus Plautius is sent by Claudius as General into Britain, xxxvii 2, xliii 1, liv 1, Inscr. 1. Plautius has difficulty in persuading the soldiers to the expedition against Britain, liv 1. Flavius Vespasianus, having been sent into Germany as lieutenant of a Legion by favour of Narcissus, is thence transferred into Britain, l 1, lxxii 1, 85 D, 111 B, n [g], 698 C. Plautius overcomes Cataractacus and Togodumnus, the sons of Cynobellinus, now dead, liv 1; he brings the Boduni, who were under the dominion of the Catuellani, to terms of peace, liv 1. Vespasianus heads the Second Legion, xli 1. Vespasianus and his brother Sabinus are sent by Plautius across the river against the enemy, liv 2. The Britons are at length defeated by Cneius Osidius Geta, liv 2. Togodumnus is slain, liv 2. Plautius garrisons the places he had conquered, and sends for the Emperor to come over in person, liv 2. Claudius makes choice of Britain (never attempted before or since Julius Cæsar) for the scene of a triumph, xlix 2, lxxix 2; he commits to his colleague Lucius Vitellius the care of the Empire during his absence in Britain, l 1; he sails from Ostia, xlix 2, lxxi 1; is nearly lost upon the coast of Liguria, near the islands called Stœchades, xlix 2; goes by land from Marseilles to Gessoriacum (Boulogne), whence he crosses into Britain, xlix 2; he arrives in Britain, vii 2, viii 2, ix 2, liv 2, lxxi 1, xc 2, 59 D, 85 A B, 111 A, n [c], 284 C, 294, 522, n [b], 698 B; assumes the command of the forces, and crosses the Thames, lv 1; takes Camalodunum, the residence of Cynobellinus, lv 1, 111 C, n [h]; subdues the greater part of Britain; and, leaving his commands with Plautius for the reduction of the whole island, sends forward the news of his victory by his sons-in-law, Magnus and Silanus, lv 1; and after six months absence, having spent sixteen days only in Britain, he returns to Rome, xxxv 2, xlix 2, lv 1, lxxii 1, lxxix 2, lxxxii 2, xc 1, 59 D, 85 A B, 111 A B, 294 bis, 500 D, 698 B.

Dona Militaria, presented in the British war under Claudius, Inscr. 2, 3, 4.

A.D. 44.

Quintius Crispinus II., and Marcus Statilius Taurus, Consuls, lv 1, n [a], lxxxii 2, n.

Herod Agrippa, King of Judea, dies, 84 D, 294; and some time after is succeeded by his son Agrippa, 84 D.

On the return of Claudius the Conquest of Britain is celebrated at Rome, xlix 2, lv 1, lxxxii 2, 698 C D. Claudius and his son obtain the surname of Britannicus, xlix 2, lv 1, lxxii 1 2, 111 B. The Eunuch Posides is presented by Claudius with the hasta pura in the British triumph, xlix 2, lxi 2.

A.D. 45.

St. Mark writes his Gospel about this time, 85 A, 294.

A.D. 47.

Britain is annexed to the Roman Empire by the conquests of Vespasianus, xxxv 2; two of the most powerful people, and above twenty towns, together with the Isle of Wight, having been reduced to subjection under the conduct, partly of Aulus Plautius, and partly of Claudius himself, l 1, lxxii 1, 85 D, 111 B, 698 C D. Britain, with the * Orkney Islands, is made tributary to the Roman Empire under Claudius, lxxii 1, lxxix 2, lxxxi 2, lxxxii 2, 59 D, 85 A B D, 111 A, n [c], 111 B, n [g], 284 C, 294 bis, 500 D, 522, n [b], 698 B C.

The Picts are subdued by the generals of Claudius Cæsar, 294, 500 D.

Titus, the son of Vespasianus, serves in Britain as military tribune with great reputation, l 1. Vespasianus in danger of being slain in Britain is rescued by his son Titus, and subdues the Britons, xxxvi 1, lv 2, 85 D.

Aulus Plautius, for having ably managed and concluded the war in Britain, is commended by Claudius, and obtains an ovation, xxxvii 2, lv 2, lxxii 1, 698 C D.

Simon Zelotes about this time preaches Christianity in Britain, ci 1.

A.D. 49.

Ti. Claudius Cæsar Aug. pont. max. trib. pot. 9, imp. 16, de Britan., Inscr. 133. Coins, Pl. ii. 2.

The Emperor Claudius drives the Jews from Rome, 85 B.

A.D. 50.

Ostorius Scapula is sent by Claudius into Britain, xxxvi 1; he defeats the Britons, who had made an irruption into the territory of those in alliance with Rome, and extends a chain of forts between the rivers Avon (? Nen) and Severn, xxxvi 1. The Iceni revolt and are defeated, xxxvi 1. Marcus Ostorius, the Governor's son, saves the life of a Roman, and obtains the Civic Crown, xxxvi. Ostorius lays waste the country of the Cangii, xxxvi; he reduces the Brigantes, xxxvi; marches against the Silures under the conduct of Caractacus, xxxvi 2; obtains a decisive victory, xxxvi 2. The wife and daughters of Caractacus are taken prisoners, xxxvi 2. Caractacus flies for protection to Cartismandria Queen of the Brigantes, xxxvi 2; is loaded with chains, and delivered up to Ostorius, xxxvi, xli 1; led captive to Rome, xxxvi, xxxvii, xcv; is set at liberty by the Emperor Claudius, xxxvii, lxxxvii, xcv; he appears before the Empress Agrippina, and returns thanks, xxxvii. A Triumph is decreed to Ostorius, xxxvii. Ostorius meets with less success against the Silures, xxxvii; he dies, xxxvii 2, xliii. Manlius Valens, who commands the Roman Legion, is defeated by the Silures, xxxvii 2.

A.D. 51.

A grievous famine is experienced at Rome, 85 B.

Aulus Didius is sent by the Emperor Claudius to succeed Ostorius in the command in Britain, xxxvii 2, xliii; the arrival of Didius checks the operations of the enemy, xxxvii 2. Venusius, the British chieftain, (who had married Cartismandria Queen of the Brigantes,) commences open hostilities, xci 1, xxxvii 2. The Roman Legion under the command of Cesius Nasica obtains success, xxxvii 2. Didius evinces a disposition to inactivity, xxxvii 2.

A.D. 54.

The Emperor Claudius dies, cii 1, 85 A, 698 C; is poisoned by his wife Agrippina, xc 1, n [i]. Nero Claudius Cæsar Germanicus succeeds to the Empire, 85 B, 111 B, 294, 698 D.

A.D. 56.

Festus succeeds Felix as Procurator of Judea, 85 B.

St. Paul the Apostle is carried in chains to Rome, 85 B, 294.

Aulus Plautius is married to Pomponia Græcina, xxxvii 2.

A.D. 57.

Veranius succeeds Aulus Didius as Proprætor or Roman Governor in Britain, xxxvii 2, xliii; he is prevented by death from prosecuting the war, xxxvii 2.

* The subjugation of the Orkney Islands, according to Tacitus, was reserved for the arms of Agricola. See A.D. 84.

Digitized by Google

A.D. 58.

Suetonius Paulinus is sent by Nero to command in Britain, xli 2; he succeeds Veranius in the command, xxxvii 2. Under Suetonius, Agricola acquires his first rudiments of military life, xli 2.

A.D. 60.

Nero Aug. cos. 4, Inscr. 134.

Albinus succeeds Festus as Governor of Judea, 85 C.

A.D. 61.

Cæsonius Pætus and Petronius Turpilianus, Consuls, xxxvii 2.

St. James, the brother of our Lord, first Bishop of Jerusalem, is stoned by the Jews, 85 B, 294, 500 D. Catus Decianus, Procurator in Britain, revokes the immunities granted to the chiefs by Claudius, xxxviii 1, lvi 1. Seneca, having lent the Britons money, suddenly calls in his loan, lvi 1. An insurrection breaks out in Britain, lv 2, lvi 1. Calamities befall the Roman army, xxxvii 2. The Romans are nearly defeated; two cities destroyed, and 80,000 of the Romans or their allies slain, lv 2, lvi 1, lvii 2. Nero nearly loses Britain, two of the most famous towns there being taken, xlix 2, l 1, lxxii 1, lxxix 2, 85 C, 111 B C, 294, 698 D. Verolamium (St. Albans) is taken, 111 C, n [b]. The campaign in Britain is most active, and the Island is fiercely disputed, xlii 1.

Suetonius attempts the reduction of the Isle of Anglesey, xxxvii 2, xxxviii 1, xliii, lvii 2. Boadicea, wife of Prasutagus, Queen of the Iceni, taking advantage of the absence of Suetonius, attacks the Roman stations, xxxviii 1, lvii 2; 70,000 of the Romans and their allies are put to death without distinction, xxxviii 2, lvii 2, lviii 1. Suetonius receives intelligence of the revolt of the Britons, xxxviii 1; having reduced Anglesey he returns against Boadicea, lviii 2. The Iceni are joined in the revolt by the Trinobantes. The statue of Victory at Camalodunum falls to the ground, xxxviii 1. Petilius Cerealis, who commands the Ninth Legion, marches to the relief of the Romans, xxxviii 1 2; the Legion is routed, xxxviii 2. Catus Decianus, the Procurator of the Province, escapes into Gaul, xxxviii 2. Suetonius marches to London, xxxviii 1; he engages the enemy led by Boadicea, xxxviii 2, xxxix 1. The Britons are defeated, great numbers being killed, xliii 2, xlvi 1 2, lvi 1, lix 1; 80,000 Britons are put to the sword, xxxix 1. The Fourteenth Legion distinguishes itself in quelling the insurrection in Britain, xl 1. Boadicea dies by disease or poison, xxxix 1, lix 1.

Julius Classicianus succeeds to the post vacant by the flight of Catus Decianus, xxxix 1; he sends to Rome, and presses the necessity of recalling Suetonius, xxxix 1. Polycletus, one of Nero's freedmen, is sent from Rome to inquire into the state of Britain, xxxix 1 2. Suetonius is continued in the government, xxxix 2.

A.D. 62.

Suetonius is recalled from Britain, xxxix 2. Petronius Turpilianus is sent as Governor into Britain, xxxix 2, xliii 2.

A.D. 63.

Claudia Rufina, a British lady, celebrated by Martial, lives about this time, xci 2, n [y].

A.D. 64.

Florus succeeds Albinus as Governor of Judea, 85 C.

The first persecution of the Christians under Nero, 85 C.

A.D. 65.

Trebellius Maximus is Proprætor or Lieutenant in Britain, xxxix 2, xl, xliii 2.

St. Peter, having remained some time in Britain, as it is said, erected churches, and appointed bishops, priests, and deacons, returns to Rome, ciii 1, n [a].

A.D. 66.

C. Lucius Telesinus and C. Suetonius Paulinus, Consuls, Inscr. 5.

Dona Militaria, presented in the British war under Nero, Inscr. 5.

Ostorius Scapula (son of the Roman Lieutenant in Britain), who had obtained the Civic Crown in Britain, is killed by order of Nero, xxxix 2.

Vespasianus is dispatched to quell the rebellion of the Jews against the Romans, 85 C.

A.D. 67.

Vespasianus takes several cities of Judea, 85 C.

St. Peter is crucified by order of the Emperor Nero, 85 C, 294, 500 D, 698 C.

Aristobulus about this time having been ordained bishop by the Apostle Paul, and sent to the country of the Britons, dies there, cii 2, ciii 1.

The Apostle Paul having preached in the east and extremity of the west, xcii 1 2, c 2, n [e], cii 2, n [c]; suffers martyrdom under the Præfects, xcii 1 2; is slain by Nero, 85 C, 294, 500 D, 698 D.

A.D. 68.

St. Mark the Evangelist dies, 294, 500 D.

The Emperor Nero is put to death, l 1, 85 C, 698 D.

Galba succeeds, but reigns only a few months, 85, n [c]. The Britons take no part in the civil war by which Rome is about this time distracted, xxxix 2.

A.D. 69.

Galba dies, 85, n [c].

Vitellius is chosen Emperor, 85, n [c]. The Britons, encouraged by the dissension among the Roman Legions, renew their ancient animosities, xli 1. Venusius heads the malcontents, xli 1. Trebellius Maximus, the Roman Lieutenant in Britain, is obliged to fly from his post, and abandons the Island, xl 1. The soldiers in Britain choose Priscus for their general, but he refuses to become their leader, xciv 2. Roscius Cœlius assumes the command, xl 1. Vettius Bolanus is sent by Vitellius as Lieutenant into Britain, xl 1, xlii 1, xliii 2; dispatches are sent to him from Vitellius for a supply of men, but the order not being decisive, and Bolanus kept in constant alarm by the unquiet disposition of the natives, is in no haste to obey, xl 2. Bolanus begins to waver between Vitellius and Vespasianus, xl 2. Valens, having sent to Vitellius for assistance, is reinforced by three cohorts and a squadron of horse from Britain, xli 1. The Fourteenth Roman Legion, favouring the cause of Otho against Vitellius, is ordered back into Britain, where they had before been stationed till recalled by Nero, xl 2. Agricola is advanced to the command of the Twentieth Legion, stationed in Britain, xlii; he succeeds Roscius Cælius, xl 1; declares in favour of Vespasianus, xlii 1. The cause of Vespasianus is much favoured by part of the soldiery in Britain, on account of his former successes there, xli 1, lix 2. Dispatches are sent to the Fourteenth Legion on the part of Vespasianus, xl 2; it is again recalled from Britain, xli 1 2. Vespasianus succeeds Vitellius, lxxii 1; is proclaimed Emperor by the soldiers, 85 C, 294.

A.D. 70.

Vespasianus comes to Rome by Alexandria, leaving his son Titus in command of the armies in Judea, 85 C.

Vettius Bolanus is recalled, and Petilius Cærialis (to whom Vespasianus sends letters, giving him consular dignity, xxxv 2,) succeeds to the command in Britain, xlii; in a great measure he subdues the Brigantes, xliv 1; under his conduct Britain is partly subdued, xlii. Agricola continues to serve in Britain under Petilius Cærialis, xlii. Cærialis designates the Fourteenth Legion the conquerors of Britain, xl 2.

Digitized by Google

Titus burns the Temple of Jerusalem, and slays many of the Jews, 85 C. 294.

A.D. 75.

A Colossus is raised near Rome, 107 feet in height, 85 D, 698 E, 708 D.

Julius Frontinus is Proprætor in Britain, xliv 1.

A.D. 77.

Agricola is called to the Consular dignity, and is selected for the command in Britain, xlii 1.

A.D. 78.

Agricola is appointed General-in-chief in Britain, where he arrives in the summer (A.U.C. 831), xliv; he marches against the Ordovicians, and reduces the Isle of Anglesey, xliv; he suppresses many of the abuses of former Governors, xliv 2.

A.D. 79.

The Emperor Vespasianus dies, 85 D; he is succeeded by his son Titus, 85 D, 295, 699 A.

Agricola's second campaign in Britain, he overruns the whole district of the enemy, lix 2; by his measures there he induces many states to lay aside hostilities, and to give hostages for peace, xliv 2; he encourages the education of the sons of the British Princes, and the Roman language begins to be cultivated, xliv 2.

For his exploits in Britain, Titus is saluted Emperor for the fifteenth time, lix 2, 295, 699 B.

A.D. 80.

Agricola's third campaign in Britain; he lays waste the territory as far as the Frith of Tay, xliv 2.

The Emperor Titus builds the Amphitheatre at Rome, 85 D, 699 A.

A.D. 81.

Agricola's fourth campaign in Britain; he secures the country by a chain of forts between Glota and Bodotria (the Friths of Dunbarton and Edinburgh), xlv.

The Emperor Titus dies, 85 D, 699 B; his brother Titus Flavius Sabinus Domitianus succeeds to the Empire, 85 D, 295, 699 C.

A.D. 82.

Agricola's fifth campaign in Britain; he makes an expedition by sea, and penetrates into regions before unknown, xlv; he stations forces on the coast opposite to Ireland for future projects, xlv; he receives one of the petty kings of that country with show of friendship, xlv.

A.D. 83.

Agricola's sixth campaign in Britain; he sails across the estuary to explore the country beyond Bodotria, xlv. The Caledonians determine to hazard a battle, xlv 1 2; they fall upon the Ninth Roman Legion in the night, xlv 2; an engagement follows, and the Caledonians are routed, xlv 2. A cohort of the Usipians raised in Germany desert from Britain, xlv 2, xlvi 2; they sail round the extremity of the island, are wrecked, sold to slavery, and finally brought back to Britain, xlv 2.

A.D. 84.

Agricola loses his son about a year old, born in Britain, xlv 2; his seventh campaign; he advances as far as the Grampian Hills, engages the Caledonians 30,000 strong, under the conduct of Galgacus, xlvi; the Britons are entirely defeated; 10,000 of the Caledonians fall in this engagement, the slain on the Roman side not exceeding 340, xlvi, xlvii. Aulus Atticus, the præfect of a cohort, is slain, xlvii 2. Agricola closes his campaign, and marches into the country of the Horestians, who give hostages for their fidelity, xlvii 2; he sails round Britain, by him first ascertained to be an island, xlii 2, xlvii 2, li 1, lix 2, xcii 1; he discovers and subdues the *Orkney Islands, xlii 2, xci 1; he sends an account of his victories to Domitian, xlviii. A triumph is decreed to Agricola, xlviii. Agricola resigns his command in Britain, and returns to Rome, xlviii.

A.D. 85.

Sallustius Lucullus, who succeeded Agricola as proprætor in Britain, is slain by Domitian, l 1 2.

A.D. 86.

The Britons, under the conduct of Arviragus, rebel against the Romans, xci 2.

A.D. 91.

Pope Clement I. succeeds to the Roman See, 152 C.

A.D. 93.

The second persecution of the Christians, under the Emperor Domitian, 85 D, 699 B.

St. John the Evangelist is exiled to the Isle of Patmos, 85 D.

A.D. 95.

Domitian exiles Flavia Domitilla, 85 E.

St. John the Evangelist writes the Apocalypse in Patmos, 295 bis, 500 D.

A.D. 96.

The Emperor Domitian is slain, 86 A, 699 B. Cocccius Nerva succeeds to the Empire, 86 A, 699 B; he recalls St. John the Evangelist from exile, who returns to Ephesus, 86 A.

A.D. 97.

St. John the Evangelist writes his Gospel, 295, 500 D.

A.D. 98.

The Emperor Nerva dies, 86 A; and is succeeded by Trajan, 86 A; he rules Britain, as well as other kingdoms, 699 B.

A.D. 99.

St. John the Evangelist dies near Ephesus, 86 A, 295, 500 E.

A.D. 100.

Pope Clement I. dies, 295, 500 E, n [d].

Evaristus becomes Pope of Rome, 60, n [b].

A.D. 103.

Pliny the younger (Proconsul of Bithynia) flourishes, 86 B.

A.D. 104.

M. Laberius Maximus II. and Q. Glitius Atilius Agricola II., Consuls suffecti, Inscr. 7.

Trajan. Aug. trib. pot. 7, imp. 4, cos. 5, Inscr. 7.

A.D. 106.

Trajan. Aug. trib. pot. 9, imp. 4, cos. 5, Inscr. 6.

I. Neratius Marcellus is Præfect in Britain about this time, Inscr. 7.

---

* The Orkney Islands are said by Orosius and other writers to have been subdued under the Emperor Claudius. See A.D. 47.

Digitized by Google

A.D. 107.

Third persecution of the Christians under the Emperor Trajan, 86 A.

Simeon son of Cleophas, Bishop of Jerusalem, is crucified, 86 A.

A.D. 108.

Ignatius Bishop of Antioch is carried to Rome and delivered to wild beasts, 33 D, 86 A B, 295, 501 A.

A.D. 109.

Evaristus Pope of Rome dies, 60 ^{g}, and n^{b}.

A.D. 110.

The Pantheon at Rome burnt by lightning, 86 B.

A.D. 116.

The Jews growing seditious, great numbers are slain, 86 B.

A.D. 117.

The Emperor Trajan dies, 86 B. Ælius Hadrianus is made Emperor, 86 B, 295, 700 A; he desires to maintain universal peace, lxxiv 2. The Britons seek to free themselves from Roman subjection, lxiv 2, n^{c}.

A.D. 119.

Alexander Bishop of Rome suffers martyrdom, 86 B.

A.D. 120.

The Emperor Hadrian goes into Britain, lxv, n^{a}, Inscr. 44, 54.

Hadrian. Aug. trib. pot. 4, imp. 2, cos. 3, Inscr. 8, 8 a.

Imp. Cæsar Trajanus Hadrianus Aug. pont. max. tr. pot. cos. 3. + Britanni, S. C., Coins, Pl. ii. 5.

A.D. 121.

Hadrian constructs a wall in Britain to separate the barbarians from the Romans, lxv 1, n^{b}; he returns into Gaul, lxv 1.

A.D. 124.

C. Julius Gallus and C. Valerius Severus, Consuls suffecti, Inscr. 9.

Hadrian. Aug. trib. pot. 8, cos. 3, Inscr. 9.

About this time Pope Sextus appoints the "Sanctus" to be sung in the office of the Mass, 295 [53].

A. Platorius Nepos is Proprætor in Britain about this time, Inscr. 9, 10.

A.D. 125.

Quadratus and Aristides write an Apology for the Christians, which being presented by Serenus Granius to the Emperor Hadrian, he commands that the Christians be not condemned without a judicial conviction, 86 B C.

A.D. 130.

M. Maenius Agrippa is Præfect of the fleet on the shore of Britain about this time, Inscr. 11, 92.

The Emperor Hadrian rebuilds the city of Jerusalem, and calls it Ælia, 86 C, 700 A.

A.D. 133.

Priscus Licinius Italicus is Lieutenant in Britain about this time, Inscr. 12.

A.D. 134.

Julius Severus, who had the command in Britain, is sent by Hadrian against the Jews, Inscr. 53*a*, n^{e}, lix 2, n^{c}.

About this time Pope Telesphorus commands the hymn "Gloria in Excelsis" to be sung on feast days, 295 [53].

A.D. 135.

The Jews are subdued with great slaughter, 86 C.

Hadrian returns from the East, and on his way constructs a library at Athens, 86 C.

A.D. 136.

L. Ælius Verus receives the title of Cæsar, Inscr. 91 a.

Hermas, the author of the book called Pastor, flourishes, 86 D.

A.D. 138.

Marcus, the first Gentile Bishop of Jerusalem, is ordained, the preceding fifteen bishops having been Jews, 86 C.

The Emperor Hadrian dies, 86 C.

Titus Antoninus, surnamed Pius, is proclaimed Emperor, 86 C D, 295, 700 A; Antoninus deprives the Brigantes in Britain of a great portion of their land, because they had overrun the territory of the Genuini who were tributary to the Romans, l 1.

A.D. 139.

The Emperor Antoninus subdues the Britons by Lollius Urbicus his Lieutenant, lxv 2, lxvii 2, Inscr. 37; he separates the barbarians by a rampart (or wall of turf), lxv 2, Inscr. 33-37, 45-48, 56, 57, 83, 60 B, n^{d}.

A.D. 140.

Antoninus Aug. Pius, p. p. tr. p. cos. 3, Imperator 2 + Britannia, S. C., Coins, Pl. ii, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, &c.

C. Valerius Pansa is Proconsul in Britain, lv, Inscr. 13. Seius Saturninus is Præfect of the fleet on the British shores, c 2.

A.D. 151.

Justinus Martyr composes his Apology for the Christians, and delivers it to the Emperor Antoninus, 86 C.

A.D. 154.

Commodus and Lateranus, Consuls, Inscr. 58.

A.D. 155.

Antoninus Aug. Pius, p. p. tr. p. 18. + Britannia cos. 4, S.C., Coins, Pl. iii. 1, 2.

A.D. 161.

The Emperor Antoninus Pius dies, 86 C D. Marcus Aurelius Antoninus is proclaimed Emperor with his colleague Lucius Commodus Verus, 86 D E, n^{b}, 111 C, n^{l}, 295, 700 B.

A.D. 162.

Disturbances are threatened in Britain, lxv 2; Calphurnius Agricola is sent by the Emperor Marcus Antoninus as his lieutenant against the Britons, lxv 2, Inscr. 91.

The fourth persecution against the Christians (Severus Sulpicius considers it the fifth), 86 D.

A.D. 163.

Justinus suffers martyrdom, 86 E.

A.D. 165.

Polycarp comes to Rome, 86 D.

A.D. 166.

Polycarp and Pionius suffer martyrdom, 34 B, 86 D.

A.D. 167.

A plague rages in Italy and Rome, 86 D.

A.D. 169.

The Emperor Lucius Commodus Verus dies, 86 E, n^{b}.

Digitized by Google

A.D. 172.

Melito Bishop of Sardis delivers his apology for the Christians to the Emperor Aurelius Antoninus, 86 E.

Apollinaris Bishop of Hierapolis, and Dyonisius Bishop of Corinth, flourish, 87 A.

A.D. 176.

Lucius Ælius Aurelius Commodus is made Augustus by the Emperor Marcus Aurelius Antoninus his father, 86 E, n [b], 700 B.

A.D. 177.

Eleutherus becomes Bishop of Rome, 60[9/], 86 E, n [b], 87 A, 295, n [a], 501 A.

A.D. 180.

The Emperor Aurelius dies, 87 A; and is succeeded by his son L. Ælius Aurelius Commodus, 86 E, n [b], 87 A, 700 D.

Irenæus Bishop of Lyons flourishes, 87 A.

A.D. 181.

About this time Lucius King of the Britons, named Leven Mawr, sends an embassy to Pope Eleutherus, and the Britons receive the Christian faith, 8 B, 60 A [8/9/], n [b], 82 B [1], 86 E, n [b], 87 A, 111 C, n [1], 112 A, 284 C, 295 bis, 501 A, 700 B.

An insurrection happens in Britain, lix 2. Some of the nations pass the rampart dividing them from the Roman Stations, lix 2. The Roman General is slain, lix 2. Commodus sends Ulpius Marcellus against them, lix 2.

Marcellus grievously worsts the barbarians in Britain, lx 1.

Commodus meets with successes in Germany, 87 A, 700 D; he is engaged in several wars with the barbarians who dwell beyond Dacia, lix 2. Albinus and Niger gain reputation, lix 2.

Pantænus the Stoic philosopher teaches, 87 B.

A.D. 183.

Ulpius Marcellus terminates the war in Britain, lx 1, lxvi 1; he nearly loses his life at the hands of Commodus, but is dismissed unhurt, lx 1.

A.D. 184.

Commodus commands his own statue to be placed on the Colossus, 87 A, 700 D; he is called by his flatterers Britannicus, lxvi 1.

M. Commodus Anton. Aug. Pius Brit. + p. m. tr. p. 9, imp. 7, cos. 4, p. p. Vict. Brit. S. C., Coins, Pl. iii. 7.

A.D. 185.

Maternus and Bradua, Consuls, Inscr. 14.

M. Commodus Antoninus Aug. Pius Brit. + Britannia p. m. tr. p. 10, imp. 7, cos. 4, p. p. S.P.Q.R. or Vic. Brit., Coins, Pl. iii. 4, 5, 6.

Perennis, Præfect of the Prætorian Guards, removes the senators, and sets men of the Equestrian order over the soldiers in the war in Britain, lxvi 1; he is blamed by the soldiers, lx 1; is slain as the enemy of the army, lxv 2, lxvi 1.

A.D. 186.

Commodus Aug. V. and Glabrio II., Consuls, Inscr. 107.

A.D. 187.

P. Helvius Pertinax is solicited by Commodus to proceed to Britain, lx 1, lxv 2; he quells the revolt in Britain, lx 1, lxv 2; and, being recalled, is made Proconsul of Africa, lxv 2.

A.D. 188.

Fuscianus II. and Silanus, Consuls, Inscr. 67.

A.D. 191.

Apronianus and Bradua, Consuls, Inscr. 15, 61*a*.

A.D. 192.

Clodius Albinus commands the Roman Forces in Britain, lix 2, lx 1, lxii 2, lxv 1 2, lxxi 1. Lucius Septimus Severus commands in Pannonia, lx 1; Pescennius Niger, in Syria, lx 1.

Fifteen hundred archers, being sent from Britain into Italy, are met by Commodus on their approach to Rome, lx 1.

Commodus is exasperated against Albinus, and sends Junius Severus as his lieutenant into Britain, lxv 2, Inscr. 53*a*, n [c].

The Emperor Commodus dies, 87 A.

A.D. 193.

Pope Eleutherus dies, 86, n [b], 501 A.

P. Helvius Pertinax is proclaimed Emperor, 87 A; he is slain by Julianus at the instigation of Albinus, lxxi 1, lxxix 2, 87 A, 700 D.

Didius Julianus fears neither the armies of Britain nor of Illyricum, lxv 1; he is proclaimed Emperor, 87 A; and is slain, 87, n [a], 700 D.

Lucius Septimus Severus is proclaimed Emperor, lxxi 2, 87 B, 112 A, n [a], 296, 501 A, 700 D.

Severus is suspicious of the forces in Britain commanded by Albinus, lxii 1.

Heraclitus is sent by Severus to obtain Britain, lxv 1.

Albinus is designed by Severus as Cæsar, lx 2, lxii 2; he accepts the honour, lxii 2.

Severus gives letters to one of his adherents, whom he sends to Albinus, and proclaims him Cæsar, lx 2, lxii 1. In consequence, Albinus, as about to be partaker of the Empire, remains where he is, lx 2, lxii 2.

Severus orders money to be coined bearing the image of Albinus, lxii 2.

Albinus is proclaimed Emperor in Gaul, lxxi 1 2, lxxii 2, 87 C, 700 D.

A.D. 195.

Piscennius Niger is defeated and slain in the beginning of this year, lxxi 1 2.

A.D. 196.

Pope Victor I. calls a Council at Rome to regulate the celebration of Easter, 87 A B, 296 [21].

Theophilus assembles a Council at Cæsarea, 87 B.

Virius Lupus is Proprætor in Britain, Inscr. 16, 99.

A.D. 197.

Severus having settled affairs in the East looks upon Albinus as obnoxious, and projects his destruction, lxii 2; he leads an army against him, liii 1. Severus in Gaul gives battle to Albinus, who had crossed over from Britain to the opposite coast of Gaul, lxii 2. Albinus is vanquished and slain near Lyons, lxiii 1, lxxi 1 2, lxxiii 1, lxxix 2, lxxxi 2, 87 C, 700 D.

A.D. 201.

In Britain the Caledonians fail in their promises, and make preparations to assist the Meatæ, lx 2.

Virius Lupus, the Proprætor in Britain, is compelled to purchase peace from the Meatæ, lx 2.

Digitized by Google

A.D. 202.

The fifth persecution against the Christians, 87 B. Leonides, the father of Origen, suffers martyrdom, 87 B.

Tertullian testifies that Britain had now received the faith of Christ, xciv 1.

A.D. 204.

Severus, having conquered his enemies in Britain by the agency of his lieutenants, divides the government there into two provinces, lxiii 1 2; he is incensed to find himself defeated in Italy, lx 2.

Virius Lupus is yet Proprætor in Britain, ci 1, n [l].

A.D. 205.

L. Alfenus Senecio is Lieutenant in Britain about this time, Inscr. 16 a, 65, 98, 102 a.

A.D. 206.

Clemens of Alexandria flourishes about this time, xciv, n [c], 87 B.

A.D. 207.

Aper and Maximus, Consuls, lxxxii 2, Inscr. 38.

The construction of the wall or rampart of Severus is in progress, Inscr. 38, n [w].

Severus receives letters from the præfect of Britain, relating that the island was in a state of insurrection, and that for defence of the island there was need of greater force or the presence of the Emperor himself, lxiii 2.

A.D. 208.

Antoninus Aug. III. and Geta, Consuls, Inscr. 17.

The Britons again revolt; the Caledonians join the Mæatæ; Severus prepares to go in person against them, lxi 2.

The Emperor Severus undertakes an expedition against Britain, lx 2, lxiii 2, lxxix 2, lxxxi 2, lxxxii 2, 87 C, 700 D.

Tertullian flourishes about this time, xciv, n [d], 87 C.

A.D. 209.

Severus advances into Caledonia, and nearly reaches the extremity of the island, lxi 1; leaves his younger son Geta in the southern part of the island subjugated to the Romans, lxiv 1.

The Britons send ambassadors to sue for peace, lxiii 2. Severus refuses to receive them, lxiii 2; he subdues them, cii 1.

A.D. 210.

Severus completes the wall and trench or rampart across Britain from sea to sea, lxv 1, lxxi 1 2, lxxii 1, lxxix 2, lxxxi 2, lxxxii 2, 49 D, 50 A, n [a], 60 A, nn [c d e], 60 B C, 87 C, nn [a b], 112 A, n [b], 112 B, n [c], 117 A, 284 D, 296 bis, 501 A C, 700 D E, 705 A; he obtains the surname of Britannicus, lxv 1. Severus Pius Aug. Brit. + Victoriæ Britannicæ, S.C., Coins, Pl. iii. 8, 9, 10.

Antoninus or Bassianus, his eldest son, makes an attempt against his father's life, lxi 1 2, lxxi 1.

A.D. 211.

Gentianus and Bassus, Consuls, lxxxii 2, Inscr. 108 a.

Severus Pius Aug. Brit. or L. Sept. Severus Pius Aug. + Vict. Brit. p. m. tr. p. 19, cos. 3, p. p. S.C., Coins, Pl. iii. 11, 13.

The Emperor Severus dies at York on the 4th February, lxi 2, lxiv 1 2, lxv 1, lxxi 1 2, lxxii 1, lxxix 2, lxxxi 2, lxxxii 2, 60 B [17], 87 C, n [a], 112 B, 296 bis, 700 E; (at Rome, 61 B C, n [f];) his body is removed from Britain to Rome, lxv 2; he leaves as his successors his two sons Bassianus and Geta, lxiv 2, lxxi 1 2, 112 B, 700 E. Coins of Geta struck in this year, P. Septimius Geta Pius Aug. Brit. + Vict. Brit. tr. p. 3, cos. 2, S.C. Pl. iv. 12, 16. Bassianus, who had taken the name of Antoninus, seizes on the whole Empire, and in pretence rules jointly with his brother, lxii 1, 700 E. M. Aurel. Antoninus Pius Aug. or M. Aurel. Antoninus Pius Aug. Brit. + Vict. Brit. tr. p. 14, cos. 3, p. p. S.C. or Imp. Brit. p. m. tr. p. 14, cos. 3, p. p. S.C., Coins, Pl. iii. 22. Pl. iv. 5, 7. Antoninus, surnamed Caracalla, succeeds to the Empire, 87 C, 112 B, 296; he appoints Papianus præfect of Britain, lxxxvii 1; enters into a treaty with the Britons, and retires from the island, lxxxvii 1. A remarkable dialogue occurs about this time between the Empress Julia Augusta and the wife of Argentocoxus, a Caledonian chief, lxii 1.

A.D. 212.

Geta perishes, being condemned as a public enemy, 112 B, 296, 700 E.

Alexander Bishop of Cappadocia is ordained Bishop of Jerusalem, Narcissus being still living, 87 C.

A.D. 213.

M. Aur. Antonino Pio Aug. trib. pot. 16, cos. 4, Inscr. 97.

A.D. 215.

M. Aur. Antonino Pio Aug. trib. pot. 18, imp. 2, cos. 4, Inscr. 18.

A.D. 217.

The Emperor Antoninus, surnamed Caracalla, is assassinated, 87 C, 701 A.

Opilius Macrinus is proclaimed Emperor, 87 D, 701 A.

A.D. 218.

The Emperor Macrinus is slain at Archelais in Cappadocia, with his son Diadumenianus, 88 A, 701 A.

Marcus Aurelius Antoninus Heliogabalus is proclaimed Emperor, 88 A, 701 A.

A.D. 219.

M. Aurelius Antoninus Aug. II., Consul, Inscr. 40, 66.

M. D. Junius is Lieutenant in Britain, Inscr. 40.

A.D. 220.

The city of Nicopolis, before called Emmaus, is rebuilt at the intercession of Julius Africanus, 88 A.

A.D. 221.

Gratus and Seleucus, Consuls, Inscr. 66.

Marius Valerianus is Proprætor in Britain, Inscr. 19, 66.

A.D. 222.

Hippolytus begins his Paschal Canon, or cycle of 16 years, on which Eusebius founded the cycle of 19 years, 88 A.

The Emperor Heliogabalus is slain, 88 A. Marcus Aurelius Alexander Severus is proclaimed Emperor, 88 A, 701 A.

A.D. 224.

Pope Urban converts many nobles to the Faith of Christ, 88 B.

A.D. 231.

Origen flourishes, and is distinguished by Mammæa the mother of the Emperor Alexander, xciv, n [h], 88 B.

Digitized by Google

A.D. 235.

The Emperor Alexander Severus is assassinated in Gaul, at a place called Sicila (near Mayence), or, according to others, in Britain, lxvi, 701 B; he is succeeded by Julius Maximinus, 88 B.

Sixth persecution of the Christians, 88 B, 701 B. Pope Pontianus suffers martyrdom, 88 B.

A.D. 236.

Pope Antherus suffers martyrdom, 88 B.

A.D. 238.

Pius and Proculus, Consuls, Inscr. 20.

Claudius Paulinus is Proprætor in Britain, Inscr. 20.

The Emperor Maximinus is assassinated, 88 B.

Gordianus III. is proclaimed Emperor, 88 B, 701 B.

A.D. 239.

Maecilius Fuscus is Proprætor in Britain about this time, Inscr. 24.

A.D. 240.

Gn. Lucilianus is Proprætor in Britain about this time, Inscr. 23.

A.D. 241.

Gordianus Aug. II. and Pompeianus, Consuls, Inscr. 21.

A.D. 242.

Atticus and Prætextatus, Consuls, Inscr. 22.

Nonnius Philippus is Proprætor in Britain, Inscr. 22.

A.D. 244.

The Emperor Gordianus is assassinated, 88 C. Marcus Julius Philippus is chosen Emperor, 88 C; his son Philip is associated with him as colleague, Inscr. 25, 88 C, 701 B.

A.D. 247.

M. Julius Philippus Aug. II. and M. Julius Philippus Aug., Consuls, Inscr. 25.

The Emperor Philip completes his third year (9th March); the year 1000 of Rome begins (21st April), 88 C, 701 B.

Origen answers Celsus the Epicurean Philosopher about this time, 88 C.

A.D. 249.

The Emperor Philip and his son are slain, 88 C, 701 C. Quintus Trajanus Decius is proclaimed Emperor, 88 D, 701 C.

A.D. 250.

The seventh persecution of the Christians, 88 D, 701 C. Pope Fabianus and Alexander Bishop of Jerusalem suffer martyrdom, 88 D.

A.D. 251.

Babylas Bishop of Antioch suffers martyrdom, 88 D.

Cornelius is ordained Pope, 88 D.

The Emperor Decius dies, 88 D. C. Vibius Trebonianus Gallus Hostilianus is proclaimed Emperor, 88 E, 701 C.

A.D. 252.

Gallus associates his son Volusianus, Inscr. 26, 26 a.

The persecution of the Christians is continued, 89 A.

Pope Cornelius raises from the catacombs the bodies of the Apostles Peter and Paul, 89 A, 296 [21].

A.D. 253.

Pope Cornelius suffers martyrdom, 89 A.

A.D. 254.

The Emperor Gallus Hostilianus and his son Volusianus are slain, 89 A.

Publius Licinius Valerianus is proclaimed Emperor, 89 A, 701 C; his son Gallienus is associated with him, Inscr. 26 b, 89 A, 701 C.

Origen dies, and is buried in the city of Tyre, 89 A.

A.D. 255.

Desticius Juba is Proprætor in Britain about this time, Inscr. 26 b.

A.D. 257.

The eighth persecution against the Christians, 89 A, 701 C.

St. Stephen, the Roman Pontiff, suffers martyrdom, 89 B.

A.D. 258.

Tuscus and Bassus, Consuls, Inscr. 27.

Postumus assumes the Purple, Inscr. 26 c.

St. Cyprian suffers martyrdom at Carthage, 89 B.

A.D. 259.

Pope Sixtus suffers martyrdom, 89 B.

A.D. 260.

The Emperor Valerian is defeated by Sapor, King of the Persians, and deprived of his sight, 89 B, 701 C. Gallienus becomes sole Emperor, 89 B.

A.D. 265.

Postumus associates Victorinus, Inscr. 27 a.

A.D. 268.

Tetricus assumes the Purple, Inscr. 27 b.

The Emperor Gallienus is assassinated, 89 B.

Marcus Aurelius Claudius is proclaimed Emperor, 89 B, 701 C.

A.D. 269.

Claudius defeats the Goths, and his statue of gold is placed in the capitol, 89 C, 701 C.

Valerian dies in captivity, 89 B, 701 C.

A.D. 270.

The Emperor Aurelius Claudius dies of the plague, 89 C.

L. Valerius Domitius Aurelianus is proclaimed Emperor, Inscr. 27 c, 89 C, 701 D.

A.D. 272.

The ninth persecution of the Christians, under the Emperor Aurelian, 89 C, 701 D.

A.D. 273.

Constantius, afterwards Emperor, surnamed Chlorus, marries Helena, lxxii 2; she is said to have been the daughter of Coel King of Colchester, 702 D, n [a].

A.D. 275.

Constantine, son of Constantius and Helena, is born about this time, lxix 1 2, lxxx 1, lxxxii 1, lxxxvii 2, 90 D, 115 C, 266 C, 702 E.

The Emperor Aurelian is assassinated between Constantinople and Heraclea, 89 C, 701 D.

M. Claudius Tacitus is proclaimed Emperor, 89 D, 701 D.

Pope Felix suffers martyrdom, 89 C.

Digitized by Google

A.D. 276.

The Emperor Tacitus is assassinated at Pontus, 89 D, 701 D; his brother Florianus obtains the Empire during eighty-eight days, Inscr. 27 d, 89 D. Britain, amongst other nations, is subjected to the Emperor Florianus, lxxv 2. Florianus is slain at Tharsus, 89 D, 701 D. M. Aurelius Val. Probus is declared Emperor, 89 D, 701 D.

Proculus and Bonosus, claiming for themselves Britain and other provinces, are conquered by Probus, lxvi 1.

Victorinus quells a revolt in Britain, and kills the Præfect whom Probus had sent thither at the request of Victorinus, lxxv 2, lxxxvii 1 2.

A.D. 277.

Probus sends into Britain the Burgundians and Vandals, that they may be serviceable to the Emperor in revolts, lxxv 2; he drives the barbarians from Gaul, 89 D, 701 D E.

Anatolius Bishop of Laodicea writes his work on Easter, 89 D, 175 A.

A.D. 282.

The Manichean heresy spreads, 278, 89 D.

The Emperor Probus is slain, 89 D. M. Aur. Carus is chosen Emperor, 701 C; his sons Carinus and Numerianus being associated with him as Cæsars, 90 A. Carinus has Britain assigned to him, lxvi 1.

A.D. 283.

Pope Eutichianus dies, 89 C. Caius is made Pope, 90 A.

The Emperor Carus dies, 90 A, 701 E; he is succeeded by his sons Carinus and Numerianus, Inscr. 27 e, 90 A.

A.D. 284.

Numerianus dies, 90 A.

Aurelius Diocletianus is chosen Emperor, Inscr. 27 f, 90 B, 112 C, 701 E, 702 C.

A.D. 285.

Carinus son of Carus dies, 90 A.

A.D. 286.

M. Aur. Valer. Maximianus, surnamed Herculius, is associated in the Empire with Diocletian, 90 B, 112 C, 701 E.

Narseus, King of the Persians, declares war in the East, lxxx 1, 90 B.

The Quinquegentiani ravage Africa, lxxx 1, 90 B, n [c].

Carausius, having received instructions to defend the sea coast at Boulogne, is suspected of treachery, and hearing that the Emperor Maximianus Herculius had given orders that he should be slain, assumes the Purple, and usurps the Empire in Britain, lxvi 1 2, lxxi 2, lxxii 1 2, lxxix 2, lxxx 1, lxxxi 2, cii 1, 60 C, 90 B, 112 C D, 701 E, 702 A.

The Franks and Saxons infest the Coast of Gaul, lxxii 1, lxxx 1.

A.D. 287.

Carausius, who had escaped into Britain, carries with him the fleet entrusted to him for the defence of Gaul, lxvii 1; preparations against him are commenced by Maximianus, lxvi 2.

A.D. 289.

Carausius repulses Maximianus, lxvii 1; peace is made with Carausius, lxxii 2, Coins, Pl. x. 1.

A.D. 291.

Achilleus is made Emperor in Egypt, lxxi 2, lxxx 1, 90 B.

A.D. 292.

Constantius Chlorus and Galerius Maximianus or Maximinus are made Cæsars by Diocletian, lxxii 2, 90 B, 702 A.

Constantius repudiates Helena and espouses Theodora, the step-daughter of Herculius, 90 B; he reigns over Gaul, Britain, and Spain, 115 B, 702 D.

Maximianus marries Valeria, the daughter of Diocletian, 90 B.

Constantius besieges Boulogne, garrisoned by Carausius, and reduces that town to his obedience, lxvi 2.

A.D. 293.

Carausius about this time repairs, as it is said, the wall of Severus or that of Antoninus, 60 B, n [d].

A.D. 294.

Carausius is treacherously slain by Allectus, who assumes the Empire in Britain, lxvii 2, n [d], lxxi 2, lxxii 2, lxxx 1, 112 C, 113 D, 702 A.

A.D. 296.

Constantius Chlorus sails from the coast of Boulogne, and makes an expedition into Britain, lxvii 2, lxix 1, lxxxi 2, 60 C. A mist coming on, Constantius passes unnoticed by the British fleet, cruising near the Isle of Wight, lxvii 2, lxviii 1. As soon as he reaches the shores of Britain, he sets fire to his ships, lxvii 2; he proceeds to London and obtains the victory, lxviii 1. Allectus, being encountered by Asclepiodotus, captain of the Prætorian Band, with the army of Constantius, is defeated, 60 B, 90 B, 112 D, 113 E, 702 A, lxvi 2, lxvii 2, lxviii 1, lxix 2, lxxi 2, lxxii 2, lxxvii 2, lxxx 1, lxxxi 2. Allectus is slain, lxvi 2, n [g]; and Britain is recovered to the Romans after ten years of usurpation, lxviii 1 2, lxix 2, lxxx 1, 113 A.

Pope Caius suffers martyrdom, 90 A.

Diocletian goes into Egypt against Achilleus, lxxx 1.

A.D. 297.

Maximianus Herculius passes into Africa, and reduces to obedience the five towns of Lybia which had revolted, 90 B.

Achilleus is defeated and slain in Egypt, lxxi 2.

A.D. 303.

The tenth persecution against the Christians, 8 B. To this time the Britons continue in the Catholic faith, 8 B, 90 B, 113 A, n [a], 296 bis, 700 B, 702 A.

Diocletian in the East, and Maximianus Herculius in the West, command the churches to be wasted, and the Christian Priests to be slain, 8 B, 90 B, 113 A.

A D. 304.

Aaron and Julius, citizens of Caer Legion, together with Albanus and many others, suffer martyrdom in Britain, 8 D, 90 C, 113 A, n [a], 115 A, n [b], 296, 702 A B C. Within one month 17,000 martyrs are slain, 90 C, 702 C.

A.D. 305.

The Emperor Diocletian abdicates at Nicomedia, and the Emperor Maximianus Herculius at Milan, lxxxi 1, 90 B, 702 C. Constantius Chlorus becomes Emperor of the West, and Galerius Maximianus Emperor of the East, 90 B, 702 D. C. Val. Maximinus and Fl. Valerius Severus are made Cæsars, lxxi 2, 90 C. Constantius is resident among the Transalpine nations, and for the greater part in Britain, lxxvi 1. Constantine, being detained as a hostage by Galerius in Rome,

Digitized by Google

lxxi 2 bis; hastens to Boulogne to meet his father, lxix 1 2, lxxi 2 bis, lxxv 1; he arrives as the fleet which is to convey his father into Britain is about to sail, lxix 1. Constantius makes an expedition against the Caledonians, and overcomes them, lxix 1, lxxv 1.

A.D. 306.

The Emperor Constantius Chlorus dies at York on the 25th July, lxix 2, lxxi 2, lxxii 2, lxxv 1, lxxx 1, lxxxi 2, lxxxii 1, Inscr. 27 g, 28, 60 C, n [a], 90 C, 115 B, 702 D; and is buried near Kair Segeint (Segontium), 60 C.

Constantine his son, being in Britain, is proclaimed Emperor, lxx 1, lxxi 2, lxxii 1 2, lxxv 1, lxxx 1, n [a], lxxxi, n [b], lxxxii 1, lxxxvii 2, 61 C, n [g], 90 D, 115 C, n [f], 702 E.

Maxentius son of Maximianus Herculius takes the appellation of Augustus at Rome, lxxv 1, 90 D, 702 E.

A.D. 307.

Licinius, the husband of Constantia the sister of Constantine, is declared Emperor at Carnuntum, 90 D.

A.D. 308.

Pamphilus the priest, whose Life is written by Eusebius Bishop of Cæsarea, suffers martyrdom, 90 C.

A.D. 310.

Peter Bishop of Alexandria suffers martyrdom, 90 C.

Maximianus dies, 90 B.

A.D. 312.

Constantine, grown suspicious of Maxentius, makes preparations for war against him, and having collected his forces, together with the levies from Britain, marches towards Italy, lxvi 1, lxxi 1, 702 E, 703 A. Maxentius dies, 703 A.

A.D. 313.

Constantine embraces Christianity, lxxxi 1, 90 D, 703 A; he is baptized* at Rome by Sylvester I., 91 A, 703 A. The persecution against the Christians ceases, 9 B, 90 C, 115 A B. Constantine leads an army against the Britons, and subdues them, lxx 2 bis.

Maximinus dies, 90 B.

A.D. 314.

Certain Bishops from Britain meet at the Synod at Arles, xcviii 1, nn [a b]. Avitianus Archbishop of Rouen is present, 296 [36].

A.D. 316.

Diocletian dies, 90 B.

A.D. 319.

Constantinus Aug. V. and Licinius Cæsar, Consuls, ci 1.

The Emperor Constantine sends an edict to Pacatianus, his Lieutenant in Britain, 12 Kal. Dec., ci 1, n [e].

A.D. 325.

Paulinus and Julianus, Consuls, 90 D.

The Council of Nice is holden, 19th of the month Dæsius according to the Greeks, in the year 636 of the era of Alexandria, 13 Kal. Jul. (19th June), xciv 2, n [l], 90 D, 91 A, 228 A, 296 [26].

The rule for celebrating Easter to be observed at Rome, throughout Africa, in Britain, and elsewhere, lxx 2.

* Constantine is said to have received baptism at the hands of Eusebius of Nicomedia a short time before his death, A.D. 337.

The Arian heresy is condemned, 9 C, 115 C, n [c].

The Chronicle of Eusebius, edited by St. Jerome, terminates in this year, lxxxi 2, n [n].

A.D. 330.

About this time Constantine desires to transfer the seat of Empire to Byzantium, which he calls Constantinople, 91 B, 703 B; he builds several churches, 91 A B, 703 B.

A.D. 332.

Constantine divides the command among four præfects, giving to the fourth the Transalpine Celts and the Iberi, with the Britannic Islands, lxxvi 1, n [c].

A.D. 337.

The Emperor Constantine dies, 90 D; and the Empire is divided between his three sons, Constantinus, Constantius, and Constans, who are proclaimed Emperors, 91 B, 703 C.

A.D. 340.

The Emperor Constantinus II. dies near Aquileia, 91 B C. Constans unites to his portion of the Empire that of his brother Constantinus, 91 C.

A.D. 341.

The Emperor Constans marches against the Franks, lxxiii 1 2, lxxiv 2; he encourages the Arians, 91 B, 703 C.

St. Athanasius is deposed by the Arians, 91 C.

A.D. 343.

Constans goes into Britain in the winter, and restores tranquillity there, lxxiii 1 2, lxxiv 2, xcv 1 2, n [m].

A.D. 347.

Bishops from Britain are present at the Council of Sardica, xcv 2, n [h].

A.D. 350.

The Emperor Constans is slain, 91 B C.

Magnentius, whose father was a Briton, aims at the supremacy, lxxxvii 2. Gratianus, the father of Valentinian, governing the army in Britain, favors Magnentius, lxxiv 2, lxxv 1.

A.D. 353.

Constantius II. becomes sole Emperor by the defeat and death of Magnentius. Paulus, a notary, is sent as Inquisitor into Britain, to proceed against those who had been engaged in the rebellion of Magnentius, lxxii 2. Martinus, prefect in Britain, kills himself in endeavouring to stab Paulus, lxxii 2, lxxiii 1.

A.D. 357.

The remains of the Apostle Timothy are brought to Constantinople, 91 C.

Constantius goes to Rome with the relics of Saint Andrew and Saint Luke, 91 C.

Julian dispatches 800 vessels into Britain, to bring over corn, lxxvi 1.

A.D. 358.

Julian grants a peace, being influenced by the necessity of the assent of the Chamavi for corn to be conveyed from Britain to the Roman garrisons, lxxv 1.

St. Anthony, the founder of Monachism, dies, 91 C.

A.D. 359.

Julian builds warehouses for the corn sent from Britain, lxxiii 1.

Digitized by Google

A.D. 360.

Constantius Aug. X. and Julianus Cæs. III., Consuls, lxxiii 1.

Alypius is Vicarius or Lieutenant in Britain, lxxiii 2.

The Scots and Picts combine together, and make an incursion into Britain, lxxiii 1; Julian, lately made Cæsar, wintering at Paris, receives the intelligence, lxxiii 1; he sends Lupicinus to settle affairs in Britain, lxxiii 1. Lupicinus arrives at Boulogne, and passes over to Richborough in Kent, lxxiii 1; marches thence to London, lxxiii 1.

St. Hilary Bishop of Poictiers presents his book, written against the Arians, to the Emperor Constantius, and returns to Gaul, 91 C.

Bishops from Britain, Gaul, and Aquitaine meet at the Synod, called by Constantius, at Rimini in Italy, at which upwards of 400 Bishops were present, xciv 2, n [k], xcviii 2.

A.D. 361.

Julian, fearing that Lupicinus, having the command in Britain, might hinder his proceedings, despatches a notary to Boulogne to prevent intelligence being conveyed to him, lxxxiii 1. Many ships arrive from Britain, lxx 2. Julian awaits the arrival of Lupicinus from Britain, lxx 2, lxxi 1.

The Emperor Constantius II. dies, 91 B C.

Julian, called the Apostate, is proclaimed Emperor, 91 C, 703 C; he abjures the Christian faith, 91 C.

The Pagans disperse the relics of Saint John the Baptist, 91 C.

A.D. 362.

The Emperor Julian regulates the administration of the Præfects in Britain in respect of their revenue, xciv 2.

Domino totius orbis Juliano Augusto, Inscr. 29.

A.D. 363.

Julian, contemplating the restoration of the Temple of Jerusalem, selects Alypius, who had been lieutenant in Britain, for that business, lxxiii 2. See A.D. 360.

Julian dies, lxx 2, n [n], 91 C D, 703 C. Jovian is chosen Emperor, 91 D, 703 D. St. Athanasius is recalled, 92 A. A Synod is held at Antioch by Meletius, 91 D, 92 A.

A.D. 364.

The Emperor Jovian dies, 91 D, 92 A, 703 D. Valentinian, son of Gratian, is chosen Emperor, 92 A, 703 D; he makes his brother Valens his colleague, 92 A, 703 D; and divides with him the Empire, lxvi 1.

He retains the cities in Illyricum, together with the Transalpine nations, Iberia, the Britannic Islands, and Lybia, lxxii 1 2.

The Picts, Saxons, Scots, and Attacotti continue to vex the Britons with incursions, lxxiii 2, n [k].

A.D. 366.

Damasus Bishop of Rome about this time erects two churches at Rome, (1 Oct. 366—10 Dec. 384), 92 A.

The Emperor Valens receives baptism at the hands of Eudoxius the Arian bishop, 92 A, 703 D.

A.D. 367.

Gratian is made Augustus by his father Valentinian, 92 B, 703 D.

The Franks and Saxons infest the coast of Gaul, lxxiii 2, lxxiv 1.

Hilary Bishop of Poictiers dies, 92 B.

Revolt in Britain; Fullofaudes, the Roman General, and Nectaridus, commander of the fleet, are slain in Britain, lxxiii 2.

Valentinian, on his journey from Gaul into Germany, receives intelligence of the distress of the Britons from the invasions of the barbarians, lxxiii 2; he sends Severus into Britain, who is soon after recalled, lxxiii 2. Jovinus is appointed Præfect in Britain, and sends Provertuides thither before him, lxxiii 2. Theodosius (father of the Emperor Theodosius the Great) is selected to restrain the barbarians in Britain, lxxiii 2,—the Picts at this time divided into two nations, "Dicalidonæ" and "Vecturiones," together with the "Attacotti" and "Scotti," lxxiii 2.

A.D. 368.

Frontinus is exiled into Britain, lxxiv 1, n [a].

Theodosius sails from Boulogne, and arrives at Richborough, lxxiii 2; he proceeds towards London, lxxiii 2. Having collected a disciplined army, he marches from London, lxxiv 1; subdues the Picts and Scots, lxxv 1, xcvi 2, n [w]; drives the Scots to the marshes, lxix 2; routs the barbarians, and establishes peace, lxxiv 1; he requires Civilis to be sent to him for the government of Britain, and Dulcitius as general, lxxiv 1.

A.D. 369.

Valentinus, brother-in-law of Maximinus, then Vicarius and afterwards Præfect, having been banished into Britain, contrives against Theodosius, lxxiv 1, lxxv 1, lxxvi 2. Theodosius, being apprised thereof, delivers Valentinus to Dulcitius, his general, to be slain, lxxiv 2. Valentinianus (Valentinus) aiming at the supremacy in Britain loses it, together with his life, lxxvi 2, lxxxii 1, n [a], cii 1.

Maximus serves in Britain with Theodosius, lxxvi 2. Theodosius restores the cities, and garrisons and fortifies the borders, lxxiv 2, xcvii 1; he recovers the province, afterwards called Valentia, in honour of the Emperor Valentinian, which had surrendered to the enemy, lxxiv 2; he removes from their stations the Arcani, guilty of treason, lxxiv 2; is recalled, and, leaving Britain, is received by the Emperor with commendation, lxxiv 2.

A.D. 370.

Ninias comes to Rome for instruction in the mysteries of the Christian faith in the time of Pope Damasus, 176 A.

A.D. 371.

Alypius, formerly Lieutenant in Britain, is cited for witchcraft, lxxiv 2.

St. Martin is ordained Bishop of Tours, and flourishes A.D. 383, 61 A, 62 A.

A.D. 372.

Fraomarius is sent by Valentinian into Britain on the breaking out of fresh disturbances about this time, lxxiv 2.

Apollinaris Bishop of Laodicea flourishes, 92 A.

A.D. 373.

St. Athanasius Bishop of Alexandria dies.

A.D. 374.

Gratian Aug. III. and Equitius, Consuls, 63 n [z], 74 A [12].

The Saxons make a descent upon Britain, lxxiii 2, n [k], lxxiv 1, 63 A [45], n [a].

Auxentius Bishop of Milan dies, and Ambrosius is elected for his successor, 92 B.

Digitized by Google

A.D. 375.

After the consulate of Gratian and Equitius, 523 n., St. Patric is born in Britain, 523 n.

The Emperor Valens commands all Monks to serve in war, and, on their refusal, orders them to be slain, 92 B, 703 D.

The Emperor Valentinian dies, and is succeeded by his sons Gratian and Valentinian, 61 C, n [c], 92 A B C, 115 C, 296, 703 D E.

Gratian and Valentinian the younger having divided the Empire between them, the Celtic tribes, Iberia, and the Britannic Island, are allotted to Gratian, lxxvi 2.

A.D. 376.

The Huns expel the Goths, who are received by the Emperor Valens, 92 B, 703 D E.

A.D. 378.

The Goths defeat the Emperor Valens, and establish themselves in France, 92 B, 703 E.

The Emperor Valens dies, 92 B, 115 C.

St. Jerome brings his Chronicle, in continuation of Eusebius, down to this year, lxxxi 2, n [n], xcix 1, 62 A.

A.D. 379.

Theodosius the Great is chosen by the Emperor Gratian for his colleague, 92 C, 115 D, 703 E; he subdues the Huns, and expels the Goths from Thrace, 92 C, 703 E.

A.D. 380.

Gratian Aug. V. and Theodosius Aug., Consuls, 92 C.

Theophilus, afterwards Bishop of Alexandria, composes his Paschal Canon beginning from the second year of the Emperor Gratian, 92 C.

Theodosius takes from the Arians the churches which they had held for forty years, 92 C.

A.D. 381.

The Synod of Constantinople is held by 150 Bishops, against Macedonius and Eudoxius, Damasus then being Bishop of Rome, 61 D, 92 C, 99 A, 296 [29], 228 A.

A.D. 382.

Clemens Maximus repels the Picts and Scots, making incursions into Britain, lxxxii 1, n [a], lxxxii 2, n [m], cii 1.

Martin, Bishop of Tours, flourishes, 61 A, 62 A.

A.D. 383.

The Emperor Theodosius associates his son Arcadius in the Empire, 92 C, 704 D.

Maximus excites the soldiers in Britain against the Emperor Gratian, then occupied with the war against the Alemanni, and who had made himself odious to the army by favouring the Alani, lxxvi 2, lxxxi 1 bis. The army in Britain revolt, and Maximus, being proclaimed Emperor by the soldiers, passes thence into Gaul, lxix 2, n [g], lxx 1, lxxii 1, n [a], lxxvi 2, lxx 1, n [b], lxxii 1, xcix 1, cii 1, 9 D, 10 A, 60 C, 61 A B C, n [c], 62 A, 92 C, 115 D, nn [g h], 116 A, 284 D, 296, 501 B, 704 A, 705 A. Gratian, betrayed by Merobaudes, is overcome by Maximus, and put to flight at Paris, lxx 1, lxxii 1, 62 A. Gratian is slain at Lyons, lxxii 1, lxxx 1, lxxxii 1, cii 1 2, 61 A, 62 A, 92 C, 116 A, n [a], 297, 704 A. The Gauls are subdued by Maximus, 501 B.

Gratian being slain by Maximus, Theodosius obtains the Empire of the Roman World, A. U. C. 1136, lxxx 1, cii 2, 92 D, 704 A.

Valentinian II. succeeds his brother Gratian, 116 A.

A.D. 384.

Richomeres and Clearchus, Consuls, lxxxii 1.

Victor is made partner in the Empire by his father Maximus, lxxxii 1.

Maximus enters the city of Treves, xcix 1; he fixes the seat of his Government there, cii 1, 9 D.

Ithacius accuses Priscillianus and his companions before Maximus, C 1.

A.D. 385.

Maximus, fearing Theodosius, makes a treaty with Valentinian, lxxxii 2, n [o].

Priscillianus and his followers are condemned at Treves, C 1; the Manicheans there are exterminated by Maximus, lxxxii 2, C 1.

A.D. 386.

Martin Bishop of Tours comes to Maximus, cii 2.

Valentinian, at the solicitation of his mother Justina, favours the Arians, and persecutes Ambrosius, 92 D.

A.D. 387.

Ambrosius discovers the relics of St. Gervais and St. Protais the Martyrs, 92 D.

Maximus, having collected a large army from Britain and the neighbouring Gauls and Celti, goes into Italy, and expels thence the Emperor Valentinian II., lxxx 1, lxxxi 1, 9 D, 92 C D, 704 A. Under pretext of allowing no innovation against the national faith, he breaks the treaty he had made with Valentinian, lxxxi 1, lxxxii 2. Valentinian yields to the authority of Maximus, lxxxi 2; and flies to Theodosius, lxxxii 2, 116 A, 704 A.

Theodosius receives Valentinian kindly, lxxx 1, 92 D, 116 A. They lead an army into Italy, lxxxii 2.

A.D. 388.

Theodosius Aug. II. and Cynegius, Consuls, lxxxii 1.

Theodosius and Valentinian defeat Maximus, who is slain near Aquileia, lxxii 1, lxxx 1, lxxxii 1 2, cii 2, 9 D, 62 A, 92 D, 116 A, 297, 704 A. Valentinian is restored to the Empire, lxxx 1, lxxxii 2, 61 C, 92 D, 116 A, 297, 704 A. Victor, who had been made partner in the Empire by his father Maximus, is slain at Vienne in Gaul by Arbogastes, lxxii 1, n [b], lxxx 2, lxxxii 1, 62 A. Andragathius, the general of Maximus, is drowned, lxxx 2.

Many of the Britons whom Maximus had brought with him into Gaul refuse to return to Britain, and establish themselves in Armorica, 9 C D, 61 A B, n [d], 92 D E, 704 A, 705 A.

A.D. 390.

Valentinianus Aug. IV. and Neoterius, Consuls, 523, n [i].

St. Patric is sold to slavery in Ireland, 523, n [i].

A.D. 392.

The Emperor Valentinian II. is slain, 92 D.

St. Jerome brings his ecclesiastical history down to the 14th year of the Emperor Theodosius, 92 E, 93 A.

A.D. 393.

Chrysanthus is appointed Vicarius of the British Islands, lxxxi 1, xcix 1, n [c].

St. Jerome writes against Jovinianus, xcix 1, n [c].

A.D. 394.

Ninias, a Briton, educated at Rome, is ordained to the Bishoprick of the Southern Picts by Siricius, 176 A, n [a], 284, n [a], 303, 776 2, nn [d i].

Digitized by Google

A. D. 395.

The Emperor Theodosius dies, 92 D, 93 A, 115 A; his two sons succeed him, Honorius being made Emperor of the West, and Arcadius Emperor of the East, 93 A, 115 A, 704 D.

A. D. 396.

Britain, having been drained of its military forces and the flower of its inhabitants by the usurper Maximus, is left exposed to the incursions of its neighbours, the Picts and Scots, 9 C D, 10 A, 57 B, 61 B, 92 D, 117 B, 705 A B.

* The Britons, still harassed by the incursions of the Picts and Scots, about this time, send ambassadors to Rome asking for military succour, and a legion being thereupon sent to their assistance by Stilicho, the invaders are repressed, 10 A B, 62 B, 93 B, n^{c}, 118 A, 297, 501 C, 705 B. The Britons, by the advice of the Romans, repair the trench or rampart for future protection, 10 B, 93 B, 118 A, 705 B.

A. D. 397.

St. Martin Bishop of Tours dies, 61 A, 62 A, 298.

Ambrosius Bishop of Milan dies, 61 C, 92 D.

A. D. 400.

Fl. Stilicho and Aurelianus, Consuls, xcviii 1, n^{k}, 76 D.

Pelagius, a Briton, spreads his heretical doctrines, lxxxii 2, n^{r}, 297.

A. D. 402.

Theodosius the younger is declared Cæsar by his father Arcadius, 93 A.

The Roman legion being recalled from Britain, the Scots and Picts return, 10 B, 118 B, 501 C.

A. D. 403.

The Goths invade Italy, 93 A, 704 D.

Pope Innocent sends a decretal letter to Victricius Archbishop of Rouen, 297 [13].

A. D. 405.

Stilicho II. and Anthemius, Consuls, xcviii 1, n^{l}, c 1, n^{c}.

The Pelagian heresy continues, ci 2, n^{n}.

Pope Innocent dedicates the Church of the Martyrs Gervais and Protais about this time, 93 A.

A. D. 406.

Arcadius Aug. VI. and Probus, Consuls, lxxviii 1.

The Vandals, with the Suevi and Alani, harass the Transalpine nations, and become formidable even to the armies in Britain, lxxviii 1.

A. D. 407.

Honorius Aug. VII. and Theodosius II., the younger, Consuls, lxxvii 2, lxxxii 1. The Vandals, Suevi, and Alani penetrate into Gaul, 93 A, 116 C, n^{h}, 704 D E.

Chrysanthus becomes Bishop of the Novatians on the death of Sisinnus, lxxxi 1.

The army in Britain revolts, lxxxiii 2; and the soldiers place Marcus on the Imperial throne, lxxv 2, n^{k}, lxxvii 2, lxxxi 2; having dispatched him for not assenting to their designs they invest Gratian, a native of Britain, with the Purple, lxxv 2, lxxvii 2, lxxx 2, 116 C, 704 E.

Gratian is deposed and killed by the soldiers four months after his investiture, lxxv 2, n^{k}, lxxvii 2, lxxx 2, lxxxi 2, 116 D, n^{k}, 704 E. Constantine usurps the Empire in Britain, leaves the Island, and passes into Gaul, lxxv 2, n^{l}, lxxvii 2, lxxviii 1, lxxx 2, lxxxi 2, lxxxii 1, lxxxiii 2, 61 C, n^{s}, 116 D, 117 A, 704 E; he appoints Justinian and Neovigastes to command the troops among the Celti, and leaves Britain, lxvii 2, lxxv 2, lxxxi 2; arrives at Bononia, and, conciliating the troops, thinks himself secure of the Empire, lxxv 2, lxxvii 2, lxxx 2, lxxxi 2; collects a fleet of ships and an army, and invades Spain and Gaul, lxxxii 2, lxxxiii 2, n^{f}.

A. D. 408.

The death of Alaric and usurpation of Constantine are reported in Ravenna, lxxvi 2, lxxvii 1. Stilicho, disappointed of his Illyrian expedition, comes to Rome, lxxvii 1; he sends Sarus against Constantine, lxxvii 2. Sarus meets Justinian the Præfect with his forces, and kills him, lxxvii 2; he besieges Constantine in the city of Valentia, lxxxvii 2. Neovigastes seeks amity with Sarus, but is put to death by him, lxxvii 2. Constantine appoints Edovinchus, a Frank, and Gerontius, a Briton, his commanders, lxxvii 2. Sarus retreats from Valentia, after a siege of seven days, lxxvii 2; escapes into Italy, lxxvii 2. The Vandals and the Alani waste that part of Gaul devastated by the incursions of the Saxons, lxxxii 2. The Romans, under Constantine, defeat the Vandals and other barbarians, lxxviii 1. Constantine places garrisons on the Alps to cut off the passage of the barbarians into Gaul, lxxxviii 1; he makes his son Constans, who had been a monk, Cæsar, and despatches him into Iberia, lxxviii 1, lxxx 2; he sends an embassy to Honorius, excusing his elevation as the act of the soldiers, and requests a share of the Empire, lxxv 1, lxxvii 1. Honorius sends him an Imperial robe, lxxvii 1.

Arcadius dies, and his son Theodosius II. succeeds him as Emperor of the East, 93 A D, 119 A, 297, 704 E, 705 D.

A. D. 409.

Constans, having settled the affairs in Iberia, returns to his father Constantine, leaving Gerontius there as general, lxxviii 2. Berenianus and Didymius, relations of Honorius, being brought before Constantine, are put to death, lxxvii 1, lxxviii 2, lxxx 2. Constans is again sent into Iberia, and takes with him Justus as his general, lxxviii 2. Gerontius gains over the soldiers, and revolts against Constantine, lxxviii 2.

Alaric King of the Goths besieges Rome, and, having partly burned and sacked the city, becomes master thereof, 24th August, in the year 1162 of its foundation; the Goths evacuate Rome within a few days after its conquest, and Alaric dies in the following year, lxxx 2, lxxxiii 2, 93 A, 116 C, 117 A, 297 bis, 501 B, 705 A.

The Britons, and some of the Celtic nations, revolt from the Empire of the Romans, lxxviii 2.

The people of Britain take up arms, and free their cities from the invading barbarians, lxxviii 2. Armorica and the other provinces of Gaul, imitating the Britons, liberate themselves, and expel the Roman Præfects, lxxviii 2, lxxix 1.

A. D. 410.

The army of the Visigoths, under the conduct of Ataulphus, goes into Gaul, lxxxiii 2.

The power of Rome is weakened by the Goths, 117 A, 284 D, 297 bis, 501 B, 705 A. The Romans no longer have it in their power to recover Britain, so that from this time it remains subject to usurpers, lxxxiii 2. The strength of

* The first and second embassies from Britain to the Romans are severally assigned by Dr. Smith to the years 414 and 416, or 419. There are, however, good reasons for preferring A.D. 396 as the year in which the first assistance was furnished to the Britons by Stilicho; and the second succours were probably made by Aetius in the year 435, when the Romans began again to obtain some success in Gaul.

Digitized by Google

Britain is much reduced by the decay of the Roman power, lxxxii 2.

Honorius, having written letters to the cities in Britain, urges them to look to their own safety, lxxix 1, n [b].

Jovius comes to Honorius on the part of Constantine, requesting forgiveness for the murder of Didymius and Berenianus, lxxvii 1. Honorius being occupied with the troubles in Italy, Jovius departs on promise to return with Constantine and his forces from Iberia and Britain to assist in quelling the commotions in Italy and Rome, lxxvii 1.

A.D. 411.

Theodosius Aug. IV., sole Consul, lxxxii 1. Gerontius assassinates Constans Cæsar at Vienne, lxxx 2, lxxxii 1, 117 A B, 704 E; and causes Maximus to be elected Emperor, lxxx 2, lxxxii 1. Constans or Constantius, the General of Honorius, leads an army into Gaul, lxxx 2, lxxxii 1 2. Constantine and his son Julian, being defeated by him, are slain at Arles, lxxx 2, lxxxii 1 2, lxxxiii 2, 61 C, n [e], 117 A, 704 E. Gerontius is slain by his own soldiers, lxxx 2. Maximus, deprived of the Purple, escapes into Spain and there dies, lxxx 2.

A.D. 413.

Lucius, Consul, lxxxii 1.

Pelagius, a Briton, continues to corrupt the Church, and attracts many to his heretical doctrines, Cœlestius and Julianus being his coadjutors, lxxxii 1 2, xcix 2, nn [n p], c, n [c], c 2, n [k], ci 2, n [n], 93 A, 116 B, nn [c e f], 704 D.

A.D. 415.

Lucianus the Priest discovers the relics of St. Stephen the Martyr, and others, 93 B, n [a].

About this time St. Jerome writes his Epistle to Ctesiphon, xcix 1, n [e].

A.D. 417.

Paulus Orosius writes his History, lxxix 1, n [c].

A.D. 418.

Pharamund founds the kingdom of the Franks, 297 [40 48], 707 B.

* The remnant of the Romans in Britain, concealing their treasures in the earth, migrate to Gaul, 297, 502 E, 503 A.

A.D. 420.

St. Jerome dies, 30th September, 93 D, 117, n [b].

A.D. 423.

The Emperor Honorius dies at Ravenna, 93 A D. Theodosius II. becomes Emperor after the death of Honorius, 119 B, 297.

A.D. 424.

Valentinian, son of Constantius and Placidia, is created Cæsar by Theodosius, 76 D, 93 D, 94 A.

A.D. 425.

Theodosius Aug. XI. and Valentinian, Consuls, 77 C.

Valentinian III. receives the Purple at Ravenna, 76 D, 93 D, 94 A D, 284 D, 298, 703 D.

Guortigern reigns in Britain, 62 C, 77 C; he is oppressed through fear of the Picts and Scots, the Roman force, and Ambrosius, 62 C.

A.D. 428.

Felix and Taurus, Consuls, 77 C.

St. Patric departs from Menevia, 830 B.

Three Ceols, driven into exile from Germany, with Hors and Hengst, arrive in Britain, 62 C D [38]; Hors and Hengst, with the Saxons, come to Britain in three Ceols, 5 D, 94 C, 120 C, 121 B, 129 B, 165 D, 284 B D, 285 A, 298, 501 E, 503 A, 509 D, 510 A, 522, 523 A, 635 A, 707 D; Guortigern receives them kindly, 62 D, 63 A, n [a], 77 C, 126, n [a], 154 D, 503 A; he assigns them a district for their habitation, 13 C D, 94 C, 120 C D, nn [a b], 121 A, 298 ter, 501 D E, 502 C, 707 B, 710 B; the Britons under Guortigern their King invite the aid of the Saxons, 5 D, 13 C, 120 B, 298, 501 D E.

A.D. 429.

Florentius and Dionysius, Consuls, lxxxii 1.

The Saxons send over to their countrymen for further assistance, 68 C, 121 B, 298, 707 C; they come to Britain in greater numbers, obtain for their residence a part of the island, and drive the Britons to the mountains, 121 C D, 127 B [5], n [a]. The Saxons enter into an alliance with the Picts, and turn their arms against the Britons, 14 A B, 94 C D, 121 B C, 126 B, n [a], 298, 503 A, 708 A. The Saxons, with their Prince Anschis, from Old Saxony, come to dwell in Britain, xxiv 2.

Agricola, son of Severianus a Pelagian Bishop, corrupts the churches of Britain, lxxxii 1. The Pelagian heresy disturbs the faith of the Britons, 94 D, 122 A, n [d]. The Britons demand the assistance of the Gallican Prelates against the Pelagian heresy, 122 B, n [a]. Germanus Bishop of Auxerre, with Lupus Bishop of Troyes, is sent to Britain by Pope Celestine to refute the Pelagian heresy, lxxxii 1, 50 C, n [c], 63 A, n [c], 94 D, 122 A B, nn [a f h], 123 A, 124 A B, 127 B C, n [b], 490 B, 709 A. The Vandals obtain possession of Africa, 94 A.

A.D. 430.

Theodosius Aug. XIII. and Valentinian Aug. III., Consuls, 71 C.

The Saxons and Picts engage the Britons in battle, 126; Germanus animates the Britons in their contest against the Picts and Saxons, and by raising shouts of "Alleluia" puts the enemy to flight, 70 B [25], 94 E, 126 C D, n [a], 127 A, 709 B. Guortigern refuses to listen to the advice of Germanus, and dies soon after, 70 B C, 708 B. Guortemir, son of Guortigern, succeeds to the kingdom, 68 D; he comes to Germanus, 68 D. Germanus returns to Gaul, 63 A, n [c].

The Vandals besiege Hippo, 94 A, 706 B. St. Augustine, bishop of that city, dies, 28th August, 94 A, 704 D.

A.D. 431.

Bassus and Antiochus, Consuls, lxxxii 1, 523 n.

Palladius is ordained Bishop to the Scots in Ireland by Pope Celestine, lxxxii 1, ci 2, 71 B, n [c], 94 A, 117, n [b], 119 B, nn [a b], 122, n [b], 123, n [a], 176, n [b], 284 D, 297, 503 A, 523 n., 706 A. On his return to Britain he dies in the land of the Picts, 51 C, 71 B.

A General Council is holden at Ephesus, 200 bishops being present, 228 A. Pope Leo I. confirms the Synod at Chalcedon, 297 [55].

A.D. 432.

Aetius and Valerius, Consuls, 523 n.

St. Patric, sent by Pope Celestine, comes to Britain, 71 C, 72 A; he enters Ireland, 72 A, 176, n [b]; is sent to convert the Scots after the death of Palladius, 71 C, 297, 523 n.; converts Ireland to the Christian Faith, 528 n.; becomes Archbishop of Ireland, 176, n [b], 528 n.

Bishop Ninias dies, and is buried at Whitherne in Galloway, 179 A, n., 303, 776 [2], nn [l n].

Pope Celestine dies, 71 C, n [d].

---

* The Saxon Chronicle appears to be the earliest authority for this event.

Digitized by Google

A.D. 435.

About this time the Britons renew their application to the Romans for assistance against their enemies, and a Legion being sent over to Britain (by the Patrician Aetius) the invaders are repulsed, 10 C D, 11 A, 62 B, 93 C, 118 B C, 705 C.

A.D. 436.

The Roman Legion being recalled from Britain, the Romans announce their intention of not returning, and advise the Britons to rely on their own resources, 118 D; having assisted them in repairing and fortifying the wall of stone, the Romans finally take leave of Britain, 10 C, 11 A, 93 C, 118 D, 119 A, 195 B, 705 C. The departure of the Romans being known, the invaders return to harass the Britons, 11 B C, 119 A, 705 C D.

A.D. 437.

The Britons, under the conduct of Ambrosius Aurelius, about this time obtain a signal victory over the Saxons, 5 D, 15 A, n [a], 95 C, 121 D E, 122 A, n [a], 708 C.

The battle of Catguoloph, and the difference between Guitolinus and Ambrosius, 77 C.

A.D. 439.

Eudoxia, wife of the Emperor Theodosius II., brings from Jerusalem the relics of St. Stephen the Martyr, 94 C.

Carthage is taken from the Romans by Genseric, King of the Vandals, on the 22d of October, 94 A.

A.D. 441.

The Emperor Theodosius loses the empire of Britain, 705 D.

The Romans cease to rule in Britain, 61 C, n [h], 62 C, 117 A, n [a], 284 D, 297 bis, 501 B, 705, n [a].

Britain is subjugated to the Saxons in the 18th year of Theodosius, lxxxii 2, n [v].

A.D. 442.

Blædla and Attila, kings of the Huns, ravage Thrace and Illyria, 94 C, 705 E.

A.D. 445.

Blædla is slain by the treachery of his brother Attila, 705 E, 119 C.

Attila engages the Patrician Aetius in wars, 119 C, 297, 705 E.

The Britons, harassed by the Picts and Scots, as well as by famine, flee to the mountains, 11 D, 12 A, n [a], 13 B, 14 D, 94 B, 119 D, 121 D, 122 A, 708 C.

A.D. 446.

Fl. Aetius III. and Q. Aurelius Symmachus, Consuls, 94 B C, 119 B.

Constantinople wasted with famine and plague, its walls and towers fall down, 119 C, n [d], 705 E.

The Picts invade Britain, the Britons send embassies to the Romans, 10 A B C, 62 B; with letters to Aetius, detailing their sufferings, and requesting assistance, but the Romans refuse to help them, 11 D, 12 A, 94 B C, 119 B, 297, 705 D.

A.D. 447.

An eclipse of the sun, 23d Dec., 830 A, n [e].

The Britons, being denied assistance from the Romans, 94 B C, 705 D, resolve to expel the invaders, 12 A, 119 D; they suppress the ravages of the enemy, 119 D. The famine is succeeded by great abundance in the Island, 12 B, 120 A, 706 B. The Britons degenerate into great vices, 12 C; a plague destroys numbers, 13 B, 120 A B.

Germanus Bishop of Auxerre undertakes his second mission into Britain on account of the Pelagian heresy, 50 B, 63 A, n [c], 94 D; he comes to Britain with Severus Bishop of Treves, 51 B, n [c], 71 C, 127 C, n [b], 709 B C.

A.D. 448.

Germanus returns into Gaul, 63, n [c], 71 A, 127 B, 128 B; he is well received at Ravenna by Valentinian and Placidia, and dies there, 63, n [c], 94 E, 127, n [b], 128 B, n [a], 709.

* A.D. 449.

Theodoret Bishop of Cyrus flourishes, c 2, n [c]; about this time he writes against Eutyches and Dioscorus Bishop of Alexandria, 95 A B.

A.D. 450.

The Emperor Theodosius II. dies at Constantinople, 93 D.

Marcianus receives the Empire of the East, 94 C, 120 C, n [a], 284 D, 298, 503 A.

A.D. 451.

A General Council is holden at Chalcedon, 630 bishops being present, 228 A.

Placidia, mother of Valentinian, dies at Rome, 94 C.

A.D. 453.

Pope Leo I. assents to the computation of the Eastern Churches concerning the celebration of Easter in the year 455; viz. on the 24th April, 830 B, n [d].

A.D. 454.

St. Bridget the Virgin is born, 830 B, n [e].

Aetius is slain by the hands of Valentinian, 95 A.

A.D. 455.

The Emperor Valentinian III. is slain, 93 D, 94 C, 95 A, 128 B, 709 D.

Prosper Aquitanus ends his Chronicle in this year, lxxii 1, n [b].

† The Britons fight against Hengst and Hors and the Saxons at Aylesford, 299, 503 B, 523 A, 708 C. Categern the son of Guortigern is slain, 69 A, 708 C. Hors is slain by Guortemir in battle against the Britons, 68 D, 69 A, 121 B, 299, 503 B, 523 A, 635 A, 708 D; by Guortemir, 68 D, 69 A, Hengst obtains the victory, and begins to reign with his son Aesc in Kent, 299, 523 A, 635 A, 708 A C D, n [a], 709 A, 719 B.

A.D. 457.

Constantinus and Rufus, Consuls, 76 D.

The Emperor Marcianus dies, 94 C.

Leo is proclaimed Emperor of the East, 95 A.

The Britons are conquered by Hengst and his son Aesc at Crayford, and flee to London, 299 bis, 503 B, 523 B, 708 E, [A.D. 456, 299 [20].]

---

* The coming of the Saxons to Britain, according to Beda, the Saxon Chronicle, and later authorities, should be placed under the year 449; but as the chronological data found in the Historia Britonum appear to be more consistent with other statements in Gildas, Nennius, and Beda, they have been followed in this abstract. See A.D. 428.

† The Historia Britonum mentions four battles fought by Gourtemir against the Saxons, but no attempt is there made to assign dates to them. The dates of the battles occurring under the years 455, 457, 465, and 473 respectively, derive their chief authority from the Saxon Chronicle. The aid of cotemporary annals is wanting to test the accuracy of these dates, as well as those of the subsequent transactions of the Britons and Saxons to the close of the century.

Digitized by Google

Guortimer dies, 708 D; is buried at Lincoln, 69 A.

* St. Patric dies, 72 C, n [d], 523 D, 830 B, n [f].

Victorius or Victorinus of Aquitain forms his Paschal Cycle, 95 B.

---

* The annals of Tigernach place the death of St. Patric in A.D. 493, Marianus Scotus in A.D. 491, but the Cambrian and Ulster annals seem to assign that event to A.D. 457.

The Excerpts from the Chronicle of Marianus, given in the Note at p. 523 of this Volume, relative to St. Patric, will be more complete by the insertion of the following additional notices, supplied from Dr. Pertz' edition of the manuscript which has been recently discovered at Rome.

A.D. 375. After the consulate of Gratian and Equitius.

St. Patric is born in Britain. (See Note, p. 523.)

A.D. 390. Valentinian junior Aug. IV. et Nesterius.

Sanctus Patricius genere Brittus, cum esset 16 annorum venditur in Hibernia ad Milcon Regem Dalnaraede; cui sex annis servivit, et ab Angelo Victore semper consolabatur, de lapide quodam cum eo loquens, qui ibi manet.

Sanctus Patricius reddit massam auream domino suo per se. Cum enim dominus ejus noluit eum dimittere nisi pro massa aurea, servavit Patricius præcepto Victoris Angeli quidam porcorum quorum erat pastor, qui fodit massam. (Mariani Chron. a. 410, edit. Pertz, p. 530.)

A.D. 395. Olybrius et Probinus.

Cum Sanctum Patricium noluit dominus suus dimittere, nisi pro massa aurea, servavit Sanctus Patricius præcepto Victoris Angeli quidam porcorum, quorum custos fuit Patricius et pastor; qui fodit massam auream quam Sanctus Patricius domino suo pro se. (Mariani Chron. a. 416, edit. Pertz, p. 531.)

A.D. 403. Theodosius junior Aug. et Rumorides.

Sanctus Patricius cum esset triginta annorum, veniens Turoniam, tonditur a Sancto Martino tonsura monachica, quia servilem tonsuram antea hucusque habuit. Deinde trans Alpes ivit in occidentalem partem australem Italiæ ad Germanum episcopum civitatis nomine Alsiodorus, et legit apud eum triginta annis divinam scripturam in insula nomine Alanensis. (Mariani Chron. a. 424, edit. Pertz, p. 531.)

A.D. 491. Olybrius junior Consul.

Sanctus Patricius Hiberniæ archiepiscopus, annorum 132 (corr. 122), beatissimo fine obiit. Annorum 16 venditur, 6 annis in servitute, 40 in Romanis partibus, 70 (corr. 60) annis in Hibernia prædicavit. (Mariani Chron. a. 513, edit. Pertz, p. 536.)

From the above it will appear that if St. Patric's residence in Ireland be extended to about 60 years from his mission in A.D. 432, his death should be placed in A.D. 491, according to the statement of Marianus; but if his age be there correctly given, 122 years will carry the year of his death onward to A.D. 497, four years beyond the date given in the annals of Tigernach, i. e. A.D. 493, and the period of his Irish prelacy would thus reach to nearly 65 years. On the other hand, if his death be properly assigned to A.D. 457, according to the Ulster and Cambrian annals, his age would not exceed 82 years, and the period of his preaching among the Irish must be limited to rather less than 25 years: thus—

St. Patric born		A.D. 375.
About ætat. 16 is sold to slavery	say 15¼ years	A.D. 390
About 6 years in servitude	say 5¼	A.D. 395.
About ætat. 30 goes into Italy	say 7¼	A.D. 403.
Studies there about 30 years, and then is sent by Pope Celestine to convert the Irish, being in his 58th year	say 29½	A.D. 432.
Resides nearly 25 years in Ireland, and there dies	say 24½
	Ætat. 81¾	A.D. 457.

A.D. 458.

St. Dewi is born, 830 B.

Theodoret about this time writes his Ecclesiastical History from the end of Eusebius' work to his own times, i.e. to the reign of Leo, during which he dies, 95 A B.

A.D. 462.

Loigere King of Ireland dies, 72 A, n [a].

A.D. 465.

Hengst and his son Aesc overcome the Britons near Wippedesfleote (Ebbsfleet?), 68, n [g], 299, 503 B, 523 B, 709 D, [A.D. 461, 299 [39].] Wipped, a Saxon thane, is slain, 299, 503 B, 523 B, 709 D E.

A.D. 468.

Benignus Bishop of Armach dies, 830 B, n [g].

Euric King of the Visigoths endeavours to obtain possession of Gaul, lxxxiii 2. The Emperor Anthemius asks aid from the Britons on the Loire against him, lxxxiii 2; their King Rhiothimus, with 12,000 men, arrives in Bourges, lxxxiii 2.

Arvandus, præfect of the Gauls, is accused of sending letters to Euric, dissuading him from peace with the Emperor Anthemius, and encouraging him against the Britons (on the Loire), c 2, ci 1.

A.D. 469.

Euric heads a numerous army against Rhiothimus, and subdues him, lxxxiii 2. Rhiothimus, having lost a great part of his army, flies to the Burgundians, lxxxiii 2.

A.D. 473.

Hengst and his son Aesc fight against the Britons, and put them to flight, 299, 503 A B, 523 B, 709 A D.

A.D. 474.

The Emperor Leo dies, 95 A. Zeno becomes Emperor, 95 B.

A.D. 476.

Odoacer King of the Goths having obtained possession of Rome, the Empire in the West is lost, 95 B.

A.D. 477.

Aelle comes to Britain with his sons Cymen, Wlencing, and Cissa, they land at Cymenes-ora, with three ships, and put the Britons to flight at Andreds-lea, 300, n [k], 503 B C, 523 C, 710 A B.

A.D. 481.

Theodoric son of Triarius dies, and Theodoric surnamed Valamer obtains the kingdom of the Goths, and ravages Macedonia and Thessaly, 95 B.

A.D. 482.

St. Benedict the abbot flourishes about this time, 95 E, 300.

A.D. 484.

Huneric King of the Vandals persecutes the Catholic Bishops, 95 B.

A.D. 485.

Aelle overcomes the Britons at Mearcrædsburn, 300, 503 C, 523, 710 B.

A.D. 488.

Hengst dies, having reigned thirty-four years, 51 D, 73 A, 503 C, 523 C, 710 B. Aesc succeeds his father, 300, 503 C, 523 C, 710 C. Hengst being dead, Ochta his son goes over to the Kingdom of the Cantuarii, 73 A, 154 D, 505 C.

O O

Digitized by Google

A.D. 491.

Olybrius junior, Consul, 523 D.

The Emperor Zeno dies, 95 B, 523 D. Anastasius is proclaimed Emperor, 95 C, 710 C.

Aelle first King of the South Saxons presides over all the provinces south of the Humber, 154 A, 343, 510 D, 548 E, 713 C, 792; with his son Cissa he besieges Andreds-cester, and slays all the Britons there, 300 n., 503 C, 523 D, 723 D, 710 C D.

A.D. 495.

Cerdic, with Cynric his son, come to Britain in five ships, and put the Britons to flight at Cerdics-ora, 300, 503 C D, 524 A, n [a], 710 E, 711 A E, 764, 774 2.

A.D. 498.

Decius Paulinus and Johannes Scytha, Consuls, 77 n [ii].

Thrasamundus King of the Vandals closes the Catholic churches in Africa about this time, and drives 220 bishops as exiles into Sardinia, 95 C.

Digitized by Google

It would be unjust to close these prefatory pages without acknowledging the great services which the Editor has received from the Rev. John Sharpe, Rector of Castle Eaton, the Rev. John S. Brewer of King's College, London, and the Rev. Joseph Stevenson of Durham, and William Hardy, Esq., of the Duchy of Lancaster, to each of whom he has to record his grateful thanks for the valuable and ready assistance which they have rendered throughout the Work.

To Sir Henry Ellis, K.H., Principal of the British Museum, Sir F. Madden, K.H., Keeper of the Manuscripts, and John Holmes, Esq., his particular thanks are also due.

To Edward Hawkins, Esq., Samuel Birch, Esq., and Charles Newton, Esq., he has to return his best thanks; but he has more particularly to acknowledge his obligations to Mr. Newton for his valuable additions to the Roman Inscriptions, and for revising the sheets of that portion of the Work.

His thanks are also due to Dr. Bandinell of the Bodleian Library, and to Professor Ramsey and the other gentlemen of the Hunter Museum at Glasgow, for their permission to take casts of all the British and Roman British Coins in their collection.

To J. Y. Akerman, Esq., John Brumell, Esq., James Cove Jones, Esq., Charles Roach Smith, Esq., the Rev. T. F. Dymock, and many others, he has to return his thanks for their kindness in lending coins from their valuable cabinets to be engraved in this Work.

It is impossible to omit offering a grateful acknowledgment to Her Majesty's Printers for the zealous care, skill, and assiduity which they have shown during the progress of this Work. Mr. Petrie felt deeply his obligation to them, and intended to acknowledge it publicly.

T. DUFFUS HARDY.

Record Office, Tower,
6th July 1848.

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

EX

SCRIPTORIBUS GRÆCIS ATQUE LATINIS

EXCERPTA

DE BRITANNIA.[a]

GEOGRAPHICA.

EX HERODOTO.[b]

Περὶ δὲ τῶν ἐν τῇ Εὐρώπῃ τῶν πρὸς ἑσπέρην ἐσχατιέων ἔχω μὲν οὐκ ἀτρεκέως λέγειν· . . . οὔτε νήσους οἶδα Κασσιτερίδας ἐούσας, ἐκ τῶν ὁ κασσίτερος ἡμῖν φοιτᾶ.

EX ARISTOTELE.[c]

Ὧν ἔξω [τῶν Στηλῶν] περιῤῥέει τὴν γῆν ὁ Ὠκεανός, ἐν τούτῳ γε μὴν, νῆσοι μέγισταί τε τυγχάνουσιν οὖσαι δύο, Βρετανικαὶ λεγόμεναι, Ἄλβιον καὶ Ἰέρνη, τῶν προϊστορημένων μείζους, ὑπὲρ τοὺς Κελτοὺς κείμεναι· τούτων δὲ οὐκ ἐλάττους, ἥ τε Ταπροβάνη, πέραν Ἰνδῶν, λοξὴ πρὸς τὴν οἰκουμένην, καὶ ἡ Φεβὸλ καλουμένη κατὰ τὸν Ἀῤῥαβικὸν κειμένη κόλπον· οὐκ ὀλίγαι δὲ μικραὶ περὶ τὰς Βρετανικὰς καὶ τὴν Ἰβηρίαν, κύκλῳ περιεστεφάνωνται τὴν οἰκουμένην ταύτην, ἣν δὴ νῆσον εἰρήκαμεν.

EX POLYBIO.[d]

Ἴσως γὰρ δή τινες ἐπιζητήσουσι, πῶς, πεποιημένοι τὸν πλεῖσλον λόγον ὑπὲρ τῶν κατὰ Λιβύην καὶ καθ' Ἰβηρίαν τόπων, οὔτε περὶ τοῦ καθ' Ἡρακλείους σήλας σλόμαλος οὐδὲν ἐπὶ πλεῖον εἰρήκαμεν, οὔτε περὶ τῆς ἔξω θαλάττης, καὶ τῶν ἐν ταύτῃ συμβαινόντων ἰδιωμάτων· οὐδὲ μὴν περὶ τῶν Βρεττανικῶν νήσων, καὶ τῆς τοῦ κατλιτέρου κατασκευῆς, ἔτι δὲ τῶν ἀργυρείων καὶ χρυσείων τῶν κατὰ τὴν Ἰβηρίαν, ὑπὲρ ὧν οἱ συγγραφεῖς, ἀμφισβητοῦντες πρὸς ἀλλήλους, τὸν πλεῖσλον διατίθενται λόγον.

EX DIODORO SICULO.[e]

Ἐν δὲ ταῖς ἑξῆς εἴκοσι καὶ τρισὶ βίβλοις τὰς λοιπὰς ἁπάσας κατετάξαμεν, μέχρι τῆς ἀρχῆς τοῦ συσλάνλος πολέμου Ῥωμαίοις πρὸς Κελτούς, καθ' ὃν ἡγούμενος Γάϊος Ἰούλιος Καῖσαρ, ὁ διὰ τὰς

HERODOTUS.[b]

Of the extremities of Europe towards the west I cannot speak with certainty, . . . nor am I acquainted with the islands Cassiterides, from which tin is brought to us.

ARISTOTLE.[c]

Without which, [the Pillars of Hercules,] the ocean flows round the earth; in this ocean, however, are two islands, and those very large, called Bretannic, Albion and Ierne, which are larger than those before mentioned and lie beyond the Celti; and other two not less than these, Taprobane, beyond the Indians, lying obliquely in respect of the main land, and that called Phebol, situate over against the Arabic Gulf; moreover not a few small islands, around the Bretannic Isles and Iberia, encircle as with a diadem this earth, which we have already said to be an island.

POLYBIUS.[d]

Perhaps indeed some will enquire why, having made so long a discourse concerning places in Libya and Iberia, we have not spoken more fully of the outlet at the Pillars of Hercules, nor of the exterior sea, and of the peculiarities which occur therein, nor yet indeed of the Bretannic Isles, and the working of tin; nor again, of the gold and silver mines of Iberia; concerning which writers, controverting each other, have discoursed very largely.

DIODORUS SICULUS.[e]

In the next twenty-three books we have arranged all the remaining events until the beginning of the war waged by the Romans against the Celti; in which Caius Julius Cæsar, who for his exploits has been addressed as a god, having the command, subdued the greatest and most warlike nations of the [a] Excerpta nostra, ordine quo scripta fuisse censentur observato, Geographica, Historica, et Miscellanea, sub titulis suis quæque exhibenda duximus. Hanc autem distributionem non omnino servatam esse fatendum erit, quia Geographica inter Historica et vice versa Historica inter Geographica aut Miscellanea hinc inde inveniantur: sed, cum collectanea ex opere quovis discerpere minime visum sit, id æquo animo toleraturos lectores æstimavimus; quoniam tali ex dispositione, si non omnia, partem certe longe maximam eorum quæ ad caput quodvis spectarent in unum congerere licuerit.

Quod ad locorum nomina situsque attinet, cum persæpe apud Ptolemæum cæterosque prorsus sint incerta; Camdeni, Horsleii, aliorumque qui in sterili hoc agro desudavere conjecturas, in indice Geographico exhibere satis habuimus.

[b] Herodoti Historiarum libro III°. § 115. Ed. Schweighaeus. Argentorati, 1796.
Floruit Herodotus anno ante Christum natum 445.

[c] Aristotelis de Mundo capite III°. Ed. Kappii, Altenb. 1792.
Floruit Aristoteles An. A.C. 345.

[d] Polybii Historiarum lib. III. c. 57. Ed. Schweighaeus. Lipsiæ, 1789.
Claruit Polybius An. A.C. 160.

[e] Diodori Siculi Bibliothecæ Historicæ lib. I. c. 4. Ed. Dindorfii, Lipsiæ, 1828.
Floruit Diodorus Siculus An. A.C. 44.

Digitized by Google

πράξεις προσαγορευθεὶς θεὸς, κατεπολέμησε μὲν τὰ πλεῖστα καὶ μαχιμώτατα τῶν Κελτῶν ἔθνη, προεβίβασε δὲ τὴν ἡγεμονίαν τῆς Ῥώμης μέχρι τῶν Βρετανικῶν νήσων.

[a]Τοῦτο γὰρ τὸ μέρος [ὁ Ἀράβιος κόλπος] τῆς οἰκουμένης καὶ τὸ περὶ τὰς Βρετανικὰς νήσους καὶ τὴν ἄρκτον ἥκιστα πέπλωκεν ὑπὸ τὴν κοινὴν ἀνθρώπων ἐπίγνωσιν. ἀλλὰ περὶ μὲν τῶν πρὸς ἄρκτον κεκλιμένων μερῶν τῆς οἰκουμένης τῶν συναπτόντων τῇ διὰ ψύχος ἀνοικήτῳ διέξιμεν ὅταν τὰς Γαΐου Καίσαρος ἀναγράφωμεν πράξεις. οὗτος γὰρ τὴν Ῥωμαίων ἡγεμονίαν εἰς ἐκεῖνα τὰ μέρη πορρωτάτω προβιβάσας πάντα τὸν πρότερον ἀγνοούμενον τόπον ἐποίησε πεσεῖν εἰς σύνταξιν ἱστορίας.

[b]Ἐπεὶ δὲ περὶ τοῦ καλὰ τὴν Λιβύην ὠκεανοῦ καὶ τῶν ἐν αὐτῷ νήσων διήλθομεν, μεταβιβάσομεν τὸν λόγον ἐπὶ τὴν Εὐρώπην· κατὰ γὰρ τὴν Γαλατίαν τὴν παρωκεανῖτιν καταντικρὺ τῶν Ἑρκυνίων ὀνομαζομένων δρυμῶν, οὓς μεγίστους ὑπάρχειν παρειλήφαμεν τῶν κατὰ τὴν Εὐρώπην, νῆσοι πολλαὶ κατὰ τὸν ὠκεανὸν ὑπάρχουσιν, ὧν ἐστι [1]μεγίστη [2]ἡ Βρετανικὴ καλουμένη. αὕτη δὲ τὸ μὲν παλαιὸν ἀνεπίμικτος ἐγενέτο ξενικαῖς δυνάμεσιν· οὔτε γὰρ Διόνυσον οὔθ' Ἡρακλέα παρειλήφαμεν οὔτε τῶν ἄλλων ἡρώων ἢ δυνασλῶν ἐστρατευμένον ἐπ' αὐτὴν· καθ' ἡμᾶς δὲ Γάϊος Καῖσαρ ὁ διὰ τὰς πράξεις ἐπονομασθεὶς θεὸς πρῶτος τῶν μνημονευομένων ἐχειρώσατο τὴν νῆσον, καὶ τοὺς Βρετανοὺς καταπολεμήσας, ἠνάγκασε τελεῖν ὡρισμένους φόρους. ἀλλὰ περὶ μὲν τούτων τὰς κατὰ μέρος πράξεις ἐν τοῖς οἰκείοις χρόνοις ἀναγράψομεν, περὶ δὲ τῆς νήσου καὶ τοῦ φυομένου καΐ' αὐτὴν [3]καττιτέρου νῦν διέξιμεν. αὕτη γὰρ τῷ σχημάλι τρίγωνος οὖσα παραπλησίως τῇ Σικελίᾳ τὰς πλευρὰς οὐκ ἰσοκώλους ἔχει. παρεκτεινούσης δὲ αὐτῆς παρὰ τὴν Εὐρώπην λοξῆς, τὸ μὲν ἐλάχιστον ἀπὸ τῆς ἠπείρου διεστηκὸς ἀκρωτήριον, ὃ καλοῦσι Κάνλιον, ὃ φασὶν ἀπέχειν ἀπὸ τῆς γῆς σλαδίους ὡς ἑκαλὸν, καθ' ὃν τόπον ἡ θάλασσα ποιεῖται τὸν ἔκρουν· τὸ δ' ἕτερον ἀκρωτήριον τὸ καλούμενον Βελέριον ἀπέχειν λέγεται τῆς ἠπείρου πλοῦν ἡμερῶν τεσσάρων, τὸ δ' ὑπολειπόμενον ἀνήκειν μὲν ἰσλοροῦσιν εἰς τὸ πέλαγος, ὀνομάζεσθαι δὲ Ὄρκαν. τῶν δὲ πλευρῶν τὴν μὲν ἐλαχίστην εἶναι σλαδίων ἑπτακισχιλίων πεντακοσίων, παρήκουσαν παρὰ τὴν Εὐρώπην, τὴν δὲ δευτέραν τὴν ἀπὸ τοῦ πορθμοῦ πρὸς τὴν κορυφὴν ἀνήκουσαν σλαδίων μυρίων πεντακισχιλίων, τὴν δὲ λοιπὴν σλαδίων δισμυρίων, ὥσλε τὴν πᾶσαν εἶναι τῆς νήσου περιφορὰν σλαδίων τετρακισμυρίων δισχιλίων πενλακοσίων. καὶοικεῖν δέ φασι τὴν Βρετλανικὴν αὐτόχθονα γένη καὶ τὸν παλαιὸν βίον ταῖς ἀγωγαῖς διατηροῦντα. ἅρμασι μὲν γὰρ κατὰ τοὺς πολέμους χρῶνλαι, καθάπερ οἱ παλαιοὶ τῶν Ἑλλήνων ἥρωες ἐν τῷ Τρωϊκῷ πολέμῳ κεχρῆσθαι παραδέδονλαι, καὶ τὰς οἰκήσεις εὐτελεῖς ἔχουσιν, ἐκ τῶν καλάμων ἢ ξύλων κατὰ τὸ πλεῖσλον συγκειμένας· τήν τε συναγωγὴν τῶν σιλικῶν καρπῶν ποιοῦνλαι τοὺς σλάχυς αὐτοὺς ἀποτέμνοντες καὶ θησαυρίζοντες εἰς τὰς καταγείους οἰκήσεις· ἐκ δὲ τούτων τοὺς παλαιοὺς σλάχυς καθ' ἡμέραν τίλλειν, καὶ κατεργαζομένους ἔχειν τὴν τροφήν. τοῖς δὲ ἤθεσιν ἁπλοῦς εἶναι καὶ πολὺ κεχωρισμένους τῆς τῶν νῦν ἀνθρώπων ἀγχινοίας καὶ πονηρίας. τάς τε διαίτας εὐτελεῖς ἔχειν καὶ τῆς ἐκ τοῦ πλούτου γεννωμένης τρυφῆς πολὺ διαλλάτλοντας. εἶναι δὲ καὶ πολυάνθρωπον τὴν νῆσον, καὶ τὴν τοῦ ἀέρος ἔχειν διάθεσιν πανίελῶς καίεψυγμένην, ὡς ἂν ὑπ' αὐτὴν τὴν ἄρκλην κειμένην. βασιλεῖς τε καὶ δυνάσλας πολλοὺς ἔχειν, καὶ πρὸς ἀλλήλους κατὰ τὸ πλεῖσλον εἰρηνικῶς διακεῖσθαι.

Ἀλλὰ περὶ μὲν τῶν κατ' αὐτὴν νομίμων καὶ τῶν ἄλλων ἰδιωμάλων τὰ καλὰ μέρος ἀναγράψομεν ὅταν ἐπὶ τὴν Καίσαρος γενομένην σλρατείαν εἰς Βρετλανίαν παραγενηθῶμεν, νῦν δὲ περὶ τοῦ κατ' αὐτὴν φυομένοῦ καττιλέρου διέξιμεν. τῆς γὰρ Βρετλανικῆς κατὰ τὸ ἀκρωτήριον τὸ καλούμενον Βελέριον οἱ κατοικοῦνλες φιλόξενοί τε διαφερόνλως εἰσὶ καὶ διὰ τὴν τῶν ξένων ἐμπόρων ἐπιμιξίαν ἐξημερωμένοι τὰς ἀγωγάς. οὗτοι τὸν καττίλερον κατασκευάζουσι φιλολέχνως ἐργαζόμενοι τὴν φέρουσαν αὐτὸν γῆν. αὕτη δὲ πετρώδης οὖσα, διαφυὰς ἔχει γεώδεις, ἐν αἷς τὸν πόρον κατεργαζόμενοι καὶ τήξανλες καθαίρουσιν. ἀποτυποῦνλες δ' εἰς ἀσλραγάλων ῥυθμοὺς κομίζουσιν εἴς τινα νῆσον προκειμένην μὲν τῆς Βρετλανικῆς, ὀνομαζομένην δὲ Ἰκλιν· κατὰ γὰρ τὰς ἀμπώτεις ἀναξηραινομένου τοῦ μεταξὺ τόπου, ταῖς ἁμάξαις εἰς ταύτην κομίζουσι δαψιλῆ τὸν καττίτερον. ἴδιον δὲ τι συμβαίνει περὶ τὰς πλησίον νήσους τὰς μεταξὺ κειμένας τῆς τε Εὐρώπης καὶ τῆς Βρεττανικῆς. κατὰ μὲν γὰρ τὰς πλημμυρίδας τοῦ μεταξὺ πόρου πληρουμένου νῆσοι φαίνονλαι, κατὰ δὲ τὰς ἀμπώτεις ἀποῤῥεούσης τῆς θαλάττης, καὶ πολὺν τόπον ἀναξηραι-

---

Celti, and advanced the dominion of Rome even to the Bretannic isles.

[a] For this part [about the Arabian Gulf] of the habitable earth, and that about the Bretannic isles and the north, have least fallen under the general cognizance of mankind; but concerning those tracts of the habitable earth verging towards the north, and adjoining that part which is uninhabited on account of the cold, we shall treat when we describe the exploits of Caius Cæsar; for he, advancing the empire of the Romans to the utmost in those regions, caused every place therein, till then unknown, to fall within the range of history.

[b] Since then we have treated of the ocean which washes Libya, and the islands therein, we will transfer our discourse to Europe. Opposite that part of Gaul which borders on the ocean, over against the forests named Hercynian, handed down to us as the largest in Europe, are many islands in the ocean, of which that called Britain is the greatest. This, of old, was never assailed by foreign force; for we have no tradition that Bacchus or Hercules, or any other of the heroes or mighty men, warred against it: but in our times Caius Cæsar, who for his exploits has been entitled a god, first of any on record, subjugated the island, and, having vanquished the Britons, compelled them to pay certain specified tributes. But the particular circumstances of these events we shall detail at their proper seasons; at present we will treat of the island and of the tin produced therein. This island being in form triangular, like Sicily, has its sides of unequal length; and itself stretching out by the side of Europe obliquely, its promontory nearest to the continent, which they call Cantium, is distant, they say, about an hundred stadia from the land, at which place the sea disembogues itself; the second promontory, which is called Belerium, is said to be distant from the continent four days' sail; that which remains runs up, as they relate, into the ocean, and is named Horca: moreover, of its sides, that the least, running along parallel to Europe, extends seven thousand five hundred stadia; the second side, running up from the strait to the vertex, extends fifteen thousand stadia; the third extends twenty thousand stadia: so that the whole circumference of the island contains forty-two thousand five hundred stadia. Further they say that its aboriginal tribes inhabit Britain, in their usages still preserving the primitive modes of life; for in their wars they use chariots, as the ancient Greek heroes are reported to have done in the Trojan war, and they have mean habitations, constructed for the most part of reeds or of wood, and they gather in their harvest by cutting off the ears of corn and storing them in subterraneous repositories: that they cull therefrom daily such as are old, and, dressing them, have thence their sustenance: that they are simple in their manners, and far removed from the cunning and wickedness of men of the present day: that their modes of living are frugal, and greatly differing from the luxury consequent on riches: that the island is thickly inhabited, and the temperature of the air exceedingly cold, inasmuch as it lies directly beneath the north: and that they have many kings and princes, and for the most part live peaceably together.

But concerning its institutions and other peculiarities we shall write in detail when we arrive at Cæsar's expedition into Britain: at present we shall speak of the tin which is there produced. They who dwell near that promontory of Britain which is called Belerium are singularly fond of strangers, and, from their intercourse with foreign merchants, civilized in their habits. These people obtain the tin by skilfully working the soil which produces it; this being rocky, has earthy interstices, in which, working the ore, and then fusing, they reduce it to metal; and when they have formed it into cubical shapes, they convey it to a certain island, lying off Britain, named Ictis: for at the low tides the intervening space being laid dry, they carry thither, in waggons, the tin in great abundance. A singular circumstance happens with respect to the neighbouring islands lying between Europe and Britain; for at the high tides,

[1] μία καὶ add. al. [2] deest al. [3] κασσιτέρου al.

[a] Lib. III. c. 38. [b] Lib. V. cc. 21, 22.

Digitized by Google

νούσης θεωροῦνται χερρόνησοι. ἐντεῦθεν δ' οἱ ἔμποροι παρὰ τῶν ἐγχωρίων ἀνοῦνται καὶ διακομίζουσιν εἰς τὴν Γαλατίαν· τὸ δὲ τελευταῖον πεζῇ διὰ τῆς Γαλατίας πορευθέντες ἡμέρας ὡς τριάκοντα κατάγουσιν ἐπὶ τῶν ἵππων τὰ φορτία πρὸς τὴν ἐκβολὴν τοῦ Ῥοδανοῦ ποταμοῦ. περὶ μὲν οὖν τοῦ καττιτέρου τοῖς ῥηθεῖσιν ἀρκεσθησόμεθα.

[a] Ἀγριωτάτων δὲ ὄντων [τῶν Γαλατῶν] τῶν ὑπὸ τὰς ἄρκτους κατοικούντων καὶ τῶν τῇ Σκυθίᾳ πλησιοχώρων, φασὶ τινὰς ἀνθρώπους ἐσθίειν, ὥσπερ καὶ τῶν Βρεττανῶν τοὺς κατοικοῦντας τὴν ὀνομαζομένην Ἰρίν.

[b] Ὑπεράνω γὰρ τῆς τῶν Λυσιτανῶν χώρας ἐστὶ μέταλλα πολλὰ τοῦ καττιτέρου κατὰ τὰς προκειμένας τῆς Ἰβηρίας ἐν τῷ ὠκεανῷ νησίδας τὰς ἀπὸ τοῦ συμβεβηκότος Καττιτερίδας ὠνομασμένας. πολὺς δὲ καὶ ἐκ τῆς Βρεττανικῆς νήσου διακομίζεται πρὸς τὴν καταντικρὺ κειμένην Γαλατίαν, καὶ διὰ τῆς μεσογείου Κελτικῆς ἐφ' ἵππων ὑπὸ τῶν ἐμπόρων ἄγεται παρά τε τοὺς Μασσαλιώτας καὶ εἰς τὴν ὀνομαζομένην πόλιν Ναρβῶνα.

EX STRABONE.[c]

Ἐξῆς δὲ τὸ πλάτος τῆς οἰκουμένης ἀφορίζων, φησὶν [ὁ Ἐρατοσθένης], ἀπὸ μὲν Μερόης [1]ἀπὸ τοῦ δι' αὐτῆς μεσημβρινοῦ μέχρι Ἀλεξανδρείας, εἶναι μυρίους· ἔνθεν δὲ εἰς τὸν Ἑλλήσποντον, περὶ ὀκτακισχιλίους ἑκατὸν σταδίους· εἶτ' εἰς Βορυσθένη πεντακισχιλίους· εἶτ' ἐπὶ τὸν κύκλον τὸν διὰ Θούλης, ἣν φησι Πυθέας ἀπὸ μὲν τῆς Βρεττανικῆς ἓξ ἡμερῶν πλοῦν ἀπέχειν πρὸς ἄρκτον, ἐγγὺς δ' εἶναι τῆς πεπηγυίας θαλάττης, ἄλλους ὡς μυρίους χιλίους πενταικοσίους. Ἐὰν οὖν ἔτι προσθῶμεν ὑπὲρ τὴν Μερόην, ἄλλους τρισχιλίους τετρακοσίους, ἵνα καὶ τὴν τῶν Αἰγυπτίων [2]νῆσον ἔχωμεν, καὶ τὴν κινναμωφόρον, καὶ τὴν Ταπροβάνην, ἔσεσθαι σταδίους τρισμυρίους ὀκτακισχιλίους. Τὰ μὲν οὖν ἄλλα διαστήματα δεδόσθω αὐτῷ· ὡμολόγηται γὰρ ἱκανῶς· τὸ δ' ἀπὸ τοῦ Βορυσθένους ἐπὶ τὸν διὰ Θούλης κύκλον, τίς ἂν δοίη νοῦν ἔχων; Ὅ τε γὰρ ἱστορῶν τὴν Θούλην Πύθεας ἀνὴρ ψευδέστατος [3]ἐξήτασται· καὶ οἱ τὴν Βρετανικὴν Ἰέρνην ἰδόντες, οὐδὲν περὶ τῆς Θούλης λέγουσιν, ἄλλας νήσους λέγοντες μικρὰς περὶ τὴν Βρετανικήν. Αὕτη τε καὶ ἡ Βρετανικὴ, τὸ μῆκος ἴση πώς ἐστι τῇ Κελτικῇ παρεκτεταμένη, τῶν πενταικισχιλίων οὐ μείζων σταδίων, καὶ τοῖς ἄκροις τοῖς ἀντικειμένοις ἀφοριζομένη. Ἀντίκεινται γὰρ ἀλλήλοις, τά τε ἑῶα ἄκρα τοῖς ἑωοῖς, καὶ τὰ ἑσπέρια τοῖς ἑσπεριοῖς· καὶ τά γε ἑῶα ἐγγὺς ἀλλήλων ἐστὶ μέχρις ἐπόψεως, τό, τε Κάντιον, καὶ αἱ τοῦ Ῥήνου ἐκβολαί. Ὁ δὲ πλειόνων ἢ δισμυρίων ἀποφαίνει τὸ μῆκος τῆς νήσου, καὶ τὸ Κάντιον ἡμερῶν τινων πλοῦν ἀπέχειν τῆς Κελτικῆς φησι. Καὶ τὰ περὶ τοὺς Ὠστιαίους δὲ, καὶ τὰ πέραν τοῦ Ῥήνου τὰ μέχρι Σκυθῶν, πάντα κατέψευσται τῶν τόπων. Ὅστις οὖν περὶ τῶν γνωριζομένων τόπων τοσαῦτα ἔψευσται, σχολῇ γ' ἂν περὶ τῶν ἀγνοουμένων παρὰ πᾶσιν ἀληθεύειν δύναιτο. Τὸν δὲ διὰ τοῦ Βορυσθένους παράλληλον τὸν αὐτὸν εἶναι τῷ διὰ τῆς Βρετανικῆς, εἰκάζουσιν Ἵππαρχός τε καὶ ἄλλοι, ἐκ τοῦ τὸν αὐτὸν εἶναι, καὶ τὸν διὰ Βυζαντίου, τῷ διὰ Μασσαλίας· ὃν γὰρ λόγον εἰρηκε τοῦ ἐν Μασσαλίᾳ γνώμονος πρὸς τὴν σκιὰν, τὸν αὐτὸν καὶ Ἵππαρχος καλὰ τὸν ὁμώνυμον καιρὸν εὑρεῖν ἐν τῷ Βυζαντίῳ φησίν· ἐκ Μασσαλίας δὲ εἰς μέσην τὴν Βρετανικὴν, οὐ πλέον ἐστὶ τῶν πενταικισχιλίων σταδίων· ἀλλὰ μὴν ἐκ μέσης τῆς Βρετανικῆς οὐ πλέον τῶν τετρακισχιλίων προελθὼν, εὕροι ἂν οἰκήσιμον ἄλλως πως· τοῦτο δ' ἂν εἴη τὸ περὶ τὴν Ἰέρνην· ὥστε τὰ ἐπέκεινα εἰς ἃ ἐκλοπίζει τὴν Θούλην, οὐκέτ' οἰκήσιμα. Τίνι δ' ἂν καὶ στοχασμῷ λέγοι τὸ ἀπὸ τοῦ διὰ Θούλης ἕως τοῦ διὰ Βορυσθένους μυρίων καὶ χιλίων πενταικοσίων, οὐχ ὁρῶ. Διαμαρτὼν δὲ τοῦ πλάτους, ἠνάγκασται καὶ τοῦ μήκους ἀστοχεῖν· ὅτι μὲν γὰρ πλέον ἢ διπλάσιον τὸ γνώριμον μῆκος ἐστὶ τοῦ γνωρίμου πλάτους, ὁμολογοῦσι καὶ οἱ ὕστερον καὶ τῶν ἄλλων οἱ χαριέστατοι· λέγω δὲ ἀπὸ τῶν the intervening passage being flooded, they seem islands; but at the low tides, the sea retreating and leaving much space dry, they appear peninsulas. From hence the merchants purchase the tin from the natives, and carry it across into Gaul; and finally journeying by land through Gaul for about thirty days, they convey their burdens on horses to the outlet of the river Rhone. Thus much, therefore, to have spoken concerning tin may suffice.

---

[a] But those [Gauls] who dwell towards the north and adjoining to Scythia, being the most savage, they report that some of them eat human flesh, as they report also of those Britons who inhabit Iris, as it is called.

[b] Above the country of the Lusitanians, there are many mines of tin in the little islands called Cassiterides from this circumstance, lying off Iberia, in the ocean. And much of it also is carried across from the Bretannic isle to the opposite coast of Gaul, and thence conveyed on horses by the merchants through the intervening Celtic land, to the people of Massalia, and to the city called Narbonne.

STRABO.[c]

And next, determining the breadth of the habitable earth, he [Eratosthenes] says, that from Meroe, on its meridian, to Alexandria is ten thousand stadia; thence to the Hellespont about eight thousand one hundred, thence to the Borysthenes five thousand, thence to the circle drawn through Thule, which Pytheas affirms to be six days' sail north from Britain and near the frozen sea, other eleven thousand five hundred stadia. If then we add yet beyond Meroe other three thousand four hundred, that we may comprehend the island of the Ægyptians, the spice-bearing region, and Taprobane, there will be thirty-eight thousand stadia. Be then the other distances granted him, as they are generally admitted; yet who in his senses can assent to the distance from the Borysthenes to the circle of Thule? For Pytheas, who describes Thule, has been proved a complete falsifier; and such as have seen the Bretannic Ierne, say nothing of Thule, though they mention other small islands around Britain. Moreover this Britain is of about the same extent with Celtica, stretched out parallel to it, being not more than five thousand stadia in length, and limited by the extremities of the opposite continent; for the extreme points of the two countries lie opposite to each other, the eastern extremity to the eastern, and the western to the western; of which the eastern, Cantium and the mouths of the Rhine, are sufficiently near to be within sight of each other: whereas he states that the length of the island is more than twenty thousand stadia, and that Cantium is some days' sail from Celtica. Again, he has given completely fallacious accounts of the places in the country of the Ostiæi, and in the region beyond the Rhine, as far as the Scythians. He, therefore, who has been thus false with respect to places known, is not likely to speak the truth with regard to such as are altogether unknown. Now Hipparchus and others conjecture that the parallel of the Borysthenes and that of Britain is the same, from the fact that the parallel of Byzantium is the same with that of Massalia; for the same ratio of the gnomon to the shadow which he [Pytheas] has mentioned as existing at Massalia, Hipparchus says he found at Byzantium at a corresponding time: and from Massalia to the centre of Britain is not more than five thousand stadia. But a person proceeding four thousand stadia from the middle of Britain, would find land barely habitable, and this would be about Ierne; consequently the still more distant situation which he assigns to Thule could be no longer habitable. By what conjecture even he could say that the distance between Thule and the Borysthenes was eleven thousand five hundred stadia, I cannot perceive. But having erred concerning the breadth of the earth, he is necessitated to err also as to its length: for that the known length is more than double the known breadth is admitted by later authors and such of the others as are most approved; I mean that the distance from the extremities of India to the extremities of Iberia, is more than double that

[1] ἐπὶ [2] νήσων [3] ἐξίσταται

[a] Lib. v. c. 32. [b] Lib. v. c. 38.

[c] Strabonis Geographiæ lib. I. Ed. Falconeri; Oxon. 1807. T. I. p. 92. Porro cum Chrestomathia Strabonis excerpta nostra contulimus, ex qua inter variantes lectiones paucula subjecimus.

Floruit Strabo An. A.C. 30.

Digitized by Google

ἄκρων τῆς Ἰνδικῆς ἐπὶ τὰ ἄκρα τῆς Ἰβηρίας, τοῦ Αἰθιόπων ἕως τοῦ καλὰ Ἰέρνην κύκλου. Ὁρίσας δὲ τὸ λεχθὲν πλάτος, τὸ ἀπὸ τῶν ἐσχάτων Αἰθιόπων μέχρι τοῦ διὰ Θούλης, ἐκλείνει πλέον ἤδη τὸ μῆκος, ἵνα ποιήσῃ πλέον ἢ διπλάσιον τοῦ λεχθέντος πλάτους.

[a] Ὁ δὲ γε ἀπὸ τῆς Κελτικῆς πρὸς ἄρκτον πλοῦς ἔσχατος λέγεται παρὰ τοῖς νῦν, ὁ ἐπὶ τὴν Ἰέρνην, ἐπέκεινα μὲν οὖσαν τῆς Βρεττανικῆς, ἀθλίως δὲ διὰ ψύχος οἰκουμένην· ὥστε τὰ ἐπέκεινα νομίζειν ἀοίκητα. Οὐ πλέον δὲ τῆς Κελτικῆς τὴν Ἰέρνην διέχειν φασὶ, τῶν πεντακισχιλίων.

[b] Φησὶ δὲ γε ὁ Ἵππαρχος καὶ τὸν Βορυσθένην καὶ τὴν Κελτικὴν, ἐν ὅλαις ταῖς θερειναῖς νυξὶ παραυγάζεσθαι τὸ φῶς τοῦ ἡλίου περιϊσλάμενον ἀπὸ τῆς δύσεως ἐπὶ τὴν ἀναλολήν· ταῖς δὲ χειμεριναῖς τροπαῖς πλεῖσλον μετεωρίζεσθαι τὸν ἥλιον ἐπὶ πήχεις ἐννέα· ἐν δὲ τοῖς ἀπέχουσι τῆς Μασσαλίας ἑξακισχιλιοίς καὶ τριακοσίοις (οὓς ἐκεῖνος μὲν ἔτι Κελτοὺς ὑπολαμβάνει, ἐγὼ δ' οἶμαι Βρεττανοὺς εἶναι βορειολέρους τῆς Κελτικῆς σλαδίοις [1]χιλίοις πενλακοσίοις) πολὺ μᾶλλον τοῦτο συμβαίνειν· ἐν δὲ ταῖς χειμεριναῖς [ἡμέραις] ὁ ἥλιος μετεωρίζεται πήχεις ἕξ· τέλαρας δ' ἔν τοῖς ἀπέχουσι Μασσαλίας ἐννακισχιλίους σλαδίους, καὶ ἑκαλόν· ἐλάττους δὲ τῶν τριῶν ἐν τοῖς ἐπέκεινα, ὁι καὶ κατὰ τὸν ἡμέτερον λόγον πολὺ ἄν εἶεν ἀρκλικώλεροι τῆς Ἰέρνης· οὗτος δὲ [ὁ Ἵππαρχος] Πυθέᾳ πισλεύων, κατὰ τὰ νοτιώτερα τῆς Βρεττανικῆς τὴν οἴκησιν ταύλην τίθησι, καὶ φησιν εἶναι τὴν μακροτάτην ἐνταῦθα ἡμέραν ὡρῶν ἰσημερινῶν δέκα ἐννέα, ὀκτωκαίδεκα δὲ ὅπου τέλαρας ὁ ἥλιος μετεωρίζεται πήχεις· οὓς φησιν ἀπέχειν τῆς Μασσαλίας εννακισχιλίους καὶ ἑκατὸν σλαδίους, ὥσθ' οἱ νοτιώλαλοι τῶν Βρεττανῶν βορειότεροι τούτων εἰσίν.

[c] Καὶ νῦν δ' εἰρήσθω ὅτι, καὶ Τιμοσθένης καὶ Ἐρατοσθένης, καὶ οἱ ἔτι τούτων πρότεροι τελέως ἠγνόουν τά τε Ἰβηρικὰ καὶ τὰ Κελτικά· μυρίῳ δὲ μᾶλλον τὰ Γερμανικὰ καὶ τὰ Βρεττανικά.

[d] Πολύβιος δὲ τὴν Εὐρώπην χωρογραφῶν, τοὺς μὲν ἀρχαίους ἐᾷν φησὶ, τοὺς δ' ἐκείνους ἐλέγχονλας ἐξετάζειν, Δικαίαρχόν τε καὶ Ἐρατοσθένη τὸν τελευταῖον πραγματευσάμενον περὶ τῆς γεωγραφίας, καὶ Πυθέαν, ὑφ' οὗ παρακρουσθῆναι πολλούς· ὅλην μέντοι Βρεττανικὴν [2]ἐμβαλὸν ἢ ἐπελθεῖν φάσκονλος, τὴν δὲ περίμετρον πλειόνων τετλάρων μυριάδων ἀποδόντος τῆς νήσου· προσισλορήσανλος δὲ καὶ τὰ περὶ τῆς Θούλης καὶ τῶν τόπων ἐκείνων, ἐν οἷς οὔτε γῆ καθ' αὐτὸν ὑπῆρχεν ἔλι, οὔλε θάλαττα, οὐδ' ἀὴρ, ἀλλὰ σύγκριμά τι ἐκ τούτων [3]πλεύμονι θαλατλίῳ ἐοικὸς, ἐν ᾧ φησὶ τὴν γῆν καὶ τὴν θάλατταν αἰωρῆσθαι, καὶ τὰ σύμπανλα, καὶ τοῦτον ὡς ἄν δεσμὸν εἶναι τῶν ὅλων, μή ποτε πορευλὸν, μήτε πλωλὸν ὑπάρχονλα· τὸ μὲν οὖν τῷ πλεύμονι ἐοικὸς αὐλὸς ἑωρακέναι, τ' ἄλλα δὲ λέγειν ἐξ ἀκοῆς· ταῦλα μὲν τὰ τοῦ Πυθέου· καὶ διότι ἐπανελθὼν ἐνθένδε, πᾶσαν ἐπέλθοι τὴν παρωκεανῖτιν τῆς Εὐρώπης, ἀπὸ Γαδείρων ἕως Ταναΐδος. Φησὶ δ' οὖν ὁ Πολύβιος ἄπισλον καὶ αὐτὸ τοῦτο, πῶς ἰδιώτῃ ἀνθρώπῳ, καὶ πένηλι, τοσαῦλα διασλήματα πλωτὰ, καὶ πορευτὰ γένοιλο; Τὸν δ' Ἐρατοσθένη διαπορήσαντα εἰ χρὴ πισλεύειν τούτοις, ὅμως περὶ τε τῆς Βρεττανικῆς πεπισλευκέναι καὶ τῶν καλὰ Γάδειρα καὶ τὴν Ἰβηρίαν· πολὺ δὲ φησι βέλτιον τῷ Μεσσηνίῳ πιστεύειν ἢ τούτῳ.

[e] Οἰκοῦσι δ' ὑπὲρ τοῦ Βορυσθένους ὕσλαλοι τῶν γνωρίμων Σκυθῶν, Ῥωξολάνοι, νοτιώτεροι ὄντες τῶν ὑπὲρ τῆς Βρεττανικῆς ἐσχάτων γνωριζομένων· ἤδη δὲ τὰ ἐπέκεινα διὰ ψύχος ἀοίκητά ἐσλι· νοτιώτεροι δὲ τούτων καὶ ὑπὲρ τῆς Μαιώτιδος, Σαυρομάται καὶ Σκύθαι, μέχρι τῶν ἑώων Σκυθῶν. Ὁ μὲν οὖν Μασσαλιώτης Πυθέας τὰ περὶ Θούλην τὴν βορειοτάτην τῶν Βρεττανικῶν ὕσλαλα λέγει· παρ' οἷς ὁ αὐτός ἐσλι τῷ ἀρκλικῷ, ὁ θερινὸς τροπικὸς κύκλος· [4]παρὰ δὲ τῶν ἄλλων οὐδὲν ἱσλορῶν, οὔθ' ὅτι Θούλη νῆσός ἐστί τις, οὔτ' εἰ τὰ μέχρι δεῦρο οἰκήσιμά ἐστιν, ὅπου ὁ θερινὸς τροπικὸς ἀρκλικὸς γίνεται. Νομίζω δὲ πολὺ εἶναι νοτιώτερον τοῦτο τὸ τῆς οἰκουμένης πέρας τὸ προσάρκλιον· οἱ γὰρ νῦν ἱσλοροῦνλες, περαιτέρω τῆς Ἰέρνης οὐδὲν ἔχουσι λέγειν· ἢ πρὸς ἄρκλον πρόκειται τῆς Βρεττανικῆς πλησίον, from the circle of the Æthiopians to the circle of Ierne. But having defined the breadth above mentioned, namely, from the farthest Æthiopians to the circle of Thule, he extends its length still farther, in order that he may make it more than twice the stated breadth.

[a] The farthest sea voyage from Celtica towards the north, is said, among men of the present times, to be that to Ierne, which is situated beyond Britain, and is barely habitable on account of the cold; so that places beyond it may be deemed uninhabitable: but they say that Ierne is not more than five thousand stadia distant from Celtica.

[b] But Hipparchus relates, that at the Borysthenes and in Celtica, the sun, revolving from the west towards the east, shines throughout the whole summer nights; but that at the winter solstice the sun at most ascends to the height of nine cubits: and that this happens in a much greater degree among those who are distant from Massalia six thousand three hundred stadia, whom he supposes still to be Celti; but I think they are Britons, one thousand five hundred stadia further north than Celtica, where in the winter days the sun ascends six cubits; four cubits only among such as are distant from Massalia nine thousand one hundred stadia; and less than three cubits among those beyond, and who, according to our reckoning, would be far more north than Ierne: but he, [Hipparchus,] giving credit to Pytheas, assigns this position to the more southern parts of Britain, and says that the longest day there is of nineteen equinoctial hours; but eighteen only where the sun ascends four cubits: which people, he says, are distant from Massalia nine thousand one hundred stadia: so that the southernmost of the Britons are more northerly than these.

[c] And now be it observed, that both Timosthenes and Eratosthenes, and those who were still earlier, were totally unacquainted with Iberic and Celtic, and very much more so with Germanic and Bretannic affairs.

[d] Polybius, when describing Europe, says, that he passes by the ancients, but that he examines those who arraigned them, such as Dicæarchus, and Eratosthenes the latest who had laboured diligently about geography, as well as Pytheas, by whom many had been imposed upon: asserting that he had traversed Britain wherever it was accessible, and giving for the circumference of the island more than forty thousand stadia; speaking also concerning Thule and the parts thereabout, where there was neither land nor sea nor air separately, but a certain concretion of them, like sea blubber, in which, he says, that land and sea and all things are suspended, and that this is as it were the bond of all, being neither passable by travelling nor by sailing; that he himself had seen this resemblance of blubber, but that the rest he described from hearsay: these are the statements of Pytheas; and also, that returning thence, he had traversed the whole sea coast of Europe, from Gadeira to the Tanais. Wherefore Polybius says that this very circumstance is incredible, namely, how a private and necessitous person could sail and travel to such vast distances; yet that Eratosthenes, though he doubted whether he should give credit to these accounts, nevertheless believed those concerning Britain, Gadeira, and Iberia: but, observes he, it would have been much better to give credence to the Messenian [a] than to him.

[e] Last of the known Scythians beyond the Borysthenes dwell the Roxolani, lying more to the south than the remotest known parts beyond Britain; immediately above this the country is uninhabitable on account of the cold: more southward than these, and beyond the Mæotis, are the Sauromatæ and the Scythians, extending as far as the Eastern Scythians. Pytheas of Massalia, indeed, says that the remotest lands are those about Thule, the northernmost of the Bretannic Isles, where their summer tropic circle is the same with the [b] arctic: but beyond this saying nothing of the other matters, neither whether Thule be an island, nor whether the tracts be thus far habitable where the summer tropic becomes the arctic circle. But I should deem this northern boundary of the habitable earth to be much more to the south; for the writers of the present time have nothing to say of places farther than [b] According to the Greek astronomers, the arctic circle, at a given northern latitude, contained all the stars which never sunk below the horizon of the place; and as the latitude of the north of Iceland is about 66°, the arctic would there coincide with the summer tropical circle.

[1] διςχιλίοις [2] ὅσον ἰμβατὸν ἢ conj. Tyrwh. [3] πνεύμονι [4] περὶ

[a] Lib. II. p. 107. [b] P. 110. [c] P. 130. [d] P. 142. [e] P. 153.

[a] Euemerus; see his fabulous account of Panchaia in Diodorus Siculus, v. 41. and VI. 1.

Digitized by Google

ἀγρίων τελέως ἀνθρώπων, κακῶς οἰκούντων διὰ ψύχος· ὥσθ' ἐνταῦθα νομίζω τὸ πέρας εἶναι θετέον. . . . . τὸ δ' ἐκεῖθεν [ἀπὸ Μασσαλίας] ἐπὶ τὴν Βρεττανικὴν δύναιτ' ἂν συμφωνεῖν τῷ ἀπὸ Βυζαντίου ἐπὶ Βορυσθένη· τὸ δ' ἐκεῖθεν ἐπὶ τὴν Ἰέρνην, οὐκέτι γνώριμον πόσον ἂν τις θείη, οὐδ' εἰ περαιτέρω ἔτι οἰκήσιμά ἐστιν, οὐδὲν δεῖ τοῖς ἐπάνω λεχθεῖσι φροντίζειν. Πρός τε γὰρ ἐπιστήμην, ἀρκεῖ τὸ λαβεῖν καθάπερ ἐπὶ τῶν νοτίων μερῶν, ὅτι ὑπὲρ Μερόης μέχρι τρισχιλίων σταδίων προελθόντι τῆς οἰκησίμου τίθεσθαι προσῆκεν· οὐχ' ὡς ἂν τούτου ἀκριβεστάτου πέρατος ὄντος, ἀλλ' ἐγγύς γε τ' ἀκριβοῦς· οὕτω κἀκᾶ τοὺς ὑπὲρ τῆς Βρεττανικῆς οὐ πλείους τούτων θετέον, ἢ μικρῷ πλείους, οἷον τετρακισχιλίους· πρός τε τὰς ἡγεμονικὰς χρείας, οὐδὲν ἂν εἴη πλεονέκτημα τὰς τοιαύτας γνωρίζειν χώρας, καὶ τοὺς ἐνοικοῦντας· καὶ μάλιστα εἰ νήσους οἰκεῖεν τοιαύτας, αἳ μήτε λυπεῖν, μήθ' ὠφελεῖν ἡμᾶς δύναιντο μηδέν, διὰ τὸ ἀνεπίπλεκτον· καὶ γὰρ τὴν Βρεττανικὴν ἔχειν δυνάμενοι Ῥωμαῖοι καταφρόνησαν, ὁρῶντες ὅτι οὔτε φόβος ἐξ αὐτῶν οὐδὲ εἷς ἐστιν, (οὐ γὰρ ἰσχύουσι τοσοῦτον, ὥσθ' ἐπιδιαβαίνειν ἡμῖν,) οὔτ' ὠφέλεια τοσαύτη τις, εἰ καλάσχοιεν· πλέον γὰρ ἂν ἐκ τῶν τελῶν δοκεῖ προσφέρεσθαι νῦν, ἢ ὁ φόρος δύναιτ' συντελεῖν, ἀφαιρουμένης τῆς εἰς τὸ στρατιωτικὸν δαπάνης, τὸ φρουρῆσον καὶ φορολογῆσον τὴν νῆσον· πολυ δ' ἂν ἐπιγένοιτο τὸ ἄχρηστον ἐπὶ τῶν ἄλλων τῶν περὶ ταύτην νήσων.

[a]Ὁ δ' ἀξιῶν μόνους εἰδέναι τοὺς ἰδόντας, ἀναιρεῖ τὸ τῆς ἀκοῆς κριτήριον· ἧττις πρὸς ἐπιστήμην ὀφθαλμοῦ πολὺ κρεῖττον ἐστί. Μάλιστα δ' οἱ νῦν ἔχοιεν ἄμεινον ἄν τι λέγειν περὶ τῶν κατὰ Βρεττανοὺς, καὶ Γερμανοὺς, καὶ τοὺς περὶ τὸν Ἴστρον.

[b]Τούτοις δὲ [τοῖς τῆς Πυρήνης ἄκροις] τὰ ἑσπέρια τῆς Βρεττανικῆς ἀντίκειται πρὸς ἄρκτον· ὁμοίως δὲ καὶ τοῖς Ἀρτάβροις ἀντίκεινται πρὸς ἄρκτον αἱ Κασσιτερίδες καλούμεναι νῆσοι, πελάγιαι καὶ τὸ Βρεττανικόν πως κλίμα ἱδρυμέναι.

[c]Μετὰ δὲ ταύτην [τὴν Ἰβηρίαν] ἐστὶν ἡ Κελτικὴ πρὸς ἕω μέχρι ποταμοῦ Ῥήνου, τὸ μὲν βόρειον πλευρὸν τῷ Βρεττανικῷ κλυζομένη πορθμῷ παντὶ· ἀντιπαρήκει γὰρ αὐτῇ παράλληλος ἡ νῆσος αὕτη, πᾶσα πάσῃ, μῆκος ὅσον πεντακισχιλίους ἐπέχουσα· τὸ δ' ἑωθινὸν τῷ Ῥήνῳ ποταμῷ περιγραφομένη, παράλληλον ἔχοντι τὸ ῥεῦμα τῇ Πυρήνῃ· τὸ δὲ νότιον τῶν μὲν Ἄλπεσι τὸ ἀπὸ τοῦ Ῥήνου, τὸ δ' αὐτῇ τῇ καθ' ἡμᾶς θαλάττῃ· καθ' ὃ χωρίον ὁ καλούμενος Γαλατικὸς κόλπος ἀναχεῖται, καὶ ἐν αὐτῷ Μασσαλία τε καὶ Ναρβὼν ἵδρυνται πόλεις ἐπιφανέσταται. ἀντίκειται δὲ τῷ κόλπῳ τούτῳ κατ' ἀποστροφὴν ἕτερος κόλπος ὁμώνυμος αὐτῷ, καλούμενος Γαλατικὸς, βλέπων πρὸς τὰς ἄρκτους καὶ τὴν Βρεττανικήν.

[d]Πρόκεινται δὲ νῆσοι τῆς Εὐρώπης, ἃς ἔφαμεν, ἔξω μὲν στηλῶν [τοῦ Ἡρακλέους], Γάδειρά τε καὶ Κασσιτερίδες, καὶ Βρεττανικαί.

[e]Τὸν δὲ κασσίτερον οὐκ ἐπ' ἐπιπολῆς εὑρίσκεσθαι φησιν [ὁ Ποσειδώνιος], ὡς τοὺς ἱστορικοὺς θρυλλεῖν, ἀλλ' ὀρύττεσθαι· γεννᾶσθαι δ' ἔν τε τοῖς ὑπὲρ τοὺς Λυσιτανοὺς βαρβάροις, καὶ ἐν ταῖς Κασσιτερίσι νήσοις· καὶ ἐκ τῶν Βρεττανικῶν δὲ εἰς τὴν Μασσαλίαν κομίζεσθαι.

[f]Αἱ δὲ Κασσιτερίδες δέκα μέν εἰσι, κεῖνται δ' ἐγγὺς ἀλλήλων, πρὸς ἄρκτον ἀπὸ τοῦ τῶν Ἀρτάβρων λιμένος πελαγίαι· μία δ' αὐτῶν ἔρημός ἐστι· τὰς δ' ἄλλας οἰκοῦσιν ἄνθρωποι μελάγχλαινοι, ποδήρεις ἐνδεδυκότες τοὺς χιτῶνας, ἐζωσμένοι περὶ τὰ στέρνα, μετὰ ῥάβδων περιπατοῦντες, ὅμοιοι τοῖς [1]τράγοις ταῖς ὑπήναις. ζῶσι δ' ἀπὸ βοσκημάτων νομαδικῶς τὸ πλέον. μέταλλα δὲ ἔχοντες κασσιτέρου καὶ μολύβδου, κέραμον ἀντὶ τούτων καὶ τῶν δερμάτων διαλλάττονται, καὶ ἅλας, καὶ χαλκώματα, πρὸς τοὺς ἐμπόρους. Πρότερον μὲν οὖν, Φοίνικες μόνοι τὴν ἐμπορίαν ἔστελλον ταύτην ἐκ τῶν Γαδείρων, κρύπτοντες ἅπασι τὸν πλοῦν· τῶν δὲ Ῥωμαίων ἐπακολουθούντων ναυκλήρῳ τινὶ, ὅπως καὶ αὐτοὶ γνοῖεν τὰ ἐμπορεῖα, φθόνῳ ὁ ναύκληρος ἑκὼν εἰς τέναγος ἐξέβαλε τὴν ναῦν· ἐπαγαγὼν δ' εἰς τὸν αὐτὸν ὄλεθρον καὶ τοὺς ἑπομένους, αὐτὸς ἐσώθη διὰ ναυαγίου, καὶ ἀπέλαβε δημοσίαν τὴν τιμὴν ὧν ἀπέβαλε φορτίων. Οἱ Ῥωμαῖοι δὲ ὅμως πειρώμενοι πολλάκις, ἐξέμαθον τὸν πλοῦν· ἐπειδὴ δὲ καὶ Πόπλιος Κράσσος διαβὰς ἐπ' αὐτοὺς ἔγνω τὰ μέταλλα ἐκ μικροῦ βάθους ὀρυττόμενα, καὶ τοὺς ἄνδρας εἰρηναίους ἐκ περιουσίας ἤδη τὴν

Ierne, which lies in front of Britain to the north; where men, altogether in a savage state, live with difficulty on account of the cold: so that here I think the boundary must be fixed. . . . . The distance from thence [Massalia] to Britain may agree with that from Byzantium to the Borysthenes; from thence to Ierne it is not known what distance should be reckoned; and should there be habitable land still farther, it is unnecessary to be anxious about it so far as that which has been already stated is concerned. Since, for the purposes of science, it may suffice to assume, as we do concerning the southern parts, that it would behove a person proceeding three thousand stadia beyond Meröe there to limit the habitable land, not that this would be the precise boundary, but a near approximation thereto; that so also beyond Britain we must allow not more, or very little more, that is, about four thousand stadia: and as to any national benefit, it would profit nothing to know such countries and their inhabitants; more especially if they should dwell in such islands as, from want of intercourse, could neither injure nor benefit us. For the Romans, when they had the power to possess Britain, held it in contempt, seeing that not a single apprehension could arise from the Britons, as they are incapable of coming over to molest us; nor could any great benefit accrue from holding it; for more seems now to be produced from imposts than a tribute could supply, deducting the expence of the soldiery which would be required to garrison the island and to collect its tribute; and farther, much inconvenience would be occasioned by the other surrounding isles.

[a]But the man who deems that they only can know things who have seen them, takes away the mode of judging supplied by the ear, which for the purposes of science far surpasses the eye. And hence writers of the present day, especially, ought to have something better to report concerning the Britons, the Germans, and those near the Ister.

[b]The western parts of Britain lie opposite to these [the extremities of the Pyrenees] towards the north; and in like manner the islands called Cassiterides lie over against the Artabri, to the north, situated out at sea somewhere within the Brettannic region.

[c]Next to this [Iberia] is Celtica to the eastward as far as the river Rhine, washed on its northern side by the entire Bretannic strait; for this island lies opposite and parallel to it throughout, extending as much as five thousand stadia in length: its eastern side is bounded by the river Rhine, whose stream runs parallel with the Pyrenees; its southern side commencing from the Rhine, partly by the Alps, partly by our sea; at which place what is called the Galatic Bay runs in; and in this are situated the far-famed cities Massalia and Narbonne. And right opposite to this bay, on the other side of the land, lies another, called by the same name, Galatic, looking towards the north and Britain.

[d]Fronting Europe lie the islands which we have mentioned, without the Pillars [of Hercules], Gadeira and the Cassiterides, and the Bretannic Isles.

[e]And he [Posidonius] says that tin is not found upon the surface, as authors commonly relate, but that it is dug up; and that it is produced both in places among the barbarians who dwell beyond the Lusitanians, and in the islands Cassiterides; and that from the Bretannic Isles it is carried to Massalia.

[f]The Cassiterides are ten in number, and lie near each other in the ocean, towards the north from the haven of the Artabri: one of them is desert, but the others are inhabited by men in black cloaks, clad in tunics reaching to the feet, and girt about the breast; walking with staves, and bearded like goats. They subsist by their cattle, leading for the most part a wandering life. And having metals of tin and lead, these and skins they barter with the merchants for earthenware, and salt, and brazen vessels. Formerly the Phœnicians alone carried on this traffic from Gadeira, concealing the passage from every one: and when the Romans followed a certain ship-master, that they also might find the mart, the ship-master of jealousy purposely ran his vessel upon a shoal, and leading on those who followed him into the same destructive disaster, he himself escaped by means of a fragment of the ship, and received

[1] τραγικαῖς ποιναῖς

[a] P. 156. [b] P. 159. [c] P. 167. [d] P. 168. [e] Lib. III. p. 197. [f] P. 239.

Digitized by Google

θάλατταν ἐργάζεσθαι, ταύτην τοῖς ἐθέλουσιν ἐπέδειξε· καίπερ οὖσαν πλείω τῆς διειργούσης εἰς τὴν Βρεττανικήν. Καὶ περὶ μὲν τῆς Ἰβηρίας καὶ τῶν προκειμένων νήσων ταῦτα.

[a]Εἶτα [ἐκ τοῦ Ῥοδανοῦ] πεζεύεται μέχρι τοὺ Σηκοάνα τοῦ ποταμοῦ· κἀντεῦθεν ἤδη καταφέρεται εἰς τὸν Ὠκεανὸν, καὶ τοὺς Λιξοβίους καὶ [1]Οὐαδέτους· ἐκ δὲ τούτων εἰς τὴν Βρεττανικὴν, ἐλάττων ἢ ἡμερήσιος δρόμος ἐστίν.

[b]Περὶ ἧς [Κορβηλῶνος] εἴρηκε Πολύβιος, μνησθεὶς τῶν ὑπὸ Πυθέου μυθολογηθέντων· ὅτι Μασσαλιωτῶν μὲν τῶν συμμιξάντων Σκηπίωνι, οὐδεὶς εἶχε λέγειν οὐδὲν μνήμης ἄξιον, ἐρωτηθεὶς ὑπὸ τοῦ Σκηπίωνος ὑπὲρ τῆς Βρεττανικῆς, οὐδὲ τῶν ἐκ Ναρβῶνος, οὐδὲ τῶν ἐκ [2]Κορβηλῶνος, αἵπερ ἦσαν ἄριστοι πόλεις τῶν [3]ταύτῃ.

[c]Πρόκεινται δ' αὐτῶν [τοῦ Σηκουάνα καὶ τοῦ Ῥήνου] ἡ Βρεττανικὴ, τοῦ μὲν Ῥήνου καὶ ἐγγύθεν, ὥστε καθορᾶσθαι τὸ Κάντιον, ὅπερ ἐστὶ τὸ ἑῶον ἄκρον τῆς νήσου, τοῦ δὲ Σηκουάνα μικρὸν ἀπωτέρω· ἐνταῦθα δὲ καὶ τὸ ναυπήγιον συνεστήσατο Καῖσαρ ὁ θεὸς, πλέων εἰς τὴν Βρεττανικήν.

[d]Διάρμα δ' ἐστὶν εἰς τὴν Βρεττανικὴν, ἀπὸ τῶν ποταμῶν τῆς Κελτικῆς, [4]εἴκοσι καὶ τ στάδιοι· ὑπὸ γὰρ τὴν ἄμπωτιν ἀφ' ἑσπέρας ἀναχθέντες, τῇ ὑστεραίᾳ περὶ ὀγδόην ὥραν καταίρουσιν εἰς τὴν νῆσον.

[e]Μετὰ δὲ τὰ λεχθέντα ἔθνη, τὰ λοιπὰ Βελγῶν ἐστιν ἔθνη τῶν παρωκεανιτῶν, ὧν Οὐένετοι μέν εἰσιν οἱ ναυμαχήσαντες πρὸς Καίσαρα· ἕτοιμοι γὰρ ἦσαν κωλύειν τὸν εἰς τὴν Βρεττανικὴν πλοῦν, χρώμενοι τῷ ἐμπορίῳ.

[f]Ταῦτα μὲν οὖν μυθωδέστερα λέγει· Περὶ δὲ τῆς Δήμητρος καὶ τῆς Κόρης πιστότερα. ὅτι φησὶν [ὁ Ἀρτεμίδωρος] εἶναι νῆσον πρὸς τῇ Βρεττανικῇ, καθ' ἣν ὁμοια τοῖς ἐν Σαμοθράκῃ περὶ τὴν Δήμητραν καὶ τὴν Κόρην ἱεροποιεῖται.

[g]Ἡ δὲ Βρεττανικὴ, τρίγωνος μέν ἐστι τῷ σχήματι· παραβέβληται δὲ τὸ μέγιστον αὐτῆς πλευρὸν τῇ Κελτικῇ, τοῦ μήκους οὔθ' ὑπερβάλλον, οὔτ' ἐλλεῖπον· ἔστι γὰρ ὅσον τετρακισχιλίων καὶ τ ἢ υ σταδίων ἑκάτερον· τό, τε Κελτικὸν ἀπὸ τῶν ἐκβολῶν τοῦ Ῥήνου μέχρι πρὸς τὰ βόρεια τῆς Πυρήνης ἄκρα τὰ κατὰ Ἀκουϊτανίαν, καὶ τὸ ἀπὸ Καντίου τοῦ καθ' ἀνατολὰς τῶν ἐκβολῶν τοῦ Ῥήνου, ἐωθινωτάτου σημείου τῆς Βρεττανικῆς, μέχρι πρὸς τὸ ἑσπέριον ἄκρον τῆς νήσου, τὸ καὶα τὴν Ἀκουϊτανίαν καὶ τὴν Πυρήνην ἀνατεῖμενον. Τοῦτο μὲν δὴ τοὐλάχιστον διάστημα ἀπὸ τῆς Πυρήνης ἐπὶ τὸν Ῥῆνον ἐστίν· ἐπεὶ τὸ μέγιστον εἴρηται, ὅτι καὶ πενταχισχιλίων σταδίων ἐστίν· ἀλλ' εἰκὸς εἶναί τινα σύννευσιν ἐκ τῆς παραλλήλου θέσεως τῷ ποταμῷ πρὸς τὸ ὄρος, ἀμφοτέρωθεν ἐπιστροφῆς τίνος γενομένης, καὶα τὰς πρὸς τὸν Ὠκεανὸν ἐσχατιάς. Τέτταρα δ' ἐστὶ διάρματα, οἷς χρῶνται συνήθως ἐπὶ τὴν νῆσον ἐκ τῆς ἠπείρου, τὰ ἀπὸ τῶν ἐκβολῶν τῶν ποταμῶν τοῦ τε Ῥήνου, καὶ τοῦ Σηκουάνα, καὶ τοῦ Λείγηρος, καὶ τοῦ Γαρουνᾶ· τοῖς δ' ἀπὸ τῶν περὶ τὸν Ῥῆνον τόπων [5]ἀναγομένοις, οὐκ ἀπ' αὐτῶν τῶν ἐκβολῶν ὁ πλοῦς ἐστὶν, ἀλλὰ ἀπὸ τῶν ὁμορούντων τοῖς Μεναπίοις Μορινῶν· παρ' οἷς ἐστι καὶ τὸ [x]Ἴτιον, ᾧ ἐχρήσατο ναυστάθμῳ Καῖσαρ ὁ θεὸς, διαίρων εἰς νῆσον· νύκτωρ δ' ἀνήχθη, καὶ τῇ ὑστεραίᾳ καθ' ὥραν περὶ τετάρτην ὥραν, τ καὶ εἴκοσι σταδίους τοῦ διάπλου τελέσας· καὶ ἔλαβε δ' ἐν ἀρούραις τὸν σῖτον. [6]Ἔστι δ' ἡ πλείστη τῆς [7]νήσου πεδιὰς, καὶ κατάδρυμος· πολλὰ δὲ [8]γεώλοφα τῶν χωρίων ἐστί· φέρει δὲ σῖτον καὶ βοσκήματα, καὶ [9]χρυσὸν, καὶ ἄργυρον, καὶ σίδηρον· ταῦτα δὴ κομίζεται ἐξ αὐτῆς, καὶ δέρματα, καὶ [10]ἀνδράποδα, καὶ κύνες εὐφυεῖς πρὸς τὰς κυνηγεσίας. Κελτοὶ δὲ καὶ πρὸς τοὺς πολέμους χρῶνται καὶ τούτοις, καὶ τοῖς ἐπιχωρίοις. Οἱ δὲ [11]ἄνδρες [12]εὐμηκέστεροι τῶν Κελτῶν εἰσι, καὶ ἧσσον ξανθότριχες, χαυνότεροι δὲ τοῖς σώμασι· σημεῖον δὲ τοῦ μεγέθους· ἀνίππαιδας γὰρ ἡμεῖς εἴδομεν ἐν Ῥώμῃ, τῶν ὑψηλοτάτων αὐτόθι ὑπερέχοντας καὶ ἡμιποδίῳ· βλαισοὺς δὲ, καὶ τ' ἄλλα οὐκ εὐγράμμους τῇ συστάσει. Τὰ δ' ἤθη τὰ μὲν ὅμοια τοῖς Κελτοῖς, τὰ δ' ἁπλούστερα καὶ βαρβαρώτερα· ὥστ' ἐνίους γάλακτος εὐπορουμένους, μὴ τυροποιεῖν, διὰ τὴν ἀπειρίαν· ἀπείρους δ' εἶναι καὶ κηπείας, καὶ ἄλλων γεωργικῶν. Δυνασταίαι δ' εἰσὶ παρ' αὐτοῖς. Πρὸς δὲ τοὺς πολέμους, ἀπηνείαις χρῶνται τὸ πλέον, καθάπερ καὶ τῶν Κελτῶν from the state the value of the cargo he had lost. But the Romans nevertheless, making frequent efforts, discovered the passage: and as soon as Publius Crassus[a], passing over to them, perceived that the metals were dug out at a little depth, and that the men being at peace were already beginning, in consequence of their leisure, to busy themselves about the sea; he pointed out this passage to such as were willing to attempt it, although it was longer than that to Britain. Thus far concerning Iberia and the adjacent isles.

---

[a] Then [from the Rhone] the conveyance is by land to the river Seine, thence immediately down the stream to the ocean, and to the Lexovii and the [b]Vadeti, whence the passage into Britain is less than of one day.

[b]Concerning which [Corbelo] Polybius has observed, calling to mind what had been fabled by Pytheas; that none of the people of Massalia, who conversed with Scipio, could offer any thing worthy of remembrance when questioned by him about Britain, neither could those of Narbonne, nor of Corbelo, which are the chief cities in that district.

[c]Britain lies in front of them, [the Seine and the Rhine,] so near to the Rhine indeed, that Cantium, which is the eastern promontory of the island, may be seen thence; but a little farther distant from the Seine, where it was that the deified Cæsar established his station for shipbuilding when about to sail over to Britain.

[d]The passage from the rivers of Celtica to Britain is three hundred and twenty stadia; for persons setting sail at ebbing tide in the evening, arrive at the island the next day about the eighth hour.

[e]After the nations enumerated, the rest are Belgæ, bordering on the ocean; of which the Veneti are those who fought against Cæsar by sea: for they were ready to obstruct his passage into Britain, which they used as a mart.

[f]These things savour somewhat of the fabulous, but what he [Artemidorus] states with regard to Ceres and Proserpine is more worthy of credit. For he says that there is an island near Britain wherein are celebrated sacred rites, similar to such as are celebrated in Samothrace to these goddesses.

[g]Britain is triangular in form: its longest side lies parallel to Celtica, in length neither exceeding nor falling short of it; for each of them extends as much as four thousand and three hundred, or four hundred stadia; the side of Celtica extending from the mouths of the Rhine to the northern extremities of the Pyrenees towards Aquitania; and that which commences at Cantium, the easternmost point of Britain, opposite the mouths of the Rhine, extending to the western extremity of the island, lying over against Aquitania and the Pyrenees. And this is the shortest distance from the Pyrenees to the Rhine; whereas the longest is said to be as much as five thousand stadia: but it is likely that there is some convergency of the river towards the mountain from a strictly parallel position, there being an inclination of either toward the other at the extremities next the ocean. There are four passages commonly used from the continent to the island, namely, from the mouths of the rivers Rhine, Seine, Loire, and Garonne; but to such as set sail from the parts about the Rhine, the passage is not exactly from its mouths, but from the Morini who border on the Menapians: among whom also is situated Itium, which the deified Cæsar used as his naval station when about to pass over to the island: he set sail by night and arrived the next day about the fourth hour, having completed a passage of three hundred and twenty stadia; and he found the corn still in the fields. The greatest portion of the island is level and woody, although many tracts are hilly. It produces corn, and cattle, and gold, and silver, and iron, which things are brought thence, and also skins and slaves, and dogs sagacious in hunting: and the Celti use these for the purposes of war also, as well as their native dogs. The men are taller than the Celti, with hair less yellow; and slighter in their persons. As an instance of their height, we ourselves saw at [1] Καλέτους [2] Κοριῶνος [3] ταύλης [4] ὀκτὼ [5] ἀνειμένοις [6] Ὅτι Chrestomathia. [7] μεγάλης Βρεττανίας Chr. [8] ὀρεινὰ Chr. [9] μέταλλα χρυσοῦ Chr. [10] ἀνθρακια [11] Βρεττανοὶ Chr. [12] εὐμήκεις Chr.

[a] Lib. IV. p. 261. [b] P. 263. [c] P. 268. [d] P. 269. [e] P. 271. [f] P. 277. [g] P. 278.

[x] Apparently one of Cæsar's officers. See De Bell. Gall. Lib. III. c. 7. [b] Caleti?

Digitized by Google

ἔνιοι· πόλεις δ' αὐτῶν εἰσιν οἱ δρυμοί· περιφράξαντες γὰρ δένδρεσι καὶ βεβλημένοις εὐρυχωρῆ κύκλον, καὶ αὐτοὶ ἐνταῦθα καλυβοποιοῦνται, καὶ τὰ βοσκήματα καὶ σταθμεύουσιν, οὐ πρὸς πολὺν χρόνον· ἔτι μέντοι δ' εἰσὶν οἱ ἀέρες μᾶλλον ἢ νιφετώδεις. ἐν δὲ ταῖς αἰθριαις ὁμίχλη κατέχει πολὺν χρόνον· ὥστε δι' ἡμέρας ὅλης ἐπὶ τρεῖς μόνον ἢ τέτταρας ὥρας τὰς περὶ τὴν μεσημβρίαν ὁρᾶσθαι τὸν ἥλιον. Τοῦτο δὲ κἂν τοῖς Μορινοῖς συμβαίνει, καὶ τοῖς [1]Μεναπίοις, καὶ ὅσοι τούτων πλησιόχωροι. Δὶς δὲ διέβη Καῖσαρ εἰς τὴν [2]νῆσον ὁ θεός· ἐκανῆλθε δὲ διὰ ταχέων οὐδὲν μέγα διαπραξάμενος, οὐδὲ προελθὼν ἐπὶ πολὺ τῆς νήσου, διά τε τὰς ἐν τοῖς Κελτοῖς γενομένας στάσεις, τῶν τε βαρβάρων καὶ τῶν οἰκείων στρατιωτῶν· καὶ διὰ τὸ πολλὰ τῶν πλοίων ἀπολέσθαι, καὶ τὴν πανσέληνον, αὔξησιν λαβουσῶν τῶν ἀμπώτεων καὶ τῶν πλημμυρίδων· δύο μέν τοι ἢ τρεῖς νίκας ἐνίκησε τοὺς Βρετανούς, καίπερ δύο τάγματα μόνον περαιώσας τῆς στρατιᾶς, καὶ ἀπήγαγεν ὁμηρά τε καὶ ἀνδράποδα, καὶ τῆς ἄλλης λείας πλῆθος. Νυνὶ μέν τοι τῶν δυνατῶν τινες τῶν αὐτόθι, πρεσβεύσεσι καὶ θεραπείαις κατασκευασάμενοι τὴν πρὸς Καίσαρα τὸν Σεβαστὸν φιλίαν, ἀναθήματά τε ἀνέθηκαν ἐν τῷ Καπιτωλίῳ, καὶ οἰκείαν σχεδὸν [3]παρεσκεύασαν τοῖς Ῥωμαίοις ὅλην τὴν νῆσον· τέλη τε οὔπω ὑπομενούσι βαρέα, τῶν τε [4]εἰσαγομένων εἰς τὴν Κελτικὴν ἐκεῖθεν καὶ τῶν εἰσαγομένων ἐνθένδε· ταῦτα δ' ἐστὶν ἐλεφάντινα ψάλια, καὶ περιαυχένια, καὶ [5]λιγγούρια, καὶ [6]ὑαλᾶ σκεύη, καὶ ἄλλος ῥᾶπος τοιοῦτος. ὥστε μηδὲν δεῖν φρουρᾶς τῆς νήσου· τούλάχιστον μὲν γὰρ, ἑνὸς τάγματος χρήζοι ἂν, καὶ ἱππικοῦ τινος, ὥστε καὶ φόρους ἀπάγεσθαι παρ' αὐτῶν· εἰς ἴσον δὴ καθίσταται πᾶν τὸ ἀνάλωμα τῇ στρατιᾷ τοῖς προσφερομένοις χρήμασιν· ἀνάγκη γὰρ μειοῦσθαι τὰ τέλη φόρων ἐπιβαλλομένων· ἅμα δὲ καὶ κινδύνους ἀπαντᾶν τινας, βίας ἐπαγομένης.

Εἰσὶ δὲ καὶ ἄλλαι περὶ τὴν Βρετανικὴν νῆσοι μικραί· μεγάλη δ' ἡ Ἰερνη πρὸς ἄρκτον αὐτῇ [7]παραβεβλημένη, [8]προμήκης μᾶλλον δέ πλαίος ἔχουσα. Περὶ ἧς οὐδὲν ἔχομεν λέγειν σαφὲς, πλὴν ὅτι ἀγριώτεροι τῶν Βρετανῶν ὑπάρχουσιν οἱ κατοικοῦντες αὐτὴν, ἀνθρωποφάγοι τε ὄντες καὶ [9]πολυφάγοι, τούς τε παλέρας τελευτήσαντας κατεσθίειν ἐν καλῷ τιθέμενοι· καὶ φανερῶς μίσγεσθαι ταῖς τε ἄλλαις γυναιξὶ, καὶ μητράσι, καὶ ἀδελφαῖς. Καὶ ταῦτα δ' οὕτω λέγομεν, ὡς οὐκ ἔχοντες ἀξιοπίστους μάρτυρας. Καίτοι τό γε τῆς ἀνθρωποφαγίας, καὶ Σκυθικὸν εἶναι λέγεται, καὶ ἐν ἀνάγκαις πολιορκητικαῖς, καὶ Κελτοὶ καὶ Ἴβηρες, καὶ ἄλλοι πλείους, ποιῆσαι τοῦτο λέγονται. Περὶ δὲ τῆς Θούλης ἔτι μᾶλλον ἀταφὴς ἡ ἱστορία, διὰ τὸν ἐκλοπισμόν· ταύτην γὰρ τῶν ὀνομαζομένων ἀρκτικωτάτην τιθέασιν.

EX POMPONIO MELA.[a]

Europa terminos habet, . . . a septentrione Britannicum Oceanum.

[b]Pyrenæus primo hinc in Britannicum procurrit oceanum.

[c]In Celticis aliquot sunt [insulæ] quas quia plumbo abundant, uno omnes nomine Cassiteridas appellant. Sena in Britannico mari Osismicis adversa littoribus, Gallici numinis oraculo insignis est. . . .

Britannia qualis sit, qualesque progeneret, mox certiora et magis explorata dicentur. Quippe tam diu clausam aperit ecce principum maximus [Claudius]; nec indomitarum modo ante se, verum ignotarum quoque gentium victor, propriarum rerum fidem ut bello affectavit, ita triumpho declaraturus portat. Cæterum, ut adhuc habuimus, inter septentrionem occidentemque projecta, grandi angulo Rheni ostia prospicit: dein obliqua retro latera abstrahit, altero Galliam, altero Germaniam spectans: tum rursus perpetuo margine directi litoris ab tergo obducta, iterum se in diversos angulos cuneat triquetra, et Siciliæ maxime similis, plana, ingens, fœcunda, verum his, quæ pecora quam homines benignius alant. Fert nemora, saltusque, ac prægrandia flumina alternis motibus, modo in pelagus, modo retro fluentia, et quædam gemmas margaritasque generantia. Fert populos regesque populorum: sed sunt inculti omnes, atque ut longius a continenti absunt, ita aliarum opum ignari magis, tantum pecore ac finibus dites; in-

---

Rome some youths who were taller by so much as half a foot than the tallest there; but they were distorted in their lower limbs, and in other respects not symmetrical in their conformation. Their manners are in part like those of the Celti, though in part more simple and barbarous; insomuch that some of them, though possessing plenty of milk, have not skill enough to make cheese, and are totally unacquainted with horticulture and other matters of husbandry. There are several states amongst them. In their wars they make use of chariots for the most part, as do some of the Celti. Forests are their cities: for having enclosed an ample space with felled trees, here they make themselves huts, and lodge their cattle, though not for any long continuance. Their atmosphere is more subject to rain than to snow; even in their clear days the mist continues a considerable time, insomuch that throughout the whole day the sun is only visible for three or four hours about noontime; and this must be the case also among the Morini and the Menapii, and among all the neighbouring people. The deified Cæsar twice passed over to the island, but quickly returned, having effected nothing of consequence, nor proceeded far into the country, as well on account of some commotions in Celtica, both among his own soldiers and among the barbarians, as because of the loss of many of his ships at the period of the full moon, when both the flux and reflux of the tides were greatly encreased. Nevertheless he gained two or three victories over the Britons, although he had transported thither only two legions of his army, and brought away hostages, and slaves, and much other booty. At the present time, however, some of the princes there having, by their embassies and court, gained the friendship of Cæsar Augustus, have dedicated their offerings in the Capitol; and have brought the whole island into a state little short of intimate union with the Romans. They bear moderate taxes laid both on the imports and exports from Celtica; which are ivory bracelets, and necklaces, amber, and vessels of glass, and such like mean merchandize; wherefore the island would be hardly worth a garrison, for it would require at least one legion and some cavalry to enforce tribute from them; and the total expenditure for the army would be equal to the additional revenue: for if a tribute were levied, of necessity the imposts must be diminished, and at the same time some dangers would be incurred if force were to be employed.

There are also other small islands around Britain: but one of great extent, Ierne, lying parallel to it towards the north, long, or rather, wide; concerning which we have nothing positive to observe, further than that its inhabitants are more savage than the Britons, feeding on human flesh, and enormous eaters; and deeming it commendable to devour their deceased fathers, as well as openly to be connected not only with other women, but also with their own mothers and sisters. But this we relate, perhaps, without very competent authority; although to eat human flesh is said to be a Scythian custom; and, during the severities of a siege, even the Celti, and Iberi, and many others, are reported to have done the like. The account of Thule is still more vague, because of its secluded situation; for they consider it to be the northernmost of all lands of which the names are known.

---

[1] Μασταζίοις [2] Βρεταννίαν Chr. [3] ἐπὶ δὲ τοῦ Αὐγούστου τελέως εἰς φόρου ἀπαγωγὴν κατέστησαν Chr. [4] ἐξαγομένων [5] ἀλλυγουρία [6] ὑάλου [7] παραβεβλημένη προμήκης, μᾶλλον πλάτος ἔχουσα Par. [8] deest. [9] ποηφάγοι Chr.

[a] Pomponii Melæ de Situ Orbis lib. I. c. 3. Ed. Gronovii, Lugd. Batav. 1748. Floruit Mela A.D. 45.

[b] Lib. II. c. 6. [c] Lib. III. c. 6.

Digitized by Google

certum ob decorem, an quid aliud, vitro corpora infecti. Causas tamen bellorum et bella contrahunt, ac se frequenter invicem infestant, maxime imperitandi cupidine, studioque ea prolatandi, quæ possident. Dimicant non equitatu modo aut pedite, verum et bigis et curribus, Gallice armati: covinos vocant, quorum falcatis axibus utuntur.

Super Britanniam Iverna est, pene par spatio, sed utrinque æquali tractu litorum oblonga; cœli ad maturanda semina iniqui, verum adeo luxuriosa herbis, non lætis modo sed etiam dulcibus, ut se exigua parte diei pecora impleant, et nisi pabulo prohibeantur, diutius pasta dissiliant. Cultores ejus inconditi sunt, et omnium virtutum ignari, pietatis admodum expertes.

Triginta sunt Orcades, angustis inter se ductæ spatiis: septem Haemodae, contra Germaniam vectæ.

EX CAIO PLINIO SECUNDO.[a]

Sic fit, ut vario lucis incremento, in Meroe longissimus dies XII. horas æquinoctiales et octo partes unius horæ colligat: Alexandriæ vero XIIII. horas: in Italia quindecim: in Britannia XVII. ubi æstate lucidæ noctes, haud dubie repromittunt id, quod cogit ratio credi; solstitii diebus accedente sole propius verticem mundi, angusto lucis ambitu, subjecta terræ continuos dies habere senis mensibus; noctesque e diverso ad brumam remoto. Quod fieri in insula Thule, Pythias Massiliensis scripsit, sex dierum navigatione in septemtrionem a Britannia distante: quidam vero et in Mona, quæ distat a Camalduno Britanniæ oppido circiter ducentis millibus, affirmant.

[b] Octogenis cubitis supra Britanniam intumescere æstus Pythias Massiliensis auctor est.

[c] Claudius Cæsar e Britannia triumphans prægrandi illa domo verius quam nave intravit Adriam.

[d] Ex adverso hujus situs [Rheni] Britannia insula, clara Græcis nostrisque monumentis, inter septemtrionem et occidentem jacet: Germaniæ, Galliæ, Hispaniæ, multo maximis Europæ partibus magno intervallo adversa. Albion ipsi nomen fuit, cum Britanniæ vocarentur omnes: de quibus mox paulo dicemus. Hæc abest a Gessoriaco Morinorum gentis litore, proximo trajectu quinquaginta M. circuitu vero patere tricies octies centena viginti quinque M. Pytheas et Isidorus tradunt: triginta prope jam annis notitiam ejus Romanis armis non ultra vicinitatem sylvæ Caledoniæ propagantibus. Agrippa longitudinem D.CCC. M. pass. esse: latitudinem CCC. M. credit. Eamdem Hyberniæ latitudinem, sed longitudinem CC. mill. passuum minorem. Super eam hæc sita abest brevissimo transitu a Silurum gente XXX. M. pass. Reliquarum nulla C.XXV. mill. circuitu amplior proditur. Sunt autem XL. Orcades, modicis inter se discretæ spatiis. Septem Acmodæ, et XXX. Hæbudes: et inter Hyberniam ac Britanniam, Mona, Monapia, Ricina, Vectis, Limnus, Andros. Infra vero Siambis, et Axantos. Et ab adverso in Germanicum mare sparsæ Glessariæ, quas Electridas Græci recentiores appellavere, quod ibi Electrum nasceretur. Ultima omnium, quæ memorantur, Thule: in qua solstitio nullas esse noctes indicavimus, Cancri signum sole transeunte, nullosque contra per brumam dies. Hoc quidam senis mensibus continuis fieri arbitrantur. Timæus historicus a Britannia introrsus sex dierum navigatione abesse dicit insulam Mictim, in qua candidum plumbum proveniat. Ad eam Britannos vitilibus navigiis corio circumsutis navigare. Sunt qui et alias prodant, Scandiam, Dumnam, Bergos: maximamque omnium Nerigon, ex qua in Thulen navigetur. A Thule unius diei navigatione mare concretum, a nonnullis Cronium appellatur.

[e] Maria circa oram [Galliæ]: ad Rhenum Septemtrionalis oceanus, inter Rhenum et Sequanam Britannicus, inter eum et Pyrenæum Gallicus.

[f] Ex adverso Celtiberiæ complures sunt insulæ, Cassiterides dictæ Græcis, a fertilitate plumbi: et e regione Arrotrebarum promontorii, Deorum sex, quas aliqui Fortunatas appellavere.

[g] Plumbum ex Cassiteride insula primus apportavit Midacritus .... Etiam nunc in Britannico oceano vitiles coreo circumsutæ fiunt:

[h] In Britannia parvos atque decolores [uniones] nasci certum est: quoniam Divus Julius thoracem, quem Veneri Genetrici in templo ejus dicavit, ex Britannicis margaritis factum voluerit intelligi.

[i] Nondum Britannica serviebant littora, cum Orata Lucrina nobilitabat: postea visum tanti in extremam Italiam petere Brundisium ostreas:

[k] Anserini generis sunt chenalopeces: et quibus lautiores epulas non novit Britannia, chenerotes, fere ansere minores.

[l] Cerasi ante victoriam Mithridaticam L. Luculli non fuere in Italia. Ad Urbis annum DC.LXXX. is primum vexit e Ponto: annisque CXX. trans oceanum in Britanniam usque pervenere: ... septemtrione frigidisque gaudet:

[m] Alia est ratio, quam Britannia et Gallia invenere alendi eam [terram] ipsa: quod genus vocant margam. Spissior ubertas in ea intelligitur. Est autem quidam terræ adeps, ac velut glandia in corporibus, ibi densante se pinguetudinis nucleo. Non omisere et hoc Græci: quid enim intentatum illis? Leucargillon vocant candidam argillam, qua in Megarico agro utuntur, sed tantum in humida frigidaque terra. Illam Gallias Britanniasque locupletantem cum cura dici convenit. Duo genera fuerant. Plura nuper exerceri cœpta proficientibus ingeniis. Est enim alba, rufa, columbina, argillacea, tofacea, arenacea. Natura duplex:

[a] Caii Plinii Secundi Historiæ Naturalis lib. II. sect. 77. Ed. Harduini. Par. 1723.
Periit Plinius A.D. 79.
[b] Lib. II. s. 99. [c] Lib. III. s. 20. v. Plin. Lib. XVI. s. 76. [d] Lib. IV. s. 30. [e] S. 33. [f] S. 36. [g] Lib. VII. s. 57. [h] Lib. IX. s. 57. [i] S. 79. [k] Lib. X. s. 29. [l] Lib. XV. s. 30. [m] Lib. XVII. s. 4.

Digitized by Google

aspera, aut pinguis. Experimenta utriusque in manus: ususque geminus, aut ut fruges tantum alant, aut edant et pabulum. Fruges alit tofacea alba, quæ si sit inter fontes reperta, est ad infinitum fertilis: verum aspera tractatu, et si nimia injecta est, exurit solum. Proxima est rufa, quæ vocatur acaunumarga, intermixto lapide terræ minutæ, arenosæ. Lapis contunditur in ipso campo: primisque annis stipula difficulter cæditur propter lapides. Impendio tamen minimo levitate, dimidio minoris quam cæteræ, invehitur. Inspergitur rara: sale eam misceri putant. Utrumque hoc genus semel injectum in quinquaginta annos valet, et frugum et pabuli ubertate. Quæ pingues esse sentiuntur, ex his præcipua alba. Plura ejus genera. Mordacissimum quod supra diximus. Alterum genus albæ cretæ argentaria est. Petitur ex alto, in centenos pedes actis plerumque puteis, ore angustatis: intus, ut in metallis, spatiante vena. Hac maxime Britannia utitur. Durant annis LXXX. Neque est exemplum ullius qui bis in vita hanc eidem injecerit. Tertium genus candidæ glissomargam vocant. Est autem creta fullonia mixta pingui terra, pabuli quam frugum fertilior; ita ut messe sublata ante sementem alteram lætissimum secetur. Dum in fruge est, nullum aliud gramen emittit. Durat XXX. annis: densior justo signini modo strangulat solum. Columbinam Galliæ suo nomine, eglecopalam appellant: glebis excitatur lapidum modo: sole et gelatione ita solvitur, ut tenuissimas bracteas faciat. Hæc ex æquo fertilis. Arenacea utuntur, si alia non sit: in uliginosis vero, et si alia sit. Ubios gentium solos novimus, qui fertilissimum agrum colentes, quacunque terra infra tres pedes effossa, et pedali crassitudine injecta lætificent. Sed ea non diutius annis X. prodest. Hedui et Pictones calce uberrimos fecere agros: quæ sane et oleis, et vitibus utilissima reperitur. Omnis autem marga aratro injicienda est, ut medicamentum rapiatur: et fimi desiderat aliquantulum, quæ primo plus aspera et quæ in herbas non effunditur: alioqui novitate, quæcunque fuerit, solum lædet, ne sic quidem primo post anno fertilis. Interest et quali solo quæratur. Sicca enim humido melior, arido pinguis. Temperato alterutra, creta vel columbina, convenit.

[a] Simile plantagini glastum in Gallia vocatur, quo Britannorum conjuges nurusque toto corpore oblitæ, quibusdam in sacris et nudæ incedunt, Æthiopum colorem imitantes.

[b] In Germania trans Rhenum castris a Germanico Cæsare promotis, maritimo tractu fons erat aquæ dulcis solus, qua pota intra biennium dentes deciderent, compagesque in genibus solverentur. Stomacacen medici vocabant, et sceletyrben, ea mala. Reperta auxilio est herba, quæ vocatur Britannica, non nervis modo et oris malis salutaris, sed contra anginas quoque et contra serpentes. Folia habet oblonga nigra, radicem nigram. Succus ejus exprimitur et ex radice. Florem vibones vocant: qui collectus prius, quam tonitrua audiantur, et devoratus, securos in totum reddit. Frisii, qua castra erant, nostris demonstravere illam: mirorque nominis causam: nisi forte confines Oceano Britanniæ, velut propinquæ, dicavere. Non enim inde appellatam eam, quoniam ibi plurima nasceretur, certum est, etiamtum Britannia libera.

[c] Scythicam herbam a Mæotis paludibus, et Euphorbiam e monte Atlante ultraque Herculis columnas: et ipso rerum naturæ defectu, parte alia Britannicam ex oceani insulis extra terras positis, itemque Æthiopedem ab exusto sideribus axe: alias præterea aliunde ultro citroque humanæ saluti in toto orbe portari.

[d] DC.LVII. demum anno urbis, Cn. Cornelio Lentulo, P. Licinio Crasso Coss. senatus consultum factum est, ne homo immolaretur: palamque fuit in tempus illud sacri prodigiosi celebratio. Gallias utique possedit, et quidem ad nostram memoriam. Namque Tiberii Cæsaris principatus sustulit Druidas eorum, et hoc genus vatum medicorumque. Sed quid ego hæc commemorem in arte oceanum quoque transgressa, et ad naturæ inane pervecta? Britannia hodieque eam [magiam] attonite celebrat tantis cærimoniis, ut dedisse Persis videri possit. Adeo ista toto mundo consensere, quanquam discordi et sibi ignoto. Nec satis æstimari potest, quantum Romanis debeatur, qui sustulere monstra, in quibus hominem occidere religiosissimum erat, mandi vero etiam saluberrimum.

[e] Sunt ergo Mutiani verba, quæ subjiciam: Cyzicena [ostrea] majora Lucrinis, dulciora Britannicis, suaviora Medulis, acriora Lepticis, pleniora Lucensibus, sicciora Coryphantenis, teneriora Istricis, candidiora Circeiensibus.

[f] Singulis primo digitis [annulum] geri mos fuerat, qui sunt minimis proximi: sic in Numæ et Servii Tullii statuis videmus. Postea pollici proximo induere, etiam Deorum simulacris: dein juvit et minimo dare. Galliæ Britanniæque in medio dicuntur usæ. Hic nunc solus excipitur: cæteri omnes onerantur, atque etiam privatim articuli minoribus aliis.

[g] Claudius . . . cum de Britannia triumpharet, inter coronas aureas, VII. pondo habere, quam contulisset Hispania Citerior, IX. quam Gallia Comata, titulis indicavit.

[h] Nigro plumbo ad fistulas laminasque utimur, laboriosius in Hispania eruto, totasque per Gallias: sed in Britannia summo terræ corio adeo large, ut lex ultro dicatur, ne plus certo modo fiat.

[i] Sotacus credidit [electrum] in Britannia petris effluere, quas electridas vocat.

EX CAIO JULIO SOLINO.[k]

Finis erat orbis ora Gallici litoris, nisi Britannia, insula non qualibet amplitudine nomen pæne

[a] Lib. XXII. s. 2.
[b] Lib. XXV. s. 6.
[c] Lib. XXVII. s. 1.
[d] Lib. XXX. ss. 3, 4.
[e] Lib. XXXII. s. 21.
[f] Lib. XXXIII. s. 6.
[g] S. 16.
[h] Lib. XXXIV. s 49.
[i] Lib. XXXVII. s. 11.
[k] Caii Julii Solini Polyhistoriæ c. 22. Ed. Salmasii, Traject. ad Rhenum, 1689.
Floruisse conjicitur Solinus cir. A.D. 80.

Digitized by Google

orbis alterius mereretur: octingenta et amplius millia passuum longa detinet: ita ut eam in Calidonicum usque angulum metiamur: in quo recessu Ulyxem Calidoniæ appulsum manifestat ara Græcis litteris scripta votum. Multis insulis nec ignobilibus circumdatur; quarum Hibernia ei proximat magnitudine, inhumana incolarum ritu aspero: alioquin ita pabulosa, ut pecua ibi nisi interdum a pascuis arceantur, in periculum agat satias. Illic nullus anguis, avis rara, gens inhospita, et bellicosa. Sanguine interemtorum hausto prius victores vultus suos oblinunt. Fas ac nefas eodem loco ducunt. Puerpera, si quando marem edidit, primos cibos gladio imponit mariti, inque os parvuli summo mucrone auspicium alimentorum leviter infercit, et gentilibus votis optat, non aliter, quam in bello, et inter arma mortem oppetat. Qui student cultui, dentibus mari nantium belluarum, insigniunt ensium capulos: candicant enim ad eburnam claritatem: nam præcipua viris gloria est in armorum nitela. Interea apes non habent: advecto inde seu pulvere, seu lapillo, si quid sparseris inter alvearia, examina favos deserunt. Mare quod Hiberniam et Britanniam interluit, undosum inquietumque toto in anno, non nisi pauculis diebus est navigabile. Navigant autem vimineis alveis, quos circumdant ambitione tergorum bubulorum: quantocunque tempore cursus tenebit, navigantes escis abstinent. Freti latitudinem in centum xx. milia passuum diffundi, qui fidem ad verum ratiocinati sunt, æstimarunt. Siluram quoque insulam ab ora, quam gens Britanna Dumnonii tenent, turbidum fretum distinguit: cujus homines etiamnum custodiunt morem vetustum: nummum refutant: dant res, et accipiunt: mutationibus necessaria potius, quam pretiis parant: Deos percolunt: scientiam futurorum pariter viri, ac feminæ ostentant. Adtanatos insula adspiratur freto Gallico, a Britanniæ continente æstuario tenui separata, frumentariis campis felix, et gleba uberi, nec tantum sibi, verum et aliis salubris locis: nam quum ipsa nullo serpatur angue, asportata inde terra quoquo gentium invecta sit, angues necat. Multæ et aliæ circum Britanniam insulæ, e quibus Thyle ultima, in qua aestivo solstitio sole de cancri sidere faciente transitum nox pæne nulla: brumali solstitio dies adeo conductus, ut ortus junctus sit occasui. A Calidoniæ promontorio Thylen petentibus bidui navigatione perfecta excipiunt Hebudes insulæ, quinque numero, quarum incolæ nesciunt fruges, piscibus tantum et lacte vivunt. Rex unus est universis: nam quotquot sunt omnes angusta interluvie dividuntur. Rex nihil suum habet, omnia universorum: ad æquitatem certis legibus stringitur; ac ne avaritia divertat a vero, discit paupertate justitiam utpote cui nihil sit rei familiaris: verum alitur e publico. Nulla illi datur femina propria, sed per vicissitudines, in quamcumque commotus sit usurariam sumit. Unde ei nec votum, nec spes conceditur liberorum. Secundam a continenti stationem Orcades præbent: sed Orcades ab Hebudibus porro sunt septem dierum, totidemque noctium cursu, numero tres. Vacant homine: non habent silvas, tantum junceis herbis inhorrescunt. Cætera earum nudæ arenæ. Ab Orcadibus Thylen usque v. dierum, ac noctium navigatio est. Sed Thyle larga et diutina pomona copiosa est. Qui illic habitant, principio veris inter pecudes pabulis vivunt, dein lacte. In hiemem compercunt arborum fructus. Utuntur feminis vulgo, certum matrimonium nulli. Ultra Thylen pigrum et concretum mare. Circuitus Britanniæ quadragies octies septuaginta quinque millia passuum sunt. In quo spatio magna et multa flumina, fontes calidi opiparo exculti apparatu ad usus mortalium: quibus fontibus præsul est Minervæ numen, in cujus æde perpetui ignes nunquam canescunt in favillas, sed ubi ignis tabuit, vertit in globos saxeos. Præterea, ut taceam metallorum largam variamque copiam, quibus Britanniæ solum undique generum pollet venis locupletibus, gagates hic plurimus, optimusque est lapis, si decorem requiras, nigro gemmeus; si naturam, aqua ardet, oleo restinguitur; si potestatem, attritu calefactus applicita detinet, atque succinum. Regionem partim tenent barbari, quibus per artifices plagarum figuras, jam inde a pueris variæ animalium effigies incorporantur, inscriptisque visceribus hominis incremento pigmenti notæ crescunt: nec quidquam mage patientiæ loco nationes feræ ducunt, quam ut per memores cicatrices plurimum fuci artus bibant.

[a]Cassiterides insulæ spectant adversum Celtiberiæ latus: plumbi fertiles; et tres Fortunatæ.

[b]Dat et India margaritas, dat et litus Britannicum: sicut divus Julius thoracem, quem Veneri genitrici in templum ejus dicavit, ex Britannicis margaritis factum, subjecta inscriptione testatus est.

EX CLAUDIO PTOLEMÆO.[c]

Επὶ τοίνυν τοῦ πλάτους πρῶτον ὑποτίθεται [ὁ Μαρῖνος] μὲν καὶ αὐτὸς τὴν Θούλην νῆσον ὑπὸ τὸν παράλληλον τὸν ἀφορίζοντα τὸ βορειότατον πέρας τῆς ἐγνωσμένης γῆς.

[d]Τὸ μῆκος τῆς Ἰουερνίας νήσου, τὸ ἀπὸ ἀναλόλων ἐπὶ δυσμὰς ἡμερῶν εἴκοσι παραδέδωκεν [ὁ Φιλήμων].

[e]Καὶ Λουνδινίου τῆς Βρεττανίας Νοιόμαγον εἰπὼν [ὁ Μαρῖνος]

CLAUDIUS PTOLEMY.[c]

Now he himself [Marinus Tyrius] proposes as the first boundary of latitude, the island Thule, under the parallel which limits the northernmost extreme of the known earth.

[d]He [Philemon] has given the length of the island Ibernia, from east to west, as of twenty days.

[e]And [Marinus,] after saying that Noiomagus was fifty-nine miles more to the south than the Bretannic Londinium, demonstrates nevertheless by its position, that it is to the north of it.

[a] C. XXIII. [b] C. LIII.

[c] Claudii Ptolemæi Geographiæ lib. I. c. 7. Apud Bertium, Lugd. Batav. 1618. Hæc cum Cod. MS. Burneiano in Musæo Britannico asservato contulimus: quinetiam inter variantes lectiones quas exhibendas putavimus, quasdam ex Galei appendice ad Historiæ Britannicæ Scriptores inseruimus.

Floruit Ptolemæus A.D. 120.

[d] Lib. I. c. 11. [e] C. 15.

Digitized by Google

νοτιατέραν μιλίοις $\overline{νθ}$, βορειοτέραν αὐτὴν διὰ τῶν κλιμάτων ἀποφαίνει.

[a]Ἐκθέσις τοῦ δυσμικωτέρου τῆς Εὐρώπης, κατὰ τὰς ὑποκειμένας ἐπαρχίας, ἢ σατραπείας.

Ἰουέρνια νῆσος Βρεταννική	-	$\overline{ια}$	-	$\overline{νη}$	Ⅼ
Ἀλουίων νῆσος Βρεταννική	-	κ	-	νδ

ΙΟΥΕΡΝΙΑΣ[1] ΝΗΣΟΥ ΒΡΕΤΑΝΙΚΗΣ ΘΕΣΙΣ.

Εὐρώπης πίναξ α.

[b]Ἀρκτικῆς πλευρᾶς περιγραφὴ, ἧς ὑπέρκειται ὠκεανὸς ὑπερβόρειος. ὁ αὖθις καλεῖται πεπηγὼς ὠκέανος, καὶ Κρόνιος, ἢ νεκρός.

Βόρειον ἄκρον μοιρας	-	ια		-	ξα
Οὐεννίκνιον ἄκρον	-	ιβ		-	ξα	γ
Οὐιδούα ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	ιγ		-	ξα
Ἀργίτα ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	ιδ	Ⅼ	-	ξα	Ⅼ
Ῥοβόγδιον ἄκρον	-	ις	γ	-	ξα	Ⅼ

Παροικοῦσι δὲ τὴν πλευρὰν, ἀπὸ μὲν δυσμῶν, Οὐεννίκνιοι.

Εἶτα ἐφεξῆς καὶ πρὸς ἀνατολὰς Ῥοβόγδιοι.

Δυτικῆς πλευρᾶς περιγραφὴ, ἣ παράκειται δυτικὸς ὠκεανός.

Μετὰ τὸ Βόρειον ἄκρον ὅ ἐστιν		ια		-	ξα
Ῥαουίου ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	ια	γ	-	ξ	γο
Νάγνατα πόλις ἐπίσημος	-	ια	δ	-	ξ	δ
[2]Λιβόιου ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	ι	Ⅼ	-	ξ
Αὔσοβα ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	ι	Ⅼ	-	νθ	Ⅼ
Σήνου ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	θ	Ⅼ	-	νθ	Ⅼ
Δοὺρ ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	θ	γο	-	νη	γο
Ἴερνου ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	η		-	νη
Νότιον ἄκρον	-	ζ	γο	-	νζ	Ⅼδ

Παροικοῦσι δὲ τὴν πλευρὰν μετὰ τοὺς Οὐεννικνίους,

Ἐρδῖνοι, οἳ καὶ Ἐρπεδιτάνοι,

Ὑφ' οὓς, Ναγνᾶται.

Εἶτα, [3]Αὐτεροί.

Εἶτα, Γαγγανοί.

Ὑφ' οὓς, Οὐελίβοροι, οἱ καὶ Ἐλλεβροί.

Τῆς ἐφεξῆς μεσημβρινῆς πλευρᾶς περιγραφὴ, ἣ παράκειται ὠκεανὸς [4]Οὐεργίνιος.

Μετὰ τὸ Νότιον ἄκρον. ὅ ἐστιν		$\overline{ζ}$	γο′	-	$\overline{νζ}$	Ⅼξ̄
Δαβρῶνα ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	ια	δ	-	νζ
[5]Βίργου ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	ιβ	Ⅼ	-	νζ	Ⅼ
Ἱερὸν ἄκρον	-	-	ιδ	-	νζ	Ⅼ

Παροικοῦσι δὲ τὴν πλευρὰν μετὰ τοὺς [6]Οὐελλαβόρους [7]Οὔτερνοι.

Ὑπὲρ οὓς, Οὐοδίαι,

Καὶ ἀνατολικώτεροι, Βρίγαντες.

Ἀνατολικῆς πλευρᾶς περιγραφὴ, ἣ παράκειται ὠκεανὸς καλούμενος Ἰουέρνιος.

Μετὰ τὸ ἱερὸν ἄκρον, ὅ ἐστι	-	ιδ		-	νζ	Ⅼ
Μοδόνου ποταμοῦ ἐκβολαί	-	ιγ	γο	-	νη	γο
Μαναπία πόλις	-	ιγ	Ⅼ	-	νη	γο
Ὀβόκα ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	ιγ	ς	-	νθ
[8]Ἔβλανα πόλις	-	ιδ		-	νθ	Ⅼ
Βουουίνδα ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	ιδ	γο	-	νθ	γο
Ἰσάμνιον ἄκρον	-	ιε		-	ξ
Οὐινδέριος ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	ιε		-	ξ	δ
Λογία ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	ιε	γ	-	ξ	γο

Μεθ' ἃς τὸ Ῥοβόγδιον ἄκρον.

Παροικοῦσι δὲ τὴν πλευρὰν ταύτην μετὰ τοὺς Ῥοβογδίους. [8]Δάρνιοι.

Ὑφ' οὓς, Οὐολούντιοι.

Εἶτα [9]Βλάνιοι.

Εἶτα Καῦκοι.

Ὑφ' οὓς, Μανάπιοι.

Εἶτα Κοριόνδοι, ὑπὲρ τοὺς Βρίγανλας.

---

[a] Exposition of the more western part of Europe, according to its subject provinces, or governments.

Ibernia a Bretannic island	-	11°	-	58°	30′
Albion a Bretannic island	-	20	-	54

POSITION OF THE BRETANNIC ISLAND IBERNIA.

FIRST TABLE OF EUROPE.

[b] Description of its northern side, above which lies the Northern Ocean, called also the Frozen and the Cronion, or the Dead Ocean.

The Northern promontory: degrees		11		-	61
Vennicnium promontory	-	12		-	61	20
Outlets of the river Vidua	-	13		-	61
Outlets of the river Argita	-	14	30	-	61	30
Promontory of Rhobogdium	-	16	20	-	61	30

This side beginning from the west is inhabited by the Vienncinii;

Next to whom, towards the east, are the Rhobogdii.

Description of its western side, along which lies the Western Ocean.

After the Northern promontory, which is	-	11		-	61
Outlets of the river Rhavius	-	11	20	-	60	40
Nagnata, a noble town	-	11	15	-	60	15
Outlets of the river Liboius	-	10	30	-	60
Outlets of the river Ausoba	-	10	30	-	59	30
Outlets of the river Senus	-	9	30	-	59	30
Outlets of the river Dour	-	9	40	-	58	40
Outlets of the River Iernus	-	8		-	58
The Southern promontory	-	7	40	-	57	45

Next to the Vennicnii, this side is inhabited by the Erdini, called also the Erpeditani,

South of whom are the Nagnatæ,

Then the Auteri,

Then the Gangani,

South of whom are the Velibori, called also Ellebri.

Next the description of the southern side, along which lies the Verginian Ocean.

After the Southern promontory, which is	-	7°	40′	-	57°	45′
Outlets of the river Dabrona	-	11	15	-	57
Outlets of the river Birgus	-	12	30	-	57	30
Sacred promontory	-	14		-	57	30

Next to the Vellabori, on this side, dwell the Uterni,

North of whom are the Vodiæ,

And more easterly the Brigantes.

Description of the eastern side, along which lies the ocean called Ibernian.

After the Sacred promontory, which is	-	14		-	57	30
Outlets of the river Modonus	-	13	40		58	40
Town of Manapia	-	13	30	-	58	40
Outlets of the river Oboca	-	13	10	-	59
Town of Eblana	-	14		-	59	30
Outlets of the river Bubinda	-	14	40	-	59	40
Promontory Isamnium	-	15		-	60
Outlets of the river Vinderius	-	15		-	60	15
Outlets of the river Logia	-	15	20	-	60	40

Next to these, the promontory Rhobogdium.

Next to the Rhobogdii, on this same side, dwell the Darnii.

South of whom are the Voluntii.

Then the Blanii.

Then the Cauci.

South of whom are the Menapii,

Then the Coriondi, above the Brigantes.

[1] Ἰωουερνίας; [2] Διβόιου. Λιμνίου [3] Αὔτενοι [4] Οὐεργιούιους [5] Βάργου [6] Οὐελλαβροσίους [7] Ἰουτέρνιοι Ἰουέρνιοι [8] Δαρίνοι [9] Ἐβλάνοι

[a] Lib. II. c. 1. [b] C. 2.

Digitized by Google

Πόλεις δέ εἰσι μεσόγειοι [1]αἵδε.

[2]Ῥιγία	- - -	ιγ		-	ξ	γ′
Ῥαίβα	- - -	ιϐ		-	νθ	ℒδ
Λάθηρος	- - -	ιγ		-	νθ	δ
Μακόλικον	- - -	ια	ℒ	-	νη	γο
Ἑτέρα [2]Ῥιγία	- -	ια		-	νθ	ℒ
Δοῦνον	- - -	ιϐ	ℒ	-	νη	ℒδ
[3]Ἰουρνίς	- - -	ια		-	νη	ς

Ὑπέρκεινται δὲ νῆσοι τῆς Ἰουερνίας, αἵ τε καλούμεναι Ἐϐοῦδαι, ε′ τὸν ἀριθμὸν, ὧν ἡ μὲν δυτικωτέρα καλεῖται

Ἔϐουδα	- - -	ιε		-	ξϐ

Ἡ δὲ ἐξῆς [4]αὐτῶν πρὸς ἀνατολὰς ὁμοίως

Ἔϐουδα	- - -	ιε	γο	-	ξϐ
Εἶτα Ῥικίνα	- -	ιζ		-	ξϐ
Εἶτα Μαλεός	- - -	ιζ	ℒ	-	ξϐ
Εἶτα Ἐπίδιον	- -	ιη	ℒ	-	ξϐ

Καὶ ἀπὸ ἀνατολῶν τῆς Ἰουερνίας εἰσὶν αἵδε νῆσοι,

[5]Μονάοιδα	- - -	ιζ	γο	-	ξα	ℒ
Μόνα νῆσος	- -	ιε		-	νζ	γο
[6]Ἔδρου, ἔρημος	- -	ιε		-	νθ	ℒ
[7]Λίμνου, ἔρημος	- -	ιε		-	νθ

ΑΛΟΥΙΩΝΟΣ ΝΗΣΟΥ ΒΡΕΤΑΝΝΙΚΗΣ ΘΕΣΙΣ.

Εὐρώπης πίναξ α.

[a]Ἀρκτικῆς πλευρᾶς περιγραφὴ, ἧς ὑπέρκειται ὠκεανὸς καλούμενος Δουηκαληδόνιος.

[8]Νουαντῶν Χερσόνησος, καὶ ὁμώνυμον ἄκρον	- -	κα		-	ξα	γο
[9]Ῥεριγόνιος κόλπος	-	κ	ℒ	-	ξ	ℒγ
[10]Οὐιδόταρα κόλπος	- -	κα	γ	-	ξ	ℒ
[11]Κλώτα εἴσχυσις	- -	κϐ	δ	-	νθ	γο
[12]Λελαανόνιος κόλπος	-	κδ		-	ξ	γο′
Ἐπίδιον ἄκρον	- - -	κγ		-	ξ	γο
Λόγγου ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	κδ		-	ξ	γο
Ἴτυος ποτ. ἐκβολαί	- -	κζ		-	ξ	γο
Οὔολσας κόλπος	- -	κθ		-	ξ	ℒ
[13]Ναυαίου ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	λ		-	ξ	ℒ
[14]Ταρουιδοὺμ ἢ καὶ Ὀρκὰς ἄκρα		λα	γ′	-	ξ	δ

Δυσμικῆς πλευρᾶς περιγραφὴ, ἣ παράκειται ὅ, τε Ἰουϐέρνιος ὠκεανὸς καὶ ὁ Οὐιεργιούιος, μετὰ τὴν Νουαντῶν Χερσόνησον ἡ ἐπέχει,

	- - - -	κα		-	ξα	γο
[15]Αὐραουάννου ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	ιθ	γ	-	ξα
[16]Ἰηνᾶ εἴσχυσις	- -	ιθ		-	ξ	ℒ
Δηούα ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	ιη		-	ξ
Νοουΐου ποτ. ἐκβολαί	- -	ιη	γ	-	νθ	ℒ
[17]Ἰτούνα εἴσχυσις	- -	ιη	ℒ	-	νη	ℒδ
[18]Μοϱικάμϐη εἴσχυσις	-	ιζ	ℒ	-	νη	γ
[19]Σεταντίων λίμην	- -	ιζ	γ	-	νζ	ℒδ
[20]Βελίσαμα εἴσχυσις	-	ιζ	ℒ	-	νζ	γ
[21]Σετηΐα εἴσχυσις	- -	ιζ		-	νζ
[22]Τοισόϐιος ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	ιε	γο	-	νς	γ
[23]Καγκανῶν ἄκρον	- -	ιε		-	νς
Στούκια ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	ιε	γ	-	νε	ℒ
Τουερόϐιος ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	ιε		-	νε
Ὀκταπίταρον ἄκρον	- -	ιδ	γ	-	νδ	ℒ
[24]Τοϐίου ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	ιε	ℒ	-	νδ	ℒ
Ῥατοσαθυϐίου ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	ις	ℒ	-	νδ	ℒ
[25]Σαϐριάνα εἴσχυσις	- -	ιζ	γ	-	νδ	ℒ
[26]Οὐέξαλα εἴσχυσις	-	ις		-	νγ	ℒ
Ἡρακλέους ἄκρον	- -	ιδ		-	νγ
[27]Ἀντιουέσαιον ἄκρον τὸ καὶ Βολέριον	- - -	ια		-	νϐ	ℒ
Δαμνόνιον, τὸ καὶ Ὄκρινον ἄκρον		ιϐ		-	να	ℒ

THE INLAND TOWNS ARE THESE,

Rhigia	- - - -	13°		-	60°	20′
Rhæba	- - - -	12		-	59	45
Laberus	- - - -	13		-	59	15
Macolicum	- - - -	11	30′	-	58	40
Rhigia, another	- - -	11		-	58	30
Dunum	- - - - -	12	30	-	58	45
Ibernis	- - - - -	11		-	58	10

To the north of Ibernia lie the islands called Ebudæ, five in number; of which the westernmost is

Ebuda	- - - - -	15		-	62

Then, similarly named, towards the east,

Ebuda	- - - - -	15	40	-	62
Then Ricina	- - - -	17		-	62
Then Maleos	- - - -	17	30	-	62
Then Epidium	- - -	18	30	-	62

And to the eastward of Ibernia are these islands:

Monaœda	- - - - -	17	40	-	61	30
Mona island	- - - -	15		-	57	40
Edros, desert	- - - -	15		-	59	30
Limnos, desert	- - -	15		-	59

POSITION OF THE BRETANNIC ISLAND ALBION.

FIRST TABLE OF EUROPE.

[a]Description of the northern side, above which lies the ocean called Deucaledonian.

Peninsula of the Novantæ, and promontory similarly named	-	21		-	61	40
Rherigonium bay	- - -	20	30	-	60	50
Vidotara bay	- - -	21	20	-	60	30
Clota estuary	- - - -	22	15		59	40
Lelaannonium bay	- - -	24		-	60	40
Epidium promontory	- - -	23°		-	60°	40′
Outlets of the river Longus	-	24		-	60	40
Outlets of the river Itys	-	27		-	60	40
Volsas bay	- - - -	29		-	60	30
Outlets of the river Nabæus	-	30		-	60	30
Tarvidum and Orcas promontories		31	20′	-	60	15

Description of the western side, beyond which lie the Iberian and the Vergivian seas.

After the peninsula of the Novantæ, which has	- -	21		-	61	40
Outlets of the river Abravannus		19	20	-	61
Iena estuary	- - -	19		-	60	30
Outlets of the river Deva	-	18		-	60
Outlets of the river Novius	-	18	20	-	59	30
Ituna estuary	- - -	18	30	-	58	45
Moricambe estuary	- -	17	30	-	58	20
Setantii, haven of the	- -	17	20	-	57	45
Belisama estuary	- - -	17	30	-	57	20
Seteia estuary	- -	17		-	57
Outlets of the river Toisobis	-	15	40	-	56	20
Cangani, promontory of the	-	15		-	56
Outlets of the river Stucia	-	15	20	-	55	30
Outlets of the river Tuerobis	-	15		-	55
Octapitarum promontory	-	14	20	-	54	30
Outlets of the river Tobius	-	15	30	-	54	30
Outlets of the river Rhatostathybius		16	30	-	54	30
Sabriana estuary	- -	17	20	-	54	30
Vexala estuary	- - -	16		-	53	30
Hercules' promontory	- -	14		-	53
Antivestæum promontory, which is also Bolerium	- -	11		-	52	30
Damnonium promontory, which is also Ocrinum	- - -	12		-	51	30

[1] deest [2] Ῥηγία [3] Ἰερνίς [4] αὐτῆς [5] Μοναξεια. [6] Ὄδρου [7] Λίνου [8] Νοουάντων [9] Ρεριγόνιος [10] Οὐινδόχαρα. Οὐινδόγαρα. Οὐιδόγαρα [11] Κλωταῖς χύσις [12] Λεμαανόνιος [13] Ναϐαίου [14] Ταρουέδουμ [15] Ἀϐρανάνου [16] Ἰηναῖς χύσις [17] Ἰτουναῖς χύσις [18] Μερικαμϐῆς χυσις [19] Σεγάντιων [20] Βελισαμαῖς χύσις [21] Σεγιατάτις χύσις [22] post 23. [23] Γαγγανῶν [24] Τουϐίου [25] Σαϐριανάις χύσις [26] Οὐιξαμαΐς. Οὐέξαλλα χύσις [27] Ἀντιουίσ'λεον. Ἀνιουίσ'λιον

[a] C. 3.

Digitized by Google

Τῆς ἐφεξῆς μεσημβρινῆς πλευρᾶς περιγραφὴ, ἣ ὑπόκειται Βρεττανικὸς Ὠκεανὸς, μετὰ τὸ Ὄκρινον ἄκρον,

Κενίωνος ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	ιδ		-	να	Ⅼδ′
Ταμάρου ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	ιε	γο′	-	νϐ	ς
Ἰσάκα ποτ. ἐκβολαί	- -	ιζ		-	νϐ	γ
[1]Ἀλαίνου ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	ιζ	γο	-	νϐ	γο
Μέγας λιμήν	- -	ιθ		-	νγ
Τρισάντωνος ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	κ	γ	-	νγ
Καινὸς λιμήν	- -	κα		-	νγ	Ⅼ
Κάντιον ἄκρον	- -	κϐ		-	νδ

Τῶν ἐφεξῆς πρὸς ἕω καὶ μεσημβρίαν πλευρῶν περιγραφὴ, αἷς παράκειται Γερμανικὸς ὠκεανὸς, μετὰ τὸ Ταρουεδοὺμ ἄκρον ἢ Ὀρκὰς, ὅπερ εἴρηται.

[2]Οὐιερουέδρον ἄκρον	-	λα		-	ξ
[3]Βερουβίουμ ἄκρον	- -	λ	Ⅼ	-	νϑ	γο
[4]Ἴλα ποτ. ἐκβολαί	- -	λ		-	νϑ	γο
[4]Ὀχθη ὑψηλή	- -	κϑ		-	νϑ	γο
Λόξα ποτ. [4]ἐκβολαί	-	κη	Ⅼ	-	νϑ	γο
[5]Οὐάρα εἴσχυσις	- -	κζ	Ⅼ	-	νϑ	γο
[6]Τουάι εἴσχυσις	- -	κζ		-	νϑ
Κελνίου ποτ. ἐκβολαί	- -	κζ		-	νη	Ⅼδ
Ταΐζαλον ἄκρον	- -	κζ	Ⅼ	-	νη	Ⅼ
[7]Διούα ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	κς		-	νη	Ⅼ
Ταούα εἴσχυσις	- -	κε		-	νη	Ⅼ
[8]Τίννα ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	κδ	Ⅼ	-	νη	Ⅼδ
[9]Βοδερία εἴσχυσις	- -	κϐ	Ⅼ	-	νη	Ⅼδ
Ἀλαύνου ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	κα	γο	-	νη	Ⅼ
Οὐέδρα ποτ. ἐκβολαί	- -	κ	ς	-	νη	Ⅼ
Δοῦνον κόλπος	- -	κ	δ	-	νζ	Ⅼ
Γαβραντουΐκων εὐλίμενος κόλπος		κα		-	νζ
Ὀκέλλου ἄκρον	- -	κα	δ	-	νς	γο
Ἄβου ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	κα		-	νς	Ⅼ
[10]Μεταρὶς εἴσχυσις	- -	κ	Ⅼ	-	νε	γο
[11]Γαῤῥυένου ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	κα		-	νε	γ′
Ἐξοχὴ	- - -	κα	δ′	-	νε	ιϐ
[12]Εἰδουμανία ποτ. ἐκβολαί	-	κ	ς	-	νε
[13]Ἰάμισσα εἴσχυσις	-	κ	Ⅼ	-	νδ	Ⅼ
Μεθ' ἣν τὸ [14]Ἀκάντιον ἄκρον		κϐ		-	νδ

Οἰκοῦσι δὲ τὰ μὲν, παρὰ τὴν ἀρκτικὴν πλευρὰν, ὑπὸ μὲν τὴν ὁμώνυμον χερσόνησον, Νουάνται, παῤ οἷς εἰσι καὶ πόλεις αἵδε,

[15]Λουκοπιϐία	- -	ιϑ		-	ξ	γ
[16]Ῥετιγόνιον	- - -	κ	ς	-	ξ	γο

Ὑφ' ὗς, [17]Σελγοῦαι, παῤ οἷς πόλεις αἵδε,

[18]Καρϐαντόριγον	- -	ιϑ		-	νϑ	γ
[19]Οὔξελον	- - -	ιη	Ⅼ	-	νϑ	γ
Κόρδα	- - -	κ		-	νϑ	γο
Τριμόντιον	- - -	ιϑ		-	νϑ

Τούτων δὲ πρὸς ἀνατολὰς, Δάμνιοι μὲν, ἀρκτικώτεροι, ἐν οἷς πόλεις αἵδε,

[20]Κολανία	- -	κ	Ⅼ	-	νϑ	ς
[21]Οὐανδούαρα	- - -	κα	γο	-	ξ
Κορία	- - -	κα	Ⅼ	-	νϑ	γ
Ἀλαῦνα	- - -	κϐ	Ⅼδ	-	νϑ	γ
Λίνδον	- - -	κ		-	νϑ	Ⅼ
[22]Οὐικτορία	- - -	κγ	Ⅼ	-	νϑ

[23]Γαδηνοὶ δὲ ἀρκτικώτεροι,

[24]Ὠταδηνοὶ δὲ, μεσημβρινώτεροι, ἐν οἷς πόλεις αἵδε,

[25]Κουρία	- - -	κ	ς	-	νϑ
[26]Βρεμένιον	- -	κα		-	νη	Ⅼδ

Μετὰ δὲ τοὺς Δαμνονίους πρὸς ἀνατολὰς, ἀρκτικώτεροι μὲν, ἀπὸ τοῦ Ἐπιδίου ἄκρου ὡς πρὸς ἀνατολὰς, Ἐπίδιοι, Μεθ' οὓς [27]Κέρωνες,

Εἶτα ἀνατολ. Κρέονες,

Εἶτα, Καρνονάκαι,

Εἶτα, [28]Καρηνοὶ,

Καὶ ἀνατολικώτεροι καὶ τελευταῖοι, [29]Κορνάϐυοι.

Description of the southern side which comes next in order, below which lies the Bretannic Ocean, after the promontory Ocrinum,

Outlets of the river Cenion	-	14°		-	51°	45′
Outlets of the river Tamarus	-	15	40′	-	52	10
Outlets of the river Isaca	-	17		-	52	20
Outlets of the river Alænus	-	17	40	-	52	40
Great Haven	- - -	19		-	53
Outlets of the river Trisanton	-	20	20	-	53
New Haven	- - -	21		-	53	30
Cantium promontory	- -	22		-	54

The description of the sides next in order lying to the east and south, along which extends the Germanic Ocean, after the promontory Tarvedum, or Orcas, as has been said,

Vervedrum promontory	-	31		-	60
Berubium promontory	- -	30	30	-	59	40
Outlets of the river Ila	-	30		-	59	40
High Bank	- - -	29		-	59	40
Outlets of the river Loxa	-	28	30	-	59	40
Vara estuary	- - -	27	30	-	59	40
Tuai estuary	- - -	27		-	59
Outlets of the river Celnius	-	27		-	58	45
Taïzalum promontory	- -	27	30	-	58	30
Outlets of the river Diva	-	26		-	58	30
Tava estuary	- - -	25		-	58	30
Outlets of the river Tinna	-	24	30	-	58	45
Boderia estuary	- -	22	30	-	58	45
Outlets of the river Alaunus	-	21	40	-	58	30
Outlets of the river Vedra	-	20	10	-	58	30
Dunum bay	- - -	20	15	-	57	30
Bay of the Gabrantuici, having an excellent harbour	- -	21		-	57
Ocellum promontory	- -	21	15	-	56	40
Outlets of the river Abus	-	21		-	56	30
Metaris estuary	- - -	20	30	-	55	40
Outlets of the river Garryenus	-	21°		-	55°	20′
Prominence	- - -	21	15′	-	55	5
Outlets of the river Eidumania		20	10	-	55
Iamissa estuary	- - -	20	30	-	54	30
Beyond which is the promontory Acantium	- - -	22		-	54

Partly along the northern side, under the peninsula of the same name, dwell the Novantæ, and among them are these towns:

Loucopibia	- - - -	19		-	60	20
Rhetigonium	- - - -	20	10	-	60	40

South from these the Selgovæ, among whom are these towns:

Carbantorigum	- - -	19		-	59	20
Uxelum	- - - -	18	30	-	59	20
Corda	- - - - -	20		-	59	40
Trimontium	- - -	19		-	59

To the eastward of these, but more to the north, are the Damnii, among whom are these towns:

Colania	- - - - -	20	30	-	59	10
Vanduara	- - - -	21	40	-	60
Coria	- - - - -	21	30	-	59	20
Alauna	- - - -	22	45	-	59	20
Lindum	- - - - -	20		-	59	30
Victoria	- - - -	23	30	-	59

The Gadeni, more northern,

The Otadeni more southern, among whom are these towns:

Curia	- - - - -	20	10	-	59
Bremenium	- - - -	21		-	58	45

Next to the Damnonii, towards the east, but more northern, and to the east of the promontory Epidium, are the Epidii.

Next to these the Cerones,

Then, more easterly, the Creones,

Then the Carnonacæ,

Then the Careni;

More eastern, and last, the Cornabii.

[1] Ἀλαυνοῦ [2] Οὐιερουέδρον, Οὐιερουεδρούμ [3] Οὐερουθίουμ [4] ἐκθολή [5] Οὐαραΐς χύσις, Οὐαρὲρ, Οὐαραὲ [6] Ταουαΐς εἴσχυσις [7] Δηούα [8] Τίνα [9] Βοδεριαΐς χύσις, Βογδερία [10] Μεταρισις χύσις [11] Γαριαίνου, Γαριέννου [12] Εἰδουμανίου [13] Ιαμισσαΐς χύσις, Ιάμνησα [14] Βάνλιον [15] Λευκοπιαθία [16] Ῥεριγόνιον. Ῥεηγόνιον [17] Ελγοῦαι [18] Καρθαντόριδον [19] Οὔξελλον [20] Κολανίκα [21] Οὐανδογάρα, Οὐινδουάρα [22] Οὐικτωρία [23] Γαδενοί, Γαδνοί [24] Ὠταδνοί. Ὠταλινοί [25] Κόρια [26] Αρεμένιον [27] Κρέωνες [28] Καρνοί [29] Κορνοῦοι. Κορναθοί

Digitized by Google

Ἀπὸ δὲ τοῦ [1]Λαιλαμνονίου κόλπου μέχρι τῆς Οὐάραρ εἰσχυτέως, Καληδόνιοι.

Καὶ ὑπὲρ αὐτοὺς, ὁ Καληδόνιος δρυμός.

[7]Ων ἀνατολικώτεροι δὲ, Κάνται.

Μεθ' οὓς, Λόγοι, συνάπτοντες τοῖς Κορναυίοις,

Καὶ ὑπὲρ τοὺς Λόγους, [2]Μέρται.

[3]Ὑπὲρ δὲ τοὺς Καληδονίους, Οὐακομάγοι, παρ' οἷς πόλεις,

Βανατία	- - -	κδ		-	νθ	Ⅼ
Τάμεια	- -	κε		-	νθ	γ
Πτερωτὸν στρατόπεδον	- -	κζ	δ′	-	νθ	γ
[4]Τούεσις	- - -	κς	Ⅼδ	-	νθ	ς

Ὑπὸ δὲ τούτους δυσμικώτεροι μὲν [5]Οὐενίκοντες, ἐν οἷς πόλις.

[6]Ὀρρέα	- - -	κδ		-	νη	Ⅼδ

Ἀνατολικώτεροι δὲ [6]Τεξάλοι, καὶ πόλις,

Δηουάνα	- - -	κς	δ	-	νθ	Ⅼδ

Πάλιν δ' ὑπὸ μὲν τοὺς Ἐλγοούας καὶ τοὺς [7]Ὠταδηνοὺς, διήκοντες ἐφ' ἑκάτερα τὰ πελάγη, Βρίγαντες. Ἐν οἷς πόλεις,

Ἐπείακον	- - -	ιη	Ⅼ	-	νη	Ⅼ
Οὐιννοούιον	- - -	ιζ	Ⅼ	-	νη
Κατουῤῥακτόνιον	- -	κ		-	νη
Κάλατον	- - -	ιθ		-	νζ	Ⅼ
Ἰσούριον	- - -	κ		-	νζ	γο
Ῥιγόδουνον	- - -	ιη		-	νζ	Ⅼ
Ὀλίκανα	- - -	ιθ		-	νζ	Ⅼ
Ἐβόρακον	- - -	κ		-	νζ	γ

Λεγίων ς̄ νικηφόριος.

Καμουνλόδουνον	- -	ιη	δ	-	νζ

Πρὸς οἷς, περὶ τὸν [8]εὐλίμενον κόλπον, [9]Παρίσοι, καὶ πόλις,

Πετουαρία	- - -	κ	γο	-	νς	γο

Ὑπὸ δὲ τούτους καὶ τοὺς Βρίγαντας οἰκοῦσι [10]δυσμικώτατα μὲν, Ὀρδούικες, ἐν οἷς πόλεις,

Μεδιολανίον	- - -	ις	Ⅼδ′	-	νς	γο′
Βραννογένιον	- -	ις		-	νς	δ

Τούτων δὲ ἀνατολικώτεροι, Κορναῦιοι, ἐν οἷς πόλεις,

[11]Δηούνα	- - -	ιη	Ⅼ	-	νε

Καὶ λεγίων κ̄ νικηφόριος.

Οὐιροκόνιον	- -	ις	Ⅼδ	-	νε	Ⅼδ

Μεθ' οὓς Κοριταυοὶ, ἐν οἷς πόλεις

Λίνδον	- - - -	ιη	γο	-	νε	Ⅼδ
[12]Ῥάγε	- - -	ιη		-	νε	Ⅼ

Εἶτα Κατυευχλανοί, ἐν οἷς πόλεις,

[13]Σαλῆναι	- - -	ις		-	νε	γο
Οὐρολάνιον	- -	ιθ	γ	-	νε	Ⅼ

Μεθ' οὓς [14]Σιμενοὶ, ἐν οἷς πόλις,

Οὔεντα	- - -	κ	Ⅼ	-	νε	γ

Καὶ ἀνατολικώτεροι, παρὰ τὴν [15]Ἰμηνσαν ἔισχυσιν, [16]Τρινόαντες, ἐν οἷς πόλις,

Καμουδόλανον	- - -	κα		-	νε

Πάλιν δ' ὑπὸ τὰ εἰρημένα ἔθνη, δυσμικώτατοι μὲν, Δημῆται, ἐν οἷς πόλεις

[17]Λουέντινον	- -	ιε	Ⅼδ	-	νε	ς
[18]Μαρίδουνον	- - -	ιε	Ⅼ	-	νε	γο

Τούτων δ' ἀνατολικώτεροι, Σίλυρες, ἐν οἷς πόλις

Βούλλαιον	- - -	ις	γ	-	νε

Μεθ' οὓς Δοβοῦνοι, καὶ πόλις

Κορίνιον	- - -	ιη		-	νδ	ς

Εἶτα Ἀτρεβάτιοι, καὶ πόλις

[19]Ναλκούα	- -	ιθ		-	νδ	δ

Μεθ' οὓς ἀνατολικώτατοι Κάντιοι, ἐν οἷς πόλεις,

Λονδίνιον	- - -	κ		-	νδ
[20]Δαρούενον	- -	κα		-	νγ	γο
Ῥουτούπιαι	- - -	κα	Ⅼδ	-	νδ

From the Lelamnonion bay to the estuary Varar are the Caledonii.

And north of them the Caledonian wood.

But more to the east are the Cantæ,

Then the Logi, adjoining to the Cornabii,

And north of the Logi are the Mertæ,

But north of the Caledonians, the Vacomagi; among whom are these towns:

Banatia	- - - - -	24°	-	59°	30′
Tameia	- - - -	25	-	59	20
The Winged Camp	- - -	27	15′ -	59	20
Tuesis	- - - -	26	45 -	59	10

South of these, more to the west, are the Venicontes; among whom is this town:

Orrhea	- - - - - -	24	-	58	45

More eastern are the Texali, and the town is

Devana	- - - -	26	15 -	59	45

And again, south of the Elgovæ and Otadeni, reaching to both seas, dwell the Brigantes, among whom the towns are

Epeiacum	- - - -	18	30 -	58	30
Vinnovium	- - - -	17	30 -	58
Caturhactonium	- - -	20	-	58
Calatum	- - - -	19	-	57	30
Isurium	- - - - -	20	-	57	40
Rhigodunum	- - -	18	-	57	30
Olicana	- - - - -	19	-	57	30
Eboracum	- - - -	20	-	57	20

Sixth Legion, the Victorious.

Camunlodunum	- - -	18	15 -	57

Besides these, about the well-haven'd bay, are the Parisi, and the town

Petuaria	- - - -	20	40 -	56	40

South of these and of the Brigantes, to the extreme west, dwell the Ordovices, among whom are these towns:

Mediolanium	- - - -	16°	45′ -	56°	40′
Brannogenium	- - -	16	-	56	15

More eastern than these are the Cornabii, whose town is

Deuna	- - - - - -	18	30 -	55

Twentieth Legion, the Victorious.

Viroconium	- - -	16	45 -	55	45

Next after these are the Coritavi, whose towns are

Lindum	- - - - - -	18	40 -	55	45
Rhage	- - - -	18	-	55	30

Then the Catyeuchlani, whose towns are

Salenæ	- - - - - -	16	-	55	40
Urolanium	- - - -	19	20 -	55	30

Next after these are the Simeni, whose town is

Venta	- - - - - -	20	30 -	55	20

And more eastern, near the Imensa estuary, the Trinoantes, whose town is

Camudolanum	- - -	21	-	55

Again, south of the tribes enumerated, westernmost, are the Demetæ, and their towns are

Luentinum	- - - -	15	45 -	55	10
Maridunum	- - -	15	30 -	55	40

More eastern than these are the Silures, whose town is

Bullæum	- - - -	16	20 -	55

Next to these the Dobuni, and their town

Corinium	- - - -	18	-	54	10

Next the Atrebatii, and their town

Nalkua	- - - - -	19	-	54	15

Beyond whom are the Cantii, the easternmost people; among them are these towns:

Londinium	- - - -	20	-	54
Darvenum	- - - -	21	-	53	40
Rhutupiæ	- - - -	21	45 -	54

---

1 Λαιλαννονίου, Λαιμαννονίου 2 Σμέρται 3 Ὑπὸ 4 Τουαισις 5 Οὐιννικοῦνλες, Οὐιννίκονες 6 Ταιξάλοι 7 Ὠταδνοί 8 ἀρίμενον 9 Παρεῖσοι 10 δυσμικώτατοι 11 Δηούκ 12 Ἐρά ται 13 Σαλισῦαι 14 Ἰμενόι 15 Ἰμηζανὶς χύσιν 16 Τρινοούκντες 17 Λουένλιον 18 Μορίδουνον. Μουρίδουνον 19 Καλκούα. Καλκούα 20 Δαρούερνον

Digitized by Google

Πάλιν τοῖς μὲν Ἀτρεβατίοις, καὶ τοῖς Καντίοις, ὑπόκεινται

[1]Ῥῆγνοι, καὶ πόλις
Νοιόμαγος	- - -	ιθ	Ls′	-	νγ	γιϐ′
Τοῖς δὲ Δοβουνοῖς, Βέλγαι, καὶ πόλεις,
Ἴσχαλις	- - -	ις	γο	-	νγ	L′
Ὕδατα θερμά	- -	ιζ	γ	-	νγ	γο
Οὐέντα	- - -	ιη	γο	-	νγ	L′
Τούπων δ' ἀπὸ δυσμῶν καὶ μεσημβρίας Δουρότριγες, ἐν οἷς πόλις
Δούνιον	- - -	ιη	L′γ	-	νϐ	ιϐ
Μεθ' οὓς δυσμικώτατοι Δουμνόνιοι, ἐν οἷς πόλεις,
Οὐολίϐα	- - -	ιδ	Ls′	-	νϐ	γ
[2]Οὔξελα	- - -	ιε		-	νϐ	Ls′
Ταμαρή	- - -	ιε		-	νϐ	δ
Ἴσκα	- - -	ιζ	L′	-	νϐ	Ls′
Λεγίων δευτέρα σεβαστή	-	ιζ	L′	-	νϐ	L′ιϐ
Νῆσοι δὲ παράκεινται τῇ Ἀλουίωνος, κατὰ μὲν τὴν Ὀρκάδα ἄκραν.
[3]Ὀκητις νῆσος	- -	λϐ	γο	-	ξ	Ls′
Δοῦμνα νῆσος	- -	λ		-	ξα
Ὑπὲρ ἣν αἱ Ὀρκάδες, περὶ τριάκοντα τὸν ἀριθμὸν, ὧν τὸ μεταξὺ ἐπέχει μοίρας	- -	λ		-	ξα	γο
Καὶ ἔτι ὑπὲρ αὐτὰς, ἡ Θούλη, ἧς τὰ μὲν δυσμικώτατα, ἐπέχει μοίρας	- - - -	κθ		-	ξγ
Τὰ δὲ ἀνατολικώτατα	-	λα	γο	-	ξγ
Τὰ δὲ ἀρκτικώτατα	-	λ	γ	-	ξγ	δ
Τὰ δὲ νοτιώτατα	- -	λ	γ	-	ξϐ	γο
Τὰ δὲ μεταξὺ	- -	λ	γ	-	ξγ
Κατὰ δὲ τοὺς Τρινόαντας, νῆσοί εἰσιν αἵδε,
Τολιάπις	- - -	κγ		-	νδ	δ
Κώουνος νῆσος	- -	κδ		-	νδ	L′
Ὑπὸ δὲ τὸν μέγαν λιμένα, νῆσος Ὀυηκτις, ἧς τὸ μέσον ἐπέχει μοίρας	- - - -	ιθ	γ	-	νϐ	γ

[a]Ἀπὸ ἄρκλων δὲ, [περιορίζεται ἡ οἰκουμένη] τῷ συνημένῳ Ὠκεανῷ, τῷ περιέχονλι μὲν τὰς Βρετλανικὰς νήσους, καὶ τὰ βορειότατα τῆς Εὐρώπης, καλουμενῳ δὲ Δουηκαλιδονίῳ τε καὶ Σαρμαλιχῷ.

[b]Τῶν δὲ ἀξιολογωτέρων νήσων ἢ χερσονήσων, πρώτη μὲν Ταπροβάνη, δευτέρα δὲ, τῶν Βρετλανικῶν, ἡ Ἀλουιωνος. Τρίτη δὲ ἡ χρυσῆ Χερσόνησος, τετάρτη δὲ τῶν Βρετλανικῶν, ἡ Ἰουϐερνία.

Εὐρώπης Πίναξ. Α.

[c]Ὁ πρῶτος πίναξ τῆς Εὐρώπης περιέχει τὰς Βρετλαννικὰς νήσους, σὺν ταῖς περὶ αὐταῖς νήσοις. Ὁ δὲ διὰ μέσου αὐτῶν παράλληλος λόγον ἔχει πρὸς τόν μεσημβρινὸν, ὃν τὰ ῑα ἔγγιστα πρὸς τὰ ϰ.

Περιορίζεται δὲ ὁ πίναξ πάντοθεν ὠκεανῷ.

Ἀπὸ μὲν ἀνατολῶν, Γερμανικῷ·

Ἀπὸ δὲ μεσημβρίας, Βρετλανικῷ· καὶ τῷ καλουμένῳ Οὐεργινίῳ·

Ἀπὸ δὲ δύσεως, τῷ δυτικῷ·

Ἀπὸ δὲ ἄρκτων, ὑπερβορείῳ, καὶ τῳ καλουμένῳ Δουηκαληδονίῳ.

Ἡ μὲν οὖν Θούλη τὴν μεγίστην ἡμέραν ἔχει ὡρῶν ἰσημερινῶν ϰ, καὶ διέϛηκεν Ἀλεξανδρείας πρὸς δυσμὰς, ὥρας ἰσημερινὰς β, ἔχει δὲ μοίρας ια νη′.

Τῆς δὲ Ἰουερνίας νήσου αἱ ἐπίσημοι πόλεις.

Ἡ μὲν ὁμώνυμος τῇ νήσῳ, πόλις Ἰουερνὶς, τὴν μεγίστην ἡμέραν ἔχει ὡρῶν ἰσημερινῶν ιη, καὶ διέϛηκεν Ἀλεξανδρείας πρὸς δυσμὰς, ὥραις τρισὶ, καὶ τετάρτῳ.

Ἡ δὲ Ῥαίϐα, τὴν μεγάλην ἡμέραν ἔχει ὡρῶν ιη L′ιϐ′ καὶ διέϛηκεν Ἀλεξανδρείας πρὸς δύσεις, ὥραις τρισὶ καὶ πέμπτῳ.

Τῆς δὲ Ἀλλουΐωνος νήσου.

Τὸ μὲν Λονδίνιον τὴν μεγίστην ἡμέραν ἔχει ὡρῶν ῑη. καὶ διέϛηκεν Ἀλεξανδρείας πρὸς δύσεις, ὥραις δυσὶ καὶ γο′.

Τὸ δὲ Ἐϐόρακον ἔχει τὴν μεγίστην ἡμέραν ὡρῶν ιζ L′γ′. καὶ διέϛηκεν Ἀλεξανδρείας πρὸς δύσεις, ὥρας β γ′.

Again, south from the Atrebatii and the Cantii, lie the Rhegni and the town

Nœomagus	- - - -	19°	45′	-	53°	25′
South of the Dobuni lie the Belgæ, and the towns,
Ischalis	- - - -	16	40	-	53	30
Hot Springs	- - - -	17	20	-	53	40
Venta	- - - -	18	40	-	53	30
Beyond these, on the west and south, are the Durotriges, whose town is
Dunium	- - - - -	18	50	-	52	5
Next to these are the Dumnonii, the westernmost people, whose towns are
Voliba	- - - -	14	45	-	52	20
Uxela	- - - -	15		-	52	45
Tamare	- - - -	15		-	52	15
Isca	- - - - -	17	30	-	52	45
Second, Augustan Legion	-	17	30	-	52	35
Adjacent to Albion, near the promontory Orcas, lie these islands:
Ocetis island	- - - -	32	40	-	60	45
Dumna island	- - -	30		-	61
North of which are the Orcades, about thirty in number, of which the middlemost has degrees		30		-	61	40
Beyond them is Thule, of which the westernmost part has degrees	- - - - -	29		-	63
The easternmost	- - -	31	40	-	63
The northernmost	- - -	30	20	-	63	15
The southernmost	- - -	30	20	-	62	40
The middle	- - - -	30	20	-	63
Near the Trinoantes are these islands:
Toliapis	- - - -	23		-	54	15
Coünos island	- - -	24		-	54	30
And south of Great haven is the isle Vectis, the middle of which has degrees	- - -	19	20	-	52	20

[a]But to the north, the habitable earth is terminated by that adjoining ocean which contains the Brettanic islands and the northernmost parts of Europe, and is called the Deucalidonian or Sarmatic.

[b]But of the more celebrated islands and peninsulas, the first is Taprobane; the second, one of the Bretannic, Albion; the third, the golden Chersonesus; the fourth, Ibernia, another of the Bretannic islands.

FIRST TABLE OF EUROPE.[c]

The first table of Europe contains the Brettanic islands, with the islands around them. A parallel drawn through their diameter bears proportion to the meridian nearly as eleven to twenty.

The table is bounded on all sides by the ocean.

On the east by the Germanic;

On the south by the Bretannic, and by that called the Verginian;

On the west by the western;

And on the north by that which is called Hyperborean or Deucaledonian.

The island Thule has its longest day of twenty equinoctial hours, and is distant from Alexandria to the westward two equinoctial hours, and has degrees - - - 11° 58′

PRINCIPAL TOWNS OF THE ISLAND IBERNIA.

One of the same name with the island, Ibernis, has its longest day of eighteen equinoctial hours, and is distant from Alexandria to the westward, three hours and one quarter.

Rhaiba has its longest day of eighteen hours and an half and one-twelfth, and is distant from Alexandria to the westward, three hours and one-fifth.

OF THE ISLAND ALLBION.

Londinium has its longest day of eighteen hours, and is distant from Alexandria to the westward, two hours and two-thirds.

Eboracum has its longest day of seventeen hours one half and one-third, and is distant from Alexandria to the westward, two hours and one-third.

[1] Ῥηγινοί [2] Οὔξελλα, Οὔζελλα [3] Ὀκιτίς

[a] Lib. VII. c. 5. p. 214. [b] P. 215. [c] Lib. VIII. c. 2. p. 223.

Digitized by Google

Τὸ δὲ Κατουρακτόνιον ἔχει τὴν μεγίστην ἡμέραν ὡρῶν ιη̄, καὶ διέσηκεν Ἀλεξανδρείας πρὸς δύσεις, ὥραις β̄ γ′.

Τὸ δὲ πίερωτὸν στρατόπεδον ἔχει τὴν μεγίστην ἡμέραν ὡρῶν ιη̄ Ⅼ, καὶ διέσηκεν Ἀλεξανδρείας πρὸς δύσεις, ὥραις β̄ ς′.

Δούμνα δὲ ἡ νῆσος, ἔχει τὴν μεγίστην ἡμέραν ὡρῶν ῑθ̄, καὶ διέσηκεν Ἀλεξανδρείας πρὸς δύσεις, ὥραις β̄.

Ἡ δὲ Οὐηκτις νῆσος ἔχει τὴν μεγίστην ἡμέραν ὡρῶν ῑς̄ γ′. καὶ διέσηκεν Ἀλεξανδρείας πρὸς δύσεις, ὥραις δυσὶ, τριτῳ.

Εὐρώπης Πίναξ Γ.

[a] Ὁ τρίτος πίναξ τῆς Εὐρώπης, περιέχει τὰς Γαλλίας ἐν τέτρασιν ἐπαρχίαις, σὺν ταῖς παρακειμέναις νήσοις, ὁ δὲ διὰ μέσου αὐτοὺ παράλληλος λόγον ἔχει πρὸς τὸν μεσημβρινὸν, ὃν τὰ β̄ πρὸς τὰ γ′.

Περιορίζεται δὲ ὁ πίναξ, ἀπὸ μὲν ἀνατολῶν, Γερμανίᾳ μεγάλῃ, Ἰταλίᾳ, καὶ Ῥαιτίᾳ·

Ἀπὸ δὲ μεσημβρίας, τῇ Γαλλικῇ θαλάσσῃ·

Ἀπὸ δὲ δύσεως, τοῖς Πυρηναίοις ὄρεσι καὶ τῷ Ἀκουιτανικῷ κόλπῳ·

Ἀπὸ δὲ ἀρκτῶν, τῷ Βρεττιαννικῷ Ὠκεανῷ.

EX EODEM PTOLEMÆO.[b]

Εἰκοσιὸς δεύτερός ἐστι παράλληλος καθ' ὃν ἂν γένοιτο ἡ μεγίστη ἡμέρα ὡρῶν ἰσημερινῶν ῑζ̄ δ″. Ἀπέχει δ' οὗτος τοῦ ἰσημερινοῦ, μοιρῶν ν̄ε̄. καὶ γράφεται διὰ Βριγαντίου τῆς μεγάλης Βρεττανίας. Ἔστι δὲ ἐνταῦθα οἵων ὁ γνώμων ξ̄, τοιούτων, ἡ μὲν θερινὴ σκιὰ λ̄ξ̄ δ″. ἡ δὲ ἰσημερινὴ π̄ε̄ γ′ο″, ἡ δὲ χειμερινὴ τ̄ο̄ ς″.

Εἰκοσιὸς τρίτος ἐστὶ παράλληλος καθ' ὃν ἂν γένοιτο ἡ μεγίστη ἡμέρα ὡρῶν ἰσημερινῶν ῑζ̄ ς″. Ἀπέχει δ' οὗτος τοῦ ἰσημερινοῦ μοιρῶν ν̄ς̄. καὶ γράφεται διὰ μέσης τῆς μεγάλης Βρεττανίας. Ἔστι δὲ ἐνταῦθα οἵων ὁ γνώμων ξ̄, τοιούτων ἡ μὲν θερινὴ σκιὰ λ̄ζ̄ γ′ο″. ἡ δὲ ἰσημερινὴ π̄η̄. ς″. γ″. ἡ δὲ χειμερινὴ τ̄λ̄ε̄ δ″.

Εἰκοσιὸς τέταρτός ἐστι παράλληλος, καθ' ὃν ἂν γένοιτο ἡ μεγίστη ἡμέρα ὡρῶν ἰσημερινῶν ῑζ̄ ς″ δ″. Ἀπέχει δὲ οὗτος τοῦ ἰσημερινοῦ, μοιρῶν ν̄ζ̄. καὶ γράφεται διὰ Κατουρακλονίου τῆς Βρεττανίας. Ἔστι δὲ ἐνταῦθα οἵων ὁ γνώμων ξ̄, τοιούτων ἡ μὲν θερινὴ σκιὰ λ̄θ̄ γ″, ἡ δὲ ἰσημερινὴ τ̄β̄ γ″ ῑβ″, ἡ δὲ χειμερινὴ τ̄ο̄β ῑβ″.

EX DIONYSIO PERIEGETA.[c]

. . . . ἦχι βορείου
Ὠκεανοῦ κέχυται ψυχρὸς ῥόος· ἔνθα Βρετανοὶ,
Λευκά τε φῦλα νέμονται ἀρειμανέων Γερμανῶν.
[d] Αὐτὰρ ὑπ' ἄκρην
Ἰρὴν, ἣν ἐνέπουσι κάρην ἔμεν Εὐρωπείης,
Νήσους θ' Ἐσπερίδας, τόθι κασσιτέροιο γενέθλη,
Ἀφνειοὶ ναίουσιν ἀγαυῶν παῖδες Ἰβήρων·
Ἄλλαι δ' ὠκεανοῖο παραὶ βορεώτιδας ἀκτὰς
Δισσαὶ νῆσοι ἔασι Βρετανίδες, αντία Ῥήνου·
Κεῖθι γὰρ ὑστατίην ἀπερεύγεται εἰς ἅλα δίνην.
Τάων τοι μέγεθος περιώσιον· οὐδέ τις ἄλλη
Νήσοις ἐν πάσῃσι Βρετανίσιν ἰσοφαρίζει.
Ἄγχι δὲ, νησίαδων ἕτερος πόρος, ἔνθα γυναῖκες
Ἀνδρῶν ἀντιπέρηθεν ἀγαυῶν Ἀμνιτάων
Ὀρνύμεναι τελέουσι κατὰ νόμον ἱερὰ Βάκχῳ,
Στεψάμεναι κισσοῖο μελαμφύλλοιο κορύμβοις,
Ἐννύχιαι· παταγῆς δὲ λιγύθροος ὄρνυται ἠχή.
Οὐχ οὕτω Θρῄικος ἐπ' ἠόσιν Αψίνθοιο

Caturactonium has its longest day of eighteen hours, and is distant from Alexandria towards the west, two hours and one-third.

The Winged Camp has its longest day of eighteen hours and one-half, and is distant from Alexandria to the westward, two hours and one-sixth.

Dumna island has its longest day of nineteen hours, and is distant from Alexandria to the westward, two hours.

The island Vectis has its longest day of sixteen hours and one-third, and is distant from Alexandria to the west, two hours and one-third.

THIRD TABLE OF EUROPE.

[a] The third table of Europe contains Gallia in four provinces, with the adjacent islands: a parallel drawn through its diameter bears proportion to the meridian as two to three.

The table is bounded on the east by the greater Germany, Italy, and Rhætia:

On the south by the Gallic sea:

On the west by the Pyrenean Mountains and the Aquitanic Gulf:

On the north by the Brettanic Ocean.

THE SAME PTOLEMY.[b]

The twenty-second parallel is that where the longest day would be of seventeen equinoctial hours and one-fourth. And it is distant from the equator fifty-five degrees, and is described through Brigantium of Great Britain. And as the gnomon here is of sixty parts, so the summer shadow is thirty-six and one-fourth; the equinoctial eighty-five and two-thirds; and the winter shadow is three hundred and four and a half.

The twenty-third parallel is that where the longest day would be of seventeen equinoctial hours and one-half; and it is distant from the equator fifty-six degrees, and is described through the centre of Great Britain. And as the gnomon here is of sixty parts, so the summer shadow is thirty-seven and a third; the equinoctial eighty-eight, one-half, and a third; and the winter three hundred and thirty-five and a fourth.

The twenty-fourth parallel is that where the longest day would be of seventeen equinoctial hours, one half, and a fourth; and it is distant from the equator fifty-seven degrees, and is described through Caturactonium of Britain. And as the gnomon here is of sixty parts, so the summer shadow is thirty-nine and a third; the equinoctial is ninety-two and a third and one-twelfth; and the winter three hundred and seventy-two and one-twelfth.

DIONYSIUS PERIEGETA.[c]

. . . . . where its cold flood
The northern ocean pours, the Britons there
And white-hued tribes of warlike Germans dwell.
[d] But near the sacred cape,
There where they say is Europe's utmost bound,
And near th' Hesperides, whence tin proceeds,
Dwell the rich progeny of noble Spain:
And on the ocean's northern coasts are found
Two British islands fronting to the Rhine,
Where in the sea he disembogues his stream:
Of these th' extent is vast, no other isles
To the Britannic justly can compare.
Islets adjacent lie, wherein the wives
From the Amnites' distant shore perform
Due rites to Bacchus thro' the livelong night,
Deck'd in the dark-leav'd ivy's clustering buds,
While the shrill echo of their chaunt resounds:
Not so, upon Absinthus' Thracian banks

---

[a] P. 224.

[b] Claudii Ptolemæi Syntaxis Mathematicæ lib. II. Apud Halma, Paris. 1813, T. 1. p. 85.

[c] Dionysii Orbis Periegesis versibus 283 et seq. Apud Hudson, Geographi Minores, Oxonii, 1712. T. 4. p. 50.

Floruisse putatur Dionysius Periegetes exeunte sæculo secundo.

[d] V. 561.

Digitized by Google

Βιστονίδες καλέουσιν ἐρίβρομον Εἰραφιώτην,
Οὐδ' οὕτω σὺν παισὶ μελανδίνην ἀνὰ Γάγγην
Ἰνδοὶ κῶμον ἄγουσιν ἐριβρεμέτῃ Διονύσῳ,
Ὡς κεῖνον κατὰ χῶρον ἀνευάζουσι γυναῖκες.
Πολλὴν δὲ προτέρωσε ταμὼν ὁδὸν ὠκεανοῖο,
Νῆσόν κεν Θούλην εὐεργέϊ νηῒ περήσαις·
Ἔνθα μὲν ἠελίοιο βεβηκότος ἐς πόλον ἄρκλων,
Ἤματ' ὁμοῦ καὶ νύκλας ἀειφανὲς ἐκκέχυλαι πῦρ.
Λοξοτέρῃ γὰρ τῆμος ἐπισλρέφεται σλροφάλιγγι,
Ἀκλίνων ἰθεῖαν ἐπὶ κλίσιν ἐρχομενάων,
Μέσφ' ἐπὶ κυανέους νοτίην ὁδὸν αὖλις ἐλάσσῃ.

EX MARCIANO HERACLEOTA.[a]

Τῆς τε Ταπροβάνης καλουμένης, τῆς [1]Παλλιγεμούνδου λεγομένης πρότερον, καὶ ταῖς Βρεταννικαῖς ἀμφοτέραις νήσοις. ὧν τὴν μὲν πρώτην καὶ μεσόλαλον τοῦ Ἰνδικοῦ πελάγους κεῖσθαι συνέσληκεν, τὰς δ' εἱέρας δύο ἐν τῷ ἀρκλώῳ ὠκεανῷ.

[b]Πρώτη μὲν ἡ Ταπροβάνη νῆσος ἡ [2]Πάλαι σιμούνδου καλουμένη πρόλερον, νῦν δὲ Σαλική. δευτέρα δὲ τῶν Βρεταννικῶν ἡ Ἀλβίων, τρίτη δὲ ἡ χρυσῆ Χερσόνησος. τετάρτη δὲ τῶν Βρεταννικῶν ἡ Ἰουερνία.

[c]Πρὸς δὲ τούτοις καὶ τῶν δύο νήσων τῶν ἐν τῷ ἀρκτώῳ κειμέναν ὠκεανῷ, ἃς κοινῶς μὲν Πρεϊλαννικὰς καλοῦσι. λέγεται δὲ αὐτῶν ἡ μὲν Ἰουερνία, ἡ δὲ Ἀλβίωνος.

[d]Ἡ Λουγδουνησία Γαλλία περιορίζεται ἀπὸ μὲν ἄρκτων τῷ Πρετανικῷ ὠκεανῷ.

[e]Ἡ Βελγικὴ σὺν ταῖς δύο Γερμανίαις περιορίζεται ἀπὸ μὲν ἀρκλίων τῷ ἀρκλώῳ ὠκεανῷ τῷ παρὰ τὴν Πρεταννίαν διήκονλι.

Περὶ τῶν Πρετανικῶν νήσων.

[f]Αἱ Πρετανικαὶ νῆσοι δύο εἰσὶν, ἥτε καλουμένη Ἀλβίων, καὶ ἡ Ἰουερνία. ἀλλ' ἡ μὲν Ἀλβίων μείζων καὶλὰ πολὺ τυγχάνει. κεῖται δὲ καταντικρὺ τῆς Κελλογαλατίας, παρά τε τὴν Λουγδουνήσιαν καὶ τὴν Βελγικὴν, μέχρι τῆς μεγάλης Γερμανίας ἐκτεινομένη. οὐ γὰρ ἐσλι συνεσλραμμένη καθάπερ αἱ ἄλλαι νῆσοι· ἀλλ' ὥσπερ διηρημένη καὶ διεσπαρμένη, καὶὰ πλείσλου μέρους διήκει τοὺ ἀρκλώου ὠκεανοῦ, δύο μάλισλα μακροτάτους ἰσθμοὺς, ὥσπερ πόδας τινὰς ἔχουσα· ὧν ὁ μὲν μείζων, ὁ δὲ ἐλάττων· μέχρι τῆς Ἀκυτανίας διήκει. ἡ δὲ ἑτέρα νῆσος ἡ Ἰουερνία, ὑπὲρ αὖλὴν δὲ κειμένη, δυτικωλέρα δὲ τυγχάνουσα, ἐλάσσων τέ ἐσλι τῷ μεγέθει, καὶ τὴν ἴσην ἔχει θέσιν τῇ προειρημένῃ. ταύτης τοίνυν τῆς προτέρας τὸν περίπλουν ἀναγράψομεν, ἔιθ' οὕτως ἐπὶ τὴν μείζονα ἐλευσόμεθα.

Ἰουερνίας νήσου Βρετανικῆς περίπλους.

Ἡ Ἰουερνία νῆσος ἡ Πρεταννικὴ περιορίζεται ἀπὸ μὲν τῶν [3]ἄκρων τῷ ὑπερκειμένῳ καὶ καλουμένῳ Ὑπερβορείῳ ὠκεανῷ· ἀπὸ δὲ ἀνατολῶν τῷ ὠκεανῷ τῷ καλουμένῳ Ἰουερνικῷ· ἀπὸ δὲ δυσμῶν τῷ δυτίκῷ ὠκεανῷ· ἀπὸ δὲ μεσημβρίας τῷ καλουμένῳ Οὐεργουίῳ ὠκεανῷ. καὶ ἡ μὲν ὅλη θέσις τῆς νήσου τοῦτον ἔχει τὸν τρόπον. ἐσλι δὲ τῆς Ἰουερνίας νήσου τῆς Πρεταννικῆς τὸ μὲν μῆκος μέγισλον ἀπὸ τοῦ Νολίου ἀκρωτηρίου ἀρχόμενον, καὶ καλαλῆγον ἐπὶ τὸ *Ροβόγδιον ἄκρον· ὡς εἶναι τῆς νήσου τὸ μῆκος σλάδια ,β. ρ. ο'. Τὸ δὲ πλάτος ἄρχεται μὲν ἀπὸ τοῦ αὖλοῦ ἄκρου, περαιοῦλαι δὲ εἰς τὸ Ροβόγδιον ἄκρον· ὡς εἶναι τῆς νήσου τὸ πλάλος σλάδια ,α. ω. λ. δ'. Τὰ δὲ ἄκρα αὐτῆς ἀπὸ τῶν ὁριζόντων διέστηκε τὸν τρόπον τοῦλον. Τὸ μὲν ἀρκλῶου αὐλῆς ἄκρον ἀπὸ τοῦ ἀρκτώου ὁρίζονλος σλάδια . . ,δ σ ν. τὸ δὲ δυτικὸν αὐτῆς ἄκρον ἀπὸ τῆς ἰσημερίας στάδια ,η τ ιζ. τὸ δὲ ἀνατολικὸν ἄκρον, ἀπὸ τῆς ἀνατολῆς σλάδια . . τ ιζ'. ἔχει δὲ ἔθνη ις'· πόλεις ἐπισήμους ἕνδεκα, ποταμοὺς ἐπισήμους ιε'. ἀκρωτήρια ἐπίσημα πέντε, νήσους ἐπισήμους ἓξ. οἱ πάντες τοῦ περίπλου τῆς νήσου τῆς Ἰουερνίας, οὐ πλεῖσλον σλαδίων ,θ π ε'. οὐχ ἧλλον σλαδίων ,ς ω μ ε.

Bistonians hail the harsh Iraphiote;
Nor thus, around the dark-gulf'd Ganges' stream,
The Indians with their sons on Bacchus call,
Noisy and loud, amid the festive scene,
As shout these women 'Evoe' to their god.
Far more remote, dividing ocean's flood
With firm-built bark, you Thule's isle approach:
And here the sun, proceeding to the pole,
Still day and night pours out his brilliant fire,
What time he turns with wheeling more oblique,
His rays inclining to a point direct,
Till to the Moors he bends his southern path.

MARCIANUS HERACLEOTA.[a]

With Taprobane so called, formerly denominated Palligemundus, and both the Bretannic islands: of which the former is affirmed to lie in the very midst of the Indian Sea, the other two in the Arctic Ocean.

[b]The first is the island Taprobane, formerly called Palæsimundus, but now Salice: the second, Albion, one of the Bretannic islands; the third, the golden Chersonesus; the fourth, Ibernia, another Bretannic isle.

[c]And besides these are two islands lying in the Arctic Ocean, which they commonly call Pretannic: of these, one is named Ibernia, the other the island of Albion.

[d]Lugdunesian Gaul is bounded on the north by the Pretannic Ocean.

[e]Belgic Gaul, with the two Germanys, is bounded on the north by the Arctic Ocean, which stretches along beyond Pretannia.

CONCERNING THE PRETANNIC ISLANDS.

[f]The Pretannic islands are two; one called Albion, the other Ibernia, of which Albion is by far the greater. It is situated opposite to Celtogalatia, lying over against Lugdunesia and Belgica as far as the greater Germany: for it is not contracted like other islands; but drawn out as it were and extended, it spreads over a great part of the northern ocean: having two particularly extensive isthmuses, one greater than the other, in the form of feet, of which the lesser stretches out towards Aquitania. The other island is Ibernia, lying beyond this, more to the westward, but less in size, and similarly placed to that before mentioned; of this, therefore, we will first describe the circumnavigation, and then in like manner proceed to the greater.

CIRCUMNAVIGATION OF THE BRETANNIC ISLE IBERNIA.

Ibernia, the Pretannic island, is bounded at its extremity by the ocean lying to the north, and called Hyperborean; on the east by the sea named Ibernian; on the west by the Western Ocean; and on the south by what is called the Vergivian Ocean. And the position of the whole island is of this description: the extreme length of Ibernia, the Pretannic island, begins from the promontory Notium and ends at Rhobogdium; so that the length of the island is two thousand one hundred and seventy stadia. The breadth begins from the same promontory, and terminates also at the promontory *Rhobogdium, so that the breadth of the island is one thousand eight hundred and thirty-four stadia. Its promontories are distant from the horisons as follows: its northern promontory is distant from the northern horison four thousand two hundred and fifty stadia; its western promontory from the equator is eight thousand three hundred and seventeen stadia, and its eastern promontory from the east is * three hundred and seventeen stadia. It contains sixteen nations, eleven celebrated towns, fifteen principal rivers, five remarkable promontories, six distinguished islands. The whole circumnavigation of the island Ibernia is not more than nine thousand and eighty-five, nor less than six thousand eight hundred and forty-five stadia.

[1] Παλαισμούνδου H. [2] Παλαισιμούνδου H. [3] ἄρκλων H. * Ἱερὸν?

[a] Marciani Heracleotæ Peripli lib. I. Apud Hudson, Geographi Minores, Oxonii, 1712, T. I. p. 2. Marcianus Heracleota sæculo tertio vixisse putatur.
[b] P. 9. [c] P. 35. [d] P. 48. [e] P. 49. [f] P. 57.

Digitized by Google

Ἀλβίωνος νήσου Βρεττανικῆς περίπλους.

Ἀκολούθως τοίνυν καὶ τῆς Ἀλβίωνος νήσου τὸν περίπλουν ἐκθήσομεν. Ἡ Ἀλβίων νῆσος ἡ Πρεττανικὴ περιορίζεται ἀπὸ μὲν ἄρκλων τῷ ὠκεανῷ τῷ καλουμένῳ [1]Δουκαληδονίῳ, ἀπὸ δὲ ἀνατολῶν τῷ Γερμανικῷ ὠκεανῷ· ἀπὸ δὲ δύσεως τῷ τε Ἰουερνικῷ ὠκεανῷ, μεθ' ὃν ἡ Ἰουερνία νῆσος· ἔτι μὴν καὶ τῷ [2]Εὐρκουίῳ ὠκεανῷ· ἀπὸ δὲ μεσημβρίας τῷ Πρεττάνικῷ ὠκεανῷ καὶ ταῖς προειρημέναις τῆς Γαλλίας ἠπείροις καὶ ἔθνεσιν· καὶ ἡ μὲν ὅλη περιγραφὴ τῆς νήσου τοῦτον ἔχει τὸν τρόπον. ἔστι δὲ τῆς Ἀλβίωνος νήσου τῆς Πρεταννικῆς τὸ μῆκος ἀρχόμενον μὲν ἀπὸ τοῦ δυτικοῦ ὁρίζοντος κατὰ τὸ [3]Δάμνιον ἄκρον, τὸ καὶ Ὀκρίον καλούμενον, περαιούμενον δὲ ἕως [4]Ταυροεδούνου τῆς καὶ Ὀρκάδος καλουμένης ἄκρας· ὡς εἶναι τοῦ μήκους τοῦ μεγίστου σλάδια ,ε σ κ ε. τὸ δὲ πλάτος αὐτῆς ἄρχεται μέν καὶ τὸ Δάμνιον ἄκρον, τὸ καὶ Ὀκρίον καλούμενον· καταλήγει δὲ εἰς τὴν τῶν [5]Νευάντων Χερσόνησον καὶ τὸ ὁμώνυμον ἀκρωτήριον. ὡς εἶναι τοῦ πλάτους καὶ τὴν μεγίστην γραμμὴν σλάδια, γ. π γ. ἔχει δὲ ἐν αὐτῇ ἔθνη λ γ, πόλεις ἐπισήμους ν θ, ποτάμους ἐπισήμους μ, ἀκρωτήρια ἐπίσημα ι δ, Χερσόνησον ἐπίσημον ἕνα, κόλπους ἐπισήμους έ, λίμενας ἐπισήμους γ. οἱ πάντες τοῦ περίπλου πάντος τῆς νήσου τῆς Ἀλβίωνος οὐ πλεῖον [6]σλάδια 6 η χ δ. οὐχ ἧττον σλαδίων β φ κ ς. καὶ ὁ μὲν περίπλους τοῦ δυτικοῦ καὶ ἀρκτώου ὠκεανοῦ τῶν παρὰ τὴν Εὐρώπην μερῶν, καὶ τῶν ἐν αὐτῷ Πρεταννικῶν νήσων ἐνταῦθα τὸ τέλος ἔχει. ὥσπερ δὲ ἐν τῷ προτέρῳ βιβλίῳ τῶν μὲν παρὰ τὴν Λιβύην δεξιῶν μερῶν τοῦ Ἀραβίου κόλπου, καὶ τῆς ἐρυθρᾶς θαλάσσης καί τοῦ δυτικοῦ ὠκεανοῦ τοῦ πρὸς μεσημβρίαν ὀρῶντος τὸν περίπλουν ἐπὶ κεφαλαίων ἐποιησάμεθα σαφηνείας ἕνεκα διὰ μακροῦ τὸν τῶν σταδίων ἀριθμὸν ἀποδόντες· τῶν δὲ παρὰ τὴν Ἀσίαν ἀριστερῶν ἀπάντων μερῶν μέχρι Σινῶν τοῦ ἔθνους καὶ τῆς ἀγνώστου γῆς ἀκριβῆ τὸν περίπλουν ἀνεγράψαμεν, τῶν διαστημάτων ἁπάντων τοὺς σταδίους σημάναντες· οὕτω κἀνταῦθα τῶν δεξιῶν μερῶν τοῦ ὠκεανοῦ τοῦ παρὰ τὴν Εὐρώπην ὅλος ἀπὸ τῶν Ἡρακλείων στηλῶν μέχρι τῆς ἀγνώστου γῆς, καὶ τοῦ παρ' αὐτὴν περατουμένου Σαρματικοῦ ὠκεανοῦ, καὶ προσέτιγε τῶν Πρεταννικῶν νήσων εἰς δύναμιν τὸν περίπλουν πεποιήμεθα· προσθέντες καὶ τῶν σταδίων [7]ἀριθμόν.

EX AGATHEMERO.[a]

Νῆσοι δὲ ταύτης τῆς ἠπείρου [τῆς Εὐρώπης] ἀξιόλογοι ἐν μὲν τῇ ἐκτὸς θαλάσσῃ αἱ Βρεταννικαὶ δύο Ἰουερνίας τε καὶ Ἀλουίωνος.

Ἀλλ' ἡ μὲν Ἰουερνία δυτικωτάτη κειμένη, ἀνυπαρεκτείνεται μέχρι τινὸς τῆς Ἱσπανίας. Ἡ δὲ Ἀλουίων, ἐν ᾗ καὶ τὰ στρατόπεδα ἵδρυται, μεγίστη τέ ἐστι καὶ ἐπιμηκεστάτη. Ἀρξαμένη γὰρ ἀπὸ τῶν ἄρκλων μέσον τῆς Ταρρακωνησίας πρόσεισιν, ἐπ' ἀναπολὰς μέχρι τῶν μέσων χεδὸν τῆς Γερμανίας.

[b]Τῶν δὲ νήσων τῶν πάνυ μεγίστων πρωτεύει μὲν παρὰ πάσας ἐν τῇ οἰκουμένῃ ἡ Σαλική, δευτερεύει δὲ Ἀλουίωνος, τὰ δὲ τρίτα φέροιτ' ἂν Ἰουερνία.

[c]Ὁ μὲν γὰρ ὑπὸ τοῖς Ἄρκτοις πᾶς μὲν Ἀρκτικὸς καὶ Βόρειος λέγεται. ἤδη δὲ αὐτοῦ τὸ μὲν ἀναπολικώτερον Σκυθικὸς Ὠκεανός, τὸ δὲ δυτικώτερον Γερμανικός τε καὶ Βρεττανικὸς καλεῖται.

EX COSMOGRAPHIA ÆTHICO ASCRIPTA.[d]

[e]Oceani Occidentalis maria sunt, ...
Mare [8]Orcadum.
Item huc pertinent maria . . .
Mare [9]Britanni.
Oceani Occidentalis [10]famosæ insulæ sunt,' [11]Hyberus.
Mevania.
Britannia.
[12]Heboso . .
Orcades.[13]
Oceanus Occidentalis habet provincias . . .
Britanniam.[14]

CIRCUMNAVIGATION OF THE BRETANNIC ISLAND ALBION.

We will now in the next place describe the circumnavigation of the island Albion. Albion the Pretannic island is bounded on the north by what is called the Deucaledonian Ocean; on the east by the Germanic Ocean; on the west by the Ibernian Ocean, after which is the island Ibernia, and also by the Vergivian Ocean; on the south by the Pretannic Ocean, and by the before-mentioned continents and nations of Gaul; and the entire circuit of the island is of this description: the length then of the Pretannic island Albion, beginning from the western extremity near the promontory Damnium, which is also called Ocrium, extends to Tauroedunum, named also the promontory Orcas; so that its extreme length is five thousand two hundred and twenty-five stadia. Its breadth begins also near the promontory Damnium, called also Ocrium, and ends at the chersonesus of the Novantæ, and the promontory similarly named; so that its width in its farthest extent is three thousand and eighty-three stadia. It contains thirty-three nations, fifty-nine celebrated towns, forty noble rivers, fourteen lofty promontories, one notable chersonesus, five spacious bays, three commodious harbours. The whole circumnavigation of the island of Albion is not more than twenty-eight thousand six hundred and four, nor less than twenty thousand five hundred and twenty-six stadia. And here terminates the circuit of those parts of the Western and Arctic Ocean which border on Europe, and of the Pretannic islands therein. But as in our former book we described by chapters the circumnavigation of the dextral parts of the Arabian Gulf near Libya, and of the Red Sea, and of that part of the Western Ocean which looks towards the south, giving at length, for the sake of perspicuity, the number of stadia; and moreover have given an accurate survey of all the sinistral parts near Asia as far as the Sinese nation and the unknown land, describing their distances by stadia: so here also we have next made the circumnavigation of the dextral parts of the ocean which washes Europe, from the Pillars of Hercules to the unknown land, and of the Sarmatic Ocean which terminates near it; and moreover, of the Pretannic islands, to the best of our ability; adding also thereto the number of stadia.

AGATHEMER.[a]

The islands of this continent [Europe] worthy of notice in the outer sea, are the two Bretannic, Ibernia and Albion. Ibernia, situated farthest towards the west, for some distance lies opposite and parallel to Hispania: but Albion, in which there are fortresses erected, is the largest and longest. For, beginning from the north, it extends as far as the middle of Tarraconesia; towards the east, nearly to the middle of Germany.

[b] Amidst the larger islands of the habitable world Salice is the first, Albion the next, and Ibernia the third.

[c] The whole ocean lying under the pole is called Arctic or Northern; but now its eastern part is styled the Scythic, as is its western the Germanic and Bretannic ocean.

[1] Δευκαληδονίῳ Ptol. [2] Οὐεργιουίῳ. [3] Δαμνονίον et mox Ὀκρεινον. [4] Ταυρουέδουμ. [5] Νουάντων. [6] σλαδίων [7] ἄριθμον. τῶν δὲ ἀριστερῶν τῆς Λιβυκῆς μερῶν παρὰ τοῖ δυλικοῦ. [8] quod Orcades appellant. Jul. Hon. [9] Britannicum Jul. [10] insulæ quæ et quantæ sint. Jul. [11] Hibero insula. Jul. [12] Ebusos Jul. [13] insulæ sunt novem. Jul. [14] Montes quos habet Oceanus Occidentalis . . . montes II. Britanniæ. Jul.

[a] Agathemeri Geographiæ lib. II. c. 4. Apud Hudson, Geographi Minores, Oxon. 1703.
Sæculo tertio scripsisse putatur Agathemerus.
[b] C. 8. [c] C. 14.
[d] Ed Gronovii, Lugd. Batav. 1722. p. 711.
Composita est, ut videtur, hæc Cosmographia circa finem sæculi quarti.
[e] Hæc contulimus cum excerptis Julii Honorii, apud Gronovium, ubi supra, p. 69.

Digitized by Google

ALIA TOTIUS ORBIS DESCRIPTIO.

[a]Gallia Belgica habet ... a circio oceanum Britannicum, a septentrione Britanniam insulam.

Hispania ... secundus angulus intendit ubi Brigantia civitas [1]sita est Galliciæ ac altissimum[1] farum, et inter pauca memorandi operis ad speculam Britanniæ [2]erigitur.

[b]Et quoniam oceanus habet insulas Britanniam et Hyberniam, quæ in aversa parte Galliarum ad prospectum Hispaniæ sitæ sunt, breviter explicabuntur.

Britannia oceani insula per longum in Boream extenditur. Habet a meridie Gallias: cujus proximum litus transmeantibus civitas aperit, quæ dicitur [3]Rutubi portus: unde haud procul a Morinis in Austro positos Menapos Batavosque prospectant. Hæc insula habet in longo millia passuum DCCC. in lato millia CC. A tergo unde oceano infinito patet [4]Orcades insulas habet quarum viginti desertæ sunt, [5]XIV. coluntur. Insula Tile quæ per infinitum a cæteris [6]patet longius secreta[1] in medio oceani sita vix paucis nota habetur.

Hybernia insula [7]in Britanniam et Hispaniam longiore [8]ab Africo in Boream spatio porrigitur; cujus partes priores intentæ Cantabrico oceano Brigantiam Galliciæ civitatem ab Africo sibi in Circium occurrentem, spatioso intervallo procul spectant, ab eo præcipue promontorio ubi Sæcanæ fluminis ostium est, ubi Velabri Lucenique consistunt. Hæc [9]priori Britanniæ spatio terrarum angustior, cœli [10]solisque temperie magis utilis, a Scotorum gentibus colitur. Huic etiam Mevania insula proxima est, et ipsa spatio non parva, solo commoda, æque a Scotorum gentibus habitatur.

EX EXPOSITIONE TOTIUS MUNDI.[c]

Deinde alia quæ sic vocatur, Britannia Insula, sicut qui [ibi] fuerunt narrant, valde maxima et præcipua in omnibus.

E RUFO FESTO AVIENO.[d]

Tellus Europa Columnis
Proxima magnanimos alit æquo cespite Iberos.
Hi super oceani borealis frigida tangunt
Æquora et excursu diffusi latius agri
Arva tenent, [11]duris nimium vicina Britannis.

[e]Eminus hic aliæ[12] gelidi prope flabra Aquilonis
Exsuperant undas, et vasta cacumina tollunt.
Hæ numero geminæ, pingues sola, cespitis amplæ,
Conditur occidui qua [13]Rhenus gurgitis unda,
Dira Britannorum sustentant agmina terris.
Hic spumosus item ponti liquor explicat æstum,
Et brevis e pelago vertex subit. Hic chorus ingens
Fœminei cœtus pulchri colit orgia Bacchi:
Producit noctem ludus sacer: aera pulsant
Vocibus, et crebris late sola calcibus urgent.
Non sic Absynthi prope flumina [14]Thracis alumnæ
Bistonides, non qua celeri ruit agmine Ganges,
Indorum populi stata curant festa Lyæo.
Longa dehinc celeri si quis rate marmora currit,
Inque Lycaonias cymbam procul urgeat arctos,
Inveniet vasto surgentem vertice Thulen.
Hic cum plaustra poli tangit Phœbeius ignis;
Nocte sub inlustri rota solis fomite flagrat
Continuo; clarumque diem nox æmula ducit,
Nam sol obliquo torquetur cardine mundi,
Directosque super radios, vicinior axi
Occiduo inclinat, donec juga rursus anhela
Devexo accipiat cœlo notus. . . .

EX EODEM AVIENO.[f]

Sub hujus autem prominentis vertice
Sinus dehiscit incolis Oestrymnicus,
In quo Insulæ sese exserunt Oestrymnides,
Laxe jacentes, et metallo divites
Stanni atque plumbi. Multa vis hic gentis est,
Superbus animus, efficax sollertia,
Negotiandi cura jugis omnibus:
Notisque cymbis turbidum late fretum,
Et belluosi gurgitem oceani secant.
Non hi carinas quippe pinu texere,
Acereve norunt, non abiete, ut usus est,
Curvant faselos; sed rei ad miraculum,
Navigia junctis semper aptant pellibus,
Corioque vastum sæpe percurrunt salum.
Ast hinc duobus in Sacram, sic insulam
Dixere prisci, solibus cursus rati est.
Hæc inter undas multa cespitem jacet,
Eamque late gens Hibernorum colit.
Propinqua rursus insula Albionum patet.
Tartessiisque in terminos Oestrymnidum
Negotiandi mos erat; Carthaginis
Etiam coloni, et vulgus, inter Herculis
Agitans columnas, hæc adibant æquora:
Quæ Himilco Pœnus mensibus vix quatuor,
Ut ipse semet re probasse retulit
Enavigantem, posse transmitti adserit,
Sic nulla late flabra propellunt ratem,
Sic segnis humor æquoris pigri stupet.
Adjicit et illud, plurimum inter gurgites
Extare fucum, et sæpe virgulti vice Retinere puppim; dicit hic nichilominus
Non in profundum terga demitti maris,
Parvoque aquarum vix supertexi solum:
Obire semper huc et huc ponti feras

[1]Calleciæ sita, altissimam Oros. [2]erigit O. [3]Rutupi. Rhutubi O. [4]al. Orcadas. [5]XIII. O. [6]separata circium versus O. [7]inter O. [8]sita add. O. [9]propior O. [10]soli O. [11]al. auris. forte arvis vel duris Huds. [12]insulæ scil. [13]al. Rheni. [14]al. Thraces et almæ.

[a] P. 728. Hucusque Jul. Honor: quæ sequuntur vero ad verbum fere exhibentur apud Orosium, lib. I. c. 2.
[b] P. 729.
[c] Apud Hudson, Geographi Minores, Oxonii, 1712. p. 20. Hæc ab anonymo cir. A.D. 340 conscripta fuisse putatur.
[d] Rufi Festi Avieni Descriptionis Orbis Terræ versibus 414 et seq. Apud Wernsdorf, Poetæ Latini Minores, Helmstadiæ, 1791. T. v.
Rufum Festum Avienum circa A.D. 370 scripsisse conjectant.
[e] V. 745. [f] Oræ Maritimæ v. 94 et seq. Ubi supra.

Digitized by Google

Navigia lenta et languide repentia
Internatare belluas. Si quis dehinc
Ab insulis Oestrymnicis lembum audeat
Urgere in undas, axe qua Lycaonis
Rigescit æthra, cespitem Ligurum subit
Cassum incolarum .....

EX STEPHANO BYZANTINO.[a]

Αἰβοῦδαι, νῆσοι πέντε τῆς Βρετανικῆς, ὡς Μαρκιανὸς ἐν περίπλῳ. Τὸ ἐθνικὸν Αἰβουδαῖος.

Ἀλβίων, νῆσος Βρετανικὴ· Μαρκιανὸς ἐν περίπλῳ αὐτῆς. Τὸ ἐθνικὸν Ἀλβιώνιος.

Βρεττία . . . Εἰσὶ καὶ Βρεττανίδες νῆσοι ἐν τῷ Ὠκεανῷ, ὧν τὸ ἐθνικὸν Βρεττανοί. Διονύσιος ὑφελὼν τὸ ἓν τ, ἔφη Ὠκεανοῦ κέχυται ψύχρος ῥόος, ἔνθα Βρετανοὶ.

Καὶ ἄλλοι οὕτω διὰ τοῦ π, Πρετανίδες νῆσοι, ὡς Μαρκιανὸς καὶ Πτολεμαῖος.

Βρίγες . . . Βρίγας· ἔθνος δὲ ἐστὶ Βρεταννικὸν οἱ.

Ἰέρνη νῆσος ἐν τῷ πέρατι πρὸς δυσμαῖς. Τὸ ἐθνικὸν Ἰερναῖος, ὡς Λερναῖος.

Ἰουερνία, ἡ Πρετανικὴ νῆσος, τῶν δύο ἐλάσσων. Τὸ ἐθνικὸν Ἰουερνιάτης.

Ἰουέρνη, πόλις ἐν τῷ Ὠκεανῷ τῷ Πρετανικῷ.

Ἰουερνία, νῆσος. Ἐθνικὸν Ἰούερνοι.

Κασσίτιρα, νῆσος ἐν τῷ ὠκεανῷ, τῇ Ἰνδικῇ προσεχὴς, ὡς Διονύσιος ἐν [b]Βασσαρικοῖς, ἐξ ἧς ὁ κασσίτερος.

Λινδόνιον, πόλις τῆς Βρεττανίας· Μαρκιανὸς ἐν περίπλῳ αὐτῆς. Τὸ ἐθνικὸν Λινδονῖνος.

Πρετανικὴ νῆσος, ἤπειρον μιμουμένη ἀπὸ τῆς Κελτικῆς. Οἱ ταύτην οἰκοῦντες Πρετανοὶ καλοῦνται.

EX VIBIO SEQUESTRO.[c]

Liger Galliæ dividens Aquitanos et Celtas, in oceanum Britannicum evolvitur.

EX PRISCIANO PERIEGETA.[d]

Ad cujus summum[e], prope metas Herculis alti,
Magnanimæ gentes, dederat queis nomen Iberus,
Ad spatium multum terrarum rura colentes,
Oceanum boreo contingunt frigore durum;
Scrutanturque decus pulchrum sapientibus auri.
Quos tamen haud maculat præsens, nec dejicit absens
Qua sunt Germani bellaces atque Britanni.
[f]Sed summam contra sacram cognomine, dicunt
Quam caput Europæ, sunt Stanni pondere plenæ
Hesperides: populus tenuit quas fortis Iberi.
Ast aliæ oceani juxta Boreotidas actas
Sunt geminæ; Rhenique Britannides ostia cernunt:
Hic etenim lasso perrumpit Tethya cursu.
Has tamen haud valeat spatio superare per orbem
Insula: perfulget nigro splendore gagates
Hic lapis, ardescens haustu perfusus aquarum.
Ast oleo perdens flammas, mirabile visu:
Attritas rapit hic teneras, seu succina frondes.
Nec spatio distant Nesidum litora longe:
In quibus uxores Amnitum Bacchicha sacra
Concelebrant, hederæ foliis tectæque corymbis,
Oceani tranans hinc navibus æquor apertum
Ad Thulen venies: quæ nocte dieque relucet
Titanis radiis, cum curru scandit ad axes
Signiferi, boreas succendens lampade partes.

EX ITINERARIO ANTONINI AUGUSTI.[g]

ITER BRITANNIARUM.

A GESSORIACO DE GALLIIS RITUPIS IN PORTU BRITANNIARUM STADIA NUMERO CCCC.L.

A Limite, id est a Vallo Prætorio usque M.P. C.LVI.

A Bremenio [1]Corstopitum -	M.P. XX.
Vindomora - - -	M.P. VIIII.
Vinovia - - -	M.P. XVIIII.
[2]Cataractoni - - -	M.P. XXII.
Isurium - - -	M.P. XXIIII.
Eburacum [3]Leg. VI. victrix -	M.P. [4]XVII.
Derventione - -	M.P. VII.
[5]Delgovitia - - -	M.P. [6]XIII.
Prætorio - - -	M.P. [7]XXV.

ITER A VALLO AD PORTUM RITUPIS, M.P. CCCC.LXXXI. sic,

A Blatobulgio castra exploratorum	M.P. [8]XII.
[9]Luguvallo - - -	M.P. [10]XII.
Voreda - - -	M.P. XIIII.
[11]Brovonacis - - -	M.P. XIII.

STEPHANUS BYZANTINUS.[a]

Ædudæ, five islands of Britain, according to Marcian in his circumnavigation. Name of the natives Ædudeans.

Albion, a Bretanic island, according to Marcian in his circumnavigation thereof. Name of the natives Albionians.

Brettia ... There are also Brettanic islands in the ocean, and the name of the natives is Brettons. Dionysius, taking away one t, says

'The cold tide of the ocean is pour'd where the Bretani live.'

Others again spell them with a P., thus, the Pretanic islands, as Marcian and Ptolemy.

Briges ... But Brigas is a Bretannic nation.

Ierne, an island in the western extremity of the world; name of the natives Iernæans, like as Lernæans.

Ibernia, a Pretanic island; the smaller of the two. The name of the natives Iberniates.

Iberne, a city in the Pretanic Ocean.

Ibernia, an island. The name of the natives, Iberni.

Cassitira, an island in the ocean near India, as Dionysius says in his [b]Bassarici, whence comes tin.

Lindonium, a city of Britain, according to Marcian in his circumnavigation thereof. Name of the natives Lindonini.

Pretannia, an island resembling a continent, lying off Celtica, whose inhabitants are called Pretani.

[1] Corstopilum, Corisopito, Coriosopito. [2] Cataractorii. [3] MP. VI. victrix, MP. M. [4] XIIII. [5] Delgnitia. [6] XII. [7] XXII. [8] X. [9] Lunguvallo. Luguvallio. [10] XV. [11] Broconaco, Brocovonacis.

[a] Stephani Byzantini libro de Urbibus. Lugd. Batav. 1694. Floruit Stephanus Byzantinus circa A.D. 490.

[b] Vide supra, p. xvi.

[c] Vibii Sequestri libro de Fluminibus. Ed. Bipont. 1809, p. 224.
De Vibii Sequestri ætate non constat.

[d] Prisciani Periegesis versu 268 et sequentibus. Apud Wernsdorf, Poetæ Latini Minores, Altenburgi, 1788. T. v.
Priscianus Periegeta ineunte sæculo sexto floruisse putatur.

[e] Europæ scil.

[f] V. 576.

[g] Ed. Wesselingii, Amstelæd. 1735, p. 463. De hujus Itinerarii auctore ambigitur: alii enim sæculo secundo, alii quarto ineunte compositum conjectant.

Digitized by Google

Verteris	M.P. [1]XIII.
Lavatris	M.P. XIIII.
[2]Cataractoni	M.P. [3]XIII.
[4]Isurium	M.P. XXIIII.
Eburacum	M.P. XVII.
[5]Calcaria	M.P. VIIII.
Camboduno	M.P. XX.
[6]Mamucio	M.P. XVIII.
Condate	M.P. XVIII.
Deva [7]Leug. XX. victrix′	M.P. XX.
Bovio	M.P. X.
Mediolano	M.P. XX.
Rutunio	M.P. XII.
[8]Uroconio	M.P. XI.
[9]Uxacona	M.P. XI.
Pennocrucio	M.P. XII.
[10]Etoceto	M.P. XII.
Manduessedo	M.P. [11]XVI.
Venonis	M.P. XII.
[12]Bennavenna	M.P. XVII.
[13]Lactodoro	M.P. XII.
[14]Magiovinto	M.P. XVII.
Durocobrivis	M.P. XII.
[15]Verolamio	M.P. XII.
Sulloniacis	M.P. [16]VIIII.
[17]Londinio	M.P. XII.
Noviomago	M.P. X.
[18]Vagniacis	M.P. [19]XVIII.
[20]Durobrivis	M.P. VIIII.
Durolevo	M.P. [21]XIII.
[22]Duroverno	M.P. XII.
Ad Portum Ritupis	M.P. XII.

[23]ITER A LONDINIO AD PORTUM DUBRIS M.P. LXVI. sic,

[24]Durobrivis	M.P. XXVII.
Duroverno	M.P. XXV.
Ad Portum Dubris	M.P. XIIII.

ITER AD PORTUM LEMANIS M.P. [25]LXVIII. sic,

Durobrivis	M.P. XXVII.
[26]Duroverno	M.P. [27]XXV.
Ad Portum Lemanis	M.P. XVI.

ITER A LONDINIO LUGUVALLIO AD VALLUM M.P. CCCC.XLIII. sic,

Cæsaromago	M.P. XXVIII.
Colonia	M.P. XXIIII.
[28]Villa Faustini	M.P. XXXV.
Icianos′	M.P. XVIII.
[29]Camborico	M.P. XXXV.
Duroliponte	M.P. [30]XXV.
Durobrivas	M.P. XXXV.
Causennis	M.P. XXX.
Lindo	M.P. XXVI.
Segeloci	M.P. XIIII.
Dano	M.P. XXI.
Legeolio	M.P. [31]XVI.
Eburaco	M.P. XXI.
Isubrigantum	M.P. [32]XVII.
[33]Cataractoni	M.P. XXIIII.
Lavatris	M.P. XVIII.
Verteris	M.P. XIII.
Brocavo	M.P. XX.
Luguvallio	M.P. XXII.

ITER A LONDINIO LINDO M.P. C.LVI. sic,

Verolami	M.P. XXI.
[34]Durocobrivis	M.P. XII.
Magiovinio	M.P. XII.
Lactodoro	M.P. XVI.
[35]Isannavatia	M.P. XII.
Tripontio	M.P. XII.
Vennonis	M.P. VIIII.
Ratis	M.P. XII.
Verometo	M.P. XIII.
Margiduno	M.P. XIII.
Ad Pontem	M.P. VII.
Crococalano	M.P. [36]VII.
Lindo	M.P. XII.

ITER A REGNO LONDINIO M.P. [37]XCVI. sic,

Clausentum	M.P. XX.
Venta Belgarum	M.P. X.
[38]Calleva Attrebatum	M.P. XXII.
Pontibus	M.P. XXII.
Londinio	M.P. XXII.

ITER AB EBURACO LONDINIUM M.P. CC.XXVII. sic,

Lagecio	M.P. XXI.
Dano	M.P. XVI.
Ageloco	M.P. XXI.
Lindo	M.P. XIIII.
[39]Crococalano	M.P. XIIII.
[40]Margiduno	M.P. XIIII.
Vernemeto	M.P. XII.
Ratis	M.P. XII.
Vennonis	M.P. XII.
[41]Bannavanto	M.P. XVIII.
Magiovinio	M.P. XXVIII.
Durocobrivis	M.P. XII.
Verolamio	M.P. XII.
Londinio	M.P. XXI.

ITER A [42]VENTA ICENORUM LONDINIO M.P. [43]C.XXVIII. sic,

[44]Sitomago	M.P. [45]XXXII.
[46]Combretonio	M.P. XXII.
Ad Ansam	M.P. XV.

[1] xx. [2] Cataractone. [3] xxvi. [4] Esuriam. [5] Cacaria. [6] Manutio. [7] Leg. xx. vici. Legi xxiii. ci. [8] Vrioconico. [9] Usoccona, Usocona, Usacona. [10] Etoreto, Eroceto, Otoceto. [11] xiiii. [12] Benaventa, Banaventa. [13] Lactodrodo, Pactodrodi. [14] Maginto, Magnito. [15] Velolamio. [16] x. [17] Longidinio, Londonio, Londunio. [18] Bagniacis. [19] xviiii. [20] Duroprovis, Durobrovis. [21] xvi. [22] Durarverno, Durorverno. [23] deest hoc iter mss. Par. et Galei. [24] Durobrus, Durobrius. [25] lxvi. [26] Durarverno. [27] xv. [28] desunt ms. Vat. [29] Camborito. [30] xviii. [31] xv. [32] xvi. [33] Caractoni. [34] Durocobrius, Durocobrias. [35] Isannavantia, Isannantia, Isanavenna. [36] xiiii. [37] xcv. [38] Galleva. [39] Crocoglano. [40] Margitudis. [41] Bennavento. [42] Venta Iciorum, Ventacinorum. [43] c.xxxviii. [44] Situmago. [45] xxxiii. [46] Cambretovio, Combretovio, Compretovio.

Digitized by Google

Camuloduno	M.P. VI.
Canonio	M.P. VIIII.
Cæsaromago	M.P. XII.
Durolito	M.P. XVI.
Londinio	M.P. XV.

ITER A [1]CLANOVENTA MEDIOLANO M.P. CL. sic,

Galava	M.P. XVIII.
Alone	M.P. XII.
[2]Galacum	M.P. XVIIII.
[3]Bremetonaci	M.P. XXVII.
Coccio	M.P. XX.
[4]Mancunio	M.P. [5]XVII.
Condate	M.P. XVIII.
Mediolano	M.P. XVIII.

ITER A [6]SEGONCIO DEVAM M.P. LXXIIII. sic,

Conovio	M.P. XXIIII.
Varis	M.P. [7]XVIIII.
Deva	M.P. XXXII.

[8]ITER PER [9]MURIDONUM VIROCONIUM M.P. CC.LXXXVI. sic,

Vindomi	M.P. XV.
Venta Belgarum	M.P. XXI.
[10]Brige	M.P. XI.
Sorbioduni	M.P. VIIII.
Vindogladia	M.P. XII.
Durnovaria	M.P. VIII.
[11]Muriduno	M.P. XXXVI.
[12]Isca Dumnuniorum	M.P. XV.
Leucaro	M.P. XV.
Nido	M.P. XV.
Bomio	M.P. XV.
[13]Iscæ Leg. II. Augusta	M.P.[14] XXVII.
Burrio	M.P. VIIII.
Gobannio	M.P. XII.
Magnis	M.P. XXII.
[15]Bravinnio	M.P. XXIIII.
Viroconio′	M.P. XXVII.

ITER AB ISCA CALLEVA M.P. C.IX. sic,

Burrio	M.P. VIIII.
[16]Blestio	M.P. XI.
Ariconio	M.P. XI.
Clevo	M.P. XV.
Durocornovio	M.P. XIIII.
Spinis	M.P. XV.
Calleva	M.P. XV.

ITEM ALIO ITINERE AB ISCA CALLEVA M.P. C.III. sic,

Venta Silurum	M.P. VIIII.
Abone	M.P. VIIII.
Trajectus	M.P. VIIII.
Aquis Solis	M.P. VI.
Verlucione	M.P. XV.
Cunetione	M.P. XX.
Spinis	M.P. XV.
Calleva	M.P. XV.

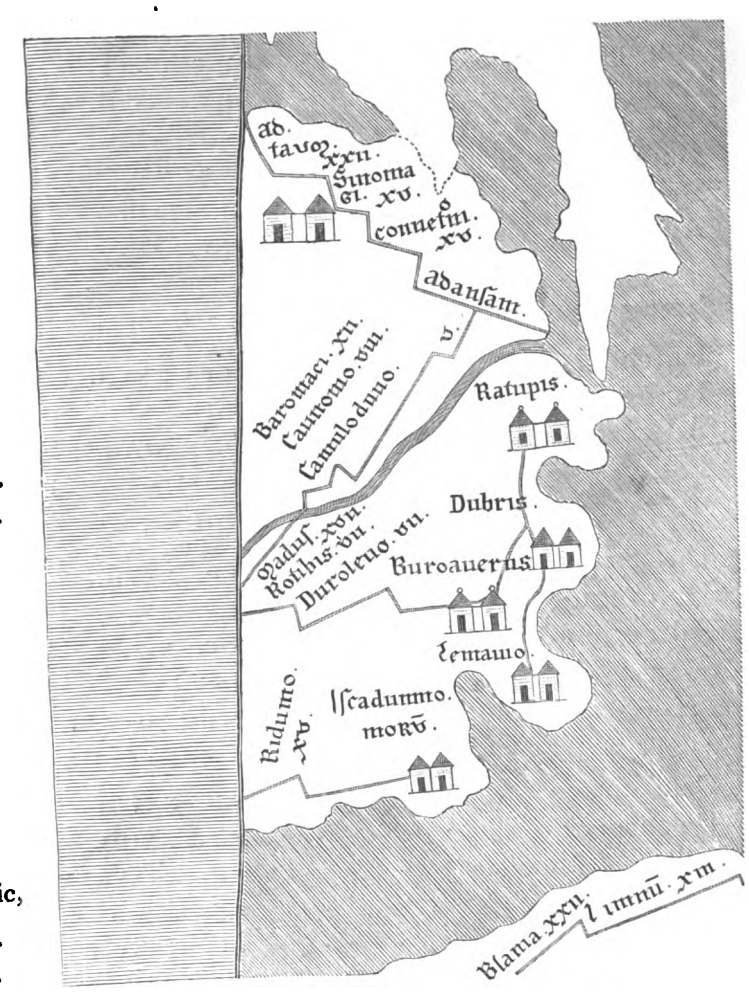
ITER A CALLEVA ISCA DUMNUNIORUM [a]M.P. C.XXXVI. sic,

Vindomi	M.P. XV.
Venta Belgarum	M.P. XXI.
Brige	M.P. XI.
Sorbioduni	M.P. VIII.
Vindogladia	M.P. XII.
Durnonovaria	M.P. VIII.
Muriduno	M.P. XXXVI.
Isca Dumnuniorum	M.P. XV.

[b]IN MARI OCEANO, QUOD GALLIAS ET BRITANNIAS INTERLUIT.

Insulæ Orcades num. III.
Insula[17] Clota in Hiverione.
Vecta, [18]Riduna.

EX TABULA PEUTINGERIANA.[c]



[1]Clamoventa. [2]Gallacum. [3]Bremetomaci. [4]Mancocunio. [5]XXVII. [6]Seguncio. [7]XVIII. [8]Iter a Calleva Muriduno Vrioconium. Iter a Muriduno Viroconiorum M.P. C.LXXVI. [9]Conriduno. [10]Brage. [11]Conriduno. [12]Scadum Nonniorum, Scarlum Nunniorum. [13]Iscæleia Augusti, Iscalegi Augusti, Isca elegii Augusta. [14]XXVIII. [15]Bravinco, Bravonio. [16]Blescio. [17]Glota, Dota, in Vierione. [18]Ridinia, Idinia. ′desunt MS. Vat.

[a] Conf. Columnam præcedentem. [b] Ibidem p. 508.

[c] Ex Ed. Mannerti, Lipsiæ 1824. Hæc Tabula sæculo quarto exeunte facta fuisse conjicitur. Quæ vero ad Britanniam spectabant præter ea quæ supra exhibentur, infauste perierunt. Nomina autem locorum quæ ibi occurrunt hic repetere visum est. Ad Taum. XXII. Sinomagi. XV. Convetoni. XV. Ad Ansam. Baromaci XII. Caunonio. VIII. Camuloduno. V. Madus. XVII. Rotibis. VII. Durolevo. VII. Buroaverus. (Duroaverus) Dubris. Ratupis. Lemavio. Isca Dumnoniorum. Ridumo. XV. In ora vero occidentali Galliæ, Blania. XXII. Limnum XIII.

Digitized by Google

EX NOTITIA UTRIUSQUE IMPERII.[a]

IN PARTIBUS ORIENTIS.

[b]SUB DISPOSITIONE VIRI ILLUSTRIS MAGISTRI MILITUM PER ILLYRICUM.

LEGIO PALATINA I.

Britones Seniores.

[c]SUB DISPOSITIONE VIRI SPECTABILIS, DUCIS THEBAIDOS.

Ala quarta Britonum, Isui.

IN PARTIBUS OCCIDENTIS.

[d]PROCONSUL AFRICÆ CUJUS VICARII SEX.

Britanniarum.

COMITES REI MILITARIS SEX.

Britanniarum.
Littoris Saxonici per Britannias.

DUCES DUODECIM.

Britanniæ.

CONSULARES XXII.

PER BRITANNIAS DUO.

Maximæ Cæsariensis.
Valentiæ.

PRÆSIDES TRIGINTI UNUS.

PER BRITANNIAS TRES.

Britanniæ primæ.
Britanniæ secundæ.
Flaviæ Cæsariensis.

[e]SUB DISPOSITIONE VIRI ILLUSTRIS PRÆFECTI PRÆTORIO GALLIARUM DIŒCESES INFRASCRIPTÆ.

Hispaniæ septem provinciæ.
Britanniæ.

[PROVINCIÆ] BRITANNIARUM QUINQUE.

Maxima Cæsariensis.
Valentia.
Britannia prima.
Britannia secunda.
Flavia Cæsariensis.

[f]SUB DISPOSITIONE VIRI ILLUSTRIS MAGISTRI PEDITUM PRÆSENTIALIS, COMITES MILITUM INFRASCRIPTORUM...

Britanniarum.
Littoris Saxonici per Britannias.

DUCES LIMITUM INFRASCRIPTORUM DECEM . . .

Britanniarum.

AUXILIA PALATINA.

Invicti juniores Brittaniciani.
Exculcatores juniores Brittanniciani.

LEGIONES COMITATENSES.

Legio secunda Britannica, sive Secundani.

[g]INTRA GALLIAS CUM VIRO ILLUSTRI MAGISTRO EQUITUM GALLIARUM.

Britones. . .
Britones.

INTRA HISPANIAS CUM SPECTABILI COMITE.

Invicti juniores Britones.

CUM VIRO SPECTABILI COMITE BRITANNIARUM.

Victores juniores Britanniciani.
Primani juniores.
Secundani juniores.

INTRA BRITANNIAS CUM VIRO SPECTABILI COMITE BRITANNIARUM.

Equites Catafractarii juniores.
Equites Scutarii Aureliaci.
Equites Honoriani seniores.
Equites Stablesiani.
Equites Syri.
Equites Taifali.

[h]SUB DISPOSITIONE VIRI ILLUSTRIS COMITIS SACRARUM LARGITIONUM.

Rationalis summarum Britanniarum.
Præpositus thesaurorum Augustensium in Britannias.

PROCURATORES CYNEGIORUM.

Procurator cynegii in Britannis, Bentensis.

[i]SUB DISPOSITIONE VIRI ILLUSTRIS COMITIS RERUM PRIVATARUM.

Rationalis rei privatæ per Britannias.

[k]SUB DISPOSITIONE VIRI SPECTABILIS, VICARII BRITANNIARUM.

CONSULARES.

Maximæ Cæsariensis.
Valentiæ.

PRÆSIDES.

Britanniæ primæ.
Britanniæ secundæ.
Flaviæ Cæsariensis.

Officium autem habet idem vir spectabilis Vicarius hoc modo:

Principem de Schola Agentium in rebus ex Ducenariis.
Cornicularium.
Numerarios duos.
Commentariensem.
Ab Actis.
Curam Epistolarum.
Adjutorem.
Subadjuvas.
Exceptores.
Singulares, et reliquos officiales.

[a] Apud Grævii Thesaurum, T. VII., Traject. ad Rhen. 1698. Hæc Notitia ineunte sæculo quinto facta fuisse putatur.

[b] C. LV. [c] C. CXLIV. [d] C. I. [e] C. II. [f] C. XIX. [g] C. XXVII. [h] C. XXXIV. [i] C. XLI. [k] C. LXVIII.

Digitized by Google

[a] SUB DISPOSITIONE VIRI SPECTABILIS COMITIS LIMITIS SAXONICI PER BRITANNIAM.

Præpositus numeri Fortensium, Othonæ.
Præpositus militum Tungricanorum, Dubris.
Præpositus numeri Turnacensium, Lemanis.
Præpositus equitum Dalmatarum Branodunensis, Branaduno.
Præpositus equitum Stablesianorum Gariannonensis, Gariannono.
Tribunus cohortis primæ Vetasiorum, Regulbio.
Præpositus Legionis II. Aug., Rutupis.
Præpositus numeri Abulcorum, Anderidæ.
Præpositus numeri Exploratorum, Portu Adurni.

Officium autem habet idem vir spectabilis Comes hoc modo:

Principem ex officio Magistri Præsentali a parte peditum.
Numerarios duos, ut supra ex officio supradicto.
Commentariensem ex officio supradicto.
Cornicularium.
Adjutorem.
Subadjuvam.
Regerendarium.
Exceptores.
Singulares, et reliquos officiales.

[b] SUB DISPOSITIONE VIRI SPECTABILIS COMITIS BRITANNIÆ.

Provincia Britanniæ.

Officium autem habet idem vir spectabilis Comes, hoc modo:

Principem ex officio Magistri militum Præsentalium alternis annis.
Commentariensem, ut supra.
Numerarios duos, singulos ex utroque officio supradicto.
Adjutorem.
Subadjuvam.
Exceptores.
Singulares, et reliquos officiales.

[c] SUB DISPOSITIONE VIRI SPECTABILIS DUCIS BRITANNIARUM.

Præfectus Legionis Sextæ.
Præfectus equitum Dalmatarum, Præsidio.
Præfectus equitum Crispianorum, Dano.
Præfectus equitum Catafractariorum, Morbio.
Præfectus numeri Barcariorum Tigrisiensium, Arbeja.
Præfectus numeri Nerviorum Dictensium, Dicti.
Præfectus numeri vigilum, Concangios.
Præfectus numeri exploratorum, Lavatres.
Præfectus numeri Directorum, Veterum, alias Veneris.
Præfectus numeri Defensorum, Braboniaco.
Præfectus numeri Solensium, Maglovæ.
Præfectus numeri Pacensium, Magis.
Præfectus numeri Longovicariorum, Longovico.
Præfectus numeri Derventionensis, Derventione.

ITEM PER LINEAM VALLI.

Tribunus cohortis quartæ Lergorum, Segeduno.
Tribunus cohortis Cornoviorum, Ponte-Ælii.
Præfectus Alæ primæ Astorum, Conderco.
Tribunus cohortis primæ Frixagorum, Vindobala.
Præfectus Alæ Savinianæ, Hunno.
Præfectus Alæ secundæ Astorum, Cilurno.
Tribunus cohortis primæ Batavorum, Procolitia.
Tribunus cohortis primæ Tungrorum, Borcovico.
Tribunus cohortis quartæ Gallorum, Vindolana.
Tribunus cohortis primæ Astorum, Æsica.
Tribunus cohortis secundæ Dalmatarum, Magnis.
Tribunus cohortis primæ Æliæ Dacorum, Amboglanna.
Præfectus Alæ Petrianæ, Petrianis.
Præfectus numeri Maurorum Aurelianorum, Aballaba.
Tribunus cohortis secundæ Lergorum, Congavata.
Tribunus cohortis primæ Hispanorum, Axeloduno.
Tribunus cohortis secundæ Thracum, Gabrosenti.
Tribunus cohortis primæ Æliæ Classicæ, Tunnocelo.
Tribunus cohortis primæ Morinorum, Glannibanta.
Tribunus cohortis tertiæ Nerviorum, Alionæ.
Cuneus Armaturarum, Bremetenraco.
Præfectus Alæ primæ Herculeæ, Olenaco.
Tribunus cohortis sextæ Nerviorum, Virosido.

Officium autem habet idem vir spectabilis Dux hoc modo:

Principem ex officiis Magistrorum militum Præsentalium alternis annis.
Commentariensem utrunque.
Numerarios ex utrisque officiis omni anno.
Adjutorem.
Subadjuvam.
Regerendarium.
Exceptores.
Singulares, et reliquos officiales.

EX ANONYMO RAVENNATE GEOGRAPHO.[d]

Duodecima ut hora diei Britonum est patria, cujus post terga infra oceanum, ubi longius est, duorum dierum cum suis noctibus prospere navigantibus iter, magna insula Britannia rejacet; quam Græcorum philosophi quasi micosmin appellant. Et trans ipsam Britanniam trecentis miliariis spatiis, ubi longius Scotorum insula invenitur, quæ et Hibernia conscribitur. Nam jam ultra illam, ut ad occidentalem dicamus plagam, nullo modo ab hominibus terra invenitur.

[e]In oceano vero occidentale est insula quæ dicitur Britannia, ubi [1]olim gens Saxonum, veniens ab antiqua Saxonia cum principe suo, nomine Anschis, [2]in ea' habitare videtur. Quamvis insulam,

[1] elongens ms. Vaticanus. [2'] modo V.

[a] C. LXXI. [b] C. LXXII. [c] C. LXXXVII. Sæculo septimo floruisse putatur scriptor.
[d] Lib. I. c. 3. Ed. Gronovii Lugd. Batav. 1696, adjectis var. lect. ex Ed. T. Galei, Londini 1709.
[e] Lib. V. c. 31.

Digitized by Google

ut diximus, quidam [1]Gothorum philosophi [2]quasi [3]micosmi appellaverunt. Nam nos tam magnam insulam, neque in suprascripto mari magno, neque in præfato oceano dilatissimo, neque in quo prædiximus sinu oceani, legendam nullo modo reperimus. In qua Britannia plurimas fuisse legimus civitates, [4]et castra,′ ex quibus aliquantas designare volumus : id est, [5]Giano.

Eltabo.
Elconio.
[6]Nemetotacio.
Tamaris.
[7]Durocoronavis.
Pilais.
[8]Vernalis.
Ardua.
Ravenatone.
Devionisso.
[9]Statio Deventia.
Stene.
Duriarno.
Uxelis.
Vertevia.
[10]Melarnoni.
[11]Scadum Namorum.
Termonin.
[12]Mostevia.
Milidunum.
[13]Apaunaris.
Masona.
[14]Alongium.

[15]Item juxta suprascriptam civitatem [16]Scadomorum, est civitas quæ dicitur

Moriduno.
Alauna silva.
[17]Omire.
Tedertis.
[18]Londinis.
Canca.
[19]Dolocindo.
[20]Clavinio.
Morionio.
Bolvelaunio.
Alauna.
Coloneas.
[21]Aranus.
Anicetis.
[22]Moiezo.
Ibernio.
Bindogladia.
Noviomagno.
Onna.
[23]Venta Velgarum.
Armis.
Ardaoneon.
[24]Ravimago.
Regentium.′
[25]Leucomago.
[26]Cimetzone.
[27]Punctuobice.
[28]Venta Silurum.
Jupania.
Metambala.
[29]Albinunno.
Isca Augusta.
Bannio.
[30]Brenna.
Alabum.
Cicutio.
Magnis.
Branogenium.
Epocessa.
Ypocessa.
Macatonion.
[31]Glebon colonia.
Argistillum.
Vertis.
[32]Salinis.
[33]Corinium Dobunorum.
[34]Caleba Atrebatium.
[35]Anderesio.
Miba.′
[36]Mutuantonis.
Lemanis.
Dubris.
[37]Duroverno Cantiacorum.
Rutupis.
Durobrabis.
[38]Londini.
Tamese.
Brinavis.
Alauna.
Utriconion [39]Cornoninorum.
Lavobrinta.
Mediomano.
Seguntio.
Canubio.
[40]Mediolano.
[41]Sandonio.
[42]Dena vixtrix.
Veratino.
[43]Lutudarum.
Derbentione.
[44]Salinis.
Condate.
Ratecorion.
[45]Eltanori.
[46]Lectoceto.
[47]Jacio.
Dulma.′
Virolanium.
Londinium [48]Augusta.
[49]Cæsaromagom.
[50]Camulodulo colonia.
Durcinate.
[51]Duroviguto.
Durobrisin.
[52]Venta Cenomum.
Lindum colonia.
[53]Banovallum.
Navione.
Aquis.
Arnemeza.
Zerdotalia.
[54]Mantio.
Alunna.
Camulodono.
[55]Calunio.
[56]Gallunio.
[57]Modibogdo.
[58]Cantiumeti.
Juliocenon.
Gabrocentio.
Alauna.
Bribra.
Maio.
[59]Olerica.
Derventione.
Ravonia.
[60]Bresnetenati Veteranorum.
Pampocalia.
[61]Lagentium.
Valteris.
Bereda.
[62]Lugubalum.
Magnis.
[63]Babaglanda.
Vindolande.
Lineojugla.
[64]Vinonia.
Lavaris.
[65]Cataractonion.
Eburacum.
Decuaria.
[66]Devovicia.
[67]Dixio.
Lugundino.
[68]Coganges.
Corie.
Lopocarium.

Iterum sunt civitates in ipsa Britannia, quæ recto tramite, de una parte in alia, id est de oceano in oceano; et Sistuntiaci dividunt in tertia portione ipsam Britanniam, id est, Serduno.

[69]Conderco.
Vindovala.
Onno.
[70]Celunno.
Brocoliti.
[71]Volurtion.
[72]Æsica.
Banna.
[73]Uxeludiano.
[74]Avalaria.
Maia.
[75]Fanocedi.
Brocara.
Croucingo.
Stodoion.
Sinetriadum.
[76]Clidum.
Carbantium.
Tadoriton.
Maporiton.
[77]Alitacenon.

[1] Græcorum V. [2] Qui MS. Gale. [3] mirosmi V. [4]′ desunt V. [5] Giano Eltabo. [6] Nemetotatio. [7] Purocoronavis. [8] Vernilis. [9] Stadio deventiasteno. [10] Melamoni. [11] Scadoniorum, Scadumnamorum. [12] Mestevia, Mescenia. [13] Apuanaris. [14] Alougium, Alovergium. [15] Iterum. [16] Scadonionum. [17] Omire tedertis. [18] Landinis, Lindinis. [19] Dolotindo. [20] Clavimo. [21] Aramis. [22] Meiezo, Melezo. [23] Ventavelgarum. [24]′ Navimagore gentium. [25] Leucu magna. [26] Cunetzone. [27] Pontuobice. [28] Ventas luxum. [29] Albinumno. [30] Bremia. [31] Glebon, Colonia. [32] Salmis. [33] Cironium. [34] Caleba, Arbati. [35]′ Andereliomiba. [36] Mantuantonis. [37] Duroaverno, Cantiacorum. [38] Landini. [39] Cornoviorum. [40] Mediolana. [41] Saudonio. [42] Devavictris. [43] Lugudarum, Lutudaron. [44] Salmis. [45] Eltavori. [46] Lecto, Ceto. [47]′ Jaciodulma. [48] Augusti. [49] Cæsaromago. [50] Manulodulo colonia. [51] Durojugato. [52] Ventacenomum. [53] Bannovalum. [54] Mautio. [55] Caluvia. [56] Galluvio. [57] Medibogdo. [58] Cantaventi. [59] Blerica. [60] Bresnetenaci. [61] Laguentium. [62] Lagubabami. [63] Gabaglanda. [64] Vinovia. [65] Catabactonion. [66] Devovitia. [67] Dixio lugunduno. [68] Ceganges. [69] Condecor. [70] Celumno. [71] Velertion. [72] Esica. [73] Uxelludiano. [74] Avalana. [75] Fanocodi, Fanococidi. [76] Clindum. [77] Alithacenon.

Digitized by Google

Loxa.
[1]Locatrene.
[2]Canibroiana.
Smetri.
Uxela.
[3]Lucotion.
Corda.
Camulossesa.
Præsidium.
Brigomono.
Abisson.
Ebio.
Coritiotar.
[4]Celerion.
Itucodon.
[5]Maremago.
[6]Duablisis.
Venutio.
[7]Trimuntium.
Eburocaslum.
Bremenium.
[8]Cocuneda.
Alauna.
[9]Oleiclavis.
[10]Ejudensca.
Rumabo.

Iterum sunt civitates in ipsa Britannia, [11][retro tramite, una alteri connexa, ubi et ipsa Britannia] plus angustissima de oceano in oceano esse dinoscitur; id est,

Velunia.
Volitanio.
Pexa.
Begesse.
Colanica.
[12]Medio.
Nemeton.
Subdobiadon.
Litana.
Cibra.
Credigone.

Iterum est civitas quæ dicitur

[13]Jano.
Maulion.
Demerosesa.
Cindocellum.
[14]Cermo.
[15]Veromo.
Matovion.
Ugrulentum.
[16]Ranatonium.
Iberran.
[17]Præmatis.
Tuessis.
[18]Ledone.
Litinomago.
Devoni.
Memanturum.
Decha.
Bograndium.
Ugueste.
Leviodanum.
Poreo Classis.
[19]Levioxana.
Cermium.
Victoriæ.
Marcotaxon.
Tagea.
Voran.

Sunt autem in ipsa Britannia diversa loca, [20][ex quibus aliquanta nominari volumus] id est, Maponi.

[21][Mixa.]
[22]Panovius.
Minox.
Taba.
Manavi.
Segloes.
[23]Daunoni.

Currunt autem per ipsam Britanniam plurima flumina, ex quibus aliquanta nominare volumus, id est, Fraxula.

Axium.
Maina.
[24]Sarva.
Tamaris.
Naurum.
Abona.
Isca.
[25]Tamion.
Aventio.
Leuca.
Juctius.
Leugosena.
Coantia.
[26]Dorvatium.
Antrum.
[27][Anava.
Bdora.
Novitia.
Adron.
Certisnassa.
Intraum.]
[28]Tinoa.
Liar.
Lenda.
Vividin.
[29]Durolani.
Alauna.
[30]Coguvensuron.
[31]Durbis.
Lemana.'
[32]Rovia.
[33]Ractomessa.
Senua.
[34]Cimia.
Velox.'

Finitur autem ipsa Britannia, a facie orientis habens insulam Thyle, vel insulam Dorcadas; a facie occidentis ex parte provinciæ Galliam, et promontorium Pyrenei; a facie septentrionalis insulam Scotiam; a facie meridiana Germaniam antiquam.

[a]Iterum in eodem oceano occidentali, post ipsam magnam Britanniam, simulque et amplius longius, ut diximus, quam omnes insulæ a terra magna finita parte septentrionali, magis ex ipsa occidentali, est insula maxima quæ dicitur Hibernia, quæ ut dictum est, et Scotia appellatur.

Cujus post terga ut jam præmisimus, nullo modo apud homines terra invenitur. Per quam Scotiam transeunt plurima flumina, inter cætera quæ dicuntur, id est;

Sodismam,
Cled et Terdec.

Iterum ipsi oceano occidentali ponuntur diversæ insulæ ex quibus aliquantas nominare volumus, id est;

Corsula.
Mona.
Regaina.
Minerve.
Cunis.
Manna.
Botis.
Vinion.
Saponis.
Susura.
Birila.
Illaviani.
Sobrica.
Scetis.
Linnonsa.

Item ad aliam partem dicitur insula

Maganica.
Anas.
Cana.
Atina.
Ellete.
Daroecla.
Essegradena.
Maiona.
Longis.
Cirimon.
Exosades, ubi et gemmæ nascuntur.

Legimus ut in ipso oceano, jam expleta parte occidentali, tanquam ad partem ingredientes meridianam, sunt numero insulæ triginta tres, quæ et Dorcadas appellatur. Quæ quamvis non existant omnes excultæ, attamen nomina illarum volueramus, Christo nobis adjuvante, designare. Sed quia, peccatis emergentibus, suete a diversis gentibus ipsa dominatur patria, et ut barbarus mos est varias vocationes easdem insulas appellantur, reliquimus nomina designandum.

[1] Locatreve. [2] Cambroianna. [3] Lucocion. [4] Celovion. [5] Maromago. [6] Duabsissis. [7] Triminitium. [8] Cocenneda. [9] Oleaclavis. [10] Evidensca. [11] add. V. [12] Medionemetum. [13] Lano. [14] Cerina. [15] Veronio. [16] Ravatonium. [17] Pinnatis. [18] Lodone. [19] Levioxava. [20] add. V. [21] add. V. [22] Panonius. [23] Dannom. [24] Sarna. [25] Taimon. [26] Dorvantium. [27] add. V. [28] Tinea. [29] Durolam. [30] Coguveusuron. [31] Durbislemana. [32] Novia. [33] Rartomessa. [34] Cunia Velox.

[a] C. 32.

Digitized by Google

HISTORICA.

EX CAIO JULIO CÆSARE.[a]

[b] APUD eos [Suessiones] fuisse regem nostra etiam memoria Divitiacum, totius Galliæ potentissimum, qui quum magnæ partis harum regionum, tum etiam Britanniæ imperium obtinuerit:

[c] Pro his [Bellovacis] Divitiacus . . . facit verba: Bellovacos omni tempore in fide atque amicitia civitatis Æduæ fuisse: inpulsos ab suis principibus . . . et ab Æduis defecisse et populo Romano bellum intulisse. Qui hujus consilii principes fuissent, quod intellegerent quantam calamitatem civitati intulissent, in Britanniam profugisse.

[d] Hujus est civitatis [Venetorum] longe amplissima auctoritas omnis oræ maritimæ regionum earum, quod et naves habent Veneti plurimas, quibus in Britanniam navigare consuerunt, et scientia atque usu nauticarum rerum reliquos antecedunt et in magno inpetu maris atque aperto, paucis portibus interjectis, quos tenent ipsi, omnes fere, qui eo mari uti consuerunt, habent vectigales. . . .

. . . Socios sibi [Veneti] ad id bellum Osismios, Lexovios, Nannetes, Ambiliatos, Morinos, Diablintes, Menapios adciscunt: auxilia ex Britannia, quæ contra eas regiones posita est, arcessunt.

[e] Exigua parte æstatis reliqua[f], Cæsar, etsi in his locis, quod omnis Gallia ad septemtriones vergit, maturæ sunt hyemes, tamen in Britanniam proficisci contendit, quod omnibus fere Gallicis bellis hostibus nostris inde subministrata auxilia intellegebat: et, si tempus anni ad bellum gerendum deficeret, tamen magno sibi usui fore arbitrabatur, si modo insulam adisset, genus hominum perspexisset, loca, portus, aditus cognovisset: quæ omnia fere Gallis erant incognita. Neque enim temere præter mercatores illo adit quisquam, neque iis ipsis quidquam, præter oram maritimam atque eas regiones quæ sunt contra Gallias, notum est. Itaque, evocatis ad se undique mercatoribus, neque quanta esset insulæ magnitudo, neque quæ aut quantæ nationes incolerent, neque quem usum belli haberent, aut quibus institutis uterentur, neque qui essent ad majorum navium multitudinem idonei portus, reperire poterat.

Ad hæc cognoscenda, priusquam periculum faceret, idoneum esse arbitratus C. Volusenum, cum navi longa præmittit. Huic mandat, uti, exploratis omnibus rebus, ad se quam primum revertatur: ipse cum omnibus copiis in Morinos proficiscitur, quod inde erat brevissimus in Britanniam transjectus. Huc naves undique ex finitimis regionibus et, quam superiore æstate ad Veneticum bellum fecerat, classem jubet convenire. Interim, consilio ejus cognito et per mercatores perlato ad Britannos, a compluribus ejus insulæ civitatibus ad eum legati veniunt, qui polliceantur obsides dare atque imperio Populi Romani obtemperare. Quibus auditis liberaliter pollicitus, hortatusque ut in ea sententia permanerent, eos domum remittit et cum his una Commium, quem ipse, Atrebatibus superatis, regem ibi constituerat, cujus et virtutem et consilium probabat, et quem sibi fidelem arbitrabatur, cujusque auctoritas in iis regionibus magni habebatur, mittit. Huic imperat, quas possit adeat civitates, horteturque ut Populi Romani fidem sequantur; seque celeriter eo venturum nuntiet. Volusenus, perspectis regionibus, quantum ei facultatis dari potuit, qui navi egredi ac se barbaris committere non auderet, quinto die ad Cæsarem revertitur; quæque ibi perspexisset renuntiat.

Dum in his locis Cæsar navium parandarum causa moratur, ex magna parte Morinorum ad eum legati venerunt, qui se de superioris temporis consilio excusarent, quod homines barbari et nostræ consuetudinis inperiti bellum Populo Romano fecissent, seque ea, quæ imperasset, facturos pollicerentur. Hoc sibi satis obportune Cæsar accidisse arbitratus, quod neque post tergum hostem relinquere volebat, neque belli gerendi propter anni tempus facultatem habebat, neque has tantularum rerum occupationes sibi Britanniæ anteponendas judicabat, magnum is obsidum numerum imperat. Quibus adductis, eos in fidem recepit. Navibus circiter LXXX. onerariis coactis contractisque, quot satis esse ad duas transportandas legiones existimabat, quidquid præterea navium longarum habebat, quæstori, legatis, præfectisque distribuit. Huc accedebant XVIII. onerariæ naves, quæ ex eo loco ab millibus passuum VIII. vento tenebantur, quo minus in eumdem portum pervenire possent. Has equitibus distribuit; reliquum exercitum Q. Titurio Sabino et L. Aurunculeio Cottæ, legatis, in Menapios atque in eos pagos Morinorum, ab quibus ad eum legati non venerant, deducendum dedit. P. Sulpitium Rufum, legatum, cum eo præsidio quod satis esse arbitrabatur, portum tenere jussit.

His constitutis rebus, nactus idoneam ad navigandum tempestatem, tertia fere vigilia solvit, equitesque in ulteriorem portum progredi et naves conscendere et se sequi jussit: a quibus quum id paulo tardius esset administratum, ipse hora diei circiter quarta cum primis navibus Britanniam adtigit[g], atque ibi in omnibus collibus expositas

[a] Caii Julii Cæsaris de Bello Gallico lib. II. c. 4. Ed. Oudendorpii Lugd. Batav. 1737.
Interemptus est C. J. Cæsar An. U.C. 710. An. ante Christum Natum 44.
[b] An. U.C. 697. An. A.C. 57. [c] Lib. II. c. 14.
[d] Lib. III. cc. 8, 9. An. U.C. 698. An. A.C. 56.
[e] Lib. IV. cc. 20–38. [f] An. U.C. 699. An. A.C. 55.
[g] Secundum Hallei computationem, Britanniam attigit Cæsar die 26 Augusti, An. U.C. 699. An. A.C. 55. v. Philosophical Transactions, XVII. n°. 193.

Digitized by Google

hostium copias armatas conspexit. Cujus loci [a]hæc erat natura: adeo montibus angustis mare continebatur, uti ex locis superioribus in litus telum adjici posset. Hunc ad egrediendum nequaquam idoneum arbitratus locum, dum reliquæ naves eo convenirent, ad horam nonam in anchoris expectavit. Interim legatis tribunisque militum convocatis, et quæ ex Voluseno cognosset, et quæ fieri vellet, ostendit, monuitque, (ut rei militaris ratio, maxime ut maritimæ res postularent, ut quæ celerem atque instabilem motum haberent,) ad nutum et ad tempus omnes res ab iis administrarentur. His dimissis, et ventum et æstum uno tempore nactus secundum, dato signo et sublatis anchoris, circiter millia passuum [1]VII. ab eo loco progressus, aperto ac plano litore naves constituit.[b]

At barbari, consilio Romanorum cognito, præmisso equitatu et essedariis quo plerumque genere in præliis uti consuerunt, reliquis copiis subsecuti, nostros navibus egredi prohibebant. Erat ob has causas summa difficultas, quod naves propter magnitudinem, nisi in alto, constitui non poterant; militibus autem ignotis locis, inpeditis manibus, magno et gravi armorum onere obpressis, simul et de navibus desiliendum et in fluctibus consistendum et cum hostibus erat pugnandum: quum illi aut ex arido, aut paululum in aquam progressi, omnibus membris expediti, notissimis locis audacter tela conjicerent et equos insuefactos incitarent. Quibus rebus nostri perterriti, atque hujus omnino generis pugnæ inperiti, non omnes eadem alacritate ac studio, quo in pedestribus uti præliis consueverant, utebantur.

Quod ubi Cæsar animum advertit, naves longas, quarum et species erat barbaris inusitatior et motus ad usum expeditior, paulum removeri ab onerariis navibus et remis incitari et ad latus apertum hostium constitui, atque inde fundis, sagittis, tormentis, hostis propelli ac submoveri jussit: quæ res magno usui nostris fuit. Nam et navium figura et remorum motu et inusitato genere tormentorum permoti barbari constiterunt, ac paulum modo pedem retulerunt. Atque nostris militibus cunctantibus, maxime propter altitudinem maris, qui decimæ legionis aquilam ferebat, contestatus Deos, ut ea res legioni feliciter eveniret: 'Desilite,' inquit, 'commilitones, nisi vultis aquilam hostibus prodere: ego certe meum reipublicæ atque imperatori officium præstitero.' Hoc quum magna voce dixisset, ex navi se projecit atque in hostes aquilam ferre cœpit. Tum nostri, cohortati inter se, ne tantum dedecus admitteretur, universi ex navi desiluerunt: hos item ex proximis primis navibus quum conspexissent, subsecuti hostibus adpropinquarunt.

Pugnatum est ab utrisque acriter; nostri tamen, quod neque ordines servare, neque firmiter insistere, neque signa subsequi poterant, atque alius alia ex navi, quibuscumque signis occurrerat, se adgregabat, magno opere perturbabantur. Hostes vero, notis omnibus vadis, ubi ex littore aliquos singulares ex navi egredientes conspexerant, incitatis equis inpeditos adoriebantur: plures paucos circumsistebant: alii ab latere aperto in universos tela conjiciebant. Quod quum animum advertisset Cæsar, scaphas longarum navium, item speculatoria navigia militibus compleri jussit, et, quos laborantes conspexerat, iis subsidia submittebat. Nostri, simul in arido constiterunt, suis omnibus consecutis, in hostes inpetum fecerunt atque eos in fugam dederunt, neque longius prosequi potuerunt, quod equites cursum tenere atque insulam capere non potuerant. Hoc unum ad pristinam fortunam Cæsari defuit.

Hostes prælio superati, simul atque se ex fuga receperunt, statim ad Cæsarem legatos de pace miserunt: obsides daturos, quæque imperasset sese facturos, polliciti sunt. Una cum his legatis Commius Atrebas venit, quem supra demonstraveram a Cæsare in Britanniam præmissum. Hunc illi e navi egressum, quum ad eos imperatoris mandata perferret, comprehenderant atque in vincula conjecerant: tum, prælio facto, remiserunt et in petenda pace ejus rei culpam in multitudinem contulerunt, et, propter inprudentiam ut ignosceretur, petiverunt. Cæsar questus, quod, quum ultro in continentem legatis missis pacem ab se petissent, bellum sine causa intulissent, ignoscere inprudentiæ dixit, obsidesque imperavit: quorum illi partem statim dederunt, partem, ex longinquioribus locis arcessitam, paucis diebus sese daturos dixerunt. Interea suos remigrare in agros jusserunt, principesque undique convenere et se civitatesque suas Cæsari commendare cœperunt.

His rebus pace confirmata, post diem IV., quam est in Britanniam ventum, naves XVIII., de quibus supra demonstratum est, quæ equites sustulerant, ex superiore portu leni vento solverunt. Quæ quum adpropinquarent Britanniæ et ex castris viderentur, tanta tempestas subito coorta est, ut nulla earum cursum tenere posset, sed aliæ eodem, unde erant profectæ, referrentur; aliæ ad inferiorem partem insulæ, quæ est propius solis occasum, magno sui cum periculo dejicerentur: quæ tamen, anchoris jactis quum fluctibus complerentur, necessario adversa nocte in altum provectæ continentem petierunt.

Eadem nocte accidit[c], ut esset luna plena, qui dies maritimos æstus maximos in oceano efficere consuevit: nostrisque id erat incognitum. Ita uno tempore et longas naves, quibus Cæsar exercitum transportandum curaverat, quasque in aridum subduxerat, æstus complebat; et onerarias, quæ ad anchoras erant deligatæ, tempestas adflictabat; neque ulla nostris facultas aut administrandi, aut

[1] al. VIII.

[a] Apud Dovoriam ut verisimile est.
[b] Juxta Delam ut videtur.
[c] Die 30 Augusti circa mediam noctem, secundum Halleium.

Digitized by Google

auxiliandi, dabatur. Compluribus navibus fractis, reliquæ quum essent, funibus, anchoris, reliquisque armamentis amissis, ad navigandum inutiles, magna, id quod necesse erat accidere, totius exercitus perturbatio facta est: neque enim naves erant aliæ, quibus reportari possent; et omnia deerant, quæ ad reficiendas eas usui sunt, et, quod omnibus constabat, hyemare in Gallia oportere, frumentum his in locis in hyemem provisum non erat.

Quibus rebus cognitis, principes Britanniæ, qui post prælium factum ad ea, quæ jusserat Cæsar, facienda convenerant, inter se conlocuti, quum equites et naves et frumentum Romanis deesse intellegerent, et paucitatem militum ex castrorum exiguitate cognoscerent, quæ hoc erant etiam angustiora, quod sine inpedimentis Cæsar legiones transportaverat, optimum factu esse duxerunt, rebellione facta, frumento commeatuque nostros prohibere et rem in hyemem producere, quod, iis superatis, aut reditu interclusis, neminem postea belli inferendi causa in Britanniam transiturum confidebant. Itaque, rursus conjuratione facta, paulatim ex castris discedere ac suos clam ex agris deducere cœperunt.

At Cæsar, etsi nondum eorum consilia cognoverat, tamen et ex eventu navium suarum, et ex eo, quod obsides dare intermiserant, fore id, quod accidit, suspicabatur. Itaque ad omnes casus subsidia comparabat: nam et frumentum ex agris quotidie in castra conferebat, et, quæ gravissime adflictæ erant naves, earum materia atque ære ad reliquas reficiendas utebatur, et, quæ ad eas res erant usui, ex continenti comportari jubebat. Itaque, quum id summo studio a militibus administraretur, duodecim navibus amissis, reliquis ut navigari commode posset, effecit.

Dum ea geruntur, legione ex consuetudine una frumentatum missa, quæ appellabatur septima, neque ulla ad id tempus belli suspicione interposita, quum pars hominum in agris remaneret, pars etiam in castra ventitaret, ii, qui pro portis castrorum in statione erant, Cæsari renuntiaverunt, pulverem majorem, quam consuetudo ferret, in ea parte videri, quam in partem legio iter fecisset. Cæsar id, quod erat, suspicatus, aliquid novi a barbaris initum consilii, cohortes, quæ in stationibus erant, secum in eam partem proficisci, duas ex reliquis in stationem succedere, reliquas armari et confestim sese subsequi jussit. Quum paulo longius a castris processisset, suos ab hostibus premi, atque ægre sustinere, et conferta legione ex omnibus partibus tela conjici, animum advertit. Nam quod, omni ex reliquis partibus demesso frumento, pars una erat reliqua, suspicati hostes, huc nostros esse venturos, noctu in sylvis delituerant: tum dispersos, depositis armis, in metendo occupatos, subito adorti, paucis interfectis, reliquos incertis ordinibus perturbaverant: simul equitatu atque essedis circumdederant.

Genus hoc est ex essedis pugnæ: primo per omnes partes perequitant et tela conjiciunt, atque ipso terrore equorum et strepitu rotarum ordines plerumque perturbant, et, quum se inter equitum turmas insinuaverint, ex essedis desiliunt et pedibus prœliantur. Aurigæ interim paulatim ex prœlio excedunt, atque ita curru se conlocant, ut, si illi a multitudine hostium premantur, expeditum ad suos receptum habeant. Ita mobilitatem equitum, stabilitatem peditum, in prœliis præstant; ac tantum usu quotidiano et exercitatione efficiunt, uti in declivi ac præcipiti loco incitatos equos sustinere et brevi moderari ac flectere, et per temonem percurrere, et in jugo insistere, et inde se in currus citissime recipere consuerint.

Quibus rebus, perturbatis nostris novitate pugnæ, tempore obportunissimo Cæsar auxilium tulit: namque ejus adventu hostes constiterunt, nostri se ex timore receperunt. Quo facto, ad lacessendum et ad committendum prœlium alienum esse tempus arbitratus, suo se loco continuit, et, brevi tempore intermisso, in castra legiones reduxit. Dum hæc geruntur, nostris omnibus occupatis, qui erant in agris reliqui, discesserunt. Secutæ sunt continuos complures dies tempestates, quæ et nostros in castris continerent, et hostem a pugna prohiberent. Interim barbari nuntios in omnes partes dimiserunt, paucitatemque nostrorum militum suis prædicaverunt, et, quanta prædæ faciendæ atque in perpetuum sui liberandi facultas daretur, si Romanos castris expulissent, demonstraverunt. His rebus celeriter magna multitudine peditatus equitatusque coacta, ad castra venerunt.

Cæsar, etsi idem, quod superioribus diebus acciderat, fore videbat, ut, si essent hostes pulsi, celeritate periculum effugerent; tamen nactus equites circiter triginta, quos Commius Atrebas, de quo ante dictum est, secum transportaverat, legiones in acie pro castris constituit. Commisso prœlio, diutius nostrorum militum inpetum hostes ferre non potuerunt, ac terga verterunt. Quos tanto spatio secuti, quantum cursu et viribus efficere potuerunt, complures ex iis occiderunt; deinde, omnibus longe lateque adflictis incensisque, se in castra receperunt.

Eodem die legati, ab hostibus missi ad Cæsarem de pace, venerunt. His Cæsar numerum obsidum, quem antea imperaverat, duplicavit, eosque in continentem adduci jussit, quod, propinqua die æquinoctii, infirmis navibus, hyemi navigationem subjiciendam non existimabat. Ipse, idoneam tempestatem nactus, paulo post mediam noctem naves solvit, quæ omnes incolumes ad continentem pervenerunt; sed ex his onerariæ duæ eosdem, quos reliquæ, portus capere non potuerunt, et paulo infra delatæ sunt.

Quibus ex navibus quum essent expositi milites circiter ccc., atque in castra contenderent, Morini, quos Cæsar, in Britanniam proficiscens, pacatos reliquerat, spe prædæ adducti, primo non ita magno suorum numero circumsteterunt, ac, si sese interfici nollent, arma ponere jusserunt. Quum illi orbe facto sese defenderent, celeriter ad clamorem hominum circiter millia VI. convenerunt. Qua re nuntiata, Cæsar omnem ex castris equitatum suis auxilio misit. Interim nostri milites inpetum hostium sustinuerunt, atque amplius horis quatuor fortissime pugnaverunt, et, paucis vulneribus acceptis, complures ex iis occiderunt. Postea vero quam equitatus noster in conspectum venit, hostes abjectis armis terga verterunt, magnusque eorum numerus est occisus.

Digitized by Google

Cæsar postero[a] die T. Labienum legatum, cum iis legionibus, quas ex Britannia reduxerat, in Morinos, qui rebellionem fecerant, misit. . . . Cæsar in Belgis omnium legionum hyberna constituit. Eo duæ omnino civitates ex Britannia obsides miserunt, reliquæ neglexerunt. His rebus gestis, ex literis Cæsaris dierum XX. subplicatio a Senatu decreta est.

[b]Lucio Domitio, Appio Claudio coss. discedens ab hybernis Cæsar in Italiam, ut quotannis facere consuerat, legatis imperat, quos legionibus præfecerat, uti, quamplurimas possent, hyeme naves ædificandas veteresque reficiendas curarent. Earum modum formamque demonstrat. Ad celeritatem onerandi subductionesque paulo facit humiliores, quam quibus in nostro mari uti consuevimus; atque id eo magis, quod propter crebras commutationes æstuum minus magnos ibi fluctus fieri cognoverat: ad onera et ad multitudinem jumentorum transportandam paulo latiores, quam quibus in reliquis utimur maribus. Has omnes actuarias imperat fieri, quam ad rem multum humilitas adjuvat. Ea, quæ sunt usui ad armandas naves, ex Hispania adportari jubet. . . .

His confectis rebus conventibusque peractis, in citeriorem Galliam revertitur, atque inde ad exercitum proficiscitur. Eo cum venisset, circuitis omnibus hybernis, singulari militum studio, in summa omnium rerum inopia, circiter DC. ejus generis, cujus supra demonstravimus, naves et longas XXVIII. invenit instructas, neque multum abesse ab eo, quin paucis diebus deduci possent. Conlaudatis militibus atque iis qui negotio præfuerant, quid fieri velit, ostendit, atque omnis ad portum Itium convenire jubet, quo ex portu commodissimum in Britanniam transjectum esse cognoverat, circiter millium passuum XXX. transmissum a continenti. Huic rei quod satis esse visum est militum, reliquit: ipse cum legionibus expeditis IV. et equitibus DCCC. in fines Trevirorum proficiscitur. . .

. . . In ea civitate duo de principatu inter se contendebant, Indutiomarus et Cingetorix: ex quibus alter, simul atque de Cæsaris legionumque adventu cognitum est, ad eum venit. . . Indutiomarus . . . legatos ad Cæsarem mittit . . .

Cæsar, etsi intellegebat, qua de causa ea dicerentur, quæque eum res ab instituto consilio deterreret, tamen, ne æstatem in Treviris consumere cogeretur, omnibus ad Britannicum bellum rebus comparatis, Indutiomarum ad se cum ducentis obsidibus venire jussit. . . .

His rebus constitutis, Cæsar ad portum Itium cum legionibus pervenit. Ibi cognoscit, [1]LX. naves, quæ in Belgis factæ erant, tempestate rejectas, cursum tenere non potuisse, atque eodem, unde erant profectæ, revertisse: reliquas paratas ad navigandum atque omnibus rebus instructas invenit. Eodem totius Galliæ equitatus convenit, numero millium quatuor, principesque omnibus ex civitatibus: ex quibus perpaucos, quorum in se fidem perspexerat, relinquere in Gallia, reliquos obsidum loco secum ducere, decreverat; quod, quum ipse abesset, motum Galliæ verebatur.

Erat una cum ceteris Dumnorix Æduus, de quo ab nobis antea dictum est. Hunc secum habere in primis constituerat, quod eum cupidum rerum novarum, cupidum imperii, magni animi, magnæ inter Gallos auctoritatis, cognoverat. Accedebat huc, quod jam in concilio Æduorum Dumnorix dixerat, 'sibi a Cæsare regnum civitatis deferri:' quod dictum Ædui graviter ferebant, neque recusandi aut deprecandi causa legatos ad Cæsarem mittere audebant. Id factum ex suis hospitibus Cæsar cognoverat. Ille omnibus primo precibus petere contendit, ut in Gallia relinqueretur; partim, quod insuetus navigandi mare timeret; partim, quod religionibus sese diceret inpediri. Posteaquam id obstinate sibi negari vidit, omni spe inpetrandi adempta, principes Galliæ solicitare, sevocare singulos hortarique cœpit, uti in continenti remanerent; metu territare, non sine causa fieri, ut Gallia omni nobilitate spoliaretur: id esse consilium Cæsaris, ut, quos in conspectu Galliæ interficere vereretur, hos omnes in Britanniam transductos necaret: fidem reliquis interponere, jusjurandum poscere, ut, quod esse ex usu Galliæ intellexissent, communi consilio administrarent.

Hæc a compluribus ad Cæsarem deferebantur. Qua re cognita, Cæsar, quod tantum civitati Æduæ dignitatis tribuerat coercendum atque deterrendum, quibuscumque rebus posset, Dumnorigem statuebat; quod longius ejus amentiam progredi videbat, prospiciendum, ne quid sibi ac reipublicæ nocere posset. Itaque dies circiter XXV. in eo loco commoratus, quod Corus ventus navigationem inpediebat, qui magnam partem omnis temporis in his locis flare consuevit, dabat operam, ut in officio Dumnorigem contineret, nihilo tamen secius omnia ejus consilia cognosceret: tandem, idoneam nactus tempestatem, milites equitesque conscendere in naves jubet. At, omnium inpeditis animis, Dumnorix cum equitibus Æduorum a castris, insciente Cæsare, domum discedere cœpit. Qua re nuntiata, Cæsar, intermissa profectione atque omnibus rebus postpositis, magnam partem equitatus ad eum insequendum mittit, retrahique imperat: si vim faciat neque pareat, interfici jubet: nihil hunc se absente

[1] al. XL.

[a] Circa diem 20 Septembris. Halleus. [b] Lib. V. cc. 1–23.

Digitized by Google

pro sano facturum arbitratus, qui præsentis imperium neglexisset. Ille enim revocatus resistere ac se manu defendere suorumque fidem inplorare cœpit, sæpe clamitans, 'liberum se liberæque civitatis esse.' Illi, ut erat imperatum, circumsistunt hominem atque interficiunt; at Ædui equites ad Cæsarem omnes revertuntur.

His rebus gestis, Labieno in continente cum tribus legionibus et equitum millibus duobus relicto, ut portus tueretur et rem frumentariam provideret, quæque in Gallia gererentur cognosceret, consiliumque pro tempore et pro re caperet, ipse cum quinque legionibus et pari numero equitum quem in continenti relinquebat, solis occasu naves solvit[a], et, leni Africo provectus, media circiter nocte vento intermisso, cursum non tenuit, et, longius delatus æstu, orta luce, sub sinistra Britanniam relictam conspexit. Tum rursus, æstus commutationem secutus, remis contendit, ut eam partem insulæ caperet, qua optimum esse egressum superiore æstate cognoverat. Qua in re admodum fuit militum virtus laudanda, qui vectoriis gravibusque navigiis, non intermisso remigandi labore, longarum navium cursum adæquarunt. Accessum est ad Britanniam omnibus navibus meridiano fere tempore: neque in eo loco hostis est visus, sed, ut postea Cæsar ex captivis comperit, quum magnæ manus eo convenissent, multitudine navium perterritæ, quæ cum annotinis privatisque, quas sui quisque commodi fecerat, amplius DCCC. uno erant visæ tempore, a litore discesserant ac se in superiora loca abdiderant.

Cæsar, exposito exercitu et loco castris idoneo capto, ubi ex captivis cognovit, quo in loco hostium copiæ consedissent, cohortibus X. ad mare relictis et equitibus CCC., qui præsidio navibus essent, de tertia vigilia ad hostes contendit, eo minus veritus navibus, quod in littore molli atque aperto deligatas ad anchoram relinquebat; et præsidio navibus Q. Atrium præfecit. Ipse, noctu progressus millia passuum circiter XII., hostium copias conspicatus est. Illi, equitatu atque essedis ad flumen progressi, ex loco superiore nostros prohibere et prælium committere cœperunt. Repulsi ab equitatu, se in sylvas abdiderunt, locum nacti, egregie et natura et opere munitum, quem domestici belli, ut videbatur, causa jam ante præparaverant: nam crebris arboribus succisis omnes introitus erant præclusi. Ipsi ex sylvis rari propugnabant, nostrosque intra munitiones ingredi prohibebant. At milites legionis VII., testudine facta et aggere ad munitiones adjecto, locum ceperunt eosque ex sylvis expulerunt, paucis vulneribus acceptis. Sed eos fugientes longius Cæsar prosequi vetuit, et quod loci naturam ignorabat, et quod, magna parte diei consumta, munitioni castrorum tempus relinqui volebat.

Postridie ejus diei mane tripartito milites equitesque in expeditionem misit, ut eos, qui fugerant, persequerentur. His aliquantum itineris progressis, quum jam extremi essent in prospectu, equites a Q. Atrio ad Cæsarem venerunt, qui nuntiarent, superiore nocte, maxima coorta tempestate, prope omnes naves adflictas atque in litore ejectas esse; quod neque anchoræ funesque subsisterent, neque nautæ gubernatoresque vim pati tempestatis possent: itaque ex eo concursu navium magnum esse incommodum acceptum.

His rebus cognitis, Cæsar legiones equitatumque revocari atque itinere desistere jubet; ipse ad naves revertitur: eadem fere, quæ ex nuntiis literisque cognoverat, coram perspicit, sic ut, amissis circiter [1]XL. navibus, reliquæ tamen refici posse magno negotio viderentur. Itaque ex legionibus fabros delegit et ex continenti alios arcessiri jubet; Labieno scribit, ut, quam plurimas posset, iis legionibus quæ sint apud eum, naves instituat. Ipse, etsi res erat multæ operæ ac laboris, tamen commodissimum esse statuit, omnes naves subduci et cum castris una munitione conjungi. In his rebus circiter dies decem consumit, ne nocturnis quidem temporibus ad laborem militum intermissis. Subductis navibus castrisque egregie munitis, easdem copias, quas ante, præsidio navibus reliquit: ipse eodem, unde redierat, proficiscitur. Eo quum venisset, majores jam undique in eum locum copiæ Britannorum convenerant, summa imperii bellique administrandi communi consilio permissa Cassivellauno, cujus fines a maritimis civitatibus flumen dividit, quod adpellatur Tamesis, a mari circiter millia passuum LXXX. Huic superiore tempore cum reliquis civitatibus continentia bella intercesserant: sed nostro adventu permoti Britanni hunc toti bello imperioque præfecerant.

Britanniæ pars interior ab iis incolitur, quos natos in insula ipsa memoria proditum dicunt: maritima pars ab iis, qui prædæ ac belli inferendi causa ex Belgio transierant; qui omnes fere iis nominibus civitatum adpellantur, quibus orti ex civitatibus eo pervenerunt, et bello inlato ibi remanserunt atque agros colere cœperunt. Hominum est infinita multitudo creberrimaque ædificia, fere Gallicis consimilia[b]: pecorum magnus numerus. [2]Utuntur aut ære, aut taleis ferreis, ad certum pondus examinatis, pro [3]nummo. Nascitur ibi plumbum album in mediterraneis regionibus, in maritimis ferrum; sed ejus exigua est copia: ære utuntur inportato. Materia cujusque generis, ut in Gallia, est, præter fagum atque abietem. Leporem et gallinam et anserem gustare, fas non putant; hæc tamen alunt animi voluptatisque causa. Loca sunt temperatiora, quam in Gallia, remissioribus frigoribus.

Insula natura triquetra, cujus unum latus est contra Galliam. Hujus lateris alter angulus, qui est ad Cantium, quo fere omnes ex Gallia naves ad-

[1] al. LX. [2] Utuntur aut ære aut nummo aureo, aut aliis ferreis,– aut annulis– laminis– taleis– lanceis ferreis [3] numeris, numero.

[a] An. U.C. 700. An. A.C. 54. Mense Maio, uti conjectat Halleius.

[b] Casæ Gallorum stramentis erant tectæ. Cæs. B.G. v. 6.

Digitized by Google

pelluntur, ad orientem solem; inferior ad meridiem spectat. Hoc latus tenet circiter millia passuum D. Alterum vergit ad Hispaniam atque occidentem solem, qua ex parte est Hibernia, dimidio minor, ut æstimatur, quam Britannia; sed pari spatio transmissus, atque ex Gallia, est in Britanniam. In hoc medio cursu est insula, quæ adpellatur Mona; complures præterea minores objectæ insulæ existimantur; de quibus insulis nonnulli scripserunt, dies continuos XXX. sub bruma esse noctem. Nos nihil de eo percunctationibus reperiebamus, nisi certis ex aqua mensuris breviores esse, quam in continente, noctes videbamus. Hujus est longitudo lateris, ut fert illorum opinio, DCC. millium. Tertium est contra septemtriones, cui parti nulla est objecta terra; sed ejus angulus lateris maxime ad Germaniam spectat: huic millia passuum DCCC. in longitudinem esse, existimatur. Ita omnis insula est in circuitu vicies centum millium passuum.

Ex his omnibus longe sunt humanissimi, qui Cantium incolunt, quæ regio est maritima omnis, neque multum a Gallica differunt consuetudine. Interiores plerique frumenta non serunt, sed lacte et carne vivunt, pellibusque sunt vestiti. Omnes vero se Britanni vitro inficiunt, quod cœruleum efficit colorem, atque hoc horridiore sunt in pugna adspectu: capilloque sunt promisso atque omni parte corporis rasa, præter caput et labrum superius. Uxores habent deni duodenique inter se communes, et maxime fratres cum fratribus, parentesque cum liberis; sed, si qui sunt ex his nati, eorum habentur liberi, quo primum virgo quæque deducta est.

Equites hostium essedariique acriter prælio cum equitatu nostro in itinere conflixerunt, tamen ut nostri omnibus partibus superiores fuerint, atque eos in sylvas collesque compulerint: sed compluribus interfectis, cupidius insecuti, nonnullos ex suis amiserunt. At illi, intermisso spatio, inprudentibus nostris atque occupatis in munitione castrorum, subito se ex sylvis ejecerunt, inpetuque in eos facto, qui erant in statione pro castris conlocati, acriter pugnaverunt: duabusque missis subsidio cohortibus a Cæsare, atque his primis legionum duarum, cum hæ, perexiguo intermisso loci spatio inter se, constitissent, novo genere pugnæ perterritis nostris, per medios audacissime proruperunt, seque inde incolumes receperunt. Eo die Q. Laberius Durus, tribunus militum, interficitur. Illi, pluribus submissis cohortibus, repelluntur.

Toto hoc in genere pugnæ, quum sub oculis omnium ac pro castris dimicaretur, intellectum est, nostros propter gravitatem armorum, quod neque insequi cedentes possent, neque ab signis discedere auderent, minus aptos esse ad hujus generis hostem; equites autem magno cum periculo prælio dimicare, propterea quod illi etiam consulto plerumque cederent et, quum paulum ab legionibus nostros removissent, ex essedis desilirent et pedibus dispari prælio contenderent. Equestris autem prælii ratio et cedentibus et insequentibus par atque idem periculum inferebat. Accedebat huc, ut, nunquam conferti, sed rari magnisque intervallis præliarentur, stationesque dispositas haberent, atque alios alii deinceps exciperent, integrique et recentes defatigatis succederent.

Postero die procul a castris hostes in collibus constiterunt, rarique se ostendere et lenius, quam pridie, nostros equites prælio lacessere cœperunt. Sed meridie, quum Cæsar pabulandi causa tres legiones atque omnem equitatum cum C. Trebonio legato misisset, repente ex omnibus partibus ad pabulatores advolaverunt, sic, uti ab signis legionibusque non absisterent. Nostri, acriter in eos inpetu facto, repulerunt, neque finem sequendi fecerunt, quoad subsidio confisi equites, quum post se legiones viderent, præcipites hostes egerunt: magnoque eorum numero interfecto, neque sui conligendi, neque consistendi, aut ex essedis desiliendi facultatem dederunt. Ex hac fuga protinus, quæ undique convenerant, auxilia discesserunt: neque post id tempus umquam summis nobiscum copiis hostes contenderunt.

Cæsar, cognito consilio eorum, ad flumen Tamesin in fines Cassivellauni exercitum duxit; quod flumen uno omnino loco pedibus, atque hoc ægre, transiri potest. Eo quum venisset, animum advertit, ad alteram fluminis ripam magnas esse copias hostium instructas: ripa autem erat acutis sudibus præfixis munita; ejusdemque generis sub aqua defixæ sudes flumine tegebantur. His rebus cognitis a captivis perfugisque, Cæsar, præmisso equitatu, confestim legiones subsequi jussit. Sed ea celeritate atque eo inpetu milites ierunt, quum capite solo ex aqua exstarent, ut hostes inpetum legionum atque equitum sustinere non possent, ripasque dimitterent ac se fugæ mandarent.

Cassivellaunus, ut supra demonstravimus, omni deposita spe contentionis, dimissis amplioribus copiis, millibus circiter quatuor essedariorum relictis, itinera nostra servabat, paululumque ex via excedebat, locisque inpeditis ac sylvestribus sese occultabat, atque iis regionibus, quibus nos iter facturos cognoverat, pecora atque homines ex agris in sylvas compellebat: et, quum equitatus noster liberius prædandi vastandique causa se in agros effunderet, omnibus viis notis semitisque essedarios ex sylvis emittebat, et magno cum periculo nostrorum equitum cum iis confligebat, atque hoc metu latius vagari prohibebat. Relinquebatur, ut neque longius ab agmine legionum discedi Cæsar pateretur, et tantum in agris vastandis incendiisque faciendis hostibus noceretur, quantum labore atque itinere legionarii milites efficere poterant.

Interim Trinobantes, prope firmissima earum regionum civitas, ex qua Mandubratius adolescens, Cæsaris fidem secutus, ad eum in continentem Galliam venerat, cujus pater Imanuentius in ea civitate regnum obtinuerat, interfectusque erat a Cassivellauno, ipse fuga mortem vitaverat, legatos ad Cæsarem mittunt, pollicenturque, sese ei dedituros atque imperata facturos: petunt, ut Mandubratium ab injuria Cassivellauni defendat, atque in civitatem mittat, qui præsit imperiumque obtineat. His Cæsar imperat obsides XL. frumentumque exercitui, Mandubratiumque ad eos mittit. Illi imperata celeriter fecerunt, obsides ad numerum frumentaque miserunt.

Digitized by Google

Trinobantibus defensis atque ab omni militum injuria prohibitis, Cenimagni, Segontiaci, Ancalites, Bibroci, Cassi, legationibus missis sese Cæsari dedunt. Ab his cognoscit, non longe ex eo loco oppidum Cassivellauni abesse, sylvis paludibusque munitum, quo satis magnus hominum pecorisque numerus convenerit. Oppidum autem Britanni vocant, quum sylvas inpeditas vallo atque fossa munierunt, quo incursionis hostium vitandæ causa convenire consuerunt. Eo proficiscitur cum legionibus: locum reperit egregie natura atque opere munitum; tamen hunc duabus ex partibus obpugnare contendit. Hostes, paulisper morati, militum nostrorum inpetum non tulerunt, seseque alia ex parte oppidi ejecerunt. Magnus ibi numerus pecoris repertus, multique in fuga sunt comprehensi atque interfecti.

Dum hæc in his locis geruntur, Cassivellaunus ad Cantium, quod esse ad mare supra demonstravimus, quibus regionibus quatuor reges præerant, Cingetorix, Carvilius, Taximagulus, Segonax, nuntios mittit, atque his imperat, uti, coactis omnibus copiis, castra navalia de inproviso adoriantur atque oppugnent. Ii quum ad castra venissent, nostri, eruptione facta, multis eorum interfectis, captoetiam nobili duce Lugotorige, suos incolumes reduxerunt. Cassivellaunus, hoc prælio nuntiato, tot detrimentis acceptis, vastatis finibus, maxime etiam permotus defectione civitatium, legatos per Atrebatem Commium de deditione ad Cæsarem mittit. Cæsar, quum statuisset, hyemem in continenti propter repentinos Galliæ motus agere, neque multum æstatis superesset atque id facile extrahi posse intellegeret, obsides imperat, et, quid in annos singulos vectigalis Populo Romano Britannia penderet, constituit: interdicit atque imperat Cassivellauno, ne Mandubratio, neu Trinobantibus bellum faciat.

Obsidibus acceptis, exercitum reducit ad mare, naves invenit refectas. His deductis, quod et captivorum magnum numerum habebat, et nonnullæ tempestate deperierant naves, duobus commeatibus exercitum reportare instituit. Ac sic accidit, uti ex tanto navium numero, tot navigationibus, neque hoc, neque superiore anno, ulla omnino navis, quæ milites portaret, desideraretur: at ex iis, quæ inanes ex continenti ad eum remitterentur, et prioris commeatus expositis militibus, et quas postea Labienus faciendas curaverat numero LX., perpaucæ locum caperent; reliquæ fere omnes rejicerentur. Quas cum aliquamdiu Cæsar frustra expectasset, ne anni tempore a navigatione excluderetur, quod æquinoctium suberat, necessario angustius milites conlocavit, ac, summa tranquillitate consecuta, secunda inita cum solvisset vigilia, prima luce terram adtigit, omnesque incolumes naves perduxit.

[a]In omni Gallia eorum hominum, qui aliquo sunt numero atque honore, genera sunt duo: nam plebes pæne servorum habetur loco, quæ per se nihil audet et nullo adhibetur consilio. Plerique, quum aut ære alieno, aut magnitudine tributorum, aut injuria potentiorum, premuntur, sese in servitutem dicant nobilibus: in hos eadem omnia sunt jura, quæ dominis in servos. Sed de his duobus generibus alterum est Druidum, alterum equitum. Illi rebus divinis intersunt, sacrificia publica ac privata procurant, religiones interpretantur. Ad hos magnus adolescentium numerus disciplinæ causa concurrit, magnoque ii sunt apud eos honore. Nam fere de omnibus controversiis publicis privatisque constituunt; et, si quod est admissum facinus, si cædes facta, si de hæreditate, si de finibus controversia est, iidem decernunt; præmia pœnasque constituunt: si qui aut privatus aut publicus eorum decreto non stetit, sacrificiis interdicunt. Hæc pœna apud eos est gravissima. Quibus ita est interdictum, ii numero inpiorum ac sceleratorum habentur; iis omnes decedunt, aditum eorum sermonemque defugiunt, ne quid ex contagione incommodi accipiant: neque iis petentibus jus redditur, neque honos ullus communicatur. His autem omnibus Druidibus præest unus, qui summam inter eos habet auctoritatem. Hoc mortuo, si qui ex reliquis excellit dignitate, succedit: at, si sunt plures pares, suffragio Druidum adlegitur, nonnunquam etiam armis de principatu contendunt. Hi certo anni tempore in finibus Carnutum, quæ regio totius Galliæ media habetur, considunt in loco consecrato. Huc omnes undique, qui controversias habent, conveniunt, eorumque decretis judiciisque parent. Disciplina in Britannia reperta atque inde in Galliam translata esse existimatur: et nunc, qui diligentius eam rem cognoscere volunt, plerumque illo discendi causa proficiscuntur.

Druides a bello abesse consuerunt, neque tributa una cum reliquis pendunt; militiæ vacationem omniumque rerum habent inmunitatem. Tantis excitati præmiis, et sua sponte multi in disciplinam conveniunt, et a parentibus propinquisque mittuntur. Magnum ibi numerum versuum ediscere dicuntur: itaque annos nonnulli vicenos in disciplina permanent. Neque fas esse existimant, ea literis mandare, quum in reliquis fere rebus, publicis privatisque rationibus, Græcis utantur literis. Id mihi duabus de causis instituisse videntur; quod neque in vulgum disciplinam efferri velint, neque eos, qui discant, literis confisos, minus memoriæ studere: quod fere plerisque accidit, ut præsidio literarum diligentiam in perdiscendo ac memoriam remittant. In primis hoc volunt persuadere, non interire animas, sed ab aliis post mortem transire ad alios: atque hoc maxime ad virtutem excitari putant, [a] Lib. VI. cc. 13–20. Hæc, cum et ad Britanniam spectare videantur, subjungere visum est.

Digitized by Google

metu mortis neglecto. Multa præterea de sideribus atque eorum motu, de mundi ac terrarum magnitudine, de rerum natura, de Deorum inmortalium vi ac potestate disputant et juventuti transdunt.

Alterum genus est equitum. Hi, quum est usus atque aliquod bellum incidit, (quod ante Cæsaris adventum fere quotannis accidere solebat, uti aut ipsi injurias inferrent, aut inlatas propulsarent,) omnes in bello versantur: atque eorum ut quisque est genere copiisque amplissimus, ita plurimos circum se ambactos clientesque, habent. Hanc unam gratiam potentiamque noverunt.

Natio est omnis Gallorum admodum dedita religionibus; atque ob eam causam, qui sunt adfecti gravioribus morbis, quique in præliis periculisque versantur, aut pro victimis homines inmolant, aut se inmolaturos vovent, administrisque ad ea sacrificia Druidibus utuntur; quod, pro vita hominis nisi hominis vita reddatur, non posse aliter Deorum inmortalium numen placari arbitrantur: publiceque ejusdem generis habent instituta sacrificia. Alii inmani magnitudine simulacra habent, quorum contexta viminibus membra vivis hominibus complent, quibus succensis, circumventi flamma exanimantur homines. Subplicia eorum, qui in furto, aut in latrocinio, aut aliqua noxa sint comprehensi, gratiora Diis inmortalibus esse arbitrantur: sed, quum ejus generis copia deficit, etiam ad innocentium subplicia descendunt.

Deum maxime Mercurium colunt: hujus sunt plurima simulacra, hunc omnium inventorem artium ferunt, hunc viarum atque itinerum ducem, hunc ad quæstus pecuniæ mercaturasque habere vim maximam arbitrantur. Post hunc, Apollinem et Martem et Jovem et Minervam: de his eandem fere, quam reliquæ gentes, habent opinionem; Apollinem morbos depellere, Minervam operum atque artificiorum initia transdere; Jovem imperium cœlestium tenere; Martem bella regere. Huic, quum prælio dimicare constituerunt, ea, quæ bello ceperint, plerumque devovent. Quæ superaverint, animalia capta inmolant; reliquas res in unum locum conferunt. Multis in civitatibus harum rerum exstructos tumulos locis consecratis conspicari licet: neque sæpe accidit, ut, neglecta quispiam religione, aut capta apud se occultare, aut posita tollere auderet; gravissimumque ei rei subplicium cum cruciatu constitutum est.

Galli se omnes ab Dite patre prognatos prædicant, idque ab Druidibus proditum dicunt. Ob eam causam spatia omnis temporis non numero dierum, sed noctium finiunt; dies natales et mensium et annorum initia sic observant, ut noctem dies subsequatur. In reliquis vitæ institutis hoc fere ab reliquis differunt, quod suos liberos, nisi quum adoleverint, ut munus militiæ sustinere possint, palam ad se adire non patiuntur; filiumque puerili ætate in publico, in conspectu patris, adsistere, turpe ducunt.

Viri, quantas pecunias ab uxoribus dotis nomine acceperunt, tantas ex suis bonis, æstimatione facta, cum dotibus communicant. Hujus omnis pecuniæ conjunctim ratio habetur, fructusque servantur: uter eorum vita superarit, ad eum pars utriusque cum fructibus superiorum temporum pervenit. Viri in uxores, sicuti in liberos, vitæ necisque habent potestatem: et, quum pater familiæ, inlustriore loco natus, decessit, ejus propinqui conveniunt, et, de morte si res in suspicionem venit, de uxoribus in servilem modum quæstionem habent, et, si compertum est, igni atque omnibus tormentis excruciatas interficiunt. Funera sunt pro cultu Gallorum magnifica et sumtuosa; omniaque, quæ vivis cordi fuisse arbitrantur, in ignem inferunt, etiam animalia: ac paulo supra hanc memoriam servi et clientes, quos ab iis dilectos esse constabat, justis funeribus confectis, una cremabantur.

Quæ civitates commodius suam rem publicam administrare existimantur, habent legibus sanctum, si quis quid de re publica a finitimis rumore ac fama acceperit, uti ad magistratum deferat, neve cum quo alio communicet: quod sæpe homines temerarios atque inperitos falsis rumoribus terreri, et ad facinus inpelli, et de summis rebus consilium capere cognitum est. Magistratus, quæ visa sunt, occultant; quæque esse ex usu judicaverint, multitudini produnt. De re publica nisi per concilium loqui non conceditur.

EX EODEM C. JUL. CÆSARE.[a]

Quum in his angustiis res esset, atque omnes viæ ab Afranianis militibus equitibusque obsiderentur, nec pontes perfici possent, imperat militibus Cæsar, ut naves faciant, cujus generis eum superioribus annis usus Britanniæ docuerat. Carinæ primum ac statumina ex levi materia fiebant: reliquum corpus navium, viminibus contextum, coriis integebatur. Has perfectas carris junctis devehit noctu millia passuum a castris XXII., militesque his navibus flumen transportat, continentemque ripæ collem inproviso occupat.

EX MESSALLA CORVINO.[b]

Gallia atque Britannia novem annorum Julii Cæsaris labor fuere, tributariæ demum factæ.

EX VALERIO MAXIMO.[c]

Tuum vero, Scæva, inexsuperabilem spiritum in utraque parte rerum naturæ qua admiratione prosequar nescio: quoniam excellenti virtute dubium reliquisti, inter undasne pugnam fortiorem edideris an in terra vocem emiseris.

[a] C. Julii Cæsaris de Bello Civili lib. I. c. 54. Ubi supra.

[b] Messallæ Corvini de Progenie Augusti c. 35. Ed. Havercampi, Lugd. Batav. 1729.
Floruit Messalla Corvinus An. A.C. 10.

[c] Valerii Maximi Factorum et Dictorum Memorabilium lib. III. c. 2. 23. Ed. Kappii, Lipsiæ, 1782.
Floruit Valerius Maximus A.D. 30.

Digitized by Google

Bello namque quo C. Cæsar non contentus opera sua oceani claudere litoribus, Britannicæ insulæ cœlestes injecit manus,[a] cum quatuor commilitonibus rate transvectus, in scopulum vicinum insulæ, quam hostium ingentes copiæ obtinebant; postquam æstus regressu suo spatium, quo scopulus et insula dividebantur in vadum transitu facile redegit, ingenti multitudine barbarorum affluente, ceteris rate ad litus regressis, solus immobilem stationis gradum retinens undique ruentibus telis et ab omni parte acri studio ad te invadendum nitentibus, quinque militum diurno prœlio suffectura pila, una dextra, hostium corporibus adegisti: ad ultimum destricto gladio, audacissimum quemque, modo umbonis impulsu, modo mucronis ictu depellens, hinc Romanis, illinc Britannicis oculis incredibili, dum cernereris, spectaculo fuisti. Postquam deinde ira ac pudor cuncta conari fessos coegit, tragula femur trajectus, saxique pondere ora contusus, galea jam ictibus discussa, et scuto crebris foraminibus absumpto, profundo te credidisti, ac duabus loricis onustus, inter undas, quas hostili cruore infeceras, enatasti: visoque imperatore armis non amissis, sed bene impensis, cum laudem merereris, veniam petiisti. Magnus prœlio; sed major disciplinæ militaris memoria: itaque ab optimo virtutis æstimatore, cum facta, tum etiam verba tua, centurionatus honore donata sunt.

EX VELLEIO PATERCULO.[b]

Cum deinde immanes res vix multis voluminibus explicandas C. Cæsar in Gallia ageret; ... etiam in Britanniam transjecisset exercitum, alterum pæne imperio nostro, ac suo quærens orbem.

[c] Per hæc, insequentiaque, et quæ prædiximus tempora... a C. Cæsare... bis penetrata Britannia.

EX FLAVIO JOSEPHO.[d]

[f] 'Αλλ' ὑπὲρ ὠκεανὸν ἑτέραν ἐζήτησαν [οἱ Ῥωμαῖοι] οἰκουμένην, [ἔλεξεν ὁ Ἀγρίππας] καὶ μέχρι τῶν ἀνισταρήτων πρότερον Βρεττανῶν διήνεγκαν τὰ ὅπλα .... Σκέψασθε δὲ καὶ τὸ Βρεττανῶν τεῖχος, οἱ τοῖς Ἱερουσολύμων τείχεσι πεποιθότες. καὶ γὰρ ἐκείνους περιβεβλημένους ὠκεανὸν, καὶ τῆς καθ' ἡμᾶς οἰκουμένης οὐκ ἐλάσσονα νῆσον οἰκοῦντας, πλεύσαντες ἐδουλώσαντο Ῥωμαῖοι· τέσσαρα δὲ τάγματα τὴν τοσαύτην νῆσον διαφυλάττει.'

[e] ['Ο Νέρων] εὑρίσκει Οὐεσπασιανὸν, ... προσκαλεσάμενον δὲ τοῖς ὅπλοις Βρεττανίαν τέως λανθάνουσαν· ὅθεν αὐτοῦ καὶ τῷ πατρὶ Κλαυδίῳ παρέσχε, χωρὶς ἱδρῶτος ἰδίου θρίαμβον καταγαγεῖν.

[f] 'Καὶ τί μεῖζον ὠκεανοῦ τείχους κώλυμα, [ἔλεξεν ὁ Τίτος] ὃν περιβεβλημένοι Βρεττανοὶ τὰ Ῥωμαίων ὅπλα προσκυνοῦσι;'

[g] Οὐεσπασιανὸς πέμπει γράμματα Πετιλίῳ Κερεαλίῳ, ... τὴν ὕπατον δίδους τιμὴν, καὶ κελεύων [l] ἄρξαντα Βρεττανίας ἀπιέναι.

EX HEGESIPPO.[h]

Ille [Alexander] usque ad oceanum victoriam extendit: Romani ultra oceanum. Testis est Britannia extra orbem posita, sed Romanorum virtute in orbem redacta. Quos ætas superior ignoravit, didicit Romanorum victoria. Serviunt et ipsi, qui, quid esset servitus ignorabant; soli sibi nati et semper sibi liberi: quia a superiorum potentia, interfuso oceano secreti metuere non poterant quos nesciebant. Plus itaque fuit transisse ad Britannos quam triumphasse de Britannis. Quid enim facerent, elementis Romanorum imperio subjectis? Docuit illos oceanus servitutis patientiam, postquam transfretantibus et ipsi Romanorum navigiis insuetam sibi servitutem agnoverant...

Nam si verum quæramus, ut supra diximus, terra ipsa infra Romanorum imperium est, super quam progressa Romana virtus ultra oceanum, alterum sibi orbem quæsivit, et in Britannia sibi remota a confinio terrarum, novam sibi invenit possessionem. Denique quibus jus non solum civitatis Romanæ sed etiam ipsius prope humanæ conversationis negatur, illo diriguntur, ut illic habitent, quasi mundi exules. Cessit oceanus finibus suis, novit Romanus interiora ejus petere secreta.

[i] Britanniam quoque inter undas adhuc latentem Romano imperio armis acquisiverat [Vespasianus], cujus triumphatæ opibus Roma ditior, Claudius consultior, Nero fortior æstimabatur.

[k] Quis vobis cum victoribus universæ terræ, quibus secreta oceani et extrema Indiæ parent: quid attexam Britannias interfuso mari toto orbe divisas et a Romanis in orbem terrarum redactas? Tremit

---

FLAVIUS JOSEPHUS.[d]

[f] But they [the Romans] have sought out [said Agrippa] another world beyond the ocean, and have carried their arms even as far as the Britons, who were before unnoticed in history.... Now, consider the wall of the Britons, ye who confide in the walls of Jerusalem. For these people, though surrounded by the ocean and inhabiting an island not less than our world, the Romans have sailed over to and subdued: and four legions suffice to keep possession of so large an island.'

[e] He [Nero] sought out Vespasian ... who by his arms had recovered Britain, previously but little known; whence he afforded his father, Claudius, the means of a triumph without any exertion on his part.

[f] 'What greater barrier is there [said Titus] than the wall of the ocean by which the Britons are surrounded? And yet they bow down to the arms of the Romans.'

[g] Vespasian sends letters to Petilius Cerealis ... giving him consular dignity, and ordering him to depart to take on him the command of Britain.

[l] ἄρξοντα.

[a] Conf. Cæsarem, de Bello Civili, III. 53.
[b] Velleii Paterculi Historiæ Romanæ lib. II. c. 46. Ed. Burmanni, Roterodami, 1756.
Floruit Paterculus A.D. 30.
[c] Cap. 47.
[d] Flavii Josephi de Bello Judaico lib. II. c. 16. Ed. Oxon. 1720.
Floruit Josephus A.D. 70.
[e] Lib. III. c. 1. [f] Lib. VI. c. 6. [g] Lib. VII. c. 4.
[h] Hegesippi de Bello Judaico lib. II. c. 9. Ed. Coloniæ, 1559.
Vixit Hegesippus sæculo secundo: hæc autem S. Ambrosio, qui sæculo quarto floruit, potius quam Hegesippo, tribuenda censentur; sed tamen cum fere ex Josepho pendeant, hic proferenda putavimus.
[i] Lib. III. c. 1. [k] Lib. V. c. 15.

Digitized by Google

hos Scotia, quæ terris nihil debet; tremit Saxonia inaccessa paludibus et inviis septa regionibus.

EX C. CORNELIO TACITO.[a]

[b]Tandem... claudæ naves... revertere: quas raptim refectas misit [Germanicus], ut scrutarentur insulas: collecti ea cura [milites] plerique: multos Angrivarii nuper in fidem accepti, redemptos ab interioribus reddidere: quidam in Britanniam rapti, et remissi a regulis.

[c]Sed consultanti [Claudio] super absolutione Asiatici, flens Vitellius, commemorata 'vetustate amicitiæ, utque Antoniam, Principis matrem, pariter observassent,' dein percursis 'Asiatici in rem publicam officiis recentique adversus Britanniam militia,' quæque alia conciliandæ misericordiæ videbantur: 'liberum ei mortis arbitrium,' permisit.

[d]At in Britannia P. Ostorium, proprætorem, turbidæ res excepere, effusis in agrum sociorum hostibus, eo violentius, quod novum ducem, exercitu ignoto, et cœpta hieme, iturum obviam non rebantur. Ille gnarus, primis eventibus metum aut fiduciam gigni, citas cohortes rapit: et cæsis qui restiterant, disjectos consectatus, ne rursus conglobarentur, infensaque et infida pax non duci, non militi, requiem permitteret, detrahere arma suspectis, cinctosque castris Antonam et Sabrinam fluvios cohibere parat. Quod primi Iceni abnuere, valida gens, nec prœliis contusi, quia societatem nostram volentes accesserant: hisque auctoribus, circumjectæ nationes locum pugnæ delegere, septum agresti aggere, et aditu angusto, ne pervius equiti foret. Ea munimenta dux Romanus, quamquam sine robore legionum sociales copias ducebat, perrumpere adgreditur, et distributis cohortibus, turmas quoque, peditum ad munia accingit. Tunc dato signo perfringunt aggerem, suisque claustris impeditos turbant. Atque illi conscientia rebellionis, et obseptis effugiis, multa et clara facinora fecere. Qua pugna filius legati, M. Ostorius, servati civis decus meruit.

Ceterum clade Icenorum compositi, qui bellum inter et pacem dubitabant; et ductus in Cangos exercitus. Vastati agri, prædæ passim actæ: non ausis aciem hostibus, vel si ex occulto carpere agmen tentarent, punito dolo. Jam ventum haud procul mari, quod Hiberniam insulam aspectat; cum ortæ apud Brigantas discordiæ retraxere ducem, destinationis certum, ne nova moliretur, nisi prioribus firmatis. Et Brigantes quidem, paucis, qui arma cœptabant, interfectis, in reliquos data venia, resedere. Silurum gens non atrocitate, non clementia mutabatur, quin bellum exerceret, castrisque legionum premenda foret. Id quo promptius veniret, colonia Camulodunum valida veteranorum manu deducitur in agros captivos, subsidium adversus rebelles, et imbuendis sociis ad officia legum.

Itum inde in Siluras, super propriam ferociam, Caractaci viribus confisos: quem multa ambigua, multa prospera extulerant, ut ceteros Britannorum imperatores præmineret. Sed tum astu, tum locorum fraude prior, vi militum inferior, transfert bellum in Ordovicas additisque, qui pacem nostram metuebant, novissimum casum experitur; sumpto ad prœlium loco, ut aditus, abscessus, cuncta nobis importuna et suis in melius essent. Tunc montibus arduis, et si qua clementer accedi poterant, in modum valli saxa præstruit: et præfluebat amnis vado incerto, catervaque majorum pro munimentis constiterant.

Ad hoc gentium ductores circumire, hortari, firmare animos, minuendo metu, accendenda spe, aliisque belli incitamentis. Enimvero Caractacus huc illuc volitans, 'illum diem, illam aciem,' testabatur, 'aut reciperandæ libertatis, aut servitutis æternæ initium fore:' vocabatque nomina 'majorum, qui dictatorem Cæsarem pepulissent: quorum virtute vacui a securibus et tributis, intemerata conjugum et liberorum corpora retinerent.' Hæc atque talia dicenti, adstrepere vulgus; gentili quisque religione obstringi, 'non telis, non vulneribus cessuros.'

Obstupefecit ea alacritas ducem Romanum: simul objectus amnis, additum vallum, inminentia juga, nihil nisi atrox et propugnatoribus frequens, terrebat. Sed miles prœlium poscere, 'cuncta virtute expugnabilia,' clamitare, præfectique ac tribuni paria disserentes, ardorem exercitus intendebant. Tum Ostorius, circumspectis, quæ impenetrabilia, quæque pervia, ducit infensos, amnemque haud difficulter evadit. Ubi ventum ad aggerem, dum missilibus certabatur, plus vulnerum in nos, et pleræque cædes oriebantur. Posteaquam facta testudine, rudes et informes saxorum compages distractæ, parque cominus acies, decedere barbari in juga montium. Sed eo quoque inrupere ferentarius gravisque miles: illi, telis adsultantes, hi, conserto gradu; turbatis contra Britannorum ordinibus, apud quos nulla loricarum galearumve tegmina: et, si auxiliaribus resisterent, gladiis ac pilis legionariorum; si huc verterent, spathis et hastis auxiliarium sternebantur: clara ea victoria fuit, captaque uxore et filia Caractaci, fratres quoque in deditionem accepti.

Ipse, ut ferme intuta sunt adversa, cum fidem Cartismanduæ, reginæ Brigantum, petivisset, vinctus ac victoribus traditus est, nono post anno, quam bellum in Britannia cœptum. Unde fama ejus evecta insulas, et proximas provincias pervagata, per Italiam quoque celebrabatur: avebantque visere, quis ille, tot per annos, opes nostras sprevisset. Ne Romæ quidem ignobile Caractaci nomen

[a] Caii Cornelii Taciti Annalium libro II. c. 24. Ed. Brotier, Parisiis 1771.
Floruit Tacitus A.D. 80.

[b] A.D. 16.
[c] Lib. XI. c. 3. A.D. 47.
[d] Lib. XII. cc. 31–40. A.D. 50.

Digitized by Google

erat: et Cæsar, dum suum decus extollit, addidit gloriam victo. Vocatus quippe, ut ad insigne spectaculum, populus. Stetere in armis prætoriæ cohortes, campo qui castra præjacet. Tum, incedentibus regiis clientelis, phaleræ torquesque, quæque externis bellis quæsierat, traducta; mox fratres et conjunx et filia: postremo ipse ostentatus. Ceterorum preces degeneres fuere, ex metu: at non Caractacus, aut vultu demisso, aut verbis misericordiam requirens, ubi tribunali adstitit, in hunc modum locutus est:

'Si quanta nobilitas et fortuna mihi fuit, tanta rerum prosperarum moderatio fuisset, amicus potius in hanc urbem, quam captus venissem: neque dedignatus esses, claris majoribus ortum, pluribus gentibus imperitantem, fœdere pacis adcipere. Præsens sors mea, ut mihi informis, sic tibi magnifica est. Habui equos, viros, arma, opes: quid mirum, si hæc invitus amisi? Non, si vos omnibus imperitare vultis, sequitur ut omnes servitutem accipiant. Si statim deditus traderer; neque mea fortuna, neque tua gloria inclaruisset. Supplicium mei oblivio sequetur: at si incolumem servaveris, æternum exemplar clementiæ ero.' Ad ea Cæsar veniam ipsique, et conjugi, et fratribus, tribuit. Atque illi, vinclis exsoluti, Agrippinam quoque haud procul alio suggestu conspicuam, iisdem, quibus Principem, laudibus gratibusque venerati sunt. Novum sane et moribus veterum insolitum, feminam signis Romanis præsidere: ipsa semet parti a majoribus suis imperii sociam ferebat.

Vocati posthac Patres, multa et magnifica super captivitate Caractaci disseruere: 'Neque minus id clarum, quam cum Syphacem P. Scipio, Persen L. Paullus, et si qui alii vinctos reges populo Romano ostendere.' Censentur Ostorio triumphi insignia; prosperis ad id rebus ejus mox ambiguis: sive quod amoto Caractaco, quasi debellatum foret, minus intenta apud nos militia fuit, sive hostes miseratione tanti regis, acrius ad ultionem exarsere. Præfectum castrorum, et legionarias cohortes, exstruendis apud Siluras præsidiis relictas, circumfundunt: ac ni cito vicis et castellis proximis subventum foret, copiæ tum occidione occubuissent. Præfectus tamen et octo centuriones ac promptissimus quisque manipulus cecidere: nec multo post pabulantes nostros, missasque ad subsidium turmas profligant.

Tum Ostorius cohortes expeditas exposuit: nec ideo fugam sistebat, ni legiones prœlium excepissent. Earum robore æquata pugna, dein nobis pro meliore fuit. Effugere hostes tenui damno, quia inclinabat dies. Crebra hinc prœlia, et sæpius in modum latrocinii: per saltus, per paludes; ut cuique sors aut virtus: temere, proviso; ob iram, ob prædam; jussu, et aliquando ignaris ducibus: ac præcipua Silurum pervicacia, quos accendebat vulgata imperatoris Romani vox: 'ut quondam Sugambri excisi, et in Gallias trajecti forent, ita Silurum nomen penitus exstinguendum.' Igitur duas auxiliares cohortes, avaritia præfectorum incautius populantes, intercepere; spoliaque et captivos largiendo, ceteras quoque nationes ad defectionem trahebant, cum tædio curarum fessus Ostorius, concessit vita, lætis hostibus, tamquam ducem haud spernendum, etsi non prœlium, at certe bellum, absumpsisset.

At Cæsar, cognita morte legati, ne provincia sine rectore foret, A. Didium suffecit. Is propere vectus, non tamen integras res invenit, adversa interim legionis pugna, cui Manlius Valens præerat: auctaque et apud hostes ejus rei fama, quo venientem ducem exterrerent; atque illo augente audita, ut major laus compositis, vel, si duravissent, venia justior tribueretur. Silures id quoque damnum intulerant, lateque persultabant, donec accursu Didii pellerentur. Sed post captum Caractacum, præcipuus scientia rei militaris Venusius, e Jugantum civitate, ut supra memoravi, fidusque diu et Romanis armis defensus, cum Cartismanduam reginam matrimonio teneret, mox orto discidio et statim bello, etiam adversus nos hostilia induerat. Sed primo tantum inter ipsos certabatur, callidisque Cartismandua artibus, fratrem ac propinquos Venusii intercepit. Inde accensi hostes, stimulante ignominia, ne feminæ imperio subderentur: valida et lecta armis juventus regnum ejus invadunt: quod nobis prævisum: et missæ auxilio cohortes acre prœlium fecere, cujus initio ambiguo, finis lætior fuit. Neque dispari eventu pugnatum a legione, cui Cesius Nasica præerat. Nam Didius, senectute gravis, et multa copia honorum, per ministros agere, et arcere hostem satis habebat. Hæc, quamquam a duobus, Ostorio Didioque, proprætoribus, plures per annos gesta, conjunxi, ne divisa haud perinde ad memoriam sui valerent. Ad temporum ordinem redeo.

[a] Et Pomponia Græcina, insignis femina, Plautio, qui ovans se de Britanniis retulit, nupta, ac 'superstitionis externæ' rea, mariti judicio permissa. Isque prisco instituto, propinquis coram, de capite famaque conjugis cognovit, et insontem nuntiavit.

[b] Cæsonio Pæto, Petronio Turpiliano Coss. gravis clades in Britannia accepta. In qua neque A. Didius legatus, ut memoravi, nisi parta retinuerat; et successor Veranius, modicis excursibus Siluras populatus, quin ultra bellum proferret, morte prohibitus est: magna, dum vixit, severitatis fama, supremis testamenti verbis ambitionis manifestus: quippe, multa in Neronem adulatione, addidit, 'subjecturum ei provinciam fuisse, si biennio proximo vixisset.' Sed tum Paullinus Suetonius obtinebat Britannos, scientia militiæ et rumore populi, qui neminem sine æmulo sinit, Corbulonis concertator: receptæque Armeniæ decus æquare domitis perduellibus cupiens. Igitur Monam insulam, incolis validam, et receptaculum perfugarum, aggredi parat, navesque fabricatur plano alveo, adversus

[a] Lib. XIII. c. 32. A.D. 56. [b] Lib. XIV. cc. 29–39. A.D. 61.

Digitized by Google

breve et incertum. Sic pedes: equites vado secuti, aut altiores inter undas, adnantes equis, transmisere.

Stabat pro litore diversa acies, densa armis virisque, intercursantibus feminis in modum Furiarum, quæ veste ferali, crinibus dejectis, faces præferebant. Druidæque circum, preces diras, sublatis ad cœlum manibus, fundentes, novitate aspectus perculere milites; ut, quasi hærentibus membris, immobile corpus vulneribus præberent. Dein, cohortationibus ducis, et se ipsi stimulantes, ne muliebre et fanaticum agmen pavescerent, inferunt signa, sternuntque obvios, et igni suo involvunt. Præsidium posthac impositum victis, excisique luci, sævis superstitionibus sacri: nam cruore captivo adolere aras, et hominum fibris consulere deos, fas habebant. Hæc agenti Suetonio repentina defectio provinciæ nuntiatur.

Rex Icenorum Prasutagus, longa opulentia clarus, Cæsarem heredem duasque filias scripserat, tali obsequio ratus regnumque et domum suam procul injuria fore: quod contra vertit; adeo ut regnum per centuriones, domus per servos, velut capta, vastarentur. Jam primum uxor ejus Boudicea verberibus affecta, et filiæ stupro violatæ sunt. Præcipui quique Icenorum, quasi cunctam regionem muneri accepissent, avitis bonis exuuntur: et propinqui regis inter mancipia habebantur. Qua contumelia, et metu graviorum quando in formam provinciæ cesserant rapiunt arma, commotis ad rebellationem Trinobantibus, et qui alii nondum servitio facti resumere libertatem occultis conjurationibus pepigerant, acerrimo in veteranos odio. Quippe in coloniam Camulodunum recens deducti pellebant domibus, exturbabant agris, 'captivos, servos' appellando: foventibus impotentiam veteranorum militibus, similitudine vitæ, et spe ejusdem licentiæ. Ad hæc templum, D. Claudio constitutum, quasi arx æternæ dominationis aspiciebatur; delectique sacerdotes, specie religionis, omnes fortunas effundebant. Nec arduum videbatur, exscindere coloniam, nullis munimentis septam: quod ducibus nostris parum provisum erat, dum amœnitati prius, quam usui consulitur.

Inter quæ, nulla palam causa, delapsum Camuloduni simulacrum Victoriæ ac retro conversum, quasi cederet hostibus. Et feminæ in furore turbatæ, 'adesse exitium,' canebant. Externosque fremitus in curia eorum auditos; consonuisse ululatibus theatrum, visamque speciem in æstuario Tamesæ subversæ coloniæ; jam oceanum cruento aspectu: dilabente æstu, humanorum corporum effigies relictas, ut Britanni ad spem, ita veterani ad metum trahebant. Sed quia procul Suetonius aberat, petivere a Cato Deciano procuratore auxilium. Ille haud amplius, quam ducentos, sine justis armis misit: et inerat modica militum manus. Tutela templi freti, et impedientibus, qui occulte rebellionis conscii consilia turbabant, neque fossam aut vallum præduxerunt, neque motis senibus et feminis, juventus sola restitit: quasi media pace incauti, multitudine barbarorum circumveniuntur. Et cetera quidem impetu direpta, aut incensa sunt: templum, in quo se miles conglobaverat, biduo obsessum, expugnatumque. Et victor Britannus, Petilio Ceriali, legato legionis nonæ, in subsidium adventanti obvius, fudit legionem, et, quod peditum, interfecit: Cerialis cum equitibus evasit in castra, et munimentis defensus est. Qua clade et odiis provinciæ, quam avaritia in bellum egerat, trepidus procurator Catus in Galliam transiit.

At Suetonius mira constantia medios inter hostes Londinium perrexit, cognomento quidem coloniæ non insigne, sed copia negotiatorum et commeatuum maxime celebre. Ibi ambiguus, an illam sedem bello deligeret, circumspecta infrequentia militis, satisque magnis documentis temeritatem Petilii coercitam, unius oppidi damno servare universa statuit. Neque fletu et lacrumis auxilium ejus orantium flexus est, quin daret profectionis signum: et comitantes in partem agminis acceperat. Si quos imbellis sexus aut fessa ætas vel loci dulcedo attinuerat, ab hoste oppressi sunt. Eadem clades municipio Verulamio fuit; quia barbari, omissis castellis præsidiisque militarium, quod uberrimum spolianti, et defendentibus intutum, læti præda, et aliorum segnes petebant. Ad septuaginta millia civium et sociorum iis, quæ memoravi, locis cecidisse constitit: neque enim capere aut venum dare, aliudve quod belli commercium, sed cædes, patibula, ignes, cruces, tamquam reddituri supplicium, ac prærepta interim ultione, festinabant.

Jam Suetonio quartadecima legio cum vexillariis vicesimanis, et e proximis auxiliares, decem ferme millia armatorum erant; cum omittere cunctationem et congredi acie parat: deligitque locum arctis faucibus et a tergo silva clausum; satis cognito, nihil hostium, nisi in fronte, et apertam planitiem esse, sine metu insidiarum. Igitur legionarius frequens ordinibus; levis circum armatura, conglobatus pro cornibus eques adstitit. At Britannorum copiæ passim per catervas et turmas exsultabant, quanta non alias multitudo; et animo adeo fero, ut conjuges quoque testes victoriæ secum traherent, plaustrisque inponerent, quæ super extremum ambitum campi posuerant.

Boudicea, curru filias præ se vehens, ut quamque nationem accesserat, 'solitum quidem Britannis feminarum ductu bellare,' testabatur: 'sed tunc non, ut tantis majoribus ortam, regnum et opes; verum, ut unam e vulgo, libertatem amissam, consectum verberibus corpus, contrectatam filiarum pudicitiam ulcisci. Eo provectas Romanorum cupidines, ut non corpora, ne senectam quidem, aut virginitatem impollutam relinquant. Adesse tamen deos justæ vindictæ: cecidisse legionem, quæ prœlium ausa sit: ceteros castris occultari, aut fugam circumspicere. Ne strepitum quidem et clamorem tot millium, nedum impetus et manus perlaturos. Si copias armatorum, si causas belli secum expenderent, vincendum illa acie, vel caden-dum esse. Id mulieri destinatum: viverent viri, et servirent.'

Digitized by Google

Ne Suetonius quidem in tanto discrimine silebat: qui, quamquam confideret virtuti, tamen exhortationes et preces miscebat: 'ut spernerent sonores barbarorum et inanes minas: plus illic feminarum, quam juventutis aspici: imbelles, inermes, cessuros statim, ubi ferrum virtutemque vincentium, totiens fusi, agnovissent: etiam in multis legionibus paucos esse, qui prœlia profligarent: gloriæque eorum accessurum, quod modica manus, universi exercitus famam adipiscerentur. Conferti tantum, et pilis emissis, post umbonibus et gladiis stragem cædemque continuarent, prædæ immemores: parta victoria, cuncta ipsis cessura.' Is ardor verba ducis sequebatur, ita se ad intorquenda pila expedierat vetus miles et multa prœliorum experientia, ut certus eventus Suetonius, daret pugnæ signum.

Ac primum legio gradu immota, et angustias loci pro munimento retinens, postquam propius suggressus hostis certo jactu tela exhauserat, velut cuneo erupit. Idem auxiliarium impetus; et eques, protentis hastis, perfringit quod obvium et validum erat. Ceteri terga præbuere, difficili effugio, quia circumjecta vehicula sepserant abitus. Et miles ne mulierum quidem neci temperabat: confixaque telis etiam jumenta, corporum cumulum auxerant. Clara, et antiquis victoriis par, ea die laus parta: quippe sunt, qui paullo minus, quam octoginta millia Britannorum cecidisse tradant, militum quadringentis ferme interfectis, nec multo amplius vulneratis. Boudicea vitam veneno finivit. Et Poenius Postumus, præfectus castrorum secundæ legionis, cognitis quartadecimanorum vicesimanorumque prosperis rebus, quia pari gloria legionem suam fraudaverat, abnueratque, contra ritum militiæ, jussa ducis, se ipsum gladio transegit.

Contractus deinde omnis exercitus, sub pellibus habitus est, ad reliqua belli perpetranda. Auxitque copias Cæsar, missis e Germania duobus legionariorum millibus, octo auxiliarium cohortibus, ac mille equitibus: quorum adventu nonani legionario milite suppleti sunt; cohortes alæque novis hibernaculis locatæ, quodque nationum ambiguum, aut adversum fuerat, igni atque ferro vastatur. Sed nihil æque, quam fames adfligebat serendis frugibus incuriosos, et omni ætate ad bellum versa, dum nostros commeatus sibi destinant: gentesque præferoces tardius ad pacem inclinant; quia Julius Classicianus, successor Cato missus, et Suetonio discors, bonum publicum privatis simultatibus impediebat: disperseratque, 'novum legatum opperiendum esse, sine hostili ira et superbia victoris, clementer deditis consulturum.' Simul in Urbem mandabat, 'nullum prœlio finem exspectarent, nisi succederetur Suetonio:' cujus adversa, pravitati ipsius; prospera, ad fortunam referebat.

Igitur ad spectandum Britanniæ statum missus est ex libertis Polycletus, magna Neronis spe, posse auctoritate ejus non modo inter legatum procuratoremque concordiam gigni, sed et rebelles barbarorum animos pace componi. Nec defuit Polycletus, quominus, ingenti agmine Italiæ Galliæque gravis, postquam oceanum transmiserat, militibus quoque nostris terribilis incederet. Sed hostibus inrisui fuit, apud quos flagrante etiam tum libertate, nondum cognita libertorum potentia erat: mirabanturque, quod dux, et exercitus tanti belli confector, servitiis obedirent. Cuncta tamen ad Imperatorem in mollius relata. Detentusque rebus gerundis Suetonius, quod post paucas naves in litore, remigiumque in iis amiserat, tamquam durante bello, 'tradere exercitum Petronio Turpiliano,' qui jam consulatu abierat, jubetur. Is non inritato hoste, neque lacessitus, honestum pacis nomen segni otio inposuit.

[a] Ostorius longinquis in agris, apud finem Ligurum, id temporis erat: eo missus centurio, qui cædem ejus maturaret. Causa festinandi ex eo oriebatur, quod Ostorius multa militari fama, ĕt civicam coronam apud Britanniam meritus, ingenti corporis robore, armorumque scientia, metum Neroni fecerat.

EX EODEM C. C. TACITO.[b]

[c] Opus adgredior opimum casibus, atrox prœliis, discors seditionibus, ipsa etiam pace sævum. Quatuor Principes ferro interempti. Tria bella civilia, plura externa, ac plerumque permixta. Prosperæ, in Oriente; adversæ, in Occidente res. Turbatum Illyricum: Galliæ nutantes: perdomita Britannia, et statim missa: coortæ in nos Sarmatarum ac Suevorum gentes.

[d] Plena urbs exercitu insolito: multi ad hoc numeri e Germania ac Britannia, et Illyrico, quos idem Nero . . . opprimendis Vindicis cœptis revocaverat . . .

. . . Ipsa ætas Galbæ inrisui ac fastidio erat.

Et hic quidem Romæ . . . habitus animorum fuit. . . .

. . . In Britannico exercitu nihil irarum. Non sane aliæ legiones, per omnes civilium bellorum motus, innocentius egerunt: seu quia procul et oceano divisæ; seu crebris expeditionibus, doctæ hostem potius odisse.

[e] Valens, infensus Galbæ, . . . instigare Vitellium, 'ardorem militum' ostentans. 'Ipsum celebri ubique fama: nullam in Flacco Hordeonio moram: adfore Britanniam.'

[f] Nec in Ræticis copiis mora, quo minus statim [Vitellio] adjungerentur. Ne in Britannia quidem dubitatum.

Præerat Trebellius Maximus, per avaritiam et sordes contemptus exercitui invisusque. Accendebat odium ejus Roscius Cælius, legatus vicesimæ legionis, olim discors, sed occasione civilium armorum atrocius proruperat. Trebellius 'seditionem

[a] Lib. xvi. c. 15. A.D. 65.
[b] C. C. Taciti Historiarum lib. i. c. 2. Ubi supra.
[c] A.D. 69.
[d] Lib. i. cc. 6–9.
[e] Lib. i. c. 52.
[f] Lib. i. cc. 59–61.

Digitized by Google

et confusum ordinem disciplinæ' Cælio; 'spoliatas et inopes legiones' Cælius Trebellio objectabat: cum interim, fœdis legatorum certaminibus, modestia exercitus corrupta, eoque discordiæ ventum, ut auxiliarium quoque militum conviciis proturbatus, et aggregantibus se Cælio cohortibus alisque, desertus Trebellius ad Vitellium perfugerit: quies provinciæ, quamquam remoto consulari, mansit: rexere legati legionum, pares jure, Cælius audendo potentior.

Adjuncto Britannico exercitu, ingens viribus opibusque Vitellius, duos duces, duo itinera bello destinavit.

[a] Et, quia præsidio alæ unius latissima pars Italiæ defendi nequibat, præmissis Gallorum, Lusitanorum, Britannorumque cohortibus, et Germanorum vexillis, cum ala Petrina, ipse [Cæcina] paullulum cunctatus.

[b] Læta interim Othoni principia belli, motis ad imperium ejus e Dalmatia Pannoniaque exercitibus. Fuere quatuor legiones, e quibus bina millia præmissa; ipsæ modicis intervallis sequebantur: septima, a Galba conscripta; veteranæ, undecima, ac tertiadecima et præcipua fama quartadecumani, rebellione Britanniæ compressa.

[c] Cohortes Batavorum, quas bello Neronis a quartadecima legione digressas, cum Britanniam peterent, audito Vitellii motu, in civitate Lingonum Fabio Valenti adjunctas retulimus, superbe agebant.

[d] Otho consultavit, 'trahi bellum, an fortunam experiri placeret.' Tum Suetonius Paullinus, . . . 'festinationem hostibus, moram ipsis utilem' disseruit.

'Exercitum Vitellii universum advenisse, nec multum virium a tergo, quoniam Galliæ tumeant, et deserere Rheni ripam, inrupturis tam infestis nationibus, non conducat: Britannicum militem hoste et mari distineri.'

[e] Invenio apud quosdam auctores, . . . 'duces Othonianos spatium ac moras suasisse, præcipue Paullinum; quod vetustissimus consularium, et militia clarus, gloriam nomenque Britannicis expeditionibus meruisset.'

[f] Vitellius, victoriæ suæ nescius, . . . reliquas Germanici exercitus vires trahebat. . . . Ipse e Britannico delectu octo millia sibi adjunxit: et paucorum dierum iter progressus, 'prosperas apud Bebriacum res, ac morte Othonis concidisse bellum,' accepit.

[g] Vitellius Cluvium nulla formidine retinebat. Non idem Trebellio Maximo honos: profugerat Britannia, ob iracundiam militum: missus est in locum ejus, Vettius Bolanus e præsentibus.

Angebat Vitellium victarum legionum haudquaquam fractus animus: sparsæ per Italiam, et victoribus permixtæ hostilia loquebantur: præcipua quartadecimanorum ferocia, qui 'se victos' abnuebant: 'quippe Bebriacensi acie, vexillariis tantum pulsis, vires legionis non adfuisse.' Remitti eos in Britanniam, unde a Nerone exciti erant, placuit: atque interim Batavorum cohortes una tendere, ob veterem adversus quartadecimanos discordiam: nec diu in tantis armatorum odiis quies fuit. Augustæ Taurinorum, dum opificem quemdam Batavus, ut fraudatorem, insectatur, legionarius, ut hospitem, tuetur, sui cuique commilitones aggregati, a conviciis ad cædem transiere: et prœlium atrox arsisset, ni duæ prætoriæ cohortes, causam quartadecimanorum secutæ, his fiduciam et metum Batavis fecissent: 'quos' Vitellius 'agmini suo jungi,' ut fidos; 'legionem, Graiis Alpibus traductam, eo flexu itineris ire' jubet, 'quo Viennam vitarent:' namque et Viennenses timebantur. Nocte, qua proficiscebatur legio, relictis passim ignibus, pars Taurinæ coloniæ ambusta: quod damnum, ut pleraque belli mala, majoribus aliarum urbium cladibus obliteratum. Quartadecimani, postquam Alpibus degressi sunt, seditiosissimus quisque signa Viennam ferebant: consensu meliorum compressi; et legio in Britanniam transvecta.

[h] Igitur movere et quatere, quidquid usquam ægrum foret, adgrediuntur [Vespasiani]. Scriptæ in Britanniam ad quartadecimanos, in Hispaniam ad primanos epistolæ: quod utraque legio pro Othone, adversa Vitellio fuerat.

[i] Auxilia tamen e Germania, Britanniaque, et Hispaniis excivit [Vitellius], segniter, et necessitatem dissimulans. Perinde legati, provinciæque cunctabantur. Hordeonius Flaccus, suspectis jam Batavis, anxius proprio bello, Vettius Bolanus, numquam satis quieta Britannia; et uterque ambigui.

[k] Cæcina, complexu Vitellii multo cum honore digressus, partem equitum ad occupandam Cremonam præmisit. Mox vexillarii quartædecimæ et sextædecimæ legionum; dein quinta et duoetvicesima secutæ: postremo agmine unaetvicesima Rapax et prima Italica incessere, cum vexillariis trium Britannicarum legionum et electis auxiliis.

[l] Meliore fato fideque partium Flavianarum duces consilia belli tractabant. . . . Quibus opperiri auxilia et trahere bellum videbatur, 'Germanicarum legionum vim famamque' extollebant, 'et advenisse mox cum Vitellio Britannici exercitus robora. . . .

Ad ea Antonius Primus, . . . 'festinationem ipsis utilem, Vitellio exitiosam,' disseruit: 'plus socordiæ, quam fiduciæ, accessisse victoribus. . . . Sed, addito spatio, rediturum et his robur meditatione belli: nec procul Germaniam, unde vires: Britanniam freto dirimi.

[m] Simul ingens Germanorum vis, per Rætiam timebatur: et ex Britannia Galliaque et Hispania auxilia Vitellius acciverat, immensam belli luem, ni Antonius, id ipsum metuens, festinato prœlio victoriam præcepisset.

[a] Lib. I. c. 70. [b] Lib. II. c. 11. A.D. 69.
[c] Lib. II. c. 27. [d] Lib. II. cc. 31, 32. [e] Lib. II. c. 37.
[f] Lib. II. c. 57. [g] Lib. II. cc. 65, 66. [h] Lib. II. c. 86.
[i] Lib. II. c. 97. [k] Lib. II. c. 100.
[l] Lib. III. cc. 1, 2. A.D. 69.
[m] Lib. III. c. 15.

Digitized by Google

[a]Ordinem agminis, [Cremonæ] disjecti per iram ac tenebras, adseverare non ausim: quamquam alii tradiderunt, 'quartam Macedonicam, dextro suorum cornu; quintam, et quintamdecimam, cum vexillis nonæ, secundæque, et vicesimæ, Britannicarum legionum, mediam aciem; sextadecimanos, duoetvicesimanosque, et primanos, lævum cornu complesse.'

[b][Valens] missis ad Vitellium literis, auxilium postulat. Venere tres cohortes, cum ala Britannica, neque ad fallendum aptus numerus, neque ad penetrandum.

[c]Capto Valente, cuncta ad victoris opes conversa, initio per Hispaniam a prima Adjutrice legione orto, quæ, memoria Othonis, infensa Vitellio, decimam quoque ac sextam traxit. Nec Galliæ cunctabantur. Et Britanniam, inclitus erga Vespasianum favor, quod illic secundæ legioni a Claudio præpositus, et bello clarus egerat, non sine motu adjunxit ceterarum, in quibus plerique centuriones ac milites, a Vitellio provecti, expertum jam Principem anxii mutabant.

Ea discordia, et crebris belli civilis rumoribus, Britanni sustulere animos, auctore Venusio: qui, super insitam ferociam, et Romani nominis odium, propriis in Cartismanduam reginam stimulis accendebatur. Cartismandua Brigantibus imperitabat, pollens nobilitate: et auxerat potentiam, postquam, capto per dolum rege Caractaco, instruxisse triumphum Claudii Cæsaris videbatur. Inde opes, et rerum secundarum luxus: spreto Venusio, is fuit maritus, armigerum ejus, Vellocatum, in matrimonium regnumque accepit. Concussa statim flagitio domus. Pro marito, studia civitatis; pro adultero, libido reginæ, et sævitia. Igitur Venusius, accitis auxiliis, simul ipsorum Brigantum defectione, in extremum discrimen Cartismanduam adduxit. Tum petita a Romanis præsidia: et cohortes alæque nostræ, variis prœliis, exemere tamen periculo reginam: regnum Venusio, bellum nobis relictum.

[d]Batavi, donec trans Rhenum agebant, pars Cattorum: seditione domestica pulsi, extrema Gallicæ oræ, vacua cultoribus, simulque insulam, inter vada sitam, occupavere, quam mare oceanus a fronte, Rhenus amnis tergum ac latera circumluit; nec opibus Romanis, societate validiorum, attriti, viros tantum armaque imperio ministrant: diu Germanicis bellis exerciti: mox aucta per Britanniam gloria, transmissis illuc cohortibus, quas vetere instituto nobilissimi popularium regebant.

[e]Mox occultis nuntiis, pellexit [Civilis] Britannica auxilia, Batavorum cohortes, missas in Germaniam, ut supra retulimus, ac tum Mogontiaci agentes.

[f]Legiones victrices, sexta et octava, Vitellianarum unaetvicesima, e recens conscriptis secunda, Peninis Cottianisque Alpibus, pars monte Graio, traducuntur. Quartadecima legio e Britannia, sexta ac decima ex Hispania accitæ.

[g]Tutor, 'cunctatione crescere rem Romanam,' adfirmabat, 'coeuntibus undique exercitibus. Transvectam e Britannia legionem; accitas ex Hispania; adventare ex Italia: nec subitum militem, sed veterem expertumque belli.'

[h]Simul Cerialis propero agmine subvenit. Circumsteterat Civilem et alius metus, ne quartadecima legio, adjuncta Britannica classe, adflictaret Batavos, qua oceano ambiuntur. Sed legionem, terrestri itinere, Fabius Priscus legatus in Nervios Tungrosque duxit. Eæque civitates in deditionem adceptæ: classem ultro Canninefates adgressi sunt; majorque pars navium depressa, aut capta.

[i]Proprios inde stimulos legionibus admovebat [Cerialis], 'domitores Britanniæ quartadecimanos' appellans.

EX EODEM C. C. TACITO.[k]

'Vetustissimos se nobilissimosque Suevorum' Semnones memorant....Reudigni deinde et Aviones, et Angli, et Varini, et Eudoses, et Suardones, et Nuithones, fluminibus aut silvis muniuntur: nec quidquam notabile in singulis, nisi quod in commune Herthum, id est, Terram matrem, colunt, eamque intervenire rebus hominum, invehi populis, arbitrantur. Est in insula oceani castum nemus, dicatum in eo vehiculum, veste contectum: attingere uni sacerdoti concessum. Is adesse penetrali deam intelligit, vectamque bubus feminis multa cum veneratione prosequitur. Læti tunc dies, festa loca, quæcumque adventu hospitioque dignatur. Non bella ineunt, non arma sumunt; clausum omne ferrum; pax et quies tunc tantum nota, tunc tantum amata, donec idem sacerdos satiatam conversatione mortalium deam templo reddat: mox vehiculum et vestes, et, si credere velis, numen ipsum secreto lacu abluitur. Servi ministrant, quos statim idem lacus haurit. Arcanus hinc terror, sanctaque ignorantia, quid sit id, quod tantum perituri vident.

[l]Ergo jam dextro Suevici maris litore Æstyorum gentes alluuntur: quibus ritus habitusque Suevorum, lingua Britannicæ propior.

EX EODEM C. C. TACITO.[m]

Prima castrorum rudimenta in Britannia Suetonio Paullino,[n] diligenti ac moderato duci, adprobavit [Agricola]: electus, quem contubernio æstimaret. Nec Agricola licenter, more juvenum, qui militiam in lasciviam vertunt, neque segniter, ad voluptates et commeatus, titulum tribunatus et inscitiam retulit: sed noscere provinciam, nosci exercitui, dis-

[a] Lib. III. c. 22. [b] Lib. III. c. 41. [c] Lib. III. cc. 44, 45.
[d] Lib. IV. c. 12. A.D. 69. [e] Lib. IV. c. 15.
[f] Lib. IV. c. 68. [g] Lib. IV. c. 76.
[h] Lib. IV. c. 79. [i] Lib. V. c 16. A.D. 70.

[k] C. C. Taciti de Moribus Germanorum c. 39, 40. Ubi supra.
[l] C. 45.
[m] C. C. Taciti de Vita Agricolæ c. 5. Ubi supra.
[n] A.D. 61. v. supra p xxxvii.

Digitized by Google

cere a peritis, sequi optimos, nihil appetere jactatione, nihil ob formidinem recusare, simulque et anxius et intentus agere. Non sane alias exercitatior, magisque in ambiguo Britannia fuit: trucidati veterani, incensæ coloniæ, intersepti exercitus: tum de salute, mox de victoria certavere. Quæ cuncta etsi consiliis ductuque alterius agebantur, ac summa rerum, et reciperatæ provinciæ gloria in ducem cessit; artem et usum et stimulos addidere juveni: intravitque animum militaris gloriæ cupido, ingrata temporibus, quibus sinistra erga eminentes interpretatio, nec minus periculum ex magna fama, quam ex mala.

[a] Igitur ad sollemnia pietatis profectus Agricola, nuntio affectati a Vespasiano imperii deprehensus, ac statim in partes transgressus est. Initia principatus, ac statum urbis Mucianus regebat, admodum juvene Domitiano, et ex paterna fortuna tantum licentiam usurpante. Is missum ad delectus agendos Agricolam, integreque ac strenue versatum, vicesimæ legioni, tarde ad sacramentum transgressæ, præposuit, ubi decessor seditiose agere narrabatur: quippe legatis quoque consularibus nimia ac formidolosa erat. Nec legatus prætorius ad cohibendum potens, incertum, suo an militum ingenio: ita successor simul et ultor electus, rarissima moderatione, maluit videri invenisse bonos, quam fecisse.

Præerat tunc Britanniæ Vettius Bolanus, placidius, quam feroci provincia dignum est: temperavit Agricola vim suam, ardoremque compescuit, ne increscceret; peritus obsequi, eruditusque utilia honestis miscere. Brevi deinde Britannia consularem Petilium Cerialem accepit. Habuerunt virtutes spatium exemplorum. Sed primo Cerialis labores modo et discrimina; mox et gloriam communicabat: sæpe parti exercitus in experimentum, aliquando majoribus copiis ex eventu præfecit: nec Agricola umquam in suam famam gestis exsultavit; ad auctorem et ducem, ut minister, fortunam referebat: ita virtute in obsequendo, verecundia in prædicando, extra invidiam, nec extra gloriam erat.

Revertentem ab legatione legionis divus Vespasianus inter patricios adscivit, ac deinde provinciæ Aquitaniæ præposuit, splendidæ in primis dignitatis, administratione ac spe consulatus, cui destinarat. . . . Minus triennium in ea legatione detentus, ac statim ad spem consulatus revocatus est[b], comitante opinione Britanniam ei provinciam dari: nullis in hoc suis sermonibus, sed quia par videbatur. Haud semper errat fama; aliquando et elegit. Consul egregiæ tum spei filiam juveni mihi despondit, ac post consulatum collocavit; et statim Britanniæ præpositus est, adjecto pontificatus sacerdotio.

Britanniæ situm populosque, multis scriptoribus memoratos, non in comparationem curæ ingeniive referam; sed quia tum primum perdomita est: itaque quæ priores nondum comperta, eloquentia percoluere, rerum fide tradentur. Britannia, insularum, quas Romana notitia complectitur, maxima, spatio ac cœlo in Orientem Germaniæ, in Occidentem Hispaniæ obtenditur: Gallis in Meridiem etiam inspicitur: Septentrionalia ejus, nullis contra terris, vasto atque aperto mari pulsantur. Formam totius Britanniæ Livius veterum, Fabius Rusticus recentium, eloquentissimi auctores, oblongæ scutulæ vel bipenni adsimilavere: et est ea facies citra Caledoniam, unde et in universum fama est transgressa: sed immensum et enorme spatium procurrentium extremo jam litore terrarum, velut in cuneum tenuatur. Hanc oram novissimi maris tunc primum Romana classis circumvecta, insulam esse Britanniam adfirmavit, ac simul incognitas ad id tempus insulas, quas Orcadas vocant, invenit domuitque: dispecta est et Thule, quam hactenus nix, et hiems abdebat: sed mare pigrum et grave remigantibus perhibent: ne ventis quidem perinde attolli: credo, quod rariores terræ montesque, causa ac materia tempestatum, et profunda moles continui maris tardius impellitur. Naturam oceani atque æstus neque quærere hujus operis est, ac multi retulere: unum addiderim; nusquam latius dominari mare, multum fluminum huc atque illuc ferre, nec litore tenus accrescere aut resorberi, sed influere penitus atque ambire, et jugis ac etiam montibus inseri velut in suo.

Ceterum, Britanniam qui mortales initio coluerint, indigenæ an advecti, ut inter barbaros, parum compertum. Habitus corporum varii: atque ex eo argumenta. Namque rutilæ Caledoniam habitantium comæ, magni artus, Germanicam originem adseverant. Silurum colorati vultus, et torti plerumque crines, et posita contra Hispania, Iberos veteres trajecisse, easque sedes occupasse, fidem faciunt. Proximi Gallis, et similes sunt: seu durante originis vi, seu, procurrentibus in diversa terris, positio cœli corporibus habitum dedit: in universum tamen æstimanti, Gallos vicinum solum occupasse, credibile est. Eorum sacra deprehendas, superstitionum persuasione: sermo haud multum diversus: in deposcendis periculis eadem audacia; et, ubi advenere, in detrectandis eadem formido: plus tamen ferociæ Britanni præferunt, ut quos nondum longa pax emollierit: nam Gallos quoque in bellis floruisse accepimus: mox segnitia cum otio intravit, amissa virtute pariter ac libertate: quod Britannorum olim victis evenit: ceteri manent, quales Galli fuerunt.

In pedite robur: quædam nationes et curru prœliantur: honestior auriga; clientes propugnant: olim regibus parebant; nunc per principes factionibus et studiis trahuntur: nec aliud adversus validissimas gentes pro nobis utilius, quam quod in commune non consulunt. Rarus duabus tribusve civitatibus ad propulsandum commune periculum conventus: ita, dum singuli pugnant, universi

[a] Cc. 7–40. A.D. 69.

[b] A.D. 77.

Digitized by Google

vincuntur. Cœlum crebris imbribus ac nebulis fœdum: asperitas frigorum abest. Dierum spatia ultra nostri orbis mensuram: nox clara, et extrema Britanniæ parte brevis, ut finem atque initium lucis exiguo discrimine internoscas. 'Quod si nubes non officiant, aspici per noctem Solis fulgorem, nec occidere et exsurgere, sed transire' adfirmant: scilicet extrema et plana terrarum, humili umbra, non erigunt tenebras, infraque cœlum et sidera nox cadit. Solum, præter oleam vitemque, et cetera calidioribus terris oriri sueta, patiens frugum, fecundum: tarde mitescunt, cito proveniunt: eademque utriusque rei causa, multus humor terrarum, cœlique. Fert Britannia aurum, et argentum, et alia metalla, pretium victoriæ: gignit et oceanus margarita, sed subfusca ac liventia. Quidam 'artem abesse legentibus' arbitrantur; 'nam in rubro mari viva ac spirantia saxis avelli; in Britannia, prout expulsa sint, colligi': ego facilius crediderim naturam margaritis deesse, quam nobis avaritiam.

Ipsi Britanni delectum, ac tributa, et injuncta imperii munera impigre obeunt, si injuriæ absint: has ægre tolerant, jam domiti ut pareant, nondum ut serviant. Igitur primus omnium Romanorum divus Julius cum exercitu Britanniam ingressus, quamquam prospera pugna terruerit incolas, ac litore potitus sit, potest videri ostendisse posteris, non tradidisse. Mox bella civilia, et in rem publicam versa Principum arma, ac longa oblivio Britanniæ etiam in pace. 'Consilium' id divus Augustus vocabat, Tiberius 'præceptum.' Agitasse Caium Cæsarem de intranda Britannia satis constat, ni velox ingenio, mobilis pœnitentia, et ingentes adversus Germaniam conatus frustra fuissent. Divus Claudius auctor operis, transvectis legionibus auxiliisque, et adsumpto in partem rerum Vespasiano: quod initium venturæ mox fortunæ fuit: domitæ gentes, capti reges, et monstratus fatis Vespasianus.

[a]Consularium primus Aulus Plautius præpositus, ac subinde Ostorius Scapula,[b] uterque bello egregius: redactaque paulatim in formam provinciæ proxima pars Britanniæ: addita insuper veteranorum colonia: quædam civitates Cogiduno regi donatæ, is ad nostram usque memoriam fidissimus mansit, vetere ac jam pridem recepta populi Romani consuetudine, ut haberet instrumenta servitutis et reges. Mox Didius Gallus parta a prioribus continuit, paucis admodum castellis in ulteriora promotis, per quæ fama aucti officii quæreretur. Didium Veranius excepit, isque intra annum exstinctus est. Suetonius hinc Paullinus[c] biennio prosperas res habuit, subactis nationibus, firmatisque præsidiis: quorum fiducia Monam insulam, ut vires rebellibus ministrantem, adgressus, terga occasioni patefecit.

Namque absentia legati remoto metu, Britanni agitare inter se mala servitutis, conferre injurias et interpretando accendere: 'Nihil profici patientia, nisi ut graviora, tamquam ex facili tolerantibus, imperentur: singulos sibi olim reges fuisse, nunc binos imponi; e quibus legatus in sanguinem, procurator in bona sæviret: æque discordiam præpositorum, æque concordiam subjectis exitiosam: alterius manus, centuriones alterius, vim et contumelias miscere: nihil jam cupiditati, nihil libidini exceptum: in prœlio fortiorem esse, qui spoliet: nunc ab ignavis plerumque et imbellibus eripi domos, abstrahi liberos, injungi delectus, tamquam mori tantum pro patria nescientibus: quantulum enim transisse militum, si sese Britanni numerent? sic Germanias excussisse jugum; et flumine, non oceano, defendi: sibi patriam, conjuges, parentes; illis avaritiam et luxuriam causas belli esse: recessuros, ut divus Julius recessisset, modo virtutes majorum suorum æmularentur; neve prœlii unius aut alterius eventu pavescerent: plus impetus, majorem constantiam penes miseros esse. Jam Britannorum etiam deos misereri, qui Romanum ducem absentem, qui relegatum in alia insula exercitum detinerent: jam ipsos, quod difficillimum fuerit, deliberare: porro in ejusmodi consiliis periculosius esse deprehendi, quam audere.'

His atque talibus invicem instincti, Boudicea, generis regii femina, duce, neque enim sexum in imperiis discernunt, sumpsere universi bellum: ac, sparsos per castella milites consectati, expugnatis præsidiis, ipsam coloniam invasere, ut sedem servitutis: nec ullum in barbaris sævitiæ genus omisit ira et victoria. Quod nisi Paullinus, cognito provinciæ motu, propere subvenisset, amissa Britannia foret: quam unius prœlii fortuna veteri patientiæ restituit, tenentibus arma plerisque, quos conscientia defectionis et propius ex legato timor agitabat. Hic quum egregius cetera, arroganter in deditos, et, ut suæ quoque injuriæ ultor, durius consuleret; missus Petronius Turpilianus,[d] tamquam exorabilior; et delictis hostium novus, eoque pœnitentiæ mitior, compositis prioribus, nihil ultra ausus, Trebellio Maximo provinciam tradidit. Trebellius segnior, et nullis castrorum experimentis, comitate quadam curandi provinciam tenuit. Didicere jam barbari quoque ignoscere vitiis blandientibus: et interventus civilium armorum præbuit justam segnitiæ excusationem: sed discordia laboratum, cum adsuetus expeditionibus miles otio lasciviret. Trebellius, fuga ac latebris vitata exercitus ira, indecorus atque humilis, precario mox præfuit: ac velut pacti, exercitus licentiam, dux salutem: hæc seditio sine sanguine stetit. Nec Vettius Bolanus,[e] manentibus adhuc civilibus bellis, agitavit Britanniam disciplina. Eadem inertia erga hostes, similis petulantia castrorum: nisi quod innocens Bolanus, et nullis delictis invisus, caritatem paraverat loco auctoritatis.

Sed, ubi cum cetero orbe Vespasianus et Bri-

[a] A.D. 43. v. supra p. xxxvii. [b] A.D. 50. [c] A.D. 58. [d] A.D. 62. [e] A.D. 69.

Digitized by Google

tanniam reciperavit; magni duces, egregii exercitus, minuta hostium spes. Et terrorem statim intulit Petilius Cerialis, Brigantum civitatem, quæ numerosissima provinciæ totius perhibetur, adgressus: multa prœlia, et aliquando non incruenta: magnamque Brigantum partem aut victoria amplexus, aut bello. Et cum Cerialis quidem alterius successoris curam famamque obruisset, sustinuit quoque molem Julius Frontinus, vir magnus, quantum licebat, validamque et pugnacem Silurum gentem armis subegit; super virtutem hostium, locorum quoque difficultates eluctatus.

[a] Hunc Britanniæ statum, has bellorum vices media jam æstate transgressus Agricola invenit, cum et milites, velut omissa expeditione, ad securitatem, et hostes ad occasionem verterentur. Ordovicum civitas, haud multo ante adventum ejus, alam, in finibus suis agentem, prope universam obtriverat: eoque initio erecta provincia, et quibus bellum volentibus erat, probare exemplum, aut recentis legati animum opperiri. Tum Agricola, quamquam transacta æstas, sparsi per provinciam numeri, præsumpta apud militem illius anni quies, tarda et contraria bellum inchoaturo, et plerisque custodiri suspecta potius videbatur, ire obviam discrimini statuit: contractisque legionum vexillis et modica auxiliorum manu, quia in æquum degredi Ordovices non audebant, ipse ante agmen, quo ceteris par animus simili periculo esset, erexit aciem: cæsaque prope universa gente, non ignarus instandum famæ, ac, prout prima cessissent, fore universa; Monam insulam, cujus possessione revocatum Paullinum rebellione totius Britanniæ supra memoravi, redigere in potestatem animo intendit. Sed, ut in dubiis consiliis, naves deerant: ratio et constantia ducis transvexit. Depositis omnibus sarcinis, lectissimos auxiliarium, quibus nota vada, et patrius nandi usus, quo simul seque, et arma, et equos regunt, ita repente immisit, ut obstupefacti hostes, qui classem, qui naves, qui mare expectabant, nihil arduum aut invictum crediderint sic ad bellum venientibus. Ita petita pace, ac dedita insula, clarus ac magnus haberi Agricola: quippe cui ingredienti provinciam, quod tempus alii per ostentationem, aut officiorum ambitum transigunt, labor et periculum placuisset. Nec Agricola, prosperitate rerum in vanitatem usus, expeditionem aut victoriam vocabat, victos continuisse: ne laureatis quidem gesta prosecutus est: sed ipsa dissimilatione famæ famam auxit, æstimantibus, quanta futuri spe tam magna tacuisset.

Ceterum animorum provinciæ prudens, simulque doctus per aliena experimenta, parum profici armis, si injuriæ sequerentur, causas bellorum statuit exscindere. A se suisque orsus, primam domum suam coercuit; quod plerisque haud minus arduum est, quam provinciam regere. Nihil per libertos servosque publicæ rei: non studiis privatis, nec ex commendatione, aut precibus centurionum milites adscire, sed optimum quemque fidelissimum putare: omnia scire, non omnia exsequi: parvis peccatis veniam, magnis severitatem commodare: nec pœna semper, sed sæpius pœnitentia contentus esse; officiis et administrationibus potius non peccaturos præponere, quam damnare, cum peccassent. Frumenti et tributorum auctionem æqualitate munerum mollire, circumcisis, quæ, in quæstum reperta, ipso tributo gravius tolerabantur: namque per ludibrium adsidere clausis horreis, et emere ultro frumenta, ac vendere pretio cogebantur: devortia itinerum et longinquitas regionum indicebatur, ut civitates a proximis hibernis in remota et avia deferrent, donec, quod omnibus in promptu erat, paucis lucrosum fieret.

Hæc primo statim anno comprimendo, egregiam famam paci circumdedit; quæ vel incuria, vel tolerantia priorum, haud minus quam bellum timebatur. Sed, ubi æstas advenit,[b] contracto exercitu, multus in agmine, laudare modestiam, disjectos coercere: loca castris ipse capere, æstuaria ac silvas ipse prætentare: et nihil interim apud hostes quietum pati, quo minus subitis excursibus popularetur: atque, ubi satis terruerat, parcendo rursus inritamenta pacis ostentare. Quibus rebus multæ civitates, quæ in illum diem ex æquo egerant, datis obsidibus, iram posuere, et præsidiis castellisque circumdatæ, tanta ratione curaque, ut nulla ante Britanniæ nova pars inlacessita transierit.

Sequens hiems saluberrimis consiliis absumpta: namque ut homines dispersi ac rudes, eoque bello faciles, quieti et otio per voluptates adsuescerent; hortari privatim, adjuvare publice, ut templa, fora, domus exstruerent, laudando promptos, et castigando segnes: ita honoris æmulatio pro necessitate erat. Jam vero principum filios liberalibus artibus erudire, et ingenia Britannorum studiis Gallorum anteferre, ut, qui modo linguam Romanam abnuebant, eloquentiam concupiscerent: inde etiam habitus nostri honor, et frequens toga: paullatimque discessum ad delinimenta vitiorum, porticus, et balnea, et conviviorum elegantiam: idque apud imperitos 'humanitas' vocabatur, cum pars servitutis esset.

[c] Tertius expeditionum annus novas gentes aperuit, vastatis usque ad Taum, æstuario nomen est, nationibus: qua formidine territi hostes, quamquam conflictatum sævis tempestatibus exercitum, lacessere non ausi: ponendisque insuper castellis spatium fuit. Adnotabant periti, non alium ducem opportunitates locorum sapientius legisse: nullum ab Agricola positum castellum aut vi hostium expugnatum, aut pactione ac fuga desertum. Crebræ eruptiones: nam adversus moras obsidionis annuis copiis firmabantur: ita intrepida ibi hiems, et sibi quisque præsidio, inritis hostibus, eoque desperantibus, quia soliti plerumque damna æstatis hibernis eventibus pensare, tum æstate atque hieme juxta

[a] A.D. 78. [b] A.D. 79. [c] A.D. 80.

Digitized by Google

pellebantur. Nec Agricola umquam per alios gesta avidus intercepit: seu centurio, seu præfectus, incorruptum facti testem habebat. Apud quosdam acerbior in conviciis narrabatur: ut erat bonis comis, ita adversus malos injucundus: ceterum ex iracundia nihil supererat: secretum et silentium ejus non timeres: honestius putabat offendere, quam odisse.

[a]Quarta æstas obtinendis, quæ percurrerat, insumpta: ac si virtus exercituum et Romani nominis gloria pateretur, inventus in ipsa Britannia terminus. Nam Clota et Bodotria, diversi maris æstibus per immensum revectæ, angusto terrarum spatio dirimuntur: quod tum præsidiis firmabatur: atque omnis propior sinus tenebatur, summotis velut in aliam insulam hostibus.

[b]Quinto expeditionum anno, nave prima transgressus, ignotas ad id tempus gentes crebris simul ac prosperis prœliis domuit: eamque partem Britanniæ, quæ Hiberniam aspicit, copiis instruxit, in spem magis, quam ob formidinem: siquidem Hibernia, medio inter Britanniam atque Hispaniam sita, et Gallico quoque mari opportuna, valentissimam imperii partem magnis invicem usibus miscuerit. Spatium ejus, si Britanniæ comparetur, angustius, nostri maris insulas superat. Solum cœlumque, et ingenia cultusque hominum haud multum a Britannia differunt: melius aditus portusque per commercia et negotiatores cogniti. Agricola expulsum seditione domestica unum ex regulis gentis exceperat, ac specie amicitiæ in occasionem retinebat. Sæpe ex eo audivi, legione una et modicis auxiliis debellari obtinerique Hiberniam posse. Idque etiam adversus Britanniam profuturum, si Romana ubique arma, et velut e conspectu libertas tolleretur.

[c]Ceterum æstate, qua sextum officii annum inchoabat, amplexus civitates trans Bodotriam sitas, quia motus universarum ultra gentium, et infesta hostili exercitu itinera timebantur, portus classe exploravit: quæ, ab Agricola primum adsumpta in partem virium, sequebatur egregia specie, quum simul terra, simul mari bellum inpelleretur, ac sæpe iisdem castris pedes, equesque, et nauticus miles, mixti copiis et lætitia, sua quisque facta, suos casus adtollerent: ac modo 'silvarum et montium profunda,' modo 'tempestatum ac fluctuum adversa,' hinc 'terra et hostis,' hinc 'auctus oceanus' militari jactantia compararentur. 'Britannos quoque,' ut ex captivis audiebatur, 'visa classis obstupefaciebat, tamquam, aperto maris sui secreto, ultimum victis perfugium clauderetur.' Ad manus et arma conversi Caledoniam incolentes populi, paratu magno, majore fama, uti mos est de ignotis, 'obpugnasse ultro,' castella adorti, metum, ut provocantes, addiderant: 'regrediendumque citra Bodotriam, et excedendum potius, quam pellerentur,' ignavi specie prudentium admonebant: cum interim cognoscit, 'hostes pluribus agminibus inrupturos.' Ac, ne superante numero, et peritia locorum circumiretur, diviso et ipse in tres partes exercitu incessit.

Quod ubi cognitum hosti, mutato repente consilio, universi nonam legionem, ut maxime invalidam, nocte adgressi, inter somnum ac trepidationem cæsis vigilibus, inrupere. Jamque in ipsis castris pugnabant, quum Agricola, iter hostium ab exploratoribus edoctus, et vestigiis insequutus, velocissimos equitum peditumque adsultare tergis pugnantium jubet, mox ab universis adjici clamorem: et propinqua luce fulsere signa: ita ancipiti malo territi Britanni: et Romanis redit animus; ac, securi pro salute, de gloria certabant: ultro quin etiam erupere: et fuit atrox in ipsis portarum angustiis prœlium, donec pulsi hostes; utroque exercitu certante, his, ut tulisse opem, illis, ne eguisse auxilio viderentur: quod, nisi paludes et silvæ fugientes texissent, debellatum illa victoria foret.

Cujus constantia ac fama ferox exercitus, 'nihil virtuti suæ invium: penetrandam Caledoniam, inveniendumque tandem Britanniæ terminum, continuo prœliorum cursu,' fremebant: atque illi modo cauti ac sapientes, prompti post eventum ac magniloqui erant: iniquissima hæc bellorum conditio est; prospera omnes sibi vindicant, adversa uni inputantur. At Britanni non virtute, sed occasione et arte ducis rati, nihil ex arrogantia remittere, quominus juventutem armarent, conjuges ac liberos in loca tuta transferrent, cœtibus ac sacrificiis conspirationem civitatum sancirent: atque ita inritatis utrimque animis discessum.

Eadem æstate cohors Usipiorum, per Germanias conscripta, et in Britanniam transmissa, magnum ac memorabile facinus ausa est. Occiso centurione ac militibus, qui ad tradendam disciplinam inmixti manipulis, exemplum et rectores habebantur, tres liburnicas, adactis per vim gubernatoribus, ascendere: et uno remigrante, suspectis duobus eoque interfectis, nondum vulgato rumore, ut miraculum provehebantur: mox hac atque illa rapti, et cum plerisque Britannorum, sua defensantium, prœlio congressi, ac sæpe victores, aliquando pulsi, eo ad extremum inopiæ venere, ut infirmissimos suorum, mox sorte ductos, vescerentur: atque, ita circumvecti Britanniam, amissis per inscitiam regendi navibus, pro prædonibus habiti, primum a Suevis, mox a Frisiis intercepti sunt: ac fuere, quos per commercia venumdatos, et in nostram usque ripam mutatione ementium adductos, indicium tanti casus inlustravit. Initio æstatis [d]Agricola, domestico vulnere ictus, anno ante natum filium amisit. Quem casum neque, ut plerique fortium virorum, ambitiose, neque per lamenta rursus ac mœrorem muliebriter tulit: et in luctu bellum inter remedia erat.

Igitur, præmissa classe, quæ pluribus locis prædata, magnum et incertum terrorem faceret, expedito exercitu, cui ex Britannis fortissimos, et longa pace exploratos addiderat, ad montem Grampium pervenit quem jam hostes insederant. Nam Britanni, nihil fracti pugnæ prioris eventu, et ultionem aut servitium exspectantes, tandemque docti, commune periculum concordia propulsandum, legationibus et fœderibus omnium civitatum vires exciverant. Jamque super triginta millia armatorum aspiciebantur, et adhuc adfluebat omnis juventus, et quibus cruda ac viridis senectus, clari bello, ac sua quisque decora gestantes: cum inter plures duces virtute et genere præstans, nomine Calgacus, apud contractam multitudinem, prœlium poscentem, in hunc modum loquutus fertur:

[a] A.D. 81. [b] A.D. 82. [c] A.D. 83. [d] A.D. 84.

Digitized by Google

'Quotiens causas belli et necessitatem nostram intueor, magnus mihi animus est, hodiernum diem, consensumque vestrum, initium libertatis totius Britanniæ fore. Nam et universi servitutis expertes, et nullæ ultra terræ, ac ne mare quidem securum, imminente nobis classe Romana: ita prœlium atque arma, quæ fortibus honesta, eadem etiam ignavis tutissima sunt. Priores pugnæ, quibus adversus Romanos varia fortuna certatum est, spem ac subsidium in nostris manibus habebant: quia nobilissimi totius Britanniæ, eoque in ipsis penetralibus siti, nec servientium litora aspicientes, oculos quoque a contactu dominationis inviolatos habebamus. Nos, terrarum ac libertatis extremos, recessus ipse ac sinus famæ in hunc diem defendit: nunc terminus Britanniæ patet: atque omne ignotum pro magnifico est. Sed nulla jam ultra gens, nihil nisi fluctus et saxa, et infestiores Romani: quorum superbiam frustra per obsequium et modestiam effugeris: raptores orbis, postquam cuncta vastantibus defuere terræ, et mare scrutantur: si locuples hostis est, avari: si pauper, ambitiosi: quos non Oriens, non Obcidens, satiaverit: soli omnium opes atque inopiam pari adfectu concupiscunt: auferre, trucidare, rapere falsis nominibus, 'imperium;' atque, ubi solitudinem faciunt, 'pacem' appellant.'

'Liberos cuique ac propinquos suos natura carissimos esse voluit: hi per delectus, alibi servituri, auferuntur; conjuges sororesque, etsi hostilem libidinem effugiant, nomine 'amicorum' atque 'hospitum' polluuntur. Bona fortunasque in tributum egerunt; in annonam frumentum: corpora ipsa ac manus, silvis ac paludibus emuniendis, inter verbera ac contumelias, conterunt. Nata servituti mancipia semel veneunt, atque ultro a dominis aluntur: Britannia servitutem suam quotidie emit, quotidie pascit. Ac, sicut in familia recentissimus quisque servorum et conservis ludibrio est: sic, in hoc orbis terrarum vetere famulatu, novi nos et viles in excidium petimur. Neque enim arva nobis, aut metalla, aut portus sunt, quibus exercendis reservemur. Virtus porro ac ferocia subjectorum ingrata imperantibus: et longinquitas ac secretum ipsum quo tutius, eo suspectius. Ita sublata spe veniæ, tandem sumite animum, tam quibus salus, quam quibus gloria carissima est. Trinobantes, femina duce, exurere coloniam, expugnare castra, ac, nisi felicitas in socordiam vertisset, exuere jugum potuere: nos integri et indomiti, et libertatem non in præsentia laturi, primo statim congressu non ostendamus quos sibi Caledonia viros seposuerit?'

'An eamdem Romanis in bello virtutem, quam in pace lasciviam adesse creditis? Nostris illi dissensionibus ac discordiis clari, vitia hostium in gloriam exercitus sui vertunt: quem contractum ex diversissimis gentibus, ut secundæ res tenent, ita adversæ dissolvent: nisi si Gallos et Germanos et, pudet dictu, Britannorum plerosque, licet dominationi alienæ sanguinem commodent, diutius tamen hostes quam servos, fide et affectu teneri putatis: metus et terror est, infirma vincula caritatis; quæ ubi removeris, qui timere desierint, odisse incipient. Omnia victoriæ incitamenta pro nobis sunt: nullæ Romanos conjuges accendunt: nulli parentes fugam exprobraturi sunt: aut nulla plerisque patria, aut alia est: paucos numero, circum trepidos ignorantia, cœlum ipsum, ac mare, et silvas, ignota omnia circumspectantes, clausos quodammodo ac vinctos dii nobis tradiderunt. Ne terreat vanus aspectus, et auri fulgor atque argenti, quod neque tegit, neque vulnerat. In ipsa hostium acie inveniemus nostras manus: agnoscent Britanni suam causam: recordabuntur Galli priorem libertatem: deserent illos ceteri Germani, tamquam nuper Usipii reliquerunt. Nec quidquam ultra formidinis: vacua castella, senum coloniæ, inter male parentes et injuste imperantes, ægra municipia et discordantia: hic dux, hic exercitus; ibi tributa et metalla, et ceteræ servientium pœnæ; quas in æternum proferre, aut statim ulcisci, in hoc campo est. Proinde ituri in aciem, et majores vestros et posteros cogitate.'

Excepere orationem alacres, et barbari moris cantu, et fremitu, clamoribusque dissonis. Jamque agmina, et armorum fulgores, audentissimi cujusque procursu: simul instruebantur acies: cum Agricola, quamquam lætum et vix munimentis coercitum militem accendendum adhuc ratus, ita disseruit: 'Octavus annus est, commilitones, ex quo virtute et auspiciis imperii Romani, fide atque opera vestra Britanniam vicistis: tot expeditionibus, tot prœliis, seu fortitudine adversus hostes, seu patientia ac labore pæne adversus ipsam rerum naturam opus fuit, neque me militum, neque vos ducis pœnituit. Ergo egressi, ego veterum legatorum, vos priorum exercituum terminos, finem Britanniæ, non fama, nec rumore, sed castris et armis tenemus. Inventa Britannia, et subacta. Equidem sæpe in agmine, cum vos paludes, montesve, et flumina fatigarent, fortissimi cujusque voces audiebam, 'Quando dabitur hostis, quando acies?' Veniunt e latebris suis extrusi: et vota virtusque in aperto, omniaque prona victoribus, atque eadem victis adversa. Nam ut superasse tantum itineris, silvas evasisse, transisse æstuaria, pulchrum ac decorum in frontem; ita fugientibus periculosissima, quæ hodie prosperrima sunt. Neque enim nobis aut locorum eadem notitia, aut commeatuum eadem abundantia: sed manus, et arma, et in his omnia. Quod ad me attinet, jam pridem mihi decretum est, neque exercitus, neque ducis terga tuta esse. Proinde et honesta mors turpi vita potior; et incolumitas ac decus eodem loco sita sunt: nec inglorium fuerit, in ipso terrarum ac naturæ fine cecidisse.'

Digitized by Google

'Si novæ gentes atque ignota acies constitisset; aliorum exercituum exemplis vos hortarer: nunc vestra decora recensete, vestros oculos interrogate. Ii sunt, quos proximo anno, unam legionem furto noctis adgressos, clamore debellastis: ii ceterorum Britannorum fugacissimi; ideoque tamdiu superstites. Quomodo silvas saltusque penetrantibus, fortissimum quodque animal contra ruere, pavida et inertia ipso agminis sono pelluntur; sic acerrimi Britannorum jam pridem ceciderunt: reliquus est numerus ignavorum et metuentium: quos quod tandem invenistis, non restiterunt, sed deprehensi sunt novissimi: res et extremo metu corpora defixere in his vestigiis, in quibus pulchram et spectabilem victoriam ederetis. Transigite cum expeditionibus, inponite quinquaginta annis magnum diem, adprobate reipublicæ numquam exercitui imputari potuisse, aut moras belli, aut causas rebellandi.'

Et adloquente adhuc Agricola militum ardor eminebat, et finem orationis ingens alacritas consecuta est, statimque ad arma discursum. Instinctos ruentesque ita disposuit, ut peditum auxilia, quæ octo millia erant, mediam aciem firmarent, equitum tria millia, cornibus adfunderentur: legiones pro vallo stetere, ingens victoriæ decus citra Romanum sanguinem bellanti, et auxilium, si pellerentur. Britannorum acies in speciem simul ac terrorem editioribus locis constiterat, ita ut primum agmen æquo, ceteri per acclive jugum connexi velut insurgerent: media campi covinarius et eques strepitu ac discursu complebat. Tum Agricola, superante hostium multitudine, veritus, ne simul in frontem, simul et latera suorum pugnaretur, diductis ordinibus, quamquam porrectior acies futura erat, et 'arcessendas' plerique 'legiones' admonebant, promptior in spem, et firmus adversis, dimisso equo, pedes ante vexilla constitit.

Ac primo congressu eminus certabatur: simul constantia, simul arte Britanni, ingentibus gladiis et brevibus cetris, missilia nostrorum vitare, vel excutere, atque ipsi magnam vim telorum superfundere: donec Agricola tres Batavorum cohortes, ac Tungrorum duas cohortatus est, ut rem ad mucrones ac manus adducerent: quod et ipsis, vetustate militiæ exercitatum, et hostibus inhabile parva scuta et enormes gladios gerentibus: nam Britannorum gladii sine mucrone complexum armorum, et in arcto pugnam non tolerabant. Igitur, ut Batavi miscere ictus, ferire umbonibus, ora fœdare, et tractis qui in æquo obstiterant, erigere in colles aciem cœpere; ceteræ cohortes, æmulatione et impetu commistæ, proximos quosque cædere: ac plerique semineces, aut integri, festinatione victoriæ relinquebantur. Interim equitum turmæ fugere, covinarii peditum se prœlio miscuere: et, quamquam recentem terrorem intulerant, densis tamen hostium agminibus et inæqualibus locis hærebant.: minimeque equestris ea pugnæ facies erat, cum ægre diu stantes, simul equorum corporibus inpellerentur, ac sæpe vagi currus, exterriti sine rectoribus equi, ut quemque formido tulerat, transversos aut obvios incursabant.

Et Britanni, qui adhuc pugnæ expertes summa collium insederant, et paucitatem nostrorum vacui spernebant, degredi paulatim, et circumire terga vincentium cœperant: ni id ipsum veritus Agricola quatuor equitum alas, ad subita belli retentas, venientibus opposuisset, quantoque ferocius accurrerant, tanto acrius pulsos in fugam disjecisset. Ita consilium Britannorum in ipsos versum: transvectæque præcepto ducis a fronte pugnantium alæ, aversam hostium aciem invasere. Tum vero patentibus locis grande et atrox spectaculum; sequi, vulnerare, capere, atque eosdem, oblatis aliis, trucidare. Jam hostium, prout cuique ingenium erat, catervæ armatorum paucioribus terga præstare, quidam inermes ultro ruere, ac se morti offerre. Passim arma, et corpora, et laceri artus, et cruenta humus: et aliquando etiam victis ira virtusque: postquam silvis appropinquarunt, collecti, primos sequentium, incautos et locorum ignaros, circum veniebant. Quod ni frequens ubique Agricola, validas et expeditas cohortes indaginis modo, et sicubi arctiora erant, partem equitum, dimissis equis, simul rariores silvas equitem persultare jussisset, acceptum aliquod vulnus per nimiam fiduciam foret. Ceterum, ubi compositos firmis ordinibus sequi rursus videre, in fugam versi, non agminibus, ut prius, nec alius alium respectantes, rari, et vitabundi invicem, longinqua atque avia petiere: finis sequendi nox et satietas fuit: cæsa hostium ad decem millia: nostrorum trecenti sexaginta cecidere; in quis Aulus Atticus, præfectus cohortis, juvenili ardore et ferocia equi hostibus illatus.

Et nox quidem gaudio prædaque læta victoribus: Britanni palantes, mixtoque virorum mulierumque ploratu, trahere vulneratos, vocare integros, deserere domos, ac per iram ultro incendere; eligere latebras, et statim relinquere; miscere invicem consilia aliqua, dein separare; aliquando frangi aspectu pignorum suorum, sæpius concitari; satisque constabat sævisse quosdam in conjuges ac liberos, tamquam misererentur. Proximus dies faciem victoriæ latius aperuit: vastum ubique silentium, secreti colles, fumantia procul tecta, nemo exploratoribus obvius: quibus in omnem partem dimissis, ubi incerta fugæ vestigia, neque usquam conglobari hostes compertum, et exacta jam æstate spargi bellum nequibat, in fines Horestorum exercitum deducit. Ibi, acceptis obsidibus, præfecto classis 'circumvehi Britanniam' præcepit: datæ ad id vires, et præcesserat terror; ipse pedi-tem atque equites lento itinere, quo novarum gentium animi ipsa transitus mora terrerentur, in hibernis locavit. Et simul classis secunda tempestate ac fama Trutulensem portum tenuit, unde proximo latere Britanniæ lecto omnis redierat.

Digitized by Google

Hunc rerum cursum, quamquam nulla verborum jactantia epistolis Agricolæ auctum, ut Domitiano moris erat, fronte lætus, pectore anxius excepit. Inerat conscientia, derisui fuisse nuper falsum e Germania triumphum, emptis per commercia, quorum habitus et crines in captivorum speciem formarentur; at nunc veram magnamque victoriam, tot millibus hostium cæsis, ingenti fama celebrari. Id sibi maxime formidolosum, privati hominis nomen supra Principis attolli: frustra studia fori, et civilium artium decus in silentium acta, si militarem gloriam alius occuparet: et cetera utcumque facilius dissimulari, ducis boni Imperatoriam virtutem esse. Talibus curis exercitus, quodque sævæ cogitationis indicium erat, secreto suo satiatus, optimum in præsentia statuit, reponere odium, donec inpetus famæ et favor exercitus languesceret; nam etiam tum Agricola Britanniam obtinebat.

Igitur 'triumphalia ornamenta, et inlustris statuæ honorem, et quidquid pro triumpho datur,' multo verborum honore cumulata, decerni in senatu jubet: addique insuper opinionem, Syriam provinciam Agricolæ destinari, vacuam tum morte Atilii Rufi, consularis, et majoribus reservatam. Credidere plerique libertum ex secretioribus ministeriis missum ad Agricolam, codicillos, quibus ei Syria dabatur, tulisse, cum præcepto, ut, si in Britannia foret, traderentur: eumque libertum in ipso freto oceani obvium Agricolæ, ne appellato quidem eo, ad Domitianum remeasse: sive verum istud, sive ex ingenio Principis fictum ac compositum est. Tradiderat interim Agricola successori suo provinciam quietam tutamque. Ac, ne notabilis celebritate et frequentia obcurrentium introitus esset, vitato amicorum officio, noctu in Urbem, noctu in palatium, ita ut præceptum erat, venit: exceptusque brevi osculo, et nullo sermone, turbæ servientium immixtus est.

EX PLUTARCHO.[a]

Ἐν δὲ Βρετλανίᾳ τῶν πολεμίων εἰς τόπον ἑλώδη καὶ μεσῖὸν ὕδατος ἐμπεσοῦσι τοῖς πρώτοις ταξιάρχαις ἐπιθεμένων, σῖρατιώτης, Καίσαρος αὐῖοῦ τὴν μάχην ἐφορῶνῖος, ὡσάμενος εἰς μέσους, καὶ πολλὰ καὶ περίοπῖα τόλμης ἀποδειξάμενος ἔργα, τοὺς μὲν ταξιάρχους ἔσωσε, τῶν βαρβάρων φυγόνῖων, αὐῖὸς δὲ χαλεπῶς ἐπὶ πᾶσι διαβαίνων, ἔῤῥιψεν ἑαυῖὸν εἰς ῥεύματα τελματώδη, καὶ μόλις ἄνευ τοῦ θυρεοῦ, τὰ μὲν νηχόμενος, τὰ δὲ βαδίζων, διεπέρασε. Θαυμαζόντων δὲ τῶν περὶ τὸν Καίσαρα, καὶ μετὰ χαρᾶς καὶ κραυγῆς ἀπαντώνῖων, αὐτὸς εὖ μάλα κατηφὴς καὶ δεδακρυμένος προσέπεσε τῷ Καίσαρι, συγγνώμην αἰτούμενος ἐπὶ τῷ προέσθαι τὸν θυρεόν.

[b] Ἡ δ' ἐπὶ τοὺς Βρετανοὺς [τοῦ Καίσαρος] σῖρατεία τὴν μὲν τόλμαν εἶχεν ὀνομασῖήν· πρῶτος γὰρ εἰς τὸν Ἑσπέριον ὠκεανὸν ἐπέβη σῖόλῳ, καὶ διὰ τῆς Ἀτλανῖίδος θαλάῖῃς, σῖρατὸν ἐπὶ πόλεμον κομίζων, ἔπλευσε· καὶ νῆσον, ἀπισῖουμένην ὑπὸ μεγέθους, καὶ πολλὴν ἔριν παμπόλλοις συγγραφεῦσι παρασχοῦσαν, ὡς ὄνομα καὶ λόγος οὐ γενομένης, οὐδ' οὖσης, πέπλασῖαι, κατασχεῖν ἐπιθέμενος, προήγαγεν ἔξω τῆς οἰκουμένης τὴν Ῥωμαίων ἡγεμονίαν. Διὶς δὲ διαπλεύσας εἰς τὴν νῆσον ἐκ τῆς ἀνῖιπέρας Γαλατίας, καὶ μάχαις πολλαῖς κακώσας τοὺς πολεμίους μᾶλλον, ἢ τοὺς ἰδίους ὠφελήσας (οὐδὲν γὰρ, ὅ τι καὶ λαβεῖν ἦν ἄξιον ἀπ' ἀνθρώπων κακοβίων καὶ πενήτων) οὐχ, οἷον ἐβούλετο, τῷ πολέμῳ τέλος ἐπέθηκεν, ἀλλ' ὁμήρους λαβὼν παρὰ τοῦ βασιλέως, καὶ ταξάμενος φόρους, ἀπῆρεν ἐκ τῆς νήσου.

EX LUCIO ANNÆO FLORO.[c]

[d] Restabant autem immanissimi gentium Galli, atque Germani; et quamvis toto orbe divisa, tamen qui vinceret habuit [Cæsarem] Britannia . . .

Omnibus terra marique captis respexit [Cæsar] oceanum, et quasi hic Romanus orbis non sufficeret, alterum cogitavit. Classe igitur comparata Britanniam transit mira celeritate; quippe qui tertia vigilia Morino solvisset a portu, minus quam medio die insulam ingressus est. Plena erant tumultu hostico littora; et trepidantia ad conspectum rei novæ carpenta volitabant; itaque trepidatio pro victoria fuit. Arma et obsides accipit a trepidis: et ulterius iisset, nisi improbam classem naufragio castigasset oceanus. Reversus igitur in Galliam, classe majore, auctisque copiis, in

---

PLUTARCH.[a]

In Britain, the enemy having attacked certain leaders who had strayed into a place which was marshy and full of water, a soldier, while Cæsar himself was observing the battle, rushed into the midst of them, and having displayed many and singular acts of daring, rescued the leaders, the barbarians being put to flight, while he, effecting his passage with great difficulty, threw himself into the fenny streams; and, without his shield, partly swimming and partly wading, with much labour got through them. They who were about Cæsar were astonished, and met him with joy and acclamation; but he, much dejected and in tears, fell at Cæsar's feet, and entreated forgiveness for having lost his shield.

[b] But his [Cæsar's] expedition against the Britons was of singular boldness; for he was the first who proceeded with a fleet to the Western Ocean, and sailed over the Atlantic Sea, conducting an army to war; and being desirous of possessing an island, for its size hardly believed in, and giving occasion for much controversy to various writers, as if a name and a tale had been invented of a place which never had been nor was yet in existence, he advanced the dominion of the Romans beyond the limits of the known world; and having twice sailed over to the island from the opposite coast of Gaul, and having rather worsted his enemies in many battles, than advantaged his own soldiers, for there was nothing worth taking from men who had a bare subsistence and were poor, he terminated the war not in the way he wished; but taking hostages from the king, and appointing tributes, he departed from the island.

[a] Plutarchi Vitar. Parallelar. Julii Cæsaris s. 16. Ed. Coraye, Parisiis, 1809.
Floruit Plutarchus A.D. 109.
[b] Ibid. s. 23.

[c] Lucii Annæi Flori Epitomes Rerum Romanarum lib. III. c. 10. Ed. Dukeri, Lugduni Batavorum, 1744.
Claruisse putatur Florus ineunte sæculo secundo.
[d] An. A.C. 55.

Digitized by Google

eundem rursus oceanum, eosdemque rursus Britannos, Calidonias sequutus in sylvas, unum quoque e regibus Cavelianis in vincula dedit. Contentus his, non enim provinciæ, sed nomini studebatur, cum majore, quam prius, præda revectus est; ipso quoque oceano tranquillo magis et propitio, quasi imparem se fateretur.

[a] Quippe sicut Galliam, Thraciam, Ciliciam, Cappadociam, uberrimas validissimasque provincias, Armenios etiam et Britannos, ut non in usum, ita ad imperii speciem, magna nomina acquisiisse, pulchrum atque decorum.

[b] Cæsar in patriam victor invehitur. Primum de Gallia triumphum transmiserat Rhenus et Rhodanus, et ex auro captivus oceanus.

EX T. LIVII EPITOME.[c]

Cæsar [C. Julius] victis Germanis, et in Gallia cæsis, Rhenum transcendit[d], et proximam partem Germaniæ domuit: ac deinde oceano in Britanniam, primo parum prospere tempestatibus adversis, trajecit: iterum parum felicius, magnaque multitudine hostium cæsa, aliquam partem insulæ in potestatem redegit.

EX C. SUETONIO TRANQUILLO.[e]

Aggressus est et [f] Britannos [Cæsar] ignotos antea; superatisque pecunias et obsides imperavit: per tot successus, ter, nec amplius, adversum casum expertus: in Britannia, classe vi tempestatis prope absumpta; et in Gallia, ad Gergoviam legione fusa; et in Germanorum finibus, Titurio et Aurunculeio legatis per insidias cæsis.

[g] Multi prodiderunt [J. Cæsarem] . . . Britanniam petisse spe margaritarum, quarum amplitudinem conferentem, interdum sua manu exegisse pondus:

[h] Exercitum neque per insidiosa itinera duxit [Cæsar] unquam, nisi perspeculatus locorum situs: neque in Britanniam transvexit, nisi ante per se portus et navigationem et accessum ad insulam explorasset.

[i] Scio, plerosque existimasse, talem a Caio pontem [Bajarum] excogitatum æmulatione Xerxis, qui non sine admiratione aliquanto angustiorem Hellespontum contabulaverit: alios, ut Germaniam et Britanniam, quibus imminebat, alicujus immensi operis fama territaret.

[k] Expeditionis Germanicæ impetum cepit [Caligula]... Nihil autem amplius, quam Adminio Cinobellini, Britannorum regis filio, qui pulsus a patre, cum exigua manu transfugerat, in deditionem recepto: quasi universa tradita insula, magnificas Romam litteras misit: monitis speculatoribus ut vehiculo ad Forum usque et Curiam pertenderent, nec, nisi in æde Martis, ac frequenti senatu, consulibus traderent.

[l] Postremo, quasi perpetraturus bellum, directa acie in littore oceani, ac ballistis machinisque dispositis, nemine gnaro, aut opinante quidnam cœpturus esset, repente, ut conchas legerent, galeasque et sinus replerent, imperavit; 'spolia oceani' vocans 'Capitolio Palatioque debita.' Et in indicium victoriæ altissimam turrem excitavit; ex qua, ut ex pharo, noctibus ad regendos navium cursus ignes emicarent.

[m] Expeditionem unam omnino suscepit [Claudius], eamque modicam. Quum, decretis sibi a senatu ornamentis triumphalibus, leviorem majestate principali titulum arbitraretur, velletque justi triumphi decus, unde acquireret, Britanniam potissimum elegit; neque tentatam ulli post Divum Julium, et tunc tumultuantem ob non redditos transfugas. Hoc quum ab Ostia navigaret, vehementi Circio bis pæne demersus est, prope Liguriam, juxtaque Stœchadas insulas. Quare a Massilia Gesoriacum usque pedestri itinere confecto, inde transmisit: ac sine ullo prœlio aut sanguine intra paucissimos dies parte insulæ in deditionem recepta, sexto quam profectus erat mense Romam rediit, triumphavitque maximo apparatu. Ad cujus spectaculum commeare in urbem non solum præsidibus provinciarum permisit, verum etiam exulibus quibusdam; atque inter hostilia spolia navalem coronam fastigio Palatinæ domus, juxta civicam fixit, trajecti et quasi domiti oceani insigne.

[n] Edidit et in Martio Campo [Claudius] expugnationem direptionemque oppidi ad imaginem bellicam, et deditionem Britanniæ regum, præseditque paludatus.

[o] Liberos ex tribus uxoribus tulit [Claudius]: ex Urgulanilla, Drusum et Claudiam; ex Petina Antoniam; ex Messalina Octaviam, et quem primo Germanicum, mox Britannicum cognominavit.... Britannicum, vicesimo imperii die, inque secundo consulatu natum sibi, parvulum etiam tum, et militi pro concione manibus suis gestans, et plebi, per spectacula gremio aut ante se retinens, assidue commendabat, faustisque ominibus cum acclamantium turba prosequebatur.

Libertorum præcipue suspexit [Claudius] Posiden spadonem, quem etiam Britannico triumpho inter militares viros hasta pura donavit.

[p] Augendi propagandique imperii neque voluntate ulla, neque spe motus [Nero] umquam, etiam ex Britannia deducere exercitum cogitavit: nec nisi verecundia, ne obtrectare parentis gloriæ videretur, destitit.

[q] Accesserunt tantis ex principe malis probrisque quædam et fortuita: pestilentia unius autumni,

[a] C. 12. [b] Lib. IV. c. 2.
[c] Lib. CV. Ed. Hearnii, Oxonii, 1708. T. VI. Hæc epitome a quibusdam Floro tribuitur.
[d] An. A.C. 55.
[e] Caii Suetonii Tranquilli de XII. Cæsaribus libro primo, sive de C. Julio Cæsare, c. 25. Ed. Wolfii, Lipsiæ, 1802. Floruit Suetonius ineunte sæculo secundo.
[f] A.C. 55. [g] Cc. 46, 47. [h] C. 58.
[i] Lib. IV., sive de Caio Cæsare Caligula, c. 19.
[k] Cc. 43, 44. A.D. 40. [l] C. 46.
[m] Lib. V., sive de Claudio Cæsare, c. 17.
[n] C. 21. A.D. 44. [o] Cc. 27, 28.
[p] Lib. VI., sive de Nerone Cæsare, c. 18.
[q] Cc. 39, 40. A.D. 61.

Digitized by Google

quo triginta funerum milia in rationem Libitinæ venerunt; clades Britannica, qua duo præcipua oppida, magna civium sociorumque cæde, direpta sunt.

Spoponderunt tamen quidam [mathematici] destituto [Neroni] Orientis dominationem, nonnulli nominatim regnum Hierosolymorum, plures omnis pristinæ fortunæ restitutionem. Cui spei pronior, Britannia Armeniaque amissa, ac rursus utraque recepta, defunctum se fatalibus malis existimabat.

[a] Cæde Caii nuntiata, multis ad occasionem stimulantibus, quietem prætulit [Galba]. Per hoc gratissimus Claudio, receptusque in cohortem amicorum, tantæ dignationis est habitus, ut quum subita ei valetudo, neque adeo gravis, incidisset, dilatus sit expeditionis Britannicæ dies.

[b] Mox cum Claudio principe, duos insuper ordinarios consulatus censuramque gessit [Vitellius]. Curam quoque imperii sustinuit, absente eo, expeditione Britannica.

[c] Claudio principe, Narcissi gratia legatus legionis in Germaniam missus est [Vespasianus]: inde in Britanniam translatus, tricies cum hoste conflixit. Duas validissimas gentes, superque viginti oppida, et insulam Vectem Britanniæ proximam, in ditionem redegit, partim Auli Plautii legati consularis, partim Claudii ipsius ductu. Quare triumphalia ornamenta, et in brevi spatio duplex sacerdotium accepit.

[d] Tribunus militum [Titus], et in Germania, et in Britannia meruit summa industriæ, nec minore modestiæ fama: sicut apparet et statuarum et imaginum ejus multitudine, ac titulis per utramque provinciam.

[e] Sallustium Lucullum, Britanniæ legatum, quod lanceas novæ formæ appellari Luculleas passus esset [interemit Domitianus.]

EX PAUSANIA.[f]

Ὠκεανῷ γὰρ οὐ ποταμῷ, θαλάττῃ δὲ ἐσχάτῃ τῆς ὑπὸ ἀνθρώπων πλεομένης, προσοικοῦσιν Ἴβηρες καὶ Κελτοί, καὶ νῆσον ὠκεανὸς ἔχει τὴν Βρετανῶν.

[g] Ἀπετέμετο δὲ [h] [ὁ Ἀντωνῖνος] καὶ τῶν ἐν Βριτανίᾳ Βριγάντων τὴν πολλήν, ὅτι ἐπεσθαίνειν καὶ οὗτοι σὺν τοῖς ὅπλοις ἦρξαν τὴν [1] Γενουνίαν μοῖραν, ὑπηκόους Ῥωμαίων.

EX APPIANO ALEXANDRINO.[i]

Καὶ [οἱ Ῥωμαῖοι] τὸν βόρειον ὠκεανὸν ἐς τὴν Βρετανίδα νῆσον περάσαντες, ἠπείρου μεγάλης μείζονα, τὸ κράτιστον αὐτῆς ἔχουσιν ὑπὲρ ἥμισυ, οὐδὲν τῆς ἄλλης δεόμενοι· οὐ γὰρ εὔφορος αὐτοῖς ἐστιν οὐδ' ἣν ἔχουσι.

[k] Επέρασε καὶ τὸν Ῥῆνον πρῶτος Ρωμαίων ὁ Καῖσαρ· καὶ ἐς τὴν Βρετανίδα νῆσον, ἠπείρου τὲ μείζονα οὖσαν μεγίστης, καὶ τοῖς τῇδε ἀνθρώποις ἄγνωστον ἔτι· ἐπέρασε δὲ καὶὰ τὸν καιρὸν τῆς ἀμπώτεως. ἅρτι γὰρ τὸ πάθος ἤπτετο τῆς θαλάσσης, καὶ ὁ στόλος ἐσαλεύετο, ἠρέμα πρῶτον, εἶτα ὀξύτερον, μέχρι σὺν βιαίῳ τάχει διέπλευσεν ὁ Καῖσαρ ἐς τὴν Βρετανίαν.

[l] Εὐθὺς ἠρέθιζον [οἱ Ῥωμαῖοι] τοὺς Βρετανοὺς παρορκῆσαι, ἔγκλημα ἔχοντας, ὅτι, σπονδῶν σφίσι γενομένων, ἔτι παρῆν τὸ στρατόπεδον.

[m] Τὸν δ' Ἑσπέριον καὶ τὸν Βόρειον ὠκεανὸν οὐ περῶσιν [οἱ Ῥωμαιοῖ], ὅτι μὴ πορθμεύεσθαι μόνον ἐπὶ Βρετανούς· καὶ τοῦτο, ταῖς ἀμπώτεσι τοῦ πελάγους συμφερόμενοι· ἔστι δ' αὐτοῖς ὅ διάπλους ἥμισυ ἡμέρας. Καὶ τὰ λοιπὰ οὔτε Ρωμαῖοι, οὔτε τὰ ἔθνη τὰ ὑπὸ Ρωμαίοις, περῶνται τοῦδε τοῦ ὠκεανοῦ.

[n] Καίσαρι δὲ ἥ τε Ἰόνιος θάλασσα εἶξε, χειμῶνος μέσου πλωτὴ καὶ εὔδιος γενομένη· καὶ τὸν Ἑσπέριον ὠκεανὸν ἐπὶ Βρετανοὺς διέπλευσεν, οὔπω γενόμενον ἐν πείρᾳ, χρημνοῖς τε τῶν Βρετανῶν τοὺς κυβερνήτας ἐποκέλλοντας ἐκέλευε τὰς ναῦς περιαγνῦναι.

EX POLYÆNO.[o]

Καῖσαρ ἐν Βρετανίᾳ ποταμὸν μέγαν ἐπεχείρει περαιοῦσθαι·

PAUSANIAS.[f]

The Iberi and Celti live near an ocean, not a river, but near the farthest sea navigated by men; and this ocean contains the island of the Britons.

[g] And he [[h] Antoninus] deprived the Brigantes in Britain of a great portion of their land, because, with arms, they had begun to overrun the territory of the Genuini, who were tributary to the Romans.

APPIAN.[i]

And [the Romans] having passed over the Northern Ocean to the Bretannic island, which is greater than a large continent, they possess more than the half of it, and that its most productive portion; caring nothing for the remainder, as even that which they already occupy yields little profit.

[k] Cæsar was the first of the Romans who went over the Rhine, and into the Bretannic island, which is larger than a very great continent, and was till then unknown to men of this country. He passed over at the turn of the tide; for as soon as its influence affected the sea, the fleet was floated along, at first gently, then more violently, until Cæsar, with great rapidity, was carried over to Britain.

[l] Immediately they [the Romans] provoked the Britons to violate their oaths; who complained, that although they had ratified the treaty, yet still the army remained amongst them.

[m] But they [the Romans] do not cross the Western and Northern Ocean, except to pass over to the Britons; and this they effect, borne onward by the tides of the sea. They complete the passage thither in less than half a day: but farther than this, neither the Romans, nor the nations subject to them, penetrate that ocean.

[n] And even the Ionian Sea gave way to Cæsar; for it became tranquil and navigable, although in the midst of winter: moreover he crossed the Western Ocean to the Britons, which had never been before attempted; and ordered the helmsmen to run their ships on the rocks of the Britons, and wreck them.

POLYÆNUS.[o]

Cæsar attempting to pass a large river in Britain, Cassolaulus, king of the Britons, obstructed him with many horse-

[1] ἐς τὴν γὴν MS.

[a] Libro VII., sive de Sergio Galba, c. 7.
[b] Libro IX., sive de Aulo Vitellio, c. 2. A.D. 44.
[c] Libro X., sive de T. Flavio Vespasiano, c. 4. A.D. 60.
[d] Libro XI., sive de Tito Fl. Vespasiano, c. 4.
[e] Libro XII., sive de Flavio Domitiano, c. 10.
[f] Pausaniæ Græciæ Descriptionis Lib. I. c. 33. Ed. Facii, Lipsiæ, 1794.
Floruit Pausanias A.D. 140.
[g] Lib. VIII. c. 43. [h] A.D. 138–161.
[i] Appiani Alexandrini Romanarum Historiarum Præfatione, s. 5. Ed. Schweighaeus. Lipsiæ, 1785.
Claruit Appianus A.D. 140.
[k] Lib. IV. s. 5. An. A.C. 55. [l] S. 19. [m] Lib. VI. s. 1.
[n] De Bellis Civilibus, II. s. 150.
[o] Polyæni Strategematum lib. VIII. c. 23. s. 5. Ed. Berolini, 1756.
Floruit Polyænus A.D. 180.

Digitized by Google

βασιλεὺς Βρετλανῶν Κασόλαυλος ἀνεῖργε μετὰ πολλῶν ἱππεών, καὶ ἁρμάτων. Καίσαρι μέγιστος ἐλέφας εἵπετο, ζῶον Βρετλανοῖς οὐχ ἑωραμένον· τοῦτον σιδηραῖς φολίσιν ὀχυρώσας, καὶ πύργον ἐπ' αὐτοῦ μέγαν ὑψώσας, καὶ τοξότας καὶ σφενδονήτας ἐπισήσας, ἐκέλευσεν ἐς τὸ ῥεῦμα ἐμβαίνειν. Βρετλανοὶ δὲ ἐξεπλάγησαν, ἀόρατον καὶ ὑπερφυὲς θηρίον ἰδόντες. περὶ γὰρ τῶν ἵππων τί χρὴ καὶ γράφειν; ὅπου καὶ παρ' Ἕλλησιν, ἢν καὶ γυμνὸν ἐλέφαντα ἴδωσιν, ἵπποι φεύγουσιν. πυργοφόρον δὲ καὶ ὡπλισμένον, βέλη καὶ σφενδόνας ἐξαφίεντα, οὐδὲ ἰδεῖν τὴν ὄψιν ὑπέμειναν. Βρετλανοὶ μὲν δὴ αὐτοῖς ἵπποις καὶ ἅρμασιν ἔφευγον. Ῥωμαῖοι δὲ ἀκινδύνως τὸν ποταμὸν διέβησαν, ἑνὶ ζώῳ τοὺς πολεμίους φοβήσαντες.

EX DIONE CASSIO.[a]

[b] Ὁ οὖν Καῖσαρ τόν τε Ῥῆνον πρῶτος τότε Ῥωμαίων διέβη, καὶ ἐς Βρετλανίαν μετὰ ταῦτα, τοῦ τε Πομπηΐου καὶ τοῦ Κράσσου ὑπατευόντων, ἐπεραιώθη. ἡ δὲ δὴ χώρα αὕτη ἀπέχει μὲν τῆς ἠπείρου τῆς Κελτικῆς κατὰ Μωρίνους σταδίους πεντήκοντα καὶ τετρακοσίους, τὸ συντομώτατον· παρήκει δὲ παρά τε τὴν λοιπὴν Γαλατίαν, καὶ παρὰ τὴν Ἰβηρίαν ὀλίγου πᾶσαν, ἔς τε τὸ πέλαγος ἀνατείνουσα. καὶ τοῖς μὲν πάνυ πρώτοις καὶ Ἑλλήνων καὶ Ῥωμαίων οὐδ' ὅτι ἐστὶν ἐγιγνώσκετο· τοῖς δὲ ἔπειτα, ἐς ἀμφισβήτησιν εἴτε ἤπειρος, εἴτε καὶ νῆσος εἴη, ἀφίκετο· καὶ πολλοῖς ἐφ' ἑκάτερον, εἰδόσι μὲν οὐδέν, ἅτε μήτ' αὐτόπλαις μήτ' αὐτηκόοις τῶν ἐπιχωρίων γενομένοις, τεκμαιρομένοις δὲ, ὡς ἕκασοι σχολῆς ἢ καὶ φιλολογίας εἶχον, συγγέγραπται. προϊόντος δὲ δὴ τοῦ χρόνου, πρότερόν τε ἐπ' Ἀγρικόλου ἀντιστρατήγου, καὶ νῦν ἐπὶ Σεβήρου αὐτοκράτορος, νῆσος οὖσα σαφῶς ἐλήλεγκται.

[c] Ἐς ταύτην οὖν τότε ὁ Καῖσαρ, ἐπειδὴ τά τε ἄλλα τὰ τῶν Γαλατῶν ἡσύχαζε, καὶ τοὺς Μωρίνους προσεποιήσατο, ἐπεθύμησε διαβῆναι. καὶ τὸν μὲν διάπλουν, καθ' ὃ μάλιστα ἐχρῆν, μετὰ τῶν πεζῶν ἐποιήσατο· οὐ μέντοι καὶ ᾗ ἔδει, προσέσχεν. οἱ γὰρ Βρετλανοὶ τὸν ἐπίπλουν αὐτοῦ προπυθόμενοι, τὰς κατάρσεις ἁπάσας τὰς πρὸ τῆς ἠπείρου οὔσας προκατέλαβον. ἄκραν οὖν τινα προέχουσαν περιπλεύσας, ἐτέρωσε παρεκομίσθη· κἀνταῦθα τοὺς προσμίξαντάς οἱ ἐς τὰ τενάγη ἀποβαίνοντι νικήσας, ἔφθη τῆς γῆς κρατήσας πρὶν τὴν πλείω συμβοήθειαν ἐλθεῖν· καὶ μετὰ ταῦτα καὶ ἐκείνους προσβαλόντας ἀπεώσατο. καὶ ἔπιπτον μὲν οὐ πολλοὶ τῶν βαρβάρων, (ἁρματηλάται τε γὰρ ὄντες καὶ ἱππεῖς, ῥᾳδίως τοὺς Ῥωμαίους, μηδέπω τοῦ ἱππικοῦ αὐτοῖς παρόντος, διέφυγον) ἐκπλαγέντες δὲ πρός τε τὰ ἐκ τῆς ἠπείρου περὶ αὐτῶν ἀγγελλόμενα, καὶ ὅτι περαιωθῆναί τε ὅλως ἐτόλμησαν, καὶ ἐπιβῆναι τῆς χώρας ἠδυνήθησαν· πέμπουσι πρὸς τὸν Καίσαρα τῶν Μωρίνων τινὰς, φίλων σφίσιν ὄντων, ἐπικηρυκευόμενοι. καὶ τότε μὲν ὁμήρους αἰτήσαντι αὐτῷ δοῦναι ἠθέλησαν.

Πονησάντων δὲ ἐν τούτῳ τῶν Ῥωμαίων ὑπὸ χειμῶνος, καὶ τῷ παρόντι ναυτικῷ, καὶ τῷ ἀφικνουμένῳ, καὶ μετέγνωσαν, καὶ ἐκ μὲν τοῦ προφανοῦς οὐκ ἐπέθεντο αὐτοῖς (τὸ γὰρ στρατόπεδον ἰσχυρῶς ἐφυλάσσετο·) δεξάμενοί δέ τινας, ὡς καὶ ἐς φιλίαν τὴν χώραν σφῶν πρὸς κομιδὴν τῶν ἐπιτηδείων πεμφθέντας, τοὺς τε πλὴν ὀλίγων ἔφθειραν, (ὁ γὰρ Καῖσαρ διαταχέων τοῖς λοιποῖς ἐπήμυνε) καὶ μετὰ τοῦτο καὶ πρὸς αὐτὸ τὸ ἔρυμα αὐτῶν προσέβαλον. καὶ ἔπραξαν μὲν οὐδὲν, ἀλλὰ καὶ κακῶς ἀπήλλαξαν· οὐ μέντοι καὶ ἐς ὁμολογίαν ἦλθον, πρὶν πολλάκις σφαλῆναι· καὶ γὰρ ὁ Καῖσαρ ἄλλως μὲν οὐκ εἶχε γνώμην σπείσεσθαι σφίσιν· ἐπεὶ δὲ ὅ, τε χειμὼν προσῄει, καὶ οὐχ ἱκανὴν τὴν παροῦσαν δύναμιν περιεβέβλητο, ὥστε καὶ ἐν αὐτῷ πολεμῆσαι, ἥ τε κομιζομένη ἔσφαλτο, καὶ οἱ Γαλάται πρὸς τὴν ἀπουσίαν αὐτοῦ ἐνεωτέρισαν· καὶ ἄκων αὐτοῖς συνηλλάγη, ὁμήρους καὶ τότε πλείους αἰτήσας μὲν, λαβὼν δὲ ὀλίγους.

Καὶ ὁ μὲν ἐς τὴν ἤπειρον ἀναπλεύσας, τὰ ταραχθέντα καθίστατο, μηδὲν μήτε ἐκ τῆς Βρετλανίας μήτε ἑαυτῷ μήτε τῇ πόλει προσκτηmen and chariots. Cæsar had in his train a very large elephant, an animal hitherto unseen by the Britons. Having armed him with scales of iron, and put a large tower upon him, and placed therein archers and slingers, he ordered them to enter the stream. The Britons were amazed on beholding a beast till then unseen, and of an extraordinary nature. As to the horses, what need to write of them? Since even among the Greeks, horses fly at seeing an elephant though without harness; but thus towered and armed, and casting darts and slinging, they could not endure even to look upon the sight. The Britons therefore fled with their horses and chariots. Thus the Romans passed the river without molestation, having terrified the enemy by a single animal.

---

DION CASSIUS.[a]

Cæsar, therefore, [b]first of the Romans, then crossed the Rhine, and afterwards passed over into Britain, in the consulship of Pompey and Crassus. This country is distant from the continent of Celtica, where the Morini dwell, at least four hundred and fifty stadia: and it stretches out along the remaining portion of Gaul and nearly the whole of Iberia, extending upward into the sea. To the earliest of the Greeks and Romans its very existence was not known, but to those of after times it became matter of dispute whether it were a continent or an island: and much has been written on either side by persons who, having neither themselves seen nor heard of it from its inhabitants, knew nothing concerning it, but merely conjectured, as prompted by leisure or the love of controversy: in process of time, however, first under Agricola the proprætor, and now under the emperor Severus, it has been clearly proved to be an island.

[c]To this island, then, Cæsar, at the time when the other Gauls were tranquil, and he had subjugated the Morini, vehemently desired to pass over. And he completed the passage with his infantry just as he wished, though he landed not at the spot he should have done; for the Britons, having already heard of his approach, had possessed themselves of all the landing-places facing the continent. Sailing, therefore, round a certain promontory, he reached its farther side; and then, having defeated those who attacked him while disembarking on the shallows, he effected his landing before further succours could arrive; and afterwards repulsed the enemy when assailing him. Few, however, of the barbarians fell; for, being mounted on chariots and on horses, they easily escaped from the Romans, whose cavalry had not yet joined them; nevertheless, greatly alarmed at what they had heard from the continent concerning them, and at their boldness in crossing the sea at all, and their success in effecting a landing in their country, they send to Cæsar certain of the Morini, who were in amity with them, suing for peace. And on his demanding hostages they consented at the time to give them.

But the Romans meanwhile having suffered severely through a storm which had shattered their ships already arrived as well as those which were on their passage, the Britons changed their purpose; and although they did not openly attack them, for the camp was strongly defended, yet intercepting such as had been sent out, as though into a friendly country, for provisions, they killed them, with the exception of a few, whom Cæsar speedily succoured: and after this they attempted the camp itself, but without effect, and were repelled with loss: they would not come to terms, however, until they had been repeatedly worsted. Cæsar, in truth, had no intention to grant them peace; but as the winter was approaching, and he had not sufficient forces present to carry on the war during its continuance, moreover as the fleet he expected had failed to reach its port, and the Gauls, in consequence of his absence, had become tumultuous, he reluctantly entered into treaty with them; demanding still more hostages, though he received but a small number.

He then sailed back to the continent, and quieted the com-

[a] Cassii Dionis Cocceiani Historiæ Romanæ lib. xxxix. sect. 50. Ed. Reimari, Hamburgi, 1750.

Claruit Dion Cassius A.D. 230.

[b] An. A.C. 55.

[c] Sect. 51–53.

Digitized by Google

σάμενος, πλήν τοῦ ἐστρατευκέναι ἐπ' αὐτοὺς δόξαι. τούτῳ γὰρ καὶ αὐτὸς ἰσχυρῶς ἐσεμνύνετο, καὶ οἱ οἶκοι 'Ρωμαῖοι θαυμαστῶς ἐμεγαλύνοντο. ἐμφανῆ τε γὰρ τὰ πρὶν ἄγνωστα, καὶ ἐπιβατὰ τὰ πρὶν ἀνήκουστα ὁρῶντες σφίσι γεγονότα, τήν τε μέλλουσαν ἐξ αὐτῶν ἐλπίδα, ὡς καὶ παροῦσαν ἔργῳ, ἐλάμβανον, καὶ πάνθ' ὅσα καταπράξειν προσεδέχοντο, ὡς καὶ ἔχοντες ἤδη, ἠγάλλοντο. καὶ οἱ μὲν διὰ ταῦτα ἱερομηνίας ἐπὶ εἴκοσιν ἡμέρας ἀγαγεῖν ἐψηφίσαντο.

[a] Ἐν μὲν δὴ τῇ Ῥώμῃ ταῦτα, τότε ἑπτακόσια ἔτη ἀγούσῃ ἐγένετο. ἐν δὲ δὴ τῇ Γαλατίᾳ ὁ Καῖσαρ ἐπὶ τῶν αὐτῶν ἐκείνων, τοῦ Δομιτίου αὖ τοῦ Λουκίου καὶ τοῦ Κλαυδίου Ἀππίου ὑπάτων, τά τε ἄλλα, καὶ ναῦς, ἐν μέσῳ τῶν τε σφετέρων τῶν ταχειῶν, καὶ τῶν αὐτόθεν τῶν φορτίδων, ὅπως ὡς μάλιστα καὶ κουφίζωσι, καὶ πρὸς τὸ κῦμα ἀντέχωσιν, ἐπί τε ξηροῦ ἱστάμεναι μὴ λυμαίνωνται, παρεσκευάσατο. καὶ ἐπειδὴ πλώϊμα ἐγένετο, ἐς τὴν Βρετλανίαν αὖθις ἐπεραιώθη, πρόφασιν μέν, ὅτι μὴ πάντας τοὺς ὁμήρους, οὓς ὑπέσχοντο, ἐπεπόμφεισαν, (νομίζοντες αὐτὸν, ὅτι διακενῆς τότε ἀνεχώρησε, μηκέτ' αὖθις σφῶν πειράσειν) ποιησάμενος· ἔργῳ δὲ, δεινῶς τῆς νήσου ἐφιέμενος. ὥστε εἰ μὴ καὶ τοῦτο ἦν, πάντως ἂν ἄλλην τινὰ σκῆψιν εὑρεῖν. κατῆρέ τε οὖν ἔνθα καὶ πρότερον, μηδενὸς, ὑπό τε τοῦ πλήθους τῶν νεῶν, καὶ ὑπὸ τοῦ πολλαχόσε ἅμα αὐτὰς κατασχεῖν, τολμήσαντος ἀντιστῆναι· καὶ τὸν ναύσταθμον εὐθὺς ἐκρατύνατο.

Οἱ οὖν βάρβαροι τὸν μὲν πρόσπλουν αὐτοῦ οὐκ ἠδυνήθησαν διὰ ταῦτα κωλῦσαι· δείσαντες δὲ μᾶλλον ἢ πρότερον, ἅτε καὶ στρατῷ πλείονι αὐτοῦ ἐλθόντος, ἐς τὸ λασιώτατον καὶ ἐς τὸ λοχμωδέστατον τῶν ἐγγὺς χωρίων πάντα τὰ τιμιώτατα συνεφόρησαν· καὶ αὐτὰ ἐν ἀσφαλεῖ ποιησάμενοι, (τά τε γὰρ πέριξ ξύλα ἔκοψαν, καὶ ἕτερα ἐπ' αὐτοῖς στοιχηδὸν ἐπισυνένησαν, ὥστε ἐν χαρακώματι τρόπον τινὰ εἶναι) ἔπειτα τοὺς προνομεύοντας τῶν 'Ρωμαίων ἐλύπουν. καὶ δὴ καὶ μάχῃ τινὶ ἐν τῷ ψιλῷ ἡττηθέντες, ὑπήγαγον σφᾶς ἐκεῖσε κατὰ τὴν δίωξιν, καὶ συχνοὺς ἀνταπέκτειναν. καὶ μετὰ τοῦτο χειμῶνος αὖθις τὰς ναῦς αὐτῶν λυμηναμένου, συμμάχους τε προσμετεπέμψαντο, καὶ ἐπ' αὐτὸ τὸ νεώριον σφῶν ὥρμησαν, Κασουελλανὸν, τὰ πρῶτα τῶν ἐν τῇ νήσῳ δυναστῶν φερόμενον προστησάμενοι. καὶ αὐτοῖς ἀπαντήσαντες οἱ 'Ρωμαῖοι, τὸ μὲν πρῶτον ἐταράχθησαν τῇ τῶν ἁρμάτων σφῶν προσμίξει· ἔπειτα δὲ διϊστάμενοι, καὶ ἐκεῖνά τε παρεξιέντες, καὶ τοὺς παραθέοντας ἐς τὰ πλαίσια βάλλοντες, ἀνέσωσαν τὴν μάχην.

Καὶ τότε μὲν κατὰ χώραν ἀμφότεροι ἔμειναν· αὖθις δὲ οἱ βάρβαροι, τοῦ μὲν πεζοῦ κρείττους γενόμενοι, ὑπὸ δὲ τῆς ἵππου κακωθέντες, πρός τε τὸν Ταμέσαν ἀνεχώρησαν, καὶ τὸν πόρον αὐτοῦ σταυροῖς, τοῖς μὲν ἐμφανέσι, τοῖς δὲ καὶ ὑφύδροις, διαλαβόντες, ηὐλίσαντο. ἐπειδή τε ἐκείνους τε ὁ Καῖσαρ τό, τε στάυρωμα προσβολῇ βιαίᾳ ἐκλιπεῖν ἠνάγκασε, καὶ μετὰ τοῦτο καὶ ἐκ τοῦ ἐρύματος προσεδρείᾳ ἐξήλασε, καὶ τοὺς προσβάλλοντας σφῶν τῷ ναυστάθμῳ ἕτεροι ἀπεώσαντο· καὶ κατέδεισαν, καὶ κατελύσαντο, ὁμήρους τε δόντες, καὶ φόρον ἐτήσιον ταξάμενοι.

Καὶ οὕτως ὁ Καῖσαρ ἀπῆρε παντάπασιν ἐκ τῆς νήσου, καὶ οὐδὲν ἐγκατέλιπε στράτευμα ἐν αὐτῇ. ἐκεῖνό τε γὰρ κινδυνεύσειν ἐν ἀλλοτρίᾳ πῃ χειμάζον, καὶ αὐτὸς οὐκ ἂν ἐν καλῷ ἐπὶ πλεῖον ἀπὸ τῆς Γαλατίας ἀποδημῆσαι νομίζων, ἠγάπησε τοῖς παροῦσι· μὴ καὶ μειζόνων ὀριγνώμενος, καὶ περὶ ἐκείνοις σφαλῇ. καὶ ἔδοξε καὶ τοῦτο ὀρθῶς πεποιηκέναι, ὥσπερ που καὶ τῷ ἔργῳ διεδείχθη· ἐπεὶ γὰρ ἐς Ἰταλίαν ὥρμησεν, ὡς καὶ ἐκεῖ παραχειμάσων, οἱ Γαλάται, καίτοι φρουροὺς ὡς ἕκαστοι πολλοὺς ἔχοντες, ὅμως ἐνεόχμωσαν, καὶ τινες αὐτῶν καὶ φανερῶς ἐπανέστησαν· ὅπερ εἰ ἐν τῇ Βρετλανίᾳ καταμείναντος αὐτοῦ παρὰ τὸν χειμῶνα ἐγεγόνει, πάντα ἂν τὰ τῇδε ἐτετάρακτο.

[b] Τίς δ' [ἔλεξεν ὁ Καίσαρ] οὐκ ἂν ὁρῶν ὀδύραιτο τὴν Ἰταλίαν ὁμοίως τῇ Βρετλανίᾳ πορθουμένην.'

[c] 'Ἐπεὶ εἴγε ἐν μηδενὶ δεινῷ ἦν [ἡ πάτρις], οὔτ' ἂν ἐς τὴν Ἰταλίαν μετὰ τῶν ὅπλων ἤλθομεν, (οὐ γὰρ ἔτ' ἐστὶν) οὔτ' ἂν τὰ motions there; having gained no advantage to himself or to the state from Britain, except the glory of having conducted an expedition against it. Of this, indeed, he spoke in very lofty terms himself, and the Romans at home entertained a wonderfully high opinion. For seeing that places before unknown were now made manifest, and a region hitherto unheard of now rendered accessible to them; they indulged the hope of success, as if it were already a reality, and looking upon whatever they expected to achieve as now in their possession, they gave way to joy: and on this account they decreed a festival of twenty days continuance.

---

[a] Such were the transactions at Rome in its seven hundredth year. But in Gaul, under the consulship of the before-mentioned Lucius Domitius and Appius Claudius, among other preparations Cæsar built ships of an intermediate size, between his own swift-sailing vessels and those of burthen which he had there obtained, that they might be as buoyant as possible, and yet resist the waves; and although left on the strand, should receive no injury therefrom. As soon, therefore, as the season admitted of sailing, he again passed over into Britain; alledging as a pretext that the Britons had not sent him all the hostages which they had promised, for as he had at that time departed without accomplishing his purpose they thought he would never attempt them again, but his real motive was a vehement desire of possessing the island: so that had not this happened, he would easily have found some other pretext. He landed at the same place as before, no one daring to resist him, both on account of the multitude of his ships, and because they reached the shore on many points at once; and immediately he fortified his naval station.

From these causes, therefore, the barbarians were unable to obstruct his landing, and becoming more terrified than formerly, inasmuch as he had arrived with a more numerous army, they conveyed their substance of greatest value into such neighbouring thickets as were most difficult of access; and having placed them in safety, for they cut down the surrounding trees and piled others in layers upon them so as in some degree to resemble a wall, they then infested the foraging parties of the Romans. Being worsted, moreover, in a certain battle in the open country, they enticed the Romans, in the pursuit, to their fastness; and thence in turn killed many of them. And after this a tempest having again shattered the enemies ships, the Britons summoned their allies, and made an attack even upon the Roman station; having given the command to Cassivelaunus, the chief potentate of the island. The Romans, then, coming into conflict with them, were at first thrown into disorder by the shock of their chariots; but afterwards opening their ranks and letting them pass through, and aiming obliquely at the assailing enemy, they retrieved the fight.

For a time both parties maintained their position; but afterwards the barbarians, although they were victorious over the infantry, yet being worsted by the cavalry, retreated to the Thames; and defending its passage with stakes, as well above as beneath the water, here they took their station. But when Cæsar, by a vigorous attack, compelled them to quit their stockade, and next drove them by siege from their fortress; while such of them as assailed the naval station were routed by his other troops, they became terrified, and obtained peace on sending hostages, and being constrained to pay a yearly tribute.

Thus Cæsar departed wholly from the island, leaving therein no portion of his army; thinking that it would be dangerous for it to winter in a hostile country, and inexpedient for himself to be longer absent from Gaul. He was satisfied, therefore, with existing circumstances, lest, being anxious for better, he should be deprived even of these. And in this he seemed to have acted rightly, as was eventually made manifest; for afterwards, when he went into Italy to winter, the Gauls, though kept in check by numerous garrisons in each state, yet excited fresh disturbances, and some of them openly revolted; and had this happened while he had been wintering in Britain, every thing in Gaul would have been in commotion.

[b] 'Who would not [said Cæsar] lament at seeing Italy laid waste in the same manner as Britain?'

[c] 'Since, had not it [our country] been in jeopardy, we should neither have gone into Italy with arms, for it would not have

[a] Lib. XL. ss. 1.–4. An. A.C. 54. [b] Lib. XLI. s. 30. An. A.C. 49 [c] S. 32.

Digitized by Google

τε τῶν Κελτῶν καὶ τὰ τῶν Βρετλανῶν ἀτέλεστα κατελίπομεν, δυνηθέντες ἂν καὶ ἐκεῖνα προσκατεργάσασθαι.

[a] 'Ἐπὶ τί τοσοῦτον ἤδη χρόνον τὴν ἐξουσίαν τὴν ἀνθύπατον ἔχω λαβών, ἄν γε δουλεύσω τινὶ ὑμῶν, καὶ νικηθῶ τινος ὑμῶν ἐνταῦθα ἐν τῇ Ἰταλίᾳ, πρὸς τὴν Ῥώμην, δι' οὗ καὶ Γαλάτας ἐχειρώσασθε, καὶ Βρετλανῶν ἐκρατήσατε.'

[b] 'Οὕτω δὲ ἀσφαλῶς [ἔλεξεν ὁ Ἀντώνιος] κατεστήσατο [ὁ Καίσαρ], ὥστε καὶ ἐπιβατὴν ἀπ' αὐτῶν καὶ τὴν Κελτικὴν καὶ τὴν Βρετλανίαν ποιῆσαι . . . πλεῖται δὲ οὐ Ῥοδανὸς ἔτι μόνος, οὐδ' Ἄραρις, ἀλλὰ καὶ Μόσας, καὶ Λίγηρος, καὶ Ῥῆνος αὐτὸς, καὶ Ὠκεανὸς αὐτός. ὧν γὰρ οὐδὲ τὰς ἐπικλήσεις ἀκούοντες ἐπιστεύομεν αὐτὰ εἶναι, ταῦθ' ἡμῖν προσκατείργασται· ἐμβατὰ μὲν τὰ πρὶν ἄγνωστα, πλατὰ δὲ τὰ πρὶν ἀδιερεύνητα, ἀπό τε τῆς μεγαλοπρεπείας καὶ ἀπὸ τῆς μεγαλογνωμοσύνης, ποιήσας.'

'Καὶ, εἰγε μὴ φθονήσαντες αὐτῷ τινες, μᾶλλον δὲ ἡμῖν, ἐστασιάκεσαν, καὶ δεῦρο αὐτὸν πρὸ τοῦ προσήκοντος καιροῦ ἐπανελθεῖν ἠνάγκασαν, πάντως ἂν καὶ τὴν Βρετλανίαν ὅλην μετὰ τῶν ἄλλων νήσων τῶν περιχειμένων αὐτῇ, καὶ τὴν Κελτικὴν πᾶσαν μέχρι τοῦ ἀρκτικοῦ Ὠκεανοῦ ἐκεχείρωτο· ὥσθ' ἡμᾶς ὅρους, μὴ γῆν, μηδ' ἀνθρώπους τὸ λοιπὸν, ἀλλ' ἀέρα καὶ τὴν ἔξω θάλασσαν ἔχειν.'

[c] 'Ἀλλὰ ἐνταῦθα ἐντὸς τοῦ τείχους ἐπιβουλευθεὶς [ὁ Καίσαρ], ὁ καὶ ἐς Βρετλανίαν ἀσφαλῶς στρατεύσας.'

[d] 'Ὡρμημένου δὲ αὐτοῦ [τοῦ Αὐγούστου] καὶ ἐς τὴν Βρετλανίαν, κατὰ τὸν τοῦ πατρὸς ζῆλον, στρατεῦσαι, καὶ ἤδη καὶ ἐς τὴν Γαλατίαν μετὰ τὸν χειμῶνα, ἐν ᾧ Ὅ, τε Ἀντώνιος τὸ δεύτερον καὶ Λούκιος Λίβων ὑπάτευον, προκεχωρηκότος, τῶν τε νεοαλώτων τινὲς . . . ἐκανίστησαν.

[e] 'Καταπατεῖσθαι [ἔλεξεν ὁ Αὔγουστος] πρὸς γυναικὸς Αἰγυπτίας . . . ἀνάξιον δὲ καὶ ἡμῶν αὐτῶν, τῶν τοὺς Γαλάτας κατεστραμμένων, . . . ἐς Βρετλανίαν πεπεραιωμένων.'

[f] 'Τί γὰρ ἄν τις καὶ παρεξετάσειεν αὐτῷ [τῆς μοναρχίας ἀφέσει] τὴν Γαλατίας ἅλωσιν . . . ἀλλὰ τὸν Φαρνάκην, τὸν Ἰόβαν, τὸν Φραάτην, τὴν ἐπὶ τοὺς Βρετλανοὺς στρατείαν.'

[g] Κελτῶν γάρ τινες οὓς δὴ Γερμανοὺς καλοῦμεν, πᾶσαν τὴν πρὸς τῷ Ῥήνῳ Κελτικὴν κατασχόντες Γερμανίαν ὀνομάζεσθαι ἐποίησαν· τὴν μὲν ἄνω, τὴν μετὰ τὰς τοῦ ποταμοῦ πηγάς· τὴν δὲ, κάτω, τὴν μέχρι τοῦ Ὠκεανοῦ τοῦ Βρετλανικοῦ οὖσαν.

[h] "Ο Αὔγουστος . . . καὶ ἐξώρμησε μὲν ὡς καὶ ἐς τὴν Βρετλανίαν στρατεύσων, ἐς δὲ δὴ τὰς Γαλατίας ἐλθὼν, ἐνταῦθα διέτριψεν. ἐκεῖνοί τε γὰρ ἐπικηρυκεύσασθαί οἱ ἐδόκουν.

[i] Τόν τε Αὔγουστον ἐς τὴν Βρετλανίαν (ἐπειδὴ μὴ ἠθέλησαν ὁμολογῆσαι) στρατευσείοντα κατέσχον οἵ τε Σάλασσοι.

[k] Τρία δὲ δὴ τότε καὶ εἴκοσι στρατόπεδα . . . πολιτικὰ, ἐτρέφετο. νῦν μὲν γὰρ ἐννεακαίδεκα ἐξ αὐτῶν μόνα διαμένει· τό, τε δεύτερον τὸ Αὐγούστειον, τὸ ἐν Βρετλανίᾳ τῇ ἄνω χειμάζον . . . ἕκτα δύο, ὧν τὸ μὲν, ἐν Βρετλανίᾳ τῇ κάτω, τὸ τῶν Νικητόρων, . . . καὶ οἱ εἰκοστοὶ, οἱ καὶ Οὐαλέρειοι καὶ Νικήτορες ὠνομασμένοι, καὶ ἐν Βρετλανίᾳ τῇ ἄνω ὄντες.

[l] 'Ελθὼν δὲ ἐκεῖσε, [ὁ Καῖος ἐς τὴν Γαλατίαν] τῶν μὲν πολεμίων οὐδένα ἐκάκωσεν, εὐθύς τε γὰρ ὀλίγον ὑπὲρ τοῦ Ῥήνου προχωρήσας ὑπέστρεψε, καὶ μετὰ τοῦτο ὁρμήσας ὡς καὶ ἐς τὴν Βρετλανίαν στρατεύσων, ἀπ' αὐτοῦ τοῦ Ὠκεανοῦ ἀνεκομίσθη.

[m] "Οτε καὶ ἐς τὸν Ὠκεανὸν ἐλθὼν [ὁ Καῖος], ὡς καὶ ἐν τῇ Βρετλανίᾳ στρατεύσων, καὶ πάντας τοὺς στρατιώτας ἐν τῇ ἠϊόνι παρατάξας, τριήρους τε ἐπέβη, καὶ ὀλίγον ἀπὸ τῆς γῆς ἀπάρας, ἀνέπλευσε. καὶ μετὰ τοῦτο ἐπὶ βήματος ὑψηλοῦ ἱζήσας, καὶ σύνθημα τοῖς στρατιώταις ὡς ἐς μάχην δοὺς, τοῖς τε σαλπιγκταῖς ἐξοτρύνας αὐτοὺς, εἶτ' ἐξαίφνης ἐκέλευσε σφίσι τὰ κογχύλια συλλέξασθαι. λαβών τε τὰ σκῦλα ταῦτα, (καὶ γὰρ λαφύρων δηλονότι πρὸς τὴν τῶν ἐπινικίων πομπὴν ἐδεῖτο) μέγα τε ἐφρόνησεν, ὡς καὶ τὸν Ὠκεανὸν αὐτὸν δεδουλωμένος, καὶ τοῖς στρατιώταις πολλὰ ἐδωρήσατο. καὶ ὁ μὲν ἐς τὴν Ῥώμην τὰ κογχύλια ἀνεκόμισεν, ἵνα καὶ ἐκείνοις τὰ λάφυρα δείξῃ.

---

been lawful, nor should we have left the affairs of the Celti and of the Britons unsettled, when we had the power of dispatching them.

[a] 'To what purpose have I so long possessed the proconsular power, if I am to be enslaved to any of you, or vanquished by any of you here in Italy, close to Rome; I, by whom you have subdued the Gauls and conquered the Britons?'

[b] 'Cæsar [said Antonius] made every thing so perfectly secure as even to render Celtica and Britain accessible from Gaul... Nor are the Rhone or the Arar alone navigated; but also the Mæse and the Loire, and the Rhine itself, and even the very ocean. Places too, of which when we heard the names we doubted the existence, have been subjected to us: places before unknown have been made accessible, regions hitherto unexplored have been now approached by sea through his magnanimity and his lofty spirit of enterprize.

'And had not such as envied him, or rather us, become turbulent, and compelled him to return hither before the appointed time, he would have totally subdued all Britain with its circumjacent islands, as well as the whole of Celtica, even to the Northern Ocean; so that the limits which bounded us would have been no longer land or nations, but the air and the outer sea.'

[c] 'But here within these walls he [Cæsar] perished by conspiracy, who had led an army even into Britain in security.'

[d] But [Augustus] with a zeal similar to that of his father, purposing to lead an expedition into Britain, and having already proceeded into Gaul, after that winter in which Antonius the second time, and Lucius Libo were consuls, some of the recently subdued nations . . . revolted.

[e] 'To be trodden under foot [said Augustus] by an Egyptian woman... would be unworthy of us, we who have vanquished the Gauls,... and passed over to Britain.'

[f] 'For who would put in competition [with my abandonment of the monarchy] the conquest of Gaul ..... or again, Pharnaces, or Juba, or Phraates, or the expedition into Britain?'

[g] For certain of the Celti, whom we call Germans, occupying the whole of Celtica along the Rhine, have occasioned it to be called Germany; the one part Upper, namely, that which begins from the sources of the river; the other Lower, namely, that which reaches down to the Bretannic Ocean.

[h] Augustus .... set forth with the intention of making war against Britain; but having come into Gaul, he there continued a while, for the Britons deemed it expedient to send an embassy to him.

[i] But Augustus, when about to war against Britain, since they would not enter into treaty, was withheld by the revolt of the Salassii.

[k] Twenty-three civic legions ... were then maintained, but of these now nineteen only remain; that is to say, the second or Augustan, at present wintering in Upper Britain .... two sixth legions, of which one, called the Victors, is in Lower Britain .... and the twentieth, called also the Valerian and the Victors, now in Upper Britain.

[l] Caius, coming thither [into Gaul], harmed not one of the enemy; for proceeding a short distance after he had passed over the Rhine, he turned back immediately; and then, although he seemed to meditate an attack on Britain, he retreated from the very ocean.

[m] Caius arriving at the ocean, as though intending to war in Britain, and drawing up all his troops along the beach, went on board a trireme, and having launched out a little distance from the land, returned again. And shortly after this, sitting on a lofty throne, and giving a signal to the soldiers as if for battle, and exciting them by his trumpeters, he then suddenly ordered them to gather up sea shells. And having taken such booty, for it would seem that he wanted spoils for the pomp of triumphal honours, he was as highly elated as though he had subdued the very ocean, gave considerable largesses to his soldiers, and carried these shells to Rome, that he might exhibit his spoils to the citizens.

[a] S. 34. [b] Lib. XLIV. ss. 42, 43. An. A.C. 44.
[c] S. 49. [d] Lib. XLIX. s. 38. An. A.C. 35.
[e] Lib. L. s. 24. An. A.C. 32.
[f] Lib. LIII. s. 7. An. A.C. 27. [g] S. 12.
[h] S. 22. [i] S. 25. An. A.C. 26.
[k] Lib. LV. s. 23. A.D. 4.
[l] Lib. LIX. s. 21. A.D. 39.
[m] S. 25. A.D. 40.

Digitized by Google

[a] Κατὰ δὲ τὸν αὐτὸν τοῦτον χρόνον Αὖλος Πλαύτιος, βουλευτὴς λογιμώτατος, ἐς τὴν Βρετλανίαν ἐστράτευσε. Βέρικος γάρ τις, ἐκπεσὼν ἐκ τῆς νήσου κατὰ στάσιν, ἔπεισε τὸν Κλαύδιον δύναμιν ἐς αὐτὴν πέμψαι. καὶ οὗτος ὁ Πλαύτιος στρατηγήσας, τὸ μὲν στράτευμα χαλεπῶς ἐκ τῆς Γαλατίας ἐξήγαγεν. ὡς γὰρ ἔξω τῆς οἰκουμένης στρατεύσοντες ἠγανάκτουν, καὶ οὐ πρότερόν γε αὐτῷ ἐπείσθησαν, πρὶν τὸν Νάρκισσον ὑπὸ τοῦ Κλαυδίου πεμφθέντα, ἀναβῆναί τε ἐπὶ τὸ τοῦ Πλαυτίου βῆμα, καὶ δημηγορῆσαί τι ἐθελῆσαι. Τότε γὰρ πολλῷ που μᾶλλον ἐπ' αὐτῷ ἀχθεσθέντες, οὔτε τι ἐκείνῳ εἰπεῖν ἐπέτρεψαν, συμβοήσαντες ἐξαίφνης τοῦτο δὴ τὸ θρυλλούμενον, Ἰὼ Σατουρνάλια, (ἐπειδήπερ ἐν τοῖς Κρονίοις οἱ δοῦλοι τὸ τῶν δεσποτῶν σχῆμα μεταλαμβάνοντες ἑορτάζουσι) καὶ τῷ Πλαυτίῳ εὐθὺς συνέποντο ἑκούσιοι. Τὴν μὲν οὖν ὁρμὴν χρονίαν διὰ ταῦτ' ἐποιήσαντο. Τρίχῃ δὲ δὴ νεμηθέντες, ὅπως μὴ καθ' ἓν περαιούμενοι κωλυθῶσί ποι προσχεῖν, κἀν τῷ διάπλῳ τὸ μέν τι δυσφορήσαντες, ἐπειδὴ ἐπαλινδρόμησαν, τὸ δὲ ἀναθαρσήσαντες, ὅτι λαμπὰς ἀπὸ τῶν ἀνατολῶν ἀρθεῖσα, πρὸς τὰς δυσμὰς ἧπερ ἔπλεον διέδραμε, κατῆραν ἐς τὴν νῆσον, μηδενὸς σφίσιν ἐναντιωθέντος. οἱ γὰρ Βρετλανοὶ, μὴ προσδοκήσαντες αὐτοὺς δι' ἅπερ ἐπυνθάνοντο ἥξειν, οὐ προσυνελέγησαν. Οὐ μὴν οὐδὲ τότε ἐς χεῖρας αὐτοῖς ἦλθον, ἀλλ' ἔς τε τὰ ἕλη καὶ ἐς τὰς ὕλας κατέφυγον, ἐλπίσαντες σφᾶς ἄλλως κατατρίψειν. ὥσθ', ὅπερ ἐπὶ τοῦ Καίσαρος τοῦ Ἰουλίου ἐγεγόνει, διακενῆς αὐτοὺς ἀναπλεῦσαι.

Ὁ οὖν Πλαύτιος πολλὰ μὲν πράγματα ἀναζητῶν σφᾶς ἔσχεν· ἐπεὶ δὲ εὗρέ ποτε, (ἦσαν δὲ οὐκ αὐτόνομοι, ἀλλ' ἄλλοις βασιλεῦσι προστεταγμένοι) πρῶτον μὲν Καταράτακον, ἔπειτα Τογόδουμνον, Κυνοβελλίνου παῖδας, ἐνίκησεν· αὐτὸς γὰρ ἐτεθνήκει. φυγόντων δὲ ἐκείνων, προσεποιήσατο ὁμολογίᾳ μέρος τι τῶν Βοδούνων ὧν ἐπῆρχον Κατουελλανοὶ ὄντες. κἀνταῦθα φρουρὰν καταλιπὼν, πρόσω ἦει. ὡς δ' ἐπὶ ποταμῷ τινι ἐγένοντο, ὃν οὐκ ᾤοντο οἱ βάρβαροι δυνήσεσθαι τοὺς Ῥωμαίους ἄνευ γεφύρας διαβῆναι, καὶ διὰ τοῦτ' ἀμελέστερόν πως ἐπὶ τῆς ὄχθης αὐτοῦ τῆς κατ' ἀντιπέραν ηὐλίζοντο, πέμπει Κελτοὺς, οἷς ἔθος ἦν καὶ διὰ τῶν ῥοωδεστάτων ῥᾳδίως αὐτοῖς ὅπλοις διανήχεσθαι. καὶ ἐπειδὴ ἐκεῖνοι παρὰ δόξαν τοῖς ἐναντίοις προσπεσόντες, τῶν μὲν ἀνδρῶν οὐδένα ἔβαλλον, τοὺς δ' ἵππους τοὺς τὰ ἅρματα αὐτῶν ἄγοντας ἐτίτρωσκον, κἀκ τούτου ταρατλομένων σφῶν οὐδ' οἱ ἐπιβάται ἀσφαλεῖς εἶναι ἐδύναντο· ἐπιδιέπεμψε τόν τε Οὐεσπασιανὸν τὸν Φλάβιον, τὸν καὶ τὴν μετὰ ταῦτα αὐτοκράτορα ἀρχὴν λαβόντα, καὶ τὸν ἀδελφὸν αὐτοῦ Σαβῖνον ὑποστρατηγοῦντά οἱ· καὶ οὕτω διελθόντες ποι καὶ ἐκεῖνοι τὸν ποταμὸν, συχνοὺς τῶν βαρβάρων μὴ προσδεχομένους ἀπέκτειναν. οὐ μέντοι οἱ λοιποὶ ἔφυγον, ἀλλὰ τῆς ὑστεραίας αὖθις συμβαλόντες σφίσιν, ἀγχώμαλα ἠγωνίσαντο· πρὶν δὴ Γναῖος Ὀσίδιος Γέτας κινδυνεύσας ἁλῶναι, ἔπειθ' οὕτως αὐτῶν ἐκράτησεν, ὥστε καὶ τιμὰς ἐπινικίους, καίπερ οὐχ ὑπατευκὼς, λαβεῖν. ἀναχωρησάντων δ' ἐντεῦθεν τῶν Βρετλανῶν ἐπὶ τὸν Ταμέσαν ποταμὸν, καθ' ὃ ἔς τε τὸν Ὠκεανὸν ἐκβάλλει, πλημμύροντός τε αὐτοῦ λιμνάζει, καὶ ῥᾳδίως αὐτὸν διαβάντων, ἅτε καὶ τὰ στέριφα τά τε εὔπορα τοῦ χωρίου ἀκριβῶς εἰδότων· οἱ Ῥωμαῖοι ἐπακολουθήσαντες σφίσι, ταύτῃ μὲν ἐσφάλησαν, διανηξαμένων δ' αὖθις τῶν Κελτῶν, καὶ τινων ἑτέρων διὰ γεφύρας ὀλίγον ἄνω διελθόντων, πολλαχόθεν τε ἅμα αὐτοῖς προσέμιξαν, καὶ πολλοὺς αὐτῶν κατέκοψαν· τούς τε λοιποὺς ἀπερισκέπτως ἐπιδιώκοντες, ἔς τε ἕλη δυσδιέξοδα ἐσέπεσον, καὶ συχνοὺς ἀπέβαλον.

Διά τε οὖν τοῦτο, καὶ ὅτι καὶ τοῦ Τογοδούμνου φθαρέντος, οἱ Βρετλανοὶ οὐχ ὅσον ἐνέδοσαν, ἀλλὰ καὶ μᾶλλον πρὸς τὴν τιμωρίαν αὐτοῦ ἐπισυνέστησαν, φοβηθεὶς ὁ Πλαύτιος, οὐκέτι περαιτέρω προεχώρησεν, ἀλλ' αὐτός τε τὰ παρόντα διὰ φυλακῆς ἐποιεῖτο, καὶ τὸν Κλαύδιον μετεπέμπετο. εἴρητο γὰρ αὐτῷ, εἴ τι βιαιότεροι γίγνοιτο, τοῦτο ποιῆσαι. καὶ παρασκευή γε ἐπὶ τῆς στρατιᾶς πολλὴ τῶν τε ἄλλων καὶ ἐλεφάντων προσυνείλεκτο. ἐλθούσης δὲ τῆς ἀγγελίας, ὁ Κλαύδιος . . . ἐξεστρατεύσατο· καὶ καταπλεύσας ἐς τὰ Ὄστια, ἐκεῖθεν ἐς Μασσαλίαν παρεκομίσθη. κἀντεῦθεν τὰ μὲν πεζῇ, τὰ δὲ καὶ διὰ τῶν ποταμῶν πορευόμενος, πρός τε τὸν

---

[a] About this same time, Aulus Plautius, a very distinguished senator, marched against Britain. For one Bericus, being driven out of that island by an insurrection, persuaded Claudius to send an army thither. And this Plautius, taking the command, had great difficulty in leading his forces out of Gaul. For the soldiers were highly enraged, as though they were about to make war beyond the habitable world; nor would they obey him until Narcissus, having been sent from Claudius, ascended the tribunal of Plautius and was desirous of addressing them. For then, on this account becoming much more enraged against him, they did not permit him to utter one word; but suddenly shouting out the well-known sound of 'Io Saturnalia,' for the slaves during the festival of Saturn assuming the characters of their masters give themselves up to revelry, they immediately followed Plautius with alacrity. In consequence of these proceedings, they were delayed in commencing their expedition. Being divided at length into three bodies, lest attempting to land all at one point they should be obstructed; and having, during their passage, been somewhat disheartened on one account, namely, because they were driven back, but encouraged on another, because a meteor springing from the east darted across towards the west, whither they were navigating, they landed on the island without opposition. For the Britons, from what they had learned, not expecting that they would come, had not assembled together; nor even when they had arrived did they attack them, but fled to the marshes and woods, hoping to wear them out by delay; and that, as had happened under Julius Cæsar, they would go back without effecting their purpose.

Plautius, therefore, had much difficulty in seeking them out; but when he did discover them, as they were not independent but subject to different kings, he overcame first Cataratacus, then Togodumnus, the sons of Cynobellinus, who was now dead. These taking to flight, he brought a part of the Boduni, who were under the dominion of the Catuellani, to terms of peace. Here leaving a garrison, he proceeded farther. But when they arrived at a certain river, which the barbarians supposed the Romans could not pass without a bridge, and in consequence had taken up their position carelessly on the opposite bank, he sends forward the Celti, who, even armed, were accustomed to swim with ease over the most rapid rivers; who, attacking them contrary to their expectation, wounded not the men indeed, but the horses which drew their chariots; which being thrown into confusion, they who rode therein were no longer secure. Next he sent over Flavius Vespasianus, who afterwards enjoyed the supreme rule, and his brother Sabinus as next in command; these also, having passed the river at a certain place, killed many of the barbarians by surprise. The rest, however, did not fly, but the following day again maintained the conflict nearly on equal terms, until Cneius Osidius Geta, though in imminent danger of being made prisoner, ultimately so completely defeated them, that he received triumphal honours, although he had not yet served the office of consul. The Britons thence retreating to the river Thames, where it disembogues itself into the ocean, and becomes an estuary at high tide, and easily passing it, as they were well acquainted with those parts which were firm and fordable, the Romans pursued them, and on this point failed to overtake them; but the Celti again swimming over, and others passing a little higher up by means of a bridge, they attacked them on every side and cut off many of them; but, rashly pressing on the remainder, they wandered into the pathless marshes, and lost many of their own soldiers.

On this account, therefore, as well as because on the death of Togodumnus the Britons in no wise gave way, but rather banded together to avenge him, Plautius became alarmed, and advanced no farther; but he secured his present acquisitions, and sent for Claudius: for so he had been instructed to do, should aught of greater difficulty arise; since much preparation had been made and even elephants provided for this expedition. On the arrival of such intelligence Claudius ... set out for the seat of war, and sailing to Ostia, he went thence to Massalia, and afterwards, journeying partly by land and partly by the rivers, he arrived at the ocean, and passing over into Britain, there joined the forces which awaited him near the Thames.

[a] Lib. LX ss. 19–23. A.D. 43.

Digitized by Google

Ὠκεανὸν ἀφίκετο, καὶ περαιωθεὶς ἐς τὴν Βρετλανίαν, συνέμιξε τοῖς στρατοπέδοις πρὸς τῷ Ταμέσᾳ ἀναμένουσιν αὐτόν. καὶ παραλαβὼν σφᾶς, ἐκεῖνόν τε ἐπιδιέβη, καὶ τοῖς βαρβάροις πρὸς τὴν ἔφοδον αὐτοῦ συνεστραμμένοις ἐς χεῖρας ἐλθὼν, μάχῃ τε ἐνίκησε, καὶ τὸ Καμουλόδουνον τὸ τοῦ Κυνοβελλίνου βασίλειον εἷλε. Κἀκ τούτου συχνοὺς, τοὺς μὲν ὁμολογίᾳ, τοὺς δὲ καὶ βίᾳ προσαγόμενος, αὐτοκράτωρ πολλάκις ἐπωνομάσθη παρὰ τὰ πάτρια· (οὐ γάρ ἐστιν ἐν οὐδενὶ πλέον ἢ ἅπαξ ἐκ τοῦ αὐτοῦ πολέμου τὴν ἐπίκλησιν ταύτην λαβεῖν·) καὶ τὰ ὅπλα αὐτῶν ἀφελόμενος, ἐκείνους μὲν τῷ Πλαυτίῳ προσέταξεν, ἐντειλάμενός οἱ καὶ τὰ λοιπὰ προσκαταστρέψασθαι· αὐτὸς δὲ ἐς τὴν Ῥώμην ἠπείχθη, τὴν ἀγγελίαν τῆς νίκης διὰ τῶν γαμβρῶν, τοῦ τε Μάγνου καὶ τοῦ Σιλανοῦ, προπέμψας.

Μαθοῦσα δ' ἡ γερουσία τὰ κατειργασμένα, Βρετλανικόν τε αὐτὸν ἐπεκάλεσε, καὶ τὰ ἐπινίκια αὐτῷ πέμψαι ἔδωκε. Πανήγυριν τε ἐτησίαν, καὶ ἀψῖδα τροπαιοφόρον ἐν τῇ πόλει, καὶ ἑτέραν ἐν τῇ Γαλατίᾳ (ὅθεν ἐς τὴν Βρετλανίαν ἐξαναχθεὶς ἐπεραιώθη) γενέσθαι ἐψηφίσαντο· τῷ τε υἱεῖ αὐτοῦ τὴν αὐτὴν ἐπωνυμίαν ἐπέθεσαν, ὥστε καὶ κυρίως τρόπον τινὰ Βρετλανικὸν αὐτὸν ὀνομασθῆναι . . .

[a] Τῆς μὲν οὖν Βρετλανίας οὕτω τότε ἐάλω τινά. μετὰ δὲ ταῦτα, Γαΐου τε Κρίσπου τὸ δεύτερον καὶ Τίτου Στατιλίου ὑπατευόντων, ἦλθέ τε ἐς τὴν Ῥώμην ὁ Κλαύδιος, ἓξ μῆνας ἀποδημήσας, (ἀφ' ὧν ἐκκαίδεκα μόνας ἐν τῇ Βρετλανίᾳ ἡμέρας ἐποίησε) καὶ τὰ νικητήρια ἔπεμψε, τά τε ἄλλα κατὰ τὸ νομιζόμενον πράξας, καὶ τοὺς ἀναβασμοὺς τοὺς ἐν τῷ Καπιτωλίῳ τοῖς γόνασιν ἀναβὰς, ἀναφερόντων αὐτὸν τῶν γαμβρῶν ἑκατέρωθεν. Ἔνειμε δὲ τοῖς μὲν βουλευταῖς τοῖς συνεξετασθεῖσίν οἱ τὰς ἐπινικίους τιμὰς, οὐχ ὅτι τοῖς ὑπατευκόσιν, ὅπερ καὶ ἄλλως ἀφθονώτατα καὶ ἐπὶ τοῖς ἐλαχίστοις ἐποίει· Ῥουφρίῳ δὲ δὴ Πωλλίωνι τῷ ἐπάρχῳ εἰκόνα καὶ ἕδραν ἐν τῷ βουλευτικῷ, ὁσάκις ἂν ἐς τὸ συνέδριον αὐτῷ συνεσίῃ· καὶ ἵνα γε μὴ καινοτομεῖν τι δόξῃ, ἔφη καὶ τὸν Αὔγουστον ἐπὶ Οὐαλερίου τινὸς Λίγυος τοῦτο πεποιηκέναι. Τόν τε Λάκωνα, τὸν πρότερον μὲν τῶν νυκτοφυλάκων ἄρξαντα, τότε δὲ τῶν Γαλατῶν ἐπιτροπεύοντα, τῷ τε αὐτῷ τούτῳ, καὶ προσέτι ταῖς τῶν ὑπατευκότων τιμαῖς ἐσέμνυνε. Διατελέσας δὲ ταῦτα, τὴν πανήγυριν τὴν τῶν νικητηρίων ἐποίησεν, ὑπάτου τινὰ ἐξουσίαν ἐς αὐτὴν λαβών. ἐγίγνετο δὲ ἐν τοῖς δύο ἅμα θεάτροις· καὶ πολλάκις αὐτὸς μὲν ἀπελείπετο τῆς θέας, ἕτεροι δὲ ἀντ' αὐτοῦ ἐπετέλουν αὐτήν. Τῶν δὲ δὴ ἵππων ἐπήγγειλε μὲν ἁμίλλας, ὅσας ἂν ἡμέρα ἐνδέξηται, οὐ μέντοι καὶ πλείους τῶν δέκα ἐγένοντο. Ἄρκτοι τε γὰρ μεταξὺ τοῦ δρόμου αὐτῶν ἐσφάγησαν, καὶ ἀθληταὶ ἠγωνίσαντο· πυρρίχην τε Ἀσιανοὶ παῖδες μετάπεμπτοι ὠρχήσαντο. Καὶ ἄλλην δὲ τινὰ πανήγυριν, ἐπὶ τῇ νίκῃ καὶ αὐτὴν, οἱ περὶ τὴν σκηνὴν τεχνῖται, συγχωρηθὲν σφίσιν ὑπὸ τῆς βουλῆς, ἐποίησαν. Ταῦτα μὲν δὴ διὰ τὰ Βρετλανικὰ ἐπράχθη, καὶ ἵνα γε ἄλλοι ῥᾷον ἐς ὁμολογίαν ἴωσιν, ἐψηφίσθη, τὰς συμβάσεις ἁπάσας, ὅσας ἂν ὁ Κλαύδιος, ἢ καὶ οἱ ἀντιστράτηγοι αὐτοῦ, πρὸς τινὰς ποιήσωνται, κυρίας, ὡς καὶ πρὸς τὴν βουλὴν τόν τε δῆμον, εἶναι.

[b] Ἐν δὲ τῇ Βρετλανίᾳ περιστοιχηθέντος τοῦ Οὐεσπασιανοῦ ὑπὸ τῶν βαρβάρων, καὶ κινδυνεύοντος φθαρῆναι, ὁ Τίτος ὁ υἱὸς αὐτοῦ, περὶ τῷ πατρὶ δείσας, τήν τε περίσχεσιν αὐτῶν παραλόγῳ τόλμῃ διέρρηξε, κἀκ τούτου φεύγοντας σφᾶς ἐπιδιώξας, διέφθειρεν. ὁ δὲ Πλαύτιος, ἀπὸ τοῦ Βρετλανικοῦ πολέμου, ὡς καὶ καλῶς αὐτὸν χειρίσας καὶ κατορθώσας, καὶ ἐπῃνέθη ὑπὸ τοῦ Κλαυδίου, καὶ ἐθριάμβευσε. Καὶ κατὰ τὴν ὁπλομαχίαν πολλοὶ καὶ τῶν ξένων ἀπελευθέρων, καὶ οἱ αἰχμάλωτοι οἱ Βρετλανοὶ ἐμαχέσαντο. καὶ πολλοὺς ὅσους καὶ ἐν τούτῳ εἶδει τῆς θέας ἀνήλισχε, καὶ ἐν τούτῳ ἐσεμνύνετο.

EX XIPHILINO.[c]

[d] Ἐν ᾧ δὲ ταῦτα ἐν τῇ Ῥώμῃ ἐπαίζετο [ὑπὸ τοῦ Νερῶνος], πάθος ἐν Βρετλανίᾳ δεινὸν συνηνέχθη. δύο τε γὰρ πόλεις ἐπορθήθησαν, καὶ

Taking the command, therefore, and crossing the river, he came into conflict with the barbarians who had assembled on his approach, overthrew them in battle, and took Camalodunum, the royal residence of Cynobellinus. After this he brought many into subjection, some by submission, others by force, and was repeatedly hailed emperor contrary to the custom of his country; for no person is allowed to receive this appellation more than once during the same war. And having disarmed them, he placed them under the government of Plautius, commanding him to subdue the remainder. As for himself, he hastened to Rome, sending forward the news of his victory by his sons-in-law Magnus and Silanus.

The senate, on learning what had been achieved, surnamed him Britannicus, granted him a triumph, and voted him annual games, a triumphal arch in the city, and another in Gaul, whence he had passed over into Britain. To his son, also, they gave the same surname, so that the title Britannicus should be, in a manner, peculiarly his own . . . .

[a] A part therefore of Britain being thus subdued, in the consulship of Caius Crispus the second time and Titus Statilius, Claudius, after six months absence, of which he had passed only sixteen days in Britain, returned to Rome, and triumphed; performing all other acts in due order, and, in addition, ascending the steps of the Capitol upon his knees, supported on either side by his sons-in-law. Moreover, he distributed to the senators who had served with him, not exclusively to those of consular dignity, triumphal honours, which at other times, also, he lavished profusely on the most trifling occasions. To Rubrius Pollio his præfect he granted a statue, and a seat in the senate-house as often as he should accompany him thither; and lest he should appear to innovate any wise in this respect, he observed that Augustus had acted in like manner towards one Valerius a Ligurian. Lacon also, who had formerly presided over the nightly guard, and was at that time procurator of Gaul, he dignified with the like and even with consular honours. Having completed these acts, he exhibited triumphal games, assuming for this purpose a certain consular power. These were performed in two theatres at once; he himself was frequently absent from the spectacle, and then others conducted it in his stead. He promised them as many horse-races as the day would admit of, which were not, however, more than ten; for bears also were slaughtered, and wrestlers contended between the courses: and boys sent for out of Asia performed the Pyrrhic dance. And another pageant in celebration of the victory was exhibited by the artizans employed about the theatre, by permission of the senate. Such things were done on account of the Bretannic conquest; and that other nations there might the more readily come to terms, it was decreed that all covenants which Claudius or his legates had made with any of those nations should be as binding as if made by the senate and the people.

[b] In Britain, Vespasian being hemmed in by the barbarians and in imminent danger of being slain, Titus his son, alarmed for his father, dispersed the surrounding enemy with inexpressible courage: and after this, pursuing the fugitives, dispatched them. Plautius, for having ably managed and concluded the Bretannic war, was highly commended by Claudius, and obtained a triumph. And in the gladiatorial combat, many foreign freedmen as well as the British captives fought, numbers of whom he destroyed in this kind of spectacle, and gloried in it.

XIPHILINE.[c]

[d] While he [Nero] thus trifled at Rome, a dreadful calamity happened in Britain; for two cities were destroyed, eighty thousand of the Romans or of their allies were slain, and the island

[a] A.D. 44. [b] S. 30. A.D. 47.
[c] Joannis Xiphilini Epitomes Dionis Cassii lib. LXII. ss. 1—4. Ed. Reimari, Hamburgi, 1752.

Vixit Xiphilinus sæculo duodecimo ineunte.
[d] A.D. 61.

Digitized by Google

μυριάδες ὀκτὼ τῶν τε Ῥωμαίων καὶ τῶν συμμάχων αὐτῶν ἐφθάρησαν, ἥ τε νῆσος ἠλλοτριώθη. καὶ ταῦτα μέντοι πάντα ὑπὸ γυναικὸς αὐτοῖς συνηνέχθη· ὥστε καὶ κατὰ τοῦτο πλείστην αὐτοῖς αἰσχύνην συμβῆναι, ὥς που καὶ τὸ θεῖον τὴν συμφορὰν αὐτοῖς προεσήμαινεν. ἔκ τε γὰρ τοῦ βουλευτηρίου θροῦς νυκτὸς βαρβαρικὸς μετὰ γέλωτος, καὶ ἐκ τοῦ θεάτρου ὀδυρμὸς μετ' οἰμωγῆς ἐξηκούετο, μηδενὸς ἀνθρώπων μήτε φθεγγομένου μήτε στένοντος. οἰκίαι τέ τινες ἐν τῷ Ταμέσᾳ ποταμῷ ὕφυδροι ἐωρῶντο· καὶ ὁ Ὠκεανὸς ὁ μεταξὺ τῆς τε νήσου καὶ τῆς Γαλατίας αἱματώδης ποτὲ ἐν τῇ πλημμυρίδι ηὐξήθη.

Πρόφασις δὲ τοῦ πολέμου ἐγένετο ἡ δήμευσις τῶν χρημάτων, ἃ Κλαύδιος τοῖς πρώτοις αὐτῶν ἐδεδώκει· καὶ ἔδει καὶ ἐκεῖνα, ὥς γε Δεκιανὸς Κάτος ὁ τῆς νήσου ἐπιτροπεύων ἔλεγεν, ἀναπόμπιμα γενέσθαι. διά τε οὖν τοῦτο, καὶ ὅτι ὁ Σενέκας χιλίας σφίσι μυριάδας ἄκουσιν ἐπὶ χρησταῖς ἐλπίσι τόκων δανείσας, ἔπειτ' ἀθρόας τε ἅμα αὐτὰς καὶ βιαίως εἰσέπρασσεν. ἡ δὲ μάλιστα αὐτοὺς ἐρεθίσασα, καὶ ἐναντία Ῥωμαίων πολεμεῖν ἀναπείσασα, τῆς τε προστατείας αὐτῶν ἀξιωθεῖσα, καὶ τοῦ πολέμου παντὸς στρατηγήσασα, Βουνδουΐκα ἦν, γυνὴ Βρεττανίς, γένους τοῦ βασιλείου, μεῖζον ἢ κατὰ γυναῖκα φρόνημα ἔχουσα. αὕτη γὰρ συνήγαγέ τε τὸ στράτευμα ἀμφὶ δώδεκα μυριάδας ὄν, καὶ ἀνέβη ἐπὶ βῆμα ἐκ γῆς ἐλώδους ἐς τὸν Ῥωμαϊκὸν τρόπον πεποιημένον. ἦν δὲ καὶ τὸ σῶμα μεγίστη, καὶ τὸ εἶδος βλοσυρωτάτη, τό, τε βλέμμα δριμυτάτη· καὶ τὸ φθέγμα τραχὺ εἶχε· τήν τε κόμην πλείστην τε καὶ ξανθοτάτην οὖσαν μέχρι τῶν γλουτῶν καθεῖτο, καὶ στρεπτὸν μέγαν χρυσοῦν ἐφόρει· χιτῶνά τε παμποίκιλον ἐνεκεκόλπωτο, καὶ χλαμύδα ἐν αὐτῷ παχεῖαν ἐνεπεπόρπητο. οὕτω μὲν ἀεὶ ἐνεσκευάζετο· τότε δὲ καὶ λόγχην λαβοῦσα, ὥστε καὶ ἐκ τούτου πάντας ἐκπλήττειν, ἔλεξεν ὧδε.

'Πέπεισθε μὲν τοῖς ἔργοις αὐτοῖς, ὅσον ἐλευθερία τῆς δουλείας διαφέρει. ὥστ' εἰ καὶ πρότερόν τις ὑμῶν ὑπὸ τῆς τοῦ κρείττονος ἀπειρίας ἐπαγωγοῖς ἐπαγγέλμασι τῶν Ῥωμαίων ἠπάτητο, ἀλλὰ νῦν γε ἑκατέρου πεπειραμένοι, μεμαθήκατε μὲν ὅσον ἡμαρτήκατε, δεσποτείαν ἐπισπαστὸν πρὸ τῆς πατρίου διαίτης προτιμήσαντες· ἐγνώκατε δὲ, ὅσῳ καὶ πενία ἀδέσποτος πλούτου δουλεύοντος προφέρει. τί μὲν γὰρ οὐ τῶν αἰσχίστων, τί δ' οὐ τῶν ἀλγίστων, ἐξ οὗπερ ἐς τὴν Βρεττανίαν οὗτοι παρέκυψαν, πεπόνθαμεν; οὐ τῶν μὲν πλείστων καὶ μεγίστων κτημάτων ὅλων ἐστερήμεθα, τῶν δὲ λοιπῶν τέλη καταβάλλομεν; οὐ πρὸς τῷ τἆλλα πάντα καὶ νέμειν καὶ γεωργεῖν ἐκείνοις, καὶ τῶν σωμάτων αὐτῶν δασμὸν ἐτήσιον φέρομεν; καὶ πόσῳ κρεῖττον ἦν, ἅπαξ τισὶ πεπρᾶσθαι μᾶλλον, ἢ μετὰ κενῶν ἐλευθερίας ὀνομάτων κατ' ἔτος λυτροῦσθαι; πόσῳ δὲ ἐσφάχθαι καὶ ἀπολωλέναι μᾶλλον, ἢ κεφαλὰς ὑποτελεῖς περιφέρειν; καίτοι τί τοῦτο εἶπον; οὐδὲ γὰρ τὸ τελευτῆσαι παρ' αὐτοῖς ἀζήμιόν ἐστιν, ἀλλ' ἴστε ὅσον καὶ ὑπὲρ τῶν νεκρῶν τελοῦμεν. παρὰ μὲν γὰρ τοῖς ἄλλοις ἀνθρώποις καὶ τοὺς δουλεύοντάς τισιν ὁ θάνατος ἐλευθεροῖ, Ῥωμαίοις δὲ δὴ μόνοις καὶ οἱ νεκροὶ ζῶσι πρὸς τὰ λήμματα. τί δ' ὅτι, κἂν μὴ ἔχῃ τις ἡμῶν ἀργύριον, (πῶς γὰρ, ἢ πόθεν;) ἀποδυόμεθα καὶ σκυλευόμεθα ὥσπερ οἱ φονευόμενοι; τί δ' ἂν προϊόντος τοῦ χρόνου μετριάσαιεν, οὕτως ἡμῖν κατὰ τὴν πρώτην εὐθὺς (ὅτε πάντες καὶ τὰ θηρία τὰ νεάλωτα θεραπεύουσι) προσενηνεγμένοι;'

'Ἡμεῖς δὲ δὴ πάντων τῶν κακῶν τούτων αἴτιοι (ὡς γε τἀληθὲς εἰπεῖν) γεγόναμεν, οἵ τινες αὐτοῖς ἐπιβῆναι τὴν ἀρχὴν τῆς νήσου ἐπεῖρέψαμεν, καὶ οὐ παραχρῆμα αὖθις, ὥσπερ καὶ τὸν Καίσαρα τὸν Ἰούλιον ἐκεῖνον, ἐξηλάσαμεν· οἵ τινες οὐ πόῤῥωθεν σφίσιν, ὥσπερ καὶ τῷ Αὐγούστῳ καὶ τῷ Γαΐῳ τῷ Καλιγόλᾳ, φοβερὸν τὸ πειράσαι τὸν πλοῦν ἐποιήσαμεν. τοιγαροῦν νῆσον τηλικαύτην, μᾶλλον δ' ἤπειρον τρόπον τινὰ περίῤῥυτον νεμόμενοι, καὶ ἰδίαν οἰκουμένην ἔχοντες, καὶ τοσοῦτον ὑπὸ τοῦ Ὠκεανοῦ ἀφ' ἁπάντων τῶν ἄλλων ἀνθρώπων ἀφωρισμένοι, ὥστε καὶ γῆν ἄλλην καὶ οὐρανὸν ἄλλον οἰκεῖν πεπιστεῦσθαι, καί τινας αὐτῶν καὶ τοὺς σοφωτάτους γε μηδὲ τὸ ὄνομα ἡμῶν ἀκριβῶς πρότερον ἐγνωκέναι· κατεφρονήθημεν καὶ κατεπατήθημεν ὑπ' ἀνθρώπων μηδὲν ἄλλο ἢ πλεονεκτεῖν εἰδότων. ἀλλ' εἰ καὶ μὴ πρότερον, νῦν ἔτι, ὦ πολῖται καὶ φίλοι καὶ συγγενεῖς, (πάντας γὰρ ὑμᾶς συγγενεῖς, ἅτε καὶ μιᾶς νήσου οἰκήτορας ὄντας, καὶ ἓν ὄνομα κοινὸν κεκτημένους, νομίζω) became in a state of insurrection. And the more to increase their shame, all this calamity was brought upon them by a woman: indeed the Divinity had in some measure foreboded this disaster; for in the night a barbaric murmuring attended with laughter was heard from the senate-house, and a muttering with lamentation from the theatre, although there was no human being either to clamour or to bewail. Certain dwellings also appeared under water in the river Thames, and the ocean between the island and Gaul flowed with blood at the time of high tide.

---

The cause of the war was the sale of property which Claudius had given up to their chiefs; and which Decianus Catus, the præfect of the island, said it was necessary should be recalled. And to this was to be added, that Seneca having lent them, against their will, a thousand myriads of money in expectation of interest, suddenly and violently called in his loan. She, however, who chiefly excited and urged them to fight against the Romans was Bunduica, who was deemed worthy to command them, and who led them in every battle: a Briton of royal race, and breathing more than female spirit. Having collected, therefore, an army to the number of about one hundred and twenty thousand, she, after the Roman custom, ascended a tribunal made of marshy earth. She was of the largest size, most terrible of aspect, most savage of countenance and harsh of voice; having a profusion of yellow hair which fell down to her hips, and wearing a large golden collar; she had on a party-coloured floating vest drawn close about her bosom, and over this she wore a thick mantle connected by a clasp: such was her usual dress: but at this time she also bore a spear, that thus she might appear more formidable to all; and she spake after this manner:

'You must be convinced by experience how much freedom surpasses slavery; for if any of you formerly, through ignorance of which might be the better, have been deceived by the seducing promises of the Romans; now, having tried both, you must have learnt how much you have erred in esteeming slavery of your own seeking, preferable to the usage of your country: and you must have felt how superior is poverty with liberty, to opulence with thraldom; for what indeed is there most base, what most grievous, that we have not suffered, since these men cast their eyes on Britain? Have we not been despoiled of all our best and amplest possessions? Do we not pay tribute for the remainder? Do we not, in addition to both pasturing our cattle and tilling the ground for them, pay also a yearly tribute even of our very bodies? and how much better were it to be sold to slavery once for all than to be ransomed year after year under the delusive name of liberty; how much better to be slain outright and perish, than to bear about a head subject to perpetual tribute? But why say I this? when even to die is not unattended with some claim on their part, for you are aware of what we pay even for the deceased. Among other men, indeed, death liberates the slave altogether, but to the Romans alone the very dead survive for the purpose of lucre; and, moreover, if none of us possess money, and how or whence could we possess it? we are stripped and spoiled like those who are slain: and what moderation can we expect in future, when even at the very outset, a time when all men treat with kindness even the beasts they have taken, we have been thus used by them?

'But to speak the truth, we ourselves have been the cause of all this, we who at the first suffered them to land on the island, and did not immediately drive them far away, as we did that Julius Cæsar; we, who did not, when they were yet afar off, render even their attempt at landing perilous, as we did to Augustus and Caius Caligula. Wherefore, we, possessing so large an island, or rather an insulated continent, and occupying a world of our own; we, who are so completely separated by the ocean from all others as to be deemed to inhabit another earth, and to live beneath another sky; we, of whose name the best informed among them knew nothing before with any certainty, are despised and trodden under foot by men whose only knowledge is how to cheat others. But if we have not hitherto so done, yet now, oh, countrymen, friends, and relatives, for such I deem you all, inhabitants of one island, and called by

Digitized by Google

τὰ προσήκοντα πράξωμεν, ἕως ἔτι τῆς ἐλευθερίας μνημονεύομεν, ἵνα καὶ τό πρόσρημα καὶ τὸ ἔργον αὐτῆς τοῖς παισὶ καταλίπωμεν. ἂν γὰρ ἡμεῖς τῆς συντρόφου εὐδαιμονίας παντελῶς ἐκλαθώμεθα, τί ποτε ἐκεῖνοι ποιήσουσιν, ἐν δουλείᾳ τραφέντες ;

'Λέγω δὲ ταῦτα οὐχ' ἵνα μισήσητε τὰ παρόντα, (μεμισήκατε γὰρ) οὐδ' ἵνα φοβηθῆτε τὰ μέλλοντα, (πεφόβησθε γὰρ) ἀλλ' ἵνα ἐπαινέσω τε ὑμᾶς, ὅτι καὶ καθ' ἑαυτοὺς πάνθ' ὅσα δεῖ προαιρεῖσθε· καὶ χάριν ὑμῖν γνῶ, ὅτι καὶ ἐμοὶ καὶ ἑαυτοῖς ἑτοίμως συναίρεσθε. φοβεῖσθε δὲ μηδαμῶς τοὺς 'Ρωμαίους· οὔτε γὰρ πλείους ἡμῶν εἰσιν, οὔτ' ἀνδρειότεροι. τεκμήριον * δὲ, ὅτι καὶ κράνεσι καὶ θώραξι καὶ κνημῖσιν ἐσκέπασθε, καὶ προσέτι καὶ σταυρώμασι καὶ τείχεσι καὶ τάφροις ἐσκεύασθε, πρὸς τὸ μηκέτι πάσχειν ἐξ ἐπιδρομῆς τῶν πολεμίων. τοῦτο γὰρ αἱροῦνται μᾶλλον ὑπὸ τῶν φόβων, ἢ τὸ καὶ δρᾶσαί τι προχείρως ὥσπερ ἡμεῖς. τοσαύτῃ γὰρ περιουσίᾳ ἀνδρίας χρώμεθα, ὥστε καὶ τὰς σκηνὰς ἀσφαλεστέρας τῶν τειχῶν, καὶ τὰς ἀσπίδας πολυαρκεστέρας τῆς ἐκείνων πανοπλίας νομίζειν. ἐξ οὗπερ ἡμεῖς μὲν καὶ κρατοῦντες αἱροῦμεν αὐτοὺς, καὶ βιασθέντες ἐκφεύγομεν· κἂν ἄρα καὶ ἀναχωρῆσαί πῃ προελώμεθα, ἐς τοιαῦτα ἕλη καὶ ὄρη καταδυόμεθα, ὥστε μήτε εὑρεθῆναι μήτε ληφθῆναι. ἐκεῖνοι δὲ οὔτε διῶξαί τινα ὑπὸ τοῦ βάρους, οὔτε φυγεῖν δύνανται· κἂν ἄρα καὶ ἐκδράμωσί ποτε, ἐς τε χωρία ἀποδεδειγμένα καταφεύγωσι, κἀνταῦθα ὥσπερ ἐς γαλεάγρας κατακλείονται. ἔν τε οὖν τούτοις παρὰ πολὺ ἡμῶν ἐλαττοῦνται, καὶ ἐκείνοις, ὅτι οὔτε λιμὸν οὔτε δίψος, οὐ ψύχος, οὐ καῦμα ὑποφέρουσιν, ὥσπερ ἡμεῖς, ἀλλ' οἱ μὲν καὶ σκιᾶς καὶ σκέπης, σίτου τε μεμαγμένου καὶ οἴνου καὶ ἐλαίου δέονται, κἂν ἄρα τι τούτων αὐτοὺς ἐπιλίπῃ, διαφθείρονται. ἡμῖν δὲ δὴ πᾶσα μὲν πόα καὶ ῥίζα, σῖτός ἐστι· πᾶς δὲ χυμὸς, ἔλαιον· πᾶν δὲ ὕδωρ, οἶνος· πᾶν δὲ δένδρον, οἰκία. καὶ μὴν καὶ τὰ χωρία ταῦτα, ἡμῖν μὲν συνήθη καὶ σύμμαχα, ἐκείνοις δὲ δὴ καὶ ἄγνωστα καὶ πολέμια. καὶ τοὺς ποταμοὺς ἡμεῖς μὲν γυμνοὶ διανέομεν, ἐκεῖνοι δὲ οὐδὲ πλοίοις ῥᾳδίως περαιοῦνται. ἀλλ' ἴωμεν ἐπ' αὐτοὺς ἀγαθῇ τύχῃ θαῤῥοῦντες· δείξωμεν αὐτοῖς ὅτι λαγωοὶ καὶ ἀλώπεκες ὄντες κυνῶν καὶ λύκων ἄρχειν ἐπιχειροῦσιν.'

Ταῦτα εἰποῦσα, λαγὼν μὲν ἐκ τοῦ κόλπου προήκατο μαντείᾳ τινὶ χρωμένη, καὶ ἐπειδὴ ἐν αἰσίῳ σφίσιν ἔδραμε, τό, τε πλῆθος πᾶν ἡσθὲν ἀνεβόησε, καὶ ἡ Βουνδουΐκα τὴν χεῖρα ἐς τὸν οὐρανὸν ἀνατείνασα εἶπε, 'Χάριν τε σοὶ ἔχω, ὦ 'Ανδράστη, καὶ προσεπικαλοῦμαί σε γυνὴ γυναῖκα, οὐκ Αἰγυπτίων ἀχθοφόρων ἄρχουσα, ὡς Νίτωκρις, οὐδ' 'Ασσυρίων τῶν ἐμπόρων, ὡς Σεμίραμις, (καὶ γὰρ ταῦτ' ἤδη παρὰ τῶν 'Ρωμαίων μεμαθήκαμεν) οὐ μὴν οὐδὲ 'Ρωμαίων αὐτῶν, (ὡς πρότερον μὲν Μεσσαλίνα, ἔπειτ' 'Αγριππίνα· νῦν δὲ καὶ Νέρων, ὄνομα μὲν ἀνδρὸς ἔχει, ἔργῳ δὲ γυνή ἐστι· σημεῖον δὲ, ᾄδει καὶ κιθαρίζει, καὶ καλλωπίζεται·) ἀλλὰ ἀνδρῶν Βρετλανῶν, γεωργεῖν μὲν ἢ δημιουργεῖν οὐκ εἰδότων, πολεμεῖν δὲ ἀκριβῶς μεμαθηκότων, καὶ τά τε ἄλλα πάντα κοινὰ, καὶ παῖδας καὶ γυναῖκας κοινὰς νομιζόντων· καὶ διὰ τοῦτο καὶ ἐκείνων, τὴν αὐτὴν τοῖς ἄῤῥεσιν ἀρετὴν ἐχουσῶν. τοιούτων οὖν ἀνδρῶν καὶ τοιούτων γυναικῶν βασιλεύουσα, προσεύχομαί τέ σοι καὶ αἰτῶ νίκην καὶ σωτηρίαν καὶ ἐλευθερίαν κατ' ἀνδρῶν ὑβριστῶν, ἀδίκων, ἀπλήστων, ἀνοσίων· εἴ γε καὶ ἄνδρας χρὴ καλεῖν ἀνθρώπους ὕδατι θερμῷ λουομένους, ὄψα σκευαστὰ ἐσθίοντας, οἶνον ἄκρατον πίνοντας, μύρῳ ἀλειφομένους, μαλθακῶς κοιμωμένους, μετὰ μειρακίων, καὶ τούτων ἐξώρων, καθεύδοντας, κιθαρῳδῷ, καὶ τούτῳ κακῷ, δουλεύοντας. μὴ γάρτοι μὴ ἐμοῦ, μήθ' ὑμῶν ἔτι βασιλεύσειεν ἡ Νερωνὶς, ἡ Δομιτία, ἀλλ' ἐκείνη μὲν 'Ρωμαίων ἄδουσα δεσποζέτω. καὶ γὰρ ἄξιοι τοιαύτῃ γυναικὶ δουλεύειν, ἧς τοσοῦτον ἤδη χρόνον ἀνέχονται τυραννούσης. ἡμῶν δὲ σὺ, ὦ δέσποινα, ἀεὶ μόνη προστατοίης.'

Τοιαῦτα ἄττα ἡ Βουνδουΐκα δημηγορήσασα, ἐπῆγε τοῖς 'Ρωμαίοις τὴν στρατιάν. ἔτυχον γὰρ ἄναρχοι ὄντες, διὰ τὸ Παυλῖνον τὸν ἡγεμόνα σφῶν εἰς νῆσόν τινα Μώνναν ἀγχοῦ τῆς Βρετλανίας κειμένην ἐπιστρατεῦσαι. διὰ τοῦτο πόλεις τε δύο 'Ρωμαϊκὰς ἐξεπόρθησε καὶ διήρπασε, καὶ φόνον ἀμύθητον, ὡς ἔφην, εἰργάσατο· τοῖς τε ἁλισκομένοις ἀνθρώποις ὑπ' αὐτῶν οὐδὲν τῶν δεινοτάτων ἐστὶν ὅ, τι οὐκ ἐγίνετο. καὶ ὃ δὴ δεινότατον καὶ θηριωδέστατον ἔπραξαν· τὰς γὰρ γυναῖκας τὰς εὐγενεστάτας καὶ εὐπρεπεστάτας, γυμνὰς ἐκρέμασαν, καὶ τούς τε μαστοὺς αὐτῶν περιέτεμον, καὶ τοῖς one common name, let us act as becomes us while we have yet a recollection of liberty, that we may leave both its name and its reality to our children: for if we are wholly forgetful of that blessedness in which we have been nurtured, what then will they do who have been nurtured in slavery?

---

'I say these things, not that you may abhor the present circumstances, for you have long abhorred them, nor that you may dread those which are future, for you have long dreaded them; but that I may applaud you for choosing of yourselves to do all that behoves you, and thank you that you readily succour both me and yourselves. Dread not the Romans in any wise: for they are neither more in number nor braver than ourselves: and the proof *is, that you are armed with helmets, breastplates, and greaves, and moreover are provided with stockades, and walls, and ditches, so as no longer to suffer from the secret incursions of the enemy, for such they prefer making, through their fears, to fighting, as we do, openly: indeed, we are indued with courage so superior, that we deem our tents more secure than their walls, and our shields a better defence than their complete armour. Wherefore, when superior in battle we capture them; when defeated we flee far away: and if we choose to retreat to any place, we hide ourselves in marshes and mountains where we can neither be discovered nor taken; whereas they, from the weight of their armour, are neither able to pursue others nor to escape themselves; and should they at any time effect their escape, they could fly only to places well known, and there be inclosed as in a toil. In such things then they are far inferior to us, as well as in these; that they can neither endure hunger nor thirst, nor cold nor heat as we do: moreover, they stand so much in need of shade and shelter, pounded corn, wine, and oil, that if one of these things fail them, they perish; while to us every herb and root is food, every juice is oil, every stream is wine, and every tree an house: again, to us these places are familiar and friendly, to them strange and hostile; we swim the rivers naked, they can hardly pass them in boats. Wherefore confiding in our good fortune, let us go against them, and let us shew them that, being hares and foxes, they strive for the mastery over dogs and wolves.'

Having thus spoken, she let loose a hare from her bosom, using it as a kind of omen; and when it ran propitiously for them, the whole multitude, rejoicing, gave a shout; and Bunduica, extending her hand toward heaven, exclaimed: 'I give thee thanks, Andraste; and I, a female, invoke thee, a female also; neither ruling over the burthen-bearing Egyptians, like Nitocris, nor over the Syrian merchants, like Semiramis, for such things we have already learnt from the Romans, nor indeed over the Romans themselves, as did first Messalina, then Agrippina, and at present Nero, who has indeed the name of a man, but is in act a woman, a proof of which is that he sings and plays on the harp and beautifies his person; but ruling over British men, unskilled indeed in husbandry or handicraft, but who have thoroughly learned to fight, deeming all other things common, and even children and wives common also, who in consequence display equal courage with their husbands. Reigning, therefore, over such men and such women, I pray and entreat thee for victory and security and liberty in their behalf, against men who are revilers, unjust, insatiable, impious; if forsooth we must give the title of men to such as bathe in tepid water, live on dressed meats, drink undiluted wine, anoint themselves with spikenard, repose luxuriously, lying with boys and those no longer youthful, and are charmed by the strains of an harper, and he a wretched one. Let not, then, a Neronia or a Domitia tyrannize over me or you; but let such a songstress rule the Romans, for they deserve to be enslaved to that woman whose tyranny they have so long endured; but mayest thou, O queen, alone have dominion over us for ever!'

Having thus harangued, Bunduica led her army against the Romans, who were at that time without a chief, because Paulinus, their commander, was warring against Mona, a certain island adjacent to Britain. Wherefore she overthrew and plundered two Roman cities, and there, as I have said, wrought indescribable slaughter: as to the male captives, there was nothing of the most dreadful kind which was not inflicted upon στόμασι σφῶν προσέῤῥαπτον, ὅπως ὡς καὶ ἐσθίουσαι αὐτοὺς ὁρῷντο· καὶ μετὰ τοῦτο πασσάλοις ὀξέσι διὰ παντὸς τοῦ σώματος κατὰ μῆκος ἀνέπειραν· καὶ ταῦτα πάντα θύοντές τε ἅμα, καὶ ἑστιώμενοι, ὑβρίζοντες, ἔν τε τοῖς ἄλλοις σφῶν ἱεροῖς καὶ ἐν τῷ τῆς Ἀνδάτης μάλιστα ἄλσει ἐποίουν. οὕτω γὰρ καὶ τὴν νίκην ὠνόμαζον, καὶ ἔσεβον αὐτὴν περιττότατα.

Digitized by Google

Ὁ δὲ Παυλῖνος, ἔτυχε μὲν ἤδη τὴν Μώνναν παραστησάμενος· πυθόμενος δὲ τὴν Βρετλανικὴν συμφορὰν, ἀπέπλευσεν εὐθὺς ἐς αὐτὴν ἐκ τῆς Μώννης, καὶ διακινδυνεῦσαι μὲν αὐτίκα πρὸς τοὺς βαρβάρους οὐκ ἤθελε, τό, τε πλῆθος αὐτῶν καὶ τὴν ἀπόνοιαν φοβούμενος, ἀλλ' ἐς ἐπιτηδειότερον καιρὸν τὴν μάχην ὑπερετίθετο. ἐπεὶ δὲ σίτου τε ἐσπάνιζε, καὶ οἱ βάρβαροι ἐγκείμενοι οὐκ ἀνίεσαν, ἠναγκάσθη καὶ παρὰ γνώμην αὐτοῖς συμβαλεῖν. ἡ μὲν οὖν Βουνδουΐκα ἐς τρεῖς καὶ εἴκοσι μυριάδας ἀνδρῶν στράτευμα ἔχουσα, αὐτὴ μὲν ἐφ' ἅρματος ὠχεῖτο, τοὺς δ' ἄλλους ὡς ἑκάστους διέταξεν. ὁ δὲ δὴ Παυλῖνος μήτε ἀντιπαρατεῖναί οἱ τὴν φάλαγγα δυνηθείς, (οὐδὲ γὰρ οὐδ' εἰ ἐφ' ἕνα ἐτάχθησαν, ἐξικνοῦντο· τοσοῦτον ἠλαττοῦντο τῷ πλήθει·) μήτ' αὖ καθ' ἕνα συμβαλεῖν, μὴ καὶ περιστοιχηθεὶς κατακοπῇ, τολμήσας· τριχῇ τε ἔνειμε τὸν στρατὸν, ὅπως πολλαχόθεν ἅμα μάχοιντο, καὶ ἐπύκνωσεν ἕκαστον τῶν μερῶν, ὥστε δύσρηκτον εἶναι. συντάττων δ' αὐτοὺς καὶ καθιστὰς προσπαρῄνει, λέγων·

'Ἄγετε ἄνδρες συστρατιῶται, ἄγετε ἄνδρες Ῥωμαῖοι, δείξατε τοῖς ὀλέθροις τούτοις, ὅσον καὶ δυστυχοῦντες αὐτῶν προφέρομεν. αἰσχρὸν γὰρ ἐστιν ὑμῖν, ἃ μικρῷ πρόσθεν ὑπ' ἀρετῆς ἐκτήσασθε, νῦν ἀκλεῶς ἀπολέσαι· πολλάκις τοι τῶν νῦν παρόντων ἐλάττους ὄντες, πολὺ πλείονας ἀντιπάλους καὶ ὑμεῖς αὐτοὶ καὶ οἱ πατέρες ὑμῶν ἐνίκησαν. μήτ' οὖν τὸ πλῆθος αὐτῶν φοβηθῆτε καὶ τὴν νεωτεροποιΐαν, (ἐκ γὰρ ἀόπλου καὶ ἀμελετήτου προπετείας θρασύνονται·) μήθ' ὅτι πόλεις τινὰς ἐμπεπρήκασιν· (οὐ γὰρ κατὰ κράτος οὐδὲ ἐκ μάχης, ἀλλὰ τὴν μὲν προδοθεῖσαν, τὴν δὲ ἐκλειφθεῖσαν εἶλον·) ἀνθ' ὧν νῦν τὴν προσήκουσαν παρ' αὐτῶν δίκην λάβετε· ἵνα καὶ τοῖς ἔργοις αὐτοῖς ἐκμάθωσιν, οἵους ὄντας ὑμᾶς οἷοι ὄντες ἠδικήκασι.'

Ταῦτά τισιν εἰπὼν, ἐφ' ἑτέρους ἦλθε, καὶ ἔφη· 'Νῦν καιρὸς, ὦ συστρατιῶται, προθυμίας, νῦν τόλμης. ἂν τήμερον ἄνδρες ἀγαθοὶ γένησθε, καὶ τὰ προειμένα ἀναλήψεσθε· ἂν τούτων κρατήσητε, οὐκ ἔτ' οὐδεὶς ὑμῖν οὐδὲ τῶν ἄλλων ἀντιστήσεται· διὰ μιᾶς τοιαύτης μάχης, καὶ τὰ ὑπάρχοντα βεβαιώσεσθε, καὶ τὰ λοιπὰ προσκαταστρέψεσθε. πάντες γὰρ καὶ οἱ ἄλλοθί που ὄντες στρατιῶται ζηλώσουσιν ὑμᾶς, καὶ ἐχθροὶ φοβηθήσονται. ὥστε ἐν ταῖς χερσὶν ἔχοντες, ἢ πάντων ἀνθρώπων ἀδεῶς ἄρχειν, ὧν καὶ οἱ πατέρες ὑμῶν κατέλιπον, καὶ αὐτοὶ ὑμεῖς προσεπεκτήσασθε, ἢ πάντας αὐτῶν στερηθῆναι· ἔλεσθε ἐλεύθεροι εἶναι, ἄρχειν, πλουτεῖν, εὐδαιμονεῖν μᾶλλον, ἢ τἀναντία αὐτῶν ῥαθυμήσαντες παθεῖν.'

Τοιαῦτα δὲ καὶ τούτοις εἰπὼν, ἐπὶ τοὺς τρίτους ἐπιπαρῆλθε, καὶ ἔλεξε καὶ ἐκείνοις· 'Ἠκούσατε μὲν οἷα ἡμᾶς οἱ κατάρατοι οὗτοι δεδράκασι, μᾶλλον δὲ ἔνια αὐτῶν καὶ εἴδετε· ὥσθ' ἕλεσθε πότερον καὶ αὐτοὶ τὰ αὐτὰ ἐκείνοις παθεῖν, καὶ προσέτι καὶ ἐκπεσεῖν παντελῶς ἐκ τῆς Βρετλανίας, ἢ κρατήσαντες καὶ τοῖς ἀπολωλόσι τιμωρῆσαι, καὶ τοῖς ἄλλοις ἀνθρώποις ἅπασι παράδειγμα ποιῆσαι καὶ πρὸς τὸ πειθαρχοῦν εὐμενοῦς ἐπιεικείας, καὶ πρὸς τὸ νεωτερίζον ἀναγκαίας τραχύτητος. μάλιστα μὲν οὖν ἔγωγε νικήσειν ἡμᾶς ἐλπίζω, καὶ τῇ παρὰ τῶν θεῶν συμμαχίᾳ, (τοῖς γὰρ ἀδικουμένοις ὡς τὸ πολὺ συναίρονται) καὶ τῇ πατρῴᾳ ἡμῶν ἀνδρίᾳ, (Ῥωμαίους τε ὄντας, καὶ ταῖς ἀρεταῖς ἁπάντων ἀνθρώπων κεκρατηκότα) καὶ ταῖς ἐμπειρίαις, (καὶ γὰρ αὐτοὺς τούτους, τοὺς νῦν ἀντικαθεστῶτας, ἡττήσαντες κεχειρώμεθα) τῷ τε ἀξιώματι, (οὐ γὰρ ἀντιπάλοις τισὶν, ἀλλὰ δούλοις ἡμετέροις συμβαλοῦμεν, οὓς καὶ ἐλευθέρους καὶ αὐτονόμους ὄντας εἰάσαμεν.) ἂν δὲ δὴ παρ' ἐλπίδα τι συμβῇ, (οὐδὲ γὰρ τοῦτ' εἰπεῖν ὀκνήσω) ἄμεινόν ἐστι, μαχομένους ἡμᾶς ἀνδρείως πεσεῖν, ἢ ἁλόντας ἀνασκολοπισθῆναι, τὰ σπλάγχνα τὰ ἑαυτῶν ἐκτμηθέντα ἰδεῖν, πασσάλοις διαπύροις ἀναπαρῆναι, καὶ ὕδατι ζέοντι τηκομένους ἀπολέσθαι, καθάπερ ἐς θηρία τινὰ ἄγρια, them. They practised, indeed, whatever was most revolting and savage; for they hung up their noblest and most beautiful women naked, cut off their breasts, and sewed them to their mouths, that they might appear to be themselves eating them, and afterwards transfixed them at full length on sharp stakes. And all this was done in mockery, while they were sacrificing and banqueting in their several sacred places, but more especially in the grove of Andate, for so they denominated Victory, whom they venerated supremely.

---

But it happened that Paulinus had now subdued Mona, and, having heard of the disaster in Britain, he forthwith sailed back thither from Mona: he was unwilling indeed to risk the chance of a battle immediately against the barbarians, dreading their number and fury; wherefore he deferred the conflict to a more fitting opportunity. But when he was in want of provisions, and the barbarians, pressing forward, allowed him no respite, he was compelled to attack them contrary to his intention. Bunduica, therefore, having an army amounting to two hundred and thirty thousand men, herself rode on a car, and drew up the others singly. Paulinus, however, was neither able to extend his phalanx in opposition to them; for he could not have equalled them had he drawn up his men singly, so much inferior were they in number; nor did he dare to engage in one compact body, lest he should be surrounded and cut to pieces: he therefore divided his army into three bodies, that they might fight in several places at once, and closed up each of the divisions in such wise that they could not be broken through: and, having drawn up and posted them, he exhorted them, saying:

'Come on, fellow soldiers! Come on, Romans! Shew these pests how much, even when in desperate circumstances, we surpass them. It were disgraceful to you ingloriously to lose those things now which you have recently obtained by your valour; for often, truly, when less in number than at present, both you yourselves and your fathers have vanquished adversaries far more numerous. Be not alarmed, therefore, at their multitudes nor at their desire of revolt; for they are daring only in consequence of their unarmed and inconsiderate rashness; nor at their having burnt certain of our cities, which they have not taken by force or by battle; for one they gained through treachery, and the other was abandoned: but for such acts now wreak on them becoming vengeance, that they may learn in very deed, who, when compared with themselves, are the men they have injured.'

Having thus said to some, he passed on to others, and addressed them: 'Now, fellow soldiers, is the season for exertion and for valour. This day only be courageous, and you will retrieve your losses: for if you conquer these, no others will any longer resist you; by this single battle you will secure your present advantages, and bring into subjection what remains to be subdued; because all other soldiers, wherever they may be, will emulate your conduct, and your foes will be daunted: so that it being in your hands, either, fearless of all men, to retain whatever your fathers have left or yourselves have acquired, or to be deprived of it altogether; make your choice to be free, to rule, to be rich and to be happy, rather than, through your want of exertion, to endure the contrary.'

Having thus addressed these, he advanced to the third body, and harangued them also, after this manner: 'You have heard what these accursed people have done to us, or rather, indeed, you have seen some of their actions; choose, therefore, whether you will endure the like, and, moreover, retreat wholly from Britain, or, vanquishing them, whether you will both avenge the departed, and afford to all other men an example of gracious indulgence to obedience, and of necessary severity to revolt. Firmly, indeed, do I hope that we shall conquer; first by the assistance of the Gods, who for the most part succour the injured; then by our native courage, inasmuch as we are Romans, and have long excelled all men by our valour: again by our experience, for these very persons who now oppose us we have already vanquished; lastly by our dignity, for we shall not contend with rivals, but with slaves whom we have suffered to be free and uncontrolled. However, should any thing contrary to our hope arise, for this I will not hesitate to advert to, it is better to die fighting like men than to be captured and impaled, to see our own entrails torn out and transfixed on burning stakes, to be wasted away in boiling ἄνομα, ἀνόσια, ἐμπεπτωκότας. ἢ οὖν περιγενώμεθα αὐτῶν, ἢ ἐνταῦθα ἀποθάνωμεν, καλὸν τὸ μνημεῖον τὴν Βρετλανίαν ἔξομεν, κἂν πάντες οἱ λοιποὶ Ῥωμαῖοι ἐξ αὐτῆς ἐκπέσωσι. τοῖς γὰρ σώμασι τοῖς ἡμετέροις πάντως αὐτὴν ἀεὶ καθέξομεν.'

Digitized by Google

Τοιαῦτα καὶ παραπλήσια τούτοις εἰπὼν, ἦρετο τὸ σημεῖον τῆς μάχης· κἀκ τούτου συνῆλθον, οἱ μὲν βάρβαροι, κραυγῇ τε πολλῇ καὶ ᾠδαῖς ἀπειλητικαῖς χρώμενοι· οἱ δὲ Ῥωμαῖοι σιγῇ καὶ κόσμῳ, μέχρις οὗ ἐς ἀκοντίου βολὴν ἀφίκοντο. ἐνταῦθα δὲ ἤδη βάδην τῶν πολεμίων προσιόντων σφίσιν, ἐξάραντες ἅμα ἀπὸ συνθήματος, ἐπέδραμον αὐτοῖς ἀνὰ κράτος, καὶ ἐν μὲν τῇ προσμίξει ῥᾳδίως τὴν ἀντίταξιν σφῶν διέρρηξαν· περισχεθέντες δὲ τῷ πλήθει, πανταχόθεν ἅμα ἐμάχοντο. καὶ ἦν ὁ ἀγωνισμὸς αὐτῶν πολύτροπος. τοῦτο μὲν γὰρ οἱ ψιλοὶ τοὺς ψιλοὺς ἀντέβαλλον, τοῦτο δὲ, οἱ ὁπλῖται τοῖς ὁπλίταις ἀνθίσταντο, οἵ τε ἱππεῖς τοῖς ἱππεῦσι συνεφέροντο, καὶ πρὸς τὰ ἅρματα τῶν βαρβάρων οἱ τοξόται τῶν Ῥωμαίων ἀντηγωνίζοντο. τούς τε γὰρ Ῥωμαίους οἱ βάρβαροι, ῥύμῃ τοῖς ἅρμασι προσπίπτοντες, ἀνέτρεπον, καὶ αὐτοὶ ὑπὸ τῶν τοξευμάτων, ἅτε καὶ δίχα ϑωράκων μαχόμενοι, ἀνεστέλλοντο· ἱππεύς τε πεζὸν ἀνέτρεπε, καὶ πεζὸς ἱππέα κατέβαλλε· πρός τε τὰ ἅρματα συμφραξάμενοί τινες ἐχώρουν, καὶ ἄλλοι ὑπ' αὐτῶν ἐσκεδάννυντο· τούς τε τοξότας οἱ μὲν ὁμόσε σφίσιν ἰόντες ἔτρεπον, οἱ δὲ πόρρωθεν ἐφυλάσσοντο· καὶ ταῦτα οὐ καθ' ἕν, ἀλλὰ τριχῇ πάνθ' ὁμοίως ἐγίνετο. ἠγωνίσαντο δὲ ἐπὶ πολὺ ὑπὸ τῆς αὐτῆς ἀμφότεροι προθυμίας καὶ τόλμης. τέλος δὲ ὀψέ ποτε οἱ Ῥωμαῖοι ἐνίκησαν, καὶ πολλοὺς μὲν ἐν τῇ μάχῃ, καὶ πρὸς ταῖς ἁμάξαις, τῇ τε ὕλῃ, κατεφόνευσαν, πολλοὺς δὲ καὶ ζῶντας εἷλον. συχνοὶ δ' οὖν καὶ διέφυγον, καὶ παρεσκευάζοντο μὲν ὡς καὶ αὖθις μαχούμενοι. ἀποθανούσης δὲ ἐν τούτῳ τῆς Βουνδουΐκης νόσῳ, ἐκείνην μὲν δεινῶς ἐπένθησαν, καὶ πολυτελῶς ἔθαψαν· αὐτοὶ δ' ὡς καὶ τότε ὄντως ἡττηθέντες, διεσκεδάσθησαν. καὶ τὰ μὲν Βρετλανικὰ ἐπὶ τοσοῦτον.

[a] Ἦτε γὰρ τῶν ἀνθρώπων εὔνοια πολλὴ ἦν πρὸς αὐτὸν [Οὐεσπασιανὸν], ἡ γὰρ ἐκ τῆς Βρετλανίας δόξα, καὶ ἡ ἐκ τοῦ ἐν χερσὶ πολέμου εὔκλεια, τό, τε ἐπιεικὲς καὶ φρόνιμον αὐτοῦ, πρὸς ἐπιθυμίαν σφᾶς ἦγεν τῆς παρ' αὐτοῦ προστατείας.

[b] Κἀν τούτῳ πολέμου αὖθις ἐν τῇ Βρετλανίᾳ γενομένου, τά τε τῶν ἐκεῖ πολεμίων Γναῖος Ἰούλιος Ἀγρικόλας πάντα κατέδραμε. καὶ πρῶτός γε Ῥωμαίων, ὧν ἡμεῖς ἴσμεν, ἔγνω τοῦθ' ὅτι ἡ Βρετλανία περίῤῥυτός ἐστι. στρατιῶται γάρ τινες στασιάσαντες, καὶ ἑκατοντάρχους χιλίαρχόν τε φονεύσαντες, ἐς πλοῖα κατέφυγον· καὶ ἐξαναχθέντες περιέπλευσαν τὰ πρὸς ἑσπέραν αὐτῆς, ὥς που τό, τε κῦμα καὶ ὁ ἄνεμος αὐτοὺς ἔφερε· καὶ ἔλαθον ἐκ τοῦ ἐπὶ θάτερα, πρὸς τὰ στρατόπεδα τὰ ταύτῃ ὄντα προσχόντες. κἀκ τούτου καὶ ἄλλους ὁ Ἀγρικόλας πειράσοντας τὸν περίπλουν πέμψας, ἔμαθε καὶ παρ' ἐκείνων ὅτι νῆσός ἐστιν. ἐν μὲν τῇ Βρετλανίᾳ ταῦτ' ἐγένετο, καὶ ἀπ' αὐτῶν ὁ μὲν Τίτος αὐτοκράτωρ τὸ πεντεκαιδέκατον ἐπεκλήθη.

[c] Τότε δὴ τότε τοὺς κρατίστους τῶν στρατηγῶν ὁ Ἀδριανὸς ἐπ' αὐτοὺς [τοὺς Ἰουδαίους] ἔπεμψεν, ὧν πρῶτος Ἰούλιος Σεβῆρος ὑπῆρχεν, ἀπὸ Βρετλανίας, ἧς ἦρχεν, ἐπὶ τοὺς Ἰουδαίους σταλείς.

[d] Ἐγένοντο δὲ καὶ πόλεμοί τινες αὐτῷ [τῷ Κομμόδῳ] πρὸς τοὺς ὑπὲρ τὴν Δακίαν βαρβάρους, ἐν οἷς ὅ, τε Ἀλβῖνος καὶ ὁ Νίγρος, οἱ τῷ αὐτοκράτορι Σεβήρῳ μετὰ ταῦτα ἀντιπολεμήσαντες, εὐδοκίμησαν· μέγιστος δὲ ὁ Βρετλανικός. τῶν γὰρ ἐν τῇ νήσῳ ἐθνῶν ὑπερβεβηκότων τὸ τεῖχος τὸ διορίζον αὐτούς τε καὶ τὰ τῶν Ῥωμαίων στρατόπεδα, καὶ πολλὰ κακουργούντων, στρατηγόν τέ τινα μετὰ τῶν στρατιωτῶν οὓς εἶχε κατακοψάντων, φοβηθεὶς ὁ Κόμμοδος, Μάρκελλον Οὔλπιον ἐπ' αὐτοὺς ἔπεμψεν. οὗτος δὲ ὁ ἀνὴρ, μέτριος καὶ εὐτελὴς ὤν, στρατιωτικῶς τε ἀεὶ καὶ περὶ τὴν τροφὴν καὶ περὶ πάντα τἄλλα ζῶν, ὅτε ἐπολέμει, ὑψηλόφρων καὶ φρονηματώδης ἐγίγνετο, χρημάτων τε διαφανῶς ἀδωρότατος ἦν, οὐ μὴν καὶ ἡδὺς τὸ ἦθος ἢ φιλάνθρωπος. ἀϋπνότατος δὲ τῶν στρατηγῶν γενόμενος, καὶ τοὺς ἄλλους τοὺς συνόντας αὐτῷ ἐγρηγορέναι βουλόμενος, δώδεκα γραμματεῖα, οἷά γε ἐκ φιλύρας ποιεῖται, καθ' ἑκάστην ἑσπέραν ὡς εἰπεῖν συνέγραφε, καὶ προσέτι τέ τινι, water, as if we had fallen among certain savage, lawless, unfeeling beasts. Either, then, let us subdue them, or let us die on the spot; we shall have Britain, as a conspicuous monument, even if all other Romans are driven from it; for with our bodies we shall wholly embrace it for ever.'

Having uttered these and similar words, he raised the signal for battle: and immediately they advanced towards each other; the barbarians with loud clamour and songs of defiance; but the Romans with silence and order, until they came within a javelin's cast; when the enemy now proceeding slowly onward, they gave the signal all together, according to previous arrangement, and rushed violently upon them, and in the shock easily broke through their array; then being hemmed in by the multitude, they fought desperately at the same time on all sides. Their conflict was various, for it was thus: here light-armed opposed light-armed: there heavy-armed contended with heavy-armed: horse encountered horse: and the Roman archers fought against the chariots of the barbarians: for the barbarians, falling on the Romans, overthrew them with the rushing of their chariots; and these, as their men were fighting without breastplates, were driven back by the flights of arrows; horseman discomfited footman, and footman overthrew horseman; some, in compact bodies, dashed against the chariots, others were dispersed by them; some, advancing in troops against the archers, put them to flight; others saved themselves by keeping aloof: and this occurred not in one, but in three several places at once. For a long while each contended with equal spirit and boldness. Finally, though late, the Romans conquered; they killed numbers in the fight, and near the waggons, and in a wood; they also took many alive. Great numbers, too, escaped and made ready again as if for battle. But about this time Bunduica dying by disease, they bewailed her sorely, and buried her with great funereal splendou : and as if they were now really discomfited, they became completely dispersed. Thus much, therefore, concerning the affairs of Britain.

[a] There was in all men much kind feeling towards him [Vespasian]; and his glory derived from Britain as well as from the present war, together with his equity and prudence, induced them to desire that he should have rule over them.

[b] At this time also a war again broke out in Britain, and Cnæus Julius Agricola, having overrun the whole district of the enemy, was. as far as we know, the first of the Romans who discovered that Britain was surrounded by the ocean; for certain soldiers, having revolted and killed their centurions and tribune, fled to the ships, and putting to sea, sailed round the western part of the island, as the wind and tide carried them; and they landed inadvertently on the opposite side where a Roman camp was situated. Then Agricola, having sent others to explore the same course, learnt from them also that it was an island. These things occurred in Britain; in consequence of which Titus, for the fifteenth time, was hailed emperor.

[c] Then at last Adrian dispatched against them [the Jews] the most courageous of his generals, of whom the chief was Julius Severus, who was sent from Britain, where he had the command, against the Jews.

[d] Commodus was also engaged in several wars with the barbarians who dwell beyond Dacia; in which Albinus and Niger, who afterwards fought against the emperor Severus, both gained great reputation: the Britannic war, however, was the greatest of these. For some of the nations within that island having passed over the wall which divided them from the Roman stations, and, besides killing a certain commander with his soldiers, having committed much other devastation, Commodus became alarmed, and sent Marcellus Ulpius against them. This man was moderate and sparing, and though living always like a common soldier, as well in his food as in every other respect, when on service, he was both high-minded and courageous; it was manifest that he was not to be corrupted by gifts; neither, indeed, was he affable nor kind in his manners. He

[a] Lib. LXV. s. 8. A.D. 69.
[b] Lib. LXVI. s. 20. A.D. 79.
[c] Lib. LXIX. s. 13. A.D. 132.
[d] Lib. LXXII. s. 8 A.D. 181.

Digitized by Google

ἄλλο ἄλλῃ ὥρᾳ κομίζειν τισὶν, ἵν' ἐγρηγορέναι τὸν στρατηγὸν ἀεὶ νομίζοντες, μηδὲ αὐτοὶ ἄδδην καθεύδοιεν. ἦν μὲν γὰρ καὶ ἄλλως ὑπνομαχεῖν πεφυκὼς, ἐπὶ πλέον δὲ τοῦτο ἐκ τῆς ἀσιτίας ἠσκήκει. τά τε γὰρ ἄλλα ἥκιστα ἄδδην ἐσιτεῖτο, καὶ ὅπως μηδὲ τῶν ἄρτων διαπιμπλᾶται, ἐκ τῆς Ῥώμης αὐτοὺς μετεπέμπετο, οὐχ ὡς οὐ δυνάμενος τῶν ἐπιχωρίων ἐσθίειν, ἀλλ' ἵν' ὑπὸ τῆς παλαιότητος αὐτῶν, μὴ δύνηται μηδὲ σμικρῷ πλέον τοῦ πάνυ ἀναγκαίου φαγεῖν. τὰ γὰρ οὖλα αὐτοῦ, κακῶς ἔχοντα, ῥᾳδίως ὑπὸ τῆς τῶν ἄρτων ξηρότητος ᾑμάσσετο. ἐπετήδευε δ' οὖν ἐπὶ μεῖζον αὐτὸ πλάττεσθαι, ἵν' ὡς μάλιστα διαγρυπνεῖν δοκῇ. Μάρκελλος μὲν δὴ τοιοῦτος ὢν, τούς τε βαρβάρους τοὺς ἐν Βρεττανίᾳ δεινῶς ἐκάκωσε· καὶ μικροῦ δεῖν ὑπὸ τοῦ Κομμόδου μετὰ ταῦτα διὰ τὴν ἰδίαν ἀρετὴν ἀποθανεῖν μελλήσας, ὅμως ἀφείθη.

[a] Οἱ οὖν στρατιῶται, ὁπότε τι σφίσι μὴ καταθύμιον ἀπαντήσαι, τὴν αἰτίαν ἐπὶ τὸν Περέννιον ἀναφέροντες, ἐμηνίων αὐτῷ. καὶ οἱ ἐν Βρεττανίᾳ τοίνυν ὑπάρχοντες, ἐπειδή τι ἐπετιμήθησαν ἐφ' οἷς ἐστασίαζον, (οὐ γὰρ πρὶν ἡσύχασαν, ἢ αὐτοὺς τὸν Περτίνακα παῦσαι) χιλίους καὶ πεντακοσίους ἀκοντιστὰς ἀπὸ σφῶν ἀπολέξαντες, ἐς τὴν Ἰταλίαν ἔπεμψαν· ὧν μηδενὸς κωλύοντος τῇ Ῥώμῃ πλησιασάντων, ὁ Κόμμοδος ἀπήντησέ τε αὐτοῖς.

[b] Ἔτι δὲ ὄντος αὐτοῦ [Περτίνακος] ἐν Βρεττανίᾳ, μετὰ τὴν μεγάλην ἐκείνην στάσιν ἣν ἔπαυσε, καὶ ἐπαίνων παρὰ πᾶσιν ἀξιωμένου, ἵππος τις ὄνομα Περτίναξ ἐνίκησεν ἐν τῇ Ῥώμῃ.

[c] Τρεῖς γὰρ δὴ τότε ἄνδρες, τριῶν ἕκαστος πολιτικῶν στρατοπέδων καὶ ἄλλων ξενικῶν συχνῶν ἄρχοντες, ἀντελάβοντο τῶν πραγμάτων, ὅ, τε Σεβῆρος καὶ ὁ Νίγρος καὶ ὁ Ἀλβῖνος· οὗτος μὲν, τῆς Βρεττανίας ἄρχων, Σεβῆρος δὲ, τῆς Παννονίας, Νίγρος δὲ, τῆς Συρίας...

Τῶν δὲ δὴ τριῶν ἡγεμόνων, ὧν εἴρηκα, δεινότατος ὁ Σεβῆρος, καὶ προγνοὺς ὅτι μετὰ τὸ καταλῦσαι τὸν Ἰουλιανὸν, καὶ σφίσιν αὐτοῖς οἱ τρεῖς συναράξουσι καὶ ἀντιπολεμήσουσιν ὑπὲρ τῆς ἀρχῆς, ἐγνώκει τὸν ἕνα τὸν ἐγγύτερον αὐτῷ προσποιήσασθαι. καὶ γράμματά τινι τῶν πιστῶν δοὺς, τῷ Ἀλβίνῳ ἐπεπόμφει, Καίσαρα αὐτὸν ποιῶν . . . καὶ ὁ Ἀλβῖνος, ὡς καὶ κοινωνὸς τῆς ἀρχῆς τῷ Σεβήρῳ ἐσόμενος, κατὰ χώραν ἔμεινεν.

[d] Τότε δὴ καὶ ἐν Βρεττανίᾳ, διὰ τὸ τοὺς Καληδονίους μὴ ἐμμεῖναι ταῖς ὑποσχέσεσι, τοῖς Μαιάταις παρεσκευασμένους ἀμῦναι, καὶ διὰ τὸ τότε τὸν Σεβῆρον τῷ παροίκῳ πολέμῳ προσχεῖσθαι, κατηναγκάσθη ὁ Λοῦπος μεγάλων χρημάτων τὴν εἰρήνην παρὰ τῶν Μαιατῶν ἐκπριᾶσθαι, αἰχμαλώτους τινὰς ὀλίγους ἀπολαβών.

[e] Ταῦτ' οὖν ὁ Σεβῆρος ὡς ἕκαστα πυνθανόμενος, ὀργῇ ἔφερεν, ὅτι ἐν τῇ Βρεττανίᾳ τοὺς πολέμους δι' ἑτέρων νικῶν, αὐτὸς ἐν τῇ Ἰταλίᾳ ληστοῦ ἥττων ἐγένετο.

[f] Ὁ δὲ δὴ Σεβῆρος ἐπὶ Βρεττανίαν ἐστράτευσε.

[g] Δύο δὲ γένη τῶν Βρεττανῶν μέγιστά εἰσι, Καληδόνιοι καὶ Μαιάται· καὶ ἐς αὐτὰ καὶ τὰ τῶν ἄλλων προσρήματα (ὡς εἰπεῖν) συγκεχώρηκεν. οἰκοῦσι δὲ οἱ μὲν Μαιάται πρὸς αὐτῷ τῷ διατειχίσματι, ὃ τὴν νῆσον διχῇ τέμνει· Καληδόνιοι δὲ, μετ' ἐκείνους. καὶ νέμονται ἑκάτεροι ὄρη ἄγρια καὶ ἄνυδρα, καὶ πεδία ἔρημα καὶ ἑλώδη, μήτε τείχη μήτε πόλεις μήτε γεωργίας ἔχοντες, ἀλλ' ἔκ τε νομῆς καὶ θήρας, ἀκροδρύων τέ τινων ζῶντες. τῶν γὰρ ἰχθύων, ἀπείρων καὶ ἀπλέτων ὄντων, οὐ γεύονται. διαιτῶνται δὲ ἐν σκηναῖς γυμνοὶ καὶ ἀνυπόδετοι, ταῖς γυναιξὶν ἐπικοίνοις χρώμενοι, καὶ τὰ γεννώμενα πάντα ἐκτρέφοντες. δημοκρατοῦνταί τε ὡς πλήθει, καὶ ληστεύουσιν ἥδιστα. στρατεύονται δὲ ἐπί τε ἁρμάλων, ἵππους ἔχοντες μικροὺς, καὶ ταχεῖς· καὶ πεζοὶ δέ εἰσι, καὶ δραμεῖν ὀξύταλοι, καὶ συσπῆναι παγιώταλοι. τὰ δὲ ὅπλα αὐτῶν, ἀσπὶς, καὶ δόρυ βραχὺ, μῆλον χαλκοῦν ἐπ' ἄκρου τοῦ σιδάρεος ἔχον, ὥστε σειόμενον κλυπεῖν πρὸς κατάπληξιν τῶν ἐναντίων· εἰσὶ δ' αὐτοῖς καὶ ἐγχειρίδια. δύνανται δὲ καὶ λιμὸν καὶ ψύχος καὶ ταλαιπωρίαν πᾶσαν ὑπομένειν. ἔς τε γὰρ τὰ ἕλη καταδυόμενοι καρτεροῦσιν ἐπὶ πολλὰς ἡμέρας, τὴν κεφαλὴν μόνον ἔξω τοῦ ὕδατος ἔχοντες, καὶ ἐν ταῖς ὕλαις τῷ was the most wakeful of all generals; and being determined that his comrades should be as wakeful as himself, he wrote on twelve tablets, such as are made of linden wood, and every evening, as 'tis said, commanded them to be carried to different persons at uncertain hours, in order that, concluding their commander to be always vigilant, they should not themselves sleep overmuch. He was in other respects disposed by nature to resist sleep, and he encouraged this disposition still more by abstemiousness; for he never ate of other things abundantly, and that he might not take even bread to excess, he used to send for it from Rome; not that he was unable to eat the bread of the country, but that, from its staleness, he should be incapacitated from taking a morsel more than was absolutely necessary; for his gums, being diseased, soon bled by reason of the harshness of the bread; and he was careful to make the most of this, that he might seem to be ever wakeful. Such was Marcellus, who grievously worsted the barbarians in Britain. After this he was very near losing his life at the hands of Commodus, on account of his warlike qualities; he was however dismissed unhurt.

---

[a] The soldiers, therefore, as often as they met with any thing which annoyed them, transferring the blame to Perennius, were incensed against him; and those also who were in Britain when they were chastised for insubordination, nor indeed were they quieted until Pertinax had quelled them, having selected from their own number one thousand five hundred archers, sent them into Italy; these Commodus met on their approach to Rome, no one having molested them on their way.

[b] But whilst Pertinax was yet in Britain, after that great revolt which he had there quelled, and for which he was universally applauded, a certain horse called Pertinax gained the prize at Rome.

[c] There were at that time three persons, who, having severally the command of three legionary and of numerous foreign forces, assumed the management of affairs. Severus, Niger, and Albinus; of whom the latter was commander in Britain, Severus in Pannonia, and Niger in Syria...

But of these three commanders of whom I have spoken, Severus was the most crafty; and knowing beforehand that after Julian should be dispatched, the three would contend among themselves and fight against each other for the empire, he resolved to gain over to his interests him who was the nearest; and giving letters to one of his faithful adherents, sent him to Albinus, proclaiming him Cæsar ... In consequence Albinus, as about to be partaker of the empire with Severus, remained where he then was.

[d] Moreover, in Britain, about this time, on account of the Caledonians, having made preparation to assist the Mæatæ, not abiding by their promises; and because at this period also Severus was engaged in a war near home, Lupus was compelled to purchase peace from the Mæatæ at a great price, after having made a few prisoners.

[e] Severus being fully informed of this, was enraged that having conquered his enemies in Britain by the agency of others, he himself in Italy should be defeated by a robber.

[f] After this Severus undertook an expedition against Britain.

[g] Among the Britons the two greatest tribes are the Caledonians and the Mæatæ; for even the names of the others, as may be said, have merged in these. The Mæatæ dwell close to the wall which divides the island into two parts; the Caledonians beyond them. Each of these people inhabit mountains wild and waterless, and plains desert and marshy, having neither walls nor cities nor tilth, but living by pasturage, by the chace, and on certain berries; for of their fish, though abundant and inexhaustible, they never taste. They live in tents, naked and barefooted, having wives in common, and rearing the whole of their progeny. Their state is chiefly democratical, and they are above all things delighted by pillage; they fight from chariots, having small swift horses; they fight also on foot, are very fleet when running, and most resolute when compelled to stand: their arms consist of a shield and a short spear, having a brazen knob at the extremity of the shaft, that when shaken it may terrify the enemy by its noise: they use daggers also; and are capable of enduring

[a] Lib. LXXII. s. 9.
[b] Lib. LXXIII. s. 4. A.D. 193.
[c] Ss. 14, 15.
[d] Lib. LXXV. s. 5. A.D. 196.
[e] Lib. LXXVI. s. 10. A.D. 204.
[f] S. 11. A.D. 208.
[g] Ss. 12–16.

Digitized by Google

τε φλοιῷ καὶ ταῖς ῥίζαις διατρέφονται, καὶ περὶ πάντα σκευάζουσί τι βρῶμα, ἀφ' οὗ κυάμου τι μέγεθος ἐμφαγόντες, οὔτε πεινῶσιν, οὔτε διψῶσι. τοιαύτη μέν τις νῆσος ἡ Βρεττανία ἐστὶ, καὶ τοιούτους οἰκήτορας ἥ γε πολεμία ἔχει. νῆσος γάρ ἐστι, καὶ τότε σαφῶς (ὥσπερ εἶπον) ἐλήλεγκται. καὶ αὐτῆς τὸ μὲν μῆκος σταδίοι ἑπτακισχίλιοι καὶ ἑκατὸν τριάκοντα δύο εἰσί· τοῦ δὲ δὴ πλάτους τὸ μὲν πλεῖστον δέκα καὶ τριακόσιοι καὶ δισχίλιοι, τὸ ἐλάχιστον τριακόσιοι.

Καὶ τούτων ἡμεῖς οὐ πολλῷ τινι τῆς ἡμισείας ἔλαττόν τι ἔχομεν. ὁ δ' οὖν Σεβῆρος, πᾶσαν αὐτὴν καταστρέψασθαι θελήσας, ἐσέβαλεν ἐς τὴν Καληδονίαν. καὶ διϊὼν αὐτὴν, ἀμύθητα πράγματα ἔσχε, τάς τε ὕλας τέμνων, καὶ τὰ μετέωρα κατασκάπτων, τά τε ἕλη χωννύων, καὶ τοὺς ποταμοὺς ζευγνύων. οὔτε γὰρ μάχην τινὰ ἐμαχέσατο, οὔτε πολέμιόν τινα ἐν παρατάξει εἶδε. πρόβατα δὲ καὶ βοῦς προβαλλομένων αὐτῶν ἐξεπίτηδες, οἱ στρατιῶται ἥρπαζον, ὅπως ἐπὶ πλεῖον ἀπατώμενοι τρύχωνται. καὶ γὰρ ὑπὸ τῶν ὑδάτων δεινῶς ἐκακοῦντο, καὶ ἀποσκεδαννύμενοι ἐπεβουλεύοντο. εἶτ' ἀδυνατοῦντες βαδίζειν, ὑπ' αὐτῶν τῶν οἰκείων ἐφονεύοντο, ἵνα μὴ ἁλίσκωνται· ὥστε ἐς πέντε μυριάδας ὅλας τελευτῆσαι. οὐ μέντοι ἀπίστη γε πρὶν τῷ ἐσχάτῳ τῆς νήσου πλησιάσαι. ὅπου γε τὰ μάλιστα τήν τε τοῦ ἡλίου παράλλαξιν, καὶ τὸ τῶν ἡμερῶν τῶν τε νυκτῶν καὶ τῶν θερινῶν καὶ τῶν χειμερινῶν μέγεθος, ἀκριβέστατα κατεφώρασε. καὶ ὁ μὲν οὕτω διὰ πάσης (ὡς εἰπεῖν) τῆς πολεμίας κομισθεὶς, (ἐκομίσθη γὰρ ὡς ἀληθῶς ἐν σκιμποδίῳ καταστέγῳ τινὶ τὰ πολλὰ διὰ τὴν ἀσθένειαν) ἐς τὴν φιλίαν ἐπανῆλθεν, ἐς ὁμολογίαν τοὺς Βρεττανοὺς, ἐπὶ τῷ χώρας οὐκ ὀλίγης ἐκστῆναι, ἀναγκάσας ἐλθεῖν.

Ἐξέπληττε δὲ αὐτὸν ὁ Ἀντωνῖνος . . . καὶ αὐτῷ ἐκείνῳ ἐπεβούλευσε . . . ἄλλοτε δὲ προσήλαυνον μὲν ἀμφότεροι πρὸς τοὺς Καληδονίους, ἵνα τά τε ὅπλα παρ' αὐτῶν λάβωσι, καὶ περὶ τῶν ὁμολογιῶν διαλεχθῶσιν· ὁ δ' Ἀντωνῖνος, ἀποκτεῖναι αὐτὸν ἄντικρυς αὐτοχειρίᾳ ἐπεχείρησεν. ἦσαν μὲν γὰρ ἐπὶ ἵππων, καὶ ὁ Σεβῆρος, καίπερ καὶ τοὺς ταρσοὺς ὑπὸ ἀσθενείας ὑποτετμηκὼς, ὅμως ἵππευσε καὶ αὐτὸς, καὶ τὸ ἄλλο στράτευμα συνεφείπετο, τό, τε τῶν πολεμίων καὶ αὐτὸ συνεωρᾶτο· κἀν τῷ καιρῷ τούτῳ, τῇ τε σιγῇ καὶ τῷ κόσμῳ τὸν ἵππον ὁ Ἀντωνῖνος ἀναχαιτίσας, ἐσπάσατο τὸ ξίφος, ὡς καὶ κατὰ νώτου τὸν πατέρα πατάξων. ἰδόντες δὲ τοῦτο οἱ ἄλλοι οἱ συνιππεύοντες, ἐξεβόησαν. καὶ οὕτως ἐκεῖνός τε ἐκπλαγεὶς, οὐκέτι οὐδὲν ἔδρασε· καὶ ὁ Σεβῆρος μετεστράφη μὲν πρὸς τὴν βοὴν αὐτῶν, καὶ εἶδε τὸ ξίφος, οὐ μέντοι καὶ ἐφθέγξατό τι, ἀλλ' ἀναβὰς ἐπὶ τὸ βῆμα, καὶ τελέσας ὅσα ἐχρῆν, ἐς τὸ στρατήγιον ἐπανῆλθε . . .

[a] Ἀποστάντων δὲ τῶν ἐν τῇ νήσῳ αὖθις, καλέσας τοὺς στρατιώτας, ἐκέλευσεν εἰς τὴν χώραν αὐτῶν ἐμβαλεῖν, καὶ οἷς ἂν ἐντύχωσιν ἀποκτεῖναι, αὐτὸ τοῦτο εἰπών·

[b] τῶν μή τις ὑπεκφύγοι αἰπὺν ὄλεθρον
Χειρός θ' ὑμετέρας· μηδ' ὄντινα γαστέρι μήτηρ
Κοῦρον ἐόντα φέροι, μηδ' ὃς φύγοι αἰπὺν ὄλεθρον.

γενομένου δὲ τούτου, καὶ τῶν Καληδονίων προσαποστάντων τοῖς Μαιάταις, ἡτοιμάζετο μὲν ὡς καὶ αὐτὸς αὐτοῖς πολεμήσων. καὶ αὐτὸν περὶ τοῦτ' ἔχοντα ἡ νόσος τῇ τετάρτῃ τοῦ Φεβρουαρίου ἀπήνεγκε, συνεργασαμένου τι πρὸς τοῦτο καὶ τοῦ Ἀντωνίνου, ὡς λέγεται . . . Ἐκ δὲ τούτου τό, τε σῶμα αὐτοῦ στρατιωτικῶς κοσμηθὲν, ἐπὶ πυρὰν ἐτέθη, καὶ τῇ τε τῶν στρατιωτῶν καὶ τῇ τῶν παίδων περιδρομῇ ἐτιμήθη· τά τε δῶρα τὰ στρατιωτικὰ, οἵ τι τῶν παρόντων ἔχοντες, εἰς αὐτὴν ἐνέβαλον, καὶ τὸ πῦρ οἱ υἱεῖς ἐνῆκαν· καὶ μετὰ τοῦτο τὰ ὀστᾶ ἐς ὑδρίαν πορφύρου λίθου ἐμβληθέντα, ἔς τε τὴν Ῥώμην ἐκομίσθη, καὶ ἐς τὸ Ἀντωνινεῖον ἀπετέθη . . .

[c] . . . Καὶ ἐνεκάλει μὲν, [ὁ Σεβήρος] τοῖς μὴ σωφρονοῦσιν, ὡς καὶ περὶ τῆς μοιχείας νομοθετῆσαί τινα· . . . ἐπεὶ δὲ ὀλίγοι πάνυ αὐταῖς ἐπεξῆσαν, οὐκέτι οὐδὲ αὐτὸς ἐπολυπραγμόνει. ὅθεν καὶ μάλα hunger, thirst, and hardships of every description: for when plunged in the marshes they abide there many days, with their heads only out of water: and in the woods they subsist on bark and roots: they prepare for all emergencies a certain kind of food, of which if they eat only so much as the size of a bean, they neither hunger nor thirst. Such then is the island Britannia, and such the inhabitants of that part of it which is hostile to us; for it is an island, and so, as I have said, at that time was it clearly ascertained to be: its length is seven thousand one hundred and thirty-two stadia; its greatest breadth two thousand three hundred and ten, its least three hundred.

Of this island very little more than one half is ours. Severus, therefore, being anxious to subjugate the whole, advanced into Caledonia: and, in traversing the country, underwent indescribable labour in cutting down woods, levelling hills, making marshes passable, and constructing bridges over rivers; for he fought not a single battle, nor did he see any army in array. The enemy moreover threw sheep and oxen in our track, on purpose that the soldiers might seize them, and thus, being enticed farther onward, might be worn out by their sufferings. From the waters too they suffered dreadfully, and ambuscades were laid for them when dispersed. And if no longer able to proceed, they were dispatched by their very comrades, lest they should be taken: so that by these means to the amount of fifty thousand of them perished. Still, however, Severus desisted not until he had nearly reached the extremity of the island, and most carefully examined the parallax of the sun, and the length of the days and nights both in summer and winter. And so, borne, as one may say, throughout the whole hostile district, for truly he was for the greater part carried in a covered litter on account of his weakness, he came again into the friendly part of it, having compelled the Britons to a treaty on the condition that they should yield up no small portion of their territory.

Antoninus also was cause of much grief to him . . . and had even laid plots against him . . . and once when they went together against the Caledonians that they might disarm them, and confer about treaties, Antoninus openly endeavoured to kill him with his own hand. They had gone out on horses, for Severus, although the soles of his feet had been punctured on account of disease, was nevertheless on horseback, and the rest of his army was following, and that of the enemy also was in sight. At this very juncture, Antoninus silently and dexterously checking his horse, drew his sword, intending to strike his father in the back; but his companions observing this, shouted out; and being thus startled at the noise, he desisted from his purpose. Severus also turned round at their clamour, and saw the sword, although he uttered not a word; but having ascended a tribunal, and performed whatever was incumbent on him, he returned to his tent . . .

[a] But the islanders again revolting, having called together his soldiers, he ordered them to advance into their country, and to kill whomsoever they might meet there, making use of these words:

[b] Of these let none escape destruction dire,
Nor of your hands elude the vengeful ire;
Let not the babe within his mother's womb,
Babe tho' he be, avoid the mournful doom.

Which being done, and the Caledonians having joined the Mæatæ in revolt, he made ready as if going in person to war against them. But, while he was thus engaged, disease carried him off on the fourth of February; Antoninus, as it is said, in a measure contributing to his death . . . After this his body, laid out in military order, was placed upon a funeral pile, and honourably attended both by the soldiers and his sons. Such of those present as had military offerings cast them on the pyre, and the flame was kindled by his sons. Lastly, his bones being deposited in an urn of porphyry, were carried to Rome, and placed in the sepulchre of the Antonines . . .

[c] . . . He [Severus] also proceeded against the incontinent, insomuch that he enacted laws against adultery . . . but when very few had recourse to these laws, he no longer busied himself about them. Wherefore the wife of one Argentocoxus, a

[a] A.D. 210. [b] Iliad, VI. 57. [c] A.D. 211.

Digitized by Google

ἀστείως Ἀργεντοκόξου τινὸς γυνὴ Καληδονίου πρὸς τὴν Ἰουλίαν τὴν Αὐγούσταν, ἀποσκώπτουσάν τι πρὸς αὐτὴν μετὰ τὰς σπονδὰς, ἐπὶ τῇ ἀνέδην σφῶν πρὸς τοὺς ἄῤῥενας συνουσίᾳ, εἰπεῖν λέγεται, ὅτι 'Πολλῷ ἄμεινον ἡμεῖς τὰ τῆς φύσεως ἀναγκαῖα ἀποπληροῦμεν ὑμῶν τῶν Ῥωμαϊκῶν. ἡμεῖς γὰρ φανερῶς τοῖς ἀρίστοις ὁμιλοῦμεν, ὑμεῖς δὲ λάθρα ὑπὸ τῶν κακίστων μοιχεύεσθε.' τοῦτο μὲν ἡ Βρετλανὶς εἶπεν.

[a] Μετὰ δὲ ταῦτα [τὸν τοῦ Σεβήρου θάνατον] ὁ Ἀντωνῖνος πᾶσαν τὴν ἡγεμονίαν ἔλαβε. λόγῳ μὲν γὰρ μετὰ τοῦ ἀδελφοῦ, τῷ δὲ δὴ ἔργῳ μόνος εὐθὺς ἦρξε· καὶ πρὸς μὲν τοὺς πολεμίους κατελύσατο, καὶ τῆς χώρας αὐτοῖς ἐξέστη, καὶ τὰ φρούρια ἐξέλιπε.

EX HERODIANO.[b]

[c] Ἄτε δὴ [ὁ Σεβῆρος] ἀνὴρ προμηθής τε καὶ νήφων, ὑπώπτευε τὴν ἐν Βρετλανίᾳ δύναμιν πολλήν τε οὖσαν καὶ μεγίστην, ἀνδρῶν τε μαχιμωτάτων· ἦρχε δ' αὐτῆς πάσης Ἀλβῖνος, ἀνὴρ τὸ μὲν γένος τῶν ἐκ τῆς συγκλήτου εὐπατριδῶν, ἐν πλούτῳ δὲ καὶ τρυφῇ ἐκ πατέρων ἀνατραφείς. τοῦτον τοίνυν ἠθέλησεν ὁ Σεβῆρος, σοφίσματι προλαβὼν οἰκειώσασθαι, μήπως ἄρα τοιαῦτα ἔχων ἐναύσματα εἰς βασιλείας ἐπιθυμίαν, θαῤῥῶν ἢ πλούτῳ καὶ γένει, δυνάμει τε στρατοῦ, γνώσει τε τῇ παρὰ Ῥωμαίοις, ἐπιθῆται τοῖς πράγμασιν· καὶ τὴν Ῥώμην οὐ πολύ τι ἀφεστῶσαν, ἐκείνου καλὰ τὴν ἀνατολὴν ἀσχοληθέντος, ὑποποιήσηται. τιμῇ τοίνυν προσποιήτῳ δελεάζει τὸν ἄνθρωπον, καὶ ἄλλως μὲν ὄντα τὴν γνώμην χαυνὸν, καὶ ἁπλοϊκώτερον, τότε δὲ καὶ πολλὰ διὰ γραμμάτων ὁμόσαντι τῷ Σεβήρῳ πιστεύσαντα. Καίσαρα δὲ αὐτὸν ἀποδεικνύει, φθάσας αὐτοῦ τὴν ἐλπίδα καὶ τὴν ἐπιθυμίαν, τῇ τῆς ἐξουσίας κοινωνίᾳ. ἐπιστέλλει δὲ αὐτῷ φιλικώταλα γράμματα δῆθεν, ἱκετεύων ἐπιδοῦναι αὑτὸν εἰς τὴν τῆς ἀρχῆς φροντίδα. δεῖσθαι γὰρ ἀνδρὸς εὐγενοῦς καὶ τοιούτου, τήν τε ἡλικίαν ἔτι ἀκμάζοντος. αὐτὸν ὄντα πρεσβύτην, καὶ ὑπὸ νόσου ἀρθρίτιδος ἐνοχλούμενον, τῶν τε παίδων αὐτῷ ὄντων πάνυ νηπίων. οἷς πιστεύσας ὁ Ἀλβῖνος τὴν τιμὴν ὑπεδέξατο ἀσπαστῶς, ἀγαπήσας ἄνευ μάχης καὶ κινδύνου λαβεῖν ταῦτα, ἂν ὠρέγετο.

Ὁ δὲ Σεβῆρος, καὶ πρὸς τὴν σύγκλητον τὰ αὐτὰ ἀνενεγκὼν, ὡς ἂν μᾶλλον αὐτὸν εἰς πίστιν ὑπαγάγοιτο, νομίσματά τε αὐτοῦ κοπῆναι ἐπέτρεψε, καὶ ἀνδριάντων ἀναστήσεσι, ταῖς τε λοιπαῖς τιμαῖς τὴν δοθεῖσαν χάριν ἐπιστώσατο. ἐπεὶ δὲ αὐτῷ τὰ πρὸς τὸν Ἀλβῖνον διὰ σοφίας ἀσφαλῶς εἶχεν, οὐδέ τι δέος ἦν ἀπὸ Βρετλανίας, . . . ἐπὶ τὸν Νίγρον ἠπείγετο.

[d] Διοικήσας δὲ ὁ Σεβῆρος τὰ ἐπὶ τῆς ἀνατολῆς . . . ὀχληρὸς καὶ περιτὸς αὐτῷ ὁ Ἀλβῖνος ἐνομίζετο. ἔτι τε καὶ ἤκουεν αὐτὸν βασιλικώτερον ἐντρυφῶντα τῷ τοῦ Καίσαρος ὀνόματι, πολλούς τε μάλιστα τούς ἐξέχοντας τῆς συγκλήτου βουλῆς, ἰδίᾳ καὶ κρύβδην ἐπιστέλλοντας αὐτῷ, εἴς τε τὴν Ῥώμην ἐλθεῖν πείθοντας, ἀπόντος καὶ ἀσχολουμένου τοῦ Σεβήρου.

[e] 'Οὐδὲ γὰρ ὑπομενεῖ ὁ ἐκείνου [Ἀλβῖνου] στρατὸς, [λέγει ὁ Σεβήρος] ὀλίγος ὢν καὶ νησιώτης, τὴν ὑμετέραν δύναμιν.'

[f] Ὁ δὲ [Σεβῆρος] ἐπιδοὺς αὐτοῖς μεγαλοφρόνως δωρεὰς, τῆς ἐπὶ Ἀλβῖνον ὁδοῦ εἴχετο.

[g] Ἔπεμψε δὲ [ὁ Σεβῆρος] καὶ στρατὸν δυνάμεως, τὸν τὰ στενὰ τῶν Ἀλπέων καταληψόμενον, καὶ φρουρήσοντα τῆς Ἰταλίας τὰς εἰσβολάς. ὡς δὲ ἀπηγγέλη τῷ Ἀλβίνῳ μὴ μέλλων ὁ Σεβῆρος, ἀλλ' ἤδη παρεσόμενος ὑπτιάζοντι, καὶ τρυφῶντι, μεγάλην ταραχὴν ἐνέβαλλε. περαιωθεὶς δὲ ἀπὸ τῆς Βρετλανίας, ἐς τὴν ἀντικειμένην Γαλλίαν ἐστρατοπέδευσεν. ἔπεμψέ τε εἰς πάντα τὰ γειτνιῶντα ἔθνη, τοῖς τε ἡγουμένοις ἐπέστειλε χρήματά τε πέμπειν καὶ τροφὰς τῷ στρατῷ. καὶ οἱ μὲν πεισθέντες ἔπεμψαν ὀλεθρίως (ὕστερον γὰρ ἐκολάσθησαν) ὅσοι δε οὐκ ἐπίστευσαν, εὐτυχῶς μᾶλλον γνόντες ἢ εὐβούλως, ἐσώθησαν. ἡ γὰρ ἀπόβασις, καὶ ἡ τύχη τοῦ πολέμου, τὰς ἑκατέρων γνώμας ἔκρινεν.

Caledonian, is reported, after the treaty, to have said very facetiously to Julia Augusta when taunting her for their lewd intercourse with men: 'We satisfy the demands of nature much better than you Romans; for we have commerce openly with the noblest men, whereas you commit adultery secretly with the vilest.' Such was the Bretannic woman's reply.

[a] After this [the death of Severus], Antoninus seized on the whole empire; in pretence, indeed, he ruled jointly with his brother, but in reality he became immediately sole monarch. And he put an end to the war with his enemies, and left the country, evacuating the fortresses.

HERODIAN.[b]

[c] Moreover [Severus], being a prudent and discreet man, was somewhat suspicious of the forces in Britain, as they were very numerous and composed of the most warlike men; the whole of which were commanded by Albinus, who was descended from senatorial ancestry, and brought up amid the opulence and luxury of his fathers. This person, therefore, Severus was desirous, through artifice, to conciliate, lest from his having such pretensions to imperial power, and confiding in his opulence and descent, in the strength of the army and his intimacy with the Romans, he should strive for the sovereignty and get possession of Rome, but little distant from him, while he himself was occupied in the East. With this view, therefore, he allures with specious honours a man naturally vainglorious and rather weak, and at that particular time confiding in Severus, who by his letters strongly protested his own sincerity. Wherefore designating him Cæsar, he anticipates his hope and desire by this communion of power. He sends him also the most friendly letters, entreating him to give himself up to the care of the government; observing that there was need of such a noble personage, still in the flower of his age; whereas himself was old, and labouring under an arthritic affection, and his children were extremely young. Trusting to these things, Albinus readily accepted the honour; glad to receive, without contest and without peril, the object of his wishes.

Moreover Severus brought all these circumstances before the senate, and, that he might the more lure him on to confidence, he ordered money to be coined bearing his image; and by the erection of statues and similar honours confirmed the favour he had bestowed. When by his artifice matters with respect to Albinus were thus secured, and he had no alarm about Britain, . . . he proceeded against Niger.

[d] Severus having thus settled the affairs of the East, . . . he looked upon Albinus as obnoxious and formidable. Moreover, he heard that he was exulting too imperially in the title of Cæsar, and that many, more especially of the principal senators, were severally and secretly sending letters, urging him to come to Rome, while Severus was absent and occupied.

[e] 'Nor will his [Albinus's] army [said Severus], small and insular as it is, be able to sustain your attack.'

[f] He [Severus], giving his soldiers munificent largesses, led them on the way towards Albinus.

[g] He [Severus] sent also a formidable army to occupy the narrow passes of the Alps, and to guard the approaches to Italy. When Albinus, who was now grown indolent and luxurious, was informed that Severus made no delay, but was already advancing, it threw him into great consternation. Crossing over, therefore, from Britain to the opposite coast of Gaul, he there pitched his camp. He then sent to all the surrounding districts, and commanded their rulers to supply the army with money and provisions. Some obeyed his commands and furnished them, to their own destruction, for they were afterwards punished; but such as disregarded them, determining luckily rather than advisedly, escaped: for the issue and fortune of the war decided on the judgment of each in this respect.

---

[a] Lib. LXXVII. c. 1. A.D. 211.
[b] Herodiani Historiarum lib. II. cc. 48, 49. Ed. Irmisch, Lipsiæ, 1789.
Claruit Herodianus A.D. 238.
[c] A.D. 193.
[d] Lib. III. c. 16. A.D. 195.
[e] C. 18.
[f] C. 19.
[g] Cc. 20–24. A.D. 197.

Digitized by Google

Ἀφικομένης δὲ τῆς τοῦ Σεβήρου δυνάμεως εἰς τὴν Γαλλίαν, γεγόνασι μέν τινες ἀκροβολισμοὶ καθ' ἕτερα χωρία. ἡ δὲ τελευταῖα περὶ Λουγδοῦνον, μεγάλην πόλιν καὶ εὐδαίμονα, ἐν ᾗ κατακλείσας ἑαυτὸν ὁ Ἀλβῖνος ἔμενε, τὸν δὲ στρατὸν εἰς τὴν μάχην ἐξέπεμψε. γενομένης δὲ συμβολῆς καρτερᾶς, ἐπὶ πλεῖστον μὲν ἰσόρροπος ἦμενεν ἑκατέροις τῆς νίκης ἡ τύχη. Καὶ γὰρ οἱ Βρετλανοὶ ἀνδρείᾳ τε καὶ θυμῷ φονικῷ, οὐδὲν τῶν Ἰλλυριῶν ἀπολείπονται. γενναίων οὖν στρατῶν μαχομένων, οὐ θατέρων ῥᾳδία ἦν ἡ τροπή. ὡς δέ τινες τῶν τότε ἱστόρησαν, οὐ πρὸς χάριν, ἀλλὰ πρὸς ἀλήθειαν λέγοντες, πολύ τι ὑπερέσχεν ἡ φάλαγξ τοῦ Ἀλβίνου στρατοῦ, καθ' ὃ μέρος ἐτέτακτο Σεβῆρος, καὶ ὁ σὺν αὐτῷ στρατὸς, ὡς φυγεῖν τε αὐτὸν, καὶ τοῦ ἵππου ἐκπεσεῖν, ἀπορρίψαντα δὲ τὴν χλαμύδα τὴν βασιλικὴν λαθεῖν.

Ἤδη δὲ διακόντων καὶ παιανιζόντων τῶν Βρετλανῶν, ὡς δὴ νενικηκότων, ἐπιφανῆναι Λαῖτον στρατηγὸν ὄντα Σεβήρου, σὺν τῷ στρατῷ οὗ ἦρχεν ἀκμῆτί τε ὄντι καὶ ἔξω μάχης γεγονότι . . . Τότε δ' οὖν, ὡς προείρηται, τοῦ Λαίτου ἐπιφανέντος σὺν νεαρῷ τῷ στρατῷ οἱ μὲν τοῦ Σεβήρου ἐπερρώσθησαν, τὸν δὲ Σεβῆρον τοῦ ἵππου ἐπεβίβασαν, καὶ τὸν χλαμύδα περιέθεσαν. οἱ δὲ τοῦ Ἀλβίνου οἰόμενοι ἤδη νενικηκέναι, καὶ ἀτακτότεροι εὑρεθέντες, αἰφνιδίως αὐτοῖς ἐπιπεσούσης γενναίας καὶ οὐ προηγωνισμένης δυνάμεως, ἐπ' ὀλίγον ἀντισχόντες εἶξαν. τροπῆς τε καρτερᾶς γενομένης, ἐδίωξαν αὐτοὺς φονεύοντες οἱ Σεβήρου, μέχρις οὗ ἐς τὴν πόλιν ἐσέβαλον. τὸ μὲν οὖν πλῆθος τῶν ἑκατέρωθεν ἀνῃρημένων, ἢ ἁλόντων, ὡς ἕκαστος ἐβουλήθη τῶν τότε συγγραψάντων, ἱστόρησεν.

Οἵ τε τοῦ Σεβήρου τήν τε πόλιν Λουγδοῦνον διαρπάσαντες, καὶ ἐμπρήσαντες, τόν τε Ἀλβῖνον συλλαβόντες, καὶ τῆς κεφαλῆς ἀφελόντες, κομίσαντες αὐτὴν τῷ Σεβήρῳ . . . Τέλει μὲν δὴ τοιούτῳ ὁ Ἀλβῖνος ἐχρήσατο, πρὸς ὀλίγον ἀπολαύσας ὀλεθρίου τιμῆς.

Ὁ δὲ Σεβῆρος . . . διοικήσας δὲ τὰ κατὰ τὴν Βρετλανίαν, καὶ διελὼν εἰς δύο ἡγεμονίας τὴν τοῦ ἔθνους ἐξουσίαν . . . εἰς τὴν Ῥώμην ἠπείγετο.

[a] Ἀσχάλλοντι δὲ αὐτῷ [Σεβῆρῳ] ἐπὶ τῷ τοιούτῳ βίῳ τῶν παίδων, καὶ τῇ περὶ τὰ θεάματα ἀπρεπεῖ σπουδῇ, ἐπιστέλλει ὁ τῆς Βρετλανίας ἡγούμενος, στασιάζειν τοὺς ἐκεῖ βαρβάρους φάσκων, καὶ κατατρέχοντας τὴν χώραν, λείαν τε ἀπαγαγεῖν, καὶ πορθεῖν τὰ πλεῖστα. δεῖσθαι τοίνυν χειρὸς πλείονος, πρὸς βοήθειαν τοῦ τόπου, ἢ βασιλικῆς ἐπιδημίας. ὁ δὲ Σεβῆρος ἀσμένως ταῦτα ἀκούσας, φύσει μὲν καὶ φιλόδοξος ἄλλως ὑπάρχων, καὶ μετὰ τὰς ὑπὸ ἀνατολαῖς καὶ ἄρκτῳ νίκας καὶ προσηγορίας, βουλόμενος καὶ κατὰ Βρετλανῶν ἐγεῖραι τρόπαια, ἔτι δὲ καὶ τοὺς υἱοὺς ἀπαγαγεῖν τῆς Ῥώμης θέλων, ὡς ἂν νεάζοιεν ἐν στρατιωτικῷ βίῳ καὶ σώφρονι, ἀπαχθέντες τῆς ἐν Ῥώμῃ τρυφῆς καὶ διαίτης, ἐπαΐγέλλει τὴν εἰς τὴν Βρετλανίαν ἔξοδον, πρεσβύτης τε ἤδη ὤν, καὶ ὑπὸ τῆς ἀρθρίτιδος νόσου κάμνων, ἀλλὰ τὰ τῆς ψυχῆς αὐτοῦ, ἔρρωτο ὑπὲρ πάντα νεανίαν. τὰ πλεῖστα γοῦν καὶ φοράδην φερόμενος, τῆς ὁδοιπορίας εἴχετο· οὐδὲ πώποτε ἐπὶ πολὺ μένων ἀνεπαύετο. ἀνύσας δὲ τὴν ὁδὸν ἅμα τοῖς παισὶ, παντὸς λόγου καὶ ἐλπίδος θᾶττον, τὸν ὠκεανὸν διαπλεύσας, Βρετλανοῖς ἐπέστη, τούς τε πανταχόθεν στρατιώτας ἀθροίσας, καὶ δύναμιν πολλὴν ἀγείρας, τὰ πρὸς τὸν πόλεμον παρεσκευάζετο.

Οἱ δὲ Βρετλανοὶ τῇ τοῦ βασιλέως ἐκπλαγέντες αἰφνιδίῳ ἐπιδημίᾳ, δύναμίν τε ἀκούσαντες παμπλείστην ἐπ' αὐτοὺς ἀθροισθεῖσαν, πρεσβείας ἔπεμπον, περί τε εἰρήνης διελέγοντο, ἀπολογεῖσθαί τε ἐβούλοντο πρὸς τὰ προημαρτημένα. ὁ δὲ Σεβῆρος διατριβάς τε χρόνου ζητῶν, ὡς ἂν μὴ πάλιν εἰς τὴν Ῥώμην ἐπείγοιτο, ἔτι δὲ καὶ βουλόμενος προσκτήσασθαι τὴν κατὰ Βρετλανῶν νίκην τε καὶ προσηγορίαν, τοὺς μὲν πρέσβεις αὐτῶν ἀπράκτους ἔπεμψεν, εὐτρέπιζε δὲ τὰ πρὸς τὴν μάχην. μάλιστα δὲ γεφύραις διαλαμβάνειν ἐπειρᾶτο τὰ ἑλώδη χωρία, ὡς ἂν ἐπ' ἀσφαλοῦς βαίνοντες οἱ στρατιῶται, ῥᾳδίως τε αὐτὰ διατρέχοιεν, καὶ ἐπ' ὀχυροῦ βήματος ἑδραίως ἑστῶτες μάχοιντο. τὰ γὰρ πλεῖστα τῆς Βρετλανῶν χώρας ἐπικλυζόμενα ταῖς τοῦ ὠκεανοῦ συνεχῶς ἀμπώτισιν, ἑλώδη γίνεται. οἷς ἔθος τοῖς μὲν βαρβάροις ἐννήχεσθαί τε καὶ διαθεῖν βρεχομένοις μέχρις ἰξύος. γυμνοὶ γὰρ ὄντες τὰ πλεῖστα τοῦ σώματος, τῆς ἰλύος καταφρονοῦσι. οὐ δὲ γὰρ ἐσθῆτος ἴσασιν χρῆσιν, ἀλλὰ τὰς

When, therefore, the army of Severus had arrived in Gaul, there was some skirmishing in different places; but the decisive battle was near Lugdunum, a great and opulent city, in which having shut himself up, Albinus remained, but sent forth his forces to the fight. A severe conflict ensuing, the fate of victory on either side for a long time continued dubious; for the Britons yield nothing either in courage or sanguinary spirit to the Illyrians. Such noble armies, therefore, encountering, the overthrow of neither was easy; and, as some of the historians of that time, who write for truth's sake and not for favour, relate, that division of Albinus's army to which Severus with his army was opposed, had greatly the advantage; insomuch that he was put to flight, fell from his horse, and threw off his imperial robe to conceal himself.

The Britons now pursuing, and shouting as though already victorious, they say that Lætus, one of Severus's commanders, came in sight with the army he commanded fresh and untouched, from not having yet been in action . . . But at this time, as was said before, Lætus coming in sight with fresh forces, Severus's party took courage, placed him on his horse, and again clad him in his imperial robe. Albinus's troops supposing themselves already victorious, and, in consequence, having their ranks somewhat disordered, when this noble and fresh army fell suddenly upon them, gave way after but little resistance. A desperate rout ensuing, the soldiers of Severus pursued and slew them until they threw themselves into the city. The number of the slain and captive on either side is differently recorded, as the inclination of the several historians of those times dictated.

Severus's army having plundered and burnt the city Lugdunum, and captured Albinus, they cut off his head, and brought it to Severus . . . Such was the end of Albinus, who for a little time had partaken of honours which led to his own destruction.

But Severus . . . having settled matters in Britain, and divided the government there into two provinces, . . . proceeded to Rome.

[a] While Severus thus grieved at the dissolute life of his sons, and their unbecoming attachment to public spectacles, he received letters from the præfect of Britain relating that the barbarians there were in a state of insurrection, overrunning the country, driving off booty, and laying every thing waste; so that for the defence of the island there was need either of greater force, or of the presence of the emperor himself. Severus heard this with pleasure, by nature a lover of glory, and anxious, after his victories in the East and North and his consequent titles, to obtain a trophy from the Britons: moreover, willing to withdraw his sons from Rome, that they might grow up in the discipline and sobriety of a military life, far removed from the blandishments and luxury prevalent in Rome, he orders an expedition against Britain, although now old and labouring under an arthritic affection; but as to his mind, he was vigorous beyond any youth. For the most part he performed the march carried in a litter, nor did he ever continue long in one place. Having completed the journey with his sons, and crossed over the sea more quickly than could be described or expected, he advanced against the Britons, and having drawn together his soldiers from all sides, and concentrated a vast force, he prepared for the war.

The Britons, much struck with the sudden arrival of the emperor, and learning that such a mighty force was collected against them, sent ambassadors, sued for peace, and were willing to excuse their past transgressions. But Severus, purposely seeking delay that he might not again return to Rome without his object, and, moreover, desirous to obtain from Britain a victory and a title, sent away their ambassadors without effecting their purpose, and prepared all things for the contest. He more especially endeavoured to render the marshy places stable by means of causeways, that his soldiers, treading with safety, might easily pass them, and, having firm footing,

[a] Cc. 46–51. A.D. 208–211.

Digitized by Google

μὲν λαπάρας καὶ τοὺς τραχήλους κοσμοῦσι σιδήρῳ καλλώπισμα τοῦτο καὶ πλούτου σύμβολον νομίζοντες, ὥσπερ τὸν χρυσὸν οἱ λοιποὶ βάρβαροι. τὰ δὲ σώματα στίζονται γραφαῖς ποικίλων ζώων παντοδαπῶν εἰκόσιν. ὅθεν οὐδ' ἀμφιέννυνται ἵνα μὴ σκέπωσι τοῦ σώματος τὰς γραφάς. εἶσι δὲ μαχιμάτατοί τε καὶ φονικώτατοι, ἀσπίδα μόνην στενὴν περιβεβλημένοι, καὶ δόρυ. ξίφος δὲ παρηρτημένοι, γυμνοῦ σώματος. θώρακος δὲ ἢ κράνους οὐκ ἴσασι χρῆσιν, ἐμπόδιον νομίζοντες πρὸς τὸν δίοδον τῶν ἑλῶν, ἐξ ὧν τῆς ἀναθυμιάσεως καὶ παχύτητος, ὁ κατ' ἐκείνην τὴν χώραν ἀὴρ ζοφώδης ἀεὶ φαίνεται.

Πρὸς δὴ ταῦτα ἐξήρτυεν ὁ Σεβῆρος, ὅσα συνοίσειν ἔμελλε τῷ Ῥωμαίων στρατῷ, λυπήσειν δὲ καὶ ἐμποδιεῖν τὴν τῶν βαρβάρων ὁρμήν· ὡς δὲ αὐτάρκως ὤφθη αὐτῷ τὰ πρὸς τὸν πόλεμον εὐτρεπίσθαι, τὸν μὲν νεώτερον τῶν υἱῶν, τὸν Γέταν καλούμενον, καταλιπὼν ἐν τῷ ὑπὸ Ῥωμαίους ἔθνει δικάσοντά τε, καὶ τὰ λοιπὰ διοικήσοντα πολιτικὰ τῆς ἀρχῆς, δοὺς αὐτῷ συνέδρους, τῶν φίλων τοὺς πρεσβυτέρους, τὸν δὲ Ἀντωνῖνον παραλαβὼν, ἐπὶ τοὺς βαρβάρους ἠπείγετο. ὑπερβάντος δὲ τοῦ στρατοῦ τὰ προβεβλημένα ῥεύματά τε καὶ χώματα τῆς Ῥωμαίων ἀρχῆς, συμβολαὶ καὶ ἀκροβολισμοὶ πολλάκις ἐγένοντο, τροπαί τε τῶν βαρβάρων. ἀλλὰ τοῖς μὲν ῥᾳδία ἦν ἡ φυγὴ, καὶ διελάνθανον ἔν τε δρυμοῖς, καὶ ἕλεσι, καὶ τῇ τῶν χωρίων γνώσει, ἅπερ πάντα Ῥωμαίοις ὄντα ἐναντία, πλείονα παρέσχε τῷ πολέμῳ τὴν διατριβήν.

[a] Τὸν δὲ Σεβῆρον γηραιὸν ὄντα, ἤδη νόσος ἐπιμηκεστέρα καταλαμβάνει. ὅθεν αὐτὸς μὲν ἠναίκαζετο μένειν οἴκοι, τὸν δὲ Ἀντωνῖνον ἐπειρᾶτο ἐκπέμπειν διοικήσοντα τὰ στρατιωτικά. ὁ δὲ Ἀντωνῖνος τῶν μὲν πρὸς τοὺς βαρβάρους μετρίως ἐφρόντιζεν, ἐπειρᾶτο δὲ οἰκειοῦσθαι τὰ στρατεύματα. καὶ πάντας ἀνέπειθεν εἰς αὐτὸν βλέπειν μόνον. ἐμνᾶτό τε παντὶ τρόπῳ τὴν μοναρχίαν, διαβάλλων τὸν ἀδελφόν. ὁ δὲ πατὴρ ἐπιπολὺ νοσῶν, καὶ πρὸς τὸν θάνατον βραδύνων, ἐπαχθὴς αὐτῷ καὶ ὀχληρὸς ἐφαίνετο. ἀνέπειθέ τε ἰατροὺς καὶ ὑπηρέτας, κακουργῆσαί τι περὶ τὴν θεραπείαν τοῦ γέροντος, ὡς ἂν θᾶττον αὐτοῦ ἀπαλλαγείη. πλὴν ἀλλὰ μόλις ποτὲ Σεβῆρος λύπῃ τὸ πλεῖστον διαφθαρεὶς, ἀνεπαύσατο τοῦ βίου, ἐνδοξότατα βιώσας, ὅσον πρὸς τὰ πολεμικὰ, τῶν πώποτε βασιλέων. οὔτε γὰρ ἐμφύλια κατ' ἐχθρῶν, οὔτε ξένα κατὰ βαρβάρων, τοσαῦτά τις πρὸ αὐτοῦ ἤγειρε τρόπαια. βασιλεύσας δὲ ὀκτωκαίδεκα ἔτεσιν ἐπὶ παισὶ νεανίαις διαδόχοις, ἀνεπαύσατο, χρήματά τε αὐτοῖς καταλιπὼν ὅσα μηδεὶς πώποτε, καὶ δύναμιν στρατιωτῶν ἀνανταγώνιστον.

Ὁ δὲ Ἀντωνῖνος, τοῦ πατρὸς ἀποθανόντος, λαβόμενος ἐξουσίας, εὐθὺς ἐφ' ἑστίας πάντας φονεύειν ἤρξατο . . .

Ὁ δὲ Ἀντωνῖνος, ἐπεὶ μὴ προεχώρει αὐτῷ τὰ τῶν στρατοπέδων, σπεισάμενος πρὸς τοὺς βαρβάρους, δούς τε εἰρήνην, τά τε πιστὰ λαβὼν, ἐξῄει τε τῆς βαρβάρου, πρός τε τὸν ἀδελφὸν ἤδη καὶ τὴν μητέρα ἠπείγετο . . . οὕτω δὴ τὰ τῆς βασιλείας ἀμφότεροι διοικοῦντες, ἐν ὁμολίμῳ ἀρχῇ ἀπᾶραι τῆς Βρεττανίας ἠθέλησαν. εἰς τε τὴν Ῥώμην ἠπείγοντο, κομίζοντες τὰ τοῦ παιδὸς λείψανα. τὸ γὰρ σωμάτιον πυρὶ παραδόντες, τήν τε κόνιν σὺν ἀρώμασιν εἰς κάλπην ἀλαβάστρου ἐμβαλόντες, ἀπεκόμιζον εἰς τὴν Ῥώμην, εἰς τὰ βασίλεια ἀποθησόμενοι ἱερὰ μνήματα. αὐτοὶ δὲ τὸν στρατὸν ἀναλαβόντες, νικηφόροι δὴ κατὰ Βρεττανῶν εἰς τὴν ἀντικειμένην Γαλλίαν, διαβάντες τὸν ὠκεανὸν, ἀφίκοντο.

EX ÆLIO SPARTIANO.[b]

[c] Adeptus imperium [Adrianus] . . . tenendæ per orbem terrarum paci operam intendit. Nam deficientibus his nationibus quas Trajanus subegerat, Mauri lacessebant, Sarmatæ bellum inferebant, Britanni teneri sub Romana ditione non poterant.

---

fight to advantage. For many parts of the British country, being constantly flooded by the tides of the ocean, become marshy. In these the natives are accustomed to swim and traverse about being immersed as high as their waists: for going naked as to the greater part of their bodies, they contemn the mud. Indeed they know not the use of clothing, but encircle their loins and necks with iron; deeming this an ornament and an evidence of opulence, in like manner as other barbarians esteem gold. But they puncture their bodies with pictured forms of every sort of animals; on which account they wear no clothing, lest they should hide the figures on their body. They are a most warlike and sanguinary race, carrying only a small shield and a spear, and a sword girded to their naked bodies. Of a breast-plate or an helmet they know not the use, esteeming them an impediment to their progress through the marshes; from the vapours and exhalations of which the atmosphere in that country always appears dense.

Against such things, therefore, Severus prepared whatever could be serviceable to the Roman army, but hurtful and detrimental to the designs of the barbarians.[a] And when every thing appeared to him sufficiently arranged for the war, leaving his younger son, named Geta, in that part of the island which was subjugated to the Romans, for the purpose of administering justice and directing other civil matters of the government, giving him as assessors the more aged of his friends; and taking Antoninus with himself, he led the way against the barbarians. His army having passed beyond the rivers and fortresses which defended the Roman territory, there were frequent attacks and skirmishes, and retreats on the side of the barbarians. To these, indeed, flight was an easy matter, and they lay hidden in the thickets and marshes through their local knowledge; all which things being adverse to the Romans, served to protract the war.

[a] But a sickness of longer continuance than usual now seized Severus in his advanced age: so that he himself was compelled to remain inactive, and purposed to send Antoninus to direct military matters. Antoninus however cared little about the barbarians, but endeavoured to conciliate the soldiery. He persuaded all to look up to him alone, grasped at the empire by every possible method, and heaped up accusations against his brother. That his father for so long a time should thus linger and make but slow advances towards death, appeared to him tedious and vexatious; he therefore persuaded the physicians and attendants to treat him in such manner as might rid him of the old man as soon as possible. At length, however, and even then chiefly worn out by vexation, Severus expired; having lived more gloriously as to military matters than any of the emperors. For no one before him could claim so many civic triumphs over domestic enemies, or foreign over barbarians. And having reigned eighteen years, he died, and was succeeded by his sons; to whom he left treasure to such an amount as no one before had done, and an army which none could resist.

Antoninus, on the death of his father, becoming possessed of the imperial power, commenced forthwith the work of slaughter, beginning from his own household . . .

Antoninus, therefore, when his attempt with the military failed, making a truce with the barbarians, and granting them peace, and receiving pledges of fidelity, left the hostile country, and proceeded to his mother and his brother . . . In this manner both directing the affairs of the government, they resolved, with equal dignity, to loose from Britain: and they proceeded to Rome, carrying with them the remains of their father. For, having committed his body to the flames, and cast the ashes, together with spices, into an urn of alabaster, they conveyed them to Rome, that they might deposit these sacred reliques in the imperial sepulchre. Transporting their army, therefore, and now become the conquerors of the Britons, they crossed the ocean, and arrived in the opposite coast of Gaul.

[a] A.D. 211.
[b] Ælii Spartiani de Adriano. c. 5. Apud Hist. August. Scriptores, Lugd. Batav. 1671.

Floruit Spartianus exeunte sæculo tertio.
[c] A.D. 117.

Digitized by Google

[a] Ante omnes tamen enitebatur ne quid otiosum vel emeret aliquando vel pasceret. Ergo conversis regio more militibus, Britanniam petiit: in qua multa correxit, murumque per octoginta millia passuum primus duxit, qui barbaros Romanosque divideret.

[b] Compositis in Britannia rebus transgressus in Galliam, Alexandrina seditione turbatus, quæ nata est ob Apin.

[c] Floro poetæ scribenti ad se,

'Ego nolo Cæsar esse,
Ambulare per Britannos,
Scythicas pati pruinas.'

rescripsit,

'Ego nolo Florus esse,
Ambulare per tabernas,
Latitare per popinas,
Culices pati rotundos.'

[d] Et Julianus quidem neque Britannicos exercitus neque Illyricos timebat.

[e] Sed eos ipsos [Albinum atque Nigrum] pertimescens [Severus]... Heraclitum ad obtinendas Britannias, Plautianum ad occupandos Nigri liberos misit.

[f] Britanniam, quod maximum ejus imperii decus est, muro per transversam insulam ducto, utrimque ad finem oceani munivit: unde etiam Britannici nomen accepit.

[g] Periit Eboraci in Britannia: subactis gentibus quæ Britanniæ videbantur infestæ, anno imperii decimo octavo, morbo gravissimo extinctus jam senex... Ipsi a senatu, a gentilibus liberisque ejus funus amplissimum exhibitum fuit, atque inter divos est relatus.

[h] Post murum aut vallum missum in Britannia, quum ad proximam mansionem rediret, non solum victor, sed etiam in æternum pace fundata, volvens animo quid ominis sibi occurreret, Æthiops quidam e numero militari, claræ inter scurras famæ, et celebratorum semper jocorum, cum corona e cupressu facta eidem occurrit. Quem quum ille iratus removeri ab oculis præcepisset, et coloris ejus tactus omine et coronæ, dixisse ille dicitur joci causa, 'Totum fuisti, totum vicisti, jam Deus esto victor.' Et in civitatem veniens, quum rem divinam vellet facere, primum ad Bellonæ templum ductus est errore aruspicis rustici, deinde hostiæ furvæ sunt applicitæ. Quod quum esset aspernatus, atque ad palatium se reciperet, negligentia ministrorum nigræ hostiæ usque ad limen domus palatinæ imperatorem sequutæ sunt.

[i] Ultima verba ejus dicuntur hæc fuisse: 'Turbatam rempublicam ubique accepi, pacatam etiam Britannis relinquo, senex et pedibus æger, firmum imperium Antoninis meis relinquens, si boni erunt; imbecillum si mali.'

[k] Corpus ejus a Britannia Romam usque cum magna provincialium reverentia susceptum est.

EX JULIO CAPITOLINO.[l]

Per legatos suos plurima bella gessit [m][Antoninus]. Nam et Britannos per Lollium Urbicum legatum vicit, alio muro cespiticio submotis barbaris ducto.

[n] Imminebat etiam Britannicum bellum, et Catti in Germanniam ac Rhetiam irruperant. Et adversus Britannos quidem Calphurnius Agricola missus est, contra Cattos Aufidius Victorinus.

[o] Gentes omnes ab Illyrici limite usque Galliam conspiraverant... Imminebat et Parthicum bellum et Britannicum... Provincias ex proconsularibus consulares, aut ex consularibus proconsulares, aut prætorias, pro belli necessitate, fecit [Marcus].

[p] Bello Parthico industria sua promeritus [Pertinax], in Britanniam translatus est ac retentus. Post in Mœsia rexit alam.

[q] Occiso sane Perenni, Commodus Pertinaci satisfecit, eumque petiit per litteras ut ad Britanniam proficisceretur: profectusque milites ab omni seditione deterruit, quum illi quemcumque imperatorem vellent habere, et ipsum specialiter Pertinacem. Tunc Pertinax malevolentiæ notam subiit, quod dictus est insimulasse apud Commodum affectati imperii Antistium Burrum et Arrium Antoninum. Et seditiones quidem contra ipse compescuit in Britannia: verum ingens periculum adiit: seditione legionis pæne occisus, certe inter occisos relictus: quam quidem rem idem Pertinax acerrime vindicavit. Denique postea veniam legationis petiit, dicens sibi ob defensam disciplinam infestas esse legiones.

Accepto successore, alimentorum ei cura mandata est, deinde proconsul Africæ factus est.

[r] Quum Britannicos exercitus regeret [Albinus] jussu Commodi, atque illum interemtum adhuc falso comperisset, quum sibi ab ipso Commodo Cæsarianum nomen esset delatum, processit ad milites, et hac concione usus est... 'Britannias Cæsar subegit, certe senator nondum tamen dictator.'...

Hæc concio, vivo adhuc Commodo, Romam delata: quæ Commodum in Albinum exasperavit, statimque successorem misit Junium Severum, unum ex contubernalibus suis.

[s] Extat sylva ejus [Gordiani] memorabilis, quæ picta est in domo rostrata Cnæi Pompeii, quæ ipsius et patris ejus et proavi fuit; quam Philippi temporibus vester fiscus invasit. In qua pictura etiam nunc continentur cervi palmati ducenti, mixtis Britannis.

[a] C. 11. A.D. 120? [b] C. 12. [c] C. 16.
[d] De Didio Juliano c. 5. A.D. 193.
[e] De Severo c. 6. A.D. 193. [f] C. 18. A.D. 208.
[g] C. 19. A.D. 211. [h] C. 22.
[i] C. 23. [k] C. 24.
[l] Julii Capitolini de Antonino Pio c. 5. Ap. Hist. Augustæ Script. Lugd. Batav. 1671.

Floruit Capitolinus sæculo tertio exeunte.
[m] A.D. 140?
[n] De Marco Antonino Philosopho c. 8. A.D. 161.
[o] C. 22. A.D. 162? [p] De Pertinace c. 2. A.D. 193.
[q] Cc. 3, 4. A.D. 186.
[r] De Clodio Albino cc. 13, 14. A.D. 193.
[s] De Gordiano c. 3. A.D. 237.

Digitized by Google

EX ÆLIO LAMPRIDIO.[a]

[b] Perennis, qui tantum potuit, subito quod bello Britannico militibus equestris loci viros præfecerat, amotis senatoribus, prodita re per legatos, exercitus hostis appellatus lacerandusque militibus est deductus.

[c] Appellatus est Commodus etiam Britannicus ab adulatoribus, quum Britanni etiam imperatorem contra eum deligere voluerint.

[d] Victi sunt sub eo tamen, cum ille sic viveret, per legatos, Mauri, victi Daci, Pannoniæ quoque compositæ: in Britannia, in Germania et in Dacia imperium ejus recusantibus provincialibus. Quæ omnia ista per duces sedata sunt.

[e] Denique agentem eum [Alexandrum] cum paucis in Britannia, ut alii volunt, in Gallia in vico cui Sicila nomen est, ... quidam milites ... occiderunt.

EX FLAVIO VOPISCO.[f]

Responsum est ab aruspicibus; quandoque ex eorum [g] [Taciti et Floriani] familia imperatorem Romanum futurum ... qui ad Romanam insulam proconsulem mittat.

[h] Deinde quum Proculus et Bonosus apud Agrippinam in Gallia imperium arripuissent, omnesque sibi Britannias, Hispanias, et Braccatæ Galliæ provincias vindicarent, barbaris semet juvantibus vicit [Probus] ... Unum sane sciendum est, quod Germani omnes, quum ad auxilium essent rogati a Proculo, Probo potius perservire maluerunt, quam cum Bonoso et Proculo esse. Gallis omnibus et Hispanis ac Britannis hinc permisit ut vites haberent vinumque conficerent.

[i] Bonosus domo Hispaniensis fuit, origine Britannus: Galla tamen matre: ut ipse dicebat, rhetoris filius; ut ab aliis comperi, pædagogi litterarii. Parvulus patrem amisit, atque a matre fortissima educatus, litterarum nihil didicit.

[k] Hic, [Carinus,] quum Cæsar decretis sibi Galliis atque Italia, Illyrico, Hispaniis, ac Britanniis et Africa, relictus a patre Cæsarianum teneret imperium, sed ea lege ut omnia faceret quæ Augusti faciunt, enormibus se vitiis et ingenti fœditate maculavit.

EX PANEGYRICIS VETERIBUS.[l]

Vestræ, inquam, fortunæ, vestræ felicitatis est, imperatores [Maximiane et Diocletiane], quod jam milites vestri ad oceanum pervenere victores, jam cæsorum in illo litore[m] hostium sanguinem fluctus reciproci sorbuerunt.

Quid nunc animi habet ille pirata[n], cum fretum illud[o], quo solo mortem suam hucusque remoratus est, pene exercitus vestros videat ingressos, oblitosque navium, refugum mare secutos esse qua cederet? Quam nunc insulam remotiorem, quem alium sibi optet oceanum? Quo denique pacto effugere pœnas reipublicæ potest? Nisi si haustu terræ devoretur, aut turbine aliquo in devia saxa rapiatur. Ædificatæ sunt, ornatæque pulcherrimæ classes, cunctis simul amnibus oceanum petituræ.

[p] Quod in Ægæo mari semel contigit, ut quæ operta fluctibus vagabatur, repente insula Delos existeret, ejus nunc simile tot orientibus undique civitatibus; tot insulis ad humanos cultus quasi renascentibus evenire. Nisi forte non gravior Britanniam ruina depresserat quam si superfuso tegeretur oceano; quæ profundissimo pœnarum gurgite liberata [q] ad conspectum Romanæ lucis emersit.

[r] Dumque sibi ad hæc singula intuentium animus fingit ... aut te, Maximiane invicte, perculsa Maurorum agmina fulminantem, aut sub dextera tua, domine Constanti, Bataviam, Britanniamque squalidum caput silvis et fluctibus exerentem, aut te, Maximiane Cæsar, Persicos arcus pharetrasque calcantem. Nunc enim nunc demum juvat orbem spectare depictum, cum in illo nihil videmus alienum.

[s] Partho quippe ultra Tigrim redacto, Dacia restituta, porrectis usque ad Danubii caput Germaniæ Rhætiæque limitibus, destinata [t] Bataviæ, Britanniæque vindicta, gubernacula majora quærebat aucta atque augenda respublica.

[u] Statim itaque Gallias tuas, Cæsar, veniendo fecisti. Siquidem illa celeritas, qua omnes motus atque adventus tui nuncios prævertisti, cepit oppressam Gesoriacensibus muris pertinacem, tunc errore misero manum piraticæ factionis, atque illis olim mari fretis alluentem portas ademit oceanum. In quo divina providentia tua, et par consilio effectus apparuit, qui omnem sinum illum portus quem statis vicibus æstus alternat, defixis in aditu trabibus, ingestisque saxis, invium navibus reddidisti, atque ipsam loci naturam admirabili ratione superasti; cum mare frustra reciprocum prohibitis fuga quasi illudere videretur, tanquam nullo usu juvaret inclusos, quasi redire desisset.

[v] Potuisset enim, Cæsar invicte, illo virtutis ac felicitatis tuæ impetu totum peragi continuo bellum, nisi ædificandis navibus dari tempus rei necessitudo suasisset. Quo tamen omni numquam ab eorum hostium eversione cessatum est, quos adiri continens terra permisit.

[a] Ælii Lampridii de Commodo Antonino c. 6. Ap. Hist. August. Scriptores, Lugd. Batav. 1671.
Floruit Lampridius exeunte sæculo tertio.
[b] A.D. 186. [c] C. 8. [d] C. 13. A.D. 180–192.
[e] De Alexandro Severo c. 59. A.D. 222.
[f] Flavii Vopisci Syracusii de Floriano c. 2. Ap. Historiæ Augustæ Scriptores, Lugd. Batav. 1671.
Claruit Vopiscus exeunte sæculo tertio.
[g] A.D. 276. [h] De Probo c. 18. A.D. 276.
[i] De Bonoso c. 14. A.D. 280.
[k] De Carino c. 1. A.D. 282.
[l] Claudii Mamertini Panegyrici Maximiano Herculio dicti cc. 11, 12. Ed. Arntzenii, Traject. ad Rhenum, 1790.
Hic panegyricus A.D. 292 habitus est.
[m] Apud Bononiam scilicet, quam munierat Carausius. Vide inf. p. lxix. [n] Carausius. [o] sc. Britannicum.
[p] Eumenii Orationis pro instaurandis scholis c. 18. Ubi supra.
Habita est hæc oratio A.D. 297.
[q] A Constantio, scil. A.D. 296, occiso Allecto. [r] C. 21.
[s] Eumenii Panegyrici Constantio Cæsari c. 3. Ubi supra.
Habitus est A.D. 296.
[t] A.D. 291. [u] C. 6. A.D. 292. [v] C. 7.

Digitized by Google

[a]Quid faciam, Cæsar? Ignosce si moror, ignosce si propero: multa enim illius temporis, quo transitus in Britanniam [b]parabatur, admirabilia virtutum tuarum facta prætereo, dum festino cupidus ad singularem illam victoriam, qua universa respublica tandem est vindicata. Cujus magnitudo, Cæsar invicte, hactenus replicabitur, si prius dicam quam necessarium illud, et difficile bellum fuerit, quo magis confectum sit.

Minus indignum fuerat sub principe Gallieno, quamvis triste, harum provinciarum a Romana luce dissidium. Tunc enim sive incuria rerum, sive quadam inclinatione fatorum, omnibus fere membris erat truncata respublica... Nunc vero toto orbe terrarum non modo, qua Romanus fuerat, virtute vestra recepto, sed etiam qua hostilis, edomito... urebat animum, quod nunc denique confitemur, una illa tanti imperii contumelia, eoque nobis intolerabilior videbatur, quod gloriæ sola restabat.

Et sane non, sicut Britanniæ nomen unum, ita mediocris jactura erat reipublicæ terra, tanto frugum ubere, tanto læta munere pastionum, tot metallorum fluens rivis, tot vectigalibus quæstuosa, tot accincta portubus, tanto immensa circuitu. Quam Cæsar, ille auctor vestri nominis, cum Romanorum primus intrasset, alium se orbem terrarum scripsit reperisse, tantæ magnitudinis arbitratus, ut non circunfusa oceano, sed complexa ipsum oceanum videretur. Sed enim illa ætate nec Britannia ullis erat ad navale bellum armata navigiis, et Romana res inde jam a Punicis, Asiaticisque bellis, etiam recenti exercitata piratico, et propiore Mithridatico, non magis terrestri quam navali usu vigebat. Ad hoc natio etiam tunc rudis, et solis Britanni Pictis modo, et Hibernis assueta hostibus, adhuc seminudi, facile Romanis armis signisque cesserunt: prope ut hoc uno Cæsar gloriari in illa expeditione debuerit, quod navigasset oceanum.

Isto vero nefario latrocinio abducta primum a fugiente [c]pirata classe, quæ olim Gallias tuebatur, ædificatisque præterea plurimis in nostrum modum navibus, occupata legione Romana, interclusis aliquot peregrinorum militum cuneis, contractis ad delectum mercatoribus Gallicanis, solicitatis, per spolia ipsarum provinciarum, non mediocribus copiis barbarorum, atque his omnibus ad munia nautica flagitii illius auctoris magisterio eruditis, exercitibus autem nostris, licet invictis virtute, tamen in re maritima novis, malam coaluisse ex indignissimo latrocinio belli molem audiebamus, licet de exitu fideremus. Nam et accesserat diuturna sceleris impunitas, quæ desperatorum hominum inflarat audaciam, ut illam inclementiam maris, quæ victoriam nostram fatali quadam necessitate distulerat, pro sui terrore jactarent, nec consilio intermissum esse bellum, sed desperatione omissum crederent; adeo ut jam communis pœnæ timore deposito, archipiratam [d]satelles occideret, et illud auctoramentum tanti discriminis putaret, imperium.

Hoc igitur bellum tam necessarium, tam difficile aditu, tam inveteratum, tam instructum, ita, Cæsar, aggressus es, ut statim atque illo infestum majestatis tuæ fulmen intenderas, confectum omnibus videretur... Tu vero, invicte Cæsar, instructis, armatisque diversis classibus ita hostem incertum, consiliique inopem reddidisti, ut tunc denique senserit, quod non munitus esset oceano, sed inclusus.

Hoc loco venit in mentem mihi quam delicata illorum principum fuerit in administranda republica, et adipiscenda laude felicitas, quibus Romæ degentibus triumphi, et cognomina devictarum a ducibus suis gentium proveniebant. Itaque Fronto, Romanæ eloquentiæ non secundum, sed alterum decus, cum belli in Britannia confecti laudem Antonino principi daret, quamvis ille in ipso urbis palatio residens gerendi ejus mandasset auspicium, veluti longæ navis gubernaculis præsidentem totius velificationis, et cursus gloriam meruisse testatus est. Atenim tu, Cæsar invicte, omnis istius et navigationis, et belli non modo pro imperii jure præceptor, sed rebus ipsis, et exemplo constantiæ tuæ hortator, atque impulsor fuisti. Prior siquidem a Gesoriacensi litore quamvis fervidum invectus oceanum[e], etiam illi exercitui tuo, quem Sequana in fluctus invexerat, irrevocabilem injecisti mentis ardorem; adeo ut cunctantibus adhuc ducibus, cœlo et mari turbidis, ultro signum navigationis exposceret; quædam minacia signa, quæ videbantur, contemneret; die pluvio vela faceret; ventum, quia directus non erat, captaret obliquum. Quis enim se, quamlibet iniquo, mari non auderet credere, te navigante? Omnium, ut dicitur, accepto nuncio navigationis tuæ, una vox et hortatio fuit, 'Quid dubitamus? quid moramur? Ipse jam solvit, jam provehitur, jam fortasse pervenit. Experiamur omnia, per quoscunque fluctus eamus. Quid est quod timere possimus? Cæsarem sequimur.'

Nec fefellit opinio vestræ felicitatis. Siquidem, ut ex ipsorum relatione comperimus, ad tempus ipsum tantæ se dorso maris nebulæ miscuerunt, ut inimica classis, apud Vectam insulam in speculis, atque insidiis, collocata, ignorantibus omnino hostibus præteriretur, ne vel moraretur impetum, quamvis non posset obsistere. Jam vero quod idem ille vestro auspicio invictus exercitus, statim atque Britanniæ litus invaserat, universis navibus suis injecit ignes, quinam alii nisi divinitatis vestræ monitus impulerunt? aut quæ alia ratio persuasit nullum præsidium fugæ reservare, nec vereri dubia bellorum, nec Martem, ut dicitur, putare communem, nisi quod vestri contemplatione constabat, de victoria non posse dubitari? Non illi tunc vires, non humana robora, sed vestra numina cogitaverunt. Proposito qualicunque prælio certam sibi spondere fortunam, non tam est fiducia militum, quam felicitas impera-

[a] Cc. 9–19.
[b] A.D. 292.
[c] Carausio, sc. A.D. 287.
[d] Ab Allecto occisus est Carausius A.D. 294.
[e] A.D. 296.

Digitized by Google

torum. Ipse ille autem [a]signifer nefariæ factionis, cur ab eo litore, quod tenebat, abscessit, cur classem portumque deseruit, nisi quod te, Cæsar invicte, cujus imminentia vela conspexerat, timuit jam jamque venturum? Utcunque cum ducibus tuis maluit experiri, quam præsens majestatis tuæ fulmen excipere. Demens, qui nesciebat, quacunque fugeret, ubique vim vestræ divinitatis esse, ubi vultus vestri, ubi signa colerentur.

Te tamen ille fugiens incidit in tuorum manus; a te victus, a tuis exercitibus oppressus est. Denique adeo trepidus, et te post terga respiciens, et in modum amentis attonitus properavit ad mortem, ut nec explicarit aciem, nec omnes copias, quas trahebat, instruxerit, sed cum veteribus illis conjurationis auctoribus, et mercenariis cuneis barbarorum, tanti apparatus oblitus, irruerit. Adeo, Cæsar, hoc etiam reipublicæ tribuit vestra felicitas, ut nemo fere Romanus occiderit, imperio vincente Romano. Omnes enim illos, ut audio, campos, atque colles non nisi teterrimorum hostium corpora fusa texerunt. Illa barbara, aut imitatione barbariæ olim cultu vestis, et prolixo crine rutilantia, tunc vero pulvere et cruore fœdata, et in diversos situs tracta, sicuti dolorem vulnerum fuerant secuta, jacuerunt; atque inter hos ipse vexillarius latrocinii, cultu illo quem vivus violaverat, sponte deposito, et vix unius velaminis repertus indicio. Adeo verum sibi dixerat morte vicina, ut interfectum se nollet agnosci.

Enimvero, Cæsar invicte, tanto deorum immortalium tibi est addicta consensu omnium quidem, quos adortus fueris, hostium, sed præcipue internecio Francorum, ut illi quoque milites vestri, qui per errorem nebulosi, ut paulo ante dixi, maris abjuncti ad oppidum Londiniense pervenerant, quidquid ex mercenaria illa multitudine barbarorum prælio superfuerat, cum, direpta civitate, fugam capescere cogitarent, passim tota urbe confecerint; et non solam provincialibus vestris in cæde hostium dederint salutem, sed etiam in spectaculo voluptatem. O victoria multijuga, et innumerabilium triumphorum, qua Britanniæ restitutæ, qua Francorum vires penitus excisæ, qua multis præterea gentibus, in conjuratione illius sceleris deprehensis, imposita est necessitas obsequendi, denique ad perpetuam quietem maria purgata sunt! Gloriare tu vero, Cæsar invicte, alium te orbem terrarum reperisse, qui, Romanæ potentiæ gloriam restituendo navalem, addidisti imperio terris omnibus majus elementum. Confecisti, inquam, bellum, Cæsar invicte, quod cunctis impendere provinciis videbatur, tamque late vagari et flagrare poterat, quam late omnis oceanus, et Mediterranei sinus adluunt.

Neque enim, si nutu vestri lues illa solis Britanniæ visceribus intabuit, idcirco nescimus, quanto se alias furore jactasset, si fiduciam pervagandi, qua patebat, habuisset. Nullo siquidem certo fine montium, aut fluminum terminabatur, quem dispositæ limitis custodiæ tuerentur; sed ubique, vanis licet motibus virtutem felicitatemque vestram, magnis tamen terroribus imminebat, qua jacent maria, qua venti ferunt. Recursabat quippe in animos illa [b]sub Divo Probo et paucorum ex Francis captivorum incredibilis audacia, et indigna felicitas, qui, a Ponto usque correptis navibus, Græciam, Asiamque populati, nec impune plerisque Libyæ litoribus appulsi, ipsas postremo, navalibus quondam victoriis nobiles, ceperant Syracusas, et immenso itinere pervecti oceanum, qua terras irrupit, intraverant, atque ita eventu temeritatis ostenderant, nihil esse clausum piraticæ desperationi, quo navigiis pateret accessus. Itaque hac victoria vestra non Britannia solum servitute est liberata, sed omnibus nationibus securitas restituta, quæ maritimo usu tantum in bello adire periculi poterant, quantum in pace commodi consequuntur. Nunc secura est, ut de latere Gallico taceam, quamvis pene conspicuis litoribus Hispania, nunc Italia, nunc Africa, nunc omnes usque ad Mæotidas paludes perpetuis curis vacant gentes. Nec idcirco minoribus gaudiis feruntur dempto periculi metu, quod experiundi necessitate caruerunt; sed hoc ipsum et in administratione providentiæ vestræ, et infeliciore fortuna impensius gratulantur, quod tanta illa vis nauticæ rebellionis in vestigiis suis concidit. Atque ipsam Britanniam, quæ sedem diuturno sceleri præbuisset, constat victoriam vestram sui restitutione sensisse.

Merito igitur statim atque ad litus illud exoptatus olim vindex, et liberator appuleras, obvius sese majestati tuæ triumphus effudit, exultantesque gaudio Britanni cum conjugibus, ac liberis obtulerunt, non te ipsum modo, quem, ut cœlo delapsum, intuebantur, sed etiam navis illius, quæ tuum numen advexerat, vela, remigiaque venerantes, paratique te ingredientem stratis sentire corporibus. Nec mirum si tanto gaudio ferebantur, post tot annorum miserrimam captivitatem[c], post violatas conjuges, post liberorum turpe servitium, tandem liberi, tandemque Romani, tandem vera imperii luce recreati. Siquidem præter illam clementiæ vestræ, pietatisque famam, quæ communi gentium voce celebrabatur, in ipso, Cæsar, tuo vultu videbant omnium signa virtutum; in fronte gravitatis, in oculis lenitatis, in rubore verecundiæ, in sermone justitiæ. Quæ singula, ut respectantes adverterunt, lætitiæ clamoribus concinebant; vobis se, vobis liberos suos, vestris liberis omnes generis sui posteros devovebant.

[d]Nihil ex omni terrarum cœlique regione non aut metu quietum est, aut armis domitum, aut pietate devinctum. Et ex aliis quidem partibus aliqua restant, quæ, si voluntas vel ratio rerum desiderent, possitis acquirere: ultra oceanum vero quid erat præter Britanniam? Quæ a vobis ita recuperata est, ut illæ quoque nationes, terminis ejusdem insulæ cohærentes, vestris nutibus obsequantur. Nulla progrediendi causa superest, nisi si, quod natura vetuit, fines ipsius quærantur oceani.

[a] Allectus. [b] A.D. 277. [c] Ab A.D. sc. 287 ad A.D. 296. [d] C. 20.

Digitized by Google

[a] Itaque . . . nunc per victorias tuas, Constanti Cæsar invicte, . . . illa, cujus nomine mihi peculiariter gratulandum, devotissima vobis civitas Æduorum ex hac Britannicæ facultate victoriæ plurimos, quibus illæ provinciæ redundabant, accepit artifices, et nunc, extructione veterum domorum, et refectione operum publicorum, et templorum instauratione consurgit.

[b] Liberavit ille [Constantius] Britannias servitute, tu [Constantine] etiam nobiles, illic oriendo, fecisti.

[c] [Constantius] adscitus imperio, primo adventu suo innumerabili hostium classe ferventem exclusit oceanum, exercitumque illum, qui Bononiensis oppidi littus insederat, terra pariter ac mari sepsit, cum reciprocos cursus illius elementi, jactis inter undas vallis, diremisset, ut, quorum portas fluctus adlueret, mare, et quod tangerent, perdidissent. Qui eodem exercitu virtute capto, clementia conservato, dum ædificandis classibus Britanniæ recuperatio comparatur[d], terram Bataviam, sub ipso quondam alumno suo a diversis Francorum gentibus occupatam, omni hoste purgavit, nec contentus vicisse, ipsas in Romanas transtulit nationes, ut non solum arma, sed etiam feritatem ponere cogerentur. Nam quid ego de receptione Britanniæ loquar? Ad quam[e] ita quieto mari navigavit, ut oceanus ille, tanto vectore stupefactus, caruisse suis motibus videretur; ita pervectus, ut non comitata illum sit, sed præstolata victoria.

Quid de misericordia dicam, qua victis temperavit? quid de justitia, qua spoliatis amissa restituit? quid de providentia, qua sociis sibi junctis se ejusmodi judicem dedit, ut servitutem passos juvaret recepta libertas, culpæ conscios ad pœnitentiam revocaret impunitas?

[f] Dies me ante deficiet, quam oratio, si omnia patris tui facta vel hac brevitate percurram. Cujus etiam suprema illa expeditio non Britannica tropæa, ut vulgo creditum est, expetivit, sed, diis jam vocantibus, ad intimum terrarum limen accessit. Neque enim ille, tot tantisque rebus gestis, non dico Caledonum, aliorumque Pictorum silvas et paludes, sed nec Hiberniam proximam, nec Thulen ultimam, nec ipsas, si quæ sunt, Fortunatorum insulas dignabatur adquirere. . . . [g] Jam tunc enim cœlestibus suffragiis ad salutem reipublicæ vocabaris, cum ad tempus ipsum, quo pater in Britanniam transfretabat, classi, jam vela facienti, repentinus tuus adventus illuxit: ut non advectus cursu publico, sed divino quodam advolasse curriculo videreris.

Non enim ulla Persarum, Cydonumve tela tam certis jactibus destinata fixerunt, quam tempestivus patri tuo, terras relicturo, comes adfuisti, omnesque illius curas, quas præsaga et tacita mente volvebat, præsentiæ tuæ securitate laxasti. Dii boni, quanta Constantium Pium etiam in excessu suo felicitate donastis! Imperator transitum facturus in cœlum vidit, quem relinquebat hæredem. Illico enim atque ille terris fuerat exemtus[h], universus in te consensit exercitus, te omnium mentes, oculique signarunt, et, quanquam tu ad seniores principes de summa republica, quid fieri placeret, retulisses, prævenerunt studio, quod illi mox judicio probaverunt. Purpuram statim tibi, cum primum copiam tui fecit egressus, milites, utilitati publicæ magis, quam tuis adfectibus servientes, injecere lacrymanti. Neque enim fas erat diutius fieri principem consecratum. Diceris etiam, imperator invicte, ardorem illum te deposcentis exercitus fugere conatus, equum calcaribus incitasse. Quod quidem, ut verum audias, adolescentiæ errore faciebas.

[i] O fortunata, et nunc omnibus beatior terris Britannia, quæ Constantinum Cæsarem prima vidisti! Merito te omnibus cæli ac soli bonis natura donavit, in qua nec rigor est nimius hiemis, nec ardor æstatis, in qua segetum tanta fœcunditas, ut muneribus utrisque sufficiat, et Cereris et Liberi, in qua nemora sine immanibus bestiis, terra sine serpentibus noxiis; contra pecorum mitium innumerabilis multitudo, lacte distenta, et onusta velleribus; certe quidem, quod propter vitam diligitur, longissimæ dies, et nullæ sine aliqua luce noctes, dum illa littorum extrema planities non attollit umbras, noctisque metam cæli et siderum transit adspectus; ut sol ipse, qui nobis videtur occidere, ibi appareat præterire. Dii boni, quid hoc est, quod semper ex aliquo supremo fine mundi nova deum numina, universo orbi colenda, descendunt?

[k] Imperatoris igitur filius, et tanti imperatoris, et ipse tam feliciter adeptus imperium, quo modo rempublicam vindicare cœpisti? Ignobilem, credo, aliquam barbarorum manum, quæ repentino impetu, et improviso latrocinio ortus tui auspicia tentasset, adfecisti pœna temeritatis.

[l] Ille [Constantius] oceanum classe transmisit[m], tu [Constantine] et Alpes gradu, et classibus portus Italicos occupasti. Recuperavit ille Britanniam, tu nobilissimas Africi maris insulas, quæ populi Romani fuere provinciæ.

[n] Attritam pedestribus præliis Bataviam referam? Saxo consumptus bellis navalibus offeretur. Redactum ad paludes suas Scotum loquar[o]? Compulsus in solitudines avias omnis Alamannus, et uterque Maurus occurrent.

[p] Quis non ad primum novi sceleris [q] nuncium hominem risit? nam res infra dignitatem iracundiæ

[a] C. 21.
[b] Incerti Panegyrici Maximiano et Constantino c. 4. Ubi supra.
Habitus est A.D. 307.
[c] Eumenii Panegyrici Constantino Augusto cc. 5, 6. Ubi supra.
Habitus est A.D. 310.
[d] A.D. 293. [e] A.D. 296. [f] Cc. 7, 8.
[g] A.D. 296. [h] A.D. 306. [i] C. 9.
[k] C. 10.
[l] Incerti Panegyrici Constantino Augusto c. 25. Ubi supra.
Habitus est A.D. 313.
[m] A.D. 296.
[n] Latini Pacati Drepanii Panegyrici Theodosio Augusto c. 5. Ed. De la Baune, Paris. 1676.
Habitus est A.D. 391.
[o] A.D. 368. v. inf. p. lxxiii. [p] C. 23.
[q] Maximi nempe ab exercitu in Britannia, A.D. 383, in imperatorem electi.

Digitized by Google

videbatur, cum pauci homines, et insulani totius incendium continentis adolerent, et regali habitu exulem suum illi exules orbis induerent? At quantos parturiebat fortuna motus, quantum reipublicæ malum pestis augenda, quantam tibi gloriam restinguenda servabat? præcipue cum perfidia ducum, defectione legionum contra rempublicam foret versum quicquid pro republica fuerat armatum.

[a] Quod si cui ille [Maximus] pro ceteris sceleribus suis minus crudelis fuisse videtur, vestrum is vestrum, Vallio triumphalis, et trabeate Merobaudes recordetur interitum. Quorum alter post amplissimos magistratus, et purpuras consulares, et contractum intra unam domum quendam honorum senatum, vita sese abdicare compulsus est; alteri manibus satellitum Britannorum gula domi fracta, et inusta fœmineæ mortis infamia, ut scilicet maluisse vir ferri amantissimus videretur laqueo perire quam gladio. Sed in illos fortasse speciales putaretur habuisse odiorum causas tyrannus; steterat enim uterque in acie Gratiani, et Gratianus utrumque dilexerat: quid de his dicimus, qui honorum ac principum nescii, et tantum inter suos clari, nobiles animas sub carnifice fuderunt?

[b] An sustinere te coram, et solum oculorum tuorum ferre conjectum ille [Maximus] quondam domus tuæ negligentissimus vernula, mensularumque servilium statarius lixa potuisset? Non statim totum subisset hominem præterita sui tuique reputatio? Non ipse sibi objecisset te esse triumphalis viri filium; se patris incertum? te hæredem nobilissimæ familiæ; se clientem? te omni retro tempore Romani exercitus ducem, libertatis patronum; se orbis extorrem, patriæque fugitivum? jam vero te principem in medio reipublicæ sinu, omnium suffragio militum, consensu provinciarum, ipsius denique ambitu imperatoris optatum; se in ultimo terrarum recessu, legionibus nesciis, adversis provinciarum studiis, nullis denique auspiciis in illud tyrannici nominis aspirasse furtum?

[c] Ibat interim Maximus, ac te post terga respectans in modum amentis attonitus avolabat.... Quoties sibi ipsum putamus dixisse, quo fugio?... Repeto Britanniam? quam reliqui.

EX LUCIO AMPELIO.[d]

[e] Clarissimæ insulæ in mari nostro... ad occidentem Britannia: ad septentrionem Thyle.

[f] Gaius Cæsar... Gallias Germaniasque subegit, et primus Romanorum navigavit oceanum, in quo Britanniam invenit et vicit.

[g] Per Caium Cæsarem Gallias et Germanias [vicit Populus Romanus]. Britanniam sub hoc duce non tantum vidit, sed etiam navigavit oceanum.

EX EUSEBIO PAMPHILO.[h]

[i] Ἡμέροις γέ τοι καὶ σώφροσι θεοσεβείας παραγγέλμασι τὸν αὐτοῦ φραξάμενος στρατὸν, ἐπῆλθε [ὁ Κωνσταντῖνος] μὲν τὴν Βρεττανῶν καὶ τοὺς ἐν αὐτῷ οἰκοῦντας ὠκεανῷ τῷ κατὰ δύοντα ἥλιον περιοριζομένῳ.

[k] Ὡς οὖν ἐπὶ τῆς βασιλείας ἵδρυτο, τέως μὲν τῆς παλαιᾶς προενόει λήξεως, ἐπισκοπῶν σὺν πολλῇ τῇ φιλανθρωπίᾳ πάνθ' ὅσα πρότερον ἔθνη ὑπὸ τῇ τοῦ πατρὸς μοίρᾳ διεκυβερνᾶτο... τὰς λοιπὰς τῆς οἰκουμένης λήξεις πρὸ ὀφθαλμῶν θέμενος, τέως μὲν ἐπὶ τὰ Βρεττανῶν ἔθνη διέβαινεν, ἔνδον ἐπ' αὐτῷ κείμενα ὠκεανῷ· παρασησάμενος δὲ ταῦτα, διεσκόπει ἑτέρας τοῦ παντὸς μοίρας.

[l] Καλῶς ἔχειν ἅπαντες ἡγήσαντο... ἵν' ὅπερ δ' ἂν καὶ τὴν τῶν Ῥωμαίων πόλιν τε καὶ Ἀφρικὴν, Ἰταλίαν τε ἅπασαν, Αἴγυπτον, Σπανίαν, Γαλλίας, Βρεττανίας, Λιβύας,... μιᾷ καὶ συμφώνῳ φυλάττεται γνώμῃ, ἀσμένως τοῦτο καὶ ἡ ὑμετέρα προσδέξηται συνέσις... ἵνα δὲ τὸ κεφαλαιωδέστερον συντόμως εἴπω, κοινῇ πάντων ἤρεσε κρίσει, τὴν ἁγιωτάτην τοῦ Πάσχα ἑορτὴν μιᾷ καὶ τῇ αὐτῇ ἡμέρᾳ συντελεῖσθαι.

[m] Ἀρχομένῳ μὲν τῆς βασιλείας αὐτῷ, οἱ πρὸς ἥλιον δύοντα ὠκεανῷ Βρεττανοὶ, πρῶτοι καθυπετάγησαν.

EX JULIANO IMPERATORE.[n]

[o] Τὸ δὴ μετὰ τοῦτο, δεύτερος ἐνιαυτὸς καὶ τρίτος· καὶ πάντες μὲν ἀπελήλαντο τῆς Γαλατίας οἱ βάρβαροι· πλεῖσται δὲ ἀνελήφθησαν τῶν πόλεων· παμπληθεῖς δὲ ἀπὸ γῆς Βρεττανίδος ναῦς ἀνήχθησαν·... διενοούμην,... πᾶσαν ἀπορρίψας τὴν βασιλικὴν πολυτέλειαν, καὶ παρασκευὴν, ἡσυχάζειν· πράττειν δὲ οὐδὲν ὅλως. ἀνέμενον δὲ

EUSEBIUS.[h]

[i] And having fortified his army with the mild and pure precepts of religion, he [Constantine] went against the land of the Britons, and against those who dwell in that ocean which is bounded by the setting sun.

[k] When he [Constantine] was firmly seated in the empire, he first turned his attention to his paternal share; regarding with much kindness all the nations which had formerly been under the government of his father... Contemplating the remaining portions of the habitable earth, he then passed over to the British nations, lying within the very ocean: and having subjugated these, he turned his mind to the other parts of the world.

[l] All have deemed it fitting... that that rule which is observed within the city of the Romans, and throughout Africa, the whole of Italy, Egypt, Spain, Gaul, Britain, and Lybia... with one and common consent,... this also your acquiescence should readily adopt,... and to speak summarily and concisely, it has pleased the common judgment of all, that the most holy feast of Easter should be celebrated on one and the same day.

[m] And during his reign the Britons, within the western ocean, were first subdued.

JULIAN.[n]

[o] And after this, a second and a third year elapsed, and all the barbarians were driven out of Gaul, and the greater part of the cities were recovered: and very many ships arrived from the Bretannic land... I had intended,... having cast aside all regal pomp and retinue, to be at rest and wholly free from public affairs; and I waited until Florentius and Lupicinus should

[a] C. 28. A.D. 383. [b] C. 31.
[c] C. 38. A.D. 388.
[d] Lucii Ampelii Libro Memoriali. Ed. Dukeri, Lugd. Batav. 1744.
Lucium Ampelium ineunte sæculo quarto floruisse conjectant.
[e] C. 6. [f] C. 18.
[g] C. 47.

[h] Eusebii Pamphili de Vita Constantini lib. I. c. 8. Ed. Reading, Cantabrigiæ, 1720.
Eusebius diem obiit cir. A.D. 340.
[i] A.D. 306. [k] Lib. I. c. 25. [l] Lib. III. c. 19. [m] Lib. IV. c. 50.
[n] Juliani Imperatoris ad S.P.Q. Atheniensem Epistola. Lipsiæ, 1696, pp. 279 et 283.
Periit Julianus A.D. 363.
[o] A.D. 359, 360.

Digitized by Google

Φλωρένλιον παραγενέσθαι, καὶ τὸν Λουππικῖνον· ἦν γὰρ ὁ μὲν περὶ τὴν Βίενναν, ὁ δὲ ἐν ταῖς Βρεττανίαις.

[a] Ἐγὼ δὲ [ὁ Ἰούλιος] . . . πρῶτος ἐτόλμησα Ῥωμαίων ἐπιβῆναι τῆς ἐκεῖ θαλάσσης. καὶ τοιοῦτο ἦν ἴσως τὸ ἔργον θαυμασιὸν, καὶ τοι τὴν τόλμαν καὶ ταύτην ἄξιον θαυμάσαι· ἀλλὰ τὸ μεῖζόν μοι, τὸ ἀποβῆναι τῆς νεὼς πρῶτον.

E SEXTO RUFO FESTO.[b]

Sub consulibus . . . Galliæ et Britanniæ tributariæ factæ sunt.

[c] C. Cæsar cum decem legionibus, quæ quaterna millia militum Italorum habuerunt, per annos octo ab Alpibus ad Rhenum usque Gallias subegit: cum barbaris ultra Rhenum positis conflixit: in Britanniam transivit; decimo anno Gallias et Britannias tributarias fecit.

Sunt in Gallia cum Aquitania et Britanniis, decem et octo provinciæ: . . . in Britannia Maxima Cæsariensis, Flavia, Britannia prima, Britannia secunda.

E SEXTO AURELIO VICTORE.[d]

[e] Prætor [C. Julius Cæsar] Lusitaniam, et post Galliam, ab Alpibus usque oceanum bis classe transgressus, Britanniam subegit.

[f] Denique bonis auctoribus compressa per eum [Claudium] vitia, ac per Galliam Druidarum famosæ superstitiones; . . . simul, ultima occasus, Britaniæ partes contusæ, quam solam adiit, Ostia profectus mari, nam cætera duces curavere.

[g] Pescennium Nigrum apud Cyzicenos, Clodium Albinum Lugduni victos coegit [Severus] mori. Quorum prior, Ægyptum dux obtinens, bellum moverat spe dominationis: alter Pertinacis auctor occidendi, cum eo metu in Britannos, quam provinciam a Commodo meruerat, tramittere nitebatur, in Gallia invaserat imperium. . . . His majora aggressus [Severus], Britanniam, quæ ad ea utilis erat, pulsis hostibus, muro munivit, per transversam insulam ducto, utrimque ad finem oceani . . . Cum pedibus æger bellum moraretur idque milites anxie ferrent, ejusque filium Bassianum, qui Cæsar una aderat, Augustum fecissent; in tribunal se ferri, 'adesse omnes, imperatoremque ac tribunos, centuriones ac cohortes, quibus auctoribus acciderat, sisti, reorum modo,' jussit. Quo metu stratus humi victor, cum tantorum exercitus veniam precaretur: 'Sentitisne' inquit, pulsans manu, 'caput potius quam pedes inperare?' Neque multo post Britanniæ municipio, cui Eboraci nomen, annis regni duodeviginti morbo extinctus est.

[h] Sed Herculius in Galliam profectus, fusis hostibus aut acceptis, quieta omnia brevi patraverat. Quo bello Carausius, Menapiæ civis, factis promptioribus enituit, eoque eum, simul quia gubernandi, quo officio adolescentiam mercede exercuerat, gnarus habebatur, parandæ classi ac propulsandis Germanis maria infestantibus, præfecere. Hoc elatior, cum parum multos opprimeret, neque prædæ omnia in ærarium referret, Herculii metu, a quo se cædi jussum compererat, Britanniam hausto inperio capessivit. . . . Per Africam gestæ res pari modo; solique Carausio remissum insulæ inperium, postquam jussis ac munimento incolarum contra gentes bellicosas opportunior habitus. Quem sane sexennio post Allectus nomine dolo circumvenit. Qui cum ejus permissu summæ rei præesset, flagitiorum et ob ea mortis formidine, per scelus inperium extorserat. Quo usum brevi, Constantius, Asclepiodoto, qui prætorianis præfectus præerat, cum parte classis ac legionum præmisso, delevit.

[i] Igitur Constantio, Armentarioque his succedentibus, Severus Maximinusque Illyricorum indigenæ Cæsares, prior Italiam, posterior in quæ Jovius obtinuerat, destinantur. Quod tolerare nequiens Constantinus, cujus jam tum a puero ingens potensque animus ardore inperitandi agitabatur, fugæ commento, cum ad frustrandos insequentes publica jumenta, quaqua iter egerat, interficeret, in Britanniam pervenit; nam is a Galerio religionis specie ad vicem obsidis tenebatur. Et forte iisdem diebus ibidem Constantium patrem vitæ ultima agebant. Quo mortuo cunctis, qui aderant, adnitentibus, imperium capit.

EX SEXTI AURELII VICTORIS EPITOME.[k]

Possidio eunucho post triumphum Britannicum, inter militarium fortissimos, arma insignia tanquam participi victoriæ dono dedit [Claudius.]

[l] Septimus Severus imperavit annos decem et octo. Hic Pescennium interemit, hominem omnium turpitudinum. Sub eo etiam Albinus, qui in Gallia se Cæsarem fecerat, apud Lugdunum occiditur. Hic Severus filios suos successores relinquit Bassianum et Getam. Hic in Britannia vallum per triginta duo passuum millia a mari ad mare deduxit.[m]

[n] Hoc tempore Charausio in Galliis, Achilleus apud Ægyptum, Julianus in Italia imperatores effecti, diverso exitu periere.

[o] Hic [Constantinus] dum juvenculus a Galerio in urbe Roma religionis specie obses teneretur, fugam arripiens, atque ad frustrandos insequentes, publica jumenta, quaqua iter egerat, interfecit, et arrive, for one of them was at Vienna, and the other in the Bretannic isles.

---

[a] Moreover I [Julius], . . . first of the Romans, dared to embark upon the outer sea, and this perhaps was a wonderful act, and it may be permitted to wonder at such daring; but to me the greater wonder is, my being the first to disembark from the ship.

[a] Juliani de Cæsaribus p. 320. Ubi supra.
[b] Sexti Rufi Festi Breviarii c. 3. Ed. Havercamp. Lugd. Batav. 1729.
Floruit Rufus Festus A.D. 360.
[c] C. 6. An. A.C. 55.
[d] Sexti Aurelii Victoris de Viris Illustribus c. 78. Ed. Arntzenii, Amstelod. 1733.
Aurelium Victorem A.D. 360 floruisse conjectant.
[e] An. A.C. 55.
[f] De Cæsaribus, c. 4. A.D. 43.
[g] C. 20. A.D. 193–211.
[h] C. 39. A.D. 287–96.
[i] C. 40. A.D. 306.
[k] Sexti Aurelii Victoris Epitomes c. 4. Ubi supra. A.D. 44.
[l] C. 20. A.D. 193.
[m] Conf. p. lxv.
[n] C. 39. A.D. 287.
[o] C. 41. A.D. 306.

Digitized by Google

ad patrem in Britanniam pervenit; et forte hisdem diebus ibidem Constantium parentem fata ultima perurguebant. Quo mortuo, cunctis qui aderant adnitentibus, sed præcipue Eroco Alamannorum rege, auxilii gratia Constantium comitato, inperium capit.

[a] Hoc tempore cum Maximus apud Britanniam tyrannidem arripuisset, et in Galliam transmisisset, ab infensis Gratiano legionibus exceptus, Gratianum fugavit, nec mora extinxit.

[b] Maximum autem tyrannum qui Gratianum interfecerat, et sibi Gallias vindicabat, apud Aquileiam extinxit [Theodosius], Victoremque ejus filium, intra infantiæ annos a Maximo patre Augustum factum, necavit.

EX EUTROPIO.[c]

[d] Deinde [Julius] vincendo per bella gravissima, usque ad oceanum Britannicum processit... Britannis mox bellum intulit; quibus ante eum ne nomen quidem Romanorum cognitum erat: et eos quoque victos, obsidibus acceptis stipendiarios fecit.

[e] Britanniæ bellum intulit [Claudius], quam nullus Romanorum post Julium Cæsarem attigerat: eaque devicta per Cn. Sentium, et A. Plautium, illustres et nobiles viros, triumphum celebrem egit. Quasdam insulas etiam ultra Britanniam in oceano positas, Romano imperio addidit, quæ appellantur Orcades, filioque suo Britannici nomen imposuit. Tam civilis autem circa quosdam amicos exstitit, ut etiam Plautium, nobilem virum, qui in expeditione Britannica multa egregie fecerat, triumphantem ipse prosequeretur, et conscendenti Capitolium lævus incederet.

[f] In re militari nihil omnino ausus [Nero], Britanniam pene amisit. Nam duo sub hoc nobilissima oppida capta illic atque eversa sunt.

[g] Vespasianus huic [Vitellio] successit,... privata vita illustris; ut qui a Claudio in Germaniam, deinde in Britanniam missus, tricies et bis cum hoste conflixerit; duas validissimas gentes, xx. oppida, insulam Vectam, Britanniæ proximam, imperio Romano adjecerit.

[h] Novissimum bellum in Britannia habuit [Severus]: utque receptas provincias omni securitate muniret, vallum per XXXII. milia passuum a mari ad mare deduxit.[i] Decessit Eboraci admodum senex.

[k] Per hæc tempora etiam Carausius, qui vilissime natus, strenuæ militiæ ordine famam egregiam fuerat consecutus, cum apud Bononiam per tractum Belgicæ et Armoricæ pacandum mare accepisset, quod Franci et Saxones infestabant, multis barbaris sæpe captis, nec præda integra aut provincialibus reddita, aut imperatoribus missa; cum suspicio esse cœpisset, consulto ab eo admitti barbaros, ut transeuntes cum præda exciperet, atque hac se occasione ditaret; a Maximiano jussus occidi, purpuram sumpsit, et Britannias occupavit.

Ita cum per omnem orbem terrarum res turbatæ essent, et Carausius in Britanniis rebellaret,... Diocletianus... fecit... Constantium et Maximum Cæsares... Cum Carausio tamen, cum bella frustra tentata essent contra virum rei militaris peritissimum, ad postremum pax convenit. Eum post septennium Allectus, socius ejus, occidit, atque ipse post eum Britannias triennio tenuit: qui ductu Asclepiodoti præfecti prætorio est oppressus. Ita Britanniæ decimo anno receptæ.

[l] Hic [Constantius] non modo amabilis, sed etiam venerabilis Gallis fuit: præcipue quod Diocletiani suspectam prudentiam, et Maximiani sanguinariam temeritatem imperio ejus evaserant. Obiit in Britannia, Eboraci, principatus anno tertio decimo, atque inter divos relatus est.

[m] Verum Constantio mortuo, Constantinus, ex obscuriori matrimonio ejus filius, in Britannia creatus est imperator, et in locum patris exoptatissimus moderator accessit.

EX AMMIANO MARCELLINO.[n]

[o] Inter quos [Constantii adulatores] Paulus eminebat notarius, ortus in Hispania, glabro quidem sub vultu latens, odorandi vias periculorum occultas perquam sagax. Is in Britanniam missus, ut militares quosdam perduceret, ausos conspirasse Magnentio, cum reniti non possent, jussa licentius supergressus, fluminis modo fortunis complurium sese repentinus infudit, et ferebatur per strages multiplices ac ruinas, vinculis membra ingenuorum adfligens, et quosdam obterens manicis, crimina scilicet multa consarcinando, a veritate longe discreta. Unde admissum est facinus impium, quod Constantii tempus nota inusserat sempiterna. Martinus agens illas provincias pro præfectis, ærumnas innocentium graviter gemens, sæpeque obsecrans, ut ab omni culpa immunibus parceretur, cum non impetraret, minabatur se discessurum: ut saltem id metuens perquisitor malevolus, tandem desineret quieti coalitos homines in aperta pericula projectare. Per hoc minui studium suum existimans Paulus, ut erat in complicandis negotiis artifex dirus, unde ei Catenæ inditum est cognomentum, vicarium ipsum eos, quibus præerat, adhuc defensantem, ad sortem periculorum communium traxit. Et instabat ut eum quoque, cum tribunis et aliis pluribus, ad comitatum imperatoris vinctum perduceret: quo percitus ille, exitio urgente abrupto, ferro eumdem adoritur Paulum. Et quia languente dextera letaliter ferire non potuit, jam districtum

[a] C. 47. A.D. 383. [b] C. 48. A.D. 388.
[c] Eutropii Breviarii Historiæ Romanæ lib. VI. c. 17. Ed. Havercamp. Lugd. Batav. 1729.
Floruit Eutropius A.D. 360.
[d] An. A.C. 55. [e] Lib. VII. c. 13. A.D. 43.
[f] C. 14. A.D. 61. [g] C. 19. A.D. 69.
[h] Lib. VIII. c. 19. A.D. 208–211. [i] Conf. p. lxv.
[k] Lib. IX. cc. 21, 22. A.D. 287–296.
[l] Lib. X. c. 1. A.D. 306.
[m] C. 2. A.D. 306.
[n] Ammiani Marcellini Historiarum lib. XIV. c. 5. Ed. Erfurdt, Lipsiæ, 1808.
Claruit Ammianus Marcellinus A.D. 380.
[o] A.D. 353?

Digitized by Google

mucronem in proprium latus impegit: hocque deformi genere mortis excessit e vita justissimus, remora ausus miserabiles casus levare multorum. Quibus ita sceleste patratis, Paulus cruore perfusus, reversusque ad principis castra multos coopertos pene catenis adduxit, in squalorem dejectos atque mœstitiam; quorum adventu intendebantur eculei, uncosque parabat carnifex et tormenta. Et ex iis proscripti sunt plures, actique in exilium alii: nonnullos gladii consumsere pœnales.

[a][Julianus] id inter potissima mature duxit implendum, ut... civitates multo ante excisas introiret, receptasque communiret: horrea quinetiam extrueret pro incensis, ubi condi possent annona, a Britannis sueta transferri.

[b]Consulatu vero Constantii decies, terque Juliani, in Britanniis, cum Scottorum Pictorumque gentium ferarum excursus, rupta quiete condicta, loca limitibus vicina vastarent, et implicaret formido provincias præteritarum cladium congerie fessas: hyemem agens apud Parisios Cæsar,[c] distractusque in solicitudines varias, verebatur ire subsidio transmarinis: ut retulimus[d] ante fecisse Constantem, ne rectore vacuas relinqueret Gallias, Alemannis ad sævitiam etiam tum incitatis et bella. Ire igitur ad hæc ratione vel vi componenda Lupicinum placuit, ea tempestate magistrum armorum, bellicosum sane, et castrensis rei peritum, sed supercilia erigentem ut cornua, et de tragico, quod aiunt, cothurno strepentem: super quo diu ambigebatur, avarus esset potius, an crudelis. Moto ergo velitari auxilio, Aerulis scilicet et Batavis, numerisque Moesiacorum duobus, adulta hyeme dux antedictus Bononiam venit; quæsitisque navigiis, et omni imposito milite, observato flatu secundo ventorum, ad Rutupias sitas ex adverso defertur, petitque Lundinium: ut exinde suscepto pro rei qualitate consilio, festinaret ocius ad procinctum.

[e][Constantius] Decentium tribunum et notarium misit, auxiliares milites exinde [a Gallia] protinus abstracturum Aerulos et Batavos, cumque Petulantibus Celtas, et lectos ex numeris aliis trecentenos, hac specie jussos accelerare, ut adesse possint armis primo vere movendis in Parthos. Et super auxiliariis quidem et trecentenis cogendis ocius proficisci Lupicinus conventus est solus, transisse ad Britannias nondum compertus.

[f]Et quoniam cum hæc ita procederent, timebatur Lupicinus, licet absens, agensque etiam tum apud Britannos, homo superbæ mentis et turgidæ, eratque suspicio, quod, si hæc trans mare didicisset, novarum rerum materias excitaret: notarius Bononiam mittitur, observaturus sollicite, ne quisquam fretum oceani transire permitteretur. Quo vetito, reversus Lupicinus, antequam horum quidquam sciret, nullas ciere potuit turbas.

[g]Et Palladium primum ex magistro officiorum in Britannos exterminarunt, suspicione tenus insimulatum, quædam in Gallum composuisse apud Constantium, dum sub eodem Cæsare officiorum esset magister.

[h][Julianus] apud Hierosolymam templum... instaurare sumptibus cogitabat immodicis; negotiumque maturandum Alypio dederat Antiochensi, qui olim Britannias curaverat pro præfectis.

[i]Quod genus gemmæ [margaritæ] etiam in Britannici secessibus maris gigni legique, licet dignitate dispari, non ignoramus.

[k]Hoc tempore... Picti Saxonesque et Scoti, et Attacotti Britannos ærumnis vexavere continuis.

[l]Profectus itaque [Valentinianus] ab Ambianis, Treverosque festinans, nuntio percellitur gravi, qui Britannias indicabat barbarica conspiratione ad ultimam vexatas inopiam: Nectaridumque comitem maritimi tractus occisum, et Fullofaudem ducem hostium insidiis circumventum. Quibus magno cum horrore compertis, Severum etiam tum domesticorum comitem misit, si fors casum dedisset optatum, correcturum sequius gesta: quo paulo postea revocato, Jovinus eadem loca profectus, Provertuidem celeri gradu præmisit, adminicula petiturus exercitus validi. Id enim instantes necessitates flagitare firmabant. Postremo ob multa et metuenda, quæ super eadem insula rumores assidui perferebant, electus Theodosius illuc properare disponitur, officiis Martiis felicissime cognitus: adscitaque animosa legionum et cohortium pube; ire tendebat præeunte fiducia speciosa. Et quoniam, cum Constantis principis actus componerem[d] motus adulescentis et senescentis oceani, situmque Britanniæ pro captu virium explanavi, ad ea quæ digesta sunt semel, revolvi superfluum duxi: ut Ulixes Homericus apud Phæacas ob difficultatem nimiam replicare formidat. Illud tamen sufficiet dici, quod eo tempore Picti in duas gentes divisi, Dicalidonas et Vecturiones, itidemque Attacotti, bellicosa hominum natio, et Scotti, per diversa vagantes multa populabantur: Gallicanos vero tractus Franci et Saxones iisdem confines, quo quisque erumpere potuit terra vel mari, prædis acerbis incendiisque, et captivorum funeribus hominum violabant.

Ad hæc prohibenda, si copiam dedisset fortuna prosperior, orbis extrema dux efficacissimus petens, cum venisset ad Bononiæ littus, quod a spatio controverso terrarum angustiis reciproci distinguitur maris, attolli horrendis æstibus adsueti, rursusque sine ulla navigantium noxa in speciem complanari camporum: exinde, transmeato lentius freto, defertur Rutupias, stationem ex adverso tranquillam. Unde cum consequuti Batavi venissent et Eruli, Joviique et Victores, fidentes viribus numeri, egressus tendensque ad Lundinium vetus oppidum, quod Augustam posteritas adpellavit, divisis plurifariam globis, adortus est vagantes hostium vastatorias

[a] Lib. XVIII. c. 2. A.D. 359. [b] Lib. XX. c. 1. A.D. 360. [c] Julianus. [d] Hæc infauste perierunt. [e] C. 4. [f] C. 9. [g] Lib. XXII. c. 3. A.D. 361. [h] Lib. XXIII. c. 1. A.D. 363. [i] C. 6. A.D. 363. [k] Lib. XXVI. c. 4. A.D. 364. [l] Lib. XXVII. cc. 8, 9. A.D. 368.

Digitized by Google

manus, graves onere sarcinarum: et propere fusis, qui vinctos homines agebant et pecora, prædam excussit, quam tributarii perdidere miserrimi. His denique restituta omni, præter partem exiguam, impensam militibus fessis, mersam difficultatibus suis antehac civitatem, sed subito, quam salus sperari potuit recreatam, in ovantis speciem lætissimus introiit.

Ubi ad audenda majora prospero successu elatus, tutaque scrutando consilia, futuri morabatur ambiguus, diffusam variarum gentium plebem et ferocientem immaniter, non nisi per dolos occultiores et improvisos excursus superari posse, captivorum confessionibus et transfugarum indiciis doctus. Denique edictis propositis impunitateque promissa, desertores ad procinctum vocabat, et multos alios per diversa libero commeatu dispersos. Quo monitu ut rediere plerique, incentivo percitus, retentusque anxiis curis, Civilem nomine recturum Britannias pro præfectis ad se poposcerat mitti, virum acrioris ingenii, sed justi tenacem et recti: itidemque Dulcitium ducem scientia rei militaris insignem. Hæc in Britanniis agebantur.

[a] Hæc, Valentinianus relatione judicum doctus, asperius interpretantium facta, vigore nimio in negotium jussit inquiri. Et quia Frontinus consiliarius antedicti [Amantii,] minister fuisse conceptæ precationis arguebatur, concisus virgis atque confessus, ablegatus est in exilium ad Britannos.

[b] Maratocupreni [Syri] grassatores acerrimi vagabantur . . . nec quisquam adventum eorum cavere poterat inopinum, non destinata, sed varia petentium et longinqua, et, quoquo ventus duxerat, irrumpentium: quam ob causam præ cæteris hostibus Saxones timentur ut repentini.

[c] Theodosius vero dux nominis inclyti, animo vigore collecto ab Augusta profectus, quam veteres adpellavere Lundinium, cum milite industria comparato solerti, versis turbatisque Britannorum fortunis opem maximam tulit: opportuna ubique ad insidiandum barbaris præveniens loca, nihil gregariis imperans, cujus non ipse primitias alacri capesseret mente. Hocque genere cum strenui militis munia et præclari ducis curas expleret, fusis variis gentibus et fugatis, quas insolentia nutriente securitate adgredi Romanas res inflammabat, in integrum restituit civitates et castra multiplicibus quidem damnis adflicta, sed ad quietem temporis longi fundata.

Evenerat autem eodem hæc agente facinus dirum erupturum in periculum grave, ni inter ipsa conatus principia fuisset extinctum. Valentinus quidam in Valeria Pannoniæ superbi spiritus homo, Maximini illius exitialis vicarii, postea præfecti conjugis frater, ob grave crimen actus in Britannias exul, quietis impatiens malefica bestia ad res perniciosas consurgebat et novas, in Theodosium tumore quodam, quem solum resistere posse nefandis cogitationibus advertebat. Multa tamen clam palamque circumspiciens, crescente flatu cupiditatis immensæ exsules sollicitabat et milites, pro temporis captu ausorum illecebrosas pollicendo mercedes. Jamque propinquante tentatorum effectu, doctus hæc, unde convenerat, dux alacrior ad audendum, et corde celso ad vindictam compertorum erectus, Valentinum quidem cum paucis arta sibi societate junctissimis letali pœna plectendos Dulcitio dediderat duci: militari scientia vero, qua superabat præsentes, futura conjiciens, de conjuratis quæstiones agitari prohibuit, ne formidine sparsa per multos, reviviscerent provinciarum turbines compositi.

Hinc ad corrigenda plura conversus et necessaria, periculo penitus dempto, cum aperte constaret nulla ejus cœpta propitiam deseruisse fortunam, instaurabat urbes et præsidiaria, ut diximus, castra, limitesque vigiliis tuebatur et prætenturis: recuperatamque provinciam, quæ in ditionem concesserat hostium, ita reddiderat statui pristino, ut eodem referente et rectorem haberet legitimum, et Valentia deinde vocaretur arbitrio principis velut ovantis.*

Areanos genus hominum a veteribus institutum, super quibus aliqua in actibus Constantis retulimus, paullatim prolapsos in vitia a stationibus suis removit: aperte convictos, acceptarum promissarumque magnitudine prædarum allectos, quæ apud nos agebantur, aliquotiens barbaris prodidisse. Id enim illis erat officium, ut ultro citroque per longa spatia discurrentes, vicinarum gentium strepitus nostris ducibus intimarent.

Ita spectatissime antedictis rebus aliisque administratis similibus, ad comitatum accitus, tripudiantesque relinquens provincias, ut Furius Camillus vel Cursor Papirius, victoriis crebris et salutaribus erat insignis. Et favore omnium adusque fretum deductus, leni vento transgressus, venit ad commilitium principis: cumque gaudio susceptus et laudibus, in locum Valentis Jovini successit, qui equorum copias tuebatur.

[d] Alypius quoque ex vicario Britanniarum, placiditatis homo jucundæ, . . . ut veneficii reus citatus est cum Hierocle filio.

[e] Valentinianus . . . in Macriani locum Bucinobantibus, quæ contra Mogontiacum gens est Alamanna, regem Fraomarium ordinavit: quem paulo postea, quoniam recens excursus eumdem penitus vastaverat pagum, in Britannos translatum potestate tribuni, Alamannorum præfecerat numero, multitudine viribusque ea tempestate florenti.

[f] Gratianus [Valentiniani pater] . . . comes præfuit rei castrensi per Africam: unde furtorum suspicione contactus, digressusque, multo postea pari potestate Britannum rexit exercitum, tandemque honeste sacramento solutus reverti ad larem: et agens procul a strepitu, multatione bonorum adflictus est a Constantio hoc nomine, quod civili flagrante discordia, hospicio dicebatur suscepisse

[a] Lib. XXVIII. c. 1. A.D. 368.
[b] C. 2. A.D. 369.
[c] C. 3.
[d] Lib. XXIX. c. 1. A.D. 371.
[e] C. 4.
[f] Lib. XXX. c. 7. A.D. 375.

Digitized by Google

Magnentium, per agrum suum ad proposita [a]festinantem....

Britannos, catervas superfusorum hostium non ferentes[b], spe meliorum adsumpta, [Valentinianus] in libertatem et quietem restituit placidam, nullo pæne redire permisso grassatorum ad sua.

Efficacia pari Valentinum quoque Pannonium exulem per has provincias molientem otium turbare commune[c], antequam negotium effervesceret oppressit.

[d]In provinciales admodum parcus [Valentinianus], tributorum ubique molliens sarcinas: oppidorum et limitum conditor tempestivus: militaris disciplinæ censor eximius, in hoc tantum deerrans, quod, cum gregariorum etiam levia puniret errata, potiorum ducum flagitia progredi sinebat in majus, ad querelas in eos motas aliquoties obsurdescens: unde Britannici strepitus et Africanæ clades, et vastitas emersit Illyrici.

EX AUCTORE IGNOTO.[e]

Constantinus... ad patrem Constantium venit apud Bononiam... Post victoriam autem Pictorum Constantius pater Eboraci mortuus est, et Constantinus omnium militum consensu Cæsar creatus...

Postquam vero Constantius in Britannia mortuus est[f] et Constantinus filius successit, subito in urbe Roma Prætoriani milites Maxentium filium Herculii imperatorem crearunt.

EX EUNAPIO SARDIANO.[g]

[h]Ὁρῶν [ὁ Ἰουλιάνος] εὐπροσωπόν τε ἅμα, καὶ ἀναγκαίαν αὐτῷ τὴν εἰρήνην (Χαμάβων γὰρ μὴ βουλομένων, ἀδύνατόν ἐστι τὴν τῆς Βρεττανικῆς νήσου σιτοπομπίαν ἐπὶ τὰ Ῥωμαϊκὰ φρούρια διαπέμπεσθαι) καμπτόμενος ὑπὸ τῆς χρείας, χαρίζεται τὴν εἰρήνην.

EX OLYMPIODORO.[i]

Ὅτι Κωνσταντῖνος εἰς τυραννίδα ἀρθείς, πρεσβεύεται πρὸς Ὀνώριον, ἄκων μὲν, καὶ ὑπὸ τῶν στρατιωτῶν βιασθείς, ἀπολογούμενος ἄρξαι· συγγνώμην δὲ αἰτῶν, καὶ τὴν τῆς βασιλείας ἀξιῶν κοινωνίαν. καὶ βασιλεὺς διὰ τὰ ἐνεστηκότα δυσχερῆ τέως καταδέχεται τὴν τῆς βασιλείας κοινωνίαν. Καὶ τὰς Βρεττανίας δε ὁ Κωνσταντῖνος ἐλύγχανεν ἀνηγορευμένος, στάσει τῶν ἐκεῖσε στρατιωτῶν εἰς ταύτην ἀνηγμένος τὴν ἀρχήν. Καὶ γὰρ ἐν ταύταις ταῖς Βρεττανιαῖς, πρὶν ἢ Ὀνώριον τὸ ζ' ὑπατεῦσαι,[k] εἰς στάσιν ὁρμῆσαν τὸ ἐν αὐταῖς στρατιωτικὸν, Μαρκόν τινα ἀνεῖπον αὐτοκράτορα. τοῦ δὲ ὑπ' αὐτῶν ἀναιρεθέντος Γρατιανὸς αὐτοῖς ἀντικαθίστατο. ἐπεὶ δὲ καὶ οὗτος εἰς τετράμηνον αὐτοῖς προσκορὴς γεγονὼς, ἀπεσφάγη· [l]Κωνσταντῖνος τότε εἰς τὸ τοῦ αὐτοκράτορος ἀναβιβάζεται ὄνομα. οὗτος Ἰουστῖνον καὶ Νεοβιγάστην στρατηγοὺς προβαλλόμενος, καὶ τὰς Βρεττανίας ἐάσας, περαιοῦται ἅμα τοῖς αὐτοῦ ἐπὶ Βονωνίαν, πόλιν οὕτω καλουμένην, παραθαλασσίαν, καὶ πρώτην ἐν τοῖς τῶν Γαλατῶν ὅροις κειμένην. ἔνθα διαλιπὼν, καὶ ὅλον τὸν Γάλλον καὶ [m]Ἀκυτανὸν στρατιώτην ἰδιοποιησάμενος κραταιᾷ πάντων τῶν μερῶν τῆς Γαλλίας μέχρι τῶν Ἄλπεων τῶν μεταξὺ Ἰταλίας καὶ Γαλλίας.

EX ZOSIMO.[n]

Ὑπήκουον δὲ αὐτῷ [Φλωριανῷ][o] καὶ τὰ ὑπὲρ τὰς Ἄλπεις ἔθνη, Γαλάται καὶ Ἴβηρες, ἅμα τῇ Βρεττανικῇ νήσῳ.

[p]Ἔπαυσε καὶ [ὁ Πρόβος] ἄλλην ἐπανάστασιν ἐν τῇ Βρεττανίᾳ μελετηθεῖσαν, διὰ Βικτωρίνου Μαυρουσίου τὸ γένος. ᾧπερ πεισθεὶς, ἔτυχε τὸν ἐπανάστατην τῆς Βρεττανίας ἄρχοντα προσησάμενος. καλέσας γὰρ τὸν Βικτωρῖνον πρὸς ἑαυτὸν καὶ ἐπὶ τῇ συμβολῇ μεμψάμενος, τὸ πλαῖσμα ἐπανορθώσοντα πέμπει. ὁ δὲ ἐπὶ τὴν Βρεττανίαν εὐθὺς ἐξορμήσας, περινοίᾳ οὐκ ἄφρονι τὸν τύραννον ἀναιρεῖ.

[q]Ὅσους [Βουργούνδους καὶ Βανδίλους] δὲ ζῶντας οἷός τε γέγονεν ἑλεῖν [ὁ Πρόβος], εἰς Βρεττανίαν παρέπεμψεν· οἱ τὴν νῆσον οἰκήσαντες, ἐπανάστατος καὶ τὰ ταύτῃ τινὸς, γεγόνασι βασιλεῖ χρήσιμοι.

EUNAPIUS.[g]

[h]When he [Julian] perceived that peace was extremely convenient as well as necessary for him, for unless the Chamavi assent it is impossible for corn to be conveyed from the Bretannic island to the Roman garrisons, he was influenced by such necessity, and granted them peace.

OLYMPIODORUS.[i]

Constantine, when elevated to the sovereignty, sends an embassy to Honorius with this plea; that reluctantly, and compelled by the soldiery, he had entered on the government. He asked forgiveness also, and requested a share of the empire. And the emperor, on account of existing difficulties, admitted him for a while to a portion of the government. Moreover Constantine had been saluted emperor in Britain, raised to this dignity by an insurrection of the soldiery there. For in Britain, previously to the seventh consulship of Honorius[k], the army there stationed, having revolted, elected one Marcus emperor. And after they had dispatched him, Gratianus is set over them; and when, within the space of four months, they had grown weary of him also, they in like manner put him to death. Constantine[l] was then hailed emperor; who appointing Justinus and Neovigastes his præfects and quitting Britain, crossed over together with his followers to Bononia, a city so called, situated on the sea-shore and the first on the frontiers of the Gauls. Here taking up his station, and gaining over to him the whole of the Gaulish and Aquitanian soldiery, he got possession of all the districts of Gaul as far as those Alps which separate Italy from Gaul.

ZOSIMUS.[n]

To him [Florianus][o] also were the Transalpine nations subject; the Gauls, the Iberi, together with the Brettanic island.

[p]He [Probus] quelled also, through the agency of Victorinus, by birth a Moor, another revolt which had been stirred up in Britain; by whose advice also he had made this revolter præfect of Britain. For when he had summoned Victorinus to his presence, and chid him for his counsel, he sends him to correct this misdeed. He, therefore, proceeding immediately into Britain, by a subtle artifice dispatches the usurper.

[q]Such [of the Burgundians and Vandals] as he [Probus] could secure alive, he sent into Britain, who, when settled in that island, were serviceable to the emperor as often as any one thenceforward revolted.

---

[a] A.D. 350?
[b] A.D. 368.
[c] A.D. 369?
[d] C. 9. A.D. 375.
[e] Auctoris ignoti de Constantio Chloro, Constantino Magno, et aliis imperatoribus, excerptis. Ad finem Ammiani Marcellini, ubi supra.
[f] A.D. 306.
[g] Eunapii Sardiani Historia. Apud Labbeum, De Hist. Byzant. Public. Paris. 1648, p. 15.
Floruit Eunapius A.D. 380.
[h] A.D. 358.

[i] Olympiodori Historiarum lib. Apud Photii Bibliothecam, Cod. 80. Ed. Rothomagi, 1653, p. 179.
Floruit Olympiodorus ineunte sæculo quinto.
[k] A.D. 407.
[l] A.D. 408.
[m] Ἀκουϊτανὸν;
[n] Zosimi Historiæ Novæ lib. I. c. 64. Ed. Reitemeieri, Lipsiæ, 1784.
Floruit Zosimus ineunte sæculo quinto.
[o] A.D. 276.
[p] Lib. I. c. 66. A.D. 280?
[q] C. 68. A.D. 277.

Digitized by Google

[a] Ἔγνω [ὁ Κωνσταντῖνος] τοὺς τόπους λιπεῖν, ἐν οἷς ἔτυχε διατρίβων, ἐξορμῆσαι δὲ πρὸς τὸν παλέρα Κωνστάντιον, ἐν τοῖς ὑπὲρ τὰς Ἄλπεις ἔθνεσιν ὄντα, καὶ τῇ Βρεττανίᾳ συνεχέστερον ἐνδημοῦντα. δεδιὼς δὲ μή ποτε φεύγων καταληφθείη, (περιφανὴς γὰρ ἦν ἤδη πολλοῖς ὁ κατέχων αὐτὸν ἔρως τῆς βασιλείας) τοὺς ἐν τοῖς σταθμοῖς ἵππους, οὓς τὸ δημόσιον ἔτρεφεν, ἅμα τῷ φθάσαι τὸν σταθμὸν, κολούων καὶ ἀχρείους ἐῶν, τοῖς ἐξῆς ἐσπῶσιν ἐχρῆτο· καὶ ἐξῆς τοῦτο ποιῶν, τοῖς μὲν διώκουσιν ἀπέκλεισε τὴν ἐπὶ τὸ πρόσω πορείαν, αὐτὸς δὲ προσήγγιζε τοῖς ἔθνεσιν, ἐν οἷς ἦν ὁ πατήρ.

[b] Ὁ δὲ Κωνσταντῖνος καὶ πρότερον ὑπόπτως πρὸς αὐτὸν [Μαξέντιον] ἔχων, τότε μᾶλλον εἰς τὴν κατ' αὐτοῦ παρεσκευάζετο μάχην· καὶ συναγαγὼν δυνάμεις ἔκ τε ὧν ἔτυχεν ἔχων δορικτήτων βαρβάρων καὶ Γερμανῶν καὶ τῶν ἄλλων Κελτικῶν ἐθνῶν, καὶ τοὺς ἀπὸ τῆς Βρεττανίας συνειλεγμένους, εἰς ἐννέα που μυριάδας πεζῶν ἅπαντας καὶ ὀκτακισχιλίους ἱππέας, ἤλαυνεν ἐκ τῶν Ἄλπεων ἐπὶ τὴν Ἰταλίαν.

[c] Κωνσταντῖνος δὲ τὰ καλῶς καθεστῶτα κινῶν, μίαν οὖσαν εἰς τέσσαρας διεῖλεν ἀρχάς. ὑπάρχῳ γὰρ ἑνὶ τὴν Αἴγυπτον ἅπασαν ... τῷ δὲ τεταρτῳ τοὺς ὑπὲρ τὰς Ἄλπεις Κελτούς τε καὶ Ἰβηρας πρὸς τῇ Βρεττανικῇ νήσῳ.

[d] Τοῦ Ῥήνου πρὸς ταῖς ἑσπερίαις τῆς Γερμανίας, (ὅπερ ἐστὶν ἔθνος Γαλατικὸν) εἰς τὸ Ἀτλαντικὸν πέλαγος ἐκδιδόντος, οὗ τῆς ἠϊόνος ἡ Βρεττανικὴ νῆσος ἐννακοσίοις σταδίοις διέστηκεν, ἐκ τῶν περὶ τὸν ποταμὸν ὑλῶν ξύλα συναγαγὼν, ὀκτακόσια κατεσκεύασε [ὁ Ἰουλιανὸς] πλοῖα, μείζονα λέμβων. ταῦτά τε εἰς τὴν Βρεττανίαν ἐκπέμψας, κομίζεσθαι σῖτον ἐποίει· καὶ τοῦτον τοῖς ποταμίοις πλοίοις ἀνάγεσθαι διὰ τοῦ Ῥήνου παρασκευάζων, τοῦτό τε ποιῶν συνεχέστερον διὰ τὸ βραχὺν εἶναι τὸν πλοῦν, ἤρκεσε τοῖς ἀποδοθεῖσι ταῖς οἰκείαις πόλεσιν.

[e] Ἐδόκει τῷ Οὐαλεντινιανῷ, διελομένῳ πρὸς τὸν ἀδελφὸν τὴν ἀρχὴν, ἐπιτρέψαι μὲν αὐτῷ τὴν ἑῴαν, ... λαβόντα δὲ τὰς ἐν Ἰλλυριοῖς πόλεις αὐτὸν, εἰς τὴν Ἰταλίαν διαβῆναι, καὶ τὰς ἐν ταύτῃ πόλεις ἔχειν ὑφ' ἑαυτῷ, μετὰ τῶν ὑπὲρ τὰς Ἄλπεις ἐθνῶν, Ἰβηρίας τε, καὶ τῆς Βρεττανικῆς νήσου, καὶ Λιβύης ἁπάσης. Τῆς τοίνυν ἀρχῆς οὕτω διαιρεθείσης, ὁ Οὐαλεντινιανὸς ἐμβριθέστερον τῇ ἀρχῇ προσελθὼν, ἄρχοντάς τε ἐν κόσμῳ προῆγεν, καὶ περὶ τὰς εἰσπράξεις τῶν εἰσφορῶν, καὶ τὰς ἐκ τούτων χορηγουμένας στρατιωτικὰς σιτήσεις, ἀκριβέστατος ἦν. ἐπεὶ δὲ καὶ νόμων εἰσφορὰς ἐγνώκει ποιήσασθαι, ἀφ' ἑστίας ὥσπερ ἀρξάμενος, τὰς νυκτερινὰς ἐκώλυε θυσίας ἐπιτελεῖσθαι· τοῖς μυσαρῶς μὲν οὖν πρατομένοις ἐμποδὼν διὰ τοιοῦδε νόμου γενέσθαι βουλόμενος.

[f] Κατὰ τόνδε τὸν χρόνον Οὐαλεντινιανὸς διά τινα πλημμελήματα τὴν Βρεττανικὴν νῆσον οἰκεῖν κελευσθεὶς, ἐπιθέμενος τυραννίδι, συναπέθετο ταύτῃ τὸν βίον.

[g] Διελομένων δὲ πρὸς ἑαυτοὺς Γρατιανοῦ καὶ Οὐαλεντινιανοῦ τοῦ νέου τὴν βασιλείαν, ... Γρατιανῷ μὲν τὰ Κελτικὰ φῦλα καὶ Ἰβηρία πᾶσα καὶ ἡ Βρεττανικὴ νῆσος ἀπεκληροῦτο.

[h] Τοῦτο [τιμὴ πρὸς τοὺς Ἀλανούς] τοῖς στρατιώταις κατὰ τοῦ βασιλέως [Γρατιανοῦ] ἔτεκε μῖσος. ὅπερ ὑποτυφόμενον καθαρχὴ καὶ αὐξανόμενον, εἰς νεωτέρων πραγμάτων ἐκίνησε τοὺς στρατιώτας ἐπιθυμίαν, τούς τε ἄλλους, καὶ κατ' ἐξαίρετον τοὺς ταῖς Βρεττανικαῖς νήσοις ἐνιδρυμένους οἷα τῶν ἄλλων ἁπάντων πλέον αὐθαδείᾳ καὶ θυμῷ νικωμένους. ἐκίνει δὲ πρὸς τοῦτο πλέον αὐτοὺς Μάξιμος, Ἴβηρ τὸ γένος, Θεοδοσίῳ τῷ βασιλεῖ κατὰ τὴν Βρεττανίαν [i] συστρατευσάμενος. οὗτος δυσανασχετῶν ὅτι Θεοδόσιος ἠξίωτο βασιλείας, αὐτὸς δὲ οὐδὲ εἰς ἀρχὴν ἔντιμον ἔτυχε προελθὼν, ἀνήγειρε πλέον εἰς τὸ κατὰ τοῦ βασιλέως ἔχθος τοὺς στρατιώτας. οἱ δὲ ῥᾳδίως ἐξαναστάντες, ἀνεῖπον βασιλέα τὸν Μάξιμον. καὶ περιθέντες τὴν ἁλουργίδα καὶ τὸ διάδημα, παραχρῆμα τὸν ὠκεανὸν ναυσὶ διαβάντες, ταῖς τοῦ Ῥήνου προσωρμίσθησαν ἐκβολαῖς.

[k] Ἐν τῇ Ῥαβέννῃ ... φήμη τε, ὡς Ἀλλάριχος τεθνεὼς εἴη διαδραμοῦσα, καὶ ἐκ τῆς Ῥώμης Ὀνωρίου γράμματα τοῦ βασιλέως

---

[a] [Constantine] resolved to quit his present abode and go to his father Constantius, at that time resident among the Transalpine nations, and for the greater part abiding in Britain. Fearing, however, lest he should be arrested in his flight, for the lust of empire which possessed him was already very evident to many, he mutilated and disabled all the other horses which were provided by the government, at the stations, as soon as he had reached his stage; making use of such only as stood ready for his journey. By constantly thus doing, he precluded all farther advance to his pursuers, and secured his own approach to those nations among which his father resided.

[b] But Constantine, who had before been suspicious of him [Maxentius], now made greater preparation for war against him; and having collected forces from among the barbarians whom he had subdued, the Germans and the other Celtic nations, together with the levies from Britain, to the amount of ninety thousand foot and eight thousand horse, he marched from the Alps towards Italy.

[c] But Constantine, disturbing matters so well arranged, divided this single command into four; for to one præfect he committed the whole of Egypt... to a fourth, the Transalpine Celti and the Iberi, with the Brettanic island.

[d] At the extremities of Germany, where there is a Gaulish nation, the Rhine disembogues itself into the Atlantic sea, from which coast the Brettanic island is distant nine hundred stadia. Collecting wood from the forests near the river, he [Julianus] constructed eight hundred vessels of a larger size than boats. Having dispatched these into Britain, he causes them to bring over corn, which he found means to convey up the Rhine by the help of river-barks. This being frequently repeated, as the voyage was short, he supplied corn abundantly to those whom he had restored to their respective towns.

[e] It seemed fitting to Valentinian, having divided the empire with his brother, to commit to his charge the east... whilst he, taking the cities in Illyrium, passed over into Italy, and retained her states under himself, together with the Transalpine nations, Iberia, the Brettanic island, and the whole of Libya. The empire being thus divided, Valentinian, applying himself very earnestly to its government, regulated the magistracy, and was most rigid in the exaction of tributes and of the military provisions thence arising. And as he had resolved also on the enactment of laws, beginning, as it were, from his own household, he forbade nocturnal sacrifices to be performed, anxious that by such a law a stop might be put to abominable practices.

[f] About this time Valentinian, on account of certain excesses, was ordered to take up his abode in the Brettanic island; and aiming at the supremacy, lost it, together with his life.

[g] But Gratian and Valentinian the younger, having divided the empire between them... the Celtic tribes and the whole of Iberia and the Brettanic island were allotted to Gratian.

[h] This circumstance [his favour towards the Alani] begot hatred to the emperor [Gratian] among the soldiery, which, inflaming by degrees and spreading, incited in them a desire for innovation; and this as well among others as more especially among those who were stationed in the Brettanic islands, and who in boldness and turbulence far surpassed all others; to this Maximus chiefly excited them, an Iberian by birth, who had served with the emperor Theodosius[i] in Britain. This man being extremely mortified that Theodosius should be deemed worthy of the empire, while himself was not advanced even to any honourable station, stirred up the soldiers to still greater hatred against the emperor. And they, readily revolting, proclaimed Maximus emperor; and putting on him a purple robe and a diadem, immediately passed the ocean on shipboard, and moored at the outlets of the Rhine.

[k] In Ravenna... a report was circulating that Alaricus was dead, and that letters had been received from the emperor Honorius from Rome, shewing that Constantine was aiming at

[a] Lib. II. c. 8. A.D. 305.
[b] C. 15. A.D. 312.
[c] C. 33. A.D. 332.
[d] Lib. III. c. 5. A.D. 358.
[e] Lib. IV. c. 3. A.D. 364.
[f] C. 12. A.D. 369. Conf. Ammian. Marcellin. sup. p. lxxiv.
[g] C. 19. A.D. 375.
[h] C. 35. A.D. 383.
[i] A.D. 369?
[k] Lib. V. c. 27. A.D. 407.

Digitized by Google

ἀποδοθέντα, δι' ὧν ἐδηλοῦτο, ὡς Κωνσταντῖνος ἐπιθέμενος εἴη τυραννίδι, καὶ ἐκ τῆς Βρεττανικῆς νήσου περαιωθεὶς, ἐν τοῖς ὑπὲρ τὰς Ἄλπεις ἔθνεσι παραγένοιτο, τὰ βασιλέως ἐν ταῖς πόλεσι πράττων. ἀλλ' ὁ μὲν περὶ τῆς Ἀλλαρίχου τελευτῆς λόγος ἀμφίβολος ἔδοξεν εἶναι, πρίν τινας παραγεγονότας, ὅ τι περ εἴη, δηλῶσαι. τὰ δὲ περὶ τῆς ἀναῤῥήσεως Κωνσταντίνου λεγόμενα παρὰ πᾶσιν ἐκράτει. διὰ ταῦτα τῆς ἐπὶ Ἰλλυριοὺς ὁρμῆς ὁ Στελίχων ἀνακοπεὶς, εἰς τὴν Ῥώμην ἀφίκετο, κοινολογήσασθαι περὶ τοῦ πρακτέου βουλόμενος.

[a] Ἐπὶ τούτῳ τὲ Κωνσταντῖνος ὁ τύραννος, εὐνούχους πρὸς Ὀνώριον ἔστελλε, συγγνώμην αἰτῶν ἕνεκα τοῦ τὴν βασιλείαν ἀνασχέσθαι λαβεῖν. μηδὲ γὰρ ἐκ προαιρέσεως ἐλέσθαι ταύτην, ἀλλὰ ἀνάγκης αὐτῷ παρὰ τῶν στρατιωτῶν ἐπαχθείσης. ταύτης ἀκηκοὼς ὁ βασιλεὺς τῆς αἰτήσεως, θεωρῶν ὡς οὐ ῥᾴδιον αὐτῷ, τῶν σὺν Ἀλλαρίχῳ βαρβάρων οὐ πόῤῥω ὄντων, περὶ πολέμων ἑτέρων διανοεῖσθαι· καὶ προσέτι γε λόγον ποιούμενος συγγενῶν οἰκείων παρὰ τοῦ τυράννου κατεχομένων, (οὗτοι δὲ ἦσαν Βερηνιανὸς καὶ Διδύμιος) ἐνδίδωσι ταῖς αἰτήσεσιν· ἐκπέμπει δὲ αὐτῷ καὶ βασιλικὴν ἐσθῆτα.

[b] Ἐν τούτῳ δὲ παρὰ Κωνσταντίνου τοῦ τυραννήσαντος ἐν Κελτοῖς ἀφίκετο πρὸς Ὀνώριον καλὰ πρεσβείαν Ἰόβιος, παιδείᾳ καὶ ταῖς ἄλλαις ἀρεταῖς διαπρέπων, βεβαιωθῆναι τὴν πρότερον ὁμολογηθεῖσαν εἰρήνην, καὶ ἅμα συγγνώμην ἕνεκα τῆς ἀναιρέσεως Διδυμίου καὶ Βερηνιανοῦ, τῶν συγγενῶν Ὀνωρίου τοῦ βασιλέως, αἰτῶν. ἀπελογεῖτο γὰρ, λέγων, ὡς οὐ κατὰ προαίρεσιν ἀνῄρηνται Κωνσταντίνου. συντεταραγμένον δὲ τὸν Ὀνώριον θεασάμενος, εὔλογον ἔφασκεν εἶναι, ταῖς περὶ τὴν Ἰταλίαν ἐνασχολουμένῳ φροντίσιν, ἐνδοῦναι· συγχωρούμενος δὲ πρὸς Κωνσταντῖνον ἐκδημῆσαι, καὶ τὰ συνέχοντα τὴν Ἰταλίαν ἀΐσγειλαι, μετ' οὐ πολὺ καὶ αὐτὸν ἥξειν ἅμα παντὶ τῷ ἐν Κελτοῖς, καὶ ἐν Ἰβηρίᾳ, καὶ ἐν τῇ Βρεττανικῇ νήσῳ στρατεύμαλι, ταῖς κατὰ τὴν Ἰταλίαν καὶ Ῥώμην βοηθήσοντα περιστάσεσι. καὶ ὁ μὲν Ἰόβιος ἐπὶ τούτοις ἀναχωρεῖν ἐπετράπη. Τὰ δὲ ἐν Κελτοῖς, οὔπω τῆς προσηκούσης ἀρηγήσεως ἀξιωθέντα, δίκαιον ἄνωθεν, ὡς ἕκαστα ἐπράχθη, διεξελθεῖν.

Ἔτι βασιλεύοντος Ἀρκαδίου, καὶ ὑπάτων ὄντων Ὀνωρίου τὸ ζ', καὶ Θεοδοσίου τὸ β',[c] οἱ ἐν τῇ Βρεττανίᾳ στρατευόμενοι στασιάσαντες, ἀνάγουσι Μάρκον ἐπὶ τὸν βασίλειον θρόνον, καὶ ὡς κρατοῦντι τῶν αὐτόθι πραγμάτων, ἐπείθοντο. ἀνελόντες δὲ τοῦτον, ὡς οὐχ ὁμολογοῦντα τοῖς αὐτῶν ἤθεσιν, ἄγουσι Γρατιανὸν εἰς μέσον· καὶ ἀλουργίδα καὶ στέφανον ἐπιθέντες, ἐδορυφόρουν ὡς βασιλέα, δυσαρεστήσαντες δὲ καὶ τούτῳ, τέσσαρσιν ὕστερον μησὶ παραλύσαντες ἀναιροῦσι, Κωνσταντίνῳ παραδόντες τὴν βασιλείαν. ὁ δὲ, Ἰουστινιανὸν καὶ Νεβιόγαστον ἄρχειν τῶν ἐν Κελτοῖς τάξας στρατιωτῶν, ἐπεραιώθη τὴν Βρεττανίαν καταλιπών. ἐλθὼν δὲ εἰς Βονωνίαν, (πρώτη δὲ αὕτη πρὸς τῇ θαλάσσῃ κεῖται, Γερμανίας οὖσα πόλις τῆς κάτω) καὶ ἐν ταύτῃ διατρίψας ἡμέρας τινὰς, πάντα τε οἰκειωσάμενος τὰ στρατεύματα, μέχρι τῶν Ἄλπεων ὄντα τῶν ὁριζουσῶν Γαλατίαν καὶ Ἰταλίαν, ἀσφαλῶς ἔχεσθαι τῆς βασιλείας ἐδόκει. κατὰ δὲ τούτους τοὺς χρόνους, Σάρον τὸν στρατηγὸν ἐκπέμπει μετὰ στρατεύματος κατὰ Κωνσταντίνου Στελίχων. ὁ δὲ, Ἰουστινιανῷ τῷ στρατηγῷ μετὰ τῆς δυνάμεως τῆς σὺν αὐτῷ ἀπαντήσας, αὐτόν τε ἀναιρεῖ, καὶ τῶν στρατιωτῶν τὴν πλείονα μοίραν· καὶ λείας πολλῆς γενόμενος κύριος, ἐπειδὴ Κωνσταντῖνον αὐτὸν ἔγνω πόλιν καταλαβόντα Βαλεντίαν, ἀρκοῦσαν αὐτῷ πρὸς ἀσφάλειαν, εἰς πολιορκίαν κατέστησε. Νεβιογάστου δὲ λειπομένου στρατηγοῦ λόγους τῷ Σάρῳ περὶ φιλίας προσάγοντος, ἐδέχετο μὲν ὡς φίλον τὸν ἄνδρα· δοὺς δὲ καὶ λαβὼν ὅρκους, ἀναιρεῖ παραχρῆμα, μηδένα τῶν ὅρκων ποιησάμενος λόγον. Κωνσταντίνου δὲ στρατηγὸν καταστήσαντος Ἐδοβιγχον, Φράγκον ὄντα τὸ γένος, Γερόντιον δὲ ἀπὸ τῆς Βρεττανίας ὁρμώμενον, δείσας ὁ Σάρος τὴν τῶν στρατηγῶν τούτων περὶ τὰ πολέμια πεῖραν ὁμοῦ καὶ ἀνδρείαν, ἀνεχώρησε τῆς Βαλεντίας, ἑπτὰ πολιορκήσας ταύτην ἡμέρας. καταδραμόντων δὲ αὐτὸν τῶν Κωνσταντίνου στρατηγῶν μετὰ μεγίστης δυναστείας, σὺν πολλῷ διεσώθη πόνῳ, τὴν λείαν ἅπασαν δωρησάμενος τοῖς περὶ τὰς Ἄλπεις ἀπαντήσασιν αὐτῷ Βακαύδαις, ὅπως εὐρυχωρίας παρ' αὐτῶν τύχῃ τῆς περὶ τὴν Ἰταλίαν παρόδου. Σάρου τοίνυν οὕτως εἰς the empire; and that having crossed over from the Brettanic island, he had arrived among the Transalpine nations and was usurping imperial authority in those states. The rumour of Alaricus's death, indeed, was deemed doubtful, until certain persons had arrived and shewed what the fact was; but what was said concerning the proclaiming of Constantine was credited by all. Wherefore Stelicho, disappointed of his Illyrian expedition, came to Rome, anxious to confer with others concerning what should be done.

[a] At this time, the usurper Constantine sent eunuchs to Honorius, entreating forgiveness for having allowed himself to accept the empire: inasmuch as he had not taken it by choice, but it had been forced upon him by the soldiery. The emperor having heard this request, and seeing that it was not easy for him to meditate other wars, while the barbarians under Alaricus were at hand: and farther adverting to his own relations who were detained by the tyrant, namely, Berenianus and Didymius, acceded to his request, and also sent him an imperial robe.

[b] At this time Jovius, a man surpassing in erudition and other endowments, came from Constantine, who was exercising kingly power among the Celti, to Honorius on an embassy, requesting that the peace which had formerly been made might be confirmed, and also asking forgiveness for the murder of Didymius and Berenianus, the relations of the emperor Honorius. His plea was, that they had not been murdered at the suggestion of Constantine; and observing Honorius to be much moved, he remarked that it would be wise, occupied as he then was in his Italian concerns, if he would in some degree give way; and that if he might be permitted to go to Constantine and relate what was happening in Italy, he would shortly return, together with all the force then among the Celti and in Iberia and in the Brettanic island, to assist in quelling the commotions in Italy and Rome. And on such conditions Jovius was permitted to depart. But the Celtic affairs which have not yet obtained the relation they merit, it may be proper to describe from an early period, as they were severally transacted.

While Arcadius was yet emperor, and Honorius for the seventh and Theodosius for the second time consuls[c], the soldiers who were serving in Britain having revolted, placed Marcus on the imperial throne, and obeyed him as ruler in that country. Having dispatched him, however, for not assenting to their practices, they bring forward Gratian, and putting on him a purple robe and a diadem, they gave him an imperial guard. But growing dissatisfied with him also, four months afterwards they depose and kill him, delivering up the empire to Constantine. He, having appointed Justinian and Neviogastes to command the troops among the Celti, left Britain and crossed over: and having arrived at Bononia, a city of Lower Germany, the first on the sea coast, and continued there certain days, and conciliated all the troops as far as the Alps which bound Italy and Gaul, he thought himself secure of the empire. But about these times Stelicho sends Sarus in command of an army against Constantine; who meeting Justinian the præfect with his forces, killed him, together with the greatest part of his soldiers: and becoming master of much spoil, when he understood that Constantine himself had occupied Valentia, a city sufficient for his defence, he resolved to besiege it. The other commander of the forces, Neviogastes, conferring with Sarus as to terms of amity, was treated by him as a friend: but after giving and receiving pledges, Sarus immediately put him to death, paying no regard whatever to his oaths. But when Constantine had appointed Edovinchus, a Frank by nation, and Gerontius, by birth a Briton, his commanders, Sarus, dreading the experience of these leaders in military matters, and their courage, retreated from Valentia, after having besieged it seven days. But the commanders of Constantine having attacked him with the greatest vigour, he by much exertion escaped, giving the whole of the booty to the Bacaudi, who had met him at the Alps, that by their means he might effect a passage into Italy.

[a] C. 43. A.D. 409. [b] Lib. vi. cc. 1–6. A.D. 410. [c] A.D 407.

Digitized by Google

τὴν Ἰταλίαν διασωθέντος, συναγαγὼν ὁ Κωνσταντῖνος τὴν δύναμιν ἅπασαν, ἔγνω φυλακὰς ἀρκούσας ἐγκατασῖῆσαι ταῖς Ἄλπεσιν. ἦσαν δὲ αὗται τρεῖς, αἱ τὰς ἐπὶ τὴν Ἰταλίαν ἀπὸ Κελτῶν, κἀκεῖθεν ἐπέκεινα τὰς ὁδοὺς ἀποκλείουσαι, Κοττίαι, Ποινίναι, Μαριτίμαι. ταῦτα δὲ δι' αἰτίαν τοιάνδε τῆς εἰρημένης μοι προνοίας ἠξίωσεν.

Ἐν τοῖς προλαβοῦσι χρόνοις, ἕκτον ἤδη τὴν ὕπατον ἔχοντος ἀρχὴν Ἀρκαδίου καὶ Πρόβου,[a] Βανδίλοι Συήβοις καὶ Ἀλανοῖς ἑαυτοὺς ἀναμίξαντες τούτους ὑπερβάντες τοὺς τόπους, τοῖς ὑπὲρ Ἄλπεις ἔθνεσιν ἐλυμήναντο· καὶ πολὺν ἐργασάμενοι φόνον, ἐπίφοβοι καὶ τοῖς ἐν Βρεττανίαις στρατοπέδοις ἐγένοντο· συνηνάγκασαν δὲ, δέει τοῦ μὴ καὶ σφᾶς προελθεῖν, εἰς τὴν τῶν τυράννων ὁρμῆσαι χειροτονίαν, Μάρκου λέγω καὶ Γρατιανοῦ, καὶ ἐπὶ τούτοις Κωνσταντίνου. πρὸς ὃν μάχης καρτερᾶς γενομένης, ἐνίκων μὲν οἱ Ῥωμαῖοι, τὸ πολὺ τῶν βαρβάρων κατασφάξαντες μέρος. τοῖς δὲ φεύγουσιν οὐκ ἐπεξελθόντες, (ἢ γὰρ ἂν ἅπαντας πανωλεθρίᾳ διέφθειραν) ἐνέδωκαν αὐτοῖς ἀνακτησαμένοις τὴν ἦτταν, καὶ βαρβάρων πλῆθος συναγαγοῦσιν, αὖθις ἀξιομάχους γενέσθαι. διὰ ταῦτα τοίνυν τούτοις τοῖς τόποις φύλακας ἐγκατέστησε Κωνσταντῖνος, ὡς ἂν μὴ τὴν εἰς Γαλατίαν ἀνειμένην ἔχοιεν πάροδον. ἐγκατέστησε δὲ καὶ τῷ Ῥήνῳ πᾶσαν ἀσφάλειαν, ἐκ τῶν Ἰουλιανοῦ βασιλέως χρόνων ῥᾳθυμηθεῖσαν.

Οὕτω τὰ κατὰ τὴν Γαλατίαν πᾶσαν οἰκονομήσας, Κώνσταντι τῷ πρεσβυτέρῳ τῶν παίδων, τὸ τοῦ Καίσαρος σχῆμα περιθεὶς, ἐπὶ τὴν Ἰβηρίαν ἐκπέμπει, καὶ τῶν αὐτόθι πάντων ἐθνῶν ἐγκρατὴς γενέσθαι βουλόμενος, ὥστε καὶ τὴν ἀρχὴν αὐξῆσαι, καὶ ἅμα τὴν τῶν Ὀνωρίου συγγενῶν αὐτόθι δυναστείαν ἐκκόψαι. δέος γὰρ αὐτὸν εἰσῄει, μή ποτε δύναμιν συναγαγόντες τῶν αὐτόθι στρατιωτῶν, αὐτοὶ μὲν αὐτῷ, διαβάντες τὴν Πυρήνην, ἐπέλθοιεν, ἀπὸ δὲ τῆς Ἰταλίας ὁ βασιλεὺς Ὀνώριος ἐπιπέμψας αὐτῷ τὰ στρατόπεδα, τῆς τυραννίδος, κύκλῳ πανταχόθεν περιλαβὼν, παραλύσειεν. ἐπὶ τούτοις ὁ Κώνσιας εἰς τὴν Ἰβηρίαν διέβη, στρατηγὸν μὲν Τερέντιον ἔχων, Ἀπολινάριον δὲ τῆς αὐλῆς ὕπαρχον. τῶν δὲ ἐν τῇ αὐλῇ τάξεων ἄρχοντάς τε πολιτικοὺς ἅμα καὶ στρατιωτικοὺς καταστήσας, ἄγει διὰ τούτων ἐπ' ἐκείνους· οἳ γένει τῷ βασιλεῖ Θεοδοσίῳ προσήκοντες, τὰ τῆς Ἰβηρίας συνεταράττοντο πράγματα, πρότερον μὲν πρὸς αὐτὸν Κώνσταντα διὰ τῶν ἐν τῇ Λυσιτανίᾳ στρατοπέδων ἀράμενοι πόλεμον· ἐπεὶ δὲ πλεονεκτεῖσθαι συνῄσθοντο, πλῆθος οἰκετῶν καὶ γεωργῶν ἐπισῖρατεύσαντες καὶ παραβραχὺ καλασῖήσαντες αὐτὸν εἰς μέγιστον κίνδυνον. ἀλλὰ κἀνταῦθα τῆς ἐλπίδος διαμαρτόντες, Κώνσταντι σὺν ταῖς σφῶν γυναιξὶν ἦσαν ἐν φυλακῇ. ὅπερ ἀκηκοότες οἱ τούτων ἀδελφοὶ, Θεοδόσιός τε καὶ Λαγώδιος, ὁ μὲν, εἰς τὴν Ἰταλίαν διέφυγεν, ὁ δὲ, εἰς τὴν ἑῴαν διασωθεὶς, ἀνεχώρησε.

Ταῦτα κατὰ τὴν Ἰβηρίαν ὁ Κώνστας διαπραξάμενος, ἐπανῆλθε πρὸς τὸν πατέρα ἑαυτοῦ Κωνσταντῖνον, ἐπαγόμενος Βερηνιανὸν καὶ Διδύμιον, καλαλιπών τε αὐτόθι τὸν στρατηγὸν Γερόντιον, ἅμα τοῖς ἀπὸ Γαλατίας στρατιώταις, φύλακα τῆς ἀπὸ Κελτῶν ἐπὶ τὴν Ἰβηρίαν παρόδου, καίτοι γε τῶν ἐν Ἰβηρίαις στρατοπέδων ἐμπισίευθῆναι κατὰ τὸ σύνηθες τὴν φυλακὴν αἰτησάντων, καὶ μὴ ξένοις ἐπιτραπῆναι τὴν τῆς χώρας ἀσφάλειαν. Βερηνιανὸς μὲν οὖν καὶ Διδύμιος, ὡς Κωνσταντῖνον ἀχθέντες, ἀνῃρέθησαν παραχρῆμα. Κώνστας δὲ αὖθις ὑπὸ τοῦ πατρὸς εἰς τὴν Ἰβηρίαν ἐκπέμπεται, Ἰοῦστον ἐπαγόμενος στρατηγόν. ἐφ' ᾧ Γερόντιος ἀχθόμενος, καὶ τοὺς αὐτόθι περιποιησάμενος στρατιώτας, ἐπανίστησι Κωνσταντίνῳ τοὺς ἐν Κελτοῖς βαρβάρους. πρὸς οὓς οὐκ ἀντισχὼν ὁ Κωνσταντῖνος, ἅτε δὴ τοῦ πλείονος τῆς δυνάμεως μέρους ὄντος ἐν Ἰβηρίᾳ, πάντα κατ' ἐξουσίαν ἐπιόντες οἱ ὑπὲρ τὸν Ῥῆνον βάρβαροι, κατέστησαν εἰς ἀνάγκην τούς τε τὴν Βρεττανικὴν νῆσον οἰκοῦντας, καὶ τῶν ἐν Κελτοῖς ἐθνῶν ἔνια, τῆς Ῥωμαίων ἀρχῆς ἀποστῆναι, καὶ καθ' ἑαυτὸν βιοτεύειν, οὐκέτι τοῖς τούτων ἐπακούοντα νόμοις. οἵ τε οὖν ἐκ τῆς Βρεττανίας ὅπλα ἐνδύντες, καὶ σφῶν αὐτῶν προκινδυνεύσαντες, ἠλευθέρωσαν τῶν ἐπικειμένων βαρβάρων τὰς πόλεις· καὶ ὁ Ἀρμόριχος ἅπας, καὶ ἕτεραι Γαλατῶν ἐπαρχίαι, Βρεττανοὺς

When, therefore, Sarus had thus safely escaped to Italy, Constantine, collecting all his forces, determined to place sufficient garrisons upon the Alps. Of these there are three ranges, which bar the passages from the Celti into Italy, and to the nations beyond; the Cottian, the Pœnine, and the Maritime. That he should have deemed it expedient to act with the degree of precaution which I have mentioned, the following was the cause.

In preceding times, when Arcadius for the sixth time and Probus[a] were consuls, the Vandals, uniting with the Suevi and the Alani and passing over these places, greatly afflicted the Transalpine nations: and having committed much slaughter, became formidable even to the armies in Britain, and compelled them, through fear that they might reach even themselves, to the election of emperors; I allude to Marcus and Gratian, and, after these, Constantine. With him, indeed, a desperate battle ensuing, the Romans conquered, having put to the sword the greater part of the barbarians. But as they did not pursue the fugitives, had they done which they would have destroyed them to a man, they afforded them an opportunity, after recovering from their defeat and collecting a multitude of barbarians, to be again in a condition for war. On account of these things, therefore, Constantine established garrisons in those places, that they might not have a free passage into Gaul. And he provided, also, every thing for the security of the Rhine, which from the time of the emperor Julian had been neglected.

Thus having set matters in order through the whole of Gaul, and putting on Constans, his eldest son, a Cæsarian robe, he sends him into Iberia, desirous that he should become master of all the nations there, that he might thus enlarge his own empire, and also circumscribe the dominions of Honorius's relations in that country. For fear possessed him lest they, collecting the military force placed there, should pass the Pyrenees and attack him, and lest the emperor Honorius also, sending armies from Italy, should surround him on every side and subvert his power. Constans therefore departed into Iberia, having Terentius as his general and Apollinarius prefect of the prætorium. To the prætorian cohorts also he gave officers, civil as well as military, under which he leads his forces against them. They who were related to the emperor Theodosius had disturbed affairs in Iberia, having warred at first against Constans, with the armies in Lusitania; and when they perceived that he had the advantage of them, having armed a multitude of servants and rustics, they very nearly brought him into the most imminent danger: but here also failing in their expectations, they, together with their wives, were surrendered up to Constans. Their brothers, Theodosius and Lagodius, having heard of this, the one fled into Italy, the other escaped safely into the East.

Constans having thus settled matters in Iberia, returned to his father Constantine, bringing with him Berenianus and Didymius, and having left there Gerontius as general, with the soldiers from Gaul as guard of the pass which leads from the Celti into Iberia, although the Iberian troops had requested that this charge might be confided to them according to custom, and that the safety of the country might not be entrusted to foreigners. Berenianus and Didymius, therefore, being brought before Constantine, were instantly put to death. Thence Constans was again sent into Iberia by his father, and took with him Justus as his general. Gerontius offended at this, and having gained over the soldiers there, urged the barbarians who were among the Celti to revolt against Constantine. He not opposing them, because the greatest part of his forces was in Iberia, the barbarians beyond the Rhine ravaging every thing at pleasure, compelled both the inhabitants of the Brettanic island, as well as some of the Celtic nations, to revolt from the empire of the Romans, and to live independent of them, no longer obeying their laws. The people, therefore, of Britain taking up arms, and braving every danger, freed their cities from the invading barbarians. And the whole Armoric and other provinces of Gaul, imitating the Britons, liberated them-

[a] A.D. 406.

Digitized by Google

μιμησάμεναι, κατὰ τὸν ἴσον σφᾶς ἠλευθέρωσαν τρόπον, ἐκβάλλουσαι μὲν τοὺς Ῥωμαίους ἄρχοντας, οἰκεῖον δὲ κατ' ἐξουσίαν πολίτευμα καθιστᾶσαι.

Καὶ ἡ μὲν Βρετανίας καὶ τῶν ἐν Κελτοῖς ἐθνῶν ἀπόστασις, καθ' ὃν ἐτυράννει χρόνον ὁ Κωνσταντῖνος,[a] ἐγένετο, τῶν βαρβάρων ἐπαναβάντων τῇ ἐκείνου περὶ τὴν ἀρχὴν ἐκμελείᾳ.

[b] Ὀνωρίου δὲ γράμμασι πρὸς τὰς ἐν Βρετανίᾳ χρησαμένου πόλεις, φυλάττεσθαι παραγγέλλουσι, δωρεαῖς τε ἀμειψαμένου τοὺς στρατιώτας, ἐκ τῶν παρὰ Ἡρακλειανοῦ πεμφθέντων χρημάτων, ὁ μὲν Ὀνώριος ἦν ἐν ῥαστώνῃ πάσῃ, τὴν τῶν ἁπανταχοῦ στρατιωτῶν ἐπισπασάμενος εὔνοιαν.

EX PAULO OROSIO.[c]

Nam cum plerumque improbi tyranni, temere invadentes rempublicam, usurpatoque regio statu, Romani imperii corpus abruperint, atque ex eo bella vel per se injusta inportaverint vel in se justa commoverint, Britannis Gallisque populis erecti et instructi; hæc bella, quantum externis proxima, tantum longinqua civilibus, quid nisi socialia jure vocitentur?

[d] Veneti... auxilia quoque a Britannia arcessunt.

[e] Tunc Cæsar... ad Morinos venit, unde in Britanniam proximus et brevissimus transitus est. Navibus circiter onerariis atque actuariis octoginta præparatis, in Britanniam transvehitur. Ubi acerba primum pugna fatigatus, deinde adversa tempestate correptus, plurimam classis partem, et non parvum numerum militum, equitum vero pene omnem disperdidit. Regressus in Galliam, legiones in hiberna dimisit, ac sexcentas naves utriusque commodi fieri imperavit. Quibus iterum in Britanniam primo vere transvectus, dum ipse in hostem cum exercitu pergit, naves in ancoris stantes tempestate correptæ vel collisæ inter se, vel arenis illisæ ac dissolutæ sunt. Ex quibus quadraginta perierunt, ceteræ cum magna difficultate reparatæ sunt. Cæsaris equitatus primo congressu a Britannis victus, ibique Labienus tribunus occisus est. Secundo prælio cum magno suorum discrimine victos Britannos in fugam vertit. Inde ad flumen Thamesim profectus est, quem uno tantum loco vadis transmeabilem ferunt. In hujus ulteriore ripa, Cassivellauno duce, inmensa hostium multitudo consederat, ripamque fluminis ac pene totum sub aqua vadum acutissimis sudibus præstruxerat. Quod ubi a Romanis deprehensum ac vitatum est, barbari, legionum impetum non ferentes, sylvis sese abdidere, unde crebris eruptionibus Romanos graviter ac sæpe lacerabant. Interea Trinobantum firmissima civitas, cum Androgorio duce, datis quadraginta obsidibus, Cæsari sese dedidit. Quod exemplum secutæ urbes aliæ complures, in fœdus Romanorum venerunt: iisdemque demonstrantibus, Cæsar oppidum Cassivellauni inter duas paludes situm, obtentu insuper sylvarum munitum, omnibusque rebus confertissimum, tandem gravi pugna cepit.

Exin Cæsar a Britannis reversus in Galliam, postquam legiones in hiberna misit, repentinis bellorum tumultibus undique circumventus et conflictatus est.

[f] Hic [Caligula] siquidem magno et incredibili adparatu profectus quærere hostem viribus otiosis, Germaniam Galliamque percurrens, in ora oceani circa prospectum Britanniæ restitit. Cumque ibi Minocynobellinum, Britannorum regis filium, qui a patre pulsus cum paucis oberrabat, in deditionem recepisset; deficiente belli materia, Romam rediit.

[g] Claudius quarto imperii sui anno, cupiens se utilem reipublicæ ostentare principem, bellum ubique et victoriam undecumque quæsivit. Itaque expeditionem in Britanniam movit: quæ excitata in tumultum propter non redhibitos transfugas videbatur; transvectusque in insulam est, quam neque ante Julium Cæsarem, neque post eum quisquam adire ausus fuerat. Ibique, ut verbis Suetonii Tranquilli loquar, sine ullo prælio ac sanguine intra paucissimos dies plurimam insulæ partem in deditionem recepit. Orcades etiam insulas ultra Britanniam in oceano positas, Romano adjecit imperio, ac sexto quam profectus erat mense Romam rediit.

[h] Britannica deinde clades e vestigio [sub Nerone] accidit, qua duo præcipua oppida, magna civium sociorumque clade et cæde direpta sunt.

[i] Tertium [bellum] Clodius Albinus, Juliani in occidendo Pertinace socius, qui se in Gallia Cæsarem fecerat, suscitabat: cujus bello multum utrimque Romani sanguinis fusum est. Albinus tamen apud Lugdunum oppressus et interfectus est. Severus victor in Britannias defectu pene omnium sociorum trahitur. Ubi magnis gravibusque præliis sæpe gestis, receptam partem insulæ a cæteris indomitis gentibus vallo distinguendam putavit. Itaque magnam fossam firmissimumque vallum, crebris insuper turribus communitum, per centum triginta et duo millia passuum a mari ad mare duxit.[k] Ibique apud Eboracum oppidum morbo obiit.

[l] Deinde Carausius quidam, genere quidem in-selves in like manner, expelling the Roman præfects and setting up a civil polity according to their own inclination.

---

This defection of Britain and of the Celtic nations took place during the [a] time of Constantine's usurpation; the barbarians rising up in consequence of his neglect of the government.

[b] Honorius, moreover, having written letters to the cities in Britain, urging them to look to their own safety, and giving largesses to the soldiers out of the money sent to him by Heraclean, indulged in all indolence, having procured the goodwill of the soldiery on every side.

[a] A.D. 407–411. [b] Lib. VI. c. 10. A.D. 410.

[c] Pauli Orosii Historiæ lib. v. c. 22. Ed. Havercampi, Lugd. Batav. 1738.

Floruit Orosius A.D. 417.

Hæc exhibenda hic loci putavimus, quamvis et infra apud Bedam plerumque inveniantur. Vide et sup. p. xix.

[d] Lib. VI. c 8. [e] Cc. 9, 10. An. A.C. 55, 54.

[f] Lib. VII. c. 5. A.D. 40. [g] C. 6. A.D. 43.

[h] C. 7. A.D. 61. [i] C. 17. A.D. 193–211.

[k] Conf. pp. lxv. lxxi. [l] C. 25. A.D. 287.

Digitized by Google

fimus, sed consilio et manu promptus, cum ad observanda oceani litora, quæ tunc Franci et Saxones infestabant, positus; plus in perniciem, quam in profectum reipublicæ ageret, ereptam prædonibus prædam nulla ex parte restituendo dominis, sed sibi soli vindicando, accendit suspicionem, quod ipsos quoque hostes ad incursandos fines artifici negligentia permitteret: quamobrem a Maximiano jussus occidi, purpuram sumsit, ac Britannias occupavit. Igitur per omnes Romani imperii fines subitarum turbationum fragores concrepuerunt. Carausio rebellante in Britanniis, Achilleo in Ægypto, cum et Africam Quinquegentiani infestarent; Narseus etiam rex Persarum Orientem bello premeret. . . . Carausius, Britannia sibi per septem annos fortissime vindicata ac retenta, tandem fraude Allecti socii sui interfectus est. Allectus postea ereptam Carausio insulam per triennium tenuit, quem Asclepiodotus præfectus prætorio oppressit, Britanniamque post decem annos recepit. . . . Constantius vero Augustus, summæ mansuetudinis et civilitatis, in Britannia mortem obiit, qui Constantinum filium ex concubina Helena creatum imperatorem Galliarum reliquit.

[a] Igitur mortuo, ut dixi, Constantio in Britanniis, Constantinus imperator est creatus.

[b] Maximus, vir quidem strenuus et probus, atque Augusto dignus, nisi contra sacramenti fidem per tyrannidem emersisset, in Britannia invitus propemodum ab exercitu imperator creatus, in Galliam transiit: ubi Gratianum Augustum subita incursione perterritum, atque in Italiam transire meditantem, dolis circumventum interfecit, fratremque ejus Valentinianum Augustum Italia expulit. Valentinianus in Orientem refugiens, a Theodosio paterna pietate susceptus, mox etiam imperio restitutus est.

[c] Anno ab Urbe condita MC.XXXVIII. Theodosius quadragesimus primus, interfecto per Maximum Gratiano, imperium Romani orbis solus obtinuit, . . . seseque adversus Maximum tyrannum, sola fide major, nam longe minor erat universa adparatus bellici comparatione, proripuit. Aquileiæ tunc Maximus victoriæ suæ spectator insederat. Andragathius comes ejus summam belli administrabat: qui cum largissimis militum copiis, ipsaque magnarum copiarum fortitudine, præcellente consilio, omnes incredibiliter Alpium ac fluminum aditus communisset, ineffabili judicio Dei, dum navali expeditione incautum hostem prævenire et obruere parat, sponte eadem, quæ obstruxerat, claustra deseruit. Ita Theodosius nemine sentiente, ut non dicam repugnante, vacuas transmisit Alpes, atque Aquileiam improvisus adveniens, hostem illum magnum, Maximum trucem, et ab inmanissimis quoque Germanorum gentibus tributa ac stipendia solo terrore nominis exigentem, sine dolo et sine controversia clausit, cepit, occidit. Valentinianus, recepta Italia, potitus imperio est. Andragathius comes, cognita Maximi nece, præcipitem sese e navi in undas dedit, ac suffocatus est. . . . Igitur Valentinianus junior, regno restitutus, extincto Maximo, ejusque filio Victore, quem imperatorem Gallis Maximus reliquerat, ipse in Galliam transivit: ubi cum tranquilla republica in pace ageret, apud Viennam dolo Arbogastis, comitis sui, ut ferunt, strangulatus, atque ut voluntariam sibi conscivisse mortem putaretur, laqueo suspensus est.

[d] Anno itaque ab Urbe condita MC.LXIV. irruptio urbis per Alaricum facta est. . . . His [Suevis Vandalisque] per Gallias bacchantibus, apud Britannias Gratianus, municeps ejusdem insulæ, tyrannus creatur[e] et occiditur. Hujus loco Constantinus, ex infima militia, propter solam spem nominis, sine merito virtutis eligitur, qui continuo ut invasit imperium, in Gallias transiit. Ibi sæpe a barbaris incertis fœderibus illusus, detrimento magis reipublicæ fuit. Misit in Hispanias judices, quos cum provinciæ obedientes accepissent, duo fratres juvenes nobiles et locupletes Didymus et Verinianus non adsumserunt; ne adversus tyrannum quidem tyrannidem, sed imperatori justo adversus tyrannum et barbaros tueri sese patriamque suam moliti sunt. Quod ipso rei gestæ ordine patuit. Nam tyrannidem nemo nisi celeriter maturatam secreto invadit, et publice armat, cujus summa est, adsumpto diademate ac purpura, videri antequam sciri. Hi vero plurimo tempore servulos tantum suos ex propriis prædiis colligentes, ac vernaculis alentes sumptibus, nec dissimulato proposito, absque cujusquam inquietudine ad Pyrenæi claustra tendebant. Adversus hos Constantinus Constantem filium suum, proh dolor! ex monacho Cæsarem factum, cum barbaris quibusdam, qui quondam in fœdus recepti atque in militiam adlecti, Honoriaci vocabantur, in Hispanias misit.

[f] Anno ab Urbe condita MC.LXV. Honorius imperator videns, tot oppositis tyrannis, nihil adversum barbaros agi posse, ipsos prius tyrannos deleri jubet. Constantio comiti hujus belli summa commissa est. Sensit tunc demum respublica et quam utilitatem in Romano tandem duce receperit, et quam eatenus perniciem per longa tempora barbaris comitibus subjecta tolerarit. Igitur Constantius comes in Galliam cum exercitu profectus, Constantinum imperatorem apud Arelatam civitatem clausit, cepit et occidit. Jam hinc, ut de catalogo tyrannorum quam brevissime loquar, Constantem Constantini filium, Gerontius comes suus, vir nequam ac inprobus, apud Viennam interfecit, atque in ejus locum Maximum quemdam substituit. Ipse vero Gerontius a suis militibus occisus est. Maximus exsutus purpura, . . . nunc inter barbaros in Hispania egens exsulat.

[a] Lib. VII. c. 28. A.D. 306.
[b] C. 34. A.D. 383.
[c] C. 35. A.D. 385.
[d] C. 40. A.D. 409.
[e] A.D. 407.
[f] C. 42. A.D. 412.

Digitized by Google

EX SOCRATE SCHOLASTICO.[a]

Διοκλητιανὸς, καὶ Μαξιμιανὸς . . . τὸν ἰδιωτικὸν ἐπανείλοντο βίον . . . κατὰ δὲ τὰς Βρετλανίας Κωνσταντῖνος ἀνηγορεύθη βασιλεὺς, εἰς τόπον Κωνσταντίου[b] τοῦ πατρὸς αὐτοῦ, τεθνηκότος τῷ πράτῳ ἐνιαυτῷ τῆς διακοσιοστῆς ἑβδομηκοστῆς πρώτης Ὀλυμπιάδος, τῇ πέμπτῃ καὶ εἰκάδι τοῦ Ἰουλίου μηνὸς.

[c] Ὑπὸ δὲ τοὺς αὐτοὺς χρόνους . . . Μάξιμος ἐκ τῶν περὶ τὰς Βρετλανίας μερῶν ἐπανέστη τῇ Ῥωμαίων ἀρχῇ, καὶ κάμνοντι Γρατιανῷ εἰς τὸν κατ' Ἀλαμανῶν πόλεμον ἐπιτίθεται.

[d] Σισιννίου δὲ τελευτήσαντος, Χρύσανθος καθειλκύσθη εἰς τὴν ἐπισκοπήν· ὃς υἱὸς μὲν ἦν Μαρκίανου τοῦ γενομένου Ναυατιανῶν ἐπισκοπου πρὸ Σισιννίου· ἐκ νέας δὲ ἡλικίας κατὰ τὰ βασίλεια στρατευσάμενος, ὕστερον ἐπὶ τοῦ μεγάλου Θεοδοσίου[e] τοῦ βασιλέως, ὑπάτικος τῆς [c]Ἰταλίας γενομένος, μετὰ ταῦτα καὶ βικαρίος τῶν Βρετλανικῶν νήσων καταστὰς, ἐθαυμάσθη ταῖς διοικησέσι.

EX SOZOMENO.[f]

[g] Διὰ γὰρ τὴν [τοῦ Κωνσταντῖνου] πρὸς Μαξέντιον διαφορὰν ἐπὶ τῆς Ἰταλίας διάγοντα, ἐστασίαζε τὰ Ῥωμαίων· καὶ οὐκ εὐπετὲς ἦν τότε ἐπιδημεῖν Γαλάταις καὶ Βρετλανοῖς, καὶ τοῖς τῇδε κατοικοῦσι, παρ' οἷς συνωμολόγηται τῆς τῶν Χριστιανῶν θρησκείας μετασχεῖν Κωνσταντῖνον, πρὶν ἐπὶ Μαξέντιον στρατεῦσαι, καὶ παρελθεῖν ἐπὶ Ῥώμην καὶ Ἰταλούς.

[h] Ἐντεῦθεν εἰκότως ἔτι [i]Κωνσταντίνου περιόντος, οὐκ ἐδοκεί παράνομον Χριστιανίζειν τοῖς Ἰταλῶν ἐπέκεινα, Γαλάταις τε καὶ Βρετανοῖς.

[k] Ὑπὸ δὲ τοῦτον τὸν χρόνον ἠσχολομένῳ Γρατιάνῳ εἰς τὸν πρὸς Ἀλαμανοὺς πολέμον, ἐπανέστη Μάξιμος ἐκ τῆς Βρετανίας, καὶ ὑφ' ἑαυτὸν τὴν Ῥωμαίων ἀρχὴν ποίησασθαι ἐσπούδαζεν.

. . .[l] Ἐν τούτῳ δὲ Μάξιμος πλείστην ἀγείρας στρατιὰν Βρετανῶν ἀνδρῶν, καὶ τῶν ὁμόρων Γαλατῶν, καὶ Κελτῶν, καὶ τῶν τῇδε ἐθνῶν ἐπὶ τὴν Ἰταλίαν ἦει· πρόφασιν μὲν ὡς οὐκ ἀνεξόμενος νεώτερόν τι γενέσθαι περὶ τὴν πάτριον πίστιν, καὶ τὴν ἐκκλησιαστικὴν τάξιν. τὸ δὲ ἀληθὲς, τυράννου δόξης ἑαυτὸν καθαίρων· πρὸς δὲ τὴν βασιλείαν βλέπων, καὶ πραγματεύομενος, εἴ πη ἄρα δύναιτο δόξαι νόμῳ, οὐ βίᾳ, τὴν ἀρχὴν Ῥωμαίων ἑαυτῷ περιποιεῖν. Οὐαλεντινιανὸς δὲ ὑπὸ τοῦ καίρου βιασθεὶς, ἐδέξατο τὰ σύμβολα τῆς αὐτοῦ βασιλείας.

[m] Οἱ ἐν Βρετλανίᾳ στασιάσαντες στρατιῶται, ἀναγορεύουσι Μάρκον τύραννον· μετὰ δὲ τοῦτον Γρατιανὸν, ἀνελόντες Μάρκον· ἐπεὶ δὲ καὶ οὗτος οὐ πλέον τεσσάρων μηνῶν διελθόντων ἐφονεύθη παρ' αὐτῶν, πάλιν Κωνσταντῖνον χειροτονοῦσιν· οἰηθέντες καθότι ταύτην εἶχε προσηγορίαν, καὶ βεβαίως αὐτὸν κρατήσειν τῆς βασιλείας. ἐκ τοιαύτης γὰρ αἰτίας φαίνονται καὶ τοὺς ἄλλους εἰς τυραννίδα ἐπιλεξάμενοι. περαιωθεὶς δὲ Κωνσταντῖνος ἀπὸ Βρετλάνιας ἐπὶ Βουβονίαν πόλιν τῆς Γαλατίας παρὰ θάλασσαν κειμένην, προσηγάγετο τοὺς παρὰ Γαλάταις καὶ Ἀκουϊτανοῖς στρατιώτας· καὶ τοὺς τῇδε ὑπηκόους περιεποίησεν ἑαυτῷ, μέχρι τῶν μεταξὺ Ἰταλίας καὶ Γαλατίας ὀρῶν, ἃς Κοττίας Ἄλπεις Ῥωμαῖοι καλοῦσι.

EX EUSEBIO SIVE HIERONYMO.[n]

Claudii An. iv.[o] Claudius de Britanniis triumphavit, et Orcadas insulas Romano adjecit imperio.

Severi An. xiv.[p] Clodio Albino, qui se in Gallia Cæsarem fecerat, interfecto apud Lugdunum, Severus in Britannos bellum transfert, ubi, ut receptas provincias ab incursione barbarica faceret securiores, vallum per c.xxxii. passuum millia a mari ad mare duxit.

An. xviii.[q] Severus moritur Eburaci in Britannia.

Diocletiani An. iii.[r] Carausius sumpta purpura Britannias occupavit.

An. xv.[s] Post decem annos per Asclepiodotum præfectum prætorio Britanniæ receptæ.

Constantii An. xvi.[t] Constantius sextodecimo

SOCRATES.[a]

Dioclesian and Maximian . . . made choice of a private life, . . . but in Britain Constantine was proclaimed emperor in place of his father Constantius[b], who died in the first year of the two hundredth and seventy-first olympiad, on the twenty-fifth of the month of July.

[c] About this time . . . Maximus, from the parts near Britain, revolted against the Roman power, and attacked Gratian then harassed with the war against the Alamani.

[d] On the death of Sisinnius, Chrysanthus was compelled to take the bishopric; who was the son of Marcianus who had been bishop of the Novatians before Sisinnius. From his early age he had served military offices about the palace; afterwards under the great king Theodosius[e] he became invested with the consular dignity in Italy, and finally was appointed vicar of the Bretannic isles, being admired for the administration of his offices.

SOZOMEN.[f]

[g] For on account of his [Constantine's] difference with Maxentius, who was then resident in Italy, the Roman affairs were disturbed, and it was not easy at that time to travel among the Gauls and Britons and the dwellers in those parts, among whom it was admitted that Constantine had participated in the worship of the Christians before he had fought against Maxentius, and had come over to Rome and the Italians.

[h] And then, especially as [i]Constantine was still surviving, it did not appear contrary to law to the Gauls and Britons, who were situated beyond the Italians, to embrace Christianity.

[k] But about this time Gratian being occupied in the war against the Alamani, Maximus from Britain revolted, and endeavoured to possess himself of the empire of the Romans.

. . .[l] At this time Maximus, having collected a very large army of Britons and of the neighbouring Gauls and Celti, and of the surrounding nations, went into Italy, under pretext that he would suffer no innovation to be made with regard to the national faith and ecclesiastical order, but in reality to clear himself from the imputation of being a tyrant: still looking however to the sovereignty, and studying by every means to appear to secure to himself by law and not by force the empire of the Romans. But Valentinian, urged by the times, bowed to the symbols of his authority.

[m] The soldiers in Britain having revolted, salute Marcus emperor; after him Gratianus, having dispatched Marcus; and when he had been murdered by them within the space of four months, they next elect Constantine emperor; thinking that as he bore that name, he would rule with firmness and constancy: for on some such account they appear to have elected others also to the sovereignty. Constantine having passed over from Britain to Bononia, a city of Gaul lying on the coast, conciliated the soldiers in Gaul and Aquitania: and made subject to him the whole of those districts as far as the mountains between Italy and Gaul, which the Romans call the Cottian Alps.

---

[a] Socratis Historiæ Ecclesiasticæ lib. i. c. 2. Ed. Reading, Cantab. 1720.
Claruit Socrates A.D. 420.
[b] A.D. 306. [c] Lib. v. c. 11. A.D. 383.
[d] Lib. vii. c. 12. A.D. 407. [e] A.D. 379–393.
[f] Sozomeni Histor. Ecclesiast. lib. i. c. 5. Ed. Reading, Cantab. 1720.
Floruit Sozomenus A.D. 430.
[g] A.D. 312. [h] Lib. i. c. 6.

[i] Κωνσταντίου; Constantius? A.D. 292–306.
[k] Lib. vii. c. 13. A.D. 383. [l] A.D. 387.
[m] Lib. ix. c. 11. A.D. 407.
[n] Eusebii Pamphili Chronicorum lib. ii., interprete Hieronymo. Ed. Scaligeri, Amstelod. 1658.
Desinit Eusebii Chronicon A.D. 329: hoc autem vertit, auxit, et usque ad An. 377 produxit Hieronymus.
[o] A.D. 44. [p] A.D. 207? [q] A.D. 211.
[r] A.D. 287. [s] A.D. 296. [t] A.D. 307.

Digitized by Google

imperii anno diem obiit in Britannia Eboraci. Post quem filius ejus Constantinus ex concubina Helena procreatus regnum invadit.

GRATIANI AN. VII.[a] Valentinianus in Britannia, antequam tyrannidem invaderet, oppressus.

EX PROSPERO AQUITANO.[b]

RICIMERE ET CLEARCHO coss.[c] In Britannia per seditionem militum Maximus imperator est factus; quo mox ad Gallias transfretante, Gratianus Parisiis, Merobaudis magistri militum proditione superatus, et fugiens, Lugduni captus atque occisus est. Maximus Victorem filium suum consortem regni facit.

THEODOSIO II. ET CYNEGIO.[d] Maximus tyrannus a Valentiniano et Theodosio imperatoribus in tertio ab Aquileia lapide spoliatus indumentis regiis, sistitur, et capite damnatur: cujus filius Victor eodem anno ab Arbogaste comite est interfectus in Galliis.

HONORIO VII. ET THEODOSIO II.[e] Constantinus in Britannia tyrannus exoritur et ad Gallias transit.

THEODOSIO AUGUSTO IV. cos.[f] Constantinus per Honorii duces, Constantium et Ulphilam, apud Arelatense oppidum victus et captus est: cujus filium Constantem in Hispania regnare orsum, Gerontius comes, in Maximum quendam tyrannidem transferens, interemerat.

LUCIO V. C. cos.[g] Hac tempestate Pelagius Britto dogma nominis sui contra gratiam Christi, Cælestio et Juliano adjutoribus exerit, multosque in suum errorem trahit; prædicans, unumquemque ad justitiam voluntate propria regi, tantumque accipere gratiæ, quantum meruerit: quod peccatum Adæ ipsum solum læserit, non etiam posteros ejus obstrinxerit, unde et volentibus possibile sit omni carere peccato: omnesque parvulos tam insontes nasci, quam primus homo ante prævaricationem fuit; nec ideo baptizandos ut peccato exuantur, sed ut sacramento adoptionis honorentur.

FLORENTIO ET DIONYSIO.[h] Agricola Pelagianus, Severiani episcopi Pelagiani filius, ecclesias Britanniæ dogmatis sui insinuatione corrupit. Sed actione Palladii diaconi papa Cælestinus Germanum Autisiodorensem episcopum vice sua mittit, et deturbatis hæreticis, Britannos ad Catholicam fidem dirigit.

BASSO ET ANTIOCHO.[i] Ad Scotos in Christum credentes ordinatus a papa Cælestino Palladius primus episcopus mittitur.

EX PROSPERO TYRONE.[k]

GRATIANI III.[l] Maximus tyrannus in Britannia a militibus imperator constituitur.

IV.[m] Incursantes Pictos et Scotos Maximus strenue superavit.

VI.[n] Maximus in Gallias transfretavit, et conflictu contra Gratianum habito, eundem fugitantem Lugduni interfecit.

THEODOSII I.[o] Maximus timens Orientalis imperii principem Theodosium, cum Valentiniano fœdus iniit. Apud Treveros Manichæi deprehensi, summo Maximi studio exterminati.

III.[p] Maximus indignum ducens contra ecclesiæ statum agi, locum irrumpendi quod cum Valentiniano junxerat fœdus, invenit. Valentinianus veritus imminentem jam cervicibus suis tyrannum, ad Theodosium confugit.

IV.[q] Theodosius cum exercitu ad Italiam transgrediens, Maximum interfecit, et Valentinianum proprio regno reddidit.

ARCADII ET HONORII VI.[r] Pelagius vesanus doctrina execrabili ecclesias commaculare conatur.

XV.[s] Hac tempestate præ validitudine Romanorum vires funditus attenuatæ Britanniæ.

XVI.[t] Saxonum incursione devastatam Galliarum partem Wandali atque Alani vastavere: quod reliquum fuerat, Constantinus tyrannus obsidebat.

XVII.[u] Constantinus tyrannus occiditur.

THEODOSII XVIII.[v] Britanniæ usque ad hoc tempus variis cladibus eventibusque * latæ, in ditionem Saxonum rediguntur.

EX CASSIODORO.[w]

CRISPINUS ET TAURUS.[x] His consulibus Claudius de Britannis triumphavit, et Orcadas insulas Romano adjecit imperio.

APER ET MAXIMUS.[y] His coss. Severus in Britannos bellum movit, ubi ut receptas provincias ab incursione barbarica faceret securiores, vallum per C.XXXII. passuum millia a mari ad mare deduxit.

GENTIANUS ET BASSUS.[z] His coss. Severus imperator Eboraci in Britannia moritur.

EX JORNANDE.[a]

Nunc autem de Britannia insula, quæ in sinu oceani inter Hispanias, Gallias, et Germaniam sita est, ut potuero, paucis absolvam. Cujus licet magnitudinem olim nemo, ut refert Livius, circumvectus est, multis tamen data est varia opinio de ea loquendi. Quam diu siquidem armis inaccessam Romanis, Julius Cæsar prœliis ad gloriam tantum quæsitis, aperuit: perviam deinceps mercimoniis, aliasque ob causas multis patefacta mortalibus, non indiligenti, quæ secuta est, ætati, certius sui prodit situm: quam ut a Græcis, Latinisque autoribus accepimus, persequimur: Triquetram eam plures

[a] A.D. 372? Conf. sup. p. lxxiv.

[b] Prosperi Aquitani Chronico. Apud Labbæum, Bibl. Nov. MSS^tor. t. I. p. 96.
Hieronymi Chronicon continuavit Prosper ab A.D. 377 ad A.D. 455.

[c] A.D. 384. [d] A.D. 388. [e] A.D. 407. [f] A.D. 411.
[g] A.D. 413. [h] A.D. 429. [i] A.D. 431.

[k] Prosperi Chronico. Apud Labbæum, ubi supra.
De auctore hujus Chronici, quod ab A.D. 378 ad An. 456 productum est, minime constat.

[l] A.D. 381. [m] A.D. 382. [n] A.D. 384.
[o] A.D. 385. [p] A.D. 387. [q] A.D. 388.
[r] A.D. 400. [s] A.D. 409. [t] A.D. 410
[u] A.D. 411. [v] A.D. 441.

[w] M. A. Cassiodori Chronico. Ed. Garetii, Rotomag. 1679.
Claruit Cassiodorus A.D. 520.

[x] A.D. 44. [y] A.D. 207. [z] A.D. 211.

[a] Jornandis sive Jordani de Rebus Geticis c. ii. Ap. Muratori Rer. Italic. Script. t. I. Mediolan. 1723.
Jornandes circa A.D. 552 scripsisse putatur.

Digitized by Google

dixere, cono similem, inter septentrionalem occidentalemque plagam projectam, uno, qui magnus est, angulo in Rheni ostia spectantem: dehinc correpta latitudine obliqua retro abstractam in duos exire alios: geminoque latere longiore Galliæ protendi, atque Germaniæ. In duobus milibus trecentis decem stadiis latitudo ejus ubi patentior: longitudo non ultra septem millia centum triginta duo stadia fertur extendi: modo vero dumosa, modo sylvestri jacere planicie, montibus etiam nonnullis increscere: mari tardo circumflua, quod nec remis facile impellentibus cedat, nec ventorum flatibus intumescat, quia remotæ longius terræ causas motibus negant, quippe illuc latius, quam usquam, æquor extenditur. Refert autem Strabo, Græcorum nobilis scriptor, tantas illam exhalare nebulas, madefacta humo oceani crebris excursibus, ut subtectus sol per illum pene totum fœdiorem, qui serenus est, diem negetur aspectui. [1]Noctem etiam clariorem in extrema ejus parte minimamque.' Cornelius etiam Annalium scriptor narrat, metallis plurimis copiosam, herbis frequentem, et his feraciorem omnibus, quia pecora magis quam homines alat. Labi vero per eam, et multa quammaxima, relabique flumina, gemmas margaritasque volventia. [a]Sylorum colorati vultus, torto plerique crine, et nigro nascuntur. Calidoniam vero incolentibus, rutilæ comæ, corpora magna, sed fluida: qui Gallis sive Hispanis [2]quibusque attenduntur assimiles.' Unde conjectavere nonnulli, quod ea ex his accolas [3]continuo vocatos acceperit, inculti æque omnes populi, regesque populorum: [4]cunctos tamen in Calidoniorum [5]Meatarumque nomina concessisse,' autor est Dio celeberrimus scriptor Annalium. Virgeas habitant casas, communia tecta cum pecore, silvæque illis sæpe sunt domus. Ob decorem nescio, an ob aliam rem, ferro pingunt corpora. Bellum inter se aut imperii cupidine, aut amplificandi quæ possident, sæpius gerunt, non tantum equitatu, vel pedite, verum etiam bigis, curribusque falcatis, quos more vulgari Essedas vocant. Hæc pauca de Britanniæ insulæ forma dixisse sufficiat.

[b]Euricus ergo Vesegothorum rex crebram mutationem Romanorum principum cernens, Gallias suo jure nisus est occupare[c]. Quod comperiens Authemius imperator, protinus solatia Britonum postulavit. Quorum rex [6]Rhiothimus cum XII. millibus veniens, in Biturigas civitatem oceano, e navibus egressus, susceptus est.[d] Ad quos rex Vesegothorum Euricus innumerum ductans exercitum advenit, diuque pugnans, Riothimum Britonum regem, antequam Romani in ejus societate conjungerentur, superavit. Qui ampla parte exercitus amissa, cum quibus potuit fugiens, ad Burgundionum gentem vicinam, Romanis in eo tempore fœderatam, advenit.

EX PROCOPIO.[e]

... Τῶν δὲ δὴ νήσων, Βρεττανία μὲν, ἡ ἐκτὸς στηλῶν τῶν Ἡρακλείων, νήσων ἁπασῶν μεγίστη παρὰ πολὺ οὖσα, μετὰ τῆς Ἐσπερίας (ὡς γε τὸ εἰκὸς) ἐτάττετο μοίρας.

[f] Βρεττανία δὲ ἡ νῆσος Ῥωμαίων ἀπέστη· οἵ τε ἐκείνῃ στρατιῶται βασιλέα σφίσι Κωνσταντῖνον εἵλοντο, οὐκ ἀφανῆ ἄνδρα. ὃς δὴ αὐτίκα στόλον τε ἀγείρας νηῶν, καὶ στρατιὰν λόγου ἀξίαν· ἐς Ἰσπανίαν τε καὶ Γαλλίαν, ὡς δουλωσόμενος, στρατῷ μεγάλῳ ἐσέβαλλεν ... μέτα δὲ Ἀλλάριχος μὲν τελευτᾷ νόσῳ. ὁ δὲ τῶν Οὐϊσιγότθων στρατὸς, ἡγουμένου σφίσι Ἀδαούλφου, ἐπὶ Γαλλίας ἐχώρησαν. Καὶ Κωνσταντῖνος μάχῃ ἡσσηθεὶς ξὺν τοῖς παισὶ θνήσκει. Βρεττανίαν μὲν τοι Ῥωμαῖοι ἀνασώσασθαι οὐκέτι ἔσχον· ἀλλ' οὖσα ὑπὸ τυράννοις ἀπ' αὐτοῦ ἔμενε.

[h] Ἡ Σιβύλλα [ἐν τῇ Ῥώμῃ] οὐχ ἅπαντα ἐξῆς τὰ πράγματα λέγει, οὐδὲ ἁρμονίαν τινὰ ποιουμένη τοῦ λόγου· ἀλλ' ἔπος εἰποῦσα ὅ, τι δὴ ἀμφὶ τοῖς Λιβύης κακοῖς, ἀπεπήδησεν εὐθὺς ἐς τὰ Περσῶν ἤθη. ἐνθένδε τε Ῥωμαίων ἐς μνήμην ἐλθοῦσα, μεταβιβάζει ἐς τοὺς Ἀσσυρίους τὸν λόγον. καὶ πάλιν ἀμφὶ Ῥωμαίοις μαντευομένη, προλέγει τὰ Βρεττανῶν πάθη.

[i] 'Ἡμεῖς δὲ [ἔλεξεν ὁ Βελισάριος] Γότθοις Βρεττανίαν ὅλην συγχωροῦμεν ἔχειν, μείζω τὸ παραπολὺ Σικελίας οὖσαν, καὶ Ῥωμαίων κατήκοον τὸ ἀνέκαθεν γεγενημένην· τοὺς γὰρ εὐεργεσίας ἢ χάριτός τινος ἄρξαντας τοῖς ἴσοις ἀμείβεσθαι ἄξιον.'

[k] Πολλὰ γοῦν σφίσι [Ἐρούλοις] βουλευσαμένοις, ἄμεινον τῷ παντὶ ἔδοξεν εἶναι, τῶν τινα γένους τοῦ βασιλείου μεταπέμψασθαι ἐκ Θούλης τῆς νήσου. ὃ τι, δὲ τοῦτ' ἔστιν, αὐτίκα δηλώσω ... ἔστι δὲ ἡ Θούλη μεγίστη ἐσάγαν. Βρεττανίας γὰρ αὐτὴν πλέον ἤ

PROCOPIUS.[e]

As to the islands, Britain, by far the largest of them all, lying without the pillars of Hercules, was considered, as was fitting, to belong to the western division of the empire.

[f] But the island Bretannia revolted from the Romans; and the soldiery there chose to themselves for emperor Constantine, no obscure personage. He immediately, collecting a fleet of ships and a considerable army, invaded Spain and Gaul with a numerous force, for the purpose of subjugating them. ... After this Alaricus died of disease. But the army of the Visigoths, under the conduct of Adaulphus, went into Gaul. And Constantine, being defeated in battle[g], died, together with his sons. The Romans no longer had it in their power to recover Britain; so that from this time it remained subject to usurpers.

[h] The Sybil [at Rome] does not relate matters altogether in exact order, nor observe any consistency of discourse; but speaking somewhat of the calamities of Libya, she leaps immediately to the customs of the Persians, and thence having come to the recollection of the Romans, she transfers her narrative to the Assyrians. And again, prophecying concerning the Romans, forebodes the sufferings of the Britons.

[i] 'But [said Belisarius] we allow the Goths to possess the whole of Britain, which is far larger than Sicily and was formerly subject to the Romans; for it is fit to return an equivalent to such as are first to confer a benefit or a favour.'

[k] To them therefore [the Heruli] after frequent consultation, it appeared best on the whole that some one of the royal race should be sent for from the island Thule. What this is I shall show forthwith ... Thule is extremely large

[1], noctem quoque clariorem. In extrema ejus parte Memma, quam [2] ut quibus qui attenduntur obsimiles [3] contiguo [4] cunctis [5] metallum concessisse nominandi [6] Riutimund.

[a] Silurum. [b] C. xlv. [c] A.D. 468?
[d] Vide Apollinarem Sidonium, inf. p. xcviii. [h].
[e] Procopii Cæsariensis de Bello Vandalico lib. I. c. 1. Ed. Maltreti, Parisiis, 1662.
Floruit Procopius A.D. 560.
[f] C. 2. A.D. 407. [g] A.D. 411.
[h] De Bello Gothico lib. I. c. 24. Ubi supra. A.D. 536.
[i] Lib. II. c. 6. A.D. 537.
[k] Cc. 14, 15.

Digitized by Google

δεκαπλασίαν ξυμβαίνει εἶναι. κεῖται δὲ αὐτῆς πολλῷ ἄποθεν πρὸς βορρᾶν ἄνεμον.

[a] Κατὰ δὲ τὸν χρόνον τοῦτον τῷ τε Οὐάρνων ἔθνει καὶ στρατιώταις νησιώταις, οἳ δὴ ἐν νήσῳ τῇ Βριτλίᾳ καλουμένῃ ὤκηνται, πόλεμος καὶ μάχη ἐγένετο ἐξ αἰτίας τοιᾶσδε. Οὔαρνοι μὲν ὑπὲρ Ἴστρον ποταμὸν ἵδρυνται· διήκουσι δὲ ἄχρι τε ἐς ὠκεανὸν τὸν ἀρκτῶον, καὶ ποταμὸν Ῥῆνον· ὅσπερ αὐτούς τε διορίζει, καὶ Φράγγους, καὶ τἆλλα ἔθνη, ἃ ταύτῃ ἵδρυνται. οὗτοι ἅπαντες, ὅσοι τοπαλαιὸν ἀμφὶ Ῥῆνον ἑκατέρωθεν ποταμὸν ὤκηντο, ἰδίου μὲν τινος ὀνόματος ἕκαστοι μετελάγχανον· ὧν δὴ ἔθνος ἓν Γερμανοὶ ὀνομάζονται. ἐπικοινῆς δὲ Γερμανοὶ ἐκαλοῦντο ἅπαντες. Βριτλία δὲ ἡ νῆσος ἐπὶ τούτου μὲν τοῦ ὠκέανου [ἀρκτῷου] κεῖται, τῆς ἠόνος οὐ πολλῷ ἄποθεν. ἀλλ' ὅσον ἀπὸ σταδίων διακοσίων καταντικρὺ τῶν τοῦ Ῥήνου ἐκβολῶν μάλισ'α. Βρετλανίας δὲ καὶ Θούλης τῆς νήσου μεταξὺ ἐστιν. ἐπεὶ Βρετλανία μὲν πρὸς δύοντά που κεῖται ἥλιον κατὰ τῆς Ἰσπανῶν τὰ ἔσχατα χώρας, ἀμφὶ σταδίους οὐχ ἧσσον ἢ ἐς τετρακισχιλίους τῆς ἠπείρου διέχουσα. Βριτλία δὲ ἐς τῆς Γαλλίας τὰ ὄπισθεν, ἃ δὴ πρὸς ὠκεανὸν τετραμμένα, Ἰσπανίας δηλονότι καὶ Βρετλανίας πρὸς Βορρᾶν ἄνεμον. Θούλη δὲ, ὅσα γε ἀνθρώποις εἰδέναι, ἐς ὠκεανοῦ τοῦ πρὸς τῇ ἄρκτῳ τὰ ἔσχατα κεῖται. ἀλλὰ τὰ μὲν ἀμφὶ Βρετλανίαν καὶ Θούλην, ἐν τοῖς ἔμπροσθέν μοι λόγοις ἐρρήθη. Βριτλίαν δὲ τὴν νῆσον ἔθνη τρία πολυανθρωπότατα ἔχουσι· βασιλεύς τε εἷς αὐτῶν ἑκάστῳ ἐφέστηκεν. ὀνόματα δὲ κεῖται τοῖς ἔθνεσι τούτοις Ἀγγίλοι τε καὶ Φρίσσονες καὶ οἱ τῇ νήσῳ ὁμώνυμοι Βρίτλωνες· τοσαύτη δὲ ἡ τῶνδε τῶν ἐθνῶν πολυανθρωπία φαίνεται οὖσα, ὥστε ἀνὰ πᾶν ἔτος κατὰ πολλοὺς ἐνθένδε μετανιστάμενοι, ξὺν γυναιξὶ καὶ παισὶν, ἐς Φράγγους χωροῦσιν. οἱ δὲ αὐτοὺς ἐνοικίζουσιν ἐς γῆς τῆς σφετέρας τὴν ἐρημοτέραν δοκοῦσαν εἶναι. καὶ ἀπ' αὐτοῦ τῆν νῆσον προσποιεῖσθαί φασιν. ὥστε ἀμέλει οὐ πολλῷ πρότερον ὁ Φράγγων βασιλεὺς ἐπὶ πρεσβείᾳ τῶν οἱ ἐπιτηδείων τινὰς παρὰ βασιλέα Ἰουστινιανὸν ἐς Βυζάντιον στείλας, ἄνδρας αὐτοῖς ἐκ τῶν Ἀγγίλων ξυνέπεμψε, φιλοτιμούμενος, ὡς καὶ ἡ νῆσος ἥδε πρὸς αὐτοῦ ἄρχεται. τὰ μὲν οὖν κατὰ τὴν Βριτλίαν καλουμένην νῆσον τοιαῦτά ἐστιν.

Τῶν δὲ Οὐάρνων ἀνήρ τις οὐ πολλῷ πρότερον, Ἑρμεγίσκλος ὄνομα, ἦρχεν. ὅσπερ τὴν βασιλείαν κρατύνασθαι διὰ σπουδῆς ἔχων, τὴν Θευδιβέρτου ἀδελφὴν τῶν Φράγγων ἄρχοντος γυναῖκα γαμετὴν ἐποιήσατο. τετελευτηκεί γὰρ αὐτῷ ἔναγχος ἡ πρότερον ξυνοικοῦσα γυνὴ, παιδὸς ἑνὸς γενομένη μήτης· ὃν καὶ ἀπέλιπε τῷ πατρὶ Ραδίγερα ὄνομα, ᾧ δὴ ὁ πατὴρ παρθένου κόρης, γένους Βριτλίας, ἐμνήστευσε γάμον, ἥσπερ ἀδελφὸς βασιλεὺς ἦν τότε Ἀγγίλων τοῦ ἔθνους, χρήματα μεγάλα τῷ τῆς μνηστείας αὐτῇ δεδωκὼς λόγῳ. οὗτος ἀνὴρ σὺν Οὐάρνων τοῖς λογιμωτάτοις ἐν χωρίῳ τῷ ἱππευόμενος, ὄρνιν τινὰ ἐπὶ δένδρου τε καθημένην εἶδε, καὶ πολλὰ κρώζουσαν. εἴτε δὲ τῆς ὄρνιθος τῆς φωνῆς ξυνεὶς, εἴτε ἄλλο μὲν τοι ἐξεπιστάμενος, ξυνεῖναι δὲ τῆς ὄρνιθος μαντευομένης τερατευσάμενος, τοῖς παροῦσιν εὐθὺς ἔφασκεν, ὡς τεθνήξεται τεσσαράκοντα ἡμέραις ὕστερον. τοῦτο γὰρ αὐτῷ τὴν τῆς ὄρνιθος δηλοῦν πρόῤῥησιν. ἐγὼ μὲν οὖν προορώμενος, ἔφη, ὅπως δὴ ὡς ἀσφαλέστατα ξὺν τῇ ἀπραγμοσύνῃ βιώσησθε, τοῖς τε Φράγγοις ἐς κῆδος ξυνῆλθον, γυναῖκα ἐνθένδε τὴν ἐμοὶ ξυνοικοῦσαν ἐπαγαγόμενος, καὶ τῷ παιδὶ τῷ ἐμῷ περιβέβλημαι τὴν Βριτλίαν μνηστήν. ἀλλὰ νῦν, ἐπεὶ ἐγὼ μὲν γε τεθνήξεσθαι ὑποτοπάζω αὐτίκα μάλα, εἰμὶ δὲ ἄπαις ἀρσενός τε καὶ θήλεος γόνου, ὅσα γε τὰ ἐκ γυναικὸς τῇσδε· πρὸς δὲ καὶ ὁ παῖς ἀνυμέναιός τε καὶ ἄνυμφος ἔτι νῦν ἐστι· φέρε ὑμῖν ἐπικοινώσομαι τὴν ἐμὴν δίανοιαν, καὶ εἴ τι ὑμῖν οὐκ ἀξύμφερον δόξειεν εἶναι, ὑμεῖς δὲ αὐτὴν, ἐπειδὰν ἀφίκωμαι τάχιστα ἐς τὸ μέτρον τοῦ βίου, τύχῃ ἀγαθῇ κατακυροῦντες διαπεραίνετε. οἶμαι τοίνυν Οὐάρνοις ξυνοίσειν τὴν κηδείαν ἐς Φράγγους μᾶλλον, ἢ ἐς τοὺς νησιώτας ποιεῖσθαι. Βρίτλιοι μὲν γὰρ οὐδὲ ὅσον ἐπιμίγνυσθαι ὑμῖν οἷοί τε εἰσιν, ὅτι μὴ ὀψέ τε καὶ μόλις. Οὔαρνοι δὲ καὶ Φράγγοι τουτὶ μόνον τοῦ Ῥήνου τὸ ὕδωρ μεταξὺ ἔχουσιν. ὥστε καὶ αὐτοὺς ἐν γειτόνων μὲν ὡς πλησιαίτατα ὄντας ἡμῖν, ἐς δυνάμεως δὲ κεχωρηκότας μέγα τι χρῆμα, ἐν προχείρῳ ἔχειν εὖ ποιεῖν τε ἡμᾶς καὶ λυμαίνεσθαι, ἡνίκα ἂν αὐτοῖς βουλομένοις εἴη· λυμανοῦνται δὲ πάντως, ἢν μὴ τὸ κῆδος αὐτοῖς ἐμπόδιον ἔσται· βαρεῖα γὰρ φύσει τοῖς ἀνθρώποις ὑπερβάλλουσα αὐτοὺς τῶν πλη-being ten times larger than Britain; from which it is very far distant to the north.

---

[a] About this time, war and contest arose between the nation of the Varni and the insular soldiers who dwell in the island called Brittia, from the following cause. The Varni are seated beyond the river Ister: and they extend as far as the Northern Ocean, and the river Rhine, which separates them from the Franks and the other nations situated in this quarter. The whole of those, who formerly dwelt on either side the river Rhine, had each a peculiar name; of which one tribe is called Germans, a name commonly applied to all. In this [Northern] Ocean lies the island Brittia, not far from the continent, but as much as two hundred stadia, right opposite to the outlets of the Rhine, and is between Britannia and the island Thule. For Britannia lies somewhere towards the setting sun, at the extremity of the country of the Spaniards, distant from the continent not less than four thousand stadia. But Brittia lies at the hindermost extremity of Gaul where it borders on the ocean, that is to say, to the north of Spain and Britain: whereas Thule, so far as is known to men, lies at the farthest extremity of the ocean towards the north: but matters relating to Britain and Thule have been discoursed of in our former narrative. Three very numerous nations possess Brittia, over each of which a king presides; which nations are named Angili, Phrissones, and those surnamed from the island, Brittones; so great indeed appears the fecundity of these nations, that every year vast numbers migrating thence with their wives and children go to the Franks; who colonize them in such places as seem the most desert parts of their country; and upon this circumstance, they say, they found a claim to the island. Insomuch indeed, that, not long since, the king of the Franks dispatching some of his own people on an embassy to the emperor Justinian at Byzantium, sent with them also certain of the Angili; thus making a show as though this island also was ruled by him. Such then are the matters relating to the island called Brittia.

Not long ere this, a certain man named Hermegisclus ruled over the Varni. And he, being anxious to strengthen his kingdom, had married the sister of Theudibertus king of the Franks; for his former wife had recently died, having given birth to a boy called Radiger, whom she left to his father. To him his father betrothed a virgin of Brittian race, whose brother was at that time king of the nation of the Angili, giving her great wealth under the name of dowry. This man, riding in a certain district with some of the Varnian nobility, saw a bird sitting on a tree and croaking excessively. And then, whether he understood the cry of the bird, or having other information, he pretended that he knew the bird's predictions; he said immediately to those present, that he should die within forty days: for so the boding of the bird portended him: 'I, therefore,' said he, 'providing beforehand how you may live most securely and quietly, have made affinity with the Franks, having taken my wife from among them, and have contracted a Brittian alliance for my son. But now, as I am persuaded I must die very shortly, and as I have neither male nor female issue by this wife, and moreover as my son is yet unwedded and unmatched, I will communicate to you my views: and if they do not seem inexpedient to you, as soon as I arrive at the term of my existence, prosecuting them successfully, carry them into effect. I think, therefore, that affinity with the Franks, rather than with the islanders, would be beneficial to the Varni. For the Brittians are incapable of intercourse with you, save with time and difficulty; whereas the Varni and the Franks have only the waters of the Rhine between them. So that, being our nearest neighbours and extremely powerful, they have the facility of benefiting or of injuring us whenever they please; and they will injure us in every way, unless our affinity with them prevent it. For the superior power of neighbours is by nature grievous to men, and always likely to inflict injury; since it is easy for a powerful neighbour to frame excuses for war against such as live near him, however unoffending they may be. This σιοχώρων δυνάμις γίνεται, καὶ πρὸς ἀδικίαν ἑτοιμοτάτη· ἐπεὶ γεῖτονι δυνατῷ ῥάδιον ἐπὶ τοὺς πέλας οὐδὲν ἀδικοῦντας ἐκπορίζεσθαι πολέμου αἰτίας. ὅτι τοίνυν ταῦτα οὕτως ἔχει· παρεῖσθω μὲν ὑμῖν τοῦ παιδὸς τοῦδε νησιῶτις μνηστὴ χρήματα πάντα, ὅσα παρ' ἡμῶν κεκομισμένη τούτου δὴ ἕνεκα ἔτυχε, τῆς ὕβρεως ἀπενεγκαμένη μισθόν, ᾗ νόμος ἀνθρώπων ὁ κοινὸς βούλεται. Ραδίγερ δὲ ὁ παῖς ξυνοικιζέσθω τῇ μητρυιᾷ τολοιπὸν τῇ αὐτοῦ, καθάπερ ὁ πάτριος ἡμῖν ἐρίηισι νόμος.

[a] Lib. IV. c. 20. Cir. A.D. 548.

Digitized by Google

Ὁ μὲν ταῦτα εἰπὼν, τῇ τεσσαρακοστῇ ἀπὸ τῆς προρρήσεως ἡμέρᾳ νοσήσας, τὴν πεπρωμένην ἀνέπλησεν. ὁ δὲ τοῦ Ἑρμεγίσκλου υἱὸς, Οὐάρνων τὴν βασιλείαν παραλαβὼν, γνώμῃ τῶν ἐν βαρβάροις τοῖςδε λογίμων ἀνδρῶν ἐπιτελῆ ἐποίει τὴν τοῦ τετελευτηκότος βουλὴν, καὶ τὸν γάμον αὐτίκα τῇ μνηστῇ ἀπεῖπε, καὶ τῇ μητρυιᾷ ξυνοικίζεται. ἐπειδὰν δὲ ταῦτα ἡ τοῦ Ραδίγερος μνηστὴ ἔμαθεν, οὐκ ἐνεγκοῦσα τὴν τοῦ πράγματος ξυμφορὰν, τίσασθαι αὐτὸν τῆς ἐς αὐτὴν ὕβρεως ὥρμητο. τίμιον γὰρ οὕτω τοῖς ἐκείνῃ βαρβάροις ζαφροσύνη νομίζεται εἶναι, ὥστε δὴ μόνου παρ' αὐτοῖς ξυντετυχηκότος ὀνόματος γάμου, μὴ ἐπιγενομένου τοῦ ἔργου δοκεῖ πεπορνεῦσθαι γυνή· τὰ μὲν οὖν πρῶτα πέμψασα πρὸς αὐτὸν ἐπὶ πρεσβείᾳ τῶν οἱ ἐπιτηδείων τινὰς, ἀνεπυθάνετο, ὅτου δὴ ὑβρίσειεν ἐς αὐτὴν ἕνεκα, οὔτε πεπορνευμένην οὔτε τι ἄλλο εἰργασμένην αὐτῷ ἄχαρι; ἐπεὶ δὲ ἀντίλεγειν οὐδὲν ταύτῃ ἐδύνατο, τὸ ἀρρενωπὸν ἀνελομένη, ἐπὶ πολέμια ἔργα ἐχώρει. ναῦς οὖν αὐτίκα τετρακοσίας ἀγείρασα, στρατεύματα τε αὐταῖς ἐνθεμένη οὐχ ἧσσον ἢ μυριάδων δέκα μαχίμων ἀνδρῶν, αὐτὴ ἐξηγεῖτο ἐπὶ τοὺς Οὐάρνους τῇ στρατιᾷ ταύτῃ. ἐπήγετο δὲ καὶ τῶν ἀδελφῶν τῶν ἑαυτῆς ἕνα, ξυνδιοικησόμενον αὐτῇ τὰ παρόντα, οὐχ ὃς μέν τοι τὴν βασιλείαν εἶχεν, ἀλλά γε τὸν ἐν ἰδιώτου τελοῦντα μοῖραν. ἄλκιμοι δὲ εἰσι πάντων μάλιστα βαρβάρων, ὧν ἡμεῖς ἴσμεν, οἱ νησιῶσαι οὗτοι, ἐς τε τὰς ξυμβολὰς πεζοὶ ἴασιν. οὐ γὰρ ὅσον εἰσὶ τοῦ ἱππεύεσθαι ἀμελέτητοι, αλλ' οὐδὲ ἵππον, ὅτοι ποτέ ἐστιν, ἐπίστασθαι σφίσι ξυμβαίνει. ἐπεὶ ἵππον ἐν ταύτῃ τῇ νήσῳ οὐδ' ὅσα κατ' εἰκόνα τιθέανται. οὐ γὰρ ποτε τὸ ζῶον τούτο ἔν γε Βριτλίᾳ γεγονὸς φαίνεται. εἰ δὲ ποτε αὐτῶν τισι ἐπὶ πρεσβείᾳ ἢ ἄλλου τοῦ ἕνεκα Ῥωμαίοις ἢ Φράγξοις ἢ ἄλλῳ τῷ ἵππους ἔχοντι ἐπιχωριάσαι ξυμβαίη, ἐνταῦθα τε ἵπποις ὀχεῖσθαι αὐτοῖς ἐπάναγκες εἴη· ἀναθρώσκειν μὲν ἐπ' αὐτοὺς οὐδεμιᾷ μηχανῇ ἔχουσιν, ἕτεροι δὲ αὐτοὺς μετεωρίζοντες ἄνθρωποι ἐπὶ τοὺς ἵππους ἀναβιβάζουσιν· ἀπαλλάσσεσθαί τε βουλομένους ἐντεῦθεν, αὖθις αἴροντες ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς κατατίθενται. οὐ μὴν οὐδὲ Οὔαρνοι ἱππόται εἰσὶν, ἀλλὰ πεζοὶ καὶ αὐτοὶ ἅπαντες. οὗτοι μὲν οὖν οἱ βάρβαροι τοιοίδε εἰσί, περίνεως δὲ οὐκ ἦν ἐν τούτῳ τῷ στόλῳ, ἀλλὰ αὐτερέται πάντες· οὐδὲ ἱστία τούτοις ὀὲ τοῖς νησιώταις τυγχάνει ὄντα, ἀλλ' ἐρέσσοντες ἀεὶ ναυτίλλονται μόνον.

Ἐπειδὴ δὲ κατέπλευσαν ἐς τὴν ἤπειρον, παρθένος μὲν, ἥπερ αὐτῶν ἦρχη, χάρακα ἐχυρὸν πηξαμένη παρ' αὐτὴν μάλιστα τὴν ἐκβολὴν ποταμοῦ Ῥήνου, ξὺν ὀλίγοις τισὶν αὐτοῦ ἀπέμεινε· παντὶ δὲ τῷ ἄλλῳ στρατῷ τὸν ἀδελφὸν ἐπὶ τοὺς πολεμίους ἐξηγεῖσθαι κελεύει. ἐστρατοπεδεύοντο δὲ Οὔαρνοι τότε, τῆς τε ὠκεανοῦ ἤονος καὶ Ῥήνου ἐκβολῆς οὐ πολλῷ ἄποθεν. οὗ δὴ ἀφικομένων κατὰ τάχος Ἀγγίλων, ξυνέμιξαν μὲν ἀμφότεροι ἐς χεῖρας ἀλλήλοις, ἡσσῶνται δὲ κατακράτος Οὔαρνοι. καὶ αὐτῶν πίπτουσι μὲν πολλοὶ ἐν τούτῳ τῷ πόνῳ· οἱ λοιποὶ δὲ ξὺν τῷ βασιλεῖ, ἐς ὑπαγωγὴν τρέπονται ἅπαντες· οἵ τε Ἀγγίλοι τὴν δίωξιν ἐπ' αὐτοῖς δι' ὀλίγου πεποιημένοι ἧ θέμις πεζοῖς, εἰς τὸ στρατόπεδον ἀπεχώρησαν. οὕσπερ ἐκάκιζεν ἐπανήκοντας ἐς αὐτὴν ἡ παρθένος· τῶτε ἀδελφῷ ἐλοιδορεῖτο πικρότατα, οὐδὲν τῇ στρατιᾷ λόγου ἄξιον ἰσχυριζομένη πεπράχθαι, ἐπεὶ μὴ ἀγάγοιεν αὐτῇ ζῶντα Ραδίγερα. καὶ αὐτῶν ἀπολεξαμένη τοὺς μάλιστα μαχιμωτάτους, εὐθὺς ἔστειλεν, ἀπαγγείλασα, δορυάλωτον ἀγαγεῖν τὸν ἄνδρα μηχανῇ πάσῃ. οἱ δὲ τὴν αὐτῆς ἐπιτελοῦντες ἐπίταξιν, περιήρχοντο διερευνώμενοι ξύμπαντα ἐς τὸ ἀκριβὲς τὰ ἐκείνῃ χωρία, ἕως ἐν ὕλῃ ἀμφιλαφεῖ κρυπτόμενον Ραδίγερα εὗρον. δησαντές τε αὐτὸν, τῇ παιδὶ ἀπεκόμισαν. καὶ ὁ μὲν αὐτῆς ἐν ὀφθαλμοῖς εἱστήκει, τρέμοντε, καὶ τεθνήξεσθαι αὐτίκα δὴ μάλα ὑποτοπάζων θανάτῳ οἰκτίστῳ. ἡ δὲ αὐτὸν ἐκ τοῦ παραδόξου οὔτε ἀπέκτεινεν, οὔτε τὶ ἄλλο ἄχαρι ἔδρασεν· ἀλλὰ καὶ ὀνειδίσασα τὴν ἐς αὐτὴν ὕβριν ἀνεπυνθάνετο τοῦ ἀνθρώπου, ὅτου δὴ ἕνεκα ἠλογικῶς τὰ συγκείμενα ἑτέρᾳ γυναικὶ ἐς εὐνὴν ξυνέλθοι, then being the case, let the female islander, betrothed to my son, be abandoned, receiving as a compensation for this slight, the whole of the wealth with which she has been honoured by us on this occasion, as the established customs of men prescribe. But let Radiger, my son, hereafter marry his stepmother, as our national usage permits.'

Having thus spoken, on the fortieth day from the boding of the bird, he sickened, and fulfilled his destiny. But the son of Hermegisclus having received the kingdom of the Varni, by the advice of the chiefs among these barbarians, carried into effect the counsel of the deceased; and immediately renounced his contract with the maiden who was affianced to him, and married his stepmother. When, however, the betrothed of Radiger had learned these things, not enduring the indignity of the transaction, she determined to punish him for the slight he had put upon her. For so highly rated is chastity among these barbarians, that if even the mere mention of marriage occurs without its completion, the maiden seems to lose her fair fame. First, however, having sent some of her retinue on an embassy to him, she demanded for what cause he had slighted her, as she had neither been guilty of incontinence, nor of any other ungracious act towards him: but when she could prevail nothing by such means, assuming a masculine character, she proceeded to hostile measures. Immediately therefore collecting four hundred vessels, and embarking in them an armament of not less than one hundred thousand warriors, she with this force advanced in person against the Varni. She took with her also one of her brothers to conduct affairs in conjunction with her for the present; not him indeed who held the kingdom, but another who filled a private station. Of all the barbarians whom we know, these islanders are the most warlike, and they proceed on foot to their battles. So far from being exercised in horsemanship, they have never had even the chance of knowing what a horse is, since they have never seen in this island even a representation of it; for it appears that such an animal never existed in Brittia. Should it happen, therefore, occasionally to any of these people to go on an embassy, or for any other cause, to the Romans or Franks, or elsewhere where horses are used, and it should be necessary for them to proceed on horseback, then have they no device whatever for mounting, but other men lifting them up, place them on the horses; and, when wishing to dismount, they lift them again and place them on the ground. Neither indeed are the Varni horsemen, but men who fight altogether on foot. Such then are these barbarians: neither in this expedition was there a single person unemployed in the vessels, each man taking an oar; nor do these islanders make use of sails, their navigation being effected by rowing only.

When, therefore, they had reached the continent, the virgin who commanded them having built a strong fortification very near the outlet of the river Rhine, remained herself on that spot with some few persons; but her brother she ordered with the whole remaining army to proceed against her enemies. The Varni had pitched their camp not far from the shore of the ocean and the outlet of the Rhine: here the Angili speedily arriving, they mutually engaged, and the Varni were completely defeated: many of them fell in the encounter; the rest, with their king, were wholly put to flight: and the Angili, having pursued them a short distance, as far as infantry were capable of doing, returned to their camp. These on their coming back the virgin rebuked; and severely reprehended her brother, insisting that he had done nothing effective with the army, inasmuch as he had not brought to her Radiger alive. Having selected therefore the most warlike of her forces, she dispatched them with an order, by every means to bring the man captive. These, complying with her commands, went searching diligently on all sides, until they found Radiger hidden in a thicket; whom, after binding him, they conducted to the damsel. He stood before her trembling, and fully expecting to die immediately by the most cruel death. But she, contrary to his expectation, neither put him to death, nor did any thing ungracious towards καὶ ταῦτα οὐ πεπορνευμένης αὐτῷ τῆς μνηστῆς; καὶ ὃς τὴν αἰτίαν ἀπολογούμενος, τὰς τοῦ πατρὸς ἐντολὰς καὶ τὴν τῶν ἀρχόντων σπουδὴν προὔφερεν, ἱκεσίους τε προὐτείνετο λόγους, καὶ λιταῖς ἀνέμισγε τὴν ἀπολογιὰν πολλαῖς, ἐς τὴν ἀνάγκην ἀναφέρων τὸ ἔγκλημα. βουλομένῃ τε αὐτῇ ξυνοικίσεσθαι ὡμολογεῖ, καὶ τὰ οὐκ ἐν δίκῃ τὸ πρότερόν οἱ αὐτῷ πεπραγμένα, τοῖς ἐπιγινομένοις ἰάσασθαι. ἐπεί τε τὴν παῖδα ταῦτα ἤρεσκε· καὶ τῶν τε δεσμῶν ἀφεῖτο Ραδίγερ, τῆς τε ἄλλης φιλοφροσύνης ἠξίωτο. ἀποπεμπέται μὲν τὴν Θευδιβέρτου εὐθὺς ἀδελφὴν, τὴν τε Βριτλίαν ἐγήματο. Ταῦτα μὲν τῇδε κεχώρηκεν.

Digitized by Google

Ἐν ταύτῃ δὴ τῇ Βριτλίᾳ νήσῳ, τεῖχος ἐδείμαντο μακρὸν οἱ πάλαι ἄνθρωποι, δίχα τέμνον αὐτῆς πολλὴν τινα μοῖραν· ὅτι ἡ γῆ καὶ ὁ ἀνὴρ καὶ τἄλλα πάντα, οὐχ' ὁμοίως ἐφ' ἑκάτερά ἐστι. τὰ μὲν γὰρ τοῦ τείχους πρὸς ἀνίσχοντα ἥλιον, εὐεξία τε ἀέρων ἐστὶ ξυμμεταβαλλομένη ταῖς ὥραις, θέρους μὲν μετρίως ἀλεεινὴ, ψυχεινὴ δὲ χειμῶνος. καὶ ἄνθρωποι μὲν πολλοὶ ὤκηνται, κατὰ ταὐτὰ βιοτεύοντες τοῖς ἄλλοις ἀνθρώποις· τὰ τε δένδρα κάρποις ἐν ἐπιτηδείῳ γινομένοις ὡραῖον ἀνθεῖ, τάτε λήια τῶν ἄλλων οὐδὲν καταδεέστερον τέθηλεν. ἀλλὰ καὶ ὕδασιν ἡ χώρα ἐναβρυνομένη διαρκῶς φαίνεται. πρὸς δύοντα δὲ, πᾶν τοὐναντίον. ὥστε ἀμέλει μὲν ἀνθρώπῳ οὐδὲ ἡμιώριον δυνατόν ἐστιν ἐνταῦθα βιῶναι· ἔχις δὲ καὶ ὄφεις ἀναρίθμητοι, καὶ ἄλλων θηρίων παντοδαπῶν γένη, διακεκλήρωται τὸν χῶρον ἐκεινῶν. καὶ, τὸ δὴ παραλογώτατον, οἱ ἐπιχώριοι λέγουσιν ὡς, εἴ τις ἄνθρωπος τὸ τεῖχος ἀμείψας ἐπὶ θάτερα ἴοι, εὐθυωρὸν θνήσκει, τὸ λοιμῶδες τῶν ἐκείνῃ ἀέρων ὡς ἥκιστα φέρων· τοῖς τε θηρίοις ἐνθάδε ἰοῦσιν ὁ θάνατος εὐθὺς ὑπαντιάζων ἐκδέχεται. ἐνταῦθα δὲ μοι γενομένῳ τῆς ἱστορίας, ἐπάναγκές ἐστι λόγου μυθολογίᾳ ἐμφερεστάτου ἐπιμνησθῆναι. ὅς δὴ μοι οὔτε ἐπὶ τὸ παράπαν ἀληθὴς ἔδοξεν εἶναι, καίπερ ἀεὶ πρὸς ἀνδρῶν ἐκφερόμενος ἀναρίθμων· οἳ δὴ τῶν μὲν πρασσομένων αὐτουργοὶ, τῶν δὲ λόγων αὐτήκοοι ἰσχυρίζοντο γεγόνεναι· οὔτε παριτέον παντάπασιν, ὡς μὴ τάγε ἀμφὶ Βριτλίᾳ τῇ νήσῳ ἀναγραφόμενος ἀγνοίας τινὸς τῶν τῇδε ξυμβαινόντων διηνεκῶς ἀπενέγκαιμι δόξαν.

Λέγουσιν οὖν τὰς τῶν ἀποβιούντων ἀνθρώπων ψυχὰς ἐς τοῦτο ἀεὶ διακομίζεσθαι τὸ χωρίον. ὅν τινα δὲ τρόπον, αὐτίκα δηλώσω, σπουδαιότατα μὲν ἀπαγγελλόντων ἀκηκοὼς πολλάκις τῶν τῇδε ἀνθρώπων, ἐς ὀνειρώδη δέ τινα δυνάμιν ἀποκεκρίσθαι νενομικὼς τὰ θρυλλούμενα. Παρὰ τὴν ἀκτὴν τῆς κατὰ τὴν Βριτλίαν τοῦ ὠκεανοῦ νῆσον, κώμας παμπληθεῖς ξυμβαίνει εἶναι. οἰκοῦσι δὲ αὐτὰς ἄνθρωποι σαγηνεύοντές τε καὶ γῆν γεωργοῦντες, καὶ ἐπ' ἐμπορίαν ναυτιλλόμενοι ἐς τήνδε τὴν νῆσον· τὰ μὲν ἄλλα, Φράγγων κατήκοοι ὄντες, φόρου μὲν τοι ἀπαγωγὴν οὔτε πώποτε παρασχόμενοι, ὑφειμένου αὐτοῖς ἐκ παλαιοῦ τοῦδε τοῦ ἄχθους, ὑπουργίας τινὸς, ὥς φασιν, ἕνεκα, ἥ μοι ἐν τῷ παρόντι λελέξεται. λέγουσιν οἱ ταύτῃ ἄνθρωποι ἐκ περιτροπῆς ἐπικεῖσθαι τὰς τῶν ψυχῶν παραπομπὰς σφίσιν. ὅσους οὖν τῇ ἐπιγενησομένῃ νυκτὶ ἐς τὸ ἐπιτήδευμα τοῦτο τῇ τῆς ὑπουργίας διαδοχῇ ἰτέον ἐστὶν, οὗτοι δὴ ἐπειδὰν τάχιστα ξυσκοτάζει, ἐς τὰς οἰκίας τὰς αὐτῶν ἀναχωροῦντες, καθεύδουσι, προσδεχομένοι τὸν ξυναγωγέα τοῦ πράγματος. ἀφὶ δὲ νύκτωρ τῶν μὲν θυρῶν σφίσιν ἀρασσομένων αἰσθάνονται· φωνῆς δέ τινος ἀφανοῦς ἐπαΐουσιν, ἐπὶ τὸ ἔργον αὐτοὺς ξυγκαλούσης. αὐτοί τε ὀκνήσει οὐδεμιᾷ ἐκ τῶν στρωμάτων ἐξανιστάμενοι, ἐπὶ τὴν ἠῖόνα βαδίζουσιν, οὐ ξυνιέντες μὲν, ὁποία ποτὲ ἀνάγκη αὐτοὺς ἐς τοῦτο ἐνάγει, ἀλλ' ὅμως ἀναγκαζομένοι. ἐνταῦθα δὲ ἀκάτους παρεσκευασμένας ὁρῶσιν ἐρήμους τοπαράπαν ἀνθρώπων, οὐ τὰς σφετέρας μέντοι, ἀλλ' ἑτέρας τινάς. ἐς ἃς δὴ ἐσβάντες, τῶν κωπῶν ἅπτονται. καὶ τῶν βαρέων αἰσθάνονται ἀχθομένων μὲν ἐπιβατῶν πλήθει· ἄχρι δὲ ἐς σανίδος τε ἄκρας καὶ τῶν κωπῶν τὴν χώραν ῥοθίῳ βεβαπτισμένων, ἀποδεουσῶν τε τοῦ ὕδατος ὅσον οὐδὲ δάκτυλον ἕνα. αὐτοὶ μέντοι οὐδένα θεῶνται· ἀλλὰ καί μίαν ἐρέσσοντες ὥραν, ἐς τὴν Βριτλίαν καταίρουσι. καίτοι ταῖς ἀκάτοις ἡνίκα ταῖς αὐτῶν ἰδίαις ναυτίλλονται, οὐχ ἱστίοις χρώμενοι, ἀλλ' ἐρέσσοντες ἐς νύκτα τε καὶ ἡμέραν, μόλις ἐνταῦθα διαπορθμεύονται. ἐς τὴν νῆσον δὲ καταπλεύσαντες, ἀποφορτιζόμενοι ἀπαλλάσσονται αὐτίκα δὴ μάλα, τῶν βαρέων σφίσι κούφων τε γινομένων ἐκ τοῦ αἰφνιδίου καὶ τοῦ ῥοθίου ἐπαιρομένων ἔν τε τῷ ὕδατι καταδυομένων οὐδέν τι ἄλλο, πλὴν γε ὅσα ἐς τὴν τρόπιν αὐτήν. καὶ αὐτοὶ μὲν ἀνθρώπων οὐδένα ὁρῶσιν, οὔτε ξυμπλέοντα, οὔτε ἀπαλλασσόμενον him. But reproaching him for the slight put upon her, she demanded wherefore, in violation of the covenant, he had married another woman? more especially as she, the betrothed, had not been guilty of incontinence: and he, alledging in extenuation the commands of his father and the solicitation of the chiefs, had recourse to entreaties, and blended his excuse with many supplications, casting the blame upon necessity. Moreover, he professes that, if she were willing, he would marry her; and would atone for his former misdeeds by his future actions. And when these things pleased the damsel, Radiger was both released from his bonds and honoured with other marks of kindness; whereupon he immediately renounces the sister of Theudibert and marries the Brittian. Thus these matters terminated.

---

Moreover, in this isle of Brittia, men of ancient time built a long wall, cutting off a great portion of it: for the soil, and the man, and all other things, are not alike on both sides; for on the eastern side of the wall, there is an wholesomeness of air in conformity with the seasons, moderately warm in summer, and cool in winter. Many men inhabit here, living much as other men. The trees with their appropriate fruits flourish in season, and their corn-lands are as productive as others; and the district appears sufficiently fertilized by streams. But on the western side all is different, insomuch indeed that it would be impossible for a man to live there even half an hour. Vipers and serpents innumerable, with all other kinds of wild beasts, infest that place; and what is most strange, the natives affirm that if any one, passing the wall, should proceed to the other side, he would die immediately, unable to endure the unwholesomeness of the atmosphere. Death also attacking such beasts as go thither, forthwith destroys them. But as I have arrived at this point of my history, it is incumbent on me to record a tradition very nearly allied to fable, which has never appeared to me true in all respects, though constantly spread abroad by men without number, who assert that themselves have been agents in the transactions, and also hearers of the words. I must not however pass it by altogether unnoticed, lest when thus writing concerning the island Brittia, I should bring upon myself an imputation of ignorance of certain circumstances perpetually happening there.

They say then that the souls of men departed are always conducted to this place; but in what manner I will explain immediately, having frequently heard it from men of that region relating it most seriously, although I would rather ascribe their asseverations to a certain dreamy faculty which possesses them. On the coast of the land over against this island Brittia, in the ocean, are many villages, inhabited by men employed in fishing and in agriculture; and who for the sake of merchandize pass over to this island. In other respects they are subject to the Franks, but they never render them tribute; this burden, as they relate, having been of old remitted to them for a certain service which I shall immediately describe. The inhabitants declare that the conducting of souls devolves on them in turn. Such of them, therefore, as on the ensuing night are to go on this occupation in their turn of service, retiring to their dwellings as soon as it grows dark, compose themselves to sleep, awaiting the conductor of the expedition. All at once, at night, they perceive that their doors are shaken, and they hear a certain indistinct voice summoning them to their work. Without delay arising from their beds they proceed to the shore, not understanding the necessity which thus constrains them, yet nevertheless compelled by its influence. And here they perceive vessels in readiness, wholly void of men, not however their own but certain strange vessels, in which embarking, they lay hold on the oars, and feel their burden made heavier by a multitude of passengers, the boats being sunk to the gunwhale and rowlock, and floating scarce a finger above the water. They see not a single person; but having rowed for one hour only they arrive at Brittia: whereas when they navigate their own vessels, not making use of sails but rowing, they arrive there τῆς νήσου. Φωνῆς δὲ ἀκούειν τινὸς ἐνθένδε (φασὶ) τοῖς ὑποδεχομένοις ἀπαγγέλλειν δοκούσης πρὸς ὄνομα τῶν ξυμπεπλευκότων αὐτοῖς ἕκαστον, τὰ τὲ ἀξιώματα ἐπιλεγούσης οἷς πρὶν ἐχρῶντο, καὶ πατρόθεν αὐτοὺς ἀνακαλούσης. ἦν δὲ καὶ γυναῖκες ξυνδιαπορθμευσάμεναι αὐτοῖς τύχωσι, τῶν ἀνδρῶν ἀποστοματίζουσι τὰ ὀνόματα, οἵσπερ ξυνοικοῦσαι ἐβίων. ταῦτα μὲν οὖν οἱ τῇδε ἄνθρωποι ξυμβαίνειν φασίν. ἐγὼ δὲ ἐπὶ τὸν πρότερον λόγον ἐπάνειμι.

Digitized by Google

EX ZONARA.[a]

[b] Καράτακος δὲ τις βαρβάρων ἀρχηγὸς ἁλοὺς καὶ εἰς τὴν Ῥώμην ἀχθεὶς, καὶ συγγνώμης παρὰ τοῦ Κλαυδίου τυχών. Εἶτα περινοσῆσας τὴν πόλιν μετὰ τὴν ἄφεσιν καὶ ἰδὼν αὐτῆς τὴν λαμπρότητα καὶ τὸ μέγεθος· Εἶτα, ἔφη, ταῦτα καὶ τὰ τοιαῦτα κεκτημένοι, τῶν σκηνιδίων ἡμῶν ἐπιθυμεῖτε;

[c] Ἀντωνῖνος δὲ . . . τοῖς μὲν πολεμίοις τῶν Βρετλανῶν αὐτίκα ἐσπείσατο, τῆς τε χώρας αὐτοῖς καὶ τῶν φρουρίων ἐκστὰς, τὸν δὲ ἔπαρχον τὸν Παπιανὸν μετεστήσε τῆς ἀρχῆς.

[d] Ἕτερος δὲ τίς ἐν Βρετλανίοις ἀποσλασίαν διεμελέτησεν, ὃν ἐπὶ τῆς ἀρχῆς ὁ βασιλεὺς [Πρόβος] ἐποιήσατο, Βικλωρῖνου Μαυρουσίου ὠκειωμένου αὐτῷ, τοῦτο αἰτησαμένου. Καὶ τοῦτο μαθὼν ὁ Πρόβος, ᾐτιᾶτο τὸν Βικτωρῖνον. Καὶ ὃς πεμφθῆναι πρὸς ἐκεῖνον ᾐτήσατο, καὶ ἀπήει ὡς δῆθεν φεύγων τὸν αὐτοκράτορα, καὶ ἀσπασίως παρὰ τοῦ τυραννήσαντος ὑπεδεδέκτο. Ὁ δὲ διὰ τῆς νυκτὸς ἀνελὼν αὐτὸν, ἐπανῆλθε πρὸς Πρόβον.

[e] Κώνστας δὲ ἐνδέκατον ἤνυκώς ἐνιαυτὸν παρὰ τῇ ἀρχῇ, ἐξότου Καίζαρ ἀνηγορεύθη, καὶ ἠπίως ἄρξας καὶ προσηνῶς ἐν Βρετλανίαις διάγων, κατέλυσε τὴν ζωὴν, πένθος ἑαυτοῦ τοῖς ὑπ' αὐτὸν καταλελοιπὼς διὰ τὴν χρηστότητα, πρότερον τὸν πρεσβύτερον τῶν οἰκείων υἱῶν τῆς ἀρχῆς καταστήσας διάδοχον, τὸν μέγαν δηλαδὴ Κωνσταντῖνον, ὃν ἐκ τῆς προτέρας αὐτοῦ ἐγείνατο γαμετῆς.

[f] Μαγνέντιος, ὃς ἐκ πατρὸς μὲν γεγένητο Βρετλανοῦ, ἐν τοῖς Προτίκτορσι δ' ἐστρατεύετο, εἶτα καὶ Κόμης ὠνομάσθη ταγμάτων δύο Ῥωμαϊκῶν, τυραννῆσαι τε καὶ πρώτην ἐπιθυμῶν, τὸ τε μᾶλλον ἔθετο τῷ σκοπῷ, ὅτι ἀτυχοῦντα περὶ τὸν Περσικὸν πόλεμον ἤκουε τὸν Κωνσταντῖνον.

MISCELLANEA.

EX ARISTOTELE.[g]

Ὥστε ἀναγκαῖον ἐν τῇ τοιαύτῃ πολιτείᾳ τιμᾶσθαι τὸν πλοῦτον, ἄλλως τε κἂν τυχάνωσι γυναικοκρατούμενοι, καθάπερ τὰ πολλὰ τῶν στρατιωτικῶν καὶ πολεμικῶν γενῶν, ἔξω Κελτῶν.

EX CAIO JULIO CÆSARE.[h]

[i] Dum hæc ad Alesiam geruntur, Galli, concilio principum indicto . . . . . Rogati tamen a Commio, pro ejus hospitio duo millia miserunt. Hujus opera Commii, ita ut antea demonstravimus, fideli atque utili, superioribus annis erat usus in Britannia Cæsar: quibus ille pro meritis civitatem ejus immunem esse jusserat, jura legesque reddiderat atque ipsi Morinos attribuerat. Tanta tamen universæ Galliæ consensio fuit libertatis vindicandæ et pristinæ belli laudis recuperandæ, ut neque beneficiis, neque amicitiæ memoria moverentur; omnesque et animo et opibus in id bellum incumberent, coactis equitum 8 millibus et peditum circiter 240.

EX M. T. CICERONE.[k]

[l] Tu, qui cæteris cavere didicisti, in Britannia ne ab essedariis decipiaris, caveto.

[m] In Britannia nihil esse audio, neque auri, neque argenti. Id si ita est, essedum aliquod suadeo capias, et ad nos quam primum recurras. Sin with difficulty even in a night and a day. Having reached the island and been released from their burden, they depart immediately, the boats quickly becoming light, suddenly emerging from the stream, and sinking in the water no deeper than the keel. These people see no human being either while navigating with them, nor when released from the ship. But they say that they hear a certain voice there, which seems to announce to such as receive them the name of all who have crossed over with them, and describing the dignities which they formerly possessed, and calling them over by their hereditary titles. And also if women happen to cross over with them, they call over the names of the husbands with whom they lived. These then are the things which men of that district declare to take place: but I return to my former narrative.

---

ZONARAS.[a]

[b] Caratacus, a certain prince of barbarians, having been taken and conducted to Rome, obtained pardon from Claudius. And perambulating the city after his release, and viewing its splendour and extent: 'Why,' said he, 'when possessed of such things as these, do you covet our humble cottages?'

[c] Antoninus moreover . . . immediately entered into treaty with such of the Britons as had been his enemies; retiring from their country and fortresses, and appointing Papianus præfect for that government.

[d] And a certain other person stirred up a revolt in Britain, whom the emperor [Probus] had set over the government, at the request of Victorinus Maurusius who was his friend: and Probus having learnt this, chid Victorinus. Whereupon he begged to be sent to him; and he departed as if flying from the emperor; and was cordially received by the usurper. But having dispatched him in the night, he returned to Probus.

[e] Constantius having completed his eleventh year in the government from the time he had been proclaimed Cæsar, and having ruled with mildness and clemency while resident in Britain, ended his life, leaving cause of sorrow to his dependants on account of his virtue: but having first appointed the elder of his sons his successor in the empire, that is to say, Constantine the great, whom he had begotten on his former wife.

[f] Magnentius, who was born of a British father and had first served among the Protectors and was afterwards commander of two Roman legions, having been long desirous of the supremacy, now took that object more into his consideration, because he had heard that Constantius had been unsuccessful in the Persian war.

ARISTOTLE.[g]

Wherefore it is matter of necessity, in a polity of this kind, for opulence to be respected, more especially where they are governed by women, as is the case with the greater number of the fierce and warlike nations beyond the Celti.

[a] Zonaræ Annalium, lib. xi. c. 10. Ed. Paris. 1686. Ex Zonara ea tantum exhibemus quæ apud Dionem aliosve auctores antiquos invenire haud licuit. Floruit Zonaras A.D. 1100.
[b] A.D. 50. v. sup. p. xxxvii.
[c] Lib. xii. c. 12. A.D. 211. v. sup. p. lxii.
[d] C. 29. A.D. 276.
[e] C. 33. A.D. 306.
[f] Lib. xiii. c. 6. A.D. 350.
[g] Aristotelis de Republica lib. ii. c. 9. Ed. Oxonii, 1810.
[h] Caii Julii Cæsaris de Bellico Gallico, lib. vii. cc. 75, 76.
[i] A.C. 52.
[k] M. T. Ciceronis Epistolarum ad Familiares lib. vii. Ed. Oliveti. Par. 1742.
[l] Ad Trebatium, ep. 6. An. U.C. 699. A.C. 55.
[m] Ep. 7.

Digitized by Google

autem sine Britannia tamen assequi, quod volumus, possumus ; perfice ut sis in familiaribus Cæsaris.

[a] Ego vestras literas Britannicas expecto. Vale.

[b] Legi tuas literas, ex quibus intellexi te Cæsari nostro valde jurisconsultum videri. Est quod gaudeas, te in ista loca venisse, ubi aliquid sapere viderere. Quod si in Britanniam quoque profectus esses, profecto nemo in illa tanta insula peritior te fuisset.... Sed tu ... neque in oceano natare volueris ... neque spectare essedarios.

[c] Mira enim persona [Valerius] induci potest Britannici jurisconsulti.

[d] Sin æstivorum timor te debilitat, aliquid excogita, ut fecisti de Britannia.

[e] Quod in Britannia non nimis φιλοθέωρον te præbuisti, plane non reprehendo.

[f] In Britanniam te profectum non esse gaudeo, quod et labore caruisti et ego te de rebus illis non audiam.

[g] Ex Quinti fratris literis suspicor jam eum esse in Britannia. Suspenso animo expecto quod agat.

[h] Britannici belli exitus expectatur. Constat enim aditus insulæ esse munitos mirificis molibus. Etiam illud jam cognitum est, neque argenti scripulum esse ullum in illa insula, neque ullam spem prædæ, nisi ex mancipiis : ex quibus nullos puto te literis, aut musicis eruditos expectare.

[i] Ab Quinto fratre, et a Cæsare accepi a. d. IX. Kal. Novemb. literas, confecta Britannia, obsidibus acceptis, nulla præda, imperata tamen pecunia, datas a litoribus Britanniæ proximo a. d. VI. Kalend. Octob. Exercitum Britannia reportabant.

[k] Modo mihi date Britanniam, quam pingam, coloribus tuis, penicello meo.

[l] O jucundas mihi tuas de Britannia literas! Timebam oceanum, timebam littus insulæ. Reliqua non equidem contemno, sed plus habent tamen spei quam timoris, magisque sum sollicitus expectatione ea, quam metu. Te vero ὑπόθεσιν scribendi egregiam habere video. Quos tu situs, quas naturas rerum et locorum, quos mores, quas gentes, quas pugnas, quem vero ipsum imperatorem habes?

[m] De Britannicis rebus cognovi ex tuis literis, nihil esse nec quod metuamus, nec quod gaudeamus ... Quarta epistola mihi reddita est Id. Sept. quam a.d. IV. Id. Sex. ex Britannia dederas ... Ex Britannia Cæsar ad me Kal. Sept. dedit literas: quas ego accepi a.d. IV. Kl. Octobr. satis commodas de Britannicis rebus: quibus, ne admirer quod a te nullas acceperim, scribit se sine te fuisse, cum ad mare accesserit.

[n] Quod si in Scythiam, aut in Britanniam, sphæram aliquis tulerit hanc, quam nuper familiaris noster effecit Posidonius: ... quis in illa barbarie dubitet, quin ea sphæra sit perfecta ratione?

[o] Quid? æstus maritimi, vel Hispanienses, vel Britannici, eorumque certis temporibus vel accessus, vel recessus, sine Deo fieri nonne possunt?

EX TITO LUCRETIO CARO.[p]

Nam quid Brittanidis cælum differre putamus,
Et quod in Ægypto est, qua mundi claudicat axis?

EX CAIO VALERIO CATULLO.[q]

Sive trans altas gradietur[r] Alpes,
Cæsaris visens monumenta magni,
Gallicum Rhenum, horribilesque ultimosque Britannos.

[s] Quis hoc potest videre, quis potest pati,
Nisi impudicus, et vorax, et aleo,
Mamurram habere, quod Comata Gallia
Habebat uncti et ultima Britannia?
. . . . . .
Eone nomine, imperator unice,
Fuisti in ultima Occidentis insula,
. . . . . .
Hunc, Galliæ timetis, et Britanniæ.

[t] Unam Septimius misellus Acmen
Mavult quam Syrias, Britanniasque.

EX PUBLIO VIRGILIO MARONE.[u]

At nos hinc alii sitientis ibimus Afros:
Pars Scythiam, et rapidum Cretæ veniemus Oaxem,
Et [v]penitus toto divisos orbe Britannos.

[w] Vel scæna ut versis discedat frontibus, utque
Purpurea intexti tollant aulæa Britanni.
. . . . . .
Et duo rapta manu diverso ex hoste trophæa,
Bisque triumphatas utroque ab litore gentes.
. . . . [u] tibi serviat ultima Thule.

EX QUINTO HORATIO FLACCO.[x]

Hic[y] bellum lacrymosum, hic miseram famem
Pestemque, a populo et principe Cæsare, in Persas atque Britannos
Vestra motus aget prece.

[a] Ad Trebatium, ep. 8. [b] Ep. 10.
[c] Ep. 11. An. U.C. 700. A.C. 54. [d] Ep. 14.
[e] Ep. 16. An. U.C. 699. A.C. 55. [f] Ep. 17.
[g] Ad Atticum, lib. IV. ep. 15. An. U.C. 699. A.C. 55.
[h] Ep. 16. [i] Ep. 17.
[k] Ad Quintum fratrem, lib. II. ep. 15. An. U.C. 699. A.C. 55.
[l] Ep. 16. [m] Lib. III. ep. 1.
[n] De Natura Deorum lib. II. c. 34. [o] Lib. III. c. 10.
[p] Titi Lucretii Cari de Rerum Natura lib. VI. v. 1104. Ed. Havercampi, Lugd. Batav. 1725.
Lucretius diem obiit anno ante Christum natum 51.
[q] Caii Valerii Catulli carmine XI., ad Furium et Aurelium. Ed. Doering, Lipsiæ, 1788.
Floruit Catullus An. A.C. 49.
[r] Catullus, nempe.
[s] Carm. XXIX. In Cæsarem.
[t] Carmine XLII. De Acme et Septimio.
[u] Publii Virgilii Maronis Eclog. I. v. 65. Ed. Burmanni, Amstelod. 1746. Georg. Lib. I. v. 30. Ed. Var. Lugduni 1646.
Obiit Virgilius An. A.C. 19.
[v] 'Penitus,' id est, omnino. 'Diversos.' Quia olim juncta fuit orbi terrarum Britannia. Est enim insula sita in oceano septentrionali; et a poetis alter orbis terrarum dicitur. Servius.
[w] Georgicon lib. III. v. 24.
[x] Quinti Horatii Flacci Carminum lib. I. od. 21. v. 13. Ed. Zeunii, Londini, 1796.
Obiit Horatius An. A.C. 8.
[y] Apollo.

Digitized by Google

[a] Serves iturum Cæsarem in ultimos
Orbis Britannos.

[b] Visam Britannos hospitibus feros.

[c] . . . præsens divus habebitur
Augustus, adjectis Britannis
Imperio, gravibusque Persis.

[d] Te beluosus qui remotis
Obstrepit oceanus Britannis,
. . . . . .
Duræque tellus audit Iberiæ:

[e] Intactus aut Britannus ut descenderet
Sacra catenatus via.

EX ALBIO TIBULLO.[f]

Quid moror? oceanus ponto qua continet orbem,
Nulla tibi adversis regio sese offeret armis.
Te[g] manet invictus Romano marte Britannus,
Teque interjecto mundi pars altera sole:

EX SEXTO AURELIO PROPERTIO.[h]

Mæcenas nostræ spes invidiosa juventæ,
Et vitæ et morti gloria justa meæ:
Si te forte meo ducet via proxima busto,
Esseda cælatis siste Britanna jugis.

[i] Nunc etiam infectos demens imitare Britannos,
Ludis et externo tincta nitore caput.

[k] Seu pedibus Parthos sequimur, seu classe Britannos,
Et maris et terræ cæca pericla viæ.

[l] Te modo viderunt iteratos Bactra per ortus,
Te modo munito Sericus hostis equo;
Hibernique Getæ, pictoque Britannia curru.

EX GRATIO FALISCO.[m]

Quid freta si Morinum, dubio refluentia ponto,
Veneris, atque ipsos libeat penetrare Britannos?
O quanta est merces, et quantum impendia supra,
Si non ad speciem mentiturosque decores
Protinus; (hæc una est catulis jactura Britannis)
At magnum cum venit opus, promendaque virtus,
Et vocat extremo præceps discrimine Mavors,
Non tunc egregios tantum admirere Molossos,
Comparat his versuta suas Athamania fraudes,
Acyrusque, Pheraeque, et clandestinus Acarnan.

EX PUBLIO NASONE OVIDIO.[n]

Non ego Pelignos videor celebrare salubres,
Non ego natalem, rura paterna, locum;
Sed Scythiam, Cilicasque feros, viridesque Britannos,
Quæque Prometheo saxa cruore rubent.

[o] Scilicet æquoreos plus est [p] vicisse Britannos,
. . . . . .
Quam tantum genuisse virum [q]?

EX ANTHOLOGIA.[r]

[s] Ausoniis numquam tellus violata triumphis
Icta tuo, Cæsar, fulmine procubuit.
Oceanusque tuas ultra se respicit aras.
Qui finis mundo est, non erat imperio.
Victa prius nullo, jamjam spectata triumpho,
Inlibata tuos gens jacet in titulos.
Fabula visa diu, medioque recondita ponto,
Libera victori quam cito colla dedit!
Eufrates ortus, Rhenus recluserat arctos.
Oceanus medium venit in imperium.

Libera non hostem, non passa Britannia regem,
Æternum nostro quæ procul orbe jacet,
Fœlix adversis, et sorte oppressa secunda,
Communis nobis, et tibi, Cæsar, erit.

Ultima cingebat Tibris tua, Romule, regna.
Hic tibi finis erat, religiose Numa.
Et tua, Dive, tuum sacrata potentia cœlo
Extremum citra constitit Oceanum.
At nunc Oceanus geminos interluit orbes.
Pars est imperii, terminus ante fuit.

Mars pater, et nostræ gentis tutela, Quirine,
Et magno positus Cæsar uterque polo:
Cernitis ignotos Latia sub lege Britannos,
Sol citra nostrum flectitur imperium.
Ultima cesserunt adaperto claustra profundo.
Et jam Romano cingimur Oceano.

Opponis frustra rapidum Germania Rhenum.
Eufrates prodest nil tibi, Parthe fugax.
Oceanus jam terga dedit: nec pervius ulli
Cæsareos fasces, imperiumque tulit.

Illa procul nostro semota exclusaque cœlo,
Adluitur nostra victa Britannis aqua.

Semota, et vasto disjuncta Britannia ponto,
Cinctaque inaccessis horrida litoribus:
Quam pater invictis Nereus vallaverat undis.
Quam fallax æstu circuit Oceanus;
Brumalem sortita polum, qua frigida semper
Præfulget stellis Arctos inocciduis
Conspectu devicta tuo, Germanice Cæsar,
Subdidit insueto colla premenda jugo.
Adspice, confundit populos inpervia Tellus,
Conjunctum est, quod adhuc orbis, et orbis erat.

[a] Od. 35. v. 30. [b] Lib. III. od. 4. v. 33.
[c] Od. 5. v. 3. [d] Lib. IV. od. 14. v. 48.
[e] Epod. od. 7. v. 7.
[f] Albii Tibulli lib. IV. carm. 1. v. 147. Ed. Vulpii, Pataviæ, 1749.
Floruit Tibullus An. A. C. 18.
[g] Messallum.
[h] Sexti Aurelii Propertii lib. II. el. 1. v. 73. Ed. Vulpii, Pataviæ, 1755.
Floruit Propertius An. A. C. 10.
[i] El. 18. v. 23. [k] El. 27. v. 5. [l] Lib. IV. el. 3. v. 7.
[m] Gratii Falisci Cyneget. lib. v. 174. Ed. Burmanni, Leydæ. 1731.
Floruit Faliscus An. A.C. 6.
[n] Publii Ovidii Nasonis Amorum lib. II. el. xvi. v. 37. Ed. Burmanni, Amstelod. 1727.
Obiit Ovidius A.D. 17.
[o] Metamor. lib. xv. v. 752. [p] Julium Cæsarem. [q] Augustum [r] Anthologiæ Veterum Latinorum Epigrammatum et Poemata tum lib. II. Ed. Burmanni, Amstelod. 1759.
[s] Epp. 84-91. De Laudibus Claudii Cæsaris, Auctore incerto

Digitized by Google

EX STRABONE.[a]

Α δ' εἴρηκε Πυθέας περὶ ταύτης, καὶ τῶν ἄλλων τῶν ταύτῃ τόπων, ὅτι μὲν πέπλασται, φανερὸν ἐκ τῶν γνωριζομένων χωρίων· κατέψευσται γὰρ αὐτῶν τὰ πλεῖστα, ὥσπερ καὶ πρότερον εἴρηται· ὥστε δηλός ἐστιν ἐψευσμένος μᾶλλον περὶ τῶν ἐκτετοπισμένων. Πρὸς μέν τοι τὰ οὐράνια καὶ τὴν μαθηματικὴν θεωριαν ἱκανῶς δόξειε κεχρῆσθαι τοῖς πράγμασι, τοῖς τῇ κατεψυγμένῃ ζώνῃ πλησιάζουσι· τὸ τῶν καρπῶν εἶναι τῶν ἡμέρων, καὶ ζώων τῶν μὲν ἀφορίαν παντελῆ, τῶν δὲ σπάνιν, κέγχρῳ δὲ καὶ ἄλλοις λαχάνοις, καὶ καρποῖς καὶ ῥίζαις τρέφεσθαι· παρ' οἷς δὲ σῖτος καὶ μέλι γίγνεται, καὶ τὸ πόμα ἐντεῦθεν ἔχειν· τὸν δὲ σῖτον, ἐπειδὴ τοὺς ἡλίους οὐκ ἔχουσι καθαροὺς, ἐν οἴκοις μεγάλοις κόπτουσι, συγκομισθέντων δεῦρο τῶν σταχύων· αἱ γὰρ ἅλῳ ἄχρηστοι γίγνονται διὰ τὸ ἀνήλιον, καὶ τοὺς ὄμβρους.

EX DIOSCORIDE.[b]

Καὶ τὸ [πόμα] καλούμενον δὲ κοῦρμι, σκευαζόμενον δὲ ἐκ τῆς κριθῆς, ᾧ καὶ ἀντὶ οἴνου πόμαῖι πολλάκις χρῶνται, κεφαλαλγές ἐστι καὶ κακόχυμον, καὶ τοῦ νεύρου βλαπτικόν. σκευάζεται δὲ καὶ ἐκ πυρῶν τοιαῦτα πόμαῖα, ὡς ἐν τῇ πρὸς ἑσπέραν Ἰβηρίᾳ καὶ Βρεττανίᾳ.

EX LUCIO ANNÆO SENECA.[c]

Constituerat[d] enim omnes Græcos, Gallos, Hispanos, Britannos, togatos videre.

[e] Quid in cubiculo suo faciat[d], nescio: etiam cœli scrutatur plagas, deus fieri vult. Parum est quod templum in Britannia habet, quod hunc barbari colunt, et ut deum orant.

[f] Ille[d] Britannos
Litora ponti,
[g] Scuta Brigantas
Colla catenis
Nova Romanæ
Tremere Oceanum.
Ultra noti
Et cæruleos
Dare Romuleis
Jussit, et ipsum
Jura securis

[h] Teque[d] extinxit[i], miserande pater,
Modo cui totus paruit orbis
Ultra Oceanum, cuique Britanni
Terga dedere,
Ducibus nostris ante ignoti,
Jurisque sui.

[k] . . . Cernat eversam domum
Stirpemque Claudii, cujus imperio fuit
Subjectus orbis; paruit liber diu
Oceanus, et recepit invitus rates.
En qui Britannis primus imposuit jugum,
Ignota et ante classibus texit freta,
Interque gentes barbaras tutus fuit,
Et sæva maria; conjugis scelere occidit,

[l] Abstine ab hoc manus tuas, Fortuna, nec in isto potentiam tuam, nisi ea parte qua prodes, ostenderis. Patere illum generi humano jam diu ægro et affecto mederi: patere quicquid prioris principis furor concussit, in locum suum restituere ac reponere. Sidus hoc, quod præcipitato in profundum, ac demerso in tenebras orbi refulsit, semper luceat. Hic Germaniam pacet, Britanniam aperiat[m], et patrios triumphos ducat et novos: quorum me quoque spectatorem futurum, quæ primum obtinet locum ex virtutibus ejus, promittit clementia.

[n] C. Cæsar quum Britanniam peragraret, nec oceano felicitatem suam continere posset, audivit decessisse filiam, publica secum fata ducentem . . .

EX MARCO ANNÆO LUCANO.[o]

. . . . . Summi tum munera pili
Lælius, emeritique gerens insignia doni,
Servati civis referentem præmia quercum,
Si licet, exclamat . . . . . .
Hæc manus, ut victum post terga relinqueret orbem,
Oceani tumidas remo compescuit undas:

[p] Vos quoque, qui fortes animas, belloque peremptas,
Laudibus in longum vates demittitis ævum,
Plurima securi fudistis carmina, Bardi.
Et vos barbaricos ritus, moremque sinistrum
Sacrorum, Druidæ, positis repetistis ab armis.
Solis nosse deos, et cœli numina vobis,
Aut solis nescire datum: nemora alta remotis
Incolitis lucis. Vobis auctoribus, umbræ
Non tacitas Erebi sedes, Ditisque profundi
Pallida regna petunt: regit idem spiritus artus
Orbe alio: longæ (canitis si cognita) vitæ
Mors media est. Certe populi, quos despicit Arctos,

STRABO.[a]

But what Pytheus has related concerning this and other adjacent places is evidently proved untrue by such districts as have been explored, for the most part of what is told about them is false, as I have said before. So that he has manifestly falsified further about such as are more remote. For the celestial signs, and scientific survey, he appears to have made ample use of phenomena relative to the frigid zone, such as that there are cultivated fruits; a complete abundance of some animals, of others a scarcity; that the inhabitants are fed on millet and other vegetables, fruits, and roots; that they have wheat and honey, of which they make a beverage; they bruise their corn in spacious buildings, as they have no clear sunshine, after bringing thither the sheaves; threshing-floors being useless on account of the want of sun, and the prevalence of rain.

DIOSCORIDES.[b]

And that [drink] which is called curmi, prepared from barley, which is frequently made use of as a beverage instead of wine, produces pains in the head and bad humours, and is injurious to the nerves: such drinks also are made from wheat, as in Iberia and Britain towards the west.

[a] Strabonis Geographiæ, lib. IV. tom. i. p. 278. Ed. Falconeri. Oxon. 1807.
[b] Dioscoridis, De medica materia, lib. II. c. 110. Ed. Saracen. Francof. 1598.
Floruit Dioscorides A.D. 64.
[c] Lucii Annæi Senecæ ludus de morte Claudii Cæsaris c. 3. Ed. Ruhkopf, Lipsiæ, 1808.
Periit Seneca A.D. 65.
[d] Claudius. [e] C. 8. [f] C. 12.
[g] al. Scotobrigantas, cute Brigantas.
[h] L. A. Senecæ Octav. act. I. v. 26. Ed. Schröeder, Delphis, 1728.
[i] Agrippina. [k] V. 38. [l] De Consolatione ad Polybium c. 32.
[m] A.D. 43. [n] De Consolatione ad Marciam c. 14.
[o] Marci Annæi Lucani Pharsaliæ lib. I. v. 356. Ed. Burmanni, Leydæ, 1740.
Obiit Lucanus A.D. 65.
[p] V. 447.

Digitized by Google

Felices errore suo, quos ille, timorum
Maximus, haud urget leti metus: inde ruendi
In ferrum mens prona viris, animæque capaces
Mortis: et ignavum redituræ parcere vitæ.
Et vos crinigeros bellis arcere Caycos
Oppositi, petitis Romam, Rhenique feroces
Deseritis ripas, et apertum gentibus orbem.

[a]Oceanumque vocans incerti stagna profundi,
Territa quæsitis ostendit [b]terga Britannis?

[c]. . . ut vincula Rheno,
Oceanoque daret! celsos ut Gallia currus
Nobilis, et flavis sequeretur mista Britannis!

[d]Utque habuit ripas Sicoris, camposque reliquit,
Primum cana salix madefacto vimine parvam
Texitur in puppim, cæsoque inducta juvenco
Vectoris patiens tumidum superenatat amnem.
Sic Venetus stagnante Pado, fusoque Britannus
Navigat oceano: sic quum tenet omnia Nilus,
Conseritur bibula Memphitis cymba papyro.

[e]Aut vaga quum Tethys, Rutupinaque litora fervent, Unda Caledonios fallit turbata Britannos.

EX SILIO ITALICO.[f]

Bellatrix gens baccifero nutrita Sabino.
Hinc pater ignotam donabit vincere Thulen,
Inque Caledonios primus trahet agmina lucos:

[g]Fervidus ingenii Masinissa, et fervidus ævi,
In primas Macetum turmas immania membra
Infert, et jaculo circumvolat alite campum.
Cærulus haud aliter, quum dimicat, incola Thules
Agmina falcifero circumvenit arta covino.

EX VALERIO FLACCO.[h]

. . . [i]Tuque o, pelagi cui major aperti
Fama, Caledonius postquam tua carbasa vexit
Oceanus, Phrygios prius indignatus Iulos, . . .

EX C. C. TACITO.[k]

Nam ipse ego [Aper] in Britannia vidi senem qui se fateretur ei pugnæ interfuisse, qua Cæsarem inferentem arma Britanniæ, arcere litoribus, et pellere adgressi sunt.

EX CAIO PLINIO SECUNDO.[l]

Ordiendum a malorum omnium pessimo, i. e. serpentium ictu. Medentur ergo Britannica herba, panacisque generum omnium radix e vino &c.

[a] Lib. II. v. 571. [b] Cæsar. [c] Lib. III. v. 76.
[d] Lib. IV. v. 130. [e] Lib. VI. v. 67.
[f] Silii Italici Bell. Punic. lib. III. v. 596. Ed. Drakenborch, Traj. ad Rhen. 1717.
Floruit Silius Italicus A.D. 68.
[g] Lib. XVII. v. 414.
[h] Valerii Flacci Argonaut. lib. I. v. 7. Ed. Burman. Leidæ, 1724.
Floruit Valerius Flaccus A.D. 70.
[i] Vespasianus.
[k] C. C. Taciti Dialogi de Oratoribus c. 17. Hæc scripta videntur A.D. 75. Ed. Ernesti, Lips. 1772.
[l] Caii Plinii Secundi Historiæ Naturalis, lib. XXV. s. 55.
[m] Sexti Julii Frontini Strategemeta, lib. II. c. xiii. s. xi. p. 357.
Floruit Frontinus A.D. 83.

EX FRONTINO.[m]

Commius Atrebas, quum victus a Divo Julio ex Gallia in Britanniam fugeret[n], et forte ad Oceanum secundo vento quidem, sed aestu recedente, venisset, quamvis naves in siccis litoribus haererent, pandi nihilominus vela jussit. Quae quum persequens eum Caesar ex longinquo tumentia, et flatu plena vidisset, ratus, prospero sibi eripi cursu, recessit.

EX DEC. JUN. JUVENALE.[o]

. . . Arma quidem ultra
Litora Juvernæ promovimus, et modo captas
Orcadas, ac minima contentos nocte Britannos:

[p]Regem aliquem capies, aut de temone Britanno Excidet Arviragus.

[q]. . . Circæis nata forent, an Lucrinum ad saxum, Rutupinove edita fundo
Ostrea, callebat primo deprehendere morsu;

[r]. . . et cuncta exsuperans patrimonia census,
Quanto delphinis balæna Britannica major.

[s]Dirue Maurorum attegias, castella Brigantum.

[t]Gallia caussidicos docuit facunda Britannos:
De conducendo loquitur jam rhetore Thule.

[u]Qua nec terribiles Cimbri nec Britones unquam,
Sauromatæve truces, aut inmanes Agathyrsi,
Hac sævit rabie inbelle et inutile vulgus.

EX M. VALER. MARTIALE.[v]

Hæc tam rustica malo, quam Britannos.

[w]Quincte Caledonios, Ovidi, visure Britannos
Et viridem Tethyn, Oceanumque patrem.

[x]Dicitur et nostros cantare Britannia versus.

[y]Lydia tam laxa est . . . . . .
Quam veteres brachæ Britonis pauperis.

[z]Claudia cæruleis cum sit Rufina Britannis
Edita, cur Latiæ pectora plebis habet?

[aa]Parthorum proceres, ducesque Serum,
Thraces, Sauromatæ, Getæ, Britanni,
Possum ostendere Cæsarem[bb], venite.

[cc]Barbara de pictis veni bascauda Britannis:
Sed me jam mavult dicere Roma suam.

[n] A.C. 51.
[o] Decii Junii Juvenalis sat. II. v. 159. Ed. Ruperti, Lipsiæ, 1801.
Floruit Juvenalis A.D. 90.
[p] Sat. IV. v. 126. [q] V. 140.
[r] Sat. X. v. 13. [s] Sat. XIV. v. 196.
[t] Sat. XV. v. 111. [u] V. 124.
[v] M. Valerii Martialis lib. IV. epig. 55. In usum Delphini, Amstelod. 1701.
Floruit Martialis A.D. 90.
[w] Lib. X. epig. 44. [x] Lib. XI. epig. 4.
[y] Epig. 22. [z] Epig. 54.
[aa] Lib. XII. epig. 8. [bb] Lib. XIV. epig. 99.
[cc] Trajanum.

Digitized by Google

[a] Qualiter in Scythica religatus rupe Prometheus,
Assiduum nimio pectore pavit avem,
Nuda Caledonio sic pectora præbuit urso,
Non falsa pendens in cruce Laureolus.

EX M. F. QUINCTILIANO.[b]

Hæc et in suasoriis aliquando tractari solent, ut si Cæsar deliberet, 'an Britanniam impugnet: quæ sit Oceani natura: an Britannia insula,' nam tum ignorabatur, 'quanta in ea terra, quo numero militum aggredienda:'

EX PUBLIO PAPINIO STATIO.[c]

... tu disce patrem[d]; quantusque nigrantem
Fluctibus occiduis fessoque Hyperione Thulen
Intrarit mandata gerens ...

[e] Quod si te magno tellus frenata parenti[d]
Accipiat, quantum ferus exaltabit Araxes!
Quanta Calydonios attollet gloria campos!
Cum tibi longævus referet trucis incola terræ,
Hic suetus dare jura parens; hoc cespite turmas
Affari: vigiles speculas, castellaque longe
Prospicis? ille dedit; cinxitque hæc mœnia fossa:
Belligeris hæc dona deis, hæc tela dicavit;
Cernis adhuc titulos: hunc ipse, vocantibus armis,
Induit, hunc regi rapuit thoraca Britanno.

EX CLEMENTE ROMANO.[f]

Διὰ ζῆλον ὁ Παῦλος ὑπομενῆς βραβεῖον ὑπέσχεν, ἑπτάκις δεσμὰ φορέσας, [l]φυγαδευθεὶς, λιθασθεὶς κῆρυξ γενόμενος ἐν τε τῇ ἀνατολῇ καὶ ἐν τῇ δύσει, τὸ γενναῖον τῆς πίστεως αὐτοῦ κλέος ἔλαβεν, δικαιοσύνην διδάξας ὅλον τὸν κόσμον, καὶ ἐπὶ τὸ τέρμα τῆς δύσεως ἐλθὼν, καὶ μαρτυρήσας ἐπὶ τῶν ἡγουμένων, οὕτως ἀπηλλάγη τοῦ κόσμου, καὶ εἰς τὸν ἅγιον τόπον ἐπορεύθη, ὑπομενῆς γενόμενος μέγιστος ὑπογραμμός.

EX PLUTARCHO.

Ὀλίγον δὲ πρὸ Πυθίων τῶν ἐπὶ Καλλιστράτου, πρὸς ἡμᾶς ἀπὸ τῶν ἐναντίων τῆς οἰκουμένης περάτων ἔτυχον ἄνδρες ἱεροὶ δύο συνδραμόντες εἰς Δελφοὺς, Δημήτριος μὲν ὁ γραμματικὸς ἐκ Βρεττανίας εἰς Ταρσὸν ἀνακομιζόμενος οἴκαδε, Κλεόμβροτος δὲ ὁ Λακεδαιμόνιος.

[h] Ὁ δὲ Δημήτριος ἔφη, Τῶν περὶ τὴν Βρεττανίαν νήσων εἶναι πολλὰς ἐρήμους σποράδας, ὧν ἐνίας δαιμόνων καὶ ἡρώων ὀνομάζεσθαι· πλεῦσαι δὲ αὐτὸς ἱστορίας καὶ θέας ἕνεκα, πομπῇ τοῦ βασιλέως, εἰς τὴν ἔγγιστα κειμένην τῶν ἐρήμων, ἔχουσαν οὐ πολλοὺς ἐποικοῦντας, ἱεροὺς δὲ καὶ ἀσύλους πάντας ὑπὸ τῶν Βρεττανῶν ὄντας· ἀφικομένου δ' αὐτοῦ νεωστὶ, σύγχυσιν μεγάλην περὶ τὸν ἀέρα καὶ διοσημείας πολλὰς γένεσθαι, καὶ πνεύματα καταῤῥαγῆναι καὶ πεσεῖν πρηστῆρας. Ἐπεὶ δ' ἐλώφησε, λέγειν τοὺς νησιώτας ὅτι τῶν κρεισσόνων τινὸς ἔκλειψις γέγονεν· ὡς γὰρ λύχνος ἀναπτόμενος, φάναι, δεινὸν οὐδὲν ἔχει, σβεννύμενος δὲ πολλοῖς λυπηρός ἐστιν, οὕτως αἱ μεγάλαι ψυχαὶ τὰς μὲν ἀναλάμψεις εὐμενεῖς καὶ ἀλύπους ἔχουσιν, αἱ δὲ σβέσεις αὐτῶν καὶ φθοραὶ πολλάκις μὲν ὡς νυνὶ πνεύματα καὶ ζάλας τρέπουσι, πολλάκις δὲ λοιμικοῖς πάθεσιν ἀέρα φαρμάττουσιν. Ἐκεῖ μέντοι μίαν εἶναι νῆσον ἐν ᾗ τὸν Κρόνον κατεῖρχθαι φρουρούμενον ὑπὸ τοῦ Βριάρεω καθεύδοντα· δεσμὸν γὰρ αὐτῷ τὸν ὕπνον μεμηχανῆσθαι, πολλοὺς δὲ περὶ αὐτὸν εἶναι δαίμονας ὀπαδοὺς καὶ θεράποντας.

[i] Ἀσκληπιάδης Αἰθίοπας φησὶ ταχέως γηράσκειν, ἔτει τριακοστῷ, διὰ τὸ ὑπερθερμαίνεσθαι τὰ σώματα, ὑπὸ τοῦ ἡλίου διαφλεχθέντας· ἐν Βρεττανίᾳ ἑκατὸν εἴκοσιν ἐτῶν γηρᾶν διὰ τὸ κατεψύχθαι μὲν τοὺς τόπους, ἐν ἑαυτοῖς δὲ στέγειν τὸ πυρῶδες· τὰ μὲν γὰρ εἶσιν ἀραιότερα τῶν Αἰθιόπων σώματα διὰ τὸ ἀναχαλᾶσθαι ὑπὸ τοῦ ἡλίου, τὰ δὲ ὑπὸ τῶν ἄρκτων, πυκνὰ, διὰ τοῦτο οὖν καὶ πολυχρόνια.

CLEMENS ROMANUS.[f]

Through zeal Paul obtained the reward of endurance: having been seven times laden with chains, banished, stoned; and having preached both in the east and in the west, he gained the noble celebrity of his faith; having instructed the whole world in righteousness, and arrived at the extremity of the west, and having suffered martyrdom under the prefects, he thus quitted this world and proceeded to the heavenly place, having been the most signal example of patience.

PLUTARCH.[g]

A little time before Callistratus celebrated the Pythian games, two holy men from the opposite parts of the habitable earth came to us at Delphi; Demetrius the grammarian from Britain, returning home to Tarsus, and Cleombrotus the Lacedæmonian.

[h] But Demetrius said, that there are many desert islands scattered around Britain, some of which have the name of being the islands of genii and heroes: that he had been sent by the emperor, for the sake of describing and viewing them, to that which lay nearest to the desert isles, and which had but few inhabitants; all of whom were esteemed by the Britons sacred and inviolable. Very soon after his arrival there was great turbulence in the air, and many portentous storms; the winds became tempestuous, and fiery whirlwinds rushed forth. When these ceased, the islanders said that the departure of some one of the superior genii had taken place. For as a light when burning, say they, has nothing disagreeable, but when extinguished is offensive to many; so likewise lofty spirits afford an illumination benignant and mild, but their extinction and destruction frequently, as at the present moment, excite winds and storms, and often infect the atmosphere with pestilential evils. Moreover, that there was one island there, wherein Saturn was confined by Briareus in sleep: for that sleep had been devised for his bonds; and that around him were many genii as his companions and attendants.

[i] Asclepiades asserts, that after their thirtieth year the Ethiopians, being scorched by the sun, quickly grow old, in consequence of their bodies being overheated; whereas in Britain they advance to an hundred and twenty years, in consequence of the coldness of the place and their retaining within themselves the vital heat: for the bodies of the Ethiopians are more slender from their being relaxed by the sun, whereas the inhabitants of the north are thickset in their persons, and on this account longer lived.

[l] παιδευθεὶς, ραῤῥευθεὶς.

[a] Lib. Spect. epig. 7. Pœna Laureoli.
[b] M. F. Quintiliani de Institutione Oratoris lib. VII. c. 4. Ed. Burmanni, Lugd. Bat. 1720.
Floruit Quintilianus A.D. 90.
[c] Publii Papinii Statii Sylvar. lib. v. 2. ad Crispinum v. 54. Ed. Marklandi, London. 1728.
Obiit Statius A.D. 96.
[d] Vettius Bolanus. Conf. Tacitum, sup. pp. xlii. xliii.
[e] V. 140.
[f] Clementis Romani Epistolæ I. ad Corinthios cap. 5. Ed. Wotton, Cantab. 1718.
Obiit Clemens A.D. 100.
[g] Plutarchi de Defectu Oraculorum lib. c. 2. Ed. Wyttenbach. Oxon. 1795.
[h] C. 18. [i] De Placitis Philosophorum lib. v. c. 30.

Digitized by Google

EX CLAUDIO PTOLEMÆO.[a]

Ἐν δὲ τῇ τοιαύτῃ διατάξει τὰ μὲν ἄλλα μέρη τοῦ πρωτοῦ τῶν τεταρτημορίων, λέγω δὲ τοῦ κατὰ τὴν Εὐρώπην, τὰ πρὸς βορρόλιβα κείμενα τῆς οἰκουμένης συνοικειοῦται μὲν τῷ βορρολιβυκῷ ∇, τὸ κατὰ τὸν ♈ καὶ ♌ καὶ ♐. καὶ οἰκοδεσποτεῖται εἰκότως ὑπὸ τῶν κυρίων τοῦ ∇, ♃ καὶ ♂ ἑσπερίων. Ἔστι δὲ ταῦτα καθ' ὅλα ἔθνη λαμβανόμενα, Βρετανία, Γαλατία, Γερμανία, Βασίαρνία . . . εἰκότως δὲ τοῖς προκειμένοις ἔθνεσιν ὡς ἐπίπαν, συνέπεται, διά τε τὸ ἀρχικὸν τοῦ ∇, καὶ τοὺς συνοικοδεσποτήσαντας ἀστέρας ἀνυποτάκτους τε εἶναι, καὶ φιλελευθέρους, καὶ φιλόπλους, φιλοπόνους καὶ πολεμικωτάτους καὶ ἡγεμονικοὺς καὶ καθαροὺς καὶ μεγαλοψύχους . . . Καὶ τούτων δὲ αὐτῶν τῶν χωρῶν Βρετανία μὲν καὶ Γαλατία καὶ Γερμανία, καὶ Βασταρνία μᾶλλον τῷ ♈ συνοικειοῦνται, καὶ τῷ τοῦ ♂, ἔνθεν ὡς ἐπίπαν οἱ ἐν αὐταῖς ἀγρίωτεροι καὶ αὐθαδέστεροι καὶ θηριώδεις τυγχάνουσιν.

EX APPOLLONIO ALEXANDRINO.[b]

Σκυτίνος δὲ ὁ Χῖος τὴν Βρετανικὴν νῆσον λέγει σταδίων εἶναι τετρακοσίων τὸ περίμετρον. γίγνεσθαι δὲ ἐν αὐτῇ τὰ γεννήματα ἀπύρηνα, οἷον τὰς ἐλαίας πυρῆνας μὴ ἔχειν, μηδὲ βότρυς γίγαρτον, μηδὲ τὰ ἐμφερῆ τούτοις.

EX APPIANO ALEXANDRINO.[c]

Τὴν Ῥωμαϊκὴν ἱστορίαν ἀρχόμενος συγγράφειν, ἀναγκαῖον ἡγησάμην προτάξαι τοὺς ὅρους ὅσων ἐθνῶν ἄρχουσι Ῥωμαῖοι. Εἰσὶ δὲ οἵδε· ἐν μὲν τῷ ὠκεανῷ Βρεττανῶν τοῦ πλείονος μέρους· διὰ δὲ τῶν Ἡρακλείων στηλῶν ἐς τήνδε τὴν θάλασσαν ἐκπλέοντί τε, καὶ ἐπὶ τὰς αὐτὰς στήλας περιπλέοντι, νήσων ἄρχουσι πασῶν, καὶ ἠπείρων ὅσαι καθήκουσιν ἐπὶ τὴν θάλασσαν.

[d] Ὁ δὲ Καῖσαρ, ἔν τε Κελτοῖς καὶ Βρεττανοῖς πολλὰ καὶ λαμπρὰ εἰργασμένος, ὅσα μοι περὶ Κελτῶν λέγοντι εἴρηται, πλούτου γέμων ἐς τὴν ὅμορον τῇ Ἰταλίᾳ Γαλατίαν, τὴν ἀμφὶ τὸν Ἠριδανὸν ποταμὸν, ἦκεν, ἐκ συνεχοῦς πολέμου τὸν στρατὸν ἀναπαύσων ἐπ' ὀλίγον.

EX OPPIANO.[e]

Ἔστι δέ τι σκυλάκων γένος ἄλκιμον ἰχνευτήρων,
Βαιὸν, ἀτὰρ μεγάλης ἀντάξιον ἔμμεν' ἀοιδῆς·
Τοὺς τράφεν ἄγρια φῦλα Βρετανῶν αἰολονώτων,
Αὐτὰρ ἐπικλήδην σφὰς ἀγασσαίους ὀνόμηναν.
Τῶν ἤτοι μέγεθος μὲν ὁμοΐιον οὐτιδανοῖσι
Λίχνοις οἰκιδίοισι τραπεζήεσσι κύνεσσι,
Γυρὸν, ἀσαρκότατον, λασιότριχον, ὄμμασι νωθές·
Ἀλλ' ὀνύχεσσι πόδας κεκορυθμένον ἀργαλέοισι·
Καὶ θαμινοῖς κυνόδουσιν ἀκαχμένον ἰοφόροισι.
Ῥίνεσι δ' αὖτε μάλιστα πανέξοχός ἐστιν Ἀγασσεὺς,
Καὶ στιβίῃ πανάριστος, ἐπεὶ καὶ γαῖαν ἰόντων
Ἴχνιον εὑρέμεναι μέγα δὲ σοφὸς, ἀλλὰ καὶ αὐτὴν
Ἰδμων ἠερίην μάλα σημήνασθαι ἀϋτμὴν.

EX ARISTIDE.[f]

Καὶ οὔτε τῶν ἁλίεων τῶν πρὸς τοῖς Γαδείροις ἐστὶν ἀκοῦσαι λεγόντων γλυκεῖαν εἶναι τὴν ἔξω θάλατταν, οὔτε τῶν εἰς τὴν μεγάλην νῆσον περαιουμένων, τὴν ἀντιπέρας Ἰβήρων. καίτοι στρατεύματά τε εἰς αὐτὴν ἑκάστοτε παντοῖα διαβαίνει, καὶ ἀναχωρεῖ τοῖς καθήκουσι χρόνοις. καὶ ἄρχοντες καὶ ἰδιῶται μυρίοι διαβαίνουσιν ἑκάστοτε.

EX THEOPHILO ANTIOCHENO.[g]

Ὀλίγων γὰρ ὄντων ἐν πρώτοις τῶν τότε ἀνθρώπων, ἐν τῇ Ἀραβικῇ γῇ καὶ Χαλδαϊκῇ, μετὰ τὸ διαμερισθῆναι τὰς γλώσσας αὐτῶν, πρὸς μέρος ἤρξαντο πολλοὶ γίνεσθαι καὶ πληθύνεσθαι ἐπὶ

PTOLEMY.[a]

Under such an arrangement the other parts of the first quadrant, I mean that of Europe, lying to the north-west of the habitable world, are appropriated to the north-west trigon, consisting of Aries, Leo, and Sagittarius; and they are justly governed by the lords of that trigon, Jupiter and Mars occidental. And these parts, taken as whole nations, are Britain, Galatia, Germany, Bastarnia . . . And it follows for the most part to these nations, on account of the governing influence of the trigon and ruling planets, that their inhabitants are impatient of restraint and fond of liberty, warlike, laborious, fierce, and imperious, ingenuous and high-spirited . . . And of these very places, Britain indeed, and Galatia, and Germany, and Bastarnia, are more appropriated to Aries and Mars; hence for the most part their inhabitants are wilder, bolder, and more savage.

APPOLLONIUS ALEXANDRINUS.[b]

Scytinus the Chian affirms that the Brettanic island has a circuit of four hundred stadia: and that in it are produced fruits without kernels; for neither have the olives kernels nor the grapes stones; nor fruits of a similar description.

APPIAN.[c]

Beginning to compose the Roman History, I have deemed it necessary to define the site of those nations which the Romans govern; they are those in the ocean of the Britons, the principal portion. Sailing from the Pillars of Hercules into this sea, and circumnavigating them, they enter all the islands and continents adjacent to this sea.

[d] But Cæsar having performed many and splendid acts among the Celtæ or Britons, as I have said when speaking of the Celtæ, he came full of riches to Galatia, near to Italy, adjoining the river Eridanus, resting his army awhile after his recent war.

OPPIAN.[e]

There is a breed of dogs for hunting staunch,
Small in their size, but worthy of great praise;
Which the wild tribes of painted Britons rear
And call them Agassëi; such their name:
Whose shape is like those worthless curs, who fawn
For savoury scraps around their master's board:
Squat, lean, and shaggy, and with blinking eyes;
Their feet are armed with lacerating claws,
And many a poisonous tooth their jaws display.
But for their scent this breed is mostly prized,
And skill in tracking where the foot has passed,
Instinctive catching each aërial taint.

ARISTIDES.[f]

Neither can you hear the fishermen at Gadeira, nor those who cross over to that great island opposite the Iberians, asserting that the outer sea is tranquil. Although expeditions of all kinds perpetually pass into it, and return at convenient seasons. Thousands also of nobles and private persons frequently go over thither.

THEOPHILUS ANTIOCHENUS.[g]

For at the first men being then few, in the Arabic and Chaldaic land, after the division of their languages, they began

[a] Claudii Ptolemæi de Judiciis Tetrabibli lib. II. c. 3. Ed. Norimbergæ, 1535.

[b] Appollonii Dyscoli Alexandrini Hist. Comment. c. XV. Ed. Lugduni Batavorum, 1620.
Floruit Appollonius A.D. 138.

[c] Appiani Alexandrini Romanorum Historiarum Præfatione, s. 1. Ed. Schweighaeus Lipsiæ, 1785.

[d] De Bellis Civilibus, c. II. s. 17.

[e] Oppiani Cynegetic. lib. I. v. 468. Ed. De Ballu, Argentorat. 1786.
Floruit Oppianus A.D. 140.

[f] Ælii Aristidis Adrianensis Oratione Ægyptiaca. Ed. Jebb, Oxonii, 1732, t. II. p. 355.
Floruit Aristides A.D. 160.

[g] Theophili Antiocheni de Fide Christianorum lib. II. c. 46. Ed. Hamburgh. 1724.
Floruit Theophilus Antiochenus A.D. 180.

Digitized by Google

πάσης τῆς γῆς· καὶ οἱ μὲν ἔκλιναν οἰκεῖν πρὸς ἀνατολὰς, οἱ δὲ ἐπὶ τὰ μέρη τὰ τῆς μεγάλης ἠπείρου, καὶ τὰ πρὸς βόρειον. ὥστε διατείνειν μέχρι τῶν Βριτλανῶν ἐν τοῖς Ἀρκτικοῖς κλίμασιν.

EX ATHENÆO.[a]

Ἰούλιος δὲ Καῖσαρ, ὁ πρῶτος πάντων ἀνθρώπων περαιωθεὶς ἐπὶ τὰς Βρετλανίδας νῆσους μετὰ χιλίων σκαφῶν, τρεῖς οἰκέτας τοὺς πάντας συνεπήγετο, ὡς Κότλας ἱστορεῖ, ὁ τότε ὑποστρατηγῶν αὐτῷ, ἐν τῷ περὶ τῆς Ῥωμαίων πολιτείας συγγράμματι, ὃ τῇ πατρίῳ ἡμῶν γέγραπται φωνῇ.

EX SYBILLÆ ORACULIS.[b]

Ἐσσέται ἐν Βρύτεσσι, καὶ ἐν Γάλλοις πολυχρύσοις, Ὠκεανὸς κελαδῶν πληρούμενος αἵματι πολλῷ.

EX CLEMENTE ALEXANDRINO.[c]

Λέγουσι δὲ καὶ οἱ τὰς ἱσλορίας σύνλαξάμενοι ἀμφι τῆν Βρετλανικὴν νῆσον ἄνλρον τι ὑποκείμενον ὀρει, επὶ δὲ τῆς κορυφῆς χάσμα; ἐμπιπλονλος οὖν τοῦ ἀνεμου εἰς το ἀνλρον καὶ προσρηγνυμενου τοῖς κόλποις τοῦ ὀρυγμαλος κυμβάλων ἐυρύθμως κρουομένων ἠχον ἐξακοῦεσθαι.

EX TERTULLIANO.[d]

In quem enim alium universæ gentes crediderunt, nisi in Christum, qui jam venit? Cui enim et aliæ gentes crediderunt, Parthi, . . . Judæi et cæteræ gentes: etiam Getulorum varietates, et Maurorum multi fines, Hispaniarum omnes termini, et Galliarum diversæ nationes, et Britannorum inaccessa Romanis loca Christo vero subdita . . . Britanniæ intra oceani ambitum conclusæ sunt, Maurorum gentes, et Getulorum barbariæ a Romanis obsidentur, ne regionum suarum fines excedant.

[e] Sed si quid de mari Britannico aut Indico ambitio piscatur: conchæ genus est, non dico conchylio aut ostreo, sed nec peloride gratius de sapore.

EX M. MINUCIO FELICE.[f]

Nec universitati solummodo Deus consulit. Britannia sole deficitur, sed circumfluentis maris tepore recreatur.

EX ÆLIANO.[g]

Ἄριστος δὲ [μάργαρος] ἄρα ὁ Ἰνδικὸς γίνεται, καὶ ὁ τῆς θαλάττης τῆς Ἐρυθρᾶς. Γίνεται δὲ καὶ κατὰ τὸν ἑσπέριον ὠκεανὸν, ἔνθα ἡ Βρετλανικὴ νῆσός ἐσλι· δοκεῖ δέ πως χρυσῷ ὑπότερος ἰδεῖν εἶναι, τάς τε αὐγάς ἀμβλυτέρας ἔχων, καὶ σκοτωδεστέρας. Γίνεσθαι δέ φησὶν Ἰόβας καὶ ἐν τῷ κατὰ Βόσπορον πορθμῷ, καὶ τοῦ Βρετλανικοῦ ἡτλᾶσθαι αὐτόν.

EX ORIGENE.[h]

Δευτερεύουσι δὲ ὡς ἐν μαργαρίταις οἱ ἐκ τοῦ κατὰ Βρετλανίαν ὠκεανοῦ λαμβανόμενοι . . .

[i] Ὁ δὲ κατὰ Βρετλανίαν, φασὶ, χρυσωπὸς μὲν ἐστι τὴν ἐπιχροίαν, ὁμιχλώδης δὲ τις, καὶ ταῖς μαρμαρυγαῖς ἀμβλύτερος. ὁ δὲ ἐν τῷ πορθμῷ τῷ κατὰ Βόσπορον, κνεφωδέστερος τοῦ Βρετλανικοῦ.

[k] Quando enim terra Britanniæ ante adventum Christi in unius Dei consensit religionem?

[l] Quid autem dicamus de Britannis aut Germanis qui sunt circa oceanum?

[m] Virtus Domini Salvatoris et cum his est qui ab orbe nostro in Britannia dividuntur, et cum his qui in Mauritania, et cum universis qui sub sole in nomine ejus crediderunt.

EX DIONE CASSIO.[n]

[o] Ὅτι οἱ ἐν Βρεταννίᾳ στρατιῶται Πρίσκον ὑποστράτηγον εἵλοντο αὐτοκράτορά· ὁ δὲ παρητήσατο εἰπὼν ὅτι τοιοῦτος ἐγώ εἰμι αὐτοκράτωρ οἷοι ὑμεῖς στρατιῶται ἐστέ.

---

by degrees to encrease and multiply throughout the whole earth. And some proceeded to dwell in the east, others in the parts of the great continent and towards the north, insomuch as to extend as far as the Britons in the Arctic regions.

ATHENÆUS.[a]

But Julius Cæsar, who, with a thousand vessels, was the first of all men who crossed over into the Brettanic islands, was attended only by three servants; as Cotta, who was then serving under him, relates in the book which he wrote in our vernacular language concerning the polity of the Romans.

SYBILLINE ORACLES.[b]

And 'twixt the Britons and the wealthy Gauls
Ocean shall murmur, fill'd with blood profuse.

CLEMENS ALEXANDRINUS.[c]

Such as have composed histories concerning the Bretannic islands say that there is a cavern beneath a mountain, and at the summit of it a cleft, and that the wind rushing into this cavern, and reverberated from the hollows of the cave, an echo as of many cymbals is heard.

ÆLIAN.[g]

The best [pearl] is the Indian, and that of the Red Sea. It is produced also in the western ocean where lies the Brettanic island; but appears in a measure rather golden-coloured, having rays somewhat dull and dusky. Juba says it is found also in the gulf near the Bosphorus, but that it is inferior to the Brettanic.

ORIGEN.[h]

But they hold the second rank, as among pearls, do those which are taken from the ocean near Britain.

[i] They say that the pearl obtained near Britain is golden-coloured on its surface, but cloudy and rather dull in its rays; but that which is gotten from the Bay near the Bosphorus is more cloudy than the Brettanic.

DION CASSIUS.[n]

[o] The soldiers in Britain chose Priscus, a subaltern, for their general; but he strenuously refused, saying, "I should be a fit general for such soldiers."

---

[a] Athenæi Deipnosophistarum lib. VI. c. 21. Ed. Schweighaeus. Argentorat. 1802.
Floruit Athenæus A.D. 190.
[b] Sybillæ Oraculorum lib. v. Ed. Servati, Amstelod. 1689, p. 581.
Sæculo secundo hæc conficta putantur. Vide et supra, p. lvi.
[c] Stromata lib. VII. Floruit Clemens A.D. 206.
[d] Tertulliani adversus Judæos c. 7. Ed. Oberthur, Wirceburgi, 1780.
Floruit Tertullianus A.D. 208.
[e] De Habitu Muliebri. ib. c. 6.
[f] M. Minucii Felicis Octavii s. 18. Ed. Cantab. 1712.
Floruit M. Minucius Felix A.D. 210.

[g] Æliani de Natura Animalium lib. XV. c. 8. Ed. Gronovii, Lond. 1744.
Claruit Ælianus A.D. 220.
[h] Origenis Comment. in Mattheum. Ed. Delarue, Paris. 1740, t. II. p. 448.
Floruit Origen A.D. 230.
[i] Ib. p. 450.
[k] In Ezechiel. Homel. 4., vertente Hieronymo: ubi sup. tom. III. p. 370.
[l] In Matth. Comment. vertente Epiphanio? ib. p. 858.
[m] In Lucam Homel. 6. vertente Hieronymo, ib. p. 939.
[n] Dio. Excerpt. c. VIII. Mai. l. c. p. 224.
[o] A.D. 69?

Digitized by Google

[a] Ὅτι τῶν Βρεττανῶν ἄρχων Καρτάκης κατασχεθεὶς εἰς Ρώμην[b] ἀνετέμφθη, ὃν τινα ἐπὶ βήματος ὁ Κλαύδιος χλαμύδα φορῶν εἰσηγαγεν· ὃς καὶ συγγνώμης ἔτυχε σὺν γαμετῇ καὶ τοῖς παισὶν ἐν Ἰταλίᾳ διάγων· καὶ ποτὲ περινοστήσας τὴν πόλιν, καὶ εἰδὼν τὸ μεγέθος αὐτῆς καὶ τὴν λαμπρότητα τῶν οἴκων, διὰ τί, ἔφη, τοσαῦτα καὶ τηλικαῦτα κεκτημένοι, τῶν σκηνῶν ἡμῶν ἐπιθυμεῖτε.

EX M. A. O. NEMESIANO.[c]

Nec taceam primum, quæ nuper bella sub arcto
Felici, Carine, manu confeceris, ipso
Pene prior genitore Deo: utque intima frater Persidos, et veteres Babylonos ceperit arces.

[d] Sed non Spartanos tantum, tantumve Molossos
Pascendum catulos: divisa Britannia mittit
Veloces, nostrique orbis venatibus aptos.

EX EUSEBIO PAMPHILO.[e]

Καὶ τοὺς μὲν αὐτῶν [μαθήτων] τὴν Ῥωμαίων ἀρχὴν, . . . καὶ ἑτέρους ὑπὲρ τὸν ὠκεανὸν παρέλθειν ἐπὶ τὰς καλουμένας Βρεττανικὰς νήσους, ταυτὰ οὐκ ἔτι ἔγωγε ἡγούμαι κατ' ἀνθρωπὸν εἶναι, μητίγε κατ' εὐτέλεις καὶ ἰδιωτὰς, πολλοῦ δὲ κατὰ πλάνους καὶ γόητας.

[f] Ἐν Βρεττανίᾳ, πολλοὶ, ἄνδρες μίαν γυναῖκα ἔχουσιν.

EX JULIO FIRMICO.[g]

Tollite, tollite securi, sacratissimi imperatores, [Constanti et Constans] ornamenta templorum. Deos istos aut monetæ ignis, aut metallorum coquat flamma. Donaria universa ad utilitatem vestram dominiumque transferte. Post excidia templorum in magni Dei estis virtute provecti; vicistis hostes, propagastis imperium: et, ut virtutibus vestris gloria major accederet, mutato ac contempto temporum ordine. Hyeme (quod nec factum est aliquando, nec fiet) tumentes, ac sævientes undas calcastis oceani sub remis vestris. Incogniti jam nobis pene maris unda contremuit, et insperatam imperatoris faciem Britannus[h] expavit. Quid amplius vultis? Virtutibus vestris victa elementa cesserunt.

EX ATHANASIO.[i]

Καὶ τρίτον ἐν τῇ μεγάλῃ συνόδῳ τῇ ἐν Σαρδικῇ συναχθείσῃ κατὰ πρόσταξιν τῶν θεοφιλεστάτων βασιλέων Κωνσταντίου καὶ Κώνσταντος· ἐν ᾗ καὶ οἱ καθ' ἡμῶν γενόμενοι καθῃρέθησαν ὡς συκοφάνται, τοῖς τε κριθεῖσιν ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν συνεψηφίσαντο μὲν ἐπίσκοποι πλείους τριακοσίων, ἐξ ἐπαρχιῶν Αἰγύπτου, Λιβύης . . . Γαλλίων, Βρεττανίων.

[k] Εἶτα βλέποντες, τὴν πρὸς Ἀθανάσιον τῶν ἐπισκόπων συμφωνίαν τε καὶ εἰρήνην, πλείους δὲ ἦσαν υ', ἀπὸ τε τῆς μεγάλης Ῥώμης, καὶ τῆς Ἰταλίας πάσης . . . τούς τε ἀπὸ Γαλλίων, καὶ Βριτανίας . . . ταῦτα βλέποντες ἐκείνοι, φθόνῳ καὶ φόβῳ συνεσχέθησαν.

[l] Ταύτην δὲ [πίστιν] οἱ ἐν Νικαιᾷ συνελθόντες ὡμολόγησαν πατέρες· καὶ ταύτῃ σύμψηφοι τυγχάνουσι πᾶσαι αἱ πανταχοῦ κατὰ τόπον ἐκκλησίαι· αἵ τε κατὰ τὴν Σπανίαν, καὶ Βρεττανίαν, καὶ Γαλλίας.

EX SEXTO AURELIO VICTORE.[m]

Nam cum tantæ severitatis vim milites inhorrescunt, (unde etiam Severi cognomentum accesserat) agentem casu cum paucis vico Britanniæ, cui vocabulum Sicila, [Alexandrum] trucidavere.

EX LIBANIO.[n]

Τίνα δὲ τὰ [τοῦ Ἰουλιάνου] ἐπὶ τῆς ἡσυχίας; τὴν μεγίσθην τῶν ὑπὸ τὸν ἥλιον νῆσον, ἣν Ὠκεανὸς ἔχει, τοῖς λογισμοῖς ἑώρα, καὶ πέμπει δὴ λόγους τῆς δαπάνης, ἣ τοὔνομα μὲν ἦν στρατιωτικὴ, τῷ δὲ ἔργῳ πρόσοδος τῶν ἡγουμένων. Καὶ τοὺς μὲν ταῦτα ἀδικοῦντας δικαίους ἐποίησεν.

---

[a] Caractacus, one of the British leaders, being captured, was sent to Rome[b], and Claudius, wearing his imperial robes, brought him to the tribunal. He obtained his pardon, and, with his wife and children, remained in Italy. Once when perambulating the city, and observing its extent and the splendour of the houses, "Why," said he, "do ye, who possess such numerous and durable edifices, covet our humble habitations?"

EUSEBIUS.[e]

And that some of them [the disciples] should reach the Roman territory . . . and that others should cross the ocean to the isles called Bretannic, I can no longer think to be the work of man, much less of poor and mean men, least of all of deceivers and impostors.

[f] In Brettania many men cohabit with one wife.

ATHANASIUS.[i]

And thirdly in the great synod at Sardice assembled by command of those most pious princes Constantius and Constans. In which our adversaries were overthrown as calumniators: whereas to the judgment on our side assented more than three hundred bishops from the provinces of Egypt, Libya, . . . Gaul, and Britain.

[k] And then contemplating the harmony and agreement between the bishops and Athanasius, and there were more than four hundred of them, from imperial Rome, and the whole of Italy . . . and from Gaul and Britain . . . contemplating these things, they were possessed with envy and alarm.

[l] This [faith] the fathers possessed who assembled at Nicea; and to this assent all the surrounding churches which are in Spain and in Britain and Gaul.

LIBANIUS.[n]

And what were the acts [of Julian] during the time of peace? He contemplated in his mind the largest island of those beneath the sun which ocean contains. And thither he sends limitations for that expenditure, which indeed was denominated military, but in fact was made a source of revenue to the præfects. Thus he brought to a sense of justice those who had been guilty in this particular.

[b] A.D. 50.

[c] M. A. O. Nemesiani Cyneget. v. 69. Ed. Burman. Leydæ, 1731. Floruit Nemesianus A.D. 280.

[d] V. 123.

[e] Eusebii Pamphili Demonstrationis Evangelicæ lib. III. c. 7. Ed. Lutet. Paris. 1554.

[f] Præparationis Evangelicæ lib. VI. Ed. Paris. 1628, p. 277.

[g] Julii Firmici de Errore profanarum religionum. Ed. Gronovii, Rotterodami, 1743, p. 463. Floruit Julius Firmicus A.D. 340.

[h] Conf. sup. p. lxxiii. [d]. A.D. 343?

[i] Athanasii Archiep. Alexand. Apologia contra Arianos. Ed. Paris. 1698, t. I. p. 123. Floruit Athanasius A.D. 350.

[k] Historia Arianorum ad Monachos, ib. p. 360.

[l] Epistola ad Jovianum Imperatorem, ib. p. 781.

[m] Sexti Aurelii Victoris de Viris Illustribus, c. 24.

[n] Libanii Sophistæ oratione Parentali in Julianum imperatorem. Ed. Reiske. Altenburgi, 1795. t. I. p. 549. Floruit Libanius A.D. 360.

Digitized by Google

[a]Οὐ τοίνυν οὐδὲ τὸν διάπλουν[b] εἰς τὴν νῆσον τὴν Βρεττανίαν σιωπῇ παρελθεῖν ἄξιον, διότι πολλοῖς ἡ νῆσος ἠγνόηται· . . . ὡσθ' ἅπανλας μαθεῖν, ὅτι καὶ τὴν ἔξω τῆς ἐγνωσμένης βασιλεὺς [Κωνσλὰς] διηρευνήσαλο . . . Ἡρόδοτος μὲν οὖν, . . . διαῤῥήδην διαμάχεται μὴ εἶναι τὸν πολυύμνητον ὠκεανὸν, . . . οἱ δὲ καὶ πισλεύοντες εἶναί που τὸν ὠκεανὸν, ἰλιγγιῶσι πρὸς τοὔνομα. Ὁ δὲ τοσοῦτον ἀπέσχε τοῦ τοιοῦτον παθεῖν, ὥστε εἰ μὴ καὶ γνοίη, καὶ καθελκύσειε ναῦν, καὶ ἐμβὰς κομισθείη, καὶ τῆς Βρεττανίας προσορμισθείη λιμέσι, τὸ μεγίστον ἡγεῖτο παρήσειν τῶν ἑαυτῷ προσηκόντων. ἔστι δὴ λόγος, μάρτυρας τὰς ὄψεις παρεχόμενος, ὡς ἄρα μεῖζον εἰς κίνδυνον, πλοῖον στρογγύλον ὑπὲρ ἐκείνης ἀφεῖναι τῆς θαλάττης, ἢ ναυμαχίαν ἑτέρωθι συστέσασθαι· οὕτω λαμπραὶ μὲν καταιγίδες εἰς οὐρανὸν κυρτοῦσι τὰ κύματα, ἐξῶσται δὲ ὑπολαμβάνοντες ἄνεμοι πρὸς ἀπέραντον ἐκφέρουσι πέλαγος. τὸ δὲ δεινότατον· ἐπειδὰν γὰρ τοῖς ἄλλοις ἅπασιν ὁ κυβερνήτης ἀντιστήσῃ τὴν τέχνην, ὑπονοστεῖ μὲν ἐξαίφνης ἡ θάλαττα· ἡ δὲ τέως μετέωρος ὑπὲρ τῶν κυμάτων ὁλκὰς ἐπὶ ψιλῆς ὁρᾶται τῆς ψάμμου κειμένη· καὶ ἣν μὲν ὀξείαν ἀνταποστείλῃ τὴν παλίῤῥοιαν, ἀναλαμβάνει τε αὖθις τὸ σκάφος· καὶ δεῖ τὰ λοιπὰ πονεῖν τοὺς ἐμπλέοντας· ἢν δὲ μελλήσῃ πρὸς τὴν ἐπάνοδον, δύεται κατὰ μικρὸν τὸ πλοῖον, ὑπεικούσης πρὸς τὸ ἄχθος τῆς ψάμμου· τούτων οὐδὲν βασιλεὺς ἐσκόπησε, μᾶλλον δὲ πάντα σαφῶς εἰδὼς, οὐκ ἀπώκνησεν· . . . οὐ γὰρ καθήμενος ἐπὶ τῆς ἠϊόνος ἀνέμεινεν. . . . οὐ προειπὼν ταῖς ἐκεῖ πόλεσιν, οὐδὲ προκηρύξας τὴν ἀναγωγὴν· . . . ἐμβιβάσας ἑκατὸν ἄνδρας, ὡς λέγεται, λύσας τὰ ἀπόγεια, τὸν ὠκεανὸν ἔτεμνε . . . οὐ τοίνυν ἡ μὲν ἐπὶ τὴν νῆσον διάβασις οὕτως εἰρηνικῶς, ὁ δὲ ἀπόπλους ἑτέρως ἐχώρησεν. . . . εἰ μὲν τοίνυν ἀφεστηκυίας τῆς νήσου, καὶ τῶν οἰκητόρων νεωτεριζόντων, καὶ τῆς ἀρχῆς περικοπτομένης, καὶ τῆς ἀγγελίας ἐλθούσης, θυμῷ πρὸς τὴν ἀκοὴν καταληφθεὶς ἀνέῤῥιψε τὸν περὶ τοῦ πλοῦ κύδον, οὐκ ἂν ἦν εἰς φιλοτιμίαν γνώμης τὴν τόλμαν ἀνενεγκεῖν· ἀλλ' ἡ παρὰ τῶν ἀφεστηκότων ἀνάγκη, τὸ πλέον τῆς εὐκλείας ἀφῄρει· νῦν δὲ, καθεστηκότων μὲν τῶν ἐν Βρεττανίᾳ πραγμάτων, ἀδείας δὲ ὑπαρχούσης ἀπὸ γῆς, τέρπεσθαι τοῖς ὠκεανοῦ θαύμασιν.

EX S. BASILIO.[c]

Οὐ γὰρ ἦν ἡ ἔξω Γαδείρων θάλασσα· οὐδὲ τὸ μέγα ἐκεῖνο καὶ ἀτόλμητον πλωτῆρσι πέλαγος, τὸ τὴν Βρεττανικὴν νῆσον καὶ τοὺς ἑσπερίους Ἰβήρας περιπτυσσόμενον.

EX S. AMBROSIO.[d]

Quis deinde sciat, in quantum se illud magnum et inausum navigantibus atque intentatum nautis fundat mare, quod Britannias fremente includit æquore, atque in ulteriora et ipsis fabulis inaccessa secreta se porrigit?

EX FLAVIO VEGETIO.[e]

Scaphæ tamen majoribus Liburnis exploratoriæ sociantur, quæ vicenos prope remiges, in singulis partibus, habeant: quas Britanni Pictas vocant. Per has et superventus fieri, et commeatus adversariorum navium aliquando intercipi assolet, et speculandi studio adventus earum, vel consilium deprehendi. Ne tamen exploratoriæ naves candore prodantur, colore veneto, qui marinis est fluctibus similis, vela tinguntur, et funes: cera etiam, qua ungere solent naves, inficitur. Nautæ quoque vel milites venetam vestem induunt, ut non solum per noctem, sed etiam per diem facilius lateant explorantes.

EX Q. M. AUSONIO.[f]

Utque sub ingenuis agitatæ fontibus herbæ
Vibrantes patiuntur aquas: lucetque, latetque
Calculus: et viridem distinguit glarea muscum.
Nota Caledoniis talis pictura Britannis,
Quum virides algas, et rubra corallia nudat
Æstus, et albentes concharum germina baccas,
Delicias hominum locupletum, quæque sub undis
Assimulant nostros imitata monilia cultus.

[g]Quis mihi tum non dictus erit? Memorabo quietos
Agricolas; legumque catos, fandique potentes
Præsidium sublime reis; quos curia summos
Municipum vidit proceres, propriumque senatum:

---

[a] It is not becoming therefore to pass over in silence the expedition[b] into the island Britain, because the island is unknown to many, . . . in order that all may learn that the emperor [Constans] sought it out, though beyond the known world. . . . Herodotus indeed . . . openly contends that this far famed ocean does not exist. . . . And even they who believe such an ocean somewhere to exist feel dizzy at the name thereof. Yet so far was the emperor from a feeling of this kind, that had he not made himself acquainted with it, drawn down his ship, proceeded on his passage, and moored in the harbours of Britain, he would have thought he had omitted that which more especially became him. Moreover, there is a report, supported by eye witnesses, that there is greater danger for a round-built ship to be committed to that sea, than to stand the shock of a naval battle elsewhere: such vehement tempests roll the waves to heaven, and violent winds, uplifting, carry them to the illimitable ocean. But that which is most tremendous is, that, when the helmsman has opposed his skill to every thing else, the sea retreats on a sudden, and the bark, hitherto aloft upon the waves, is discovered lying on the bare sand; and should it quickly flow again, it carries off the vessel. And now again must the mariners labour; for if it delay its flowing, the bark settles down by degrees, the sand yielding to its weight. The emperor considered none of these matters, but knowing them perfectly, made no delay: . . . he did not linger on the beach, . . . neither did he previously intimate nor proclaim his expedition to the cities there. . . . Having embarked an hundred men, as it is said, and loosing his cables, he cut through the ocean. . . . Nor indeed, as the access to the island was so tranquil, did the return thence fall out otherwise. . . . But had the island revolted, and its inhabitants been rebellious, and the dominion been circumscribed; had this news arrived, and he, irritated at such intelligence, had cast the die for sailing, then the boldness of his design could not have been ascribed to the love of glory, for the necessity consequent on such revolt would have taken away the greater part of its fame: but now matters being arranged in Britain, and no fear arising from the land, he began to be delighted with the wonders of the ocean.

S. BASIL.[c]

Nor was there that sea which is beyond Gadeira; nor that vast and terrific ocean to navigators, which surrounds the Bretannic island and the Western Iberians.

[a] Panegyrico cir. A.D. 349, dicto Impp. Constantio et Constanti: ubi sup. t. III. p. 320.
[b] Conf. sup. p. lxxiii.[d]. A.D. 343?
[c] S. Basilii in Hexameron, Homil. IV. Ed. Paris, 1721. t. I. p. 36. Floruit Basilius A.D. 370.
[d] S. Ambrosii Hexameron, lib. III. c. 3. Ed. Paris, 1686, t. I. p. 39.
Claruit Ambrosius A.D. 380
[e] Flavii Vegetii Renati de Re Militari lib. IV. c. 37. Ed. Scriverii, Vesaliæ Clivorum, A.D. 1670.
Floruit Vegetius A.D. 380.
[f] Q. M. Ausonii Edil. x. Mosella, v. 65. Ed. Souchay, Paris, 1730.
Claruit Ausonius A.D. 380.
[g] V. 399.

Digitized by Google

Quos prætextati celebris facundia ludi
Contulit ad veteris præconia Quintiliani.
Quique suas rexere urbes, purumque tribunal
Sanguine, et innocuas illustravere secures;
Aut Italum populos, Aquilonigenasque Britannos
Præfecturarum titulo tenuere secundo.

[a] Silvius ille Bonus, qui carmina nostra lacessit,
Nostra magis meruit disticha Brito Bonus.

[b] Silvius hic Bonus est. Quis Silvius? iste Britannus.
Aut Brito hic non est Silvius, aut malus est

[c] Silvius iste Bonus fertur, ferturque Britannus:
Quis credat civem degenerasse Bonum?

[d] Nemo Bonus Brito est. Si simplex Silvius esse
Incipiat, simplex desinet esse Bonus.

[e] Silvius hic Bonus est: sed Brito est Silvius idem.
Simplicior res est, credite, Brito malus.

[f] Silvi, Brito, Bonus: quamvis homo non bonus esse
Ferris; nec se quit jungere Brito Bono.

[g] Et patruos Elegea meos reminiscere cantu:
Contentum, tellus quem Rutupina tegit;
Magna cui et variæ quæsita pecunia sortis,
Hæredis nullo nomine tuta perit.
Raptus enim lætis et adhuc florentibus annis,
Trans mare, et ignaris fratribus oppetiit.

[h] Qui joca lætitiamque colis, qui tristia damnas,
Nec metuis quenquam, nec metuendus agis;
Qui nullum insidiis captas, nec lite lacessis,
Sed justam et clemens vitam agis, et sapiens;
Tranquillos manes, supremaque mitia sancti
Ore pio, et verbis advenerare bonis:
Militiam nullo qui turbine sedulus egit;
Præside lætatus quo Rutupinus ager.
Octoginta annos cujus tranquilla senectus
Nullo mutavit deteriore die.
Ergo precare favens; ut qualia tempora vitæ,
Talia et ad manes otia sanctus agat.

[i] Non erat iste locus: merito tamen aucta recenti,
Nona inter claras Aquileja cieberis urbes,
Itala ad Illyricos objecta colonia montes,
Mœnibus et portu celeberrima! sed magis illud
Eminet, extremo quod te sub tempore legit,
Solveret exacto cui sera piacula lustro
Maximus, armigeri quondam sub nomine [k] lixæ.
Felix quæ tanti spectatrix læta triumphi,
Punisti Ausonio Rutupinum marte latronem.

[l] Libra Caledonios sine littore continet æstus.
Tu quoque certa mane morum mihi libra meorum.

[m] Sunt et Aremorici, qui laudent ostrea ponti:
Et quæ Pictonici legit accola litoris: et quæ
Mira Caledonius nonnunquam detegit æstus.

EX SYMMACHO.[n]

Editioni muneris nostri et usitata et insolita a te conferuntur, ita omnia ad conciliandum quæstori nostro plebis favorem, et solemnium rerum largus, et novarum repertor excogitas: ut nunc septem Scoticorum [o] canum probavit oblatio; quos prælusionis die ita Roma mirata est ut ferreis caveis putaret advectos.

[p] 'Invenit Ordo amplissimus amabilem vicem, qua se gratum probaret. Nam familiæ vestræ et stirpis auctorem[q], Africanum quondam et Britannicum ducem, statuis equestribus inter prisca nomina consecravit, qui felicissimum sidus, et imperio salutare progenuit.'

[r] Auctor et parens[q], ut dudum V.C. et illustri officiorum magistro me scripsisse memini, statuarum equestrium honore decoratus est, quas ei ordo venerabilis Africani et Britannici belli recordatione decrevit:

EX CLAUDIO CLAUDIANO.[s]

Est locus, extremum pandit qua Gallia litus,
Oceani prætentus aquis, ubi fertur Ulixes
Sanguine libato populum movisse silentem.
Illic umbrarum tenui stridore volantum
Flebilis auditur questus: simulacra coloni
Pallida, defunctasque vident migrare figuras.
Hinc Dea[t] prosiluit, Phœbique egressa serenos
Infecit radios, ululatuque æthera rupit
Terrifico. Sensit ferale Britannia murmur,
Et Senonum quatit arva fragor, revolutaque Tethys
Substitit, et Rhenus projecta torpuit urna.

[u] . . . Liceat Stilichonis iniquas
Evitare minas, in nostram Gallia cædem
Conjurata venit: quidquid ligat ultima Tethys,
Extremos ultra volitat gens si qua Britannos,
Mota mihi[v]. . . .

[w] . . . Te[x], quo libet ire, sequemur.
Te vel Hyperboreo damnatam sidere Thulen,
Te vel ad incensas Libyæ comitabor arenas.

[y] Quoque magis nimium pugnæ inflammaret amorem,
Facta tui numerabat[q] avi, quem litus adustæ
Horrescit Lybiæ, ratibusque inpervia Thule.
Ille leves Mauros, nec falso nomine Pictos
Edomuit[z], Scotumque vago mucrone secutus
Fregit Hyperboreas remis audacibus undas:
Et geminis fulgens utroque sub axe Tropæis
Tethyos alternæ refluas calcavit arenas.

[a] Epig. CIX. De quodam Silvio Bono qui erat Britannus.
[b] CX. Item. [c] CXI. Item.
[d] CXII. Item. [e] CXIII. Item. [f] CXIV. Item.
[g] Parentalium VII. Cl. Contentus et Julius Calippio.
[h] XVIII. Fl. Sanctus.
[i] Ordinis nobilium civitatum VII. Aquilea.
[k] Conf. sup. p. lxx.[a].
[l] Eclog. I. De ratione libræ, v. 32.
[m] Epistola IX. Paulo, v. 35.
[n] Symmachi Epistolarum lib. II. ep. 77. Flaviano fratri. Ed. Paris. 1604.
Claruit Symmachus A.D. 390.
[o] Semifer et Scotus sentit cane milite pejor. Prudentius, cont. Sabellianos, v. 39.
[p] Lib. X. ep. 22. Theodosio et Archadio Augg.
[q] Theodosius. v. sup. p. lxxiv.[c].
[r] Ep. 57. Theodosio Aug.
[s] Claudii Claudiani in Rufinum lib. I. v. 123. Ed. Burman. Amstelod. 1760.
Floruit Claudianus A.D. 400.
[t] Megaera. [u] Lib. II. v. 146. A.D. 395.
[v] Rufino. [w] V. 239. [x] Stilicho.
[y] De tertio Consulatu Honorii Augusti, v. 51. A.D. 396.
[z] A.D. 369.

Digitized by Google

[a] Haud indigna coli, nec nuper cognita Marti,
Ulpia progenies, et, quæ diademata mundo
Sparsit, Hibera domus: nec tantæ vilior unda
Promeruit gentis seriem: cunabula fovit
Oceanus. Terræ dominos pelagique futuros
Immenso decuit rerum de principe nasci.
Hinc processit avus[b]: cui post Arctoa frementi
Classica Massylas adnexuit Africa lauros.
Ille, Caledoniis posuit qui castra pruinis,
Qui medios Lybiæ sub casside pertulit æstus,
Terribilis Mauro, debellatorque Britanni
Litoris, ac pariter Boreæ vastator et Austri.
Quid rigor æternus cœli, quid sidera prosunt,
Ignotumque fretum? Maduerunt Saxone fuso
Orcades: incaluit Pictorum sanguine Thule:
Scotorum cumulos flevit glacialis Ierne.

[c] . . . Sic traditus illi,
Servatusque Oriens. At non pars altera rerum
Tradita, bis possessa manu, bis parta periclis.
Per varium gemini scelus erupere tyranni
Tractibus occiduis. Hunc[d] sæva Britannia fudit,
Hunc sibi [e]Germanus famulum delegerat exsul;
Ausus uterque nefas, domini respersus uterque
Insontis jugulo.

[f] Exitii jam Roma timens, et fessa negatis
Frugibus, ad rapidi limen tendebat Olympi,
Non solito vultu, non qualis jura Britannis
Dividit, aut trepidos submittit fascibus Indos.

[g] Hispana tibi Germanaque Tethys
Paruit, et nostro diducta Britannia mundo:

[h] Tum sic orsa [i]loqui: Quantum te principe possim,
Non longinqua docent: domito quod Saxone Tethys
Mitior, aut fracto secura Britannia Picto.

[k] Inde Caledonio velata Britannia monstro,
Ferro picta genas, cujus vestigia verrit
Cærulus, Oceanique æstum mentitur, amictus:
Me quoque vicinis pereuntem gentibus, inquit,
Munivit Stilichon, totam quum Scotus Iernen
Movit, et infesto spumavit remige Tethys.
Illius effectum curis, ne tela timerem
Scotica, ne Pictum tremerem, ne litore toto
Prospicerem dubiis venturum Saxona ventis.

[l] Nec stetit[i] Oceano: remisque ingressa profundum
Vincendos alio quæsivit in orbe Britannos.

[m] Hujus pacificis debemus moribus omnes,
Quod veluti patriis regionibus utitur hospes:
Quod sedem mutare licet: quod cernere Thulen
Lusus, et horrendos quondam penetrare recessus;

[n] . . . hæ pedibus celeres: hæ nare sagaces.
Hirsutæque fremunt Cressæ, tenuesque Lacænæ,
Magnaque taurorum fracturæ colla Britannæ.

[o] Nonne velut capta rumor miserabilis urbe
Trans freta, trans Gallos, Pyrenæumque cucurrit;
Famaque, nigrantes succincta pavoribus alas,
Secum cuncta trahens, a Gadibus usque Britannum
Terruit Oceanum, et nostro procul axe remotam
Insolito belli tremefecit murmure Thulen?

[p] Venit et extremis legio prætenta Britannis.
Quæ Scoto dat fræna truci, ferroque notatas
Perlegit exsangues Picto moriente figuras.

[q] Credite nunc omnes, quas dira Britannia, gentes,
Quas Hister, quas Rhenus alit, pendere paratas
In speculis, uno tot prælia vincite bello.

[r] . . . Patruo te principe[s] celsam
Bellipotens illustrat avus[t]; qui signa Britanno
Intulit Oceano, Gætulaque repulit arma.
Claram Scipiadum taceat Cornelia gentem,
Seque minus jactet Libycis dotata tropæis.
Cardine tu gemino laurus prætendis avitas:
Inde Caledoniis, Australibus inde parentum
Cingeris exuviis.

[u] . . . Constringit[v] in unum
Sparsas imperii vires, cuneosque recenset
Dispositos: quæ Sarmaticis custodia ripis,
Quæ sævis objecta Getis, quæ Saxona frenat,
Vel Scotum legio; quantæ cinxere cohortes
Oceanum, quanto pacatur milite Rhenus.

EX JOANNE CHRYSOSTOMO.[w]

Ἀναλόγισαι πάντα τὰ ἔθνη, Σύρους . . τοὺς ἐν ταῖς νήσοις ταῖς Βρεττανικαῖς. . . .

[x] Καὶ γὰρ αἱ Βρεττανικαὶ νῆσοι, αἱ τῆς θαλάττης ἐκτὸς κείμεναι ταύτης, καὶ ἐν αὐτῷ οὖσαι ὠκεανῷ, τῆς δυνάμεως τοῦ ῥήματος ἥψαντο. καὶ γὰρ κἀκεῖ ἐκκλησίαι, καὶ θυσιαστήρια πεπήγασιν.

[y] Ὅπου δ' ἂν ἀπέλθῃς, εἰς Ἰνδοὺς, εἰς Μαυρους, εἰς Βρετανοὺς[z], εἰς τὴν οἰκουμένην, εὑρήσεις 'ἐν ἀρχῇ ἦν ὁ λογος,' καὶ βίον ἐνάρετον.

CHRYSOSTOM.[w]

Take into the account all the nations, Syrians . . . and such nations as dwell in the Bretannic isles.

[x] And even the Bretannic isles lying without this sea, and situated in the ocean itself, have felt the power of the word. For even there churches and altars have been erected.

[y] Go where you will, to the Indians, to the Moors, to the Britons[z], to the whole habitable globe, you will find 'In the beginning was the Word,' and a virtuous life.

[a] De quarto Consulatu Honorii, v. 18. A.D. 398.
[b] Theodosius. v. sup. p. lxxiv.[c]. [c] Ib. v. 69. [d] Maximum.
[e] Arbogastes. [f] De Bello Gildonico, v. 17. A.D. 398.
[g] De Consulatu Mallii Theodori, v. 50. A.D. 399.
[h] In Eutropium, lib. I. v. 391. A.D. 399.
[i] Roma, nempe.
[k] In primum Consulatum Stilichonis, lib. II. v. 247. A.D. 400.
[l] In secundum Consulatum Stilichonis, lib. III. v. 148. A.D. 405.
[m] V. 154. [n] V. 299. [o] De bello Getico, v. 199. A.D. 402.
[p] V. 416. [q] V. 568. [r] In laudem Serenæ, v. 39.
[s] Theodosio Magno.
[t] Theodosius. Conf. sup. p. lxxiv.[c]. A.D. 396.
[u] Epithalamii Palladii et Celerinæ, v. 86.
[v] Celerinus.
[w] Joannis Chrysostomi de Incomprehensibili Dei Natura, lib. II. Ed. Montfaucon, Paris. 1718, t. I. p. 457.
Chrysostomus mortem obiit A.D. 407.
[x] Contra Judæos: ubi supra, p. 575.
[y] Sermone in Pentecost.: ubi sup., t. III. p. 791, int. Spuria.
[z] Hæc ita habentur in veteri versione Latina, a textu Græco longe diversa . . . 'Ante hoc autem quoties in Britannia humanis vescebantur carnibus, nunc jejuniis reficiunt animam suam.' Ibid.

Digitized by Google

EX SYNODO ARELATENSI.[a]

Nomina episcoporum cum clericis suis qui ex Britannia[b] ad Arelatensem synodum convenerunt.

Eborius episcopus, de civitate Eboracensi, provincia Britannia.

Restitutus episcopus, de civitate Londinensi, provincia suprascripta.

Adelfius episcopus, de civitate Colonia Londinensium: exinde Sacerdos presbyter, Arminius diaconus.

EX HIERONYMO.[c]

Quid loquar de cæteris nationibus, quum ipse adolescentulus in Gallia viderim Atticotos, gentem Britannicam, humanis vesci carnibus: et quum per sylvas porcorum greges et armentorum pecudumque reperiant, pastorum nates et fæminarum, et papillas solere abscindere, et has solas ciborum delicias arbitrari? Scotorum natio uxores proprias non habet: et quasi Platonis politiam legerit, et Catonis sectetur exemplum, nulla apud eos conjux propria est; sed ut cuique libitum fuerit, pecudum more lasciviunt.

[d] Adde quod ante resurrectionem Christi notus tantum in Judæa erat Deus. . . . Ubi tunc totius orbis homines, ab India usque ad Britanniam; . . . tam innumerabiles populi, et tantarum gentium multitudines? 'Quam variæ linguis, habitu tam vestis et armis:' piscium ritu ac locustarum, et velut muscæ et culices conterebantur; . . . nunc passionem Christi et resurrectionem ejus, cunctarum gentium et voces et litteræ sonant.

[e] Neque enim Britannia fertilis provincia tyrannorum, et Scotticæ gentes, omnesque usque ad oceanum per circuitum barbaræ nationes, Moysen Prophetasque cognoverant.

[f] Divisus ab orbe nostro Britannus, si in religione processerit, occiduo sole dimisso, quærit locum [Hierosolymas] fama sibi tantum et Scripturarum relatione cognitum.

[g] Cæterum qui dicunt: 'Templum Domini, Templum Domini,' audiant ab apostolo: 'Vos estis Templum Domini, et Spiritus Sanctus habitat in vobis.' Et de Ierosolymis et de Britannia æqualiter patet aula cælestis: 'Regnum enim Dei intra vos est.'

[h] Audiant Ethnici messes Ecclesiæ, de quibus quotidie horrea nostra complentur: audiant catechumeni, qui sunt fidei candidati, ne uxores ducant ante baptisma, ne honesta jungant matrimonia; sed Scottorum et Atticotorum ritu, ac de republica Platonis, promiscuas uxores, communes liberos habeant.

[i] Xenodochium in portu Romano situm totus pariter mundus audivit. Sub una æstate didicit Britannia, quod Ægyptus et Parthus noverant vere.

[k] Nec altera Romanæ Urbis Ecclesia, altera totius orbis existimanda est. Et Galliæ, et Britanniæ, et Africa . . . et omnes barbaræ nationes unum Christum adorant; unam observant regulam veritatis.

[l] Legamus Varronis de Antiquitatibus libros, et Sisinnii Capitonis: et Græcum Phlegonta, cæterosque eruditissimos viros: et videbimus omnes pene insulas, et totius orbis littora, terrasque mari vicinas, Græcis accolis occupatas: qui, ut supradiximus, ab Amano et Tauro montibus, omnia maritima loca usque ad oceanum possedere Britannicum.

[m] Ut nuper indoctus [n] calumniator erupit, qui commentarios meos in Epistolam Pauli ad Ephesios reprehendendos putat. Nec intelligit, nimia stertens vecordia, leges commentariorum . . . Nec recordatur stolidissimus, et Scotorum pultibus prægravatus, nos in ipso opere dixisse, Non damno digamos . . .

[o] Hic tacet, alibi criminatur: [p] mittit in universum orbem epistolas biblinas; prius auriferas, nunc maledicas; et patientiam nostram de Christi humilitate venientem, malæ conscientiæ signum interpretatur. Ipseque mutus latrat per Alpinum canem[n], grandem et corpulentem, et qui calcibus magis possit sævire quam dentibus. Habet enim progeniem Scoticæ gentis, de Britannorum vicinia; qui juxta fabulas poetarum instar Cerberi spiritali percutiendus est clava; ut æterno cum suo magistro Plutone silentio conticescat.

EX SULPITIO SEVERO.[q]

Igitur apud Ariminum, urbem Italiæ, synodum congregari jubet [Constantius[r]]: idque Tauro præfecto imperat, ut collectos in unum non ante dimitteret, quam in unam fidem consentirent: promisso eidem consulatu, si rem effectui tradidisset. Ita missis per Illyricum, Italiam, Africam, Hispanias, Galliasque, magistris officialibus, acciti numerative quadringenti et aliquanto amplius occidentales episcopi, Ariminum convenere: quibus omnibus annonas et cellaria dare imperator præceperat: sed id nostris, id est, Aquitanis, Gallis, ac Britannis indecens visum; repudiatis fiscalibus, propriis sumptibus vivere maluerunt. Tres tantum ex Britannia, inopia proprii, publico usi sunt, cum oblatam a ceteris collationem respuissent: sanctius putantes fiscum gravare, quam singulos. Hoc ego

[a] Labbei Concil, Paris, 1671. t. 1. col. 1430. A.D. 314.
[b] Provinciarum Britanniarum episcopis, inter alios, Librum 'De Synodis' nuncupavit S. Hilarius A.D. 358. Hilarii opp. Paris, 1693, col. 1149.
[c] Hieronymi adversus Jovinianum, lib. II. Ed. Paris. 1706, t. IV. p. 2. col. 201. Cir. A.D. 393.
[d] Epist. XXXV. ad Heliodorum, ib. col. 267. A.D. 396.
[e] Epist. XLIII. ad Ctesiphontem, col. 481. Cir. A.D. 415.
[f] Epist. XLIV. Paulæ, col. 551. Post A.D. 388.
[g] Epist. XLIX. ad Paulinum, col. 564. Cir. A.D. 395.
[h] Epist. LXXXII. ad Oceanum, col. 648. A.D. 400.
[i] Epist. LXXXIV. ad Oceanum, col. 662. A.D. 400.
[k] Epist. CI. ad Evangelum, col. 803. Temp. incert.
[l] Quæstionum in Genesim lib. t. II. col. 515.
[m] Prolog. in prim. lib. commentarior. in Hieremiam. t. III. col. 527. cir. A.D. 416.
[n] Cælestius?
[o] Prol. in lib. III.[m] ibid. col. 586.
[p] Pelagius?
[q] Sulpitii Severi Sacræ Historiæ lib. II. c. 55. Ed. Hornii, Amstelod. 1665.
Floruit Sulpitius Severus A.D. 400.
[r] A.D. 360.

Digitized by Google

Gavidium episcopum nostrum, quasi obtrectantem, referre solitum audivi: sed longe aliter senserim, laudique attribuo episcopis, tam pauperes fuisse, ut nihil proprium haberent, neque ab aliis potius, quam fisco, sumerent, ubi neminem gravabant, ita in * utriusque egregium exemplum.

[a] Jam rumor incesserat Clementem Maximum intra Britannias sumpsisse imperium, ac brevi in Gallias irrupturum. Ita Ithacius statuit, licet rebus dubiis, novi imperatoris adventum expectare: interim sibi nihil agitandum. Igitur ubi Maximus oppidum Treverorum victor ingressus est, ingerit preces plenas in Priscilianum ac socios ejus invidiæ atque criminum.... At tum per Maximum accusator opponitur Patricius quidam, fisci patronus. Ita eo insistente, Priscillianus capitis damnatus est, unaque cum eo Felicissimus et Armenius, qui nuper a catholicis, clerici Priscilianum secuti, desciverant. Latronianus quoque et Euchrocia gladio perempti. Instantius, quem superius ab episcopis damnatum diximus, in Sylinam insulam, quæ ultra Britanniam sita est, deportatus. Itum deinde in reliquos sequentibus judiciis, damnatique Asarinus et Aurelius diaconus gladio. Tiberianus ademptis bonis in Sylinam insulam datus.

EX OROSIO.[b]

Dominus Christus summo præmio fidei dignum judicat, si quis hæc filium Dei posse crediderit, et Britannicus [c] noster, mox ut voluerit, se posse confidit?

EX C. RUTILIO NUMATIANO.[d]

Victorinus enim, nostræ pars maxima mentis,
  Congressu explevit mutua vota suo.
Errantem Tuscis considere compulit agris,
  Et colere externos capta Tolosa lares.
Nec tantum duris nituit sapientia rebus,
  Pectore non alio prosperiora tulit.
Conscius Oceanus virtutum, conscia Thule,
  Et quicumque ferox arva Britannus arat.
Qua præfectorum vicibus frenata potestas
  Perpetuum magni fœnus amoris habet.
Extremum pars illa quidem discessit in orbem,
  Sed tamquam medio rector in orbe fuit.
Plus palmæ est, illos inter voluisse placere,
  Inter quos minor est displicuisse pudor.
Illustris nuper sacræ comes additus aulæ,
  Contempsit summos ruris amore gradus.

EX THEODORETO.[e]

[f] Ὕστερον μέντοι καὶ τῆς Ἰταλίας ἐπέβη [ὁ Παῦλος] καὶ εἰς τὰς Σπανίας ἀφίκετο, καὶ ταῖς ἐν τῷ πελάγει διακειμέναις νήσοις τὴν ὠφέλειαν προσήνεγκε.

[f] Καὶ οὐ μόνον Ῥωμαίους, καὶ τοὺς ὑπὸ τούτοις τελοῦντας, ἀλλὰ καὶ τὰ Σκυθικὰ, καὶ τὰ Σαυρομαϊκὰ ἔθνη, καὶ Ἰνδοὺς ... καὶ Βρεττανοὺς, καὶ Κίμβρους, καὶ Γερμανοὺς, καὶ ἁπαξαπλῶς πᾶν ἔθνος καὶ γένος ἀνθρώπων, δέξασθαι τοῦ σταυρωθέντος τοὺς νόμους ἀνέπεισαν [οἱ μαθήται].

[g] Ἀφίκοντο δὲ [h] πολλοὶ τὰς τῆς ἑσπέρας οἰκοῦντες ἐσχατιὰς, Σπάνοι τε καὶ Βρεττανοὶ, καὶ Γαλάται, οἱ τὸ μέσον τούτων κατέχοντες.

EX GENNADIO.[i]

Fastidius, Britanniarum episcopus, scripsit ad Fatalem quendam de vita Christiana librum unum, et alium de viduitate servanda, sana et Deo digna doctrina.

[k] Pelagius [l] Britto heresiarches, antequam proderetur hæreticus, scripsit studiosis tres necessarios de Fide Trinitatis libros et pro actuali conversatione Eulogiarum ex divinis Scripturis librum unum capitulorum indiciis in modum S. Cypriani Martyris præsignatum. Postquam hæreticus publicatus est, scripsit hæresi suæ faventia.

EX C. S. APOLLINARI SIDONIO.[m]

Non terras dixisse sat est: fulgentibus armis
Tot maria intravi[n], duce te[o], longeque remotas
Sole sub occiduo gentes. Victricia [p] Cæsar
Signa Caledonios transvexit adusque Britannos.
Fuderit et quanquam Scotum, et cum Saxone Pictum,
Hostes quæsivit, quem jam natura vetabat
Quærere plus homines...

[q] Quin et Aremoricus piratam Saxona tractus
Sperabat, cui pelle salum sulcare Britannum
Ludus, et assuto glaucum mare findere lembo.

[r] Interea [s] legati provinciæ Galliæ,... prævium
Arvandum publico nomine accusaturi cum gestis

THEODORET.[e]

And afterwards truly he [Paul] arrived in Italy, and proceeded to Spain, and extended his aid to the islands which are situated in the sea.

[f] And they [the disciples] have persuaded not only the Romans, and those subjected to their controul, but also the Scythian and Sauromatian nations, the Indians... and Britons, the Cimbri and Germans, and, to speak summarily, every nation and tribe of men, to receive the precepts of Him who was crucified.

[g] And there came [h] many who dwelt in the farthest districts of the west, both Spaniards and Britons, the Gauls also who occupy the space between them.

[a] Lib. II. c. 64, 65. A.D. 387.
[b] P. Orosii libro de Arbitrii libertate. Ed. Lugd. Batav. 1738, p. 599. v. sup. p. lxxix.
[c] Pelagius.
[d] Claudii Rutilii Numatiani Itin. lib. I. v. 493. Ed. Burman. Leydæ, 1731.
Floruit C. Rutilius A.D. 420.
[e] Theodoreti Comment. in Psalm. CXVI. Opp. Paris. 1642, t. I. p. 871.
Floruit Theodoretus A.D. 430.
[f] Sermone IX., de legibus, ib. t. IV. p. 610.
[g] Religiosa Historia, cap. XXXVI. De Symeone Stylita. ibid. t. III. p. 881.
[h] Ad Symeonem, nempe, apud Telanissum haud longe ab Antiochia, ubi supra Columnam stabat.
[i] Gennadii Massiliensis Illustrium Virorum Catalogo. Ap. Hieronymi Opp. Paris. 1706, t. 5. col. 39.
Floruit Gennadius A.D. 458.
[k] Claruit Pelagius A.D. 405.
[l] MS. Corb. add.
[m] C.S. Apollinaris Sidonii Panegyrici Carm. VII. Avito Augusto socero A.D. 455 dicti, v. 86. Ed. Sirmondi, Paris. 1652.
Floruit Sidonius A.D. 470.
[n] Roma, sc.
[o] Jupiter.
[p] Julius.
[q] V. 359.
[r] Epistolar. lib. I. ep. 7. ubi sup.
[s] A.D. 469.

Digitized by Google

decretalibus insequuntur. Qui inter cætera quæ sibi provinciales agenda mandaverant, interceptas literas deferebant, quas Arvandi scriba correptus dominum dictasse profitebatur. Hæc ad regem[a] Gothorum charta videbatur emitti, pacem cum Græco imperatore[b] dissuadens, Britannos super Ligerim sitos impugnari oportere demonstrans, cum Burgundionibus jure gentium Gallias dividi debere confirmans.

EX DOROTHÆO.[c]

Σίμων δὲ ὁ Ζηλώτης πᾶσαν τὴν Μαθριτανίαν, καὶ τὴν Ἄφρων χώραν διελθὼν καὶ κηρύξας τὸν Χριστὸν, ὕστερον δὲ ἐν Βρετλανίᾳ σταυρωθεὶς ὑπ' αὐτῶν, καὶ τελειωθεὶς θάπτεται ἐκεῖ.

EX CODICE THEODOSIANO.[d]

Idem A. [Constantinus] ad Pacatianum Vicarium Britanniarum.

Unusquisque decurio pro ea portione conveniatur, in qua vel ipse, vel colonus, vel tributarius ejus convenitur, et colligit, neque omnino pro alio decurione, vel territorio conveniatur: id enim prohibitum esse manifestum est, et observandum deinceps; quo juxta hanc nostram provisionem, nullus pro alio patiatur injuriam. Dat. XII. Kal. Decemb. Constantino A. et Licinio C. Cons.[e]

EX CODICE JUSTINIANO.[f]

Impp. Severus et Antoninus AA. Cæciliæ.

Etiam per alienum servum bona fide possessum, ex re ejus qui eum possidet, vel ex operis servi acquiri dominium, vel obligationem placuit. Quare si tu quoque bona fide possedisti eundem servum, et ex nummis tuis mancipia eo tempore comparavit: potes secundum juris formam uti defensionibus tuis. Mancipium autem alienum mala fide possidenti nihil potest acquirere: sed qui tenet, non tantum ipsum, sed etiam operas ejus, necnon ancillarum partus, et animalium fœtus reddere cogitur. PP. III. Non. Maii, Eboraci, Faustino et Rufo Conss. III.[g]

[h] ULPIANUS. Prius autem sibi quis debet hæredem scribere, deinde filio substituere; et non convertere ordinem scripturæ; et hoc Julianus putat, prius sibi debere, deinde filio hæredem scribere: cæterum si ante filio, deinde sibi testamentum faciat, non valere. Quæ sententia rescripto imperatoris nostri ad Virium Luppum [i] Britanniæ præsidem comprobata est.

[k] IAVOLENUS. Seius Saturninus archicubernus ex classe Britannica testamento fiduciarum reliquit hæredem Valerium Maximum trierarchum: a quo petit, 'ut filio suo Seio Oceano, cum ad annos sedecim pervenisset, hæreditatem restitueret:' Seius Oceanus, antequam impleret annos, defunctus est: nunc Mallius Seneca, qui se avunculum Seii Oceani dicit, proximitatis nomine hæc bona petit: Maximus autem trierarchus sibi ea vindicat ideo, quia defunctus est is, cui restituere jussus erat.

EX PROSPERO AQUITANO.[l]

[m] Dogma quod antiqui satiatum felle Draconis,
Pestifero vomuit coluber sermone[n] Britannus,
Hac primos homines cretos ditione ferebat;
Ut seu præscriptum mandatum transgrederentur,
Sive inculpati, servata lege, manerent,
Mortem istam prorsus, qua carnem vita relinquit,
Oppeterent; quæ non peccato parta, sed ipso
Instituente Deo, comes esset fixa creatis.

[o] Vos soli ingrati quos urit gratia, cujus
Omne opus arbitrio vultis subsistere vestro:
. . . . . .
I procul, insana impietas, artesque malignas
Aufer, et auctorem comitare exclusa[n] Britannum.

[p] Unde et venerabilis memoriæ pontifex Cœlestinus, . . . sciens damnatis non examen judicii; sed solum pœnitentiæ remedium esse præstandum: Cœlestium . . . totius Italiæ finibus jussit extrudi. . . . Nec vero segniore cura ab hoc eodem morbo Britannias liberavit, quando quosdam inimicos Gratiæ solum suæ originis occupantes etiam ab illo secreto exclusit oceani, et ordinato Scotis episcopo, dum Romanam insulam studet servare Catholicam, fecit etiam barbaram Christianam.

EX JORNANDE.[q]

Habet [Oceanus] tamen et alias insulas interius in suo æstu, quæ dicuntur Baleares, habet et aliam Mevaniam: necnon et Orcadas numero 34: quamvis non omnes excultas. Habet et in ultimo plagæ occidentalis aliam insulam nomine Thylen, de qua Mantuanus "tibi serviat ultima Thyle."

[r] Germanos, Gallos, Britones, Hispanos . . . post longum servitium desciscentes, per se ipse Augustus accedens rursus servire coegit, Romanisque legibus vivere.

[s] Claudius dehinc huic [Caio] succedens, regnavit annos 13 et menses 9: fecit etiam hic Claudius expeditionem in Britanniam insulam,[t] quam jam nemo ante Julium Cæsarem neque post eum quisquam

---

DOROTHÆUS.[c]

Simon Zelotes, after having passed through the whole of Mauritania, and the region of the Africans, and preached Christ, was afterwards crucified by them in Britain, and being made perfect by martyrdom was there buried.

[a] Euricus.
[b] Anthemius. Conf. Jornandem sup. p. lxxxii.
[c] Dorothæi episcopi Synopsis Apostolorum, tit. 12. Apud Cave, Histor. Literar., I. p. 169. Oxonii, 1740.
Hæc, quæ male Dorothæo tributa sunt, sæculo sexto ineunte confecta videntur. Vide et Menolog. Græcor. die x. Maii; et Nicephorum Callistum, lib. II. c. 40.
[d] Codicis Theodosiani lib. XI. tit. 7. 2. De Exactionibus. Ed. Lipsiæ, 1736.
[e] A.D. 319.
[f] Codicis Justiniani lib. III. tit. xxxii. 1. Ed. Lugd. Batav. 1663.
[g] A.D. 211.
[h] Digest. lib. XXVIII. tit. 6. 2.
[i] Cir. A.D. 205.
[k] Lib. XXXVI. tit. I. 46. A.D. cir. 140.
[l] De Ingratis. v. 1. Ed. Paris, 1711. col. 115.
[m] Floruit Prosper A.D. 455. v. sup. p. lxxxii.
[n] Pelagius.
[o] Versib. 685,6; 692,3, v. et infra p. 116.
[p] Contra Collatorem, c. XXI. ubi sup. col. 363.
[q] Jornandis de Rebus Geticis. Apud Muratori Rer. Italic. Script. t. I. c. 1.
[r] Jornandis de regnorum successione, apud eandem, tom. I. p. 234 E.
[s] p. 235. A.D. 41.
[t] A.D. 43.

Digitized by Google

adire ausus fuerat, exercitum duxit, ibique sine ullo prælio ac sanguine, intra paucissimos dies, plurimam insulæ partem in deditionem recepit. Orcadas autem insulas intra Britanniam in Oceano positas, Romano adjecit imperio; ac sexto quo profectus erat mense Romam repedavit, ibique defunctus est annorum 64.

[a] Britannicum bellum exortum, unde Severus mirabiliter triumphavit.

[b] Quo tempore [Diocletiani] Carausius sumpta purpura Britannias occupaverat.

[c] Quo [Valentiniano] tunc regnante, alter Valentinianus in Britannia tyrannidem assumens, in continenti oppressus est.

EX VENANTIO HONORIO FORTUNATO.[d]

Mensibus hybernis dum Bosphorus alligat undas,
Et liquidos campos vetat imber arare carinis,
Oceanusque negat commercia ferre Britannis:

[e] Transit[f] et Oceanum, vel qua facit insula portum,
Quasque Britannus habet terras atque ultima Thyle.

[g] Egregium Albanum fœcunda Britannia profert.

[h] Inclytus ille quibus vere amplus Hilarius oris
Et satus et situs ac ore tonante loquax.
Thrax, Italus, Scytha, Persa, Indus, Geta, Daca, Britannus,
Hujus in eloquio spem bibit, arma capit.
Sol radio, hic verbo generalia lumina fudit,
Montibus ille diem, mentibus iste fidem.

[i] Ne ruat armatus per Gallica rura rebellis,
Nomine victoris hic es, et ampla regis.
Quem Geta, Wasco tremunt, Danus, Scytha, Saxo, [k] Britannus,
Cum patre quos pridem te domitasse patet.

[l] Qui modo de Gallis totum mire occupat orbem,
Et virtus pergit quo pede nemo valet.
Qui velut alta pharus lumen pertendit ad Indos,
Quem Hispanus, Morus, Persa, Britannus amat.
Hunc oriens, occasus habet, hunc Africa, et Arctos,
Martini decus est quæ loca mundus habet.

EX GREGORIO EPISCOPO TURONENSI.[m]

Maximus vero cum per tyrannidem oppressis Britannis sumsisset victoriam a militibus Imperator creatus est. In urbe Treverica sedem instituens, Gratianum Imperatorem circumventum dolis interfecit. Ad hunc Maximum beatus Martinus jam episcopus venit. In loco ergo Gratiani Theodosius ille, qui totam spem in Deum posuerat, totum suscipit imperium. Qui deinceps divinis affatibus fretus, Maximum spoliatum imperio interfecit.

EX ISIDORO HISPALENSI.[n]

Britones quidam Latine nominatos suspicantur; eo quod bruti sint, gens inter oceanum interfuso mari quasi extra orbem posita: de quibus Virgilius: 'Toto divisos orbe Britannos.'

Scoti propria lingua nomen habent a picto corpore, eo quod aculeis ferreis cum atramento variarum figurarum stigmate annotentur.

[o] Britannia[p] oceani insula interfuso mari toto orbe divisa, a vocabulo suæ gentis cognominata. Hæc adversa Galliarum parte ad prospectum Hispaniæ sita est: circuitus ejus quadragies octies septuaginta quinque milia: multa et magna flumina in ea, fontes calidi, metallorum larga et varia copia. Gagates lapis ibi plurimus et margaritæ.

Thanatos insula oceani freto Gallico a Britannia est, varia, tenuis, separata, frumentariis campis et gleba uberi. Dicta autem Thanatos, a morte serpentum, quos dum ipsa nesciat, asportata inde terra quoquo gentium vecta sit, angues ilico perimit.

Thyle ultima insula oceani inter septentrionalem et occidentalem plagam ultra Britanniam, a sole nomen habens, quia in ea æstivum solstitium sol facit, et nullus ultra eam dies est: unde et pigrum et concretum est ejus mare.

Orchades insulæ oceani ultra Britanniam positæ numero[q] octoginta tres, quarum[r] duodecim desertæ sunt, tredecim coluntur.

Scotia eadem et Ibernia, proxima Britanniæ insula, spacio terrarum angustior, sed situ fœcundior; hæc ab Africo in boream porrigitur, cujus partes priores Iberiam et Cantabricum oceanum intendunt. Unde et Ibernia dicta. Scotia autem quod ab Scotorum gentibus colitur appellata. Illic nullus anguis, avis rara, apis nulla: adeo ut advectos inde pulveres seu lapillos si quis alibi sparserit inter alvearia, examina favos deserant.

EX MENOLOGIIS GRÆCORUM.[s]

Ἀριστόβουλος ὁ θεῖος Ἀπόστολος τοῦ Χριστοῦ, ὑπῆρχε μὲν ἐκ τῶν ἑβδομήκοντα μαθητῶν . . . Ἐπεί δὲ [ὁ Παῦλος] εἰς πᾶσαν χώραν χειροτόνων ἀπέστελλεν ἐπισκόπους . . . Χειροτονήσας καὶ

THE GREEK MENOLOGY.[p]

Aristobulus the divine apostle of Christ was one of the Seventy Disciples . . . But when he [Paul] ordained bishops to every district . . . having ordained him [Aristobulus] also, he sent him to the country of the Britons, who were destitute of the faith, wild and savage men. Nevertheless he went and preached Christ, and although he was sometimes beaten, at others

[a] p. 236 E. A.D. 208. [b] p. 237 D. A.D. 286.
[c] p. 237 E. A.D. 369.
[d] Venantii Honorii Fortunati Vit. S. Martin. lib. III. carm. v. 24. Apud Maittaire, t. II. p. 1705.
Floruit Venantius A.D. 580.
[e] Ibid. vers. 493. [f] Paulus Apostolus.
[g] Poematum. lib. VII. carm. III. De Senatu curiæ cœlestis et virtute virgin. 155.
[h] Lib. V. carm. VI. 216.
[i] Lib. VIII. carm. 1. De Chilperico, v. 71.
[k] Vox hæc Britanniam Minorem respicere videtur.
[l] Lib. IX. carm. XX. 5. De Sancto Martino.
[m] Sancti Georgii Florentii Gregorii Episcopi Turonensis Historiæ Ecclesiasticæ Franconum. lib. i. c. XXXVIII. Edit. Paris. 1694. Obiit Gregorius A.D. 595.
[n] Isidori Hispalensis Originum lib. IX. c. 2. Ed. Du Breul, Paris. 1601.
Floruit Isidorus A.D. 600.
[o] Lib. XIV. c. 6. [p] Conf. sup. pp. IX. XIX.
[q] al. XXX. [r] al. XX.
[s] Menologii Græcorum, die XVI. Martii. Ed. Urbini, 1727.

Digitized by Google

αὐτὸν [Ἀριστόβουλον] ἔπεμψεν εἰς τὴν χώραν τῶν Βρετανῶν, ἀπίστων ὑπαρχόντων, καὶ ἀγρίων, καὶ ὠμῶν ἀνθρώπων. Ἀλλ ὅμως ἀπελθὼν καὶ τὸν Χριστὸν κηρύττων, καὶ ποτέ μὲν τυπλόμενος, πότε δὲ καὶ κατὰ τὰς ῥύμας συρόμενος, ἄλλοτε δὲ χλευαζόμενος, πολλοὺς ἔπεισε προσελθεῖν τῷ Χριστῷ καὶ βαπλισθῆναι. ὅθεν καὶ ἐκκλησίαν συσλησάμενος, καὶ πρεσβυτέρους, καὶ διακόνους ἐν αὐτῇ καταστήσας, ἐτελειώθη.

[a] Ἔπειτα [ὁ Πέτρος] . . . εἰς Βρετλανίαν παραγίνεται. Ἔνθα δὴ χειροτριβήσας, καὶ πολλὰ τῶν ἀκατονομάτων ἐθνῶν εἰς τὴν τοῦ Χριστοῦ πίστιν ἐπισπασάμενος ἀγλελικὴν ὀπτασίαν κατεῖδε . . . Δοξάσας οὖν καὶ εὐχαρισλήσας ἐπὶ τούτῳ τὸν Θεὸν, ἐπιμείνας τε τοῖς ἐν Βρετλανίᾳ ἡμέρας τινὰς, καὶ πολλοὺς τῷ λόγῳ φωτίσας τῆς χάριτος, Ἐκκλησίας τε συστησάμενος, Ἐπισκόπους τε καὶ Πρεσβυτέρους καὶ Διακόνους χειροτονήσας, δωδεκάτῳ ἔτει τοῦ Καίσαρος, αὖθις εἰς Ῥώμην παραγίνεται.

EX CEDRENO.[b]

Ἐν Βρετλανίᾳ δὲ πλεῖστοι ἄνδρες μιᾷ συγκαθεύδουσι γυναικὶ, καὶ πολλαὶ γυναῖκες ἑνὶ ἑταιρίζονται ἀνδρί.

EX TZETZE.[c]

Ὅτι καὶ ἀδωροτατος, νῦν ἐξ ἑνός μοι μάθε.
Φήμη τούτου διέτρεχε καὶ μέχρι Βρετλανίας.
Οἱ βασιλεις δὲ Βρετλανῶν ποθοῦντες θέσθαι φίλον,
Πρέσβεις πρὸς τοῦτον ἔστειλαν καὶ κιβωτοὺς χρυσίων.
Οἱ πρέσβεις ἀγνοῦντες δὲ ποῖός ἐστιν ὁ Κάτων,
Ὑπομιμνήσκοντά τινα ζητοῦντες εὑρηκέναι,
Εὗρον αὐτὸν αὐτόχειρα ἕψοντα γογλυλίδας.
Μάγειρον δὲ νομίσαντες ἐκεῖνον πεφυκέναι
Ἠξίουν πρός τινα εἰπεῖν, Κάτωνι ὑπομνῆσαι,
Πρέσβεις ἐλθεῖν ἐκ Βρετλανῶν, ἰδεῖν ποθοῦντας τοῦτον.
Εἰ θέλετε δὲ Κάτωνα, ἐγώ εἰμι, εἰπόνλος,
Πρῶτον ἐδόκουν παίζονλα τοῦτο δοκοῦνλες λέγειν.
Μαθόντες δ' εἶναι Κάτωνα, τιμήσανλες ὡς δέον,
Λέγουσι, Κάτων στρατηγὲ Ῥωμαίων Αἰνειάδων,
Τῶν Βρετλανῶν οἱ βασιλεῖς σὲ φίλον σχεῖν ποθοῦντες
Τὰ τοῦ χρυσίου ἔστειλαν κιβώτια ταυτί σοι.
Ὁ δὲ, δοῦλον ἢ φίλον με, φησί, ποθοῦσιν ἔχειν;
Εἰπόντων δὲ τῶν πρέσβεων, φίλον· ὁ Κάτων εἶπεν·
Ἄπιτε πάλιν ἄγοντες ἐκείνοις τὸ χρυσίον.
Ἡ γὰρ δουλεία ὠνητὸν χρημάτων, οὐ φιλία.
Ἐγὼ δὲ φίλος ἀκραιφνὴς τούτοις καὶ δίχα δώρων.
Ἄλλως τε πρέσβεις Βρετλανῶν, εἰ στρατηγὸς τελεῖ τις,
Καὶ αὐτουργεῖ τὰ πρὸς τροφήν, ἀρκεῖται δὲ γογγύλαις,
Οἴεσθε τοῦτον δέεσθαι χρημάτων καὶ πραγμάτων;
Τοιαῦτα τὰ τοῦ Κάτωνος, οἷα τὰ νῦν εἰρήκειν.

EX NICEPHORO.[d]

[e] Οὐαλεντινιανὸς δὲ . . . ἐπὶ μὲν τοι τὴν δίαιταν, πολλῇ τῇ ἀδιαφορίᾳ ἐχρῆτο· συχνῶς γὰρ γόησιν ὁμιλῶν, φαρμακείαις ἔχαιρε. καὶ δηθ' ὑπὸ τοιούτων καὶ ἑτέρων παθῶν ὀχλούμενος, οὐ μόνον Βρετλανίαν Ἰσπανίαν τε ἅμα καὶ Γαλλίας τῆς ἀρχῆς πρὸ βραχέος ἀφαιρεθείσας ἀνασώσασθαι ἴσχυσεν.

ADDENDA.[f]

EX DIODORO SICULO.

Εἰσὶ δὲ παρ' αὐλοῖς [Γαλαταῖς] καὶ ποιηταὶ μελῶν, οὓς βάρδους ονομάζουσιν· οὗτοι δὲ μετ' ὀργάνων ταῖς λύραις ὁμοίων ᾄδονλες οὓς μὲν ὑμνοῦσιν, οὓς δὲ βλασφημοῦσι. φιλόσοφοί τε τινές εἰσι καὶ θεολόγοι περιτλῶς τιμώμενοι, οὓς δρουίδας ὀνομάζουσι. χρῶνλαι δὲ καὶ μάνλεσιν, ἀποδοχῆς μεγάλης ἀξιοῦντες αὐτούς· οὗλοι δὲ διά τε τῆς οἰωνοσκοπίας καὶ διὰ τῆς τῶν ἱερείων θυσίας τὰ μέλλοντα

[a] Die xxix. Junii. Apud Acta Sanctor. ex MS. Cod.
[b] Georgii Cedreni Historiar. Compend., p. 154. Ed. Paris. 1647.
Floruit Cedrenus cir. A.D. 1100.
[c] Tzetzis Hist. Var. Chil. x. De Catone. Ed. Kiesslingii, Lipsiæ, 1826.
Claruit Tzetzes A.D. 1180.

dragged through the streets and at others made a laughing-stock, yet he persuaded many to come to Christ, and to be baptized. Whence having erected a church, and ordained elders and deacons therein, he ended his days.

[a] Then Peter . . . goes to Britain. Here making a long stay, and turning many of the nameless nations there to the faith of Christ, he beheld an angelic vision; . . . . and having glorified and given thanks to God for this, and remained certain days in Britain, and enlightened many with the word of grace, erected churches and appointed bishops, priests, and deacons; in the twelfth year of Cæsar [Nero] he again returned to Rome.

CEDRENUS.[b]

In Brettania many men sleep with one woman, and many women consort with the same man.

TZETZES.[c]

That Cato was not to be lured by gifts
Learn from the instance which I here relate.
His fame had reached e'en to Britannia's isle,
And British kings, desirous of his friendship,
To him send messengers, with chests of gold.
The legates, ignorant of Cato's person,
While seeking haply who might teach them, found
The man himself, the very man I say,
Dressing his turnips with his proper hands.
Supposing him a cook, they bid him tell
That some should signify to Cato's self
That legates from the Britons fain would greet him:
'If ye seek Cato, I'm the man,' quoth he.
At first they deem'd that jeeringly he spake:
But learning he was Cato; as was fit,
They say with reverence due: 'Oh Cato, chief
Of Romans sprung from great Æneas' line,
The British kings, desirous of thy friendship,
Have sent thee chests of gold, a present meet.'
'But do they seek me for their slave, or friend?'
'A friend,' replied the train. Then Cato said:
'Quickly begone, and straight restore their gold,
For slav'ry is its price, not friendship pure;
I am their genuine friend, not bought by gifts.
And say, ye British legates, can a chief
Who lives like me, whom turnips can suffice
By mine own hand prepar'd, say can ye think
That I want gold, or e'en what gold can buy?'
Such, as I now have said, were Cato's words.

NICEPHORUS.[d]

But [e] Valentinian . . . as to his daily mode of life was extremely negligent, for he was constantly having intercourse with sorcerers and delighted in witchcraft, and being engaged moreover in such and other silly practices, not only Britain and Spain, but even Gaul being shortly taken from his authority, he was unable to recover them.

DIODORUS SICULUS.[g]

And there are among them [the Gauls] composers of verses whom they call Bards; these, singing to instruments similar to lyres, applaud some while they vituperate others. There are also certain philosophers and priests surpassingly esteemed, whom they call Druids. They have also Soothsayers, who are held in high estimation; and these, by auguries

[d] Nicephori Callisti Hist. Eccles. lib. xiv. c. 56. Ed. Paris, 1630. Floruit Nicephorus A.D. 1333.
[e] A.D. 424-455.
[f] Cum Druidarum disciplina, teste Julio Cæsare, in Britannia reperta sit, hæc, quamvis apud auctores suos ad solos Gallos respiciant, subnectere visum est.
[g] Hist. lib. v. c. 31. v. sup. p. i.

Digitized by Google

προλέγουσι, καὶ πᾶν τὸ πλῆθος ἔχουσιν ὑπήκοον. μάλισθα δ' ὅταν περί τινων μεγάλων ἐπισκέπτωνται παράδοξον καὶ ἄπιστον ἔχουσι νόμιμον· ἄνθρωπον γὰρ κατασπείσαντες τύπθουσι μαχαίρᾳ κατὰ τὸν ὑπὲρ τὸ διαφράγμα τόπον, καὶ πεσόνθος τοῦ πληγέντος ἐκ τῆς πλώσεως καὶ τοῦ σπαραγμοῦ τῶν μελῶν ἔτι δὲ τῆς τοῦ αἵματος ῥύσεως, τὸ μέλλον νοοῦσι, παλαῖᾳ τινι καὶ πολυχρονίῳ παρατηρήσει περὶ τούτων πεπισθευκότες. ἔθος δ' αὐθοῖς ἐστι μηδένα θυσίαν ποιεῖν ἄνευ φιλοσόφου· διὰ γὰρ τῶν ἐμπείρων τῆς θείας φύσεως ὥσπερεί τινων ὁμοφώνων τὰ χαρισθήρια τοῖς θεοῖς φασὶ δεῖν προσφέρειν, καὶ διὰ τούτων οἴονθαι δεῖν τἀγαθὰ αἰτεῖσθαι. οὐ μόνον δ' ἐν ταῖς εἰρηνικαῖς χρείαις, ἀλλὰ καὶ κατὰ τοὺς πολέμους τούτοις μάλιστα πείθονται, καὶ τοῖς μελῳδοῦσι ποιηταῖς, οὐ μόνον οἱ φίλοι ἀλλὰ καὶ οἱ πολέμιοι· πολλάκις δ' ἐν ταῖς παρατάξεσι πλησιαζόνθων ἀλλήλοις τῶν στρατοπέδων καὶ τοῖς ξίφεσιν ἀνατεταμένοις καὶ ταῖς λόγχαις προβεβλημέναις, εἰς τὸ μέσον οὗτοι προελθόντες παύουσιν αὐτοὺς, ὥσπερ τινὰ θηρία κατεπάσανθες . . .

EX STRABONE.[a]

Παρ' ἅπασι δὲ [Γαλαῖαις] ὡς ἐπίπαν τρία φῦλα τῶν τιμωμένων διαφερόντως ἐστὶ, Βάρδοι τε, καὶ Οὐάτεις, καὶ Δρυῖδαι. Βάρδοι μὲν ὑμνηταὶ καὶ ποιηταὶ· Οὐάτεις δὲ ἱεροποιοὶ καὶ φυσιολόγοι· Δρυῖδαι δὲ πρὸς τῇ φυσιολογίᾳ, καὶ τὴν ἠθικὴν φιλοσοφίαν ἀσκοῦσι· δικαιότατοι δὲ νομίζονται, καὶ διὰ τοῦτο πιστεύονθαι τάς τε ἰδιωτικὰς κρίσεις καὶ τὰς κοινὰς· ὥστε καὶ πολέμους διήτων πρότερον καὶ παρατάθεσθαι μέλλονθας ἔπαυον· τὰς δὲ φονικὰς δίκας μάλιστα τούτοις ἐπετέτραπτο δικάζειν· ὅταν τε φορὰ τούτων ᾖ, φορὰν καὶ τῆς χώρας νομίζουσιν ὑπάρχειν. ἀφθάρτους δὲ λέγουσι καὶ οὗτοι, καὶ ἄλλοι, τὰς ψυχὰς καὶ τὸν κόσμον· ἐπικρατήσειν δὲ ποτε καὶ πῦρ καὶ ὕδωρ. τῷ δ' ἁπλῷ καὶ θυμικῷ πολὺ τὸ ἀνόητον καὶ ἀλαζονικὸν πρόσεστι, καὶ τὸ φιλόκοσμον· χρυσοφορεῖσί τε γὰρ περὶ μὲν τοῖς τραχήλοις στρεπτὰ ἔχονθες· περὶ δὲ τοῖς βραχίοσι καὶ τοῖς καρποῖς ψέλια, καὶ τὰς ἐσθῆτας βαπτὰς φοροῦσι, καὶ χρυσοπάστους οἱ ἐν ἀξιώματι· . . .

[b] Ἄνθρωπον γαρ κατεσπεισμένον παίσαντες εἰς νῶτον μαχαίρᾳ, ἐμαντεύονθο ἐκ τοῦ σφαδασμοῦ· ἔθυον δὲ οὐκ ἄνευ Δρυϊδῶν. καὶ ἄλλα δὲ ἀνθρωποθυσιῶν εἴδη λέγεται· καὶ γὰρ κατετόξευόν τινας, καὶ ἀνεσταύρουν ἐν τοῖς ἱεροῖς· καὶ κατασκευάσανθες κολοσσὸν χόρτου, καὶ ξύλον ἐμβαλόντες εἰς τοῦτον, θοσκήματα, καὶ παντοῖα θηρία καὶ ἀνθρώπους, ὁλοκαυθοῦν.

EX POMPONIO MELA.[c]

Habent tamen [Galli] et facundiam suam, magistrosque sapientiæ Druidas. Hi terræ mundique magnitudinem et formam, motus cœli ac siderum, ac quid dii velint, scire profitentur. Docent multa nobilissimos gentis clam et diu vicenis annis in specu, aut in abditis saltibus. Unum ex iis, quæ præcipiunt, in vulgus effluxit, videlicet ut forent ad bella meliores, æternas esse animas, vitamque alteram ad manes. Itaque cum mortuis cremant ac defodiunt apta viventibus olim. Negotiorum ratio etiam et exactio crediti deferebatur ad inferos: erantque qui se in rogos suorum, velut una victuri, libenter immitterent.

EX CAIO PLINIO SECUNDO.[d]

Non est omittenda in ea re et Galliarum admiratio. Nihil habent Druides, ita suos appellant magos, visco, et arbore, in qua gignatur, si modo sit robur, sacratius. Jam per se roborum eligunt lucos, nec ulla sacra sine ea fronde conficiunt, ut inde appellati quoque interpretatione Græca possint Druides videri. Enimvero quidquid adnascatur illis, e cœlo missum putant, signumque esse electæ ab ipso Deo arboris. Est autem id rarum admodum inventu, et repertum magna religione petitur: et ante omnia sexta luna, quæ principia mensium annorumque his facit, et sæculi post tricesimum annum, quia jam virium abunde habeat, nec sit sui dimidia. Omnia sanantem appellantes suo vocabulo, sacrificiis epulisque rite sub arbore præparatis, duos admovent candidi coloris tauros, quorum cornua tunc primum vinciantur. Sacerdos candida veste cultus arborem scandit: falce aurea demetit: candido id excipitur sago. Tum deinde victimas immolant, precantes ut suum donum Deus prosperum faciat his quibus dederit. Fecunditatem eo poto dari cuicumque animalium sterili arbitrantur: contra venena omnia esse remedio. Tanta gentium in rebus frivolis plerumque religio est.

---

and the sacrifice of victims, foretell future events, and hold the commonalty in complete subjection: and more especially, when they deliberate on matters of moment, they practise a strange and incredible rite; for having devoted a man for sacrifice, they strike him with a sword on a part above the diaphragm: the victim having fallen, they augur from his mode of falling, the contortion of his limbs, and the flowing of the blood, what may come to pass; giving credence concerning such things to an ancient and long-standing observance. They have a custom of performing no sacrifice unattended by a philosopher. For they say that thanksgiving should be offered to the gods by men acquainted with the divine nature and using the same language, and by these they deem it necessary to ask for good things; and not only in the concerns of peace, but even of war, not friends alone, but even enemies also, chiefly defer to them and to the composers of verses. Frequently, during hostilities, when armies are approaching each other with swords drawn and lances extended, these men rushing between them put an end to their contentions, taming them as they would tame wild beasts.

STRABO.[a]

And among the whole of them [the Gauls] three classes more especially are held in distinguished veneration, the Bards, the Soothsayers, and the Druids. The Bards are chaunters and poets. The Soothsayers are sacrificers and physiologists. The Druids, in addition to physiology, practise ethic philosophy. They are deemed to be most upright, and, in consequence, to them are committed both public and private controversies, insomuch that on some occasions they decide on battles, and stop the combatants on the eve of engaging. Matters pertaining to murder are more especially entrusted to their decision, and when profit accrues from these, they think fertility will attend the country. These and others say that souls are immortal, and that the world is so too; yet that ultimately fire and water will prevail. To their simplicity and ferocity are superadded much stupidity, vain boasting, and love of ornament. They wear gold, having collars thereof on their necks, and bracelets on their arms and wrists; and dignified persons are clad in dyed garments embroidered with gold . . .

[b] Having stricken the man destined for sacrifice on the back with a sword, they augur from the palpitation. They never sacrifice without the Druids. Other kinds of human immolation are spoken of: some victims they slay with arrows, or crucify for their offerings; and having prepared a colossus of hay, and thrown wood upon it, they burn together oxen, all sorts of wild beasts, and men.

[a] Geograph. lib. IV. p. 275. v. sup. p. iii.
[b] Lib. IV. p. 277.
[c] De Situ Orbis, lib. III. c. 2. v. sup. p. vii.
[d] Hist. Nat. lib. XVI. sect. 95. v. sup. p. viii.

Digitized by Google

[a] Similis herbæ huic Sabinæ est selago appellata. Legitur sine ferro dextra manu per tunicam, qua sinistra exuitur velut a furante, candida veste vestito, pureque lotis nudis pedibus, sacro facto, priusquam legatur, pane vinoque. Fertur in mappa nova. Hanc contra omnem perniciem habendam prodidere Druidæ Gallorum, et contra omnia oculorum vitia fumum ejus prodesse. Iidem samolum herbam nominavere nascentem in humidis ; et hanc sinistra manu legi a jejunis contra morbos suum boumque, nec respicere legentem : nec alibi, quam in canali, deponere, ibique conterere poturis.

[b] Præterea est ovorum genus in magna Galliarum fama, omissum Græcis. Angues innumeri æstate convoluti, salivis faucium corporumque spumis artifici complexu glomerantur, anguinum appellatur. Druidæ sibilis id dicunt in sublime jactari, sagoque oportere intercipi, ne tellurem attingat. Profugere raptorem equo : serpentes enim insequi, donec arceantur amnis alicujus interventu. Experimentum ejus esse, si contra aquas fluitet vel auro vinctum. Atque, ut et magorum solertia occultandis fraudibus sagax, certa luna capiendum censent, tanquam congruere operationem eam serpentium, humani sit arbitrii. Vidi equidem id ovum mali orbiculati modici magnitudine, crusta cartilaginis, velut acetabulis brachiorum polypi crebris, insigne Druidis. Ad victorias litium, ac regum aditus mire laudatur : tantæ vanitatis, ut habentem id in lite in sinu equitem Romanum e Vocontiis, a Divo Claudio Principi interemptum non ob aliud sciam.

EX C. SUETONIO TRANQUILLO.[c]

Druidarum religionem apud Gallos diræ immanitatis, et tantum civibus sub Augusto interdictam, [Claudius] penitus abolevit.

[a] Lib. XXIV. ss. 62-3.

[b] Lib. XXIX. s. 12.

[c] Lib. V. de Claudio Cæsare, c. 25. v. sup. p. xlix.

Digitized by Google

[a] EX INSCRIPTIONIBUS.

1*a*. . . . . .

[b] ΠΡΟΣ ΕΜΕ ΙΚΕΤΑΙ ΚΑΤΕΦΥΓΟΝ ΒΑΣΙΛΕΙΣ ΠΑΡΘΩΝ ΜΕΝ
ΤΕΙΡΙΔΑΤΗΣ ΚΑΙ ΜΕΤΕΠΕΙΤΑ ΦΡΑΑΤΗΣ ΒΑΣΙΛΕΩΣ
ΦΡΑ[ΑΤΟΥ ΥΙΟΣ ΜΗΔΩΝ Δ]Ε ΑΡΤΑ * * *
* * * ΒΡΕΤΑΝ]ΝΩΝ ΔΟΜ[ΝΩΝ ΒΕ]ΛΛΑΥΝΟΣ[ΤΕ]
ΚΑΙΤ[ΙΜ] . . . . . .
AD. ME. SVPPLICES. CONFVGE[RVNT]. REGES. PARTHORVM.
TIRIDA[TES. ET. POSTEA. PHRATES].
REGIS. PHRATIS. [FILIUS]. MEDORVM. ARTA * * *
REG]ES BRITANN[ORVM]. DAMNO. BELLA[VNVSQVE]. ET.
TIM * * * [CIMBR]ORVM
MAELO. MAR[C]OMANORVM. SVEBO. F * * * [AD. ME.
REX.] PARTHORVM
. . . . . .

1. [c] TI. PLAVTIO. M. F. AN SILVANO. AELIAN *
. . . .
LEGAT. ET. COMITI. CLAVDII
CAESARIS. IN. BRITANNIA.[d] . . .

2. [e] CIV * * ID *
REGI. SACERD. FLAM *
PATRIC. LEG. CAESARIS. PRO *
CLAVDI IN BRITTANNIA. . . .

3. [f] C. GAVIO. L. F
STEL. SILVANO . . .
DONIS. DONATO. A. DIVO. CLAVDIO
[d] BELLO. BRITANNICO
TORQVIBVS. ARMILLIS. PHALERIS
CORONA. AVREA. . . .

4. [g] IVL. C. F. FABIA. CAMILLO
AC. AVG. MAG. TRIB. MIL.
LEG. IIII. MACED. HAST. PVR.
ET. CORONA AVREA DONATO
AB. TI. CLAVDIO. CAESARE AVG.
GERM. CVM AB EO [d] EVOCATVS
IN BRITANNIA MILITASSET. . . .

5. [h] M. VETTIO. M. F. AN VALENTI
MIL. COH. VIII. PR. BENEF. PRAEF. PR
DONIS. DONATO. BELLO. BRITAN
TORQVIBVS. ARMILLIS. PHALERIS
. . . . .
C. LVCIO. TELESINO. C. SVETONIO. PAVLINO. [i] COS.

6. [k] IMP CAESAR DIVI. NERVAE. F. NERVA TRAJAN[VS]
AVGVSTVS GERMANIC DACICVS PONTIF MA[XI]
MVS TRIBVNIC. POTESTAT VIIII[l] IMP IIII COS V. P [P]
EQVITIBVS ET PEDITIBVS QVI MILITANT IN A
LIS DVABVS ET COHORTIBVS DECEM ET VNA QV
AE APPELLANTVR. I. TVNGRORVM ET CLASSI
ANA. C. R. ET. I. CELTIBERORVM ET X HISPANO
RVM. ET. I. LINGONVM. ET. II. FIDA VARDVLLO
[R]VM. ET. I. FRISIANONVM. ET. I. NERVIORVM
[ET.] II. VASCONVM. C. R. ET * * ORVM [ET
I. A]STVRVM. ET. [I.] PANNONI[ORVM ET *
DELM]AT[ARVM. ET SVNT] IN BRITAN[NIA SVB *
* * QVI] QVENA ET VI[CENA STIPENDIA
PLVRAVE MERVE]RVNT QVOR[VM NOMINA SVB
SCRIPTA SVNT] IPSIS LIBE[RIS POSTERISQVE
EORVM CIVITATEM DEDIT ET CO]NVBIVM [CVM
VXORIBVS QVAS TVNC HAB]VISSENT [CVM EST
CIVITAS IIS DATA AVT SI QVI CAE]LIBES ES[SENT CVM IIS QVAS POSTEA DVXISSENT DV]MTAXAT[
SINGVLIS SINGVLAS [m]
* * *

7. [n] [IMP. C]AESAR DIVI NERVAE F. NERVA. TRAJANVS
[AV]GVSTVS. GERMANICVS. DACICVS. PONTIFEX. MAX
IMVS. TRIBVNIC. POTESTAT. VII[o] IMP IIII. COS. V. P. P
[E]QVITIBVS. ET. PEDITIBVS. QVI MILITANT. IN ALIS
[Q]VATVOR ET. COHORTIBVS. DECEM. ET. VNA. QVAE. AP
PELLANTVR. I. THRACVM. ET. I. PANNONIORVM. TAM
PIANA. ET. II GALLORVM SEBOSIANA. ET. HISPA
NORVM VETTONVM.[p] C.R. ET. I HISPANORVM. ET. I.
VALCIONVM. MILLIARIA. ET. I. ALPINORVM. ET. I
MORINORVM. ET I. CVGERNORVM. ET. I. BAETASI
ORVM ET I. TVNGRORVM. MILLIARIA. ET. II. THRA
CVM. ET. III. BRACAR. AVGVSTANORVM. ET. IIII
LINGONVM. ET. IIII. DELMATARVM. ET. SVNT.
IN BRITANNIA SVB. I. NERATIO. MARCELLO.
QVI. QVINA. ET VICENA. PLVRAVE STIPENDIA
MERVERVNT. QVORVM. NOMINA. SVBSCRIPTA
SVNT IPSIS LIBERIS POSTERISQVE. EORVM. CIVITA
TEM. DEDIT ET. CONVBIVM. CVM. VXORIBVS. QVAS
TVNC. HABVISSENT. CVM. EST. CIVITAS IIS. DATA.
AVT. SI QVI. COELIBES. ESSENT. CVM. IIS QVAS
POSTEA. DVXISSENT. DVMTAXAT. SINGVLI. SIN
GVLAS A.D. XIIII. K. FEBR
M. LABERIO MAXIMO II
Q. GLITIO ATILIO. AGRICOLA II COS.[q]
ALAE. I. PANNONIORVM. TAMPIANAE. CVI PRAEST
C. VALERIVS CELSVS
DECVRIONI
REBVRRO. SEVERI. F. HISPAN
DESCRIPTVM. ET. RECOGNITVM. EX TABVLA. AENEA.
QVAE. FIXA. EST ROMAE. IN MVRO. POST. TEMPLVM [DIVI AVG]VSTI AD. MINERVAM.

Q. POMPEI	HOMERI
C. PAPI	EVSEBETIS
T. FLAVI	SECVNDI
P CAVLI	VITALIS
C VETTIENI	MODESTI
P. ATINI	HEDONICI
TI. CLAVDI	MENANDRI.

[a] In excerptis nostris asteriscus defectum, punctus prætermissionem denotat.

[b] Ex Monum. Ancyran. in quo Augusti res gestæ recensentur. Chishull, Antiquitates Asiaticæ, Lond. 1728. p. 176. Hamilton, Researches in Asia Minor, II., No. 102., I. p. 420. Archäologische Zeitung, I. pp. 17-26.

[c] In agro Tiburtino. Gruter, Inscriptiones Antiquæ, CCCCLIII. 1. Amstelæd. 1707.

[d] A.D. 43.

[e] Histonii. Gudius, Inscriptiones Antiquæ, XCIX. 3. Leovardiæ, 1731.

[f] Taurini, Grut. CCCCXVI. 1.

[g] In Helvetia, Muratori, Thesaurus Inscript. MCII. 6. Mediolan. 1739.

[h] Arimini, Grut. MCII. 4. De M. Vettio, cf. infra, 31.

[i] A.D. 66.

[k] Lysons, Reliquiæ Britannico-Romanæ, Vol. I. p. iv. Ex fragmentis tabulæ aeneæ apud Sydenham in agro Cantiano, A.D. 1806, repertis, et in Museo Britannico hodie asservatis.

[l] A.D. 105-6. [m] Vide infra n. 7. sub finem.

[n] Lysons, ubi supra. Ex tabula aenea apud Malpas in agro Cestrensi, A.D. 1812, reperta, et in Mus. Brit. hodie asservata.

[o] A.D. 104. Vide Clinton, Fasti Romani, an. 103.

[p] Civium Romanorum.

[q] Consules suffecti.

Digitized by Google

8. [a] IMP. CAESAR. D. NERVAE
TRAIANI. F. NERVAE. N .
HADRIANVS. TRAIANVS. AVG.
DACICVS. MAXIMVS. BRITAN
NICVS. MAXIMVS. GERMANICVS
MAXIMVS. PONTIFEX. MAXIMVS
TRIB. POT. IIII IMP. III. COS. III [b] . . .

8a. [c] IMP CAES
DIVI TRAIAN PARTH F DIV * [d] NEP.
TRAJAN HADRIAN. * * * [e] * B.
POT. IV. COS. III. A[f]RATIS [g] * H .

9. [b] IMP CAESAR DIVI [i] TRA * NI′ PARTHICI F DIVI NER
VAE [k] * * *′ HADRIANVS AVG PONTIF
MAXIM [l] TRIBVNVS? * *′ VIII COS III PRO COS
[m] QVI TIBE O * * T VER′ IN ALIS VI ET
COH XXI. QVAS * ′ I [n] HISPA II VR ET I [o] QV RV
* * * R * * ET [p] PETRIAN
* * * [q] HISP ET I [r] FRISIA V ET I
[o] M SALIN ET I [o] SVNVC ET I [s] VANG[x] ET I BAETASIOR
ET I [t] DELM ET I [u] AQVIT ET I [v] MENAP ET I [w] VIP TRAIANA
* VCE R CR′ E TI [x] IDAV SDRI * * CR ET I [y] SATQVE ET I [z] TVN
GR ET II [aa] LING ET II [bb] ASTVR ET II DONGON ET II [cc] NERV
ET III BRAC AVGVSTANOR ET III [dd] NE * M ET VI NERV
QVAE SVNT IN BRITANN SVB PLATORIO NEPOTE′
QVINIS ET VICEN PLVRIBVSVE STIPEND EMERITIS′ DIMISSIS
HONESTA MISSIONE QVORVM NOMINA SVBSCRIPTA SVNT
IPSIS LIBERIS POSTERISQ EORVM CIVITATEM
DEDIT ET CONVBIVM CVM VXORIBVS QVAS TVNC
HABVISSENT CVM EST CIVITAS EIS DATA [ee] VI SI
QVI [ff] SEA * R′ ESSENT CVM EIS QVAS POSTEA DVXIS SENT DVMTAXAT SINGVLI SINGVLAS
AD. XVI *
C IVLIO GALLO C VALERIO SEVERO COS [gg]
COH I SVNATOR * * * CVI PRAEEST
AVLVNTVS CLAVDIANVS
EX PEDITE
* * * ALBANI F NVCO
SCRIPTVM ET RECOGNITVM EX TABVLA
[hh] * EA′ QVAE FIXA EST ROMAE IN MVRO [ii] PA
TEMPLVM DIVI * * RO * * MINIS
[kk] VRBANI
SEVERI PARATI

10. [ll] IMP CAES TRAIAN.
[mm] HADRIANI AVG.
LEG. II AVG.
A. PLATORIO NEPOTE LEG. PR PR

10a. [nn] IMP CAES TRAIN HADRIA
NO AVG. PL?. P.

11. [oo] M. MAENIO. C. F. COR. AGRIP
PAE. ET. VSIDIO. CAMPESTRI
HOSPITI. DIVI. HADRIANI. PATRIS
SENATORIS. PRAE. COH. [pp] II. FE
BRITTON. EQVITAT. ELECTO
A DIVO. [mm] HADRIANO. ET. MISSO
IN. EXPEDITIONEM. BRITAN
NICAM. TRIB. COH. I. [qq] HISPAN
EQVITAT. . . . .
. . . . PRAEF. CLASSIS
BRITANNICAE. PROC. PROVIN
CIAE. BRITANNIAE. . .

12. [rr] * * O. M. F. CL. PRISCO *
ICINIO ITALICO. . . .
. . . . LEG. AVG.
PR. PR. PROV. BRITTANNIAE . .
. . . PRAEF. COH. IIII. LINGONUM. VEXILLO. MIL
* ONATO. A. DIVO. HADRIANO. IN EXPEDITIONE [ss] IVDAIC . . .

13. [tt] C VALERIVS C F CLAVD PANSA FLAMEN
DIVORVM VESPASIANI TRAIANI HADRIANI P P BIS
TRIB COH VIIII PR PROC AVG PROVINC BRITANNIAE . . .

14. [uu] * IP AELI
* EPTIMIANVS
RVST CVS PREF
[vv] MATERNO ET BRA
DVA. COS

15. [ww] DEO QVI VIAS
ET SEMITAS COM
MENTVS EST T. IR *
DAS. * *
Q. VARIVS. VITA
LIS * ARAM
SACRAM RESTI
TVIT
[xx] APRONIANO ET BRA
DVA COS.

16. [yy] IM. SEVERUS.
AVG. ET ANTONINVS
CAES. DESTINATVS
RESTITVERVNT. CV
RANTE [zz] VIRIO LVPO.
LEG. EORVM PR. PR.

16a. [aaa] IMPP. CAESS. L. SEP. SEVERO.
PIO. PERT. ET. M. AVR. ANTONI
NO. PIO. AVGG. ET * *
NOB. CAES.[bbb] SVB. CVRA. L.
ALFENI. SENECIONIS.
LEG. EORUM. PR. PR.[ccc]

[a] Juxta Villareium, Hispaniæ, Doni, Inscriptiones Antiquæ, II. 83. Florentiæ, 1731. Item, Hadr. Brit. Max. Tr. Pot. II, Cos. II. ib. 82.

[b] A.D. 120. Corrige, Imp. II. Cos. III.

[c] E milliario prope Leicester reperto, Nichols, Leicestershire I. pp. CLIV-VIII. 5, pl. VI. III. Archæol. VII. p. 84.

[d] Divi Nervæ Nep. [e] Aug. Pont. Max. Trib. Pot. IV. A.D. 120.

[f] Hod. Leicester. [g] M. P.

[h] Ex binis tabulis æneis apud Stannington in agro Eboracensi, A.D. 1761, repertis. Textus utrique idem est, ut videtur, collatis alterius fragmentis penes Gul. Yonge, Arm. apud Sheffield cum alterius apographo penes Soc. Ant. Londin. Vide etiam Camden, Brit. ed. Gough 1806, III. p. 263.

[i] Trajani. [k] Nepos Trajanus. [l] Tribunic. Pot. A.D. 124.

[m] Equitibus et peditibus qui militaverunt?

[n] Hispanorum Vettonum? [o] Quære. [p] Petriana

[q] Hispanorum [r] Frisianonum [s] Vangionum

[t] Delmatarum [u] Aquitanorum [v] Menapiorum

[w] Ulpia Trajana Augusta? [x] Fida Vardullorum?

[y] Quære. [z] Tungri [aa] Lingonum [bb] Asturum

[cc] Nervana, vel Nervior? [dd] Nerviorum. [ee] Aut

[ff] Cælibes? [gg] Consules suffecti [hh] Aenea [ii] v. sup. n. 7.

[kk] Tria quæ sequuntur nomina in dorso tabulæ inscripta sunt.

[ll] In castello Valli apud Milking Gap Northumb. reperta, et penes Soc. Ant. Newc. hodie asservata, Hodgson, Northumb. III. pt. II. p. 289. Idem memorant inscriptionum duorum fragmenta apud Little Chesters et Bradley reperta, Hodgson, loc. cit. et p. 200. Confer aliam apud Caervorran secundum Horsley, Britannia Romana, Northumb. LXXVII. repertam, quod tamen dubitat Hodgson, pp. 141. 289.

[mm] A.D. 117–38.

[nn] E lapide apud Housesteads Northumb. A.D. 1846 reperto.

[oo] Camerini, Gud. CLXXV. 1.

[pp] FL? Flavia, v. inf. n. 108. [qq] Vide inf. n. 92.

[rr] Apud Smetium, Fol. LXVI. 1. ed. 1548. Si Speedio fides adhibenda est, Scotiæ apud Pictorum vallum reperta, Hist. ed. 1623, p. 219. Eundem Priscum Licinium memorat inscriptio apud Beaucastle, Cumb. reperta, ut putat Horsl. Cumb. XLVI.

[ss] A.D. 133? [tt] Novarrae. Murat. CDLXXXVII. 3.

[uu] Old Carlisle, Cumberl. 94. Lysons, Magna Britannia, Vol. IV.

[vv] A.D. 185.

[ww] Brugh Hall, Yorksh. Horsley, p. 307. ex Camd. Brit.

[xx] A.D. 191. cf. 'Aproniano et Bradua' Old Carlisle, Cumb. Horsley, LVII. 'M. Apr. et Br. Cos.' infra, 61 a.

[yy] Ilkeley, Yorksh. Horsl. p. 311. Severum et Caracallam memorat inscriptio apud Hexham in agro Northumb. reperta. Hodgson, III. pt. II. pp. 231-2.

[zz] Cir. A.D. 197.

[aaa] Greta Bridge, Yorksh. Gent. Mag. LXIII. p. 1073.

[bbb] A.D. 198–211. [ccc] cf. infra, 65. 98. 102 a.

Digitized by Google

17. [a] DVI CI [b] BRIG
ET NVMM AVGG
T AVR AVRELIAN VS D D PRO SE
ET SVIS S M A G S
[c] ANTON
III ET GETA
COSS.

17*a*. [d] * * *
AES MAR
*
[e] NTON INO
* * *
CI AVG ARAB ADIAB. P.
RT MAXIM
O BRI.
MAXIMO
TRIB PP
XVI COS [e] IIII
MARTIO
IVL MARCO
LEG A.
G PP

18. [f] IMP. CAES. [g] M. AVRELIO
SEVERO. ANTONINO
PIO. FELICI. AVG. PARTHICO
MAX. BRIT. MAX. GERM.
MAX. PONTIFICI. MAXIM.
TRIB. POTEST. XVIIII. [h] IMP. II.
COS. IIII. PROCOS. P P. [i] COH. I.
FIDA. VARDVL. C. R. [k] EQ M ANTO
NIANA. FECIT. SVB. CVRA *
* * LEG. AUG. PR PR.

19. [l] IMP. CAES M AVRELIO
SEVERO ALEXANDRO PIO FEL AVG
PONT MAXIMO TRIB POT COS P P COH I AEL
HISPANORVM [k] M EQ DEVOTA NVMINI
MAIESTATIQVE EIVS BASELICAM
EQVESTREM EXERCITATORIAM
IAMPRIDEM A SOLO COEPTAM
AEDIFICAVIT CONSVMMAVITQVE
SVB CVRA MARI VALERIANI LEG
AVG PR PR INSTANTE M AVRELIO
SALVIO TRIB. COH. IMP. D. N
SEVERO ALEXANDRO PIO FEL
AVG [m] COS

19*a*. [n] IMP. CAES M AVR SEVE
RVS ALEXANDER. [o] P F E
AVG HORREVM VETV
STATE CONLAPSVM [p] M
COH II ASTVRVM S. A
A SOLO RESTITVERVNT
PROVINCIA REGN * * *
MAXIMO LEG * * *
AL MARTI
IVS

20. [q] EXEMPLVM EPISTOLAE CLAVD
PAVLINI LEG AVG PR PR PROV
BRITANNIAE AD SENNIVM SOL
LEMNEM GRATIAM PROFITENTIS
LICET PLVRA MERENTI TIBI EX
ME PAVCA TAMEN QVONIAM
HONORIS CAVSA OFFERVNTVR
VELIM ACCIPIAS LIBENTER
CHLAMIDEM CARBASINAM
DALMATICAM SERDICENAM [r]
FIBVLAM AVREAM CVM GEMMIS
LACERNAS DVAS [s] TOSSIAM BRIT
PELLEM VITVLI MARINI SEMESTRIS
ALTERAM EPISTOLAM TIBI PROPEDIEM
CVM VACARE COEPERO MITTAM
CVIVS MILITIAE SALARIVM DE
IIS XXV N IN AVRO SUSCIPE
DIIS FAVENTIBUS ET MAIESTATE
SANCTA IMP DEINCEPS PRO
MERITIS AFFECTIONIS MAGIS
DIGNA CONSECVTVRVS CONCORDIAE * *
. . . . . .
[t] MILITIAE CONSUMMATA PERITIA E CIVITATE
VIDVCASSIVM ORIVNDVS ISTE SOLLEMNIS
AMICVS BENEMERITVS CLAVDII PAVLINI
LEG AVG PR PR PROVINC LVGDVNENSIS
FVIT CVI POSTEA LEG AVG PENES EVM AD
LEGIONEM [u] SEXTAM ADSEDIT CVIQVE OB
SALARIVM MILITIAE IN AVRO ALIAQ. MVNERA
LONGE PLVRIS MISSA SVNT . . .
. . . . . .
[v] AN PIO ET PROCVL COS.

21. [w] * * *
ET NVM *
N. COH. II TVN
GROR. [x] GOR. M. EQ
* L. CVI. PRAE
EST * CLAV
D * * PRA
EF. INSTANTE
AEL. MARTINO
PRINC. X. KAL *
IMP. D. N. [y] G * AVG [z] III. PO
MPEIANO. COS.

22. [aa] I O M
PRO SALVTE IMPERATORIS
M. ANTONI GORDIANI P. F.
INVICTI AVG ET SABINIAE FVR
IAE TRANQVILLE CONIVGI EIVS TO TAQVE DOMV DIVIN. EORVM A LA AVG GORDIA OB VIRTVTEM
APPELLATA POSVIT CVI PRAEEST
AEMILIVS CRISPINVS PRAEF
EQQ NATVS IN PRO AFRICA DE
TVSDRO SVB CVR NONNII PHI
LIPPI LEG. AVG. PROPRETO *
[bb] ATTICO ET PRAETEXTATO
COSS.

[a] Gretland, Yorksh. Horsl. XVIII.
[b] Brigantum?
[c] A.D. 208.
[d] In castello Valli prope Welton Hall, Northumb. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 283.
[e] Caracallam memorat inscriptio, A.D. 213.
[f] Rochester vel Riechester (Bremenium), Northumb. Hodgson, Vol. I. pt. II. p. 139. Philos. Transact. XLIII. p. 159. No. 474.
[g] Item in altari ap. Ribchester in agro Lancastrensi, A.D. 1833 effosso, 'Pro salute et victoria M. A. S. Antonini Aug., et Juliæ Aug.'
[h] A.D. 215.
[i] Item ibid. 'Genio et Signis, Coh. I. F. Vard.' Hodyson, ubi sup. p. 142.
[k] Equitata milliaria.
[l] Netherby, Cumberl. Philos. Transact. LIII. p. 134. Lys. 84. Alexandrum Severum et Juliam Mamæam memorat inscriptio prope Old Penrith Cumb. reperta. Horsl. LI. "Deabus Matribus Tramarinis et N. Imp. Alexandri Aug. et Jul. Mammeæ Matri Aug. N. et Castrorum."
[m] A.D. 222-5.
[n] Great Chesters, Northumb. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 203. Cat. of Antiquities of Soc. A. Newc. p. 71. No. 5.
[o] A.D. 222-35.
[p] Milites.
[q] Torigniaci, prope Cadomum. Murat. Inscript. Dissert. I. p. 10.
[r] "Chlamydem, Canusinam, Dalmaticam, Laodicenam" alii, rectius Bimardo judice. Murat. p. 15.
[s] Togam, Sponius. Murat. loc. cit.
[t] Ib. in fronte marmoris.
[u] Vide infra n. 45.
[v] A.D. 238.
[w] Castlesteads, Cumberl. Archæol. XI. 67, pl. VI. 21. Lys. 23.
[x] Gordiana
[y] Gordiano
[z] Corrige. "II. et" A.D. 241. Item 'Gord. II. et Pompeiano Cos.' Cockermouth, ubi sup. 99.
[aa] Old Penrith, Cumberl. Horsl. LV. Philos. Trans. XXX. p. 833. No. 357.
[bb] A.D. 242.

Digitized by Google

23. [a] IMP. CAES. M. ANT. [b] GORDIA
NVS. P. F. AVG. BALNEVM. CVM
BASILICA A [SO]LO. INSTRVXIT
PR EGN LVCILIANVM. LEG. AVG
PR. PR. CVR[AN]TE. M. AVR
QVIRINO PRE COH Ī [c] L GR.

24. [d] IMP. CAESAR. M. ANTONIVS
[b] GORDIANVS. P. F. AVG.
PRINCIPIA. ET ARMAMEN
TARIA CONLAPSA. RESTITV
IT PER MAECILIVM. FVSCVM. LEG.
AVG. PR. PR. CVRANTE. M. AVR
QVIRINO. PR. COH. Ī. [c] L. GOR.

24*a*. [e] IMP C M
ANT GOR
DIANO
P. F. AVG
RP BI

24*b*. [f] IO M ET
VLK [g] PRO SA
LVTE D N M ANTO
GORDIANI P
F AVG VII
MAG ARA
[h] COI AV D

25. [i] IMP CAES
M. IVL.
PHILIPPO
PIO FELI
CI
AVG
ET M. IVL. PHI
LIPPO NOBILIS
SIMO. CAESA
TR. P. [k] COS.

26. [l] I O M
PRO SALVTE
* * D D N N [m] GALLI
ET. VOLVSIANI
* * AVGG SVLPICIVS
SECVNDIAN
VS TRIB COH
POSVIT

26*a*. [n] IMP P CC
GALLO ET VOLVSI
ANO AVG
G

26*b*. [o] IMPP. VALERIANVS ET GALLIENVS
AVGG. ET VALERIANVS NOBILISSIMVS
CAES. [p] COHORTI VII. CENTVRIAS. A SO
LO RESTITVERVNT. PER. DESTICIVM JVBAM
V C. LEGATVM. AVGG PR. PR. ET
VITVLASIVM LAETINIANVM LEG. LEG
II. AVG. CVRANTE. DOMIT. POTENTINO
PRAEF. LEG EJVSDEM

26*c*. [q] IMP DO
NMAA
CASSIA
NIO LATINIO
POSTVMO
[r] PIO FEL AVG

27. [s] PRO SALVTE
DESIDIENI AE
LIANI. PRAE
ET SVA S.
POSVIT. VOT
O. SOLVIT LIBE
NS [t] TVSCO ET BAS
SO COSS.

27*a*. [u] IMP
M C PIA
VONIO
VICTOR
INO [v] AVG

27*b*. [w] IMP C. C.
POESVIO TETRICO
[x] P E A G

27*c*. [y] IMP CAES LV
CIO DOMI
TIO [AVRE]LIANO [z]

27*d*. [aa] IMP CAS
M. ANNIO
FLORIANO [bb]
P T L NVICTO
AVG
M. P LI

[a] Lanchester, Durh. Philos. Transact. XXII. p. 657. No. 266. XXX. p. 827. Lys. Reliq. Rom. Vol. I. pl. IV.

[b] A.D. 238-44.

[c] Leg. Gordianæ, id est, sextæ, ut videtur.

[d] Lanchest. Durh. Philos. Transact. XXX. pp. 701. 827. Lys. ubi sup.

[e] Bittern juxta Southampton, Winchester Trans. of Brit. Archæol. Assoc. p. 163, pl. V. fig. 4.

[f] Old Carlisle, Gent. Mag. 1842, II. p. 599; 1843, I. p. 35.

[g] Jovi Maximo et Vulkano?

[h] Cohors I. Augusta?

[i] Penrith, Cumberl. Horsl. LVIII. Item in lapide prope Old Penrith Cumb. reperto "I.O.M. et G.D.D. N.N. Philipporum Augg." Horsley, LII[a]. Preface, p. 20.

[k] A.D. 247. [l] Bowness, Cumberl. Lys. 29.

[m] A.D. 252. Item in lapide Mithrae dicato, apud Housesteads, Northumbriæ, effosso, 'D. D. N. N. Gallo et Volusiano Cos.' Nempe A.D. 252. Archæol. Aeliana, I. 264.

[n] Bittern juxta Southampton, Winchester Trans. of Brit. Arch. Assoc. p. 163. pl. VI. fig. 1.

[o] Caerleon, Monmouth. Lee, Antiquities of Caerleon, p. 33. pl. XIX.

[p] A.D. 254-260.

[q] Trecastle Hill, in agro Brechin. Gough's Camden, II. p. 473. pl. XIV. fig. 1. Archæol. IV. p. 7. pl. I. fig. 1.

[r] A.D. 258-67.

[s] Littlechesters, Northumb. Horsl. LIV. cf. Hodgson, III. pt. II. pp. 137. 185. 197.

[t] A.D. 258.

[u] Apud Pyle prope Neath in agro Glamorg. reperta et in Mus. Swanseien. asservat. Archæological Journal, III. p. 274.

[v] A.D. 265-7.

[w] Bittern juxta Southampton, Archæologia, XXIX. p. 257; cf. apud Winchester Trans. of Brit. Arch. Assoc. pp. 163-5. pl. V. figg. 1, 2; pl. VI. fig. 4; tres alios lapides Tetrici nomine inscriptos et ibidem repertos. Cohors I. Ælia Tetriciana. Horsley, Cumb. VII. infra 84 ([k]).

[x] A.D. 267-74.

[y] Bittern juxta Southampton, Winchester Transact. of B. A. A., loc. cit. pl. VI. fig. 3.

[z] A.D. 270-5.

[aa] Castor in agro Northanton. Artis, Durobrivæ of Antoninus, pl. XV. fig. 2.

[bb] A.D. 276.

Digitized by Google

27 e. [a] IMP C
MAR. AVR
NVMERIAN [b]
O
R P C D

27 f. [c] IMP. DIOCLETA
NVS P F. AVG
SEMPER SENI

27 g. [d] IMP CAES
FLAV VAL
[e] CONSTANTINO
PIO NOB
CAESAR

28. [f] * IMP.
C. VAL
CONST ANTINO
PIENT
AVG

29. [g] DOMINO TOTIVS ORBIS
[h] IVLIANO AVGVSTO
EX OCEANO BRI
TANNICO VIIS PER
BARBARAS GENTES
STRAGE RESISTENTI
VM PATEFACTIS *

30. [i] COCIAVIO. TIDIO. TOSSIANO. IAONO
PRISCO. LEG. LEG. $\overline{IV}$. FLAV. LEG. LEG. IIi. AVG.
IVRIDIC. PROVINC. BRITANNIAE . . .

31. [k] M. VETTIO. M. F
AN. VALENTI
. . . .
* PLO. PROVINC. BRITAN
LEG. $\overline{XV}$. APOLLINAR
PROVINC. BRITANNIA
PATRONO

32. [m] IMP. CAES. TRA
HADRIANO
AVG
[n] LEG. $\overline{II}$. AVG F.

33. [o] IMP [p] ANTON
AVG PIO
P P LEG
$\overline{II}$
AVG
[q] F P $\overline{IIII}$ $\overline{CCLXXI}$

34. [r] LEG
$\overline{II}$
AVG. F
P $\overline{IIII}$ $\overline{CXL}$

35. [s] IMP CAES TITO AELIO
HADRIANO ANTONINO
AVG PIO P P LEG II
AVG. PER M P $\overline{IIII}$ $\overline{DC}$
$\overline{LXVI}$. S

36. [t] IMP CAES TITO AELIO
HADRIANO ANTONINO
AVG PIO P P LEG $\overline{II}$ AVG
PER MP $\overline{IIII}$ $\overline{DCLXVI}$ S

37. [u] * * *
* P. LEG. $\overline{II}$. A *
[v] Q. LOLLIO VR *
LEG AVG. PR. PR. *

38. $\overline{IX}$ $\overline{X}$
[w] VEX. LIEG. $\overline{II}$. AVG. OB. APP.
SVB. AGRICOLA. OPTIO *
[x] APRO. ET MAXIMO
CONSVLIBVS
OFICINA. MERCATI
MERCATIVS. FERMI

39. [y] PRO SALVTE
AVGG. N. N.
SEVERI ET ANTONI
NI. ET. GETAE CAES.
P. SALTIENVS [z] P. F. MAE
CIA THALAMVS [aa] HADRI.
PRAEF. LEG. $\overline{II}$. AVG.
C. VAMPEIANO ET
LVCILIAN *

39 a. [bb] SALVTI RE
GINAE. P. SAL
LIENIVS. P. F.
MAECIA ET * *
MVS HAD
PRAEF. LEG. $\overline{II}$ *
CUM FILIIS SVIS
AMPEIANO ET LV
CILIANO D. D.

40. [cc] IM * * ANTON
* P.F AVG BIS COS [dd] VEXIL.
LEG. $\overline{II}$. AVG. ET $\overline{XX}$ V. V
ITEM COH. I. AEL. HISP
M. EQ. SVB CVRA M
D IVNII LEG. AVG. PR. PR. . .

[a] Kenchester in agro Hereford. Archæol. xv. pl. xxvii. fig. 2. p. 391.
[b] A.D. 282-4.
[c] In vallo apud Oldwall, Northumb. Hodgson, iii. pt. ii. p. 299. A.D. 284-305.
[d] Caervorran. Horsley, Northumb. lxxi; Hodgson, iii. pt. ii. p. 141.
[e] A.D. 306-37.
[f] Brougham Cast. Westmorl. Horsl. ii.
[g] Ancyræ, Murat. cclxiii. 4. [h] A.D. 362?
[i] Juxta Castrum Nadini, Murat. dcxci. 7.
[k] Arimini, Grut. mcii. 3. vide supra 5.
[l] Populo Pighius.
[m] Netherby, Cumberl. Horsl. p. 271.
[n] Legio secunda Augusta. Hæc legio jam a temporibus Claudii Cæsaris, ut videtur, in Britannia fuerat: v. sup. p. xli.
[o] Duntocher, Scotl. Horsl. ii.
[p] Antonino Pio, A.D. 138-61.
[q] 'Fecit passus m. m. m. cclxxi.' Ita per totum fere vallum Antonini quantum operis fecerint cujusvis legionis cohortisve milites denotabatur; attamen aliquando numeri desiderantur.
[r] Penes Universit. Glasg.; cf. Stuart, Cal. Rom. p. 295.
[s] Castlehill, Scotl. Horsl. iii.
[t] Bemulie, Scotl. Horsl. x.; Stuart, Cal. Rom. pl. x. fig. 2. p. 318.
[u] Bemulie, Scotl. Horsl. viii.; Stuart, pl. x. fig. 3. p. 313.
[v] Q. Lollio Urbico legato Augustali proprætore, A.D. 139: v. sup. p. lxv. 2. Clinton, Fasti Romani, i. p. 128.
[w] Gelt, Cumberl. Horsl. xliv. Hæc in vivo saxo inscripta fuerunt dum, ut putandum est, Severi vallum construebatur.
[x] A.D. 207.
[y] Caerleon, Monmouth. Horsl. p. 321.
[z] Sallienius? cf. Lee, Antiq. of Caerleon, p. 41.
[aa] Lee, loc. cit.
[bb] Caerleon, Monmouth. Lee, Antiquities of Caerleon, p. 40. pl. xxvii.
[cc] Netherby, Cumberl. Hodgson, iii. pt. ii. p. 251. Lysons, 85.
[dd] Elagabalus A.D. 219?

Digitized by Google

41. [a] LEG II AVG
[b] COH I

42. [c] L. II AVG.
[d] C VOL
VSIA
NA.

43. [e] GENIO
TERRAE
BRITA
NNICAE
M COCCEI
FIRMVS
C LEG. II.[f] AVG.

43 a. [g] MARTI
COC M
LEG. II AVG
[h] C SANCTIANA
[i] C SECVNDIN
D. SOL. SVB CV
RA AELIANI
CVRA OPPIVS
FELIX OPT
IO

44. [k] M. PONTIO M. F. PVP.
L. AETIANO. LARCIO. SABINO. COS. . .
. . . . . CANDIDATO
IMP. DIVI. HADRIANI. AB. ACT. SENAT. QVAESTOR. PROV
NARB. TRIB. MIL. LEG. VI. VICT. CVM QVA. EX GERM. IN [l] BRITAN. TRANSIIT . . . . .

45. [m] LEG. VI
VIC P F
F

46. [n] IMP CAESAR T AELIO *
HADRIANO ANTONINO
AVG PIO P P. VEXILLATIO
LEG VI VICTR P. F
PER M. P. III DCLX. V. S.

47. [o] IMP. C. T. AELIO.
HADRIANO. ANTO
NINO. AVG. P. P.
VEX. LEG. VI. VIC.
P. F. OPVS. [p] VALLI
. P. MMMMC. XLI.

48. [q] IMP. C. T. AELIO. HADR
IANO ANTONINO. AVG
P. P. VEX. LEG. VI.
VICTRICS. P * F.
OPVS. VALLI P.
MMM. CCXL. P.

49. [r] L. IVNIVS VIC
TORINVS ET L
CAELIANVS LEG
AVG LEG VI VIC.
P F OB RES TRANS
VALLVM PRO
SPERE GESTAS

50. [s] DEO. SANCTO
SERAPI
TEMPLVM. A SO
LO. FECIT
CL. HIERONV
MIANVS. LEG
LEG. VI. VICT

51. [t] * CVRVM CVM BAS
ET TEMPLVM
FECIT CIV
MAXIMINVS
LEG. VI. VI
EX VOTO

52. [u] DEAE. SVLI
* RO SALVTE ET

[a] Burdoswald, Cumberl. Horsl. XXIII.
[b] Legionis II Augustæ cohors I. Hujusmodi inscriptiones denotabant, ut verisimile est, memoratam legionem, cohortem, vel centuriam ad eam partem valli ubi repertæ sint construendam, operam navasse.
[c] Burdoswald, Cumberl. Horsl. XXI. [d] Centuria Volusiana.
[e] Auchindavie, Scotl. penes Universit. Glasg. XXIII.; cf. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 266. Stuart, Cal. Rom. p. LXI. fig. 1–4. pp. 324, 325.
[f] LEGIONEM secundam memorant etiam inscriptiones repertæ apud Bemulie et Cramond, Scot. Horsl. IX. XXX. Birrens prope Middleby, Scot. Stuart, Cal. Rom. p. 129. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 253. Benwell, Halton Chesters, Welton Hall, Milking Gap, Little Chesters, Bradley, Northumb. pp. 177, 179, 283, supra, 10(kk). Caervorran, Northumb. Horsl. LXXVII. Bewcastle Cumb. XLV. XLVI. Caerleon. Monm. II., Lee, Antiquities of Caerleon, pl. XII. XIII. XXVI. pp. 19. 20. 34; juxta Stanwix, Cumb. Archæol. Ælian. I. pt. I. Appendix, p. 4; York, Wellbeloved, Eburacum, pl. X. fig. 4. p. 90; Bath, Lysons, Rel. Rom. I. pl. XIII. 2: VEXILLATIONES ejus apud Barhill, Scot. Horsl. XII.; Castle Carey, Scot. Hodgson, p. 265; Stuart, pl. XIV. fig. 10. p. 338, penes Univ. Glasg.; Shirva, Scot. penes Univ. Glasg. Stuart, Cal. Rom. pl. XII. fig. 1. p. 330; Ellenborough, Cumberl. Lys. 109: COHORTES, II. VIII. X. ap. Benwell, Northumb. Horsl. IX[v]. IX. IX[d].; Cohortem III. Bowness, Cumb. Hodgson, p. 303; Cohortem IV. Corbridge, Northumb. Horsl. CI.; Cohortes III. et IV.; Shawkquarries, Cumb. Lys. 106: CENTURIAS, Burdoswald, Cambeck, Cumb. Horsl. XXI. XXXVI.: TRIBUNUM, Kirkby Thure, Westmorl. Horsl. IV.: CENTURIONES, Benwell, Northumb. Horsl. VII. Kirkby Thure, Westmorl. Horsl. V.: SIGNIFERUM, Caerleon, Monm. Horsl. III.: MILITES, Bankshead, Cumb. Lys. 49. 106; Shirva, Scotl. Stuart, Cal. Rom. pl. XII. fig. 6. p. 328; et Horsl. Scot. XXXIII. p. 339; Caerleon, Monm. Horsl. I. Bath, Somerset, II. London, Middlesex, I. VETERANOS, Lee, Antiquities of Caerleon, pl. XX. XXIII. XXIV. pp. 33. 36. SPECULATOREM, London, C. R. Smith, Collect. Antiqua, pl. VIII. p. 125.
[g] Juxta Tarraby, Cumb. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 300.
[h] Centuria Sanctiana. [i] Centuria Secundinia.
[k] Romæ. Grut. CCCCLVII. 2. [l] Cir. A.D. 120?
[m] Burdoswald, Cumb. Horsl. XXIV. Legio sexta Victrix, Pia, Fidelis, fecit. Vide sup. p. LIII. 2.
[n] Newkilpatric, Scotl. Horsl. IV. A.D. 138–61.
[o] Newkilpatric, Scotl. Horsl. VII. Stuart, Cal. Rom. pl. VII. fig. 3. p. 285.
[p] sc. Antonini.
[q] Duntocher, Scotl. penes Univ. Glasg., Stuart, Cal. Rom. pl. VIII. fig. 7. p. 298.
[r] Kirksteads, Cumberl. Lys. 95.
[s] York, Archæol. III. 151. Wellbeloved, pl. IX. 2. pp. 75, 76.
[t] Tinmouth, Northumberl. Archæol. VIII. 326.
[u] Bath, Lys. pl. X. 1. Archæol. X. p. 327. De legione VI. in Britannia, cf. supra, pp. XXIV. LIII. 2. XIV. XX. 2. Horsl. p. 79. Hanc legionem memorant et inscriptiones repertæ apud Crowhill, Scot. Horsl. XVII. XVIII. Halton Chesters, Housesteads, et Littlechesters, Northumb. Horsl. XXI. XLIV. LVI. Cambeck and Stanwix, Cumb. Horsl. XXXIII. XLII.; Naworth, Lys. 113. Hodgson, p. 211; Appleby, Westmorl. Horsl. VI.; Greta Bridge in agro Eborac. Gent. Mag. LXIII. p. 1073, Whitaker, I. p. 1489; York, Wellbeloved, pp. 105. 111: VEXILLATIONES ejus prope Kirkintulloch, Scot. Inscript. Glasguen. XX. Nether Croy, Scot. Stuart, pl. XIII. fig. 7. p. 335. pl. XX.; Castle Carey, Scot. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 265; Stuart, pl. XIV. fig. 10. p. 338; Walton, Cumb. Lys. 48: CENTURIONES, ap. Housesteads, Littlechesters, et Caervorran, Northumb. Horsl. XLIV. LV. LXXVIII. Whitley Castle, Northumb. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 75; Manchester, Lancast. Horsl. I.; Ribchester, Lancast. Whitaker, Whalley, Lond. 1818, p. 23; Alston Moor, Burgh upon Sands, Bowness, Cumb. Archæol. XVII. 229, Hodgson, III. pt. II. pp. 223. 227; Bath, Lys. pl. X. 2; York, Wellbeloved, pl. XII. 3. p. 111: MILITES, ap. Watercrook, Westmorl. Horsl. VIII.; Castle Carey, Scot. Stuart, pl. XIV. fig. 3. p. 342; Corbridge, Northumb.? Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 247; York, Wellbeloved, pl. X. 1. p. 89.

Digitized by Google

* COLVMITATE
AVFIDII MAXIMI
5 LEG. VI. VIC. M
AVFIDIVS LMNV * *
LIBERTVS V. S L. M

52 a. [a] VICTORIAE
LEG VI VIC
VAL RVFVS
V S L M

53. [b] L. DVCCIVS
L. VOLT F RVFI
NVS. VIEN
SIGNIF. LEG. VIIII
AN. XXIIX
H. S. E

53 a. [c] L. SEMPRONI. FLA
VINI. MILTS. LEG VIIII
Q ? [d] ALAVD [e] I SEVERI
[f] AER VII ANOR XXX
ISPANICA LERIA
CIVI MA

54. [g] A. GABINIVS. M. F. QVIR. PRISCVS
V. C . . . . .
. . LEG. PROPR. LEG. XI. CLAVD
BRITANNIAE . . . . .
. . AB. [h] IMP. CAESARE. HADR. ELECTVS. IN
TER. FAMILIAM. PATRICIAM. . . .

54 a. [i] M. PETRONIVS
L. F. MEN
VIC. ANN
XXXVIII
MIL. LEG
XIIII [k] GEM
MILITAVIT
ANN. XVIII
[l] SIGN. FVIT
H. S. E.

55. [m] LEG
XX. [n] V. V
FEC

56. [o] IMP. CAESARI
T. AELIO HADRI
ANO ANTONINO
AVG. PIO. P P
VEXILLATIO
LEG. XX VAL. VIC F
PER. MIL. P [p] III.

57. [q] IMP. C.
T. AE. HADRIA
NO. ANTONINO AVG. PIO. P. P.
VEX
LEG. XX
V V. FEC
P P IIII CDXI

58. [r] I. O. M. TANARO
T. ELVPIVS GALER
PRAESENS [s] GVNTIA
PRI. LEG. XX V V
[t] COMMODO ET LATERANO COS
V S. L. M.

59. [u] * O. SAL. DOMIN
* [v] M. NN. INVI
* SIMORVM
AVGG. GENIO LOCI
FLAVIVS. LONG
TRIB MIL. LEG XX.
* LONGINVS. FIL
* IVS. DOMO
SAMOSATA
V S

60. [w] IVLIVS. VITA
LIS. FABRICIES
IS. LEG. XX. V. V.
STIPENDIOR
VM IX ANNOR XX
IX. NATIONE BE
LGA. EX. COLEGIO
FABRICE. ELATV
S. H S E

60 a. [x] DEO SILVA
NO PRO SA
LVTE. SVA. ET.
SVORVM CAR
RIVS DOMITI
ANVS 5 LEG XX
VV. VS. LL. M

61. [y] M ACENNA M. F. GAL. HELVIVS
AGRIPPA . . . . . .
. . . . TRIB. LATICLA. BRITANNIAE LEG. XX.
VAL. VICTRICIS . . .

[a] Ex tabula argentea, quæ apud Castlemere prope Rochdale in agro Lancast. reperta est cum brachio votivo de quo pendebat. Whitaker, Whalley, London, 1818, p. 32.

[b] York. Horsl. VIII. De legione IX. in Britannia, v. sup. pp. XXXVIII. 2. XXXIX. XLI. XLV. 2. et cons. Horsl. p. 80. Hanc legionem memorant tegulæ itidem Eboraci repertæ, et LEG. IX. HISP. inscriptæ. Wellbeloved, pp. 104. 118. LEG. IX. VIC. Horsley, IX. Philos. Trans. XXV. p. 2195. (No. 305.)

[c] Lincoln. Gent. Mag. 1842, II. p. 350.

[d] Alaudæ.

[e] Julii Severi ? vel Junii Severi ? qui Britanniæ proprætores erant, hic Commodo, ille Hadriano imperante, vide Horsl. p. 51.

[f] Ærum. [g] Romæ, Gudius, CXXV. 6. [h] A.D. 117–38.

[i] Wroxeter, Salop. Philos. Transact. XLIX. p. 197. (No. 31.)

[k] Geminæ. [l] Signifer.

[m] Lanchester, Durh. Horsl. XVI. Philos. Transact. XXII. p. 65. No. 266.

[n] Valens sive Valeriana, Victrix. De hac legione, v. sup. pp. XXXVIII. 2. XLI. LIII. 2. XIV. 2. XXI.

[o] Scotl. Horsl. XXVI. Stuart, Cal. Rom. pl. XV. fig. 8. p. 356. penes Univ. Glasg. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 263.

[p] A.D. 138–161.

[q] Kilpatrick, Scotl. Horsl. I. Stuart, Cal. Rom. pl. VII. fig. 1. p. 289. penes Univ. Glasg.

[r] Chester, Horsl. III.

[s] Guntia, Vindeliciæ oppidum ? Horsl. p. 315.

[t] A.D. 154.

[u] Chester, Horsl. II. Philos. Transact. XIX. p. 317. (No. 222.)

[v] Diocletiani et Maximiniani ? A.D. 286–305.

[w] Bath, Horsl. I. Lys. Reliq. Rom. I. pl. XII. 4.

[x] Eildon, Scotl. Stuart, Cal. Rom. p. 150. pl. III.

[y] Hispali. Muratori, DCLXV. 3. LEGIONEM XX. memorant etiam inscriptiones repertæ apud Kilpatrick ? Scot. Horsl. VI.; Stuart, Cal. Rom. pl. VII. fig. 2. p. 286; Kirkintilloch, Scot. Stuart, Cal. Rom. pl. X. fig. 4. p. 320, Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 271; Middleby, Scot. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 253; Little Chesters, Halton Chesters, Northumb. pp. 180. 201; Moresby, Cumb. p. 248; Beaucastle, Cumb. Horsl. XLVI.; Kirkby Thure et Watercrook, Westmorl. Horsl. IV. V. VIII.; Chester, Horsl. I–VII.; Bath, Lysons, Reliq. Rom. I. pl. XII. 3; VEXILLATIONES ejus, ap. Duntocher ? Scotl. Horsl. V. Stuart, Cal. Roman. pl. VIII. fig. 5. p. 296. penes Univ. Glasg.; Whitley Castle, North. Horsl. CXI.; Rochester vel Riechester, Northumb. Hodgson, II. pt. I. p. 142; Netherby et Ellenborough, Cumb. Lys. 85. 109; Cohortem IV. Heddon in the Wall, Northumb. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 282:

Digitized by Google

EXCERPTA DE BRITANNIA.

61 a. [a]DEO
COCIDIO
MILITES
LEG XX .
V. S. L. M.
[b]APR * EBR COS

61 b. [c]VICTORIA
COH VI NER
VIORVM *
A. BELIO ? Ō LEG
XX VV
V. S. C. C. M.

62. [d]Ī

63. [e]CHO Ī
Ō FIARI

64. [f]Ō PEREG
RINI

65. [g]VICTORIAE
* GG *FE [h]
N S SENECIO
N COS FELIX
ALA Ī [i]ASTO
*M PRA

66. [k]*
IMP CAESA * * * AVREL[l] * * *
AVG * * * * *
* * P * B.P * * * COS * P. P. DIVI
DIVI. SEVER. NEP. *
CAESAR. IMPER. * * * *
ALAE II. ASTVR[m] * * *
* * PER. MARIUM. VALER.[n] * *
INSTANTE. SEPTIMIO NILO. PRAE *
DEDICATUM. III. KAL. NOVEM. [o]GRATO ET SELE *

67. [p]I O M
ALA [q]AVG OB
VIRTVT APPEL CVI
PRAEST TIB CL TIB FI
*ING M IVSTINV
PRAEF [r]FVSCIAN*
ET SILANO II C *

67 a. [s]DEAE BEL
LONAE. RVFI
NVS. PRAEF
EQ. ALAE. AVG
ET LAINIA
NVS. FIL.

68. [t]LEG. [u]A *
Q. CALPVRNIVS
CONCESSINI
VS. PRAEF. [v]EQ
CAESA. CORI
ONOTOTAR
VM. MANV PR
AESENTISSIMI
NVMINIS DEI V S.

69. [w]I. O M
COH
II [x]GAL EQ
T DOMITI
VS HERON
D NICOMEDIA
. PRAEF

70. [y]M. M
NAEVIVS VERVS ROSCIANVS
PRAEF. [z]COH. II.
GALL. EQ.
* OTVM. EX
BRITANNIA
* RITI *
L. M.

70 a. [aa]. NVMINIB.
[bb]AVGVSTOR
COH IIII GAL
* EQ.
* FEC.

71. [cc]I O M
L. CAMMI
VS MAXI
PREFEC
I. [dd]IIIS. EQ
V. S. L. M.

CENTURIONES, apud Benwell, Northumb. Horsl. VIII. Bath, Horsl. III.: MILITES, Caervorran, North. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 142. London, C. R. Smith, Collectanea Antiq. p. 134. Wroxeter, Salop. Philosoph. Transact. XLIX. p. 196. No. XXXI.

[a] Bankshead, Cumberl. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 297.

[b] Aproniano et Bradua? A.D. 191; cf. supra, No. 15.

[c] Apud Rough Castle, Scot. A.D. 1843, reperta. Stuart, Cal. Rom. pl. XV. fig. 5. p. 348.

[d] Benwell, Northumb. Horsl. XII. Cohors Prima. Tam hæc quam quæ sequuntur cohortes modo simili designatæ ad Legionem secundam plerumque spectare putantur: nempe COH. III. Benwell, Rutchester, Littlechesters, Northumb. Horsl. XII. XVII. LX. Lanchester, Durh. Horsl. XIII.; COH. IIII. Ebchester, Durh. Horsl. X.; COH. V. Benwell, Northumb. Horsl. XII. Ebchester, Durh. Horsl. VIII.; COH. VIII. Benwell, Horsl. XI.; COH. IX. Benwell, Horsl. XII. Cambeck, Cumb. Horsl. XXVI.

[e] Cousins House, Northumb. Horsl. I. Cohortis I[ma] Centuria Fiari. Item ejusmodi, Caervorran, Northumb. Horsl. LXXV.; CENT. COHH. II. X. Cousins House, Northumb. Horsl. II. III. IIII.; COH. VI. Halton Chesters, Walwick Chesters, ib. Horsl. XX. XXX. XXXI.; Burdoswald, Cumb. Horsl. XVIII.; COH. VII. Greatchesters, Northumb. Horsl. LXIV.; COH. VIII. Caerridden, Scot. Horsl. XXIV.; Burdoswald, Cumb. Horsl. XX.; COH. IX. Rutchester, Northumb. Horsl. XIIII.

[f] Benwell, Northumb. Horsl. IX[y]. Centuria Peregrini. Item ejusmodi: ibid. Horsl. IX[y]. X., Rutchest. XIII. XVII., Halton Chesters, XX, Carrawbrough, XXXV., Caervorran, LXXV[a]., Burdoswald, Cumb. XXII.; Castlesteads, Cumb. Lys. 122. De hujusmodi inscriptionibus, vide sup. p. CXI. ([b])

[g] Benwell, Northumberl. Horsl. IX[a].

[h] L. Alfeni Senecionis? cf. infra, 102 a. ( )

[i] Astorum. Item, ala Astor. Ribchest. Lancast. Horsl. p. 303.

[k] Walwick Chesters, Northumberl. Archæol. Æliana, I. 128.

[l] Elagabalus.

[m] cf. supra, "Cohors II. Asturum," 19 a; infra, 132.

[n] Marium Valerianum Legatum Augustalem, Proprætorem, A.D. 222-5. 19.

[o] Grato et Seleuco Coss. A.D. 221.

[p] Old Carlisle, Cumberl. Horsl. LVI. Phil. Trans. XXX. p. 835. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 236.

[q] Augusta, ob virtutem appellata. Occurrit etiam hæc ala 'Aproniano et Bradua Coss.' A.D. 191. Old Carlisle, Horsl. LVII.; 'Pro salute imp. L. Septim. Severi,' ibid. Lys. 17. 'Antonino IIII. et Balbino II. coss.' ibid. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 236. 'Eques Alæ Aug.' ib. p. 238.

[r] A.D. 188.

[s] Old Carlisle, C. R. Smith, Journal of British Archæol. Assoc. III. p. 43.

[t] Hexham, Northumberl. Horsl. CVIII.

[u] Legato Augustali. [v] Equitum Cæsariensium.

[w] Old Penrith, Cumberl. Horsl. LII.

[x] Gallorum equitata.

[y] In vico Travi. Murat. LIII. 15. [z] v. n. 69.

[aa] Risingham, Northumberl. Horsl. LXXXVIII.

[bb] Severus et Caracalla? A.D. 198-211.

[cc] Ellenborough, Cumberl. Horsl. LXI. Ibid. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 240. Cohors. I. Ael. Hispanorum Miliaria Equitata, Netherby, Cumb. Hodgson, p. 249. supra, 19 & 40. Ala Prima Hispanorum, Benwell, Northumb. p. 176.

[dd] Hispanorum.

Digitized by Google

71 a. [a] FORTVNAE [b] COH. I. NER
M GER. EQVI

72. [c] * *
GADVNO
VLP. TRAI
EM. AL. [d] PET
MARTIVS
F P. C

72 a. [e] DANNICVS. EQVES. ALAE
INDIAN. TVR. ALBANI
STIP. XVI. CIVES. RAVR.[f]
CVR. FVLVIVS. NATALIS. IL
F * IVS BITVCVS. ER. TESTAME
H S E.

73. [g] * *
* S NORICI AN $\overline{XXX}$
* ESSORIVS MAGNVS
* RATER EIVS DVPL ALAE SABINIANAE.

74. [h] DEO MARTI ET
VICTORIAE DEC.
SASIATIC. AL. [i] SARMAT.
*S. LL. M. I. T. C. C. NN.

75. [k] SILVANO INVICTO SACRVM
C. TETIVS VETVRIVS MICIA
NVS PRAEF. ALAE SEBOSIAN
AE OB APRVM EXIMIAE
FORMAE CAPTVM QVEM
MVLTI ANTECESSO
RES EIVS PRAEDARI
NON POTVERVNT. V. S. L. P.

76. [l] * * *
* * BALINEVM REFECT
* * ASILICAM VETVSTATE CONLABSAM
* SOLO RESTITVTAM. EQQ. AL. SEBVSSIA
* * SVB. OCTAVIO. SABIN V C
PRAESIDE. N. CVRANTE. FLA. AMMAV
SIO. PRAEF. EQQ. D. D. XI. KAL SEPTEM.
CENSORE $\overline{II}$. ET. [m] LIP . . O * * $\overline{II}$. COSS.

76 a. [n] D. M
AVR. MA
CRINVS EX
[o] EQ. SING. AV

76 b. [p] GENIO ET SIGNIS
COH. I. F. [q] ARDVI.
C. R. EQ. M.
. . . . . .

76 c. [r] HERCVLI
MAGVSAN
* SACRVM
VAL. NIGRI
NVS DVPLI
ALAE TVN
GRORVM.

76 d. [s] I O M
[t] COH. II. TVNGR
M. EQ. C. L. CVI
PRAEEST. ALB
SEVERVS PR
AEF TVNG. IN ST. VIC SEV RO
PRINCIPI.

76 e. [u] SEXTVS. VALE
RIVS. GENIALIS
[v] EQES. ALAE [w] TRHAEC
CIVIS. FRISIAVS. [x] TVR.
GENIALIS. AI. XXXX * * XX
H. S. E. E. F. C.

76 f. [y] L VITELLIVS. MA
NI AI F T. ANCINVS.
CIVES. HISP. CAVRIESIS
EQ. [z] ALAE VETTONVM. C R
ANN. XXXVI. STIP. XXVI
H. S. E.

77. [aa] COH. $\overline{IIII}$. [bb] PR. POS
$\overline{\text{O}}$ IVL. VITALIS.

78. [cc] DEO
MARTI BRACIACAE
OS*TIVS CAECILIA *
PRAEF COH
I. AQVITANO *
V S

79. [dd] MARTI MILITARI
COH I BAETASI
ORVM C * *
PRAEES * *
VS TVTOR * *
. FECTVS
V. S. L. L. M.

80. [ee] FORTVNAE
COH I BATAVOR

[a] Middleby, Scotl. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 253.
[b] Cohors I. Nerviana Miliaria Germanorum Equitata. Confer 'Coh. N . . rvan Germanorum Mil. Eq.' Beaumont, Cumb. Hodgson, p. 301, et 'Coh. I. Nervane,' infra, 96.
[c] Old Penrith, Cumb. Horsl. p. 273. [d] Petrianæ
[e] Watermore juxta Cirencester, Archæologia, XXVII. p. 212. pl. XIV. fig. 1.
[f] Rauraci inter Galliæ civitates memorantur.
[g] Halton Chesters, Northumb. Horsl. XVIII.
[h] Ribchester, Lancast. Horsl. p. 303, Whitaker, Whalley, Lond. 1818, p. 27.
[i] Ala Eq. Sarmat. Whitaker, p. 23, Horsley, p. 302. Ala Sarmat. pp. 303-4.
[k] Stanhope, Durh. Ward, manuscript additions to Horsley, British Museum. Gough, Camd. III. 117.
[l] Lancaster, Whitaker, Richmondsh. II. 213.
[m] Lipido? Consules suffecti.
[n] Malton in agro Eborac. Philosophical Transactions, XLIX. p. 71. pl. III. fig. 1. (No. XVII.)
[o] Equites singulares Augusti.
[p] Rochester vel Riechester, Northumb. Hodgson, I. pt. II. p. 142.
[q] Fida Vardullorum, cf. supra, 18. Item Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 315, I. pt. II. p. 144. Lanchester, Durham, Horsley, XXVI.
[r] Polmont, Scotl. Stuart, pl. XV. fig. 9. p. 351.
[s] Walton Chesters, Cumb. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 215; cf. supra, 21. Huic loco apud Camdenum Castlesteeds appellato apud Horsleium Cambeck nomen inditum est.
[t] Cohors II. Tungrorum Miliaria Equitata, cf. supra, 21. Middleby Scot. Hodgson, p. 253. Nos. 247, 6. et 253.
[u] Watermore juxta Cirencester, Leemans, Archæol. XXVII. p. 215, pl. XIV. fig. 2.
[v] Eques. [w] Thrac? [x] Turmae.
[y] Bath, Philos. Transact. XLV. p. 409, Lysons, Reliq. Rom. I. pl. XII. 1.
[z] Vide supra, 7, 8? infra, 99.
[aa] Stanwix, Cumberl. Horsl. XXXVIII.
[bb] Prætoriana
[cc] Haddon Hall, Derby. Lys. Magna Britannia, v. p. ccvi.
[dd] Ellenborough, Cumberl. Horsl. LXVI.
[ee] Carrawbrough, Northumberl. Horsl. XXXII. Philos. Trans. XIX. p. 661. (No. 231.) Item Caervorran, Northumb. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 141. Walwick Chesters, Northumb. ex apographo penes Soc. Ant. Newcast.

Digitized by Google

CVI PRAEEST
MELACCINIVS
MARCELLVS PRAE

80*a*. [a] L. FVRIO. L. F. PAL. VICTORI
PRAEF. PRAET. IMPERAT. OMNIVM
HONORATO. ET. DONATO. IN PROVINCIAM. PARTHIAM
. . . .
. . . .
. . . .
TRIB. LEG. II. ADIVTRIC. $\bar{5}$. COH
BRACARVM. IN. BRITANNIA.

81. [b] CAMPES
TRIBVS. ET BRITANNI
Q. P. SENTIVS
IVSTVS. PRAEF
COH. IIII. [c] CAE
V. S. LL. M.

82. [d] * * *
TRIB. COHOR. I
[e] CARTOV * *
MARTI. VICTORI
GENIO LOCI
ET BONO EVENTVI.

83. [f] * * *
NINO AVG. PIO
P P. COS [g] III
COH. I CVGERNOR
* M. [h] O III. M P

84. [i] I O M
COH. I [k] AEL
DAC. C. P
STAT LON
GINVS TRIB

85. [l] DIIS DEABVSQ
P. POSTVMIVS
ACILIANVS.
PRAEF
COH. I. [m] DELM.

86. [n] CHO I
FRISIANO
$\bar{5}$ VAL. VIT
ALIS.

87. [o] * * * [p] GALLOR
* * * VOTA NV
* NI EIVS POP * VRRIBVS

FVNDAMEN * ERVNT SVB
CL. XENEPHO * EG AV PR
CVRANTE * * *

88. [q] I. . . .
[r] COH IIII GALLORVM
C P VOLCA . . .
VS HOSPEIS
PR. EF EQ.

89. [s] I O M
COH V GALL
CVI PR*EEST
IMINI HONV
TERTVLLVS
PRAEF. V. S. L
L M.

90. [t] D. M.
C. IVLI
MARCELLINI
PRAEF.
COH. I. HAMIOR.

91. [u] DEAE SVRI
AE SVB [v] CALP
VRNIO AGR
ICOLA LEG. AVG
PR. PR. A. LICINIVS
CLEMENS PRAEF
[w] *III * A * IOR.

91*a*. [x] FORTVNAE. AVG.
PRO. SALVTE. L. AELI
CAESARIS. [y] EX. VISV.
T. FLA. SECVNDVS.
PRAEF. COH. I. HAM
IORVM. SAGITTAR.
V. S. L. M.

92. [z] I. O. M
COH I [aa] HIS CVI PRAE
M. [bb] MAENI
VS AGRIP
TRIBV
POS

92*a*. [cc] DIS MANIBVS
AMMONIVS DA
MIONIS $\bar{5}$ COH
I HISPANORVM
STIPENDIORVM
XXVII HEREDES
F. C.

[a] Ligor. Gruter, CCCCXIV. 8.
[b] Ap? .. penes Universit. Glasg. Matribus campestribus?
[c] Cæsarensium? [d] Binchester, Durh. Horsl. p. 296.
[e] Quære. [f] Scotl. Horsl. XXV. [g] A.D. 140-4.
[h] Opus tribus millibus passuum perfecit?
[i] Burdoswald, Cumberl. Horsl. X.
[k] Aelia Dacorum. Item Netherby, Lanercost, Bewcastle, Cumberl. Lys. 12, 13, 14. Item Horsl. Cumb. I. VI. IX. XI. XIII. 'Tetricianorum,' VII. 'Gordiana,' VIII. Hodgson, III. pt. II. pp. 206-209.
[l] Ellenborough, Cumberl. Horsl. LXV. ibid. LXIV.
[m] Delmatarum; cf. Hodgson, III. pt. II. pp. 205, 241-2.
[n] Melandra Castle, Derby. Archaeol. III. 236.
[o] Littlechesters, Northumberl. Horsl. LII.
[p] Item—Gallorum, Old Penrith, Cumberl. Horsl. LII*a*.
[q] Cambeck, Cumb.? Horsley, XXX. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 215.
[r] Item Little Chesters, North. Hodgson, III. pt. II. pp. 197, 198. 201; cf. ibid. p. 271. Castlehill, Scotl. Stuart, Cal. Rom. pl. IX. fig. 2. p. 305.
[s] Cramond, Scotl. Horsl. XXVII.
[t] Kilsyth. Scotl. Horsl. p. 206.
[u] Littlechesters, Northumb. Horsl. LIII. sed cf. Hodgson, III. pt. II. pp. 137. 185. 197.
[v] A.D. 162-80?
[w] Cohors I. Hamiorum? cf. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 137.
[x] Caervorran, Northumb. Archæologia, XXIV. p. 352. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 139.
[y] A.D. 136-8.
[z] Ellenborough, Cumberl. Horsl. LXII. Item LXI. LXIII.
[aa] Hispanorum.
[bb] cir. A.D. 117-38. v. sup. n. 11.
[cc] Ardoch, Scotl. Stuart, Cal. Rom. p. 192. pl. V. fig. 5. Horsl. XXXI.

Digitized by Google

93. [a] GENIO. PRAETORI.
CL EPAPHRODITVS
CLAVDIANVS
TRIBVNVS. CHO
[b] Ī. LING. V. L. P. M

94. [c] DEO SILVAN *
COH. [d] II. LING
CVI PRAEES *
G POMPEIVS. M *
SATVRNINVS *

95. [e] I O M
AEL. RVFVS
PRAEF COH
IIII LINGO
NVM.

96. [f] DEO
SANCTO
COCIDIO
PATERNVS
MATERNVS
TRIBVNVS C.H
Ī NERVANE
EX EVOCATO
PALATINO
V S L M

97. [g] IMP. CAES LV *
BICI ADIA *
MAX. FIL. DIVI ANTONINI *
SARM. NEP. DIVI ANTONI. P. PRON
DIVI HADR. ABNEP. DIVI. TRAIANI
PARTH. ET DIVI. NERV. ADNEP
[h] M AVR. ANTONINO PIO
FEL. AVG *
TR. POT X * IMP. COS. IIII. P P
PRO PIETATE AED E VOTO
COMMVNI CVRANTE
LEG. AVG.
COH.[i] III NERVIO
RVM G R POS.

98. [k] IMP CAES. L. SEPTIMIO
PIO PERTINACI AVGV *
IMP CAESARI. M. AVRELIO. A *
PIO FELICI AVGVSTO [l] *
* * *
* * *
BRACHIO [m] CAEMENTICIVM
VI NERVIORVM SVB CVRA L A
SENECION[n] AMPLISSIMI
OPERI L. VISPIVS PRAE *
* LEGIO *

99. [o] D[EA]E FORTVNAE
VIRIVS LVPVS
LEG. AVG PR. PR.
BALINEVM VI
IGNIS EXVST
VM. COH. [p] Ī. THR
ACVM. REST
ITVIT. CVRAN
TE VAL. FRON
TONE PRAEF
EQ. ALAE [q] VETTO

100. [r] I O M
ET NVMINIBVS
AVG. COH. Ī. TV
NGRORVM
MIL.[s] CVI PRAEE
ST. Q. VERIVS
SVPERSTIS
PRAEFECTVS

101. [t] D E O
MARTI QVIN
FLORIVS MA
TERNVS PRAEF
COH. [u] Ī. TVNG
V. S. L. M.

102 [v] DEO. INVICTO
HERCVLI. SACR
L. AEMIL. SALVIANVS
TRIB. COH. Ī [w] VANGI
V. S. P. M.

102*a*. [x] * * * *
* * * ICO MAXI
COS III ET M AVREL ANTONINO PIO
COS II AVG[o] [y] * * *
PORTAM. CVM. MVRIS VETVSTATE DI
LAPSIS JVSSV [z] ALFEN SENECINIS VO
COS CVRANTE COL ANITI ADVENTO PRO
AVG[o] NN. C * I VANGON O PF S
CVM AEMI SALVIAN TRIB.
SVO A SOLO RESTI

103. [aa] DEO INVICTO SOLI SOC
SACRVM. PRO SALVTE ET INCOLVMITATE. IMP. CAES

[a] Lanchester, Durh. Horsl. XV. Philos. Transact. XXII. p. 657. No. 266.
[b] Prima vel secunda? Lingonum.
[c] Moresby, Cumberl. Horsl. p. 286.
[d] Item ap. Ilkely, York, Gough, Camd. III. 239.
[e] Tinmouth, Northumb. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 169.
[f] Netherby, Cumb. Lys. 46. Middleby, Scotl. Hodgson, p. 253. No. 247. Stuart, p. 128. Cohors VI. Rough Castle, supra, 61 b.
[g] Whitley Castle, Northumberl. Horsl. CXIII.
[h] A.D. 213? cf. Horsl. p. 251.
[i] Item Littlechesters, Northumb. Gough, Camd. III. 504. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 199.
[k] Brough, Yorksh. Horsl. p. 313. [l] A.D. 198-211.
[m] Hodie Brough?
[n] Præfectum Nerviorum memorat inscriptio incerti situs. Hodgson, III. pt II. p. 204. De Senecione cf. supra, 16 a, 65; infra, 102 a.
[o] Bowes, Yorksh. Horsl. I.; de Virio Lupo cf. supra, 16.
[p] Item, Moresby, Cumberl. Horsl. LXXV. Cohors II. Thracum. infra, 114 b.
[q] Vettonum, vide supra, 7, 8? 76*f*.
[r] Housesteads, Northumb. Horsl. XXXVI.
[s] Housesteads, Northumb. Horsl XLI.
[t] Housesteads, Northumb. Horsl. XL.
[u] Item Cramond, Scotl. Horsl. XXIX.; Castlecary, Scotl. Inscript. Glasguenses, XXVII.; Hodgson, p. 265, Stuart, pl. XV. fig. 10. p. 340; Cambeck, Cumberl. Horsl. p. 264; Housesteads, Northumb. Horsl. VII. XXXIX. XL. XLII. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 194, ibid. p. 189; Cohors II. Birrens juxta Middleby, Scotl. Stuart, Cal. Rom. pp. 128-9.
[v] Risingham, Northumb. Horsl. LXXXI.
[w] Vangionum. Item Horsley, LXXXII. Hodgson, II. pt. I. p. 183. Walwick Chesters, Northumb. Horsl. XXVI.
[x] Risingham, Northumb. Archæol. Aelian. IV. pt. I. p. 20. Supple. Impp. Cæss. L. Sep. Severo Pio Pert. P. M. Arab. Parth. Adiabenico.
[y] A.D. 205-7. Supple. Et P. Sept. Getae Nob. Caes. Cos.
[z] Lucii Alfeni Senecionis quem memorant supra 16 a. 65. 98; cf. Camden, ed. Gibson, 1722, p. 919. Horsl. p. 313.
[aa] Riechester vel Rochester, Northumberl. Horsl. XCIV[3].

Digitized by Google

M. [a]AVRELI ANTONINI PII FELIC.
AVG. L. CAECILIVS. OPTATVS
TRIB. COH. I. [b]VARDVL. CVM CON *
CRANEIS. VOTVM. DEO * *
A SOLO. EXTRVCT. * * *

104. [c]T. VARIO. CLEMENTI
. . . . . .
PRAEF. EQ. ALAE. BRITAN. MILIAR. . . .

104 a. [d]T. FLAVIVS
CRENCES
EQV. ALE. [e]TAMVE
X. BRIT. AN. XXX. STIP. XV.
DOM. [f]DVROCORREM
H. S. E. FLAVIVS SILVAN
VS. DEC. A * * FVS. D
H. F. F.

105. [g]VIRIVS. SVCCIVS
EQ. IMAG. COH. I
BRIT. TVR. MONTA . .

105 a. [h]D. M.
C. JVL. C. FIL. THEVEST
CORINTHIANO. PRAEF
COH. VII. GALL. TRIBVN
[i]COH. I. BRIT. ITEM.
. . . .

106. [k]C. ALFIO. RESTITVTO
EQ. R. EQ. P. PRAEF. COH. II. BR.
EQ. TRB. COH. I. BR. M. EQ. FLAM
DIVI TITI ET CLAVD. PAVLINAE EIVS
. . . .

107. [l]NYMPHIS
SANCTISSIMIS
P. AELIVS. MARCE
LLINVS. SIGNIFER
ET. QVAESTOR. N. BRIT [m]
MORTIS. PERICVLO. LI
BER. V. S. L. M.
[n]IMP. COMM. AVG
FELICE. V. ET. GLABRIONE
IT. COSS.

107 a. [o]NYMPHIS
N. BRITTON.
[p]TRIPVTIEN.
SVB. CVRA.

M * VLPI
MALCHI.
O LEG. XXII.
PR. P. F.

108. [q]TI. CLAVDIO. ZENON. VLPIAN. VERRAE. F
TRIB. CONFASTORVM. TRIB. COH. I. FI.
BRITTON. . . . . .
. . . . . .
SVB. PRAEF. VIGIL. [r]B.

108 a. [s]JVNO. R. ET. MINER. SAC
GENIO. COH. III. BRIT. ARAM
T. FL. FELIX. PRAEF. EX
VOTO. POSVIT. L. M. . . .
DEDICAVIT. KAL. DEC
GENTIANO. ET
BASSO. COS [t]
. . . .

109. [u]C. NONIO.
C. F. AN. CAEPIANO
. . . . . .
PRAEF. COH. III. BRITTO
NVM. VETERANOR
EQVITATAE. TRIB. LEG. I. ADIV
TRICIS. PIAE. FIDELIS. PRAEF
ALAE. I. [v]ASTVRVM. . .

109 a. [w]L. TERENTIO
M. F. QVIR. RVF
PRAEF. COH. VI. BRITTON
O. LEG. I. M. P. F. DON. DON. AB
IMP. TRAIANO. BEL. DAC
. . . . .

110. [x]T. APPAEO. T. F. VEL.
ALFINO. SECVNDO
. . . . .
. . TRIB. COH
I. AELIAE BRITTON. PRAEF
COH. IIII. [y]GALLOR. . .

111. [z]T. FL. BARSI. V
ETER. ALAE. I. FL
AVG. BRIT *
M. C. R. . .

112. [aa]T. F. VERECVND
MAG. EQVES. ALAE
I. FLA. AVG. BRIT. M.
C. R. IVR. ITALICI. . .

[a] Caracallæ? De nominibus "Pius," "Felix," confer quæ notaverunt, Horsl. p. 242. Eckhel. Doct. Num. Vet. VIII. p. 453.

[b] Vardullorum. Item, ibid. "Genio et Signis Coh. I. F. Vard. C.R. Eq. M.", Hodgson, I. pt. II. pp. 142. 144; cf. supra, 18.

[c] In agro Valeriæ, Grut. CCCCLXXXII. 4. v. et ibid. 5, 6, 7, 8. Steiner, Codex Inscript. Rom. Rheni, No. 825-6; "Ala, II. Brit. I. Mil. C. R. et Aug." ex tabula honest. missionis temp. M. Aurel. et L. Veri inscripta, apud Arneth, Zwölf Römische Militär. Diplome, p. 10.

[d] Prope Viennam, Bulletin. dell. Inst. Archeol. Roman. 1832, p. 48.

[e] Tamuensis? Alæ Tami. Gruter, XLV. No. 4.

[f] Durocornoviensis?

[g] Pantaliæ ad Danubium, Murat. DCCCLXX. 5. Marsili, Danubius Pannonico-Mysius, II., p. 97.

[h] Albæ Juliæ, Gruter, CCCCXXV. No. 5.

[i] In tabulis honestæ missionis memorantur Cohortes quæ sequuntur, nempe, I. Britannica in Pannonia sub Atilio Rufo militans Titi Trib. Pot. IX. A.D. 80. I. Britannica Milliaria et I. Brittonum Milliaria in Pannonia sub L. Funisiano Vettoniano, Domitiani Trib. Pot. IV. A.D. 84. I. Britannica Mil. C.R. in Dacia sub D. Terentio Scauriano, Trajani Trib. Pot. XIV. A.D. 110. Brittonum Milliaria cui præest L. Nonius Bassus Picen. Imp. Anton. Pio, Arneth, pp. 33. 39. 49. 61. Pedites singulares Britannici in Dacia sub D. Terentio Scauriano, ibid. p. 49. Vexillationes Britannicas memorant tegulæ prope Noviomagum repertæ. Janssen, Mus. Lugd. Bat. Inscript. Lug. Bat. 1842, p. 127. No. 22.

[k] Augustæ Taurinor. Murat. DCCLXXVIII. 2. Cohors IV. Brittonum Antoninia. Horsley, Northumb. LXXVI.; cf. ibid. Scot. XX. Centurio Brittonum, Steiner, No. 58.

[l] In oppido Zaswaros, Transilvaniæ, Grut. XCIV. 2.

[m] Item Aschaffenberg, Steiner, Nos. 161. 166, ibid. No. 756.

[n] A.D. 186.

[o] Amorbach, Horsl. p. 305, Steiner, No. 175. Item Würzburg, ibid. No. 277; cf. infra, 132 a.

[p] Tripontii, Rugby? in agro Warwicensi.

[q] Pisauri, Murat. MCXIV. 5. Item in S. Vito opp. Carinthiæ, Gruter, p. 103, No. 13. Cohors II. Fl? Britton. supra, 11.

[r] Brittonum? Mur.

[s] Eining in Bavaria. Gruter, XXIV. No. 7.

[t] A.D. 211. [u] Arimini, Maffei, Mus. Veron. CCCLXV. 3.

[v] v. sup. n. 66.

[w] Bracara, Lusit. Gruter, p. MCI. No. 3.

[x] Firmi, Doni. IV. 28.

[y] v. sup. n. 88 a.

[z] Extra Viennam, Grut. DXLI. 8.

[aa] Extra Viennam, Grut. DXLII. 7.

Digitized by Google

112*a*. [a] DE * VAGDAVER. CVSTI. SIM * I
CIVS. SVPER. DEC. ALAE. VOCONTIOR
EXERCITVVS. BRITANNICI

113. [b] D. M. S.
NIG. MARINIANVS
EQ. SING. KAS. PR. STIP
XVIII. NATIONE BRI
TANICIANVS VIXIT A
NNOS XXXVIII. MENS. V. DI
ES XXIII. NIG. MARINIANVS
FIL VTRISQVE POSVIT.

114. [c] D. M.
M. VLPIO. IVSTO
EQ. SING. AVG.
MILITAVIT. ANN. XXV
VIX. XLV. NATIONE. BRITTO.
. . . . . .

114*a*. [d] DIS M M SIOVEFIVS. F S
5 VINDICIS. AN. XX
STIP. VIIII NAT
IONIS. BRIGANS
MILITAVIT. IN
COH. II. THR.

114*b*. [e] IN. H. D. D.
DIABVS.
MALVISIIS.
ET. SILVANO.
AVR. VERE
CVNDVS.
ORD. BRITO.
V. S. L. M.

115. [f] DEO
MARTI
* [g] OCIDIO
MARTIVS
* OH I [h] DA
GENIO VALL *
L. M.

116. [i] DEO
MARTI BELVTVCAD
RO ET NVMI
NIB. AVGG.
IVLIVS AV
GVSTALIS
ACTOR IVLIV
PI PREF

116*a*. [k] DEO
[l] BLATVCAOR
AVDAGVS
V. S. P. SS.

117. [m] DEAE
SVLI MI
NERVAE SVLINVS
MATV
RI. FIL
V. S. L. M.

118. [n] DEO. MERCV
RIO. IVL. CERS
CENS SIGILL
COL LIGN. CVLT
M EIVS. D. S. D
V. S. L. M.

119. [o] NVM. AVG
DEO. MERC
SIGN. POSV
ERVNT. CVL
TORES. COL
LIGNI. EIVS
DEM DEI CVRA
ING. RVFO
V S L M

120. [p] DEO. VE
TIRI. SAN
CTO. AN DIATIS
V. S. L. M. F

121. [q] DEO
MAPONO
ET N. AVG.
DVRIO
ET RAMI
ET. TRVPO ET LVRIO
GERMA
NI. V. S. L. M.

121 a. [r] DEO. HER *
[s] SAEGON * *
T. TAMMON *
* SAEN. TAMMON *
* VITALIS *
* * * HONO *

122. [t] * * *
OMNIVM.
GENTIVM TEMPLVM.
OLIM VETVS
TATE CONLAB
SVM G. IVL *
PITANVS *
P. P. RESTITVIT

[a] Hemmen, Jährbücher des Vereins von Alterthumfreunden im Rheinlande, II. p. 140.
[b] Ex Ædibus Barberianis, Maffei, Mus. Veronense, CCLV. 1.
[c] Romæ, Grut. DLXIX. 5.
[d] Penes Soc. Ant. Scot. Stuart, p. 218, pl. VI. fig. 3.
[e] Cologne, Steiner, No. 887. Gruter, XCI. 6.
[f] Oldwall, Cumberl. Lys. 51. cf. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 299.
[g] Cocidio [h] Dacorum
[i] Plumpton Wall, Cumberl. Lys. 37.
[k] Brougham Castle, Westmorel. penes Soc. Ant. Newc. Archæol. Ælian. I. Appendix, No. I.
[l] Belutucadro. Item Cambeck, Cumb. Horsl. XXXI. pp. 260-1. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 216; cf. Horsl. LX. p. 278. Hodgson, pp. 223. 320.
[m] Bath, Lys. X. 4.
[n] Birrens prope Middleby, Scotl. Horsl. XXXV. Stuart, pl. II. 4. p. 128; cf. inscriptionem huic pene similem, sed alibi repertam, Muratori, MMXVI. 2.
[o] Middleby, Scotl. Horsl. XXXVI. Stuart, pl. II. 5. p. 128.
[p] Netherby, Cumberl. Lys. 56. 'Deo Veteri,' Carrawbrough, Northumb. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 184; cf. Journal of British Archæol. Assoc. III. p. 124. 'Vetri Sancto,' Benwell, North. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 177. De Deo Vitire, cf. Horsl. p. 288, Hodgson, p. 321.
[q] Armthwaite, Cumberl. Lys. 67.
[r] Silchester, Phil. Trans. XLVII. p. 200. (No. 474.)
[s] Sægontiacorum?
[t] Cambeck, Cumberl. Horsl. XXXIV.

Digitized by Google

123. [a] GENIO LOCI
FORTVNAE RED
ROMAE AETERNAE
ET FATO BONO
G. CORNELIVS
PEREGRINVS
TRIB COHORT
EX PROVINC
MAVR CAESA
DOMOS ET AED
DECVR *

124. [b] *EPTVNO. ET. MINERVAE
TEMPLVM
* O. SALVTE. DO[MVS.] DIVINAE
AVCTORITA[TE TIB.] CLAVD.
* GIDVBNI. R. LE[GA] AVG. IN BRIT.
* GIVM. FABROR. ET QVI. IN EO
* D. S. D. DONANTE AREAM
* ENTE PVDENTINI. FIL.

125. [c] BRIGANTIAE. S. AMANDVS
ARCITECTVS. EX IMPERIO. IMP. I.

126. [d] DEAE NEHALENNIAE
OB MERCES RITE CONSER
VATAS M. SECVND SILVANVS
NEGOTTOR CRETARIVS
BRITANNICIANVS
V. S. L. M.

126*a*. [e] IMMINET. LEONI. VIRGO. COELESTI. SITV.
SPICIFERA. JVSTI. INVENTRIX. VRBIVM. CONDITRIX.
EX QUIS MVNERIBVS. NOSSE CONTIGIT DEOS
ERGO EADEM MATER DIVVM PAX VIRTVS. CERES
[f] DEA SYRIA LANCE VITAM ET JVRA PENSITANS
IN COELO VISVM SYRIA SIDVS EDIDIT
LIBYAE COLENDVM INDE CVNCTI DIDICIMVS
ITA INTELLEXIT NVMINE INDVCTVS TVO
MARCVS CAECILIVS DONATIANVS MILITANS
TRIBVNVS IN PRAEFECTO DONO PRINCIPIS.

126*b*. [g] DEO
ARCIACON
ET. N. AVG[h] SI
MAT. VTALS
ORD [i] V. S. M

126*c*. [k] ΗΡΑΚΛΕΙ
ΤΙΡΙΩ
ΔΙΟΔΩΡΑ
ΑΡΧΙΕΡΕΙΑ

127. [l] DEC COLONIAE [m] GLEV
VIXIT AN LXXX. Q VI.

128. [n] M. VEREC DIOGENES [o] IIIIII VIR COL.
EBOR IBIDEMQ MORT CIVES BITVRIX
CVBVS HAEC SIBI VIVVS FECIT.

129. [p] * CIVITATE [q] CAT
VVELLAVN
ORVM. T OIS
* DIO

130. [r] MOGONT CAD
ET. N. D. N AVG
M. G. SECVNDINVS
BF. COS. [s] HABITA
NCI. PRIMA STA
PRO SE ET SVIS POS.

131. [t] D R S
DVPL. N. EXPLOR
[u] BREMENI ARAM
INSTITVERVNT
N. EIVS C. CAEP
CHARITINO TRIB
V S L M.

132. CN. MVNATIVS. M. F. PAL
AVRELIVS BASSVS
. . . . .
. . . . . PRAEF. COH. II
ASTVRVM. CENSITOR. CIVIVM
ROMANORVM. COLONIAE. VICTRICENSIS
QVAE. EST. IN. BRITTANNIA. [w] CAMALODVNI

132*a*. [x] FORTVNAE. SAC.
BRITTONES. [y] TRIP.
QVI. SVNT. SVB. CVRA.
T. MANI. T. F. POLLIA.
MAGNI. SENOPE.
Ↄ LEG. XXII. P. P. F. O. P.

132*b*. [z] ABALLAVA [aa] VXELLODVM [bb] CAMBOGLANS [cc] BANNA.
A. MAIS.

133. [dd] TI. CLAUDIUS CAESAR. AUG. P. M.
TRIB. P. VIIII. IMP. XVI. [ee] DE. BRITAN.

134. [ff] NERONIS AVG. EX KIAN. IIII COS [gg] BRIT.
HVL P M CO EX ARGE N
CAPA ↃC? IV
XXX

[a] Ellenborough, Cumberl. Horsl. LXVIII.
[b] Chichester, Sussex, Horsl. 1. Philos. Trans. XXXII. p. 391. (No. 379.)
[c] Middleby, Scotl. Horsl. XXXIV. Stuart, pl. II. 3. p. 124. cf. "Deæ Nymphæ Brig." Horsl. p. 315. "Dui Ci Brig. et numm. Augg." supra, 17.
[d] Dombergi in Zelandia, Reines. CLXXVII. 1. Nehalenniam memorant inscriptiones apud Deutz prope Cologne repertæ, Steiner, No. 900-1. "Negotiatorem arti Creta." Rottenberg. ibid. No. 3.
[e] Caervorran, Northumb. Archæol. Ælian. Vol. I. pt. I. p. 107.
[f] Ibid. Hodgson, III. pt. II. p. 138.
[g] Eboraci A.D. 1846 reperta, et in Museo ibidem asservata. Journal of the British Archæol. Assoc. II. p. 248.
[h] Numinibus Augustorum. [i] Simatius Vitalis Ordovix?
[k] Corbridge, Northumb. Horsl. CVI. penes Mus. Brit. Confer inscriptiones Græcas, alteram apud Corbridge, alteram apud Ellenborough repertam, Hodgson, III. pt. II. pp. 242.
[l] Bath, Somerset, Horsl. V. [m] Glevensis, hod. Gloucester.
[n] York, Horsl. X.; cf. Kenrick apud Transact. York. Philosoph. Soc. A.D. 1847.
[o] Sevir Coloniæ Eboracensis, hod. York.
[p] Cambeck, Cumberl. Horsl. XXVII. Philos. Trans. XXX. p. 813. (No. 356.)
[q] Verulam conjectant.
[r] Risingham, Northumberl. Horsl. LXXX.
[s] Hod. Risingham.
[t] Riechester vel Rochester, Northumberl. Horsl. XCV.
[u] Hod. Riechester vel Rochester.
[v] Nomenti, Grut. CCCCXXXIX. 5.
[w] v. sup. p. XXXVIII. [x] Schlossen, Steiner, No. 94.
[y] Tripuntium, hodie, Rugby? supra, 107 a.
[z] Ex patera ænea apud Rudge in agro Wintonensi reperta, Horsl. I.
[aa] Hod. Watchcross?
[bb] Hod. Brugh? [cc] Amboglanna. Hod. Burdoswald?
[dd] Ex lamina plumbea juxta Mendip in agro Somersetensi reperta. Leland, Assert. Arthuri, Collectanea, V. p. 45. Gough, Camden, I. 82.
[ee] A.D. 49.
[ff] Ex massa plumbi prope Stockbridge in agro Hantoniensi reperta, penes Johan. M. Elwes Armig. apud Bossington House, Stockbridge.
[gg] A.D. 60-68.

Digitized by Google

135. [a] IMP. VESP. V * IMP. III. [b] COS
DE CEANGI.

136. [c] IMP. VESP. VII. T. IMP. V. [d] COS.

137. [e] IMP. CAES. DOMITIANO. AVG. COS. [f] VII.

138. [g] IMP. CAES. DOMITIANO. AVG. COS. [f] VII.
BRIG.

139. [h] IMP. HADRIANI. AVG.

140. [i] IMP. CAES. HADRIANI. AVG MET. [k] LVT.

141. [l] IMP DVOR AVG ANTONINI
ET VERI [m] ARMENIACORVM

142. [n] TI. CL. TR. LVT. BR. EX. ARG.

143. [o] T. CL TR. LVT. BR. EX ARG.

144. [p] L. ARVCONI VERECVNDI METAL LVTVD.

144 a. [q] EX [r] OFFE
HONORINI

[a] Ex massa plumbi apud Great Boughton in agro Cestrensi reperta, penes Marchion. Westmon. apud Eaton Hall.

[b] A.D. 74.

[c] Ex massa plumbi apud Hints in agro Staffordiensi reperta. Gough, ubi sup. II. 503.

[d] A.D. 76.

[e] Ex massa plumbi apud Hayshaw Moor in agro Eboracensi reperta, et in Museo Britannico asservata.

[f] A.D. 81.

[g] Ex massa plumbi itidem apud Hayshaw Moor reperta. Philosoph. Transact. XLI. p. 560. XLIX. p. 687. Gough, ubi sup. II. 293. De viginti massis plumbi titulis Vespasiani et Domitiani inscriptis et in agro Cestrensi repertis confer Camden, II. p. 426, ed. Gough, Horsl. p. 316.

[h] Ex massa plumbi prope Westbury in agro Salopiensi reperta, et in Museo Britannico asservata. Eadem memorantur in massa plumbi prope Shelve in agro Salopiensi reperta et penes Georg. More, Armig. apud Linley Hall in eodem agro, et in alia apud Bath reperta et in Museo ibidem asservata.

[i] Item prope Matlock in agro Derbiensi reperta, et in Museo Britannico asservata, Archæologia, v. p. 369.

[k] Lutudarum, hodie Chesterfield?

[l] Item juxta Bruton in agro Somersetensi reperta. Horsl. I.

[m] A.D. 163-169.

[n] Item juxta Matlock reperta. Archæologia, IX. p. 46.

[o] Ex massa plumbi cum tribus aliis simili titulo inscriptis apud Pulborough in agro Sussexiensi reperta, et in Museo Britannico asservata.

[p] Ex massa plumbi juxta Matlock reperta et in Museo Britannico asservata, Archæologia, VII. p. 170.

[q] Ex massa argenti cum nummis Honorii et Arcadii apud Turrim Londin. reperta et in Museo Britannico asservata. Archæologia, v. p. 291.

[r] Officina.

Digitized by Google

INDEX RERUM

QUÆ IN

EXCERPTIS DE BRITANNIA CONTINENTUR.

A.

Aballaba, ibi stationem habet præfectus numeri Maurorum Aurelianorum, xxiv 2.
Abies in Britannia non reperitur, xxxi 2.
Adelfius, episcopus de civitate Colonia Londinensium, synodo Arelatensi interest, xcix.
Adminius, Cinobellini regis Britannorum filius, in deditionem Caligulæ venit, xlix.
Adrianus, Hadrianus, imperator, Britanniam petit, multa ibi corrigit, murum ad Barbaros Romanosque dividendos per octoginta millia passuum ducit, compositisque rebus Galliam redit, lxv;
ejus versus ad Florum poetam, lxv;
Julium Severum, Britanniæ præfectum, contra Judæos mittit, lix 2.
v. Hadrianus.
Adtanatos, Thanatos, insula, ejus situs et fertilitas, x, cii 2;
a morte serpentum nomen habet, cii 2;
ibi nullus anguis; ejus terra angues necat, x, cii 2.
v. Thanatos.
Adurni portu, ibi stationem habet præpositus numeri Exploratorum, xxiv.
Ædificia Britannorum Gallicis fere consimilia, xxxi 2, n.[b]
Ædui, eorum civitas ex Britannica victoria artifices accipit a quibus instauratur, lxix.
Ælianus, excerptum ex ejus libro de Natura Animalium, xciv 2, n.[g]
Æsica, ibi stationem habet tribunus cohortis primæ Astorum, xxiv 2.
Æstus maritimi apud insulas Britannicas describuntur, ii 2, viii, xxviii 2, xcvi Æstyi, Suevici maris gentes, eorum ritus habitusque Suevorum, lingua Britannicæ propior, xli 2.
Æthicus, excerpta ex Cosmographia ei ascripta, xviii 2, n.[d]
Agassæi, canes, a Britannis aluntur, xciii 2.
Agathemerus, excerpta ex ejus Geographia, xviii 2, n.[a] Agricola, Cn. Julius, rudimenta castrorum in Britannia Suetonio Paullino approbat, xli 2;
in partes Vespasiani transgressus, legioni vicesimæ præficitur, xlii;
Britanniæ præponitur, xlii;
quo statu Britanniam accipit, xliv;
Ordovicas debellat; Monam insulam in potestatem redigit, xliv;
ejus prudentia circa res publicas privatasque, xliv 1, 2;
a multis civitatibus obsides accipit, xliv 2;
principum Britannorum liberos artibus ingenuis erudit, Britannos ad civilitatem illicit, hortaturque ut templa, fora, domus, extruerent, xliv 2;
ejus peritia in castellis ponendis, xliv 2;
novas gentes aperit, nationibus ad Taum usque vastatis, xliv 2;
ejus mores, xlv;
spatium inter Clotam et Bodotriam præsidiis firmat; ignotas ad id tempus gentes domat; Britanniam ex opposito Hiberniæ copiis instruit, xlv;
regulum quendam ex Hibernia excipit, xlv;
portus trans Bodotriam classe explorat, xlv;
Caledoniam iturus, exercitum trifariam dividit, xlv 1, 2;
Britannos nonam legionem aggressos fugat, xlv 2;
ad montem Grampium, ab hostibus insessum, pervenit, xlvi;
ejus oratio ad milites contra Britannos pugnaturos, xlvi 2, xlvii;
exercitum disponit, xlvii;
Batavos et Tungros jubet Britannos aggredi, xlvii;
pugnæ ad montem Grampium descriptio, xlvii 1, 2;
victis Britannis, in fines Horestorum exercitum ducit, xlvii 2;
ibi obsidibus acceptis, præfecto classis circumvehi Britanniam præcipit, xlvii;
ejus classis portum Trutulensem redit, xlviii;
Britanniam insulam esse deprehendit, lix 2;
copias in hibernis locat, xlviii;
a Domitiano triumphalia accipit, xlviii;
provinciam successori tradit, Romamque revertitur, xlviii.
Agricola, Calpurnius, Calphurnius, legatus Augustalis, adversus Britannos a Marco Antonino imperatore mittitur, lxv 2.
Agricola Pelagianus, ecclesias Britanniæ corrumpit, lxxxii.
Agrippa, historicus, Britanniæ longitudo et latitudo secundum eum, viii.
Agrippina Claudium extinguit, xc, n.[i]
Agrippina, eam Romæ veneratur Caractacus, xxxvii.
Albanus Martyr in Britannia profertur, cii 2.
Albinus, Clodius, copiis Romanorum in Britannia præest, lxii, lxv 2, lxxi;
imperium arripit, lx, lxii 2, lxxi;
a Severo Cæsar consalutatur, lxii;
ab eo circumvenitur, lxii 2;
e Britannia in Galliam transit, lxii 2;
a Severo prope Lugdunum victus, capite truncatur, lxiii, lxxi, lxxix 2;
Cæsarem nondum dictatorem Britannias subegisse memorat, lxv 2.
Alata Castra, xiv;
ejus situs, xvi;
dies longissima, xvi.
Albion, insula Britannica, xi, xx;
nomen Britanniæ olim inditum, viii;
ejus situs, i, xii, xv 2, xvii 1, 2, xviii 1, 2, xix 2;
ejus descriptio, xii, xvii 2;
ejus laterum descriptio, xii, xiii;
ejus circuitus, longitudo et latitudo, xviii;
ejus promontoria, flumina, chersonesus, sinus, portus, nationes, xii, xv, xviii;
ejus oppida sive civitates, xii, xv 2, xvi, xviii;
maxima insularum præter Salicem, xviii 2;
ibi castra extructa, xviii 2.
v. Britannia.
Alexander Severus, Augustus, cum paucis in Britannia agens, occiditur, lxvi, xcv 2
Alionæ, ibi stationem habet tribunus cohortis tertiæ Nerviorum, xxiv 2.
Allectus, Carausii socius, Carausium dolo circumvenit, lxxi 2, lxxii 2, lxxx; Britannias tribus annis tenet, lxxii 2, lxxx;
ab exercitu Constantii Cæsaris opprimitur, lxviii, n.[a];
ab Asclepiodoto præfecto prætorio opprimitur, lxxii 2, lxxx.
Alypius, olim Britanniarum pro præfectis, negotium templi Hierosolymis instaurandi a Juliano imperatore suscipit, lxxiii 2;
ex vicario Britanniarum veneficii reus citatur, lxxiv 2.
Amboglanna, ibi stationem habet tribunus cohortis primæ Æliæ Dacorum, xxiv 2.
Ambrosius, S., excerptum ex ejus Homeliis, xcvi, n.[d]; ei, historia de Bello Judaico potius quam Hegesippo tribuenda censetur, xxxv 2, n.[h]
Ammianus Marcellinus, excerpta ex ejus Historiis, lxxii 2, n.[n]
Amnitæ Baccho sacra celebrant in insulis prope Britanniam, xvi 2; apud Nesidas, xx 2.
Ampelius, Lucius, excerpta ex ejus Libro Memoriali, lxx 2, n.[d]
Ancalites, populi Britanniæ, Cæsari se dedunt, xxxiii.
Andate, lvii 2. v. Andraste.
Anderidæ, ibi stationem habet præpositus numeri Abulcorum, xxiv.
Andragathius, comes, Maximi summam belli administrat, lxxx; cognita nece ejus suffocatus est, lxxx 2.
Andraste, Andate sive Victoria, a Bunduica invocatur, lvii 2;
in luco ei dicato a Britannis colitur, lviii.
Androgorius, dux Trinobantum, Cæsari se dedit, lxxix. v. Mandubratius.
Angili, populi Brittiæ, lxxxiv.
Angli, velut alii Suevi, deam Herthum vel Terram matrem colunt, xli 2.
Anguinum, quid de hoc sentiant Druidæ, cv.
Annulus apud Britannias in medio digito geritur, ix 2.
Anschis, Saxonicus, Britanniam ex Saxonia venit, xxiv 2.
Anser a Britannis non gustatur, xxxi 2.
Anthemius, imperator, solatia Britonum contra Euricum regem Vesegothorum postulat, lxxxiii 2.

Digitized by Google

Anthologia, excerpta inde de laudibus Claudii Cæsaris, lxxxix 2.
Antona, fluvius, ab Ostorio castris cingitur, xxxvi.
Antoninus Augustus, excerpta ex Itinerario ei ascripto, xx 2.
Antoninus Pius, imperator, Brigantas magna parte eorum terræ multat, l 2;
Britannos per Lollium Urbicum, legatum, vincit, lxv 2;
murum cespiticium in Britannia ad summovendos barbaros ducit, lxv 2;
inscriptiones ibi repertæ quæ eum memorant, v. Index Inscriptionum;
laus belli Britannici confecti a Frontone ei tribuitur, lxvii 2.
Antonius, Marcus, gesta Julii Cæsaris in Britannia memorat, liii.
Aper, M., se in Britannia senem vidisse refert, qui Julio Cæsari arma Britanniæ inferenti repugnaverat, xci 2, n.[k]
Apollinaris Sidonius, C. S., excerpta ex ejus Carminibus, c 2, n.[m]
Apollonius Alexandrinus, excerptum ex ejus Historia Commentitia, xciii 2, n.[b]
Appianus Alexandrinus, excerpta ex ejus Historia Romana, l 2, n.[i], xciii, n.[c]
Aquileia, ibi occiditur Maximus, lxxxii; Rutupinum punit latronem, xcvii, n.[k]
Arbeja, ibi stationem habet præfectus numeri Barcariorum Tigrisiensium, xxiv.
Arbogastes, comes, Victorem filium Maximi tyranni in Galliis interficit, lxxxii.
Areani, proditionis rei, a Theodosio stationibus suis in Britannia removentur, lxxiv 2.
Arelatensis synodus, excerptum ex ejus actis, xcix, n.[a];
ad eam conveniunt episcopi ex Britannia, xcix.
Argentocoxus, Caledonius, ejus uxoris ad Juliam Augustam faceta responsio, lxii.
Argentum in Britannia nascitur, vi 2, xliii. v. Britannia.
Ariminum, eo ad synodum conveniunt episcopi ex Britannia, xcix 2.
Aristides Adrianensis, excerptum ex ejus oratione Ægyptiaca, xciii 2, n.[f]; insulam magnam, nempe Britanniam, contra Iberos memorat, xciii 2.
Aristobulus, e septuaginta Christi discipulis, a S. Paulo ad Britannos missus, multos ad Christum venire suadet, ecclesiam ædificat, seniores diaconosque ordinat, ibidemque diem claudit, cii 2, ciii.
Aristoteles, excerptum ex ejus tractatu de Mundo, i, n.[c]; de Republica, lxxxvii, n.[g]
Arma Britannorum, xlvii, lvii 2, lx 2, lxiv. v. Britanni.
Armillæ eburneæ e Celtica a Britannis accipiuntur, vii.
Arminius, diaconus e civitate Colonia Londinensium, synodo Arelatensi interest, xcix.
Armorica, Aremorica, tractus ejus, Britannos imitatus civilem politiam sibi instituens, Romanorum præfectos expellit, lxxviii 2, lxxix; piratam Saxona sperat, c 2.
Artemidorus, secundum eum in quadam insula prope Britanniam sacra Cereri et Proserpinæ fiunt, vi.
Arvandus accusatur quod Britannos super Ligerim sitos impugnandos dictasset, ci.
Arviragus, rex, de temone Britanno excidet, xci 2.
Asclepiades Britannos ad centum viginti annos vitam producere asserit, xcii 2.
Asclepiodotus, præfectus prætorio, Allectum opprimit, lxxii 2, lxxx;
Britanniam post decem annos recipit, lxxx, lxxxi 2.
Asiaticus, Valer., in Britannia militat, xxxvi.
Athanasius, excerpta ex ejus Apologia contra Arianos; Historia Arianorum; Epistola ad Jovianum imperatorem, xcv 2, nn.[h i k]
Athenæus, excerptum ex ejus libro Deipnosophistarum, xciv, n.[a] Atrius, Q., præsidio navibus in Britannia a Cæsare præficitur, xxxi.
Attacotti Britannos continue vexant, lxxiii 2;
multa populantur, lxxiii 2. v. Atticotti.
Atticotti, gens Britannica, humanis vescuntur carnibus, xcix;
promiscuas uxores, communes liberos habent, xcix.
Atticus, Aulus, cohortis præfectus, a Britannis occiditur, xlvii 2.
Auctor incertus, excerpta inde de Constantio Chloro, et Constantino Magno, lxxv, n.[e] Augures, sacrificatores et physiologistæ apud Gallos, ciii 2; eorum ritus augurandi, ciii 2, civ.
v. Druidæ.
Augusta, civitas, xxv 2;
vetus oppidum, lxxiii 2, lxxiv.
v. Londinium.
Augustus Cæsar a Britannorum principibus placatur, vii;
Britanniam in oblivione habet, xliii;
in Britanniam militaturus, Galliam venit, liii 1, 2;
denuo eam petiturus, rebellione Salassiorum retinetur, liii 2;
Druidis religionem interdicit, cv 2.
Avienus, Rufus Festus, excerpta ex ejus Descriptione Orbis terræ; Ora Maritima, xix 1, 2, nn.[d f]
Aurelius Victor, Sextus, excerpta ex ejus operibus de Viris illustribus, de Cæsaribus; et ex Epitome, lxxi 1, 2, nn.[d k], xcv, n.[l]
Aurum in Britannia nascitur, vi 2, xliii. v. Britannia.
Ausonius, Q. M., excerpta ex ejus Carminibus, xcvi 2, n.[f]
Axeloduno, ibi stationem habet tribunus cohortis primæ Hispanorum, xxiv 2.

B.

Bacchus Britanniam nunquam bello lacessivit, ii 2;
ejus orgia a feminis celebrantur apud Britannos, xvi 2, xix 2; apud Nesidas, xx 2.
Baleares insulæ, in Oceano Mediterraneo, ci 2.
Barbari, xxviii, et passim. v. Britanni.
Bardi, carmina de peremptis bello fundunt, xc 2;
cantores apud Gallos, ciii 2.
Bascauda Britannorum, xci 2.
Basilius, S., excerptum ex ejus Homeliis, xcvi, n.[c]
Batavi, eorum cohortes dum Britanniam peterent superbe agunt, xl;
eo transmissæ gloriam augent, xli;
Mogontiaci agentes, a Civili pelliciuntur, xli;
cum Tungris, jussu Agricolæ, Britannos apud montem Grampium aggrediuntur, xlvii; Britanniam cum Lupicino veniunt, lxxiii; cum Theodosio, lxxiii 2;
eorum cohors prima, xxiv 2. v. Index Inscriptionum.
Belerium, Bolerium, Britanniæ promontorium, ejus situs, ii 2, xii 2;
incolarum comitas erga peregrinos, ii 2;
quomodo cassiteron elaborant, Ictimque vehunt, ii 2.
v. Bolerium, Britanni.
Belgæ, Galliæ populi, Britanniam transvecti, ejus partem maritimam incolunt, nominibusque civitatum unde orti sint appellantur, xxxi 2.
Belisarius Gothos, Romanorum permissu, Britanniam possidere testatur, lxxxiii 2.
Bellovaci, Galliæ populi, eorum principes a Romanis deficientes in Britanniam profugiunt, xxvii.
Bericus quidam expulsus Britannia, Claudio ut eo exercitum mitteret suadet, liv.
Bibroci, populi Britanniæ, Cæsari se dedunt, xxxiii.
Bigæ, viii, lxxxiii. v. Currus.
Bodotria, æstuarium, spatium inter eam et Clotam præsidiis ab Agricola firmatur, xlv.
Boduni, populi Britanniæ Catuellanis subjecti, a Plautio ad pacem flectuntur, liv.
Bolanus, Vettius, Britanniam loco Trebellii Maximi mittitur, xl 1, 2;
Britanniæ præest placidius quam feroci provincia dignum, xlii;
eam segniter administrat, xliii 2;
Thulen intrat; in Calydoniis campis gloriam meret; speculas atque castella construit; mænia fossa cingit; regi Britanno thoraca rapit, xcii, n.[d]
Bolerium sive Antivestæum, promontorium, xii 2. v. Belerium.
Bonosus, tyrannus, Britannus origine, Britannias sibi vindicat, lxvi;
a Probo vincitur, lxvi.
Borcovico, ibi stationem habet tribunus cohortis primæ Tungrorum, xxiv 2.
Boudicea, Bunduica, Prasutagi uxor, Icenorum regina, a Romanis verberibus afficitur, xxxviii; compatriotas in eos incitat, lvi;
exercitum ad centum viginti millia contrahit, lvi;
Londinium et Verulamium diripit et evertit, xxxviii 2, lvii 2;
ejus crudelitates in captivos, xxxviii 2, lvii 2;
copias, curru sedens, contra Suetonium Paullinum instruit, xxxviii 2, lviii;
ejus aspectus et vestitus, lvi;
oratio ad milites, xxxviii 2, lvi, lvii;
leporem, quasi in omen, e sinu emittit, lvii 2;
Andrastem deam invocat, lvii 2;
pugnam cum Suetonio Paullino committit, xxxix, lviii; pugnæ descriptio, xxxix, lix;
a Suetonio victa, xxxix, xliii 2, lix;
vitam veneno finit, xxxix; morbo decedit, lix;
splendore maximo sepelitur, lix.
Braboniacum, ibi stationem habet præfectus numeri defensorum, xxiv.
Brachæ Britonum, xci 2.
Branoduno, ibi stationem habet præpositus equitum Dalmatarum Branodunensium, xxiv.
Bremetenraco, ibi stationem habet cuneus Armaturarum, xxiv 2.
Brettanides, Britannides, insulæ, earum situs, xx 1, 2;
ibi gignitur gagates, xx 2.
v. Britannia.

Digitized by Google

Briareus Saturnum somno vinctum in quadam insula Britannica tenet, xcii 2.
Brigantæ, Brigantes, populi Britanniæ, a Claudio Cæsare vincuntur, xc;
eorum castella, xci 2;
in Romanos rebellant, sed paucis ab Ostorio interfectis residunt, xxxvi;
Venusio Cartismanduæ marito adhærentes, ab ea deficiunt, xli;
eorum regnum Venusio relinquitur, xli;
civitas numerosissima, a Petilio Cereali plerique domantur, xliv;
magna parte terræ ab Antonino Pio multantur, quia Genunios agros incursaverant, l 2.
Brigantia, civitas Galliciæ, pharus ejus, xix.
Brigantium, ejus parallelus, xvi.
Britannæ, glasto oblitæ, in sacris nudæ incedunt, ix.
Britanni; eorum sedes, xvi 2, xx; eorum multitudo infinita, ii 2, xxxi 2; indigenæ putantur, ii 2; partim aborigines partim ex Belgio advecti, xxxi 2; indigenæ an advecti parum compertum, xlii 2:
eorum forma, vi 2; statura Celtis proceriores, vi 2; corporum habitus varii, xlii 2; Gallis proximi, iis haud absimiles, xlii 2; corpora præter caput et labrum superius rasi, xxxii; capillos promissi, xxxii; crines flavi, vi 2, xci; vitro infecti, viii, xxxii, lxxxix; animalium figuris picti, x 2, xci 2; ferro picti, lxxxiii; ferro picti genas, xcviii; ad centum viginti annos vitam producunt, xcii 2; Gallis proximi, sermone ab iis haud multum diversi, xlii 2:
vivunt frumento, ii 2; lacte et carne, xxxii; leporem, anserem et gallinam alunt, sed gustare fas non putant, xxxi 2:
vestiuntur pellibus, xxxii; brachis, xci 2; seminudi degunt, lxvii; annulum in medio digito gerunt, ix 2: v. Boudicea:
eorum reges atque principes, ii 2, vi 2, lxxxiii; principatus plurimi, vi 2; regibus diversis subjiciuntur, liv; olim regibus subjecti postea per principes factionibus trahebantur, xlii 2; civitatum conventus rarus ad commune periculum propulsandum, xlii 2; ductu fœminarum bella gerunt, xxxviii 2; imperitandi cupido iis inter causas bellorum, viii, lxxxiii; eorum reges munera Catoni mittunt, ciii; eis Roma jura dividit, xcviii:
moribus simplices, integri, frugi, ii 2; haud Celtis absimiles, vi 2; inculti, vii 2, lxxxiii; hospitibus feri, lxxxix; feroces et bellicosi, xciii; proximi Gallis, iis audacia et formidine similes, xlii 2; humanis vescuntur carnibus, xcix; injurias ægre tolerant, xliii; inquieti sub Romano jugo, xliii; delectum tributa et munera injuncta impigre obeunt, xliii; uxores communes deni duodenique habent, xxxii; eorum quibus virgo primo deducitur liberi habentur, xxxii; plurimi cum una fœmina, plurimæ cum uno homine dormiunt, ciii; uxores fortitudine viros in bello æmulantur, lvii 2; horribiles, lxxxviii 2; alio in orbe vincendi, xcviii; æquorei, lxxxix 2; aquilonigenæ, xcvii; cærulei, xci 2; minima nocte contenti, xci 2; toto orbe divisi, lxxxviii 2; invicti, lxxxix; intexti tollunt aulæa, lxxxviii 2; remoti, lxxxix; virides, lxxxix; ultimi mortalium, lxxxviii 2:
magiam exercent, ix 2; apud eos Druidum disciplina reperitur, xxxiii 2; Andatem præcipue colunt, lviii; eorum luci sacri, xxxviii, lviii; cruore aras adolent, deos hominum fibris consulunt, xxxviii; eorum conjuges nudæ in sacris, glasto oblitæ, incedunt, ix; Gallis proximi eadem cum iis sacra exercent, xlii 2: v. Druides:
pecore et finibus dites, vii 2; messes in horreis subterraneis condunt, ii 2; eorum quidam nec caseum conficere neque agriculturam nec horticulturam exercere sciunt, vi 2; interiores plerique frumentum non serunt, xxxii; terram marga alunt, ix:
eorum casæ, vii; pleræque ex virgis atque arundine constructæ, ii 2, lxxxiii; horrea subterranea, ii 2; ædificia creberrima Gallicis fere consimilia, xxxi 2, n.[f]; silvas, spatio arboribus succisis incluso, pro civitatibus habent, vii, xxxiii, lxxxiii; ibi casas sibi et pecoribus faciunt, vii, lxxxiii:
pugnant ex bigis, viii, lxxxiii; curribus, ii 2, vi 2, viii, xlii 2; picto curru, lxxxix; covinis, xlvii; covinis falcatis axibus, viii, lxxxiii, xci; carpentis, xlviii 2; essedis, xxix 1, 2, lxxxiii 2; esseda cœlatis jugis, lxxxix; equitatu, viii, lxxxiii; equestris prælii ratio, xxxii; auriga honestior, clientes propugnant, xlii; pedite dimicant, viii, lxxxiii; robur in pedite, xlii 2; gladiis ingentibus sine mucrone, cetris brevibus, utuntur, xlvii; galearum loricarumve nulla tegmina, xxxvi 2, lxiv; munimenta ex arboribus succisis extruunt, xxxi, lii; Tamesim fluvium acutis sudibus tam sub aqua quam in ripa muniunt, xxxiii; locus in silvis paludibusque vallo atque fossa munitus eis oppidum, xxxiii, lxxix 2; septum agresti aggere et aditu angusto muniunt, xxxvi; montibus arduis saxa in modum valli præstruunt, xxxvi 2:
navigiis vitilibus corio circumsutis utuntur, viii 2, xci; iis Mictim navigant, viii 2; scaphas exploratorias Pictas vocant, xcvi 2:
ære importato utuntur, xxxi 2; ære aut taleis ferreis pro nummo utuntur, xxxi 2:
Britanni, cont.
exportant frumentum, pecora, aurum, argentum, ferrum, pelles, mancipia, canes venaticos, vi; important ex Celtica armillas eburneas, monilia, succinum, vasa chrystallina, et alia hujusmodi, vii, v. Britannia; vectigalia mercimonii causa Romanis pendunt, v, vii; iis commercia negat oceanus hybernis mensibus, cii; eorum bascaudam Romani suam vocant, xci 2:
Atticotti, humanis vescuntur carnibus; promiscuas uxores, communes liberos, habent, xcix: v. Atticotti, Scotti:
qui prope Belerium degunt, comes in peregrinos, ii 2; cassiteron elaborant, et Ictim plaustris vehunt, ii 2: v. Belerium:
qui Caledoniam incolunt rutuli comas, magni artus, xlii 2, lxxxiii; in paludibus fere nudi natant, lxiii 2; vestium usus ignari, ferro, quod ut alii aurum æstimant, colla atque lumbos cingunt, lxiv; corpora formis animalium pungunt, lxiv; in tentoriis nudi et sine calceis degunt, lx 2; nec muros nec civitates habent, neque agriculturam exercent, lx 2; vivunt ex armentis, venatu, et baccis; pisces vero non gustant, lx 2; uxores habent communes, prolemque totam alunt, lx 2; eorum politia fere democratica, lx 2; præda gaudent, lx 2; bellicosissimi atque sævi, lxiv; pugnant tam e curribus quam e pedite, lx 2; cursu velocissimi; ab hoste deprehensi obstinate se defendunt, lx 2; scuto parvo, hasta, et ense armati, nec thoracem nec cassidem noscunt, lxiv; scuto, hasta brevi, et pugione utuntur, lx 2; labores et inediam summa cum constantia tolerant, lxi: v. Caledonii:
qui Cantium incolunt omnium humanissimi, Gallica consuetudine haud multum differunt, xxxii: v. Cantium:
qui Cassiteridas, Œstrymnidas, Siluras incolunt, numerosi, superbi, sollertes, xix 2; ex armentis vivunt, v 2; barbati, tunicis nigris talaribus circa pectus cincti, baculis innixi incedunt, v 2; deos percolunt, futurorum scientiam ostentant, x; negotiandi cura omnibus, xix 2; cum Tartessiis Carthaginiensibusque commercium exercent, xix 2; cassiteron, plumbum atque pelles cum negotiatoribus pro fictilibus, sale et æneis vasibus permutant, v 2; nummum refutant, permutationibus necessaria parant, x; navigia junctis aptant pellibus, xix 2: v. Cassiterides, Œstrymnidæ, Siluræ:
Silures, feroces, bellicosi, xxxvi 1, 2; vultus colorati, crines torti, xlii 2, lxxxiii: v. Silures, Sylores:
qui Hebudas incolunt, frugum ignari, piscibus et lacte vivunt, x; eorum rex e publico alitur; feminæ ei communes, x 2: v. Hebudæ:
qui Hiberniam, Iernem, Irim, Ivernam, incolunt, omnino feri, ægre propter frigus vitam tolerant, iv 2, v; Britannis sæviores, vi 2; carne humana vescuntur, iii, vii; parentum cadavera comedunt, vi 2; cum matribus et sororibus palam rem habent, vii; inconditi, omnium virtutum ignari, pietatis admodum expertes, viii; fas nefasque eodem loco ducunt, x; ritus asperi, inhospiti, et bellicosi, x; sanguine interemptorum hausto prius victores vultus oblinunt, x; in armorum nitela præcipue gloriantes, dentibus marinarum belluarum capulos ensium insigniunt, x; puerperæ mari edito primos cibos, gladio mariti impositos, in os leviter inferciunt, x; alveis vimineis tergis boum coopertis navigant, x: v. Hibernia, Ierne, Iris, Iverna:
Scotti, promiscuas uxores, communes liberos, habent, v. Scotti:
qui Thylem incolunt, principio veris inter pecudes pabulis vivunt, dein lacte; in hyemem compercunt arborum fructus, x 2; feminis utuntur vulgo, x 2: v. Thyle:
a Caio Julio Cæsare primum devicti et tributarii facti, ii, vii, li, lxxii; eorum complures civitates cognito Cæsaris consilio de Britannia adeunda, legatis ei missis, se obsides daturas et imperio Romano obtemperaturas pollicentur, xxvii 2; copias in collibus juxta mare contra eum instruunt, xxviii, li 2; equitatum et essedarios præmittunt ut Romanos navibus egredi prohibeant, xxviii, li 2; Cæsarem in littore oppugnant, xxviii, li 2, xci; prælio superati, paucis amissis, curruum atque equorum ope evadunt, xxviii 2; legatos de pace ad Cæsarem mittunt, datisque obsidibus se civitatesque ei dedunt, xxviii 2; legionem septimam, frumentatum missam, perturbant, xxix, li 2; castra Cæsaris adoriuntur, sed prælio superati legatos de pace ad eum iterum mittunt, xxix 1, 2, li 2; eis Cæsar obsides dupli cari in continentemque adduci jubet, xxix 2; numero navium territi, Cæsari secundo Britanniam adventanti in littore haud se opponunt, xxxi, lii; equitatu et essedis prælium cum eo committunt; sed repulsi in sylvis sese abdunt, xxxi, lii; apud locum quendam, crebris arboribus succisis egregie munitum, se defendunt; inde vero expulsi, sylvis etiam ejiciuntur, xxxi, lii 2; summam imperii bellique administrandi Cassivellauno permittunt, xxxi 2, lii 2; cum Cæsare in itinere confligentes, ad sylvas collesque aguntur, xxxi 2, lii 2; Romanos in munitione castrorum occupatos adorti, consulto cedunt, ut, remotis legionibus, pedites cum equitibus contendant, xxxii, lii 2; Cæsaris pabulatores aggressi, ab eo profligantur, xxxii 2, lii 2; eorum auxiliis discedentibus, nunquam postea summis copiis contendunt, xxxii 2, lii 2; Tamesim fluvium sudibus præstruunt; inde vero dejecti, in fines Cassivellauni fugiunt, xxxii 2, lii 2; pax eis conceditur ea conditione ut

Digitized by Google

Britanni, cont.
obsides darent annuumque vectigal penderent, xxxiii, lii 2; a Cæsare adusque sylvas Caledonias aguntur, xlix; Pictis modo et Hibernis hostibus assueti, facile Romanis cedunt, lxvii; viso elephanto a Cæsare in flumen præmisso, territi fugiunt, li; ad jusjurandum violandum, ob exercitus Romanos inter eos morantes, provocantur, l 2:
eorum principum quidam Augusti Cæsaris amicitiam adepti, dona in Capitolio dedicant, totamque pene insulam Romanis conciliant, vii; ei legationem de pace mittunt, liii 2; ab eo Romano adjiciendi imperio, lxxxix 2; Augusto subiguntur, ci 2; sub lege Latia flectuntur, lxxxix 2:
Plautio cum exercitu Britanniam adeunti haud resistendum rati, ad sylvas paludesque confugiunt, liv; in ripa cujusdam fluminis consistentes, a Celtis, Plautii jussu, deturbantur, liv 2; inopinate a Vespasiano cæduntur, liv 2; iterum Romanis resistentes, a Cneio Osidio Geta omnino funduntur, liv 2; ad ostia Tamesis se conferentes, flumen transeunt; at rursus a Celtis oppugnantur, liv 2; Togodumni regis mortem vindicaturi, denuo bellum parant, liv 2; a Claudio devicti, Plautio commendantur, lv; sub Caractaco a Romanis devincuntur, xxxvi 2; a Claudio victi, xc; eum ut deum colunt, xc; antea semper liberi, Romanis serviunt, xxxv 2:
absente Paullino apud Monam, sese mutuo in Romanos excitantes, bellum, duce Boudicea, sumunt, xliii; portentis quibusdam visis, ad spem eriguntur xxxviii; Camulodunum coloniam expugnant, xxxviii, xliii 2; victores ibi legionem nonam, cui præfuit Petilius Cerealis, fundunt, peditesque interficiunt, xxxviii 2; Londinium atque Verulamium cæde septuaginta millium civium et sociorum Romanorum afficiunt, xxxviii 2; cum Suetonio Paullino confligere parant, xxxviii 2; ab eo octoginta millium virorum cæde afficiuntur, xxxix, lix; ad pacem tardius inclinant, xxxix; ob mortem Bunduicæ animis fracti, omnino dissipaguntur, lix; discordantibus Romanis, animos, auctore Venusio, tollunt, xli:
legionem nonam nocte aggressi, ab Agricola fugantur, xlv 2; eorum fortissimi ab Agricola Caledoniam proficiscente exercitui suo adduntur, xlv 2; ad montem Grampium, omnium civitatum vires, ad triginta millia armatorum, contra eum excitant, xlvi; Calgaci ducis orationem cantu, fremitu, clamoribusque dissonis accipiunt, xlvi 2; campum covinariis et equitibus complent, xlvii; eorum copiarum distributio, xlvii; pugnæ cum Agricola descriptio, xlvii 1, 2; ab eo cæde decem millium virorum afficiuntur, xlvii 2; eorum miseriæ atque inopia post pugnam, xlvii 2:
a Trajano subacti, imperio ab Adriano sumpto, sub Romana ditione teneri non possunt, lxiv 2; murum inter se et Romanos extructum transgredientes, agros vastant, lix 2; ab Ulpio Marcello cæduntur, lx; eorum provinciam a Commodo meret Albinus, lxxi; imperatorem contra Commodum deligere volunt, lxvi; tumultuantur et agros vastant; audito vero Severum adventare, ei legatos de pace mittunt, lxiii 2; a Severo oppugnati, in silvis paludibusque latent, lxiv; eo mortuo, pacem cum Antonino componunt, lxiv 2, lxxxvii; vites eis permittuntur a Probo, lxvi; a Constantio servitute liberantur, lxviii 2; a Constantino Magno subjugantur, lxx 2; ad eos aditus difficilis ob inimicitias Constantini et Maxentii, lxxxi; a Pictis, Saxonibus, Scottis et Attacottis vexantur, lxxiii 1, 2; libertatem et quietem per Valentinianum obtinent, lxxv; eis oppressis Maximus victoriam sumit, cii; eis prætenditur legio quæ Scotos Pictosque frænet, xcviii 2; ob irruptionem barbarorum trans Rhenum arma sumunt et civitates suas liberant, lxxviii 2:
in eos mala agit Apollo, lxxxiii 2; eos Romani classe sequuntur, lxxxix; eorum caussidicos docet Gallia, xci 2; eorum clades a Sibylla Romæ prædicitur, lxxxiii 2; eos usque post dispersionem processerunt homines, xciii; eorum loca Romanis inaccessa Christo subduntur, xciv; ante Christi adventum in religionem unius Dei non consenserunt, xciv; apud eos Verbum et vita pura, xcviii 2; præcepta Christi a discipulis ejus accipiunt, c 2; ejus fidem suscipiunt, lxxxi; eorum quidam Symeonem Stylitam adeunt, c 2, n.[h]
Britannia; ejus nomen olim Albion, viii; a Græcis Micosmi vocatur, xxv; a vocabulo suæ gentis cognominatur, cii 2; sæva, dira, xcviii 1, 2; haud nota Græcis Romanisque antiquioribus, li; multis incognita, xcvi; parum nota Massiliotis, Narbonensibus, aut Corbelonibus, vi;—Gallicis mercatoribus, xxvii; parum cognita Romanis, ultra vicinitatem sylvæ Caledoniæ, viii; quasi nomen tantum loci ficti, quibusdam controversiæ causa, xlviii 2; an sit insula in controversiam ducitur, li, xcii; fabula visa diu, lxxxix 2; a nemine olim circumvecta, teste Livio, lxxxii 2; insulam esse a Romanis comperitur, xlii 2; primo sub Agricola, deinde sub Severo insula esse invenitur, li, lxi; eam ab oceano circumdari primus invenit Agricola, lix 2:
ejus situs, ii, iii 2, v, vi, vii 2, viii, ix 2, xix, xxiv 2, xxxi 2, xlii, li, lxxvi, lxxxii 2, cii; jacet contra Galliam, ii, xxxii; Hispaniam, xxxii; ex opposito Sequanæ et Rheni, vi; sub trigone

Britannia, cont.
aquilo-occidentali, xciii; prospicit Rheni ostia, vii 2; ejus partes occidentales jacent contra Pyreneos, v; toto orbe divisa, xxxv 1, 2, xlviii 2; remota a confinio terrarum, xxxv 2; oceano confinis, ix 2; inter undas latet, xxxv 2; a continente dirimitur freto, xl 2; medio recondita ponto, lxxxix 2; intra oceani ambitum concluditur, xciv; ultimo continetur oceano, l 2; frementi includitur æquore, xcvi 2; disjuncta ponto, horridis inaccessa litoribus, lxxxix 2; ejus aditus molibus mirificis munitur, lxxxviii; Romano diducta mundo, xcviii; a Romanis in orbem terrarum redigitur, xxxv 2; multis patefacta certius prodit situm, lxxxii 2; clarissima insula ad occidentem, lxx 2; quantum distat a Celtica, vi, a Gallia, lxxvi, a Morinis, li; a continente abest minus diei dimidiæ, l 2; trajectus illuc a continente, ab ostiis fluviorum Rheni, Sequanæ, Ligeris, et Garumnæ, vi 2, a fluviis Celticæ, vi, a Vadetis sive Caletis, vi, a Morinis, viii:
ejus descriptio, vi 2, vii 2, xxxi 2; plana, vi 2, lxxxiii; montuosa, vi 2, lxxxiii; saltuosa, vi 2, vii 2, lxxxiii; clara Græcis Romanisque monumentis, viii; describitur a Græcis Latinisque auctoribus, lxxxii 2; a Pythea, iv, 2, Strabone, Cornelio Tacito, lxxxiii:
ejus forma triquetra, ii, vi, vii 2, xxxi 2, lxxxiii; forma secundum Livium et Fabium Rusticum, xlii 2:
ejus circuitus, xxxii, lxvii, xciii, cii 2, secundum Pytheam et Isidorum, viii, x 1, 2; circuitu immensa, lxvii; ejus dimensiones, ii 1, 2, iii 2, iv 2, vi 1, 2, xxxii, xxxv, lxi, lxxxiii; longitudo et latitudo secundum Agrippam, viii, xix; laterum descriptio, vii 2, xxxii, lxxxiii 2; latus longissimum Celticæ adæquatur, vi; terminus ad orientem, xxvi 2; insula maxima et præcipua, xix; insularum maxima, xlii 2; maxima sub sole, xcv 2;—ex insulis extra Herculis columnas, lxxxiii 2; Sicilia major, lxxxiii 2; magna continente major, l 2; alter pene orbis, xxxv:
ejus promontoria, ii, xi, xii, xiii, xviii: Belerium, Bolerum, ii 1, 2, xii 2; Cantium, ii, iii 2, vi 1, 2; Acantium, xiii 2; Horca, Orca, Orcas, ii, xii 2, xiii, xv, xviii:
ejus fluvii, vii 2, x 2, xi, xii, xiii, xviii, xxvi, lxxxiii, cii 2; Antona, xxxvi; Sabrina, xxxvi; Tamesis, Tamesa, Thamesis, xxxii 2, xxxviii, lii 2, lxxix:
ejus æstuaria, xii, xiii, xiv, xv, xviii; Bodotria, xlv; Clota, xlv; Taus, xliv 2:
ejus æstus maritimi, ii 2, vii, viii, lxxxviii 2; plenilunio augentur, vii, xxviii 2; a Pythea describuntur, viii; ejus pars plurima, æstibus oceani inundata, fit paludosa, lxiii:
ejus longitudo dierum, viii, noctiumque, lxix 2; noctes, lxxxiii; ibi sol non occidere sed præterire apparet, lxix 2:
ejus cœlum, ii 2, xxxi 2, xliii, lxix 2; pluviosa, vii, nebulosa, vii, lxiv, lxxxiii; ejus frigora salutaria, xcii 2; sole deficiens maris tepore recreatur, xciv 2:
ejus metallorum copia, ii 2, xliii, lxvii, lxxxiii, cii 2; fert aurum, vi 2, xliii; argentum, vi 2, xliii; cassiteron, i 1, 2, ii 1, 2, iii, v 2, xx; ferrum, vi 2, xxxi 2; plumbum v 2, vii 2, viii 2, x 2, xix 2, candidum, viii 2, album, xxxi 2, nigrum, lx 2; stannum, xix 2, xx 2; gemmas, vii 2, lxxxiii; margaritas, vii 2, x 2, xliii, xlix, lxxxiii, xciv 2, cii 2; uniones, viii 2; gagates, x 2, xx 2, cii 2; electrum, ix 2; margam, viii, ix; ibi nihil argenti neque auri, lxxxvii 2; non scripulum argenti, lxxxviii:
ejus fontes calidi, x 2; nemora, vii 2; materies ut in Gallia præter fagum et abietem, xxxi 2:
ejus soli fœcunditas, vii 2, xliii, lxix 2; frugum ubertas, lxvii; messes, ii 2; frumentum, vi 2, lxxiii, lxxv 2, lxxvi; munera Cereris et Bacchi, lxix 2; pastiones, lxvii; cerasi, viii; fruges sine nucleis, xciii:
ejus armenta, vi 2, lxvii; pecora, xxxi 2, lxix 2; canes venatici, vi 2, xcv; catuli feroces, lxxxix, xcviii 2; agassæi, xciii 2; cervi, lxv 2; chenerotes, viii 2; balæna, xci 2; ostreæ, viii 2, ix 2, xci 2; expers bestiarum immanium et serpentum, lxix 2:
ejus incolæ numerosissimi, ii, xxxi 2; incolitur ab indigenis, ii 2; ejus pars interior ab aboriginibus, pars maritima a Belgis, eo transvectis incolitur, xxxi 2; incolarum mores atque usus, ix 2, xxxi 2, xxxiii 2, lxxxix 2, xcvi, xcviii 2, cii 2; eorum qui habitant Balerium, ii 2, Caledoniam, xlv, lxxxiii, Cantium, xxxii, Cassiteridas, v 2; Siluram, x: v. Britanni:
ejus nationes sive populi, xii, xiii, xiv, xv; Ancalites, xxxiii; Attacotti, lxxiii 2; Atticotti, xcix; Belgæ, xv, xxxi 2; Bibroci, xxxiii; Boduni, liv; Brigantes, xiv, xxxvi, xli, xliv, l 2, xc, xci 2; Caledonii, xiv, lx 2, lxi 1, 2; Cangi, xxxvi; Cassi, xxxiii; Catuellani, liv; Caveliani, xlix; Cenimagni, xxxiii; Dicalidones, lxxiii 2; Dumnonii, x; Genunii, l 2; Horesti, xlvii 2; Iceni, xxxvi, xxxviii; Jugantes, xxxvii 2; Mœatæ, lx 2, lxi 2; Ordovices, xiv 2, xxxvi 2, xliv; Picti, lxix, lxxiii 1, 2, lxxv, lxxxii 2, xcvii 2; Saxones, xxiv 2, lxxiii 2; Scotti, lxxiii 1, 2; Silures, viii, xiv 2, xxxvi 2, xxxvii, xlii 2, xliv, lxxxiii; Trinoantes, Trinobantes, xiv 2, xv, xxxii 2, xxxiii, xxxviii, xlvi, lxxix 1, 2; Vecturiones, lxxiii 2:
ejus civitates sive oppida, xii, xiii, xiv, xxi—xxvi; Camaldunum, Camulodunum, viii, xxxvi, xxxviii, lv; Caturactonium, xvi 1, 2;

Digitized by Google

Britannia, cont.
Eboracum, Eburacum, xv 2, xx 2, lxxi, lxxii, lxxv, lxxix 2, lxxxii, xcix; Londinium, Lundinium, x 2, xxxviii 2, lxviii, lxxiii; — Augusta, xxv 2, lxxiii 2, lxxiv; Noviomagum, x, xxi; Rutupiæ, xx 2, lxxiii 1, 2; Verulamium, xxxviii 2: v. Albion:
ejus insulæ, viii 2, xv, xix; Adtanatos, Thanatos, x, cii 2; Cassiterides, i, iii, v 1, 2, vii 2, viii 2, x 2; Dumna, xvi; Hæbudes, Œbudes, viii 2, x, xx; Ictis, ii 2; Ierne, Ivernia, Iuverna, Ibernia, Hibernia, i, iii 2, viii, x, xl, xci 2; Mevania, xix 1, 2, ci 2; Mictis, viii 2; Mona, viii 1, 2, xxxvii 1, 2; Œstrymnides, xix 2; Orcades, viii 2, x 2, ci 2, cii; Scotia, xxvi 2; Silura, x; Sylina, c; Thule, Thyle, Tile, iii, iv, x 2, ci 2; Vecta, Vectis, xv, xvi, l, lxvii 2, lxxii:
ejus commercium, v, lxviii 2; pervia mercimoniis, lxxxii 2; a Venetis commercii causa frequentatur, vi; eo navigare consuescunt Veneti, xxvii; eam pauci præter mercatores adeunt, xxvii; inde cassiteron Galliam transportatur, iii; vectigalia Romanis ob mercimonia pendit, v, vii; vectigalibus eis quæstuosa, lxvii; ibi nulla præda nisi ex mancipiis, lxxxviii:
ejus reges sive principes: An. A.C. cir. 70, Divitiacus, xxvii; A.C. 55, Cassivellaunus, Cassolaulus, xxxi 2, xxxii 2, xxxiii, li, lii 2, lxxix 1, 2; Imanuentius, xxxii 2; Mandubratius, Androgorius, xxxii 2, xxxiii, lxxix; Carvilius, Cingetorix, Taximagulus, Segonax, Lugotorix, xxxiii; A.D. 40, Cinobellinus, Cynobellinus, xlix, liv, lv; Adminius, Mynocynobellinus, xlix, lxxix 2; an. 43, Bericus, Cataratacus, Togodumnus, liv; an. 50, Caractacus, Caratacus, xxxvi 2, xxxvii 1, 2, xli, lxxvii; Cartismandua, xxxvi 2, xxxvii 2, xli; Cogidunus, xliii; Venusius, xxxvii 2, xli; Vellocatus, xli; an. 61, Prasutagus, xxxviii; Boudicea, Bunduica, xxxviii 1, 2, xxxix, xliii 2, lvi 1, 2, lvii 2, lix; an. 84, Calgacus, xlvi; Arviragus, xci 2; an. 210? Argentocoxus? lxii:
in formam provinciæ sub imperio Romano redigitur, xliii: in diœcesin, xxiii: ejus provinciæ; Britannia Prima, Britannia Secunda, Maxima Cæsariensis, Flavia Cæsariensis, xxiii 1, 2; Valentia, xxiii 1, 2, lxxiv 2:
ejus magistratus, xxiii:
ejus vicarius, xxiii; ejus officium, xxiii 2:
ejus comes rei militaris, xxiii bis; copiæ sub ejus dispositione, xxiii 2; ejus officium, xxiv:
ejus comes litoris sive limitis Saxonici, xxiii bis; copiæ sub ejus dispositione, xxiv; ejus officium, xxiv:
ejus dux Britanniæ, Britanniarum, xxiii, xxiv; copiæ sub ejus dispositione, xxiv 1, 2; ejus officium, xxiv 1, 2:
ejus consulares; Maximæ Cæsariensis, xxiii 1, 2; Valentiæ, xxiii 1, 2:
ejus præsides; Britanniæ Primæ, xxiii 1, 2; Britanniæ Secundæ, xxiii 1, 2; Flaviæ Cæsariensis, xxiii 1, 2:
ejus rationalis summarum, xxiii 2; præpositus thesaurorum Augustensium, xxiii 2; procurator Cynegii Bentensis, xxiii 2; rationalis rei privatæ, xxiii 2:
ejus præfecti sive legati: A.D. 43, Aulus Plautius, xliii; an. 50, Ostorius Scapula, xliii; an. 53? A. Didius Gallus, xxxvii 2, xliii; an. 57? Veranius, xliii; an. 58, Paulinus Suetonius, xliii; an. 62, Petronius Turpilianus, xliii 2; an. 65? Trebellius Maximus, xxxix 2, xl, xliii 2; an. 69, Vettius Bolanus, xliii 2; an. 71? Petilius Cerealis, xxxviii 2, xlii, xliv; an. 75? Julius Frontinus, xliv; an. 78, Cn. Jul. Agricola, xliv; an. 85? Sallustius Lucullus, l; an. 132? Julius Severus, lix 2; an. 140? Lollius Urbicus, lxv 2; Seius Saturninus, præfectus classis, ci; an. 162? Calphurnius Agricola, lxv 2; an. 181? Ulpius Marcellus, lix 2; an. 186, Helvius Pertinax, lx, lxv; an. 193? Clodius Albinus, lx, lxv 1, 2; an. 193? Junius Severus, lxv 2; an. 196? Virius Lupus, ci; an. 211, Papianus, lxxxvii; an. 277? Victorinus, lxxv 2, lxxxvii 2; an. 282, Carinus, lxvi; an. 308, Pacatianus, ci; an. 350? Gratianus, lxxiv 2; an. 353? Martinus, lxxii 2; an. 360? Lupicinus, lxxi, lxxiii; an. 361? Alypius, lxxiii 2, lxxiv 2; an. 368? Fullofaudes, lxxiii 2; an. 368, Severus, lxxiii 2; Jovinus, lxxiii 2, lxxiv; Theodosius, lxxiii 2, lxxiv; an. 371? Fraomarius, lxxiv 2; an. 393? Chrysanthus, lxxxi: v. Index Inscriptionum.
imperatores sive tyranni qui eam adierunt: An. A. C. 55, C. Julius Cæsar, xxvii; A.D. 44, Claudius, liv 2; an. 120? Adrianus, lix, lxv; an. 193, Clodius Albinus, lix 2, lx 1, 2; an. 206? Severus, Caracalla, Geta, lxiv 1, 2; an. 296, Constantius Chlorus, lxxxi 2; an. 306, Constantinus magnus, lxix, lxxii; an. 343, Constans, lxxiii, lxxiv; an. 287, Carausius, lxvi 2, lxxi 2, lxxii; an. 294, Allectus? lxxi 2, lxxii 2; an. 383, Maximus, lxxii; an. 407, Marcus, Gratianus, Constantinus, lxxvii 2:
Romanorum copiæ quæ ibi militaverunt; legio secunda, xv, xxiv, xxxix, liii 2; sexta, xiv, xx 2, liii 2; septima, xxxi; nona, xxxviii 2, xxxix, xlv; decima, xxviii; decima quarta, xxxviii 2, xl; vicesima, xiv, xxi 2, xxxviii 2, liii 2: v. Legio, et etiam Index Inscriptionum:
victores juniores Britanniciani, xxiii 2; Primani juniores, xxiii 2; Secundani juniores, xxiii 2:
Britannia, cont.
ala I. Astorum, xxiv 2; I. Herculea, xxiv 2; Petriana, xxiv 2; Saviniana, xxiv 2: v. Index Inscriptionum.
cohors: I. Astorum, xxiv 2; I. Batavorum, xxiv 2; I. Ælia classica, xxiv 2; Cornoviorum, xxiv 2; I. Dacorum, xxiv 2; II. Dalmatarum, xxiv 2; I. Frixagorum, xxiv; IIII. Gallorum, xxiv 2; I. Hispanorum, xxiv 2; II. Lergorum, xxiv 2; IIII. Lergorum, xxiv; I. Morinorum, xxiv 2; III. Nerviorum, xxiv 2; VI. Nerviorum, xxiv 2; II. Thracum, xxiv 2; I. Tungrorum, xxiv 2; I. Vetasiorum, xxiv: v. Index Inscriptionum:
equites: Catafractarii, xxiv; Catafractarii juniores, xxiii 2; Crispiani, xxiv; Dalmatæ, xxiv; Dalmatæ Brannodunenses, xxiv; Honoriani seniores, xxiii 2; Scutarii Aureliaci, xxiii 2; Stablesiani, xxiii 2; Stablesiani Garriannonses, xxiv; Syri, xxiii 2; Taifili, xxiii 2:
numerus, Abulcorum, xxiv; Barcariorum Tigrisiensium, xxiv; Defensorum, xxiv; Derventionum, xxiv; Directorum, xxiv; Exploratorum, xxiv bis; Fortensium, xxiv; Longovicariorum, xxiv; Maurorum Aurelianorum, xxiv 2; Nerviorum Dictensium, xxiv; Pacensium, xxiv; Solensium, xxiv; Tungricanorum, xxiv; Turnacensium, xxiv; Vigilum, xxiv 2; Cuneus armaturarum, xxiv 2: v. Index Inscriptionum:
Alamanni, lxxiv 2; Æruli, Eruli, lxxiii 1, 2; Batavi, xlvii, lxxiii 1, 2; Celti, liv 2; Jovii, lxxiii 2; Mæsiaci, lxxiii; Tungri, xlvii; Victores, lxxiii 2:
stationes militum per eam: Aballaba, xxiv 2; Adurni portu, xxiv; Æsica, xxiv 2; Alionæ, xxiv 2; Amboglanna, xxiv 2; Anderidæ, xxiv; Arbeja, xxiv; Axeloduno, xxiv 2; Borocovico, xxiv 2; Braboniacum, xxiv; Branoduno, xxiv; Bremetenraco, xxiv 2; Cilurno, xxiv 2; Concangios, xxiv; Conderco, xxiv 2; Congavata, xxiv 2; Dano, xxiv; Derventione, xxiv; Deva, Deuna, xiv 2, xxi; Dicti, xxiv; Dubris, xxiv; Eburacum, xiv, xx 2; Gabrosenti, xxiv 2; Gariannono, xxiv; Glannibanta, xxiv 2; Hunno, xxiv 2; Isca, xv, xxii; Lavatres, xxiv; Lemanis, xxiv; Longovico, xxiv; Magis, xxiv; Maglovæ, xxiv; Magnis, xxiv 2; Morbio, xxiv; Olenaco, xxiv 2; Othonæ, xxiv; Petrianis, xxiv 2; Ponte Ælii, xxiv 2; Præsidio xxiv; Procolitia, xxiv 2; Regulbio, xxiv; Rutupis, xxiv; Segeduno, xxiv 2; Tunnocelo, xxiv 2; Veterum alias Veneris, xxiv; Vindobala, xxiv 2; Vindolana, xxiv 2; Virosido, xxiv 2: v. Index Inscriptionum:
ab extraneis nunquam ante Julium Cæsarem bello petita, ii; ejus maximæ partis imperium a Divitiaco rege Suessionum obtinetur, xxvii; inde auxilia contra Romanos arcessunt Veneti, xxvii; auxilia hostibus Romanorum ministrat, xxvii; eo Bellovaci, qui a Romanis defecerant, confugiunt, xxvii; eo fugit Commius e Gallia, persequente Cæsare, xci 2; eo mittitur Commius a Cæsare, xxvii 2; ibi opera Commii utitur Cæsar, lxxxvii; ejus portus et accessus explorat C. Jul. Cæsar, xxvii 2, xlix; eam cum exercitu adit, vi 2, xxvii 2, l 2; ejus loci natura ubi primo cum classe attigit Cæsar, xxviii; ibi naves ejus tempestate et æstu affliguntur, vii, xxviii 2, xlix; ejus principes, cognitis Cæsaris rebus adversis, in eum conjurant, xxix; inde Galliam revertitur Cæsar, xxix 2; civitatum duæ tantum obsides ei mittunt, xxx; eam iterum accedit Cæsar, xxxi; civitates quamplurimæ se ei dedunt, xxxiii, lxxix 2; obsidibus imperatis annuoque vectigali constituto, inde exercitum cum captivis reportat Cæsar, xxxiii; eam cum copiis bis adit, vii, lxxix; hostes devincit, indeque obsides, mancipia, prædamque reportat, vii; ab eo expugnatur, xxxv; penetratur, xxxv; in orbem terrarum redigitur, xxxv 2; devicta et tributaria facta; xxxix 2, lxxi; vincitur, xlviii; invenitur, lxx 2; aperitur, vii 2, lxxxi; subigitur, lxv 2, lxx 2, lxxi; Cæsarem timet, lxxxviii 2; in potestatem Romanorum ad imperii speciem redigitur, xlix; ejus oceanus a populo Romano navigatur, l 2, lxx 2; nullis armabatur navigiis tempore Julii Cæsaris, lxvii; eam spe margaritarum petit Cæsar, xlix; an eam impugnet Cæsar? xcii; inde litteras, de rebus a Cæsare gestis, accipit Cicero lxxxviii; ibi ab essedariis cavendum, lxxxvii; quid sensissent ejus incolæ de sphæra a Posidonio effecta, lxxxviii 2; gesta ibi a Cæsare a Marco Antonio memorantur, liii; eo expeditionem meditatur Augustus, liii 2; quare sub eo a Romanis negligebatur, v; ibi nullum præsidium a Romanis positum, vii; milites Romani illo rapti, a regulis Germanico remittuntur, xxxvi; de ea intranda cogitat Caligula, xliii, xlix; eam quasi expugnaturus, copias in littore disponit, xlix; ab eo prospicitur, lxxix 2; in oblivione a Romanis habetur, xliii:
post Julium Cæsarem a nemine aditur usque Claudium, lxxix 2; tumultuatur ob non redditos transfugas, xlix 2; eo exercitum sub Aulo Plautio mittit Claudius, liv; eam adit Claudius, xlix 2, lv; pars ejus ab eo brevi subjicitur, xlix 2, lv; ab eo aperitur, vii 2, xc 2; impetitur, lxxii; peragratur, xc 2; triumphatur, viii, xxxv 2, lxxxi 2, lxxxii 2; occupatur, cii; devincitur per Cn. Sentium et A. Plautium, lxxii; eam recuperat Vespasianus, xxxv 2; ibi tricies cum hoste confligens, duas gentes, viginti oppida, Vectamque insulam Romano adjicit imperio, l, lxxii; ibi Titus patrem Vespasianum ab hoste circumdatum liberat, lv 2; ibi Caractacus a Cartismandua Romanis traditur, xxxvi 2; ejus pars

Digitized by Google

Britannia, cont.
quædam in formam provinciæ redigitur, xliii; ibi templum Claudio sacratur, ubi ut deus colitur, xc; non patitur regem, lxxxix 2; Romanis communis, lxxxix 2; victa, Romana adluitur, unda, lxxxix 2; inde exercitum deducere cogitat Nero, xlix 2; a Suetonio Paullino obtinetur, xxxvii 2; ejus status sub eo ambiguus, xlii; Romanis adversatur, lvi; ejus inimicitiarum causæ, lvi; portenta ibi visa, xxxviii, lvi; ibi gravis clades a Romanis accipitur, xxxvii 2; ibi duo diripiuntur oppida, xxxviii, l, lvi, lxxii, lxxix 2; ibi cædes magna civium et sociorum Romanorum, l, lv 2; amissa foret ni a Paullino subventum, xliii 2; perdomata et statim missa, xxxix 2; amissa et postea recuperata, l, lxxii; nunquam satis quieta sub Vettio Bolano, xl 2; ibi bellum iterum oritur, lix; eo mittitur Agricola, xlii; ejus status sub Agricolæ adventum, xliv; sub eo perdomatur, xliv; copiis ex oppositis Hiberniæ ab eo instruitur, xlv; a Romanis subditur, xxxv; quatuor legionibus cohibetur, xxxv; illo exules a Romanis diriguntur, xxxv 2, lxxiv; ab eis intra orbem redigitur, xxxv 2; ejus pars maxima ab eis tenetur, l 2:
eam petit Adrianus, lxv; ibi murus ad Barbaros Romanosque dividendos per octoginta milliaria ab eo ducitur, lxv; ibi alius murus cespititius, barbaris submotis, sub Antonino Pio ducitur, lxv 2; ejus provinciales Commodi imperium recusantes ab eo vincuntur, lxvi; ibi milites Romani Perennio irascuntur, lx; ibi militum seditio a Pertinace sedatur, lx; ibi copiæ Romanorum bellicosissimæ, lxii; ad eam obtinendam a Severo mittitur Heraclitus, lxv; eam in duas provincias dividit Severus, lxiii; illo expeditio a Severo paratur, lx 2; ejus bellum novissimum excipit, lxxii; eam cum exercitu adit, lx 2; haud amplius ejus dimidio Romanis paret, lxi; ejus pars septentrionalis a Severo peragratur, lxi; ab eo munitur, muro per transversam insulam ducto, lxv, lxxi 1, 2; munitur vallo sive muro a mari ad mare deducto, lxxii; ibi moritur Severus, lxi 2; præsidiis vacuefactis ab Antonino relinquitur, lxii, lxxxvii; ei præficitur Papianus, lxxxvii; Floriano assignatur, lxxv 2; a Proculo et Bonoso vindicatur, lxvi; Carino decretur, lxvi; a Carausio tyranno occupatur, lxxi 2, lxxii 2, lxxx, lxxxi 2; ab Allecto tyranno tribus annis tenetur, lxxii 2, lxxx; ab Asclepiodoto præfecto prætorio, post decem annos, recipitur, lxxii 2, lxxx, lxxxi 2; ejus jactura Romanis haud mediocris, lxvii; servitute liberatur a Constantio Cæsare, lxvi 2, lxix 1, 2, lxxii 2; ex victoria Constantii Cæsaris, eam adire maritimo usu nationibus licet, lxviii 2; præter eam nil ultra oceanum Romanis adquirendum, lxviii 2; ejus extremæ nationes Constantio obsequuntur, lxviii 2; inde artifices ad civitatem instaurandam accipiunt Ædui, lxix; ibi moritur Constantius, lxxx; ibi Constantinus Magnus imperator creatur, lxxx;—regnum invadit, lxxxii; omnibus terris beatior, ibi orto et viso Constantino Cæsare, lxix 1, 2; ab eo eidem præfecto cui et Celti et Iberi committitur, lxxvi; illo exercitus a Constante ducitur, xcvi:
exinde naves multæ Germaniam veniunt, lxx 2; inde annona Germaniam sueta transferri, lxxiii; inde frumentum præsidiis Romanorum transportatur, lxxv 2, lxxvi; Valentiniano imperatori assignatur, lxxvi 2; a Pictis Scotisque vexata, ab eorum incursionibus a Theodosio liberatur, lxxiii 2, lxxiv; Gratiano imperatori assignatur, lxxvi; ibi Maximus imperium arripit, lxxii; ibi imperator creatur, lxxx; sæva, Maximum fundit, xcviii, n.[d]; ibi tumultus a Maximo oritur, lxxvi 2; turbatur prosiliente Megæra, xcvii 2, n.[t]; secura, fracto Picto, xcvii; a Stilichone munitur, xcviii; velata Caledonio monstro, xcviii; ibi Marcus et Gratianus imperatores creantur, lxxv 2, lxxx 2; et postea interficiuntur, lxxx 2, lxxxi 2; ibi Constantinus tyrannus in imperatorem eligitur, lxxv 2, lxxxiii 2; ad occidentalem partem imperii Romani pertinet, lxxxiii 2; a Romanis deficit, lxxix, lxxxiii 2; non amplius a Romanis tenetur, lxxxiii 2; a tyrannis occupatur, lxxxiii 2; fertilis provincia tyrannorum, xcix; ibi exercitus, ob metum Barbarorum, imperatorem eligunt, lxxviii; ejus civitates ab Honorio litteras accipiunt ut sibi consulerent, lxxix; e potestate Valentiniani III. eripitur, ciii 2; Gothis a Romanis conceditur, lxxxiii 2:
eam adit S. Petrus, ibique multas gentes convertit, episcopos, presbyteros, diaconos ordinat, ecclesias erigit, ciii; illuc Aristobulus gentibus prædicaturus, a S. Paulo mittitur, cii 2; ejus episcopi magnæ synodo Sardice intersunt, xcv 2;—Athanasio consentiunt, xcv 2; ejus ecclesiæ fidei Niceanæ consentiunt, xcv 2; exinde veniunt episcopi ad concilium Arelatense, xcix;—ad synodum Ariminensem, xcix 2; eo pervenere quidam ex Christi discipulis, xcv; non consensit in unius Dei religionem ante Christum, xciv 2; Passionem et Resurrectionem Christi sonat, xcix; ibi eadem die qua apud Romam celebratur Pascha, lxx 2; unum Christum adorat, xcix 2; profert egregium Albanum, cii; ab hæresi Pelagiana a papa Cœlestino liberatur, ci 2; ibi multi homines unam uxorem habent, xcv, ciii; docta Martialis cantare versus, xci 2; in ditionem Saxonum redigitur, lxxxii 2; prope eam insulæ quædam a geniis et heroibus incoluntur, xcii 2; ibi potus qui Curmi vocatur ex hordeo conficitur, xc.

Britannia Magna, xvi 2; per ejus medium ducitur parallelus vicesima tertia, xvi 2.
Britanniæ, viii 2, ix 2 bis, xxii 2, xxiii 1, 2, xxiv, xxxv 2, lxv 1, 2, lxvi bis, lxviii, lxix, lxxi bis, lxxii 2 ter, lxxiii bis, lxxiii 2, lxxiv ter, lxxiv 2, lxxx bis, lxxx 2, lxxxi 2 bis, lxxxii 2 bis, lxxxviii 2 bis, xciv, ci 1, 2. v. Britannia.
Britannica ala, a Vitellio ad Valenten mittitur, xli.
Britannica auxilia, Batavorum cohortes Mogontiæ agentes a Civili pelliciuntur, xli.
Britannica balæna, xci 2.
Britannica classis, a Caninefatibus omnino devincitur, xli 2.
Britannica herba, ejus usus et descriptio, ix 1, 2;—ejus virtus in medendo serpentium ictu, xci 1;
unde nomen habet, ix 1, 2;
ex oceani insulis toto orbe portatur, ix 1, 2.
Britannica lingua, xli 2.
Britannica, Brettanica, insula, iii, xi, xxxv, l 2, lxxv 2, lxxvi 2, lxxvii, lxxviii 2, xciv 2, xcv bis, xcvi 2. v. Britannia.
Britannicæ insulæ, earum situs, i 1, 2, v 2, xi, xii, xv 2, xvii 1, 2, xviii 1, 2, xix, xx 1, 2, xcviii 2, ci 2;
jacent ex opposito Europæ, v 2; ex opposito Rheni, xvi 2; in Arctico oceano, xvii 1, 2;
earum noctium longitudo, xxxii;
parum notæ ante tempora Caii Julii Cæsaris, ii;
earum vicarius Chrysanthus laudabiliter agit, lxxxi;
verbum Dei audiunt, xcviii 2;
earum nationes inter Christianos numerandæ, xcviii 2;
ibi ecclesiæ et altaria eriguntur, xcviii 2.
v. Britannia.
Britannici captivi in pugna gladiatoria Romæ contendunt, lv 2.
Britanniciani milites, xxiii 2. v. Britones.
Britannicum bellum, ejus exitus expectatur, lxxxviii;
de hoc triumphat Claudius, cii;
Romanis imminet, lxv 2.
Britannicum fretum, Celticam adluit, v.
Britannicum mare, ibi gignuntur margaritæ, lxxiii 2.
Britannicus exercitus, xxxix 2, xl;
ejus favor erga Vespasianum, xli;
apud Lugdunum vincitur, lxiii;
propter Barbarorum irruptiones imperatores creat, lxxviii.
Britannicus oceanus; terminus Europæ ad septentrionem, vii 2;
situs ejus, viii 2;
in eum procurrit Pyrenæus, vii 2;
navigantibus ob ventos æstusque periculosissimus, xcvi;
ibi gignuntur margaritæ et uniones, xciv 2;
eo usque procedit Julius Cæsar, lxxii;
a Constante imperatore navigatur, xcvi;
ei infert signa Theodosius, xcviii 2.
Britannis, ei et Ægypto cœlum idem, lxxxviii 2.
Britannus, intactus, lxxxix;
invictus Romano Marte, lxxxix;
Constantem insperatum expavet, xcv 2;
oceanum navigat puppi viminea corio tecta, xci;
a Theodosio vincitur, xcviii;
ab orbe divisus, Hierosolymas, scripturæ relatione cognitas, quærit, xcix;
ferox, conscius virtutum Victorini, c;
in eloquio Hilarii spem bibit, arma capit; Chilpericum regem tremit, S. Martinum amat, cii.
Brito, Bonus, disticha de eo, xcvii bis.
Britones Romanæ militiæ ascripti:—
legio Palatina; Britones seniores, xxiii; legio secunda Britannica, xxiii; auxilia Palatina; invicti juniores Britanniciani, xxiii; exculcatores seniores Britanniciani, xxiii; Britones, xxiii 2; invicti juniores Britones, xxiii 2;
ala quarta Britonum, xxiii.
Britones, eorum patria ut duodecima hora diei, xxiv 2;
ita nominantur quia bruti, cii 2;
eorum solatia in Gallia ab Anthemio imperatore postulantur, lxxxiii 2;
eorum rex Rhiothimus ab Eurico, rege Vesegothorum, superatur, lxxxiii 2;
terribiles, xci 2;
eorum brachæ, xci 2;
Augusto subiguntur, ci 2.
Brittia, insula, ejus situs et nationes, lxxxiv;
ejus descriptio, lxxxvi;
ibi murus, cujus latus orientale salubre, occidentale funestum, lxxxvi;
ex opposito ejus degunt piscatores et agricolæ, Francis subjecti, qui Brittiam mercimonii causa frequentant; mortuorumque animas eo transvehunt, lxxxvi 2;
ejus incolæ sub regibus vivunt, lxxxiv;
horum multi quotannis ad Francos transeunt, lxxxiv;
ejus regis soror, a Radigero Varnorum rege repudiata, exercitum contra eum ducit, Varnos superat, Radigero ignoscit, et in maritum accipit, lxxxv 1, 2, lxxxvi.

Digitized by Google

Brittiani, homines bellicosissimi, lxxxv;
pedites in prælium eunt, equis omnino carent; equitationem prorsus ignorant, lxxv 1, 2.
Bunduica, lvi. v. Boudicea.
Burgundiones a Probo Britanniam transmissi, lxxv 2.

C.

Cæcina, A., Britannorum cohortes ad Italiam defendendam præmittit, xl;
vexillariis trium Britannicarum legionum Cremonam incedere jubet, xl 2.
Cælestinus, papa, Germanum, Autisiodorensem episcopum, ut Britannos ad fidem catholicam dirigeret, mittit, lxxxii;
Britannias hæresi Pelagiana liberat, ci 2.
Cælestius? Scotorum pultibus prægravatur, xcix 2;
Hieronymi commentarios carpit, xcix 2, n.[n];
progeniem habet Scoticæ gentis de Britannorum vicinia, xcix 2.
Cæsar, Caius Julius, imperator, excerpta ex ejus Commentariis de Bello Gallico, xxvii, n.[a], lxxxvii, n.[h]; de Bello Civili, xxxiv 2, n.[a];
Commium Atrebatem ab eo victum e Gallia in Britanniam fugientem persequitur, xci 2;
imperium Romanum usque insulas Britannicas provehit, i 2, ii;
Britannos devincit, ii, vii, xxviii 2, li 2;
tributarios facit, ii, vii;
Britanniam bis adit, vii, xxxv, xlviii 2, xlix, lxxi;
eo trajecturus, navale ponit prope Sequanam, vi; apud portum Itium, vi 2;
Britanniam proficisci parat, xxvii;
de insula atque incolis mercatores interrogans parum proficit, xxvii;
C. Volusenum Britanniam exploratum mittit, xxvii;
in Morinos pergit, xxvii, lxxix;
naves eo convenire jubet, xxvii 2;
ad eum legati ex Britannia veniunt, obsides dare et imperio Romano obtemperare pollicentes, xxvii 2;
legatos domum remittit cum Commio rege Atrebatium, qui Britannos Romanorum fidem sequi hortaretur, xxvii 2;
naves ad duas legiones transportandas colligit, reliquoque exercitu legatis tradito, a Morinis solvit, xxvii 2;
Britanniam attigit, xxvii 2, li 2, lxxix; inopportunitate vero loci ad egrediendum perspecta, iterum solvit, et in plano littore naves constituit, xxviii, nn.[a b]; li 2;
terram tandem magna cum difficultate capit, hostesque profligat, xxviii 2, li 2;
Britannis ignoscit, obsidesque imperat, xxviii 2, li 2;
ejus naves, partim in mari, partim in littore novilunii tempore, a tempestate et æstu affliguntur, vii, xxviii 2, xlix, li 2, lxxix; naves fractas reparat, xxix;
legioni septimæ dum frumentaretur a Britannis turbatæ, præbet auxilium, xxix 2, li 2;
legiones in castra reducit, xxix 2;
contra Britannos legiones pro castris constituit, xxix 2;
legatis de pace advenientibus, obsidum numerum duplicari jubet, xxix 2, li 2; in continentemque adduci, xxix 2;
naves solvit, Galliamque revertitur, xxix 2, li 2, lxxix;
ob ejus gesta in Britannia, supplicatio viginti dierum a senatu decernitur, xxx, lii;
naves ædificari reficique jubet, lii, lxxix; earum formæ, xxx, lii;
ad portum Itium eas convenire jubet, vi 2, xxx;
Trevirorum contentionibus sedatis, Itium cum legionibus venit, ubi, ob Corum ventum, viginti quinque dies moratur, xxx 2;
navibus conscensis, cum quinque legionibus et duobus millibus equitum Britanniam petit; sed ab æstu locum ubi anno præterito terram attigerat prætervectus, tandem remigando eodem accedit, xxxi, lii, lxxix;
exercitum nullo obsistente exponit, locumque castris idoneum capit, xxxi, n.[a], lii;
Q. Atrio navibus præfecto, ipse noctu passuum millia duodecim progressus, hostes ex loco egregie arboribus succisis munito deturbat, xxxi, lii, lxxix;
audito naves tempestate afflictas, legiones revocat, xxxi 2, lxxix;
ad naves revertitur, xxxi 2;
navibus refectis et subductis, castrisque munitis, eo unde redierat proficiscitur, xxxi 2;
in hostium insecutione aliquos ex suis amittit, xxxii;
ejus equitatus ab hoste vincitur, lxxix;
milites propter novum genus pugnæ, essedariorum metu afficiuntur; necnon et propter gravitatem armorum, minus apti ad hostem inveniuntur, xxxii;
tres legiones omnemque equitatum pabulatum mittit, xxxii 2;
Britannos pabulatores aggressos, fundit, xxxii 2, lxxix;
exercitum ad flumen Tamesin ducit, xxxii 2, lii, lxxix;
Cæsar, cont.
flumen, sudibus acutis munitum, transit, xxxii 2, lxxix;
hostes fugat, xxxii 2, lii 2, lxxix;
agros vastat, xxxii 2;
Cenimagnos, Segontiacos, Ancalitas, Bibrocos, Cassos, in deditionem accipit, xxxiii;
Cassivellauni oppidum, egregie natura atque opere munitum, expugnat, hostesque inde fugat, xxxiii, lii 2, lxxix;
Cassivellauno imperat ne Mandubratio neu Trinobantibus bellum faciat, xxxiii;
obsidibus imperatis annuoque vectigali constituto, ad mare reducto exercitu, captivos et copias incolumes ad continentem perducit, vii, xxxiii 2, lii 2, lxxix;
naves ejus generis, quo olim in Britannia usus fuerat, construit, xxxiv 2;
Britannia ab eo tributaria facta, xxxiv 2;
Britannicæ insulæ manus injicit, xxxv;
in Britanniam transjicit exercitum, xxxv, xlviii 2, lxxi;
primus Romanorum Britanniam ingreditur, xliii, li, xciv;
ejus expeditionis adversus Britannos mira audacia, xlviii 2;
primus cum classe ad oceanum occidentalem venit, xlviii 2;
Britannos vincit, obsides a rege Britannorum accipit, xlviii 2;
Britannis tributo imposito, armis obsidibusque acceptis, Galliam revertitur, xlviii 2;
rursus in Britannos pergit, quos in Calidonias sequitur sylvas, xlix;
e regibus Cavelianis quendam in vincula dat, xlix;
Britannos ad speciem imperii acquirit, xlix;
in patriam invehitur, xlix;
in Britanniam iterum trajicit, cujus partem in potestatem redigit, xlix;
Britannos antea ignotos aggreditur, xlix; iis pecunias obsidesque imperat, xlix;
exercitum in Britanniam, non nisi ante per se exploratam, transvehit, xlix;
primus Romanorum in insulam Britannicam adhuc ignotam, ab æstu vectus, trajicit, l 2, li; ratesque in scopulos illidi jussit, l 2;
fluvium quendam transiturus, Cassolaulo regi Britannorum elephantem opponit, hosteque perterrito amnem transit, l 2, li;
Britannos, castrum navale impugnantes, repellit; quibus ægre pacem concedit, li 2;
magnopere expeditionem Britannicam extollit, lii; ob obsides non traditos Britanniam iterum navigat, lii;
pacem Britannis, obsidibus acceptis, concedit, ab insulaque recedit, lii 2;
Britanniam aditu facilem reddit; oceanum navigari facit, liii;
Britanniam insulasque subjugat, liii;
is, qui secure in Britannia militaverat, Romæ intra curiam perit, liii;
eum gloriari decet quod oceanum navigasset, lxvii;
primus Romanorum oceanum navigans, Britanniam invenit vincitque, lxx 2;
eo duce populus Romanus oceanum navigat, lxx 2;
primus mare exterum navigat, primusque e navi descendit, lxxi;
Britanniam transit, lxxi;
Britannias tributarias facit, lxxi;
Britanniam subigit, lxxi;
Britannis bellum infert, quos, obsidibus acceptis, stipendiarios facit, lxxii;
Britanniam Romanis aperit, lxxxii 2;
signa Caledonios transvehit adusque Britannos;
Scottos, Saxonas, Pictos fundit, c 2, n.[p]; in vincendis Britannis non tantum fecit, quantum in Augusto gignendo, lxxxix;
ostendit terga Britannis, xci;
tribus tantum asseclis comitatus Britanniam venit, xciv;
e militibus ejus cujusdam et fortitudo et disciplinæ observantia in Britannia, xxxv, xlviii 2;
Britanniam spe margaritarum petit, xlix;
thoracem ex margaritis Britannicis Veneri dicat, viii 2, x 2;
inter Celtas et Britones splendide agit, xciii 1.
peragrans in Britannia filiam suam amittit, xc 2, n.[l];
Cæsar, C., Germaniam pacat Britanniam aperit, xc 2.
Caledones, gens Pictica, lxix. v. Caledonii.
Caledonia, Calidonia, ejus angulus ubi Ulyxem appulsum creditur, x;
ejus promontorium, x;
ejus incolarum rutilæ comæ, magni artus, Germanicam originem adseverant, xlii 2, lxxxiii;
ejus incolæ in Romanos arma convertunt, xlv;
eam penetrat Agricola, xlv;
omnino a Severo peragratur, lxi;
ejus incolarum descriptio secundum Dionem, lxxxiii;
ejus campi de Vettio Bolano gloriabuntur, xcii;
ibi speculæ, castella fossaque ab eo facta, xcii;
ejus concharum germina, xcvi 2;
ostrea, xcvii 2.

Digitized by Google

Caledoniæ, Calidoniæ, sylvæ, Romanorum armis terminus, viii;
ad eas usque Britannos persequitur Cæsar, xlix.
Caledonii, Caledones, xiv;
gens Pictica, lxix;
alter ex maximis Britanniæ populis, lx 2;
ultra Mæatas degunt, lx 2;
ope Mæatis jam promissa, pactum cum Romanis non servant, lx 2;
eorum regio montuosa, deserta et paludosa, lx 2;
carent muris, civitatibus, agricultura, lx 2;
pabulatione, venatu et baccis vivunt, lx 2;
pisces non gustant, lx 2;
in tentoriis nudi et sine calceis degunt, lx 2;
uxores communes habent, totamque progeniem alunt, lx 2;
eorum politia plerumque democratica, lx 2;
præda gaudent, lx 2;
utuntur scuto, hasta brevi et pugione, lx 2;
pugnant et e curribus et pedite, lx 2;
pedibus velocissimi; ab hoste deprehensi, obstinate se defendunt, lx 2;
eorum mira laboris et inediæ tolerantia, lx 2, lxi;
commenta ad Romanorum milites conterendos, lxi;
pacem cum Severo pangunt magnamque partem terræ dedunt, lxi;
una cum Mæatis iterum rebellant, lxi 2;
eorum sylvæ atque paludes a Constantio non digna adquiri, lxix;
a Theodosio vincuntur, xcviii 2;
ad eos signa transvehit Cæsar, c 2; Britanni, xci, xci 2, xcvi 2;
in eorum lucos trahet agmina Vespasianus, xci.
v. Mæatæ, Britanni.
Caledonius æstus libra continetur, xcvii.
Caledonius oceanus carbasa Vespasiani vehit, xcii.
Caledonius ursus, xcii.
Calgacus dux Britannorum, oratio ejus ad milites contra Agricolam ad montem Grampium pugnaturos, xlvi 1, 2.
Calidonia, x, lxxxiii. v. Caledonia.
Calidoniæ sylvæ, xlix. v. Caledoniæ.
Caligula, Caius, imperator, de intranda Britannia agitat, xliii;
pontem Bajarum ut Britanniam territaret excogitasse fertur, xlix;
Adminio, Cinobellini regis Britannorum filio, in deditionem recepto, Britanniam expugnare parat, xlix 1, 2; Mynocynobellino, lxxix 2;
aciem in littore oceani disponit, xlix 2, liii 2;
triremi ascensa solvit, sed cito redit, liii 2;
conchas, Romæ quasi oceani spolia exhibendas, militibus legere imperat, xlix 2, liii 2.
Camaldunum oppidum a Mona ducentis millibus distat, viii.
Camulodunum, Cynobellini regia, a Claudio capitur, lv;
colonia veteranorum exinde ab Ostorio in Siluras deducitur, xxxvi;
ibi templum Claudio constituitur, xxxviii;
portenta ibi visa, xxxviii;
eo auxilia veteranis mittit Decianus Cato, xxxviii;
a Britannis diripitur, xxxviii 2.
v. Camaldunum, Camolodunum.
Canes venatibus apti in Britannia nascuntur, vi 2;
a Celtis in usum belli adhibentur, vi 2.
v. Agassæi.
Cangi, gens Britannica, a P. Ostorio cæde afficiuntur, xxxvi.
Canninefates Britannicam classem clade afficiunt, xli 2.
Cantium, Britanniæ promontorium orientale, ejus situs, ii, iii 2, vi 1, 2, xiii 2;
ex opposito Rheni jacet, iii 2.
Cantium, regio maritima Britanniæ, xxxii;
ibi angulus lateris Britanniæ quo naves ex Gallia appelluntur, xxxi 2;
ejus incolæ omnium Britannorum humanissimi, xxxii;
non multum differunt Gallica consuetudine, xxxii;
ejus reges, jussu Cassivellauni, navale Cæsaris adorti, plurimis suorum amissis, a Romanis repelluntur, xxxiii.
Capitolinus, Julius, excerpta ex ejus Vitis Antonini Pii, Marci Antonini, Pertinacis, Clodii Albini et Gordiani, lxv 2, n.[l]
Caracalla, M. A. Severus Antoninus, Britanniam cum patre Severo adit, lxiii; cum eo contra Britannos pergit, lxiv;
in itinere adversus Caledonios patrem interficere parans, clamore sociorum territus, ab incepto desistit, lxi 1, 2;
a patre ægrotante ad res militares curandas mittitur, lxiv;
imperium post mortem patris suscipit, lxii, lxiv;
fœdus pacemque cum Britannis paciscitur, lxiv 2, lxxxvii;
fine imposito bello, Britanniam, vacuefactis præsidiis, relinquit, lxii, lxxxvii;
Britannorum victor, cum Geta Galliam venit, lxiv 2;
Papianum Britanniæ præficit, lxxxvii.
v. Antoninus.
Caractacus, Cataratacus, Caratacus, Cynobellini regis Britannorum filius, a Plautio superatur, liv; Caractacus, &c., cont.
principibus cæteris eminentior, bellum in Ordovicas transfert, xxxvi 2;
locum sibi idoneum, in modum valli saxis præstructum, egregie munit, xxxvi 2;
ductores gentium hortatur, xxxvi 2;
cum P. Ostorio confligens, superatur, xxxvi 2;
fidem Cartismanduæ, Brigantum reginæ, petens, ab ea victoribus traditur, xxxvi 2;
uxore et filia ab Ostorio captis, fratres quoque in deditionem accipiuntur, xxxvi 2;
ejus fama insulas evecta per Italiam celebratur, xxxvi 2;
in spectaculum Romæ ducitur, xxxvii;
ejus constantia, et oratio ad Claudium Cæsarem, xxxvii;
veniam una cum conjuge et fratribus meret, cum quibus, vinculis exsolutus, Agrippinam quoque laudibus veneratur, xxxvii;
Barbarorum princeps, Romam perductus, veniam a Claudio obtinet, lxxxvii, xcv 1; ejus exclamatio ad conspectum urbis Romæ, lxxxvii, xcv 1.
Caratacus, lxxxvii. v. Caractacus.
Carausius, pirata, lxvi 2, n.[u];
classe quæ Gallias tuebatur abducta, piraticam exercet, lxvii 1, 2;
Menapiæ civis classi præfectus, Britanniam capessit, lxxi 2;
Britannias occupat, lxxii 2, cii 1;
peritissimus rei militaris, ibi rebellat, lxxii 2;
eas, purpura sumpta, occupat, lxxx, lxxxi;
Britanniam septem annos retinet, lxxx;
ab Allecto interficitur, lxvii 2, n.[d], lxxi 2, lxxii 2, lxxx.
Carinus, imperator, ei Britanniæ decretæ sunt, lxvi.
Carinus bella sub arcto gerit, xcv.
Carnutes, populi Galliæ, in eorum finibus certo anni tempore judicia reddunt Druides, xxxiii 2.
Carpenta, xlvii. v. Currus.
Carthaginienses Œstrymnidas insulas, commercii causa, adeunt, xix 2.
Cartismandua, Brigantum regina, Caractacum Romanis tradit, xxxvi 2; Brigantibus imperitat, xli;
capto Caractaco, Claudio triumphum instruit, xli;
Venusio nubit, sed orto discidio, fratrem et propinquos ejus intercipit, xxxvii 2;
spreto Venusio, Vellocato armigero ejus nubit, xli;
a Venusio in discrimen adducta, Romanorum ope liberatur, xli.
Casæ Britannorum ex virgis atque arundine factæ, ii 2, lxxxiii.
Cassi, populi Britanniæ, Cæsari se dedunt, xxxiii.
Cassiodorus, M.A., excerpta ex ejus Chronico, lxxxii 2, n.[w] Cassitera insula, ejus situs, xx;
ibi cassiteros gignitur, xx.
Cassiterides, insulæ Britannicæ, i, vii 2;
earum situs, v 2, vii 2, viii 2, x 2; ex opposito Artabrum, v 2; ex opposito Europæ, v 2;
ex iis cassiteron ad Græcos exportatur, i;
Herodoto parum notæ, i;
cassiteron sive plumbum ferunt, iii, v 2, vii 2, viii 2, x 2; inde nomen habent, vii 2, viii 2;
earum incolæ barbati, tunicis talaribus nigris circa pectus cincti, baculis innixi incedunt, v 2;
ex armentis vivunt, v 2;
cassiteron, plumbum et pelles cum negotiatoribus pro fictilibus, sale et vasibus æneis permutant, v 2;
a Phœnicibus commercii causa frequentantur, v 2;
a Romanis adeuntur, v 2.
v. Œstrymnidæ, Siluræ.
Cassiteron, i 1, 2, v 2;
in Cassiteridibus gignitur, ii 1, 2;
quo modo ab incolis elaboratur, et ad Ictim insulam vehitur, ii 2; inde Galliam a negotiatoribus usque Rhodanum transportatur, iii;
e terra eruitur, v 2;
ab insulis Britannicis adusque Massiliam transvehitur, v 2.
v. Stannum; Plumbum album, candidum.
Cassiteros in insula Cassitera gignitur, xx.
Cassivellaunus, rex, cum cæteris Britanniæ civitatibus continentia bella exercere consuetus, xxxi 2;
Imanuentium regem Trinobantium interficit, xxxii 2;
ei summa imperii bellique administrandi a Britannis permittitur, xxxi 2, lii 2;
fines ejus Tamesi flumine a maritimis civitatibus dividuntur, xxxi 2;
Tamesis ripam, acutis sudibus munitam, magnis copiis instruit, xxxii 2, lxxix;
inde a Cæsare fugatus, Romanorum itinera cum essedariis servat, xxxii 2;
pecora atque homines in sylvas ex agris compellit, xxxii 2;
cum Romanorum equitatu confligit, xxxii 2;
ejus oppidum, natura atque opere egregie munitum, a Cæsare expugnatur, xxxiii, lxxix 2;
regibus Cantianis imperat uti castra navalia Cæsaris adoriantur, xxxiii;

Digitized by Google

Cassivellaunus, cont.
legatos ad Cæsarem de deditione mittit, xxxiii;
ei a Cæsare interdicitur ne Trinobantibus neu Mandubratio bellum faciat, xxxiii.
Cassolaulus, rex Brittonum, Cæsari amnem quendam transituro resistit, li.
Cataractacus, filius Cynobellini regis Britonum, a Plautio superatur, liv. v. Caractacus, Caratacus.
Cato, ei reges Britonum munera mittunt, ciii.
Catuellani, populi Britanniæ, Bodunis imperant, liv.
Catuli veloces e Britannia exportantur, xcv.
Catullus, Caius Valerius, excerpta ex Carminibus ejus, lxxxviii 2, n.[q]
Caturactonium, ejus situs, xvi; dies longissima, xvi; parallelus, xvi 2.
Caveliani, ex eorum regibus quidam in Britannia a Caio Julio Cæsare in vincula datur, xlix.
Cedrenus, G., excerptum ex ejus Historiarum Compendio, ciii, n.[b]
Celerinus legionem Scotis Pictisque fræna dantem accersit, xcviii 2, n.[n] Celti in bello utuntur canibus Brittanicis, vi 2;
curribus utuntur, vi 2;
sedes eorum, l 2;
degunt prope oceanum ultimum qui Britanniam continet, l 2;
eorum quidam jussu Plautii flumen quoddam in Britannia tranantes, Britannos, equis vulneratis, turbant, liv 2;
iterum Tamesim flumen tranant, plurimos Britannorum intercipiunt, multos vero ex suis in paludibus amittunt, liv 2;
gentes quæ ultra eorum sedes degunt a fœminis reguntur, lxxxvii.
Celtica, ejus situs, v, vi 2;
freto Britannico adluitur, v;
inde Iernen navigatur, iv;
inde Britanniam exportantur armillæ eburneæ, monilia, succinum et vasa chrystallina, vii;
de rebus ejus sub Arcadio imperatore recapitulatio, lxxvii 1, 2.
Cenimagni, populi Brittaniæ, Cæsari se dedunt, xxxiii.
Cerasi, quando in Britanniam vecti, viii 2.
Ceres, ei in quadam insula prope Britanniam sacra fiunt, vi.
Cervi Britanni Romæ depicti, lxv 2.
Cesius Nasica, legio cui præest cum Britannia feliciter pugnat, xxxvii 2.
Chamavi, populi Germaniæ, pax eis a Juliano Cæsare conceditur, ne frumentum e Britannia deportandum interciperetur, lxxv.
Chenerotes, avium species, in deliciis apud Britanniam habentur, viii 2.
Chilpericus, rex Francorum, eum tremit Britannus, cii, n.[r]
Chrysanthus, insularum Britannicarum vicarius, laudabiliter agit, lxxi; episcopatum accipit, lxxxi.
Chrysostomus, Johannes, excerpta ex ejus opericus de Incomprehensibili Dei Natura; Contra Judæos; et Sermone in Pentecosten, xcviii 2, n.[w] Cicero, M. T., excerpta ex ejus epistolis ad Familiares, ad Atticum, Trebatium, et Quintum fratrem, lxxxvii, n.[i], lxxxviii;
e Britannia literas a Quinto fratre et a Cæsare accipit, lxxxviii;
res Britannicas describit, lxxxviii.
Cilurno, ibi stationem habet præfectus alæ secundæ Astorum, xxiv 2.
Cinobellinus, Cynobellinus, rex Britannorum, ejus filius Adminius in deditionem Caligulæ venit, xlix;
ejus filii, Cataratacus atque Togodumnus, a Plautio devincuntur, liv; ejus regia, Camulodunum, a Claudio capitur, lv;
ejus obitus, liv.
Civilis Britannica auxilia, Batavorum cohortes Mogontiæ agentes, pellicit, xli.
Civilis, recturus Britannias pro præfectis, a Theodosio poscitur, lxxiv.
Classicianus, Julianus, procurator, Britanniam Deciano Cato successor mittitur, xxxix.
Claudia Rufina, cæruleis Britannis edita, xci 2.
Claudianus, Claudius, excerpta ex ejus carminibus, xcvii 2, n.[s] Claudius, Tib. Cæsar, Britanniam diu clausam aperit, vii 2;
legiones in Britanniam transfert, xliii;
Aulum Plautium cum exercitu Britanniam mittit, liv;
ipse expeditionem in Britanniam suscipit, brevique insulæ partem subjicit, xlix 2, lxxix 2, ci 2, cii;
Britanniam adit, lv, lxxi;
ad exercitum prope Tamesim venit, lv; quo transito, Britannos debellat; Camulodunum, Cynobellini regiam, capit; Britannorum multos vel vi vel deditione in potestatem accipit, lv;
imperator sæpius acclamatur, lv;
subjectos Britannos, armis exutos, Plautio commendat, eique ut cæteros subjugaret imperat, lv;
in Britannia sexdecim dies moratus, Romam redit, lv; triumphans redit, xlix 2;
a senatu Britannicus vocatus, triumphus ei decernitur, lv 2;
de Britannia triumphat, viii, ix 2, xxxv 2, lxxii, lxxxi 2, lxxxii 2;
navalem coronam fastigio Palatinæ domus figit, xlix 2;
spectaculum de regum Britanniæ deditione edit, xlix 2;
ludos triumphales ob victoriam Britannicam agit, xlix 2;
ex Britannicis captivis multos in ludo gladiatorio conficit, lv 2;
Germanicum filium Britannicum cognominat, xlix 2, lxxii; qui et a senatu Britannicus cognominatur, lv;
ejus fœdera cum populis Britanniæ a senatu sanciuntur, lv 2;
Caractaco regi Britannorum veniam dat, xxxvii, lxxxvii;
Orcadas insulas imperio Romano addit, lxxii, lxxix 2, lxxxi 2, lxxxii 2, cii 1;
expeditionem Britannicam ob Galbæ valetudinem differt, l;
Plautium de Britannia triumphantem prosequitur, lxxii;
templum in Britannia habet, ubi ut deus colitur, xc;
templum Camuloduni ei constructum a Britannis expugnatur, xxxviii 1, 2;
aras ultra oceanum habet, lxxxix 2;
ejus laudes ob Britanniam devictam, lxxxix 2, xc;
Britannos togatos videre constituit, xc;
Britanniam devincit, lxxii;
Britannis primus jugum imposuit, xc 2;
Britannos et Brigantes superat, xc;
Druidarum superstitiones comprimit, lxxi, civ 2;
donis militaribus bello Britannico ab eo donati, cv 3, 4.
Clemens Alexandrinus, excerptum ex ejus operibus, xciv, n.[c]
Clemens Romanus, excerptum ex Epistola ejus, xcii, n.[f]
Clota, æstuarium, xii;
spatium inter eam et Bodotriam præsidiis ab Agricola firmatur, xlv.
Codex Justinianus, excerptum inde, ci, n.[f]
Codex Theodosianus, excerptum inde, ci, n.[d]
Cogidunus, rex Britanorum, civitatibus quibusdam in Britannia a Romanis donatur, xliii.
Cohortes Britannorum ad Italiam defendendam a Cæcina mittuntur, xl.
Colonia Romanorum, eam invadunt Britanni, xliii 2.
Commius, Atrebatium rex, a Cæsare in Britanniam mittitur, ut Britannos fidem populi Romani sequi hortaretur, xxvii 2;
a Britannis, vinculis primo conjectus sed postea solutus, Cæsari remittitur, xxviii 2;
a Cassivellauno de ejus deditione ad Cæsarem mittitur, xxxiii;
ejus opera utitur Cæsar in Britannia, pro meritis ejus civitas immunis cum juribus legibusque redditur, ei attribuuntur Morini, lxxxvii 1 2;
in Britanniam e Gallia fugit persequente Cæsare, xci 2.
Commodus, L. Æl. Aur., imperator, Marcellum Ulpium præfectum Britanniam mittit, lix 2; eo Pertinacem mittit, lxv n.[p]; Junium Severum, lxv 2;
Britannicus appellatur, lxvi; Britannos per legatos vincit, lxvi.
Concangios, ibi stationem habet præfectus numeri Vigilum, xxiv.
Conderco, ibi stationem habet præfectus alæ primæ Astorum, xxiv 2.
Congavata, ibi stationem habet tribunus cohortis secundæ Lergorum, xxiv 2.
Constans, imperator, Britanniam in subsidium adit, lxxiii; hyeme eo navigat, xcv 2.
Constantinus, C. Val., Magnus, ad reipublicæ salutem vocatur quum pater Constantius Britanniam transfretaret, lxix; Britannias illic oriendo nobiles facit, lxix;
ad patrem in Britannia venit, lxxi 2, lxxii, lxxvi; ejus commentum ne in itinere detineretur, lxxvi; imperium ibi, mortuo patre, capit, lxxii, lxxxvii 2; imperator creatur, lxxii 2, lxxx, lxxxi; Cæsar creatur, lxxv;
regnum invadit, lxxxii;
exercitum ducit contra Britannos, lxx 2; contra eos qui in oceano occidentali degunt, lxx 2;
ad Britannos proficiscitur, quos et subigit, lxx 2;
delectus ex Britanniis contra Maxentium ducit, lxxvi;
imperii præfecturam quadrifarie dividens, eidem præfecto Celtos, Iberos, et Britanniam committit, lxxvi;
illo vivente Britannis fidem Christi suscipere haud contra legem videbatur, lxxxi 2.
Constantinus, tyrannus, in Britannia, insurrectione militum, imperator salutatur, lxxv 2, lxxviii, lxxxi 2, lxxxiii 2;
propter spem nominis eligitur, lxxx 2;
in Britannia tyrannus oritur, lxxx 2;
naves militesque ad subjugandum Hispaniam et Galliam colligit, lxxxiii 2;
Britanniam linquit, lxxv 2, lxxvii 2;
in Gallias transit, lxxx 2; Bononiam, lxxv 2, lxxxi 2;
pars imperii ab Honorio ei conceditur, lxxv 2, lxxvii;
Galliam sibi conciliat, lxxxi 2;
Galliam Aquitaniamque subjugat, lxxxi 2;
apud Arelatem a Constantio comite occiditur, lxxx 2, lxxxii 2;
prælio cum filiis superatus moritur, lxxxiii 2.

Digitized by Google

Constantius, Fl. Val., Cæsar, naves ad Britanniam recuperandam parat, lxvii, lxix; Britannicum bellum aggreditur, lxvii 2;
ejus classis, nebula tecta, inimicorum classem in speculis apud Vectam insulam collocatam præterit, lxvii 2;
exercitus Britanniam appulsus, proprias naves incendit, lxvii 2;
ejus militum victoria apud oppidum Londiniense, lxviii;
Britanniam subdit, lxvi 2;
oceanum classe transmittit et Britanniam recuperat, lxix 1, 2;
Britannias servitute liberat, lxix, n.[b]; eas manibus Carausii recuperat, lxvi 2;
ex victoria ejus Britannica artifices ab Æduis ad civitatem instaurandam accipiuntur, lxix;
ejus suprema expeditio Britannica tropæa non expetit, lxix;
ejus misericordia, temperantia et justitia, lxix, lxxxvii;
ad intimum terrarum limen accedit, lxix;
non dignatus silvas et paludes Caledonum aliorumque Pictorum, Hiberniam, Thulem nec Fortunatas Insulas adquirere, lxix; moritur in Britannia, lxxi 2, lxxii, lxxx, lxxxi, lxxxvii 2; moritur Eboraci, lxxii 2, lxxv, lxxxii;
imperium Constantino Magno relinquit, lxxxvii 2.
Constantius, Fl. Jul. Val., imperator, synodum apud Ariminum congregari jubet, xcix 2.
Contentus, Cl., Rutupiis sepelitur, xcvii.
Corus ventus Cæsarem apud portum Itium viginti quinque dies detinet, xxx 2;
in iis partibus maxime flare consuescit, xxx 2.
Cotta in Britannia sub Cæsare militat, xciv.
Covinarii Britannici se peditibus in prælio miscent, xlvii 2.
Covinnus falcifer ab incolis Thules usurpatur, xci.
Covinus, xci;
falcatis axibus, viii.
v. Currus, Esseda.
Cremona, ibi vexillæ Britannicarum legionum mediam aciem implent, xli.
Curmi, potus quidam, ex hordeo in Britannia conficitur, xc.
Currus, eorum usus in bello apud Britannos, ii 2, vi 2, viii, lxxxiii; eorum ope Romanos eludunt, li 2; pictus, lxxxix. v. Covinus, Britanni.
Cynobellinus rex Britannorum, liv, lv. v. Cinobellinus.

D.

Dano, ibi stationem habet præfectus equitum Crispianorum, xxiv.
Decianus Catus, Britanniæ procurator, revocatis immunitatibus a Claudio principibus concessis, provinciam turbat, lvi; veteranis Camulodunum auxilia mittit, xxxviii;
clade Romanorum et odiis provinciæ trepidus, Galliam transit, xxxviii 2.
Demetrius, grammaticus, ejus narratio de insulis heroum juxta Britanniam, xcii 2; de Saturno ibi a Briareo somno vincto, xcii 2.
Derventione, ibi stationem habet præfectus numeri Derventionensis, xxiv.
Dicalidonæ, gens Pictorum, per diversa vagantes multa populantur, lxxiii 2.
Dicearchus geographos antiquiores impugnat, iv 2.
Dicti, ibi stationem habet præfectus numeri Nerviorum Dictensium, xxiv.
Didius Gallus, Aulus, Britanniæ proprætor efficitur, xxxvii 2;
Siluras pellit, xxxvii 2;
per ministros hostem arcere satis habet, xxxvii 2;
parta tantum retinet, xxxvii 2, xliii;
castella admodum pauca in ulteriora promovit, xliii.
Dio Cassius, excerpta ex ejus Historia Romana, li, n.[a], xciv 2, n.[n], xcv;
ejus descriptio incolarum Calidoniæ, lxxxiii.
Diodorus Siculus, excerpta ex ejus Bibliotheca Historica, i 2, n.[c], ciii 2, n.[g]
Dionysius Periegeta, excerpta ex ejus Orbis Periegesi, xvi 2, n.[c], xvii.
Dioscorides, excerptum ex ejus libro de Medica Materia, xc, n.[b]
Dis Pater, ab eo Galli se prognatos dicunt, xxxiv.
Divitiacus, Gallus, rex Suessionum, magnæ partis Britanniæ imperium obtinet, xxvii.
Domitianus, T. F., imperator, triumphalia Agricolæ ob res in Britannia gestas decerni jubet, xlviii; Sallustium Lucullum Britanniæ legatum interimit, l.
Dorcades insulæ, earum situs, xxvi 2. v. Orcades.
Dorothæus, excerptum ex ejus Apostolorum Synopsi, ci, n.[c]
Druides, Druidæ, eorum disciplina in Britannia reperta Galliam transfertur, xxxiii 2;
qui eam diligentius cognoscere volunt in Britanniam pergunt, xxxiii 2;
eorum mores et instituta, xxxiii 2, xc 2, ciii 2, civ 1, 2;
rebus divinis intersunt, xxxiii 2, ciii 2, civ;
sacrificia procurant, xxxii 1, 2;
religiones interpretantur, xxxii 1, 2, ciii 2, civ 2; juventutem instituunt, xxxiii 2, civ;
de controversiis fere omnibus decernunt, xxxiii 2, ciii 2, civ;
eorum decretis non obtemperantibus sacrificiis interdicunt, xxxiii 2;
eorum præses quomodo deligitur, xxxiii 2;
jura in finibus Carnutum certo anni tempore administrant, xxxiii 2;
nec bello intersunt, neque tributa pendunt, xxxiii 2;
animas non interire, sed ab aliis ad alios post mortem transire docent, xxxiii 2, xc 2, civ 2;
hominibus immolandis intersunt, xxxiv, civ;
Græcis litteris utuntur, xxxiii 2;
magnum munerum versuum ediscunt, xxxiii 2;
disciplinam literis mandari nolunt, xxxiii 2;
multa de sideribus, de mundo, de natura deorum, docent, xxxiv, xc 2, civ;
Gallos a Dite patre prognatos prædicant, xxxiv;
eorum superstitiones, xc 2; superstitiones de herbis et ovo anguino, civ;
eorum sacrificia, civ, cv; ritus sepulturæ, civ; epulæ, cv; augures apud Gallos, civ;
eorum ritus augurandi ex homine immolato, civ 1, 2;
lucos incolunt, xc 2;
robora et viscus iis in sacratissimis habentur, civ 2;
eorum religio in Gallia ab Augusto Cæsare interdicitur, cv 2;
a Tiberio auferuntur, ix 2;
a Claudio comprimuntur, lxxi, cv 2;
apud Monam diras in Romanos fundunt, xxxviii.
Dubiis, ibi stationem habet præpositus militum Tungricanorum, xxiv.
Dulcitius dux, Britannias recturus a Theodosio poscitur, lxxiv; jussu Theodosii Valentinum ibi pœna plectit, lxxiv 2.
Dumna insula, ejus situs, xvi;
dies longissima, xvi.
Dumnonii, gens Britannica, eorum sedes, xv;
a Silura turbido freto distinguuntur, x.
Dumnorix Æduus, clam discedens ne a Cæsare in Britanniam duceretur, interficitur, xxxi.

E.

Eboracum, Eburacum, municipium, lxxi;
ejus situs, xiv, xv 2; dies longissima, xv 2;
ibi moritur Severus imperator, lxv, lxxi, lxxii 1, 2, lxxix 2, lxxxi 2, lxxxii 2; Constantius Chlorus, lxxii 2, lxxv, lxxxii;
ibi stationem habet legio sexta, xiv, xx 2;
inde datur Severi rescriptum de mancipiis, ci;
ejus episcopus Eborius synodo Arelatensi interest, xcix.
Eborius episcopus de civitate Eboracensi synodo Arelatensi interest, xcix.
Ebudæ, Æbudæ, insulæ, xii, xx. v. Hebudes.
Eburacum, xx 2, xxi 1, 2, xxv 2, lxxxi 2. v. Eboracum.
Electrum in Britannia petris, secundum Sotacum, effluit, ix 2.
Elephas squamatus, a Julio Cæsare in fluvium missus, Britannos resistentes in fugam vertit, li.
Eratosthenes, terræ habitabilis latitudo et longitudo secundum eum, iii 1, 2, iv;
res Britannicas prorsus ignorat, iv;
geographos antiquiores impugnat, iv.
Erocus, Alamannorum rex, ejus ope Constantinus Magnus in Britannia post patrem imperator factus est, lxxii 2.
Esseda, cœlatis jugis, lxxxix.
Essedæ, iis in bello utuntur Britanni, xxviii.
Essedarii Britanni, quo modo ex essedis pugnant, xxix 1, 2, xxxii 1, 2;
acriter cum Romano equitatu confligunt, xxxii;
ab iis cavendum, lxxxvii.
Eunapius Sardianus, excerptum ex ejus Historia, lxxv, n.[f]
Euricus, rex Vesegothorum, Gallias occupare nititur, lxxxiii 2; Rhiothimum, regem Britonum, superat, lxxxiii 2.
Eusebius seu potius Hieronymus, excerpta ex ejus Chronicis, lxxxi 2, n.[u]
Eusebius Pamphilus, excerpta ex ejus Vita Constantini, lxx 2, n.[h]; Demonstratione et Præparatione Evangelica, xcv, nn.[d e]
Eutropius, excerpta ex ejus Breviario Historiæ Romanæ, lxxii, n.[c]

Digitized by Google

F.

Fabius Rusticus, Britanniæ forma secundum eum, xlii 2.
Fagus in Britannia non reperitur, xxxi 2.
Fastidius, Britanniarum episcopus, ejus scripta, c 2.
Ferrum in Britannia nascitur, vi 2, xxxi 2.
Fictilia a negotiatoribus cum incolis Cassiteridum permutantur, v 2.
Firmicus, Julius, excerptum ex ejus libro de Errore Profanarum Religionum, xcv, n.[f]
Florianus, imperator, ei, inter alias nationes, assignatur Britannia, lxxv 2.
Florus, Lucius Annæus, excerpta ex ejus Epitome Rerum Romanarum, xlviii 2, n.[c]
Florus, poeta, ejus versus ad Adrianum imperatorem, lxv.
Fontes calidi, quibus præest Minerva, in Britannia excoluntur, x 2.
Fortunatæ Insulæ, earum situs, viii 2, x 2;
eas Constantius haud dignatur adquirere, lxix.
Fortunatus, Venantius Honorius, excerpta ex ejus Vita S. Martini, cii, n.[a] Franci, eorum vires a Constantio excisæ, lxviii;
Brittianos ad eos migrantes in locis desertissimis collocant; unde et insulam sibi vindicant, lxxxiv.
Fraomarius, rex Bucinobantum, a Valentiniano præfectus numero Alamannorum cum potestate tribuni, in Britannos transfertur, lxxiv 2.
Frontinus, Sextus Julius, excerptum ex ejus stratagematibus, xci 2, n.[m] Frontinus, Julius, Siluras subigit, xliv.
Frontinus ad Britannos a Valentiniano ablegatur, lxxiv.
Fronto, ejus laudes de Antonino ob bellum in Britannia confectum, lxvii 2.
Fruges, scilicet olivæ et uvæ, teste Scytino Chio, in Britannia sine nucleis gignuntur, xciii.
Frumentum in Britannia gignitur, ii 2, vi 2, x, cii 2; inde in continentem ad Romana præsidia deportari solet, lxxv;
ad Rhenum affatim a Juliano transportatur, lxxvi.
Fullofaudes, dux, in Britanniis circumvenitur, lxxiii 2.

G.

Gabrosenti, ibi stationem habet tribunus cohortis secundæ Thracum, xxiv 2.
Gagates nascitur in Britannia, x 2, cii 2; in insulis Britannicis, xx 2; ejus natura, x 2, xx 2.
Galba, Sergius, Britannica expeditio ob ejus valetudinem a Claudio differtur, l.
Galli, eorum quidam humana carne vescuntur, iii;
equitum mores et instituta, xxxiv;
in bello versantur; amplissimi, quamplurimos clientes habent, xxxiv;
omnis natio religionibus dedita, xxxiv;
Druidibus ad sacrificia utuntur, xxxiv;
victimas humanas immolant, xxxiv, ciii 2, civ;
deos Mercurium, Apollinem, Martem, Jovem, Minervam colunt, xxxiv;
simulachra viminea vivis hominibus completa incendunt, xxxiv;
deos placari vita pro vita hominis reddita arbitrantur, xxxiv;
eorum supplicia, xxxiv;
eorum instituta circa uxores et liberos, xxxiv 2;
eorum funera, xxxiv 2;
eorum stoliditas et ferocitas, civ, cv;
eorum vestitus, civ 2;
eorum bardi, augures, Druidæ, ciii 2, civ.
Gallia, ejus plebes pene servorum numero habetur, xxxiii 2;
ibi Druides et equites maximo in honore sunt, xxxiii 2;
ejus consensio libertatis, lxxxvii 1, 2;
causidicos docet Britannos, xci 2.
Gallina a Britannis non gustatur, xxxi 2.
Gariannono, ibi stationem habet præpositus equitum Stablesianorum Gariannonensis, xxiv.
Gemmæ in Britannia reperiuntur, vii 2, lxxiii 2, lxxxiii.
Genii, eorum decessus in insula quadam juxta Britanniam memorantur, xcii 2.
Gennadius, excerpta ex ejus Catalogo Virorum Illustrium, c 2, n.[i] Genunii, populi Britanniæ, eorum terra a Brigantibus vastatur, l 2.
Germani Augusto subiguntur, ci 2.
Germania inferior ad oceanum Britannicum protendit, liii 2.
Germanicus, Cæsar, ei milites Romani Britanniam rapti a regulis remittuntur, xxxvi.
Germanus, Autisiodorensis episcopus, Britannos ad fidem Catholicam dirigit, lxxxii.
Gerontius, Brito, a Constantino tyranno dux efficitur, lxxvii 2;
Constantem Constantini filium occidit, lxxx 2;
a militibus propriis occiditur, lxxx 2.
Gessoriacum, Morinorum portus, quantum a Britannia distat, viii;
inde Britanniam transmittit Claudius, xlix 2;
e manibus Carausii recuperatur, lxvi 2.
Geta, Cneius Osidius, ob Britannos victos triumphum meret, liv 2.
Geta, Augustus, a patre Severo, Caledoniam adituro, ad subjectam Britanniæ provinciam administrandam relinquitur, lxiv;
Britannorum victor, cum Antonino Galliam venit, lxiv 2.
Glastum, eo feminæ apud Britannos se toto corpore oblinunt, ix.
Glannibanta, ibi stationem habet tribunus cohortis primæ Morinorum, xxiv 2.
Glessariæ insulæ, earum situs, viii 2;
ob electrum Electridæ vocantur, viii 2.
Gothi, Romanorum permissu, Britanniam possident, lxxxiii 2.
Græci ab Amano et Tauro adusque oceanum Britannicum maritima occupant, xcix 2.
Grampius mons, ibi Britanni, Calgaco duce, contra Agricolam conveniunt, xlvi; prælii ibi commissi descriptio, xlvii;
ibi superantur Britanni, xlvii 2.
Gratianus, imperator, diviso cum Valentiniano imperio, sibi Britanniam retinet, lxxvi 2;
in odio apud milites in Britannia habetur, lxxvi 2;
a Maximo occiditur, lxxx, cii 2.
Gratianus, tyrannus, municeps Britanniæ, lxxx 2;
a militibus ibi imperator eligitur, et postea occiditur, lxxv 2, lxxvii 2, lxxviii, lxxx 2, lxxxi 2.
Gratianus, pater Valentiniani imperatoris, exercitui Britannico præest, lxxiv 2;
ob Magnentium hospicio susceptum, multatione bonorum a Constantio imperatore affligitur, lxxiv 2.
Gratius, Faliscus, excerptum ex ejus Cynegeticis, lxxxix, n.[m]

H.

Hadrianus, Augustus, v. Adrianus.
Hebudes, Hæbudes, insulæ, earum situs, viii 2, x, xii, xx;
incolæ fruges nesciunt, piscibus et lacte vivunt, x;
eorum rex e publico alitur, x 2;
feminæ ei communes, x 2.
Hegesippus, excerpta ex ejus lib. de Bello Judaico, xxxv 2, n.[h]
Heraclitus ad Britannias obtinendas a Severo mittitur, lxv.
Hercules Britanniam nunquam bello lacessivit, ii 2.
Hermegisclus, rex Varnorum, filium Radigerum virgini Brittianæ despondit, lxxxiv 2, lxxxv;
post quadraginta dies, secundum omen ab ave acceptum, moritur, lxxxv.
Herodianus, excerpta ex ejus Historiis, lxii, n.[b]
Herodotus, excerptum ex ejus Historia, i.
Herthum, sive terra, quali ritu ab Anglis colitur, xli 2.
Heruli e Thule regem arcessunt, lxxxiii 2.
Hesperides insulæ, ibi gignitur stannum, xvi 2, xx 2. v. Cassiterides.
Hibernia, Hybernia, ejus situs, viii, x, xix, xxiv 2, xxvi 2, xxxii, xliv;
a Scottis incolitur, xix;
insula Scottorum, xxiv 2;
item Scotia vocatur, xxvi 2;
ejus descriptio, xxiv, xlv;
ejus latitudo et longitudo, viii;
Britannia angustior, xix; dimidio minor, xxxii;
ejus cœlum, xix, xlv;
solum atque incolæ parum a Britannia differunt, xlv;
pabulosa valde, x;
ibi nullus anguis, avis rara, apium expers, x;
incolarum ritus asperi, x;
gens inhumana, bellicosa, inhospita, x;
puerperæ mari edito cibos primos gladio mariti impositos in os inferciunt, x;
in armorum nitela præcipua viris gloria, x;
dentibus marinarum belluarum capulos ensium insigniunt, x;
vimineis alveis, bubulis tergis circumdatis, navigant, x;
transitus illuc brevissimus a Siluribus, viii;
ejus portus et aditus cogniti per commercia et negotiatores, xlv;
ab una legione debellari possit, xlv;
a Constantio haud digna adquiri, lxix.
v. Ibernia, Ierne, Iverna.
Hibernicum fretum, inquietum; parum navigabile; ejus latitudo, x.
Hibernicus pulvis, alvearibus sparsus, apes destruit, x.
Hieronymus, S., excerpta ex ejus libro adversus Jovinianum, et ex Epistolis, xcix, n.[c]
Hilarius, S., librum de Synodis episcopis provinciarum Britanniarum, inter alios, nuncupat, xcix, n.[b];
Britannus ejus eloquium suscipit, cii.

Digitized by Google

Himilco, Pœnus, vix quatuor mensibus, fuco marino navem retinente, Œstrymnidas navigat, xix 2.
Hipparchus, ejus conjecturæ de situ Britanniæ, iii 2;
erroris a Strabone arguitur, iii 2, iv;
longitudo dierum apud Britanniam secundum eum, iv.
Honorius, imperator, Constantino tyranno ignoscit, lxxvii;
ad civitates Britanniæ litteras ut sibi consulerent mittit, lxxix.
Horesti, populi Britannici, in eorum fines exercitum ducit Agricola, xlvii 2.
Hunno, ibi stationem habet præfectus alæ Savinianæ, xxiv 2.

I. & J.

Javolenus, jurisconsultus, laudatur, ci.
Iberi, eorum sedes, xvi 2, xix;
degunt prope oceanum qui Britanniam continet, l 2.
Iberia, ejus auraria et argentaria, i 2.
Ibernia, insula Britannica, xi, xv 2;
ejus dies longissima, xv 2;
ejus situs, xi, xv 2;
ejus longitudo, xvii 2, xviii 2; secundum Philemonem, viginti dierum, x 2;
ejus circuitus, xvii 2; laterum descriptio, xi 1, 2;
ejus promontoria, xi 1, 2, xvii 2; flumina, xi 1, 2, xvii 2; insulæ, xvii 2;
ejus civitates mediterraneæ, xii, xv 2; oppida, xvii 2; nationes, xvii 2.
v. Hibernia, Iverna, Ierne.
Iceni, gens Britannica, in societatem Romanorum accedunt, xxxvi;
P. Ostorio resistunt, xxxvi;
cum circumjectis nationibus locum pugnæ sibi opportunissimum, septum agresti aggere et aditu angusto, deligunt, xxxvi; inde, Romanis fortiter obsistentes, tandem deturbantur, xxxvi;
eorum nobiles avitis bonis exuuntur, propinquique regis Prasutagi inter mancipia habentur, xxxviii;
in formam provinciæ cedunt, xxxviii;
arma rapiunt, et Trinobantas ad rebellionem commovent, xxxviii.
Ictis, insula Britannica, eo cassiteron vehitur, indeque Galliam transportatur, ii 2.
Ierne, insula Britannica, situs ejus, i, iii 2, iv 2, v, vii;
ultima terrarum in quas e Celtica navigatur, iv;
ob frigus parum habitabilis, v;
ejus cœlum, v;
finis orbis habitabilis, v;
ejus incolæ feri, v;
Britannis ferociores, humana carne vescuntur, vii;
parentes defunctos comedunt; cum matribus sororibusque rem palam habent, vii;
flet cumulos Scotorum, xcviii;
a Scoto movetur, xcvi 2.
v. Hibernia, Ibernia, Iverna.
Imanuentius, rex Trinobantum, a Cassivellauno interficitur, xxxii 2.
Instantius, episcopus, in Sylinam insulam deportatur, c.
Insula Magna, nempe Britannia, contra Iberos, a multis frequentatur, xciii 2.
Insula Sacra, sive Hibernia, xix 2.
Jornandes, excerpta ex ejus libro de Rebus Geticis, lxxxii 2, n.[a], ci, n.[q]
Josephus, Flavius, excerpta ex ejus libro de Bello Judaico, xxxv, n.[d]
Jovinus, a Valentiniano Britanniam profectus, eo Provertuidem præmittit, lxxiii 2.
Jovius, Constantini tyranni legatus, Honorio pollicetur se copias e Britannia ad sedandos Romæ tumultus ducturum, lxxvii.
Iris, incolæ ejus humana carne vesci dicuntur, iii.
Isidorus, Britanniæ situs et circuitus secundum eum, viii.
Isidorus Hispalensis, excerpta ex ejus Originibus, cii 2, n.[k]
Itali, Augusto subiguntur, ci 2.
Itium, portus, inde commodissimus in Britanniam transjectus, xxx;
ibi navale ponit Cæsar, vi 2; eo cum legionibus venit, xxx 2.
Iverna, insula, ejus situs, viii; forma, viii;
cœlum ad semina iniquius, viii;
herbis luxuriosa, viii;
ejus cultores inconditi et omnium virtutum ignari, pietatis admodum expertes, viii.
v. Hibernia, Ierne.
Jugantes, populi Britanniæ, Venusio faventes regnum Cartismanduæ invadunt, xxxvii 2;
cum Romanis contendunt, xxxvii 2.
Julia Augusta Caledoniæ feminas increpat, lxii.
Julia, filia C. J. Cæsaris, patre in Britannia peragrante obit, xc 2, n.[l] Julianus, Cæsar, Lupicinum subsidio Britannis mittit, lxxiii; horrea extruit ubi annona a Britannis sueta transferri condi posset, lxxiii;
propter frumentum inde deportandum Chamavis dat pacem, lxxv 2;
Julianus, cont.
Britanniam naves ad frumentum Rhenum asportandum mittit, lxxvi;
distributionem stipendiorum militum, a præfectis in Britannia prave administratam, corrigit, xcv 2.
Julianus, Didius, imperator, Britannicos exercitus non timet, lxv.
Juvenalis, D. J., excerpta ex ejus Satyris, xci 2, n.[n]
Juverna, ultra eam promoventur arma Romana, xci 2. v. Iverna.

L.

Laberius Durus, Quintus, tribunus militum, a Britannis interficitur, xxxii.
Labienus, tribunus, in Britannia occiditur, lxxix. v. Laberius.
Lælius oceani remo compescuit undas, xc 2.
Lampridius, Ælius, excerpta ex ejus Vitis Commodi et Alexandri Severi, lxvi, n.[a] Lavatres, ibi stationem habet præfectus numeri Exploratorum, xxiv.
Legio secunda, sive Augusta, gloria victoriæ de Boudicea a Pœnio Postumo præfecto castrorum fraudatur, xxxix; ejus vexilla pugnæ Cremonensi intersunt, xli; in Britannia Superiore hyemat, liii 2; stationem habet Iscæ Dumnoniorum, xv; Iscæ Legionum, xxii; Rutupis, xxiv:
sexta, xxiv, stationem habet in Britannia Inferiore, liii 2;—Eboraci, xiv;—Eburaci, xx 2:
septima, sub Caio Julio Cæsare Britannos e loco munito expellit, xxxi:
nona, sub Petilio Cereali a Britannis funditur, xxxviii 2; ex legionariis e Germania missis suppletur, xxxix; ejus vexilla pugnæ Cremonensi intersunt, xli; eam in Caledonia noctu adoriuntur Britanni, xlv 2:
decima, ejus aquilifer, tardantibus militibus Cæsarianis, e nave desilit et in Britannos fert aquilam, xxviii:
quartadecima, a Suetonio contra Boudiceam instruitur, xxxviii 2; rebellionem in Britannia comprimit, xl 2; e Britannia Galliam accitur, xli 2; ejus milites Britanniæ domitores appellantur, xli 2; adversus Vitellium stat, xl 2; in Britanniam remittitur, xl 2: vicesima, ejus vexillarii a Suetonio contra Boudiceam instruuntur, xxxviii 2; vexilla pugnæ Cremonensi intersunt, xli; Valeriana, sive Victores, stationem habet in Britannia Superiore, liii 2;—Deunæ, xiv 2;—Devæ, xxi.
Legio, cui præest Manlius Valens, contra Siluras infeliciter pugnat, xxxvii 2.
Legio, extremis Britannis prætenta, Scoto dat fræna et perlegit figuras, Picto moriente, xcviii 2; a Celerino accersitur, xcviii 2, n.[v]
Lemanis, ibi stationem habet præpositus numeri Turnacensium, xxiv.
Lembus, pelle assutus quo salum sulcat Saxo, c 2. v. Vitilis.
Lepus a Britannis non gustatur, xxxi 2.
Libanius, sophista, excerpta ex ejus Oratione Parentali, et Panegyrico imperatoribus Constantio et Constanti dicto, xcv 2, n.[m]
Liger, fluvius, in oceanum Britannicum evolvitur, xx.
Livius, Titus, excerptum ex ejus Epitome, xlix, n.[c];
Britanniæ forma secundum eum, xlii 2; ejus descriptio Britanniæ, lxxxii 2.
Lollius Urbicus, legatus Augustalis, proprætor Britanniæ, Britannos vincit, lxv 2.
Longovico, ibi stationem habet præfectus numeri Longovicariorum, xxiv.
Londiniense oppidum, lxviii. v. Londinium.
Londinium, Londinio, Lundinium, Londiniense oppidum, ejus situs, xv 2, xxi 1, 2;
ejus dies longissima, xv 2;
ejus situs secundum Marinum Tyrium, x 2;
vetus oppidum Augusta appellatum, lxxiii 2, lxxiv;
copia negotiatorum et commeatuum celebre, xxxviii 2;
a Suetonio Paullino relictum, ingenti clade a Britannis afficitur, xxxviii 2;
a Barbaris diripitur, lxviii;
a Constantii militibus liberatur, lxviii;
eo cum copiis venit Lupicinus, lxxiii;
eo cum exercitu tendit Theodosius, lxxiii 2; inde contra hostes progreditur, lxxiv.
Lucanus, Marcus Annæus, excerpta ex ejus Pharsalia, xc, n.[c]
Lucretius Carus, Titus, excerptum ex ejus libro de Rerum Natura, lxxxviii 2, n.[p] Lucus Andatæ sacratus, lviii;
luci sacri apud Monam excisi, lvii 2.
v. Druides.
Lugotorix, dux Cantii, a Romanis capitur, xxxiii.
Lundinium, lxxiii 1, 2, lxxiv. v. Londinium.

Digitized by Google

Lupicinus in Britanniis agit, lxxi, lxxiii;
ad res componendas a Juliano Britanniam mittitur, lxxiii;
Rutupias defertur, lxxiii;
Lundinium petit, lxxiii;
a Britannia revertitur, lxxiii.
Lupus, Luppus, Virius, legatus Augustorum, Britanniæ præses, ci;
pacem a Mæatis emit, lx 2;
ei nuncupatur Severi? rescriptum de mancipiis, ci.

M.

Mæatæ, alter ex maximis Britanniæ populis, juxta murum qui insulam dividit, degunt, lx 2;
eorum mores atque instituta, lx 2, v. Caledonii; pacem ab eis magno pretio emit Lupus, lx 2;
cum Caledoniis iterum in Severum insurgunt, lxi 2.
Mæcenas esseda sistere Britannica monetur, lxxxix.
Magia apud Britanniam celebratur, ix 2.
Magis, ibi stationem habet præfectus numeri Pacensium, xxiv.
Maglovæ, ibi stationem habet præfectus numeri Solensium, xxiv.
Magna Britannia, xvi, xxvi 2. v. Britannia.
Magnentius, patre Britanno natus, imperium appetit, lxxxvii 2.
Magnis, ibi stationem habet tribunus cohortis secundæ Dalmatarum, xxiv 2.
Mandubratius, filius Imanuentii regis, a Cæsare Trinobantibus præficitur, xxxiii.
Manlius Valens, legio cui præest contra Siluras infeliciter pugnat, xxxvii 2.
Marcellus Ulpius, præfectus Britanniam mittitur, lix 2;
mores ejus vitæque modus, lix 2, lx;
Britannos graviter cædit, lx;
parum abest quin a Commodo interficeretur, lx.
Marcianus Heracleota, excerpta ex ejus Periplo, xvii, n.[a]
Marcus Aurelius, imperator, Calphurnium Agricolam adversus Britannos mittit, lxv 2, n.[n]
Marcus, tyrannus, in Britannia imperator a militibus eligitur; et postea occiditur, lxxv 2, lxxviii, lxxxi 2.
Marga, ejus genera atque usus apud Britannos, viii 2, ix.
Margaritæ apud Britanniam gignuntur, vii 2, x 2, xliii, xlix, lxxiii 2, lxxxiii, xciv 2, ci 1, 2.
Marinus Tyrius, primam latitudinis parallelum apud Thulem ponit, x 2; ejus error de situ Neomagi, v 2.
Martialis, M. V., excerpta ex ejus Epigrammatibus, et ex libro De Spectaculis, xci 2, n.[n]
Martinus, Britanniæ pro præfectis, a Paulo Notario impetitur, lxxii 2;
Paulum frustra adorsus, sibi ipsi manus infert, lxxiii.
Martinus, episcopus Turonensis, ad Maximum Tyrannum venit, cii 2.
Martinus, S., a Britanno amatur, cii, n.[h]
Massiliotæ cassiteron e Britannia accipiunt, iii;
a Scipione interrogati, nihil de Britannia memoratu dignum afferunt, vi.
Materia Britannorum, præter fagum et abietem, eadem ut in Gallia, xxxi 2.
Maximus, Clemens, oppressis Britannis, victoriam sumit, cii;
ab exercitu in Britannia imperator eligitur, lxix 2, n.[q], lxx, lxxvi 2, lxxx, lxxxii, cii;
intra Britanniam tyrannidem arripit, lxxii; imperium sumit, c;
in urbe Treverica sedem imperialem instituit, cii;
Pictos et Scotos incursantes superat, lxxxii 2;
ex partibus prope Britanniam contra Gratianum rebellat, lxxxi 1, 2;
in Gallias transfretans, Gratianum Lugduni interficit, lxxii, lxxx, lxxxii, cii 2;
copiis Britannorum inter alias adscitis, in Italiam proficiscitur, lxxxi 1, 2;
ad eum venit Martinus episcopus, cii 2;
Victorem filium regni consortem facit, lxxxii;
ejus jussu interficitur Merobaudes, lxx;
a Theodosio extinguitur, lxxii, lxxx 2, lxxxii 2, cii 2;
Aquileiæ occiditur, xcvii;
Theodosii domus olim vernula, lxx;
tyrannus, quondam armigeri lixa, xcvii;
Rutupinus latro, xcvii;
a Britannia funditur, xcviii;
in Britannia cum Theodosio merens, milites contra Gratianum excitat, lxxvi 2.
Menologia Græcorum, ex eis excerpta, cii 2, n.[p]
Merobaudes a satellitibus Maximi occiditur, lxx.
Messalla, Corvinus, excerptum ex ejus opere de Progenie Augusti, xxxiv 2, n.[b]
Messalus, eum manet Britannus Romano marte invictus, lxxxix, n.[s]
Metalla, eorum copia apud Britanniam, x 2, xliii, lxxxiii, cii 2. v. Britannia.
Mevania insula, situs ejus, xviii;
a Scotis incolitur, xix.
Mictis rectius Ictis insula, sex dierum navigatione secundum Timæum a Britannia distat, viii 2;
plumbum candidum ibi nascitur, viii 2;
ad eam navigiis vitilibus corio circumsutis navigatur, viii 2.
Midacritus plumbum primus ex Cassiteride insula apportat, viii 2.
Milites Romani per Britanniam dispositi, xxiv, et passim; v. Britannia;
eorum status ibi post mortem Neronis, xxxix 2;
ad Caledoniam penetrandam sub Agricola se accingunt, xlv 2;
Maximum in imperatorem eligunt, lxix 2, n.[q];
Marcum, Gratianum, et Constantinum in imperatores eligunt, lxxvii 2.
Minerva fontibus calidis in Britannia præsul, x 2.
Minocynobellinus, Britannorum regis filius, a Caligula in deditionem accipitur, lxxix 2. v. Adminius.
Minucius Felix, excerptum ex ejus Octavio, xciv 2, n.[f]
Mona Insula, ejus situs, viii 2, xii, xxvi 2;
quantum a Camalduno distat, viii;
ejus longitudo dierum et noctium, viii;
a Paullino Suetonio expugnatur, xxxvii 2, xliii, lvii 2, lviii;
ejus incolæ, feminis furiarum modo intercursantibus, in littore sese Suetonio opponunt, xxxviii; cruore aras adolent; deos hominum fibris consulunt, xxxviii; victi a Suetonio igne suo involvuntur, xxxviii;
ejus luci sacri excisi, xxxviii;
a Suetonio ob Britanniæ rebellionem relinquitur, xliv;
in Romanorum potestatem ab Agricola redigitur, xliv. v. Druides.
Monilia e Celtica a Britannis accipiuntur, vii.
Mons Grampius, ibi acies contra Agricolam instruunt Britanni, xlvi 1, 2. v. Grampius, mons.
Morbio, ibi stationem habet præfectus equitum Catafractariorum, xxiv.
Morini, populi Galliæ, milites Cæsaris navibus expositos adorti, a Cæsare cæduntur, xxix 2, xxx; Commio a Cæsare attributi, lxxxvii 1.
ab iis transitus in Britanniam brevissimus, lxxix.
Murus in Britannia per octoginta millia passuum ab Adriano ducitur, lxv:
Cespititius, ab Antonino Pio ducitur, lxv 2; inscriptiones quæ ad ejus constructionem respiciunt, v. Index Inscriptionum.
a Severo per transversam insulam ducitur, lxv, lxxi; murus aut vallum, lxv, lxxi; inscriptiones quæ juxta eum repertæ sunt passim. v. Vallum, et etiam Index Inscriptionum.

N.

Narbona, civitas Galliæ, cassiteron e Britannia accipit, iii.
Narcissus milites Britanniam ituros alloqui frustra tentat, liv.
Nectaridus, comes maritimi tractus, in Britannia occiditur, lxxiii 2.
Nemesianus, M. A. O., excerpta ex ejus Cynegeticis, xcv, n.[b]
Nero, L. D., imperator, e Britannia exercitum deducere cogitat, xlix 2; Britanniam pene amittit, duabus urbibus ibi captis et eversis, lxxii;
copias in subsidium Paullini Britanniam mittit, xxxix;
Polycletum speculatum eo mittit, xxxix;
milites multos a Britannia revocat, xxxix 2;
ejus spes de Britannia amissa ac rursus recepta, l.
Nesides insulæ, earum situs, xx 2;
ibi Amnitæ Bacchi sacra concelebrant, xx 2.
Nicephorus Callistus, excerptum ex ejus Historia Ecclesiastica, ciii, n.[d]
Notitia imperii utriusque, excerpta inde, xxiii.
Noviomagum, ejus situs secundum Marinum Tyrium, x 2.
Nummus, quid loco ejus habent Britanni, xxxi 2, n.[2];
a Siluribus refutatur, x.

O.

Oceanus inter Gallos et Britannos sanguine luet, xciv;
qui Britanniam circumfluit, navigantibus gravis et periculosus, xcv 2.
Œstrymnides insulæ, earum situs, xix 2;
ferunt stannum atque plumbum, xix 2;
earum incolarum solertia, negotiandique cura, xix 2;
navigiis ex junctis pellibus factis salum percurrunt, xix 2;

Digitized by Google

Œstrymnides insulæ, cont.
a Tartessiis et Carthaginiensibus commercii causa frequentantur, xix 2;
eas Himilco Pœnus vix quatuor mensibus tramittit, xix 2.
v. Cassiterides.
Olenaco, ibi stationem habet præfectus alæ primæ Herculeæ, xxiv 2.
Olympiodorus, excerptum ex ejus Historiis, lxxv 2, n.[h]
Oppianus, excerptum ex ejus Cynegeticis, xciii 2, n.[e]
Oppidum, quid sit apud Britannos, xxxiii.
Orca, Orcas, sive Tarvidum, promontorium, situs ejus, ii, xii 2, xiii, xv, xviii.
Orcadæ insulæ, xci 2. v. Orcades.
Orcades, Orcadæ, Orchades, Dorcades insulæ, earum situs, viii, x 2, xv, xix, xxvi 2, lxxix 2, cii 2;
homine vacant, x 2;
silva ibi nulla, x 2;
junceis herbis inhorescunt, x 2;
Romano imperio a Claudio adjiciuntur, lxxii, lxxix 2, lxxxi 2, lxxxii 2;
a Romanis sub Agricola domantur, xlii 2; captæ, xci 2;
ibi Saxones a Theodosio cæduntur, xcviii.
Orchades, insulæ, cii 2, n.[n]; v. Orcades.
Ordovicæ, Ordovices, in eos bellum a Caractaco transfertur, xxxvi 2;
rebellantes, ab Agricola cæduntur, xliv.
Ordovices, xliv. v. Ordovicæ.
Origen, excerpta ex ejus Commentariis in Matthæum, xciv, n.[h]
Orosius, P., excerpta ex ejus Historia, lxxix, n.[c]; ex libro de Arbitrii Libertate, c, n.[b]
Ostorius Scapula, Publius, Britanniæ præponitur, xliii; proprætor, hostes cædit, xxxvi;
Antonam Sabrinamque fluvios castris cingit, xxxvi;
Icenorum munimenta expugnat, xxxvi;
exercitum in Cangos ducit, patriamque vastans, ob Brigantum discordias retrahitur; quibus sedatis, colonia veteranorum Camulodunum deducta, in Siluras Caractaci viribus confisos, pergit, xxxvi 2;
milites contra Caractacum ducit, xxxvi 2;
Barbaros e loco munitissimo fugat, xxxvi 2;
victoria potitus, uxorem, filiam et fratres Caractaci in deditionem accipit, xxxvi 2;
ei triumphus de Britannia censetur, xxxvii;
præfecto castrorum apud Siluras cæso, turmisque profligatis, hostes in fugam ægre vertit, xxxvii;
tædio fessus moritur, xxxvii 2.
Ostorius Scapula, M., civicam coronam in Britannia meret, xxxvi, xxxix 2.
Ostrea Britannica, ix 2; Caledonia, xcvii 2; Cyzicena Britannicis dulciora, ix 2; Rutupina, xci 2.
Ostreæ Lucrinæ, Britannia nondum subacta, in pretio habentur, viii 2.
Othonæ, ibi stationem habet præpositus numeri Fortensium, xxiv.
Ovidius Naso, P., excerpta ex ejus Amoribus, et Metamorphosi, lxxxix, n.[n]

P.

Pacatianus, Britanniarum vicarius, ei nuncupatur rescriptum de Decurionibus a Constantino imperatore, ci.
Palladius, primus episcopus ad Scottos a papa Cœlestino mittitur, lxxxii.
Palladius, ex magistro officiorum, in Britannos exterminatur, lxxiii.
Panegyrici Veteres, excerpta ex iis, lxvi 1, 2, n.[b], lxx.
Papianus, Papinianus? ab Antonino Britanniæ præficitur, lxxxvii.
Pascha eodem die per Hispaniam, Galliam Britanniamque celebratur, lxx 2.
Paulus, Apostolus, ad terminum occidentis venit, ibique sub præfectis martyrizatur, xcii;
insulis in oceano sitis opem divinam infert, c 2;
oceanum transit, terras Britannas adit, cii, n.[c];
Thulem ultimam adit, cii, n.[c]
Paulus, notarius, Britanniam mittitur, lxxii 2;
ejus crudelitates, lxxii 2;
a Martino, Britanniæ pro præfectis, ferro impetitur, lxxii 2.
Pausanias, excerpta ex ejus Græciæ descriptione, l 2, n.[f]
Pecus Britannorum, vi 2, vii; numerosum, xxxi 2.
Pelagius, Brito, dogma contra gratiam Christi exerit, lxxxii 1, 2;
ecclesias commaculare conatur, lxxxii 2;
heresiarches, ejus scripta, c 2;
ejus de se confidentia, c;
coluber Britannus, impietatis auctor, ci 2, n.[n]
Pelles ab incolis Cassiteridum cum negotiatoribus permutantur, v 2.
Perennis, Perennius, a militibus Britannicianis culpatur, lx;
militibus in Britannico bello equestris loci viros, amotis senatoribus, præficit, lxvi;
lacerandus militibus deducitur, lxvi.
Pertinax, Helvius, ob industriam a Commodo Britanniam mittitur, lxv;
eo profectus, militum seditionem compescit, lx, lxv 2;
seditione militum pene occiditur, lxv 2;
legationis veniam petit; Africæque præficitur, lxv 2.
Petilius Cerealis, nonæ legionis legatus a Britannis fusus, in castra se recipit, xxxviii 2;
a Vespasiano Britanniæ præficitur, xxxv 2, xliv;
consularis, eam provinciam accipit, xlii;
Brigantas plerumque domat, xliv.
Petrianis, ibi stationem habet præfectus alæ Petrianæ, xxiv 2.
Petronius Turpilianus, legatus in Britannia, Suetonio succedit, xxxix 2;
post Suetonium ad res componendas Britanniam mittitur, xliii 2;
res segniter agit, xxxix 2;
Trebellio Maximo provinciam tradit, xliii 2.
Petrus, S., Britanniam adit, ciii; ibi multas gentes convertit; episcopis, presbyteris, diaconisque ordinatis, Romam redit, ciii.
Peutingeriana Tabula, excerptum inde, xxii 2, n.[c]
Philemon Iberniæ longitudinem describit, x 2.
Phœnices Cassiteridas commercii causa frequentant, v 2.
Phœnicius, quidam nauclerus, navem scopulo impingit, ne Romani trajectum ad Cassiteridas invenirent, v 2.
Pictæ, scaphæ exploratoriæ a Britannis sic vocatæ, xcvi 2.
Picti cum Scottis loca limitibus vicina in Britanniis vastant, lxxiii;
cum Saxonibus, Scotis et Attacottis Britannos vexant, lxxiii 2;
in duas gentes, Dicalidonas et Vecturiones, divisi, lxxiii 2;
a Constantio debellantur, lxxv;
silvæ eorum ab eo haud dignæ adquiri, lxix;
cum Scotis incursantes, a Maximo superantur, lxxxii 2;
a Theodosio domantur, xcvii 2;
inter eos numerantur Caledones, lxix.
Pictus a Julio Cæsare funditur, c 2, n.[p]
Plautius, Aulus, Britanniæ præponitur, xliii; legatus in Britannia, l; milites, quasi ultra orbem militaturos, ut Britannicam expeditionem aggrederentur ægre inducit, liv;
copias trifariam dividit; Britanniam, nullo resistente, appellit, liv;
Britannos in sylvas paludesque fugientes persequitur, liv;
Cataratacum atque Togodumnum, Cynobellini regis filios, devincit, liv;
ex Bodunis quosdam ad pacem flectit, iisque præsidium imponit, liv;
Celtos ultra flumen quoddam contra Britannos mittit, liv 2;
Vespasianum contra eos mittit, liv 2;
Britannos vicit, quos et ad ostia Tamesis insequitur; non ultra vero progrediendum ratus, Claudium accersit, liv 2;
ob Britannicum bellum magnopere a Claudio laudatus, triumphum meret, lv 2;
triumphantem ob Britanniam devictam Claudius prosequitur, lxxii;
ovans de Britanniis Pomponiæ Græcinæ nubit, xxxvii 2.
Plinius Secundus, Caius, excerpta ex ejus Historia Naturali, viii, n.[a], xci, n.[l], civ, n.[d]
Plumbum, in Cassiteridibus abundat, vii 2, viii 2, x 2; ab earum incolis cum negotiatoribus permutatur, v 2; a Midacrito primum ex Cassiteride insula apportatur, viii 2; apud Œstrymnidas gignitur, xix 2;
candidum, ab insula Micti provenit, viii 2;
album, in Britannia nascitur, xxxi 2. v. Cassiteron, Stannum;
nigrum, in Britannia eruitur, ix 2; ejus usus apud Romanos, ix 2; hujus metalli massæ inscriptæ per Britanniam repertæ, v. v. Index Inscriptionum.
Plutarchus, excerpta ex ejus Vitis Parallelis, xlviii 2, n.[a]; ex libro de Defectu Oraculorum, xcii 2, n.[g]; de Placitis Philosophorum, xcii 2, n.[i] Pœnius Postumus, præfectus castrorum legionis secundæ, quod eam gloria victoriæ de Bunduica fraudasset, seipsum gladio transigit, xxxix.
Polyænus, excerptum ex ejus Strategematibus, l 2, n.[o]
Polybius, excerptum ex ejus Historia, i 2, n.[d];
Pytheam erroris de Thule et de Britannia arguit, iv 1, 2.
Polycletus, libertus, ad statum Britanniæ spectandum a Nerone mittitur, xxxix 1, 2.
Pomponia Græcina, Plautio de Britannia ovanti nubit, xxxvii 2.
Pomponius Mela, excerpta ex ejus libro de Orbis Situ, vii 2, n.[a], civ, n.[c]
Ponte Ælii, ibi stationem habet tribunus cohortis Cornoviorum, xxiv 2.
Posidonius cassiteron e terra erui affirmat, v 2.
Possidius Eunuchus, tanquam particeps victoriæ Britannicæ, a Claudio armis donatur, lxxi 2.

Digitized by Google

Præsidio, ibi stationem habet præfectus equitum Dalmatarum, xxiv.
Prasutagus, rex Icenorum, Cæsarem hæredem scribit, xxxviii;
ejus regnum et domus vastantur; uxor Boudicea verberatur, filiæque stupro afficiuntur, xxxviii.
Priscianus Periegeta, excerptum ex ejus Periegesi, xx, n.[d]
Priscus a militibus in Britannia dux eligitur, xciv 2.
Probus, imperator, Proculum et Bonosum sibi Britannias vindicantes superat, lxvi; Britannis vites habere, et vinum conficere permittit, lxvi;
seditionem in Britannia per Victorinum sedat, lxxv 2;
Burgundiones et Vandalos eo transmittit, lxxv 2.
Procolitia, ibi stationem habet tribunus cohortis primæ Batavorum, xxiv 2.
Procopius, excerpta ex ejus operibus de Bello Vandalico et Gothico, lxxxiii 2, n.[e]
Proculus, Britannias sibi vindicans, a Probo vincitur, lxvi.
Propertius, Sextus Aurelius, excerpta ex ejus Elegiis, lxxxix, n.[h]
Proserpina, sacra ei in quadam insula prope Britanniam fiunt, vi.
Prosper Aquitanus, excerpta ex ejus Chronico, lxxxii, n.[b]; ex opere de Ingratis, ci 2, n.[l]
Provertuides a Jovino Britanniam præmittitur, lxxiii 2.
Ptolemæus, Claudius, excerpta ex ejus Geographia, x 2, n.[c]; ex Judiciis Tetrabibli, xciii, n.[a] Publius Crassus, Cassiteridas adnavigans, trajectum illuc suis demonstrat, v 2, vi.
Pugna inter Britannos et Cæsarem, xxviii 1, 2, xxix, xxxii; Paullinum et Bunduicam, xxxviii, lix; Agricolam et Calgacum, xlvii.
Pulmo marinus, prope Thulem, quid sit secundum Pytheam, iv 2.
Pytheas, Massiliensis, Thules insulæ situs secundum eum, iii, viii; Britanniæ, iii 2;
a Strabone erroris de situ Thules et Britanniæ arguitur, iii 2, iv, xc 1;
ejus Britanniæ et Thules descriptio a Polybio et Strabone impugnatur, iv 2;
terræ remotissimæ ad arcton secundum eum, iv 2;
a Polybio falsitatis arguitur, iv 2;
æstus Britannicos, necnon et circuitum Britanniæ describit, viii.

Q.

Quinctilianus, M. F., excerptum ex ejus Suasoriis, xcii, n.[b]

R.

Radiger, Varnorum regis filius, virginem Brittianam quam desponderat repudiat, lxxxv; bello vero victus, veniam impetrat, et in maritum ab ea accipitur, lxxxiv, lxxxvi.
Ravennas, geographus, excerptum ex ejus opere, xxiv 2.
Regulbio, ibi stationem habet tribunus cohortis primæ Vetasiorum, xxiv.
Restitutus, episcopus Londinensis, synodo Arelatensi interest, xcix.
Rhiothimus, rex Britonum, Biturigas venit, lxxxiii 2;
ab Eurico rege Vesegothorum superatus, ad Burgundiones fugit, lxxxiii 2.
Roma jura Britannis dividit, xcviii.
Romana insula, eo quandoque proconsulem mitti ab imperatore ex familia Taciti et Floriani ab aruspicibus responsum, lxvi.
Romani, quare Britanniam negligebant, v;
Cassiteridas adeunt, v 2;
in Britannos arma transferunt, xxxv;
cum quatuor legionibus insulam cohibent, xxxv;
ob captivitatem Caractaci gloriantur, xxxvii;
sub Agricola Orcadas insulas domant; Britanniam insulam esse comperiunt; Thulem dispiciunt, xlii 2;
Britanniæ plus dimidio occupant, l 2;
Britannos ad jusjurandum violandum provocant, militibus ibi contra pactum relictis, l 2;
fines eorum dominationis in Britannico oceano, xciii 1;
nec oceanum occidentalem neque borealem trajiciunt, nisi ut Britannos adeant; non ultra Britanniam progrediuntur, l 2;
magnopere de Cæsaris expeditione; Britannica gloriantur, festumque viginti dierum ob victoriam ejus decernunt, lii; eo transeunt, liii; ad octoginta millia e civibus vel sociis eorum ibi occiduntur, lvi;
a Bunduica ingenti clade cæduntur, lvi, lvii 2;
Britannos classe sequuntur, lxxxix.
Roscius Cœlius, vicesimæ legionis legatus, cum Trebellio Maximo discordat, xxxix 2, xl.
Rufinus gentem ultra Britannos movet, xcvii 2, n.[v]
Rufus Festus, Sextus, excerpta ex ejus Breviario, lxxi, n.[b]
Rutilius Numatianus, Claudius, excerptum ex ejus itinere, c, n.[d]
Rutubi portus, civitas, xix.
Rutupiæ, statio tranquilla, lxxiii 2;
eo appellit Lupicinus, lxxxiii;
eo defertur Theodosius, lxxxiii 2.
Rutupis, ibi stationem habet præpositus legionis secundæ Augustæ, xxiv.
Rutupina littora fervent, xci.
Rutupina ostrea, xci 2.
Rutupina tellus, ibi sepelitur Cl. Contentus, xcvii; ibi præses Fl. Sanctus, xcvii, n.[h] Rutupinus latro, Maximus, xcvii.

S.

Sabrina fluvius ab Ostorio castris cingitur, xxxvi.
Sacerdos, presbyter, e Britannia synodo Arelatensi interest, xcix.
Sacra insula, ejus situs, xix 2;
ab Hibernis incolitur, xix 2.
Sal ab incolis Cassiteridum a negotiatoribus accipitur, v 2.
Sallustius Lucullus, Britanniæ legatus, a Domitiano interficitur, l 1, 2.
Samolus, herba, ejus usus apud Druidas, civ 2.
Sanctus, Fl., agri Rutupini præses, xcvii, n.[h]
Sardice, ejus synodo intersunt episcopi Britanniæ, xliv.
Saturnus, somno vinctus, in insula quadam prope Britanniam a Briareo tenetur, xcii 2.
Saxo, a Julio Cæsare funditur, c 2;
lembo assuto salum sulcat, c 2.
Saxones Britannos vexant, lxxiii 2;
præ cæteris, ut repentini, timentur hostibus, lxxiv;
Galliæ quandam partem devastant, lxxxii 2;
Britanniam habitant, xxiv 2;
Britannias in ditionem redigunt, lxxxii 2.
Scæva, unus e militibus Cæsaris, præclarum ejus facinus in Britannia, xxxv, n.[a] Scipio, P., Massiliotas frustra de Britannia interrogat, vi.
Scoti Hyberniam et Mevanias insulas incolunt, xix;
a picto corpore nomen propria lingua habent, cii 2;
loca limitibus vicina in Britanniis vastant, lxxiii 1, 2;
Britannos vexant, lxxiii 1, 2;
incursantes, a Maximo superantur, lxxxii 2;
a Theodosio domantur, xcvii 2;
Palladium primum episcopum accipiunt, lxxxii 2;
iis episcopus a papa Cælestino ordinatur, ci 2;
eorum insula, antea barbara, Christiana efficitur, ci 2.
v. Hibernia.
Scotia, insula, ejus situs, xxvi 2, cii 2; flumina, xxvi 2;
eadem et Ibernia, cii 2;
Britannia angustior, situ fœcundior, cii 2;
unde Ibernia dicta, cii 2;
a Scotorum gentibus appellatur, cii 2.
v. Hibernia.
Scotti, eorum natio uxores proprias non habet, pecudum more lasciviunt, liberos communes habent, xcix.
Scotticæ gentes Moysen prophetasque non cognorunt, xcix.
Scottici canes, quos miratur Roma, xcvii 2.
Scotus a Theodosio ad paludes suas redigitur, lxix 2.
Scytinus Chius, ejus narratio de circuitu et fructibus Britanniæ, xciii.
Segeduno, ibi stationem habet tribunus cohortis quartæ Lergorum, xxiv 2.
Segontiaci, populi Britanniæ, se Cæsari dedunt, xxxiii.
Seius Saturninus, classis Britannicæ archicubernus, ci.
Selago, herba, quo modo a Druidibus legitur, cv.
Sena, insula in mari Britannico sita, Gallici numinis oraculo insignis, vii 2.
Seneca, L. Ann., excerpta ex ejus Ludo de Morte Claudii; ex Octavia; et ex libro de Consolatione ad Marciam, xc, nn.[c d k]; ad Polybium, xc 2, n.[m]; ejus laudes de Claudio Cæsare, xc;
argentum principibus Britannorum mutuo datum de improviso repetit, lvi.
Sentius, Cneius, Britanniam sub Claudio devincit, lxxii.
Severus, imperator, de copiis in Britannia nonnihil dubitat, lxii;
Albinum arte circumvenit; quo facto de Britannia fit securus, lxii 2;
Albinum occidit, lxiii;

Digitized by Google

Severus, cont.
Heraclitum ad obtinendas Britannias mittit, lxv;
hostes in Britannia per duces superat, lx 2; eam in duas provincias dividit, lxiii; eo expeditionem ducit, lx 2; accepto nuntio barbaros ibi tumultuari, eo cum filiis et exercitu pergit, lxiii 2;
copiis coactis bellum parat, lxiii 2, lxiv;
relicto Geta filio ad provinciam administrandam, cum Antonino adversus Britannos pergit, lxiv; Caledoniam, ut totam insulam subjugaret, penetrat, lxi;
ejus labores dum Caledoniam peragrabat, lxi, lxiii 2, lxiv;
ad extrema ejus plerumque sella vectus advenit, lxi;
a filio Antonino, dum contra Caledonios ibant, gladio impetitur, lxi 2;
Britannos ad conditiones accedere compellit, lxi, lxv;
ejus milites ad quinquaginta mila sine prælio pereunt, lxi;
Britanniam, muro per transversum ducto, munit, lxv, lxxi, lxxix 2;
receptas provincias vallo per triginta duo millia passuum munit, lxxi 2, lxxii;
vallum per centum triginta duo millia passuum ducit, lxxxi 2, lxxxii 2;
bellum novissimum in Britannia habet, lxxii, lxxxi 2, lxxxii 2;
in Britannias transvehitur, lxxix 2;
Britannici nomen accipit, lxv;
Caledonios et Mæatas, iterum rebellantes, omnino exterminare parat, lxi 2;
ejus mortis præsagia, lxv;
morbo decedit, lxi 2, lxiv 1, 2;
periit Eboraci, lxv, lxxi, lxxii 1, 2, lxxix 2, lxxxi 2, lxxxii 2;
ejus ossa Romam deportantur, lxi 2, lxv 2;
ejus? rescriptum Virio Luppo præsidi Britanniæ nuncupatum, ci, n.[i];
ejus leges adversus incontinentes, lxi 2.
Severus, Julius, præfectus Britanniæ, ab Adriano contra Judæos mittitur, lix 2.
Severus, Junius, Albino successor a Commodo Britanniam mittitur, lxv 2.
Severus Comes, a Valentiniano Britanniam missus, paulo post revocatur, lxxiii 2.
Sibylla Romana clades Britannorum prædicit, lxxxiii 2.
Sibyllæ Oracula, excerptum inde, xciv, n.[b]
Silius Italicus, excerpta ex ejus Bello Punico, xci, n.[f]
Silvius Bonus, Brito, epigrammata in eum, xcvii.
Silura insula, situs ejus, x;
a Dumnoniis freto turbido distinguitur, x;
ejus incolæ morem vetustum custodiunt; nummum refutant, mutationibus necessaria parant, x; deos percolunt, scientiam futurorum ostentant, x.
Silures, eorum sedes, viii; colorati vultus et crines torti originem Ibericam denotare videntur, xlii 2;
Romanos bello lacessunt, xxxvi 2, xxxvii;
eorum pertinacia, xxxvii;
duas cohortes Romanorum intercipiunt, xxxvii;
cæteras nationes ad defectionem trahunt, xxxvii 2;
legionem cui præerat Manlius Valens fundunt, xxxvii 2;
ab Aulo Didio pelluntur, xxxvii 2;
a Veranio vastantur, xxxvii 2;
gens valida et pugnax, a Julio Frontino subigitur, xliv.
Simon Zelotes, in Britannia crucifixus sepelitur, ci.
Sistuntiaci Britanniam in tertia portione dividunt, xxv 2.
Socrates Scholasticus, excerpta ex ejus Historia Ecclesiastica, lxxxi, n.[a] Solinus, Caius Julius, excerpta ex ejus Polyhistoria, ix 2, n.[k]
Sotacus electrum petris effluere in Britannia credit, ix 2.
Sozomenus, excerpta ex ejus historia, lxxxi, n.[f]
Spartianus, Ælius, excerpta ex ejus Vitis Adriani, Didii Juliani et Severi, lxiv 2, n.[b]
Stannum apud Œstrymnidas gignitur, xix 2; apud Hesperidas, xx 2. v. Cassiteron, Plumbum.
Statius, Pub. Papin., excerpta ex ejus Sylvis, xcii, n.[c]
Stephanus Byzantinus, excerpta ex ejus libro de Urbibus, xx.
Stilicho, Thulem iturus, xcvii 2;
Britanniam munit, xcviii.
Strabo, excerpta ex ejus Geographia, iii, xc, n.[a], civ, n.[a];
Pytheam erroris de Britannia arguit, iii 2, iv 1, 2, vi; Hipparchum, iii 2, iv;
Eratosthenem et Timosthenem inscitiæ arguit, iv;
ejus descriptio cæli Britannici secundum Jornandem, lxxxiii.
Succinum e Celtica a Britannis accipitur, vii.
Suetonius, Paullinus, legatus Romanus, Britanniam obtinet, xxxvii 2; Monam insulam aggredi parat, xxxvii 2;
naves plano alveo ad pedites transportandos fabricat, xxxvii 2;
copias Monam transmittit, xxxviii, xliii, lvii 2; incolas sternit; præsidium ibi imponit; lucos sacros exscindit, lvii 2;
Monam subigit, lviii; provinciæ defectione audita, eam relinquit, xxxviii 2, xliii 2, lviii;
Suetonius, cont.
Londinium pergit, xxxviii 2;
Londinio hostibus relicto, cum legione quartadecima et vexillariis legionis vicesimæ, contra Britannos acie congredi parat, xxxviii 2; locum sibi idoneum deligit, xxxviii 2;
copias contra Bunduicam sive Boudiceam instruit, lviii; milites hortatur, xxxix, lviii 1, 2, lix;
pugnam committit, xxxix, lix; pugnæ descriptio, xxxix, lix;
Britannos ad octoginta millia cæsos superat, xxxix;
gloriam Britannicis expeditionibus meret, xl;
Agricolam contubernio æstimat, xli 2;
biennio in Britannia res prosperas habet, xliii;
exercitum Petronio Turpiliano tradit, xxxix 2.
Sulpitius Severus, excerpta ex ejus Historia Sacra, xcix 2, n.[q]
Sylina insula, ejus situs, c; eo deportantur Instantius et Tibertianus, c.
Sylori, lxxxiii. v. Silures.
Symeon Stylites, ad eum, apud Telanissum, veniunt Britanni, ci, n.[h]
Symmachus, Q. Aur., excerpta ex ejus Epistolis, xcvii 2, n.[n]
Synodi quibus interfuerunt episcopi e Britannia:—Arelatensis, xcix, n.[a]; Ariminensis, xcix 2; Sardicensis, xcv 2.

T.

Tacitus, Caius Cornelius, excerpta ex ejus Annalibus, xxxvi, n.[a]; ex Historiis, xxxix 2, n.[b]; ex libris de Moribus Germanorum, et Vita Agricolæ, xli 2, nn.[k m]; ex Dialogo de Oratoribus, xci, n.[k];
ejus descriptio Britanniæ, lxxxiii.
Tamesa fluvius, xxxviii. v. Tamesis.
Tamesis, Tamesa, Thamesis, fluvius, fines Cassivellauni a maritimis civitatibus dividit, xxxi 2;
uno omnino loco pedibus transiri potest, xxxii 2;
acutis sudibus, tam in ripa quam sub aqua defixis, a Britannis contra Cæsarem præstruitur, xxxii 2, lii 2, lxxix;
a Cæsare, pulsis hostibus, transitur, xxxii 2;
ejus ostia, Britannos secutus, transit Plautius, liv;
a Claudio cum exercitu transitur, lv;
in ejus æstuario subversæ coloniæ species videtur, xxxviii, lvi.
Tartessii insulas Œstrymnidas commercii causa adeunt, xix 2.
Taus, æstuarium, gentes eo usque ab Agricola vastantur, xliv 2.
Templum, Camuloduni Claudio constitutum, a Britannis direptum, xxxviii. v. Index Inscriptionum.
Tertullianus, excerptum ex ejus libro adversus Judæos, xciv, n.[d]
Thamesis, fluvius, lxxix. v. Tamesis.
Thanatos, insula, cii 2. v. Adtanatos.
Theodoretus, excerpta ex ejus Commentariis in Psalmos; Sermone de legibus; Religiosa Historia, c, nn.[e f g]
Theodosius, dux, ad barbaros in Britannia compescendos eligitur, lxxiii 2; eo properans, Rutupias defertur, lxxiii 2;
Lundinium petit, lxxiii 2;
manus vastatorias fundit, lxxiii 2;
Civilem Britannias recturum pro præfectis sibi mitti poscit, lxxiv;
a Lundinio proficiscitur, lxxiv;
Britannis opem fert, lxxiv; civitates et castra restituit, lxxiv 1, 2;
limites Britanniæ vigiliis et prætenturis tuetur, lxxiv 2;
provinciam postea Valentiam dictam, quæ in ditionem hostium concesserat, recuperat, lxxiv 2;
Areanos proditionis reos a stationibus removet, lxxiv 2;
Scotum ad paludes redigit, lxix 2;
Pictos et Scotos edomat, xcvii 2, n.[p];
hyperboreas remis frangit undas, xcvii 2;
in Caledoniis pruinis castra ponit, xcviii;
litoris Britanni debellator, xcviii;
Orcadas, Saxone fuso, madefacit, Thulem sanguine Pictorum incalefacit, signa oceano Britanno infert, xcviii 2;
Britanniam relinquit, lxxiv 2, xcviii 2.
Theodosius Magnus, imperator, interfecto per Maximum Gratiano, imperium obtinet, lxxx, cii 2;
Maximum Aquileiæ occidit, lxxx, lxxxii 2, cii 2;
Valentinianum regno restituit, lxxxii 2.
Theophilus Antiochenus, excerptum ex ejus libro de Fide Christianorum, xciii 2, n.[g]
Theudibertus, Francorum rex, ejus soror a Radigero Varnorum rege repudiatur, lxxxvi.
Thule, insula, ejus situs, iii 1, 2, xv, xvii, xix 2, xx 2, lxxxiii 2, lxxxiv; decies major quam Britannia, lxxxiv;
a Pythea describitur, iii 2, iv 2;
pulmo marinus juxta eam, quid sit secundum Pytheam, iv 2;
ultima terrarum ad septentrionem habitabilis, iv 2, vii 2, viii 2;
ejus dierum et noctium longitudo, viii 2, xv 2;
prima latitudinis parallelus ibi a Marino Tyrio posita, x 2;

Digitized by Google

Thule, cont.
nive abditur, xlii 2;
ejus mare pigrum, xlii 2;
hyperboreo sidere damnatur, xcvii 2;
ratibus impervia, xcvii 2;
a Romanis despicitur, xlii 2;
a Vettio Bolano intratur, xcii, n.[d];
de conducendo rhetore loquitur, xci 2;
non digna a Constantio adquiri, lxix;
Theodosii marte, Pictorum sanguine incalescit, xcviii;
ob Stilichonis mores pacificos, eam cernere lusus est, xcviii 2;
conscia virtutum Victorini, c;
a Paulo Apostolo aditur, cii, n.[c]
Thyle, ejus situs, x 1, 2, xxvi 2, cii 2;
insula clarissima ad septentrionem, lxx 2;
ultima oceani, cii 2;
a sole nomen habet, cii 2;
ultra eam mare concretum, cii 2;
ejus dierum noctiumque longitudo, x;
larga pomona copiosa, x 2;
ejus incolæ vere inter pecudes pabulis et lacte vivunt; arborum fructus in hyemem compercunt; feminis in commune utuntur, x 2.
v. Thule.
Tiberianus, Priscillanista, in Sylinam insulam deportatur, c.
Tiberius, Cl. Nero, imperator, Druidas a Gallia aufert, ix 2;
Britanniam in oblivione habet, xliii.
Tibullus, Albius, excerptum ex ejus Carminibus, lxxxix, n.[f]
Tile, insula, in medio oceani posita vix paucis nota habetur, xix. v. Thule.
Timæus, Historicus, Mictim insulam describit, viii 2.
Timosthenes, secundum Strabonem, res Britannicas prorsus ignorat, iv.
Titus Vespasianus tribunus militum in Britannia meret, l; patrem Vespasianum, ab hostibus circumdatum, liberat, lv 2; ob res ibi gestas imperator acclamatur, lix 2.
Togodumnus, filius Cynobellini Britannorum regis, a Plautio superatur, liv; mortem obiit, liv 2.
Trajanus, Augustus, Cæsar Britannis ostendendus, xci 2, n.[aa] Trebellius Maximus Britanniæ præest, xxxix 2; cum Roscio Cœlio legato discordat, xxxix 2;
legatus, res in Britannia segniter agit, xliii; inde, ob iram militum, profugit, xl.
Trebonius, Caius, legatus, a Cæsare cum tribus legionibus pabulatum mittitur, xxxii 2.
Treverica, urbs, ibi Maximus sedem suam imperialem instituit, cii.
Trinobantes, legatis ad Cæsarem missis, pollicentur sese ei dedituros imperataque facturos, xxxii 2;
a Cæsare petunt ut Mandubratium ab injuria Cassivellauni defenderet, xxxiii; imperata Cæsaris faciunt, obsides frumentaque ei mittunt, xxxiii;
eorum civitas cum Androgorio duce, datis obsidibus, se Cæsari dedit, lxxix 1, 2;
ad rebellionem ab Icenis excitantur, xxxviii.
Trutulensis portus, eo classis Agricolæ redit, xlviii.
Tungri, una cum Batavis, jussu Agricolæ ad montem Grampium Britannos sub Calgaco aggrediuntur, xlvii.
Tunnocelo, ibi stationem habet tribunus cohortis primæ Æliæ classicæ, xxiv 2.
Tzetzes, excerptum ex ejus Historia Varia, ciii, n.[c]

V.

Valentia, Britanniæ provincia ita dicta postquam ab hostibus a Theodosio recuperata est, lxxiv 2.
Valentinianus quidam in Britannia exulat, lxxvi 2; imperium affectans, vitam amittit, lxxvi 2, lxxxii, n.[s], cii. v. Valentinus.
Valentinianus I., imperator, audita barbarorum conspiratione in Britanniis, primo Severum comitem, deinde, eo revocato, Jovinum eodem mittit, lxxiii 2;
ad Britannos Frontinum ablegat, lxxiv;
Fraomarium, regem Bucinobantum, in Britannos potestate tribuni præfectum numero Alamannorum mittit, lxxiv 2;
Britannos in libertatem et quietem, grassatoribus interfectis, restituit, lxxv;
Valentinum, provinciarum otium turbare molientem, opprimit, lxxv, cii;
in provinciales parcus, ad querelas de ducum flagitiis obsurdescit; unde Britannici strepitus, lxxv.
Valentinianus II., imperator, diviso cum fratre imperio, sibi Britanniam retinet, lxxvi 2;
a Maximo regno pulsus, a Theodosio restituitur, lxxxii 2.
Valentinianus III., imperator, ejus vita prava, ciii 2;
Britanniam amittit, ciii 2.
Valentinus, quidam exulans in Britanniis, contra Theodosium exules et milites sollicitat, lxxiv. v. Valentinianus.
a Dulcitio, Theodosii jussu, pœna plectitur, lxxiv 2.
Valerius Flaccus, excerptum ex ejus Argonauticis, xci, n.[h]
Valerius Maximus, excerptum ex ejus libro Factorum et Dictorum Memorabilium, xxxiv 2, n.[c]
Vallum in Britannia a Severo a mari ad mare per triginta duo millia passuum ducitur, lxxi, n.[m]; per centum et triginta duo millia passuum ducitur, lxxix 2, n.[k], lxxxi 2, lxxxii 2. v. Murus.
Vandali a Probo Britanniam transmissi, lxxv 2.
Varni, olim Germani vocati, lxxxiv;
eorum sedes, lxxxiv;
bellum inter eos et Brittianos, lxxxiv.
Vasa ænea, ab incolis Cassiteridum a negotiatoribus accipiuntur, v 2; chrystallina, e Celtica a Britannis accipiuntur, vii.
Vecta, insula, lxvii 2, lxxii. v. Vectis.
Vectis, Vecta, insula, ejus situs, xv 2, xvi;
ejus dies longissima, xvi;
in potestatem Romanorum a Vespasiano redigitur, l;
Romano imperio adjicitur, lxxii;
ibi classis Allecti in speculis collocatur, lxvii 2.
Vecturiones, gens Pictorum, per diversa vagantes, multa populantur, lxxiii 2.
Vegetius, Flavius, excerptum ex ejus opere de Re Militari, xcvi 2, n.[e]
Velleius Paterculus, excerpta ex ejus Historia Romana, xxxv, n.[b]
Vellocatus, Venusii armiger, a Cartismandua Brigantum regina, spreto marito, in matrimonium accipitur, xli.
Veneti, populi Galliæ, Cæsarem Britanniam trajecturum in mari aggrediuntur, vi; eam commercii causa frequentant, vi; eo navigant, xxvii;
scientia nautica præcellentes, omnes fere qui mari proximo utuntur vectigales habent, xxvii;
auxilia contra Cæsarem e Britannia arcessunt, xxvii, lxxix.
Venusius, e Jugantum civitate, Cartismanduæ Brigantum reginæ nuptus, Romanis repugnat, xxxvii 2;
ab uxore repudiatus, Britannos in Romanos excitat, xli;
deficientibus Brigantibus, Cartismanduam in discrimen adducit, xli;
Brigantum regnum ei relinquitur, xli.
Veranius, legatus, Siluras populatus, bellum ultra proferre morte prohibetur, xxxvii 2;
Didio Gallo successor, in Britannia moritur, xliii.
Verulamium, municipium, a Britannis ingenti clade afficitur, xxxviii 2.
Vespasianus, T. Fl., a Claudio Britanniam mittitur, xliii, lxxii; ejus gesta ibi, xliii; cum fratre Sabino Britannos vincit, liv 2;
tricies cum hoste confligit, duas validissimas gentes, viginti oppida, et Vectem insulam in ditionem Romanorum redigit, l, lxxii;
legioni secundæ in Britannia a Claudio præpositus, bello clarus effulget, xli; magnam gloriam ibi adquirit, lix 2;
Britanniam Romanis recuperat; Claudio causam triumphi de Britannia præbet, xxxv 2;
ob res in Britannia gestas triumphat, l; ab hostibus circumdatus, a filio Tito liberatur, lv 2;
Imperator, Britannia cum cætero orbe recepta, magnos duces, egregios exercitus, eo mittit, xliv; Petilium Cerealem Britanniæ præficit, xxxv, xliv; Agricolam Britanniæ præponit, xlii.
Veterum alias Veneris, ibi stationem habet præfectus numeri Directorum, xxiv.
Vibius Sequester, excerptum ex ejus libro de Fluminibus, xx, n.[c]
Victimæ humanæ, quo ritu a Druidibus immolantur, civ.
Victor, Sextus Aurelius, v. Aurelius.
Victor, Maximi tyranni filius, a patre in Gallia, imperator creatur, lxxx 2;
consors regni, ab Arbogaste interficitur, lxxxii.
Victorinus Maurus, tumultum in Britannia sedat, lxxv 2;
tyrannum quendam, Britanniæ præfectum, occidit, lxxv 2;
Britanniam, quasi fugitivus adiens, præfectum imperatori rebellantem, astu occidit, lxxxvii 2.
Victorinus, ejus virtutum conscius oceanus, c; Britannus, c; conscia Thule, c.
Vindobala, ibi stationem habet tribunus cohortis primæ Frixagorum, xxiv 2.
Vindolana, ibi stationem habet tribunus cohortis quartæ Gallorum, xxiv 2.
Virius Luppus, c. v. Lupus.
Virosido, ibi stationem habet tribunus cohortis sextæ Nerviorum, xxiv 2.
Viscus, Druidum superstitiones circa eum, civ 2.
Vitellius, Lucius, absente Claudio in expeditione Britannica, imperii curam sustinet, l;

Digitized by Google

Vitellius, imperator, ei adjungitur exercitus Britannicus, xl;
e Britannico delectu octo millia sibi adjungit, xl;
quartadecimanos in Britanniam remittit, xl 2; auxilia inde petit, xl 2;
Britannici exercitus robora cum eo veniunt, xl 2.
Vites Britannis permittuntur a Probo, lxvi.
Vitiles, navigia corio circumsuta, eorum usus apud Britannos, viii 2, x, xix 2;
in oceano Britannico fiunt, xci.
Vitrum a Britannis ad corpora inficienda adhibetur, viii.
Ulpianus, jurisconsultus, laudatur, ci.
Ulyxes in recessu Caledoniæ appulisse creditur, x.
Uniones parvi et decolores in Britannia nascuntur, viii 2.
Volusenus, Caius, a Cæsare Britanniam exploratum mittitur, xxvii; perspectis ibi regionibus ad eum revertitur, xxvii 2.
Vopiscus, Fl., excerpta ex ejus Vitis Floriani, Probi, Bonosi et Carini, lxvi, n.[f]
Ursus Caledonius, xcii.
Usipii, eorum cohors Britanniam transmissa, occiso centurione, naves conscendit, insulamque circumvecta, a Suevis et Frisiis intercipitur, xlv 2.

X.

Xiphilinus, excerpta ex ejus Epitome Dionis Cassii, lv 2, n.[b]

Z.

Zonaras, excerpta ex ejus Annalibus, lxxxvii, n.[a] Zosymus, excerpta ex ejus Historia, lxxv 2, n.[m]

Digitized by Google

INDEX GEOGRAPHICUS

AD

EXCERPTA DE BRITANNIA.

Aballaba, Watchcross in Cumbria, xxiv 2.
Abisson civitas, xxvi.
Abona fluvius, The Avon, xxv.
Abone, Aunsbury in Glocestria, xxii.
Abravannus fluvius, The Ravenglas in Cumbria; Lus Bay in Gallovidia, xii 2.
Abus fluvius, The Humber, xiii.
Acantium promontorium, The North Foreland, xiii 2. v. Cantium.
Acmodæ insulæ, The Western Islands, viii 2.
Ad Ansam, Witham Barklow, Tolshunt Knights in Essexia, xxi 2, xxii 2.
Ad Pontem, Southwell, East Bridgeford, Farndon, in Nottinghamia, xxi 2.
Adron fluvius, xxvi 2.
Adtanatos insula, Thanet in Cantia, x. v. Thanatos.
Ad Taum, Caistor in Norfolcia, xxii 2.
Adurni Portus, Porchester in Hantonia; Aldrington in Sussexia, xxiv.
Ædudæ, The Western Islands, xx. v. Ebudæ, Hebudæ.
Ædui, populi Galliæ, eorum civitas, Autun, lxix.
Ægyptus, lxxxviii 2, xcv 2.
Æruli milites, lxxiii.
Æsica civitas, Netherby in Cumbria; Great Chesters in Northumbria, xxiv 2, xxv 2.
Æstyi, gens Suevica, xli 2.
Æthiopes, iv 1.
Africa, xcvii, xcviii, xcix 1, 2, cii.
Ageloco, Littleborough in Nottinghamia, xxi 2.
Alabum civitas, xxv.
Alaeni fluvii ostia, Axmouth in Devonia; Froome in Dorsetia, xiii.
Alani, lxxvi 2, lxxviii, lxxxii 2.
Alata Castra, Tayne in Rossia; Edinborough, Burghead, in Moravia, xiv, xvi.
Alauna, Camelon in Sterlinia, xiii 2.
Alauna Silva, xxv.
Alauna civitas, Aulcester in Warwicia; Alnewick in Northumbria, xxv 1, 2, xxvi.
Alauna fluvius, xxvi 2.
Alauni fluvii ostia, Tweedmouth, The Alan, xiii.
Albinunno civitas, xxv.
Albion insula, i, viii, xi, xii 1, 2, xiii 1, 2, xiv 1, 2, xv 1, 2, xvi 1, 2, xvii 1, 2, xviii 1, 2, xix 2, xx. v. Britannia.
Alexandria, iii, viii.
Alionæ, xxiv 2. v. Alone.
Alitacenon civitas, Elgin in Moravia, xxv 2.
Alone, Whitley Castle in Northumbria, Ambleside in Westmorlandia, xxii.
Alongium civitas, Carnbre in Cornubia, xxv.
Amboglanna, Burdoswald in Cumbria, xxiv 2.
Alunna civitas, xxv 2. v. Alone.
Amnites, xvi 2.
Anas insula, xxvi 2.
Anava fluvius, xxvi.
Ancalites, populi qui Oxoniam incolebant, xxxiii.
Anderesio civitas, xxv. v. Anderidæ.
Anderidæ, Pevensey, East Bourne, in Sussexia; Newenden in Cantia, xxiv.
Andros insula, Enli, Bardsey, Lambay, p. Dubliniam, viii 2.
Angeli, populi Brettiæ, lxxxiv 1, 2, lxxxv.
Angli, gens Suevici maris, xli 2.
Anicetis civitas, xxv.
Antivestæum promontorium, The Land's End, Cape Cornwall, St. Ives, in Cornubia, xii 2. v. Bolerium.
Antona fluvius, The Avon, xxxvi.
Antrum fluvius, The Arm, Devoniæ, xxvi.
Apaunaris civitas, xxv.
Aquæ Calidæ civitas, Bath in Somersetia, xv.
Aquis Solis, xxii 2. v. Aquæ Calidæ.
Aquis civitas, xxv 2. v. Aquæ Calidæ.
Aquitania, vi 2, xvii 2.
Arabicus sinus, i, iii, xviii.
Aranus civitas, xxv.
Arbeia, Moresby in Cumbria, xxiv.
Arcticus Oceanus, xvii.
Ardaoneon civitas, xxv. v. Sorbioduna.
Ardua civitas, xxv.
Arelas civitas Galliæ, Arles, lxxx 2, lxxxii.
Aremorici, xcvii 2.
Aremoricus tractus, lxxviii 2, c 2. v. Armorica.
Ariconio, Ross in Herefordia, xxii.
Ariminum urbs Italiæ, Riminia, xcix 2.
Argistillum civitas, Arwystli in Gloucestria, xxv.
Argita fluvius Hiberniæ, Loch Swilly, The Lagan, xi.
Armis civitas, xxv. v. Aquæ Calidæ.
Armorica, Bretagne, lxxii 1. v. Aremoricus Tractus.
Arnemeza civitas, xxv 2.
Arrotrebræ, viii 2.
Artabri, populi Lusitaniæ, v 1, 2.
Astores milites, xxiv 2.
Atina insula, xxvi 2.
Atrebates, populi Galliæ, xxvii 2.
Atrebatii, populi qui Berkesciriam incolebant, xiv 2, xv. v. Ancalites.
Attacotti, Atticotti, populi Britanniæ, lxxiii 1, 2, xcix.
Avalaria civitas, xxv 2. v. Aballaba.
Aventio fluvius, The Aun, xxvi.
Augusta civitas, xxv 2, lxxiii 2, lxxiv. v. Londinium.
Aureliani milites, xxiii 2.
Ausoba, fluvius Hiberniæ, Burton, Bay of Galway, xi.
Auteri, populi Hiberniæ qui Galvidiam incolebant, xi 2.
Axantos insula, Ushant, viii 2.
Axeloduno, Brough-on-the-Sands in Cumbria, xxiv 2.
Axium fluvius, The Axe, Devoniæ, xxvi.

B.

Babaglanda civitas, xxv 2. v. Amboglanna.
Baleares insulæ, ci 2.
Banatia civitas, Comrie, Ross, Bana, Moraviæ, xiv.
Banna civitas, xxv 2. v. Petriana.
Bannavanto, Daventry, Wedon, in Northantonia, xxi 2.
Bannio civitas, xxv. v. Gobannio.
Banovallum civitas, xxv 2. v. Bannavanto.
Barcarii Tigrisienses milites, xxiv.
Baromaci, xxii 2. v. Cæsaromago.
Batavi milites, xix, xxiv 2, xl 1 2, xli, xlvii, l 2, lxxiii 1, 2.
Batavia, lxvi 2, lxix 1, 2.
Bdora flumen, xxvi.
Begesse civitas, xxvi.
Belerium promontorium, The Land's End, Cape Cornwall, Bolleit, in Cornubia, ii. v. Bolerium.
Belgæ, populi qui Hantoniam, Wiltoniam, Somersetiam incolebant, vi, xv.
Belgæ populi Galliæ, xxx 1, 2.
Belgium, xxx 1, 2.
Belisama æstuarium, The Mersey, Ribble, Lancastriæ, xii 2.
Bellovaci, populi Galliæ, xxvii.
Bennavenna, xxi. v. Bannavanto.
Bereda civitas, xxv 2. v. Voreda.
Bergos insula, Bana, Bergen, viii 2.
Berubium promontorium, Duncansby Head, Noss Head, xiii.
Bibroci, populi qui Berksciriam incolebant, xxxiii.
Bindogladia civitas, xxv. v. Vindogladia.
Birgus, fluvius Hiberniæ, The Barrow, Waterfordiæ, xi 2.
Birila insula, xxvi 2.
Blania, xxii 2.
Blanii, populi Hiberniæ qui Dubliniam incolebant, xi 2.
Blatum Bulgium, Middleby, Boulness, in Cumbria, xx 2.
Blestio, Monmouth, Monemuthiæ, xxii.
Boderia æstuarium, The Frith of Forth, xiii.
Bodotria æstuarium, xlv. v. Boderia.
Boduni populi, liv. v. Dobuni.
Bograndium civitas, xxvi.
Bolerium promontorium, xii 2. v. Belerium, Antivestæum.
Bolvelaunio civitas, xxv.
Bonnio, Axbridge, Somersetiæ; Boverton, Glamorgantiæ, xxii.
Bononia, urbs Galliæ, Bologne sur Mer, lxxii, lxxiii 1, 2, lxxv 1, 2, lxxvii 2.
Borcovico, House Steeds, Northumbriæ, xxiv 2.
Boreion, promontorium Hiberniæ, Teving Head, Cape Malin, xi.
Borysthenes fluvius, iii 1, 2, iv 1, 2, v 1.
Botis insula, xxvi 2.
Bovio, Stretton, Bangor, in Cestria; Queenhope in agro Flintonsi, xxi.
Braboniaco, xxiv. v. Bremetenraci.
Branaduno, Brancaster, Norfolciæ, xxiv.
Brannogenium civitas, xiv 2. v. Bravinnio.
Branogenium civitas, xxv. v. Bravinnio.
Bravinnio, Worcester in Worcestria; Ludlow, Lentwardine, Salopiæ, xxii.
Bremenio, Rochester, Newcastle-on-Tyne, Northumbriæ, xx 2.
Bremenium civitas, xiii 2. v. Bremenio.
Bremenium civitas, Brampton, Cumbriæ, xxvi. v. Bremenio.
Bremetenraci, Penrith, Cumbriæ, xxiv 2.
Bremetonaci, Overborough, Lancaster, Lancastriæ, xxii.
Brenna civitas, Breubege vel Brynabege in Glamorgantia, xxv.

Digitized by Google

Bresnetenati, Veteranorum civitas, Overbarrow in Lancastria; Old Penrith sive Brampton in Cumbria, xxv 2.
Bretani, xvi 2, xx. v. Britanni.
Bretanides insulæ, xvi 2.
Bretanni, v, vii, xlviii 2, xcix 2. v. Britanni.
Bretannia, iii 1, 2, iv 1, 2, v, vi 1, 2, vii.
Bretannicæ insulæ, i, ii, v 2, xv 2, xvi 1, 2, xviii 1, 2, xc.
Brettania, ii 2, iv 1, 2, v, vi 1, 2, vii, lii, liii 2, xciv, xcv. v. Britannia.
Brettani, ii, iii, xciv. v. Britanni.
Brettanicæ insulæ, xcvii 2.
Brettanicum fretum, v.
Brettia insula, xx.
Bribra civitas, xxv 2. v. Bremetenraci.
Brigantæ, xc 1. v. Brigantes.
Brigantes, populi Hiberniæ qui Kilkenniam incolebant, xi 2.
Brigantes, populi qui Eboriam, Dunelmiam, Lancastriam, Westmorlandiam et Cumbriam incolebant, xiv 1, 2, xxxvi 1, 2, xlii, xliv, l 2, xci 2.
Brigantia, civitas Galliciæ, xix.
Brigantium, civitas Magnæ Britanniæ, xvi.
Brigas, natio Britannica, xx.
Brige, Broughton, Hantoniæ, xxii 1, 2.
Brigomono civitas, Bargeny, xxvi.
Brinavis civitas, xxv 2.
Britanni, ii, iv, vii, viii 2, ix, xvi 2, xix, xx, xxvii 2, xxxi 2, xxxiii, xxxv 2, xxxvii 2, xxxviii 1, 2, xxxix, xli, xlii 2 bis, xliii 1, 2, xliv 2, xlv 1, 2, xlvi 1, 2, xlvii 1, 2, xlviii 2, xlix, l 2, li 1, 2, lii, liii, liv 1, 2, lvi 2, lvi, lxvi, lxvii, lxviii, lxx, lxxi, lxxii, lxxiii 1, 2, lxxiv 1, 2, lxxv, lxxviii 2, lxxix 1, 2, lxxxi, lxxxii 1, 2, lxxxiii 2, lxxxviii 2, lxxxix 1, 2, xc 1, 2, xci 1, 2, xcii 2, xciii 1, 2, xciv, xcv 1, 2, xcvi 2, xcvii 1, 2, xcviii 1, 2, xcix 2, c 1, 2, cii 1, 2, ciii 1, 2.
Britannia insula, ii 1, 2, v 1, 2, vii 2, viii 1, 2, ix 1, 2, x 1, 2, xviii 2, xix, xx, xxiv 2, xxv 1, 2, xxvi 1, 2, xxvii 1, 2, xxviii 2, xxix 1, 2, xxx 1, 2, xxxi 1, 2, xxxii, xxxiii 1, 2, xxxiv 2, xxxv 1, 2, xxxvi 1, 2, xxxvii 2, xxxix 1, 2, xl 1, 2, xlii 1, 2, xliii 1, 2, xliv 1, 2, xlv 1, 2, xlvi 1, 2, xlvii 1, 2, xlviii 1, 2, xlix 1, 2, l 1, 2, lii 1, 2, liii 1, 2, liv, lv 2, lvi 2, lvii 2, lix 1, 2, lx, lxi, lxii 1, 2, lxiii 1, 2, lxiv 1, 2, lxv 1, 2, lxvi 1, 2, lxvii 1, 2, lxviii 1, 2, lxix 1, 2, lxx 2, lxxii 1, 2, lxxv 1, 2, lxxvi 1, 2, lxxvii 1, 2, lxxix 1, 2, lxxxi 1, 2, lxxxii 1, 2, lxxxiii 2, lxxxiv, lxxxvii 1, 2, lxxxviii 1, 2, lxxxix 1, 2, xc 1, 2, xci 1, 2, xcii 1, 2, xciii, xciv 1, 2, xcv 1, 2, xcvi, xcvii, 1, 2, xcviii 1, 2, xcix 1, 2, c 1, 2, ci 1, 2, cii 1, 2, ciii.
Britannia Prima, provincia, xxiii, lxxi.
Britannia Secunda, provincia, xxiii, lxxi.
Britannia Magna, xvi 1, 2, xxvi. v. Magna Britannia.
Britannia provincia, xviii 2, xcix.
Britanniæ, xxiii, lxix, lxxi 1, 2, lxxiii 1, 2, lxxiv 1, 2, lxxviii 1, 2, lxxx 1, 2, lxxxi, lxxxviii 2, xciii 2, xcv 1, 2, xcviii 2, xcix 1, 2, c, ci 2, cii.
Britannica insula, xxxv, xciii.
Britannicæ insulæ, xvi 2, xcv.
Britannicum litus, x.
Britannicum mare, vii 2, xviii 2, xciv.
Britannicus, lxxii, lxxiii 2, lxxix, lxxxvii 2, lxxxviii 2, xcvii.
Britannicus oceanus, v, vii 2, viii 2, xv 2, xvi, xix, xx, xciv 1, 2, xcix 2.
Britannides insulæ, xx 2.
Britannus, lxxxix, xci 2, xciv 2, xcv, xcvii, xcviii, xcix, c 1, 2, cii.
Brito, xcvii.
Britones, xxiv 2, lxxxiii 2, xci 2, ci 2, cii 2.
Brittia, lxxxiv 1, 2, lxxxv.
Brittones, populi Brittiæ, lxxxiv.
Brittones milites, xxiii 1, 2.
Brittoniciani milites, xxiii 2.
Brocara civitas, xxv 2. v. Brocavo.
Brocavo, Brougham, Brough, Westmorlandiæ, xxi 2.
Brocoliti civitas, xxv 2.
Brovonacis, Kirbythure, Kendal, Whelp Castle, Brough, Westmorlandiæ, xxii.
Bruttii, xciv.
Bubinda, fluvius Hiberniæ, The Boyne, xi 2.
Bullæum civitas, Uske in Monemutha, xiv 2.
Burgundiones, lxxv 2.
Buroaverus, Duroaverus? Canterbury, xxii 2.
Burrio, xxii. v. Bullæum.
Byzantium, iii.

C.

Cæsaromago, Chelmsford, Writtle Widford, Essexiæ, xxi, xxii.
Cæsaromagom civitas, xxv 2. v. Cæsaromago.
Calatum civitas, xiv. v. Galacum.
Calcaria, Tadcaster in Eboria, xxi.
Calcua, Silchester in Hantonia, xiv 2. v. Nalcua.
Caleba, Atrebatium civitas, xxv. v. Calleva.
Caledones, lxix. v. Caledonii.
Caledonia, viii, x, xlii 2, xlvi 2, lxi, xci, xcii, xcvii.
Caledonia silva, in Argathelia, Lochaber et Moravia, xiv.
Caledonius angulus, x.
Caledonii, populi qui Bradalbaniam, Badenochiam et Moraviam incolebant, xiv, lx 2, lxi 1, 2, xci 1, 2, xciv 2, xcv 1, 2, xcvi 2, xcvii, xcviii, c.
Calidonia, lxxxiii 1. v. Caledonia.
Calidoniæ silvæ, xlix.
Calidonii, lxxxiii 1. v. Caledonii.
Calleva Attrebatum, xxi 2; Calleva, Silchester, Hantoniæ; Henley, Oxoniæ; Reading in Berkescira, xxii 1, 2.
Calunio civitas, xxv 2. v. Galacum.
Camaldunum, viii. v. Camuloduno.
Camalodunum, lv. v. Camuloduno.
Camboduno, Gretland, Almondbury, Eland, in Eboria, xxi.
Camborico, Icklingham, Suffolciæ; Cambridge in Cantabrigia, xxi.
Camudolanum civitas, xiv 2. v. Camuloduno.
Camulodono civitas, xxv 2. v. Camboduno.
Camulodulo colonia, civitas, xxv 2. v. Camuloduno.
Camuloduno, Malden, Walden in Essexia, xxii 1, 2, xxxvi, xxxvii.
Camulossesa civitas, Camelon in Sterlinia, xxvi.
Camudolanum, xiv 2. v. Camboduno.
Camunlodunum civitas, xiv. v. Camuloduno.
Cana insula, xxvi 2.
Canca civitas, xxv.
Canganorum promontorium, Brachy pult point in Caernarvonia, xii 2.
Cangi, populi qui Somersetiam incolebant, xxxvi.
Canibroiana civitas, xxvi.
Canninefates, populi Germaniæ Inferioris, xli 2.
Canonio, Fambridge, Chelmsford, Canewdon, Essexiæ, xxii.
Cantæ, populi qui Sutherlandiam incolebant, xiv.
Cantii, populi qui Cantium incolebant, xiv 2, xv.
Cantium promontorium, The North Foreland, Pepperness, in Cantia, ii, iii 2, vi, xiii.
Cantium provincia, Kent, xxxi 2, xxxii 2.
Cantiumeti civitas, xxv 2. v. Clanoventa.
Canubio civitas, xxv 2. v. Conovio.
Carbantium civitas, Caerlavarock, xxv 2.
Carbantorigum civitas, Bardanna, Kier, Drummore, xiii 2.
Careni, populi qui Cathnesiam incolebant, xiii 2.
Carnonacæ, populi qui Rossiam incolebant, xiii 2.
Carnutes, populi Galliæ, xxxiii 2.
Cassi populi, xxxiii.
Cassitera insula, xx 1.
Cassiterides insulæ, The Scilly Islands, i, iii, v 1, 2, vii 2, viii 2, x 2.
Castra Exploratorum, Netherby, Carlisle, Cumbriæ, xx 2.
Cataractonion civitas, xxv 2. v. Cataractoni.
Cataractoni, Thornborough prope Catterick Bridge, Eboriæ, xx 2, xxi 1, 2.
Catuellani, populi, liv. v. Catyeuchlani.
Caturactonium civitas, xiv, xvi 1, 2. v. Cataractoni.
Catyeuchlani, populi qui Hertfordiam, Buckinghamiam, Bedefordiam incolebant, xiv 2.
Cauci, populi Hiberniæ, qui Wickloviam incolebant, xi 2.
Caunonio, xxii 2. v. Canonio.
Causennis, Nottingham, Nottinghamiæ; Ancaster, Boston, Lincolniæ, xxi.
Celerion civitas, Calendar Castle, xxvi.
Celnius fluvius, The Spey, Findhorn, xiii.
Celtiberia, viii 2, x 2.
Celti, ii, iv, vi 2, vii, l 2, liii 1, 2, liv 2, lxxvi 2.
Celti Transalpini, lxxvi 1.
Celtica, iii 1, 2, iv, v, vi, vii 2, liii.
Celtogalatia, xvii.
Celunno civitas, xxv 2. v. Cilurno.
Cenimagni populi, xxxiii. v. Iceni.
Cenion fluvius, Falmouth Haven, Tregony Tamar, Cornubiæ, xiii.
Cermium civitas, xxvi.
Cermo civitas, xxvi.
Cerones, populi qui Lochaberiam et Rossiam incolebant, xiii 2.
Certisnassa fluvius, xxvi 2.
Chamavi, populi Germaniæ Inferioris, lxxv 2.
Chersonesus Aureus, xv 2, xvii.
Cibra civitas, xxvi.
Cicutio civitas, xxv.
Cilurno, Walwick Chesters, Northumbriæ, xxiv 2.
Cimetzone civitas, xxv. v. Cunetione.
Cimia fluvius, xxvi 2.
Cindocellum civitas, xxvi.
Cirimon insula, xxvii 2.
Clanoventa, Lanchester, Dunelmiæ; Cockermouth, Cumbriæ, xxii.
Clavinio civitas, xxv.
Clausentum, Old Southampton, Bishop's Waltham, Hantoniæ, xxi 2.
Cled fluvius, xxvi 2.
Clevo, Gloucester in Gloucestria, xxii.
Clidum civitas, xxv 2. v. Lindo.
Clota æstuarium, The Clyde, xii, xlv. v. Glota.
Clota in Hiverione, insula, xxii 2.
Coantia fluvius, The Kentsey, xxvi.
Coccio, Ribchester, Lancastriæ, xxii.
Cocuneda civitas, Coquet, xxvi.
Coganges civitas, xxv 2. v. Concangios.
Coguvensuron fluvius, The Soar, Leicestriæ, xxvi 2.
Colania civitas, Carstairs, Crawford, xiii 2.
Coloneas civitas, xxv.
Colonia, Colchester in Essexia, xxi.
Colanica civitas, Coldingham, Colchester, Essexiæ, xxvi.
Combretoni, Stretford in Suffolchia, xxi 2.
Concangios, Kendal, Watercrook, Westmorlandiæ, xxiv.
Condate, Northwich, Middlewich, Cestriæ, xxi, xxii.
Condate civitas, Congleton, Middlewich, Cestriæ, xxv 2.
Conderco, Benwell in Northumbria, xxiv 2.
Conderco civitas, xxv 2. v. Conderco.
Congavata, Stanwix in Cumbria, xxiv 2.
Conovio, Caer Rhyn, Conway, Caer Hen, in Caernarvonia, xxii.
Convetoni, xxii 2. v. Combretoni.
Corbelo, civitas Galliæ, vi.
Corda civitas, Cumnock, Castle Over, in Eskdalia, xiii 2.
Corda civitas, prope Lough Cure, xxvi.
Coria, Ottadinorum civitas, Jedburgh, Currie on Gore, xiii 2.
Corie civitas, Patrington in Eboria, xxv 2.
Coriendi, populi Hiberniæ, qui Wexfordiam incolebant, xi 2.
Corinium civitas, Cirencester, Gloucestriæ, xiv 2.
Corinium, Dobunorum civitas, xxv. v. Corinium.

Digitized by Google

Coritavi, populi qui Northamptoniam, Leicestriam, Rutlandiam, Lincolniam, Nottinghamiam, Derbeiam incolebant, xiv 2.
Coritiotar civitas, xxvi.
Cornabii, populi qui Warwiciam, Worcestriam, Staffordiam, Salopiam, Cestriam incolebant, xiv, x 2.
Cornabii, populi qui Strathnaverniam incolebant, xiii 2, xiv.
Cornovii milites, xxiv 2.
Corstopitum, Corbridge in Northumbria, xx 2.
Corsula insula, xxvi 2.
Counos insula, Thanet Shepey, in Cantia; Canvey in Essexia, xv.
Credigone civitas, xxvi.
Creones, populi qui Rossiam incolebant, xiii 2.
Crispiani milites, xxiv.
Crococalano, Brough in Nottinghamia, xxi 2.
Cronium mare, viii 2.
Croucingo civitas, Crosby, xxv 2.
Cunetione, Marlborough, Ridge Farm, Wiltoniæ, xxii 2.
Cunis, insula, xxvi 2.
Curia civitas, xiii 2. v. Coria, Corstopitum.
Curia Damniorum, Kirkurd, Carstairs, xiii 2.

D.

Dabrona, fluvius Hiberniæ, Blackwater, Avonmore, Waterfordiæ, xi 2.
Daci milites, xxiv 2.
Dalmatæ milites, xxiv 2.
Damnii, populi qui Clydesdaliam, Levenachiam et Sterliniam incolebant, xiii 2.
Damnium promontorium, xviii.
Damnonii populi, xiii 2. v. Damnii.
Damnonium promontorium, The Lizard, Deadman Point, in Cornubia, xii 2.
Dano, Doncaster in Eboria, xxi 2, xxiv.
Darnii, populi Hiberniæ, qui Ultoniam incolebant, xi 2.
Daroecla insula, xxvi 2.
Darruenum civitas, Canterbury in Cantia, xiv 2.
Daunoni, xxvi.
Decha civitas, xxvi.
Decuaria civitas, xxv 2. v. Petuaria.
Delgovitia, Weighton, Godmundingham, Fimber, in Eboria, xx 2.
Demerosesa civitas, Dumfries, xxvi.
Demetæ, populi qui Caermartheniam, Pembrochiam, Cardiganiam incolebant, xiv 2.
Dena Victrix, civitas, xxv 2. v. Deva.
Derbentione civitas, Little Chester in Derbeia, xxv 2.
Derventione, Derwent, Stanford Bridge, in Eboria, xx 2, xxiv.
Derventione, civitas, Pap Castle in Cumbria, xxv 2.
Deva fluvius, The Dee, Gallovidiæ, xii 2.
Deva, Chester in Cestria, xxi, xxii.
Devana, civitas, Texalorum, Aberdeen, Normandykes, xiv.
Deucaledonicus oceanus, xv 2, xviii.
Devionisso civitas, xxv.
Deuna civitas, legio vicesima victrix, Chester, xiv 2.
Devoni civitas, xxvi.
Devovicia civitas, xxv 2. v. Delgovitia.
Dicaledonæ populi, lxxiii 2.
Dictis, Ambleside in Westmorlandia, xxiv.
Divæ fluvii ostia, The Dee, p. Abredoniam, xiii.
Dixio civitas, xxv 2. v. Dictis.
Dobuni, populi qui Gloucestriam et Oxenefordiam incolebant, xiv 2, xv.
Dolocindo civitas, xxv.
Dorcadæ insulæ, xxvi 2. v. Orcadæ.
Dorcadas insulas, xxvi 2.
Dorvatium fluvius, The Dart in Devonia, vel Darent in Cantia, xxvi.
Dourus, fluvius Hiberniæ, Dingle Bay, Kilcoor, xi 2.
Duablisis civitas, Duplin, xxvi.
Dubris portus, Dover in Cantia, xxi.
Dubris civitas, xxiv, xxv. v. Dubris.
Dulma, xxv 2. v. Magiovinio.
Dumna insula, Skye Hoy, Fair Island, viii 2, xv, xvi.
Dumnonii, populi qui Cornubiam atque Devoniam incolebant, x, xv.
Dunium civitas, xv. v. Muridunium.
Dunum, civitas Hiberniæ, Down, Dundalk, xii.
Dunum sinus, Teese Mouth in Dunelmia; Scarborough Bay in Eboria, xiii.
Durbis fluvius, Dour ad Dubras, xxvi 2.
Durcinate civitas, xxv 2. v. Duroliponte.
Duriarno civitas, xxv. v. Durnovaria.
Durnonovaria, xxii 2. v. Durnovaria.
Durnovaria, Dorchester in Dorsetia, xxii.
Duroaverus, Canterbury, xxii 2. v. Duroverno.
Durobrabis civitas, Rochester in Cantia, xxv.
Durobrisin civitas, xxv 2. v. Durobrabis.
Durobrivis, Caistor, Dornford, Brigcasterton, Northamtoniæ; West Lynne in Norfolchia, xxi.
Durocobrivis, Fenny Stratford in Buckinghamia; Dunstable in Bedfordia; Hertford, Redburn, in Hertfordia, xxi 1, 2.
Durocornovio, xxii. v. Corinium.
Durocoronavis civitas, xxv.
Durolani fluvius, Lenham River in Cantia, xxvi 2.
Durolevo, Milton, Lenham, Newington, in Cantia, xxi, xxii 2.
Duroliponte, Cambridge, Godmanchester, in Cantabrigia; Romsey in Huntingdonia, xxi.
Durolito, Leiton, Rumford, in Essexia, xxii.
Durotriges, populi qui Dorsetiam incolebant, xv.
Duroverno, Cantiacorum civitas, xxv. v. Duroverno.
Duroverno, Canterbury in Cantia, xxi.
Duroviguto civitas, xxv 2. v. Durocobrivis.

E.

Ebio civitas, xxvi.
Eblana, civitas Hiberniæ, Dublin, xi 2.
Eboracum civitas, sexta legio victrix, xiv. v. Eboracum.
Eboracum civitas, xv 2. v. Eboracum.
Eboracum, York in Eboria, lxv, lxxi, lxxii 1, 2. lxxv, lxxix 2, xcix, c.
Ebuda insula, Skye, Uist, xii.
Ebuda, alia insula, Lewis, xii.
Ebudæ insulæ, The Western Islands, xii.
Eburacum, Eburaco, xx 2, xxi 1, 2, lxxi 2. v. Eboracum.
Eburacum civitas, xxv 2. v. Eboracum.
Eburocaslum civitas, xxvi.
Edros insula, Bardsley Embli, xii.
Eidumania fluvius, Blackwater, Mouth of Stour and Orwell, in Essexia, xiii 2.
Ejudensca civitas, xxvi.
Elconio civitas, xxv.
Electridæ insulæ, viii 2.
Elete insula, xxvi 2.
Elgovæ populi, xiv. v. Selgovæ.
Ellebri, populi Hiberniæ, qui Kerriam incolebant, xi 2.
Eltabo civitas, xxv.
Eltanori civitas, xxv 2.
Epiacum civitas, Hexham, Northumbriæ, xiv.
Epidii, populi qui Cantiriam incolebant, xiii 2.
Epidium insula, Ila, xii.
Epidium promontorium, Cantyr Head, xii 2, xiii 2.
Epocessa civitas, xxv.
Erdini, populi Hiberniæ qui Fermanagh incolebant, xi.
Eridanus fluvius, xciii 2.
Erpeditani, populi Hiberniæ, xi. v. Erdini.
Eruli milites, lxxiii 2.
Essegradena insula, xxvi 2.
Etoceto, Wall in Staffordia, xxi.
Europa, i, ii 1, 2, iv 1, 2, v 2, vii 2, xi, xii, xv 2, xvi 1, 2, xciii.
Exosades insulæ, xxvi 2.
Exploratorum Castra, Netherby Boulness, in Cumbria, xx 2.
Extensio, Gunfleet in Essexia; Wintertonness, Norfolchiæ, xiii 2.

F.

Fanocedi civitas, xxv 2. v. Virosido.
Flavia Cæsariensis, provincia Britanniæ, xxiii, lxxi.
Fortenses milites, xxiv.
Fortunatæ insulæ, viii 2, x 2, lxix.
Franci, lxviii 1, 2, lxxii, lxxiii 2, lxxx, xxxi 1, 2, lxxxv 2, lxxxvi 2.
Fraxula fluvius, Ashburn in Derbeia, xxvi.
Frisii, populi Germaniæ, ix 2, xiv 2.
Frixagori milites, xxiv 2.

G.

Gabrantuicus sinus, Burlington Bay, Hornsey Bay, in Eboria, xiii.
Gabrocentio civitas, xxv 2. v. Gabrosenti.
Gabrosenti, Drumburgh in Cumbria, xxiv 2.
Gadeira insula, iv 2, v 2, xciii 2, xcvi.
Gadeni, populi qui Feifedaliam, Mersiam et Lothernam incolebant, xiii 2.
Gades, xcviii 2.
Galacum, Appleby, Whallop Castle, Kendal, in Westmorlandia, xxii.
Galati, iii, lxxv 2, lxxviii 2, lxxxi 1, 2, c 2, ciii, civ.
Galatia, ii, iii, lxxvi 2, lxxviii 2, lxxxi 2, xciii 1, 2.
Galaticus sinus, v 2.
Galava, Old Town, G. Keswick, in Cumbria, xxii.
Galli, iii, xxvii, xxxiv 1, 2, xlii 2, xliv 2, xlvi 2, xlviii 2, li 1, 2, lii, lxvi, lxxix, lxxx 2, lxxxiii, xc, xciv, xcv, xcvi, xcvii, xcviii 2, xcix 1, 2, ci 2, ciii 2, civ, cv 1, 2.
Gallia, vii 2, viii 1, 2, ix 1, 2, xvi, xvii, xix, xx, xxvi 2, xxvii, xxix, xxx 1, 2, xxxi 1, 2, xxxiii 1, 2, xxxiv 1, 2, xxxv, xxxvii, xxxix 2, xl, xlviii 2, xlix, li, lii 1, 2, liii 1, 2, liv, lv, lvi, lxii, lxiii, lxiv 2, lxv, lxvi 1, 2. lxx 2, lxxi 1, 2, lxxv 2, lxxix 1, 2, lxxxviii 2, xci 1, 2, xcv 2. xcvii 2, xcix, c 2, cii, ciii 2.
Galliæ, xli, lxvii, lxxi, lxxiii 1, 2, lxxx 1, 2, lxxxii 1, 2, lxxxviii 2, xciii 2, xciv, xcv 2, xcvii 2, xcix 1, 2, c, ci, cii 2, civ 2, cv 1.
Gallicani, lxvii.
Gallicum fretum, x, b 2.
Gallicum litus, ix 2.
Gallicus oceanus, xvi.
Gallunio civitas, xxv 2. v. Isurium.
Gangani, populi Hiberniæ, xi 2.
Gariannonum, Burgh Castle in Norfolchia, xxiv.
Garryeni, fluvii ostia, Yarmouth in Norfolchia, xiii 2.
Garumna, fluvius Galliæ, The Garonne, vi 2.
Genunia, regio Britanniæ, l 2.
Germani populi, xvi 2, xl, xlvi 2, xlviii 2, xlix, lxxi 2, lxxvi, lxxx, lxxxiv, xciv 2, xcviii, c 2, ci 2.
Germania, vii 2, viii, ix, xvii 1, 2, xxvi 2, xxxii, xxxix 1, 2, xl 2, xli, xlii 2, xliii, xlv, xlviii, xlix, l, lxv 2, lxvi 2, lxx, lxxvi, lxxvii, lxxix, lxxxii, lxxxix 2, xc 2, xcii 2, xciii.
Germania Major, xvi.
Germanicum mare, viii 2.
Germanicus oceanus, xv 2, xviii.
Gessoriacenses, lxxi. v. Gessoriacum.
Gessoriacum, Boulogne sur Mer, viii, xlix 2.
Giano civitas, xxv.
Glannibanta, xxiv 2. v. Clanoventa.
Glebon colonia, civitas, xxv. v. Clevo.
Glessariæ insulæ, viii 2.
Glota æstuarium, The Clyde, xlv. v. Clota.
Gobannio, Abergavenny in Monemuthia, xxii.
Gothi, xxv, lxxxiii 2, xcviii.
Græci, xxiv 2, li, lxxxii 2, lxxxiii, xc, xcviii.
Græcia, lxviii.
Grampius mons, xlvi.

Digitized by Google

H.

Hæbudes, Hebudes, insulæ, The Western Islands, viii 2, x 1, 2.
Hæmodæ insulæ, The Western Islands, viii. v. Acmodæ.
Heboso insula, xviii 2.
Hedui, populi Galliæ, ix.
Hellespontus, iii, xlix.
Herculis Columnæ, i 1, 2, ix 2, xviii, lxxxiii 2.
Herculis promontorium, Hartland Point in Devonia, xii 2.
Hercynius saltus, ii.
Heruli, lxxxiii 2.
Hesperides insulæ, xvi 2.
Hiberni, lxvii.
Hibernia insula, xxiv 2, xxvi 2. v. Hybernia.
Hierosolymæ, xxxv, l, lxxiii 2, xcix.
Hispani milites, xxiv 2, lxxxiii, xc, civ.
Hispania, viii, ix 2, xviii 2, xix, xxx, xl 2, xli 1, 2, xlii 2, xlv, lxx 2, lxxii 2, lxxxiii 2, lxxxiv, xcv 2, xcix 2, c 2, cii, ciii 2.
Hispaniæ, lxvi, lxxx, lxxxii 2, xciii, xciv, xcvii, xcix 2, c 2.
Hispanienses, lxxxviii 2.
Hister fluvius, v, lxxxiv, xcviii 2.
Horca promontorium, ii. v. Orca.
Horesti, populi qui ultra Bodotriam degebant, xlvii 2.
Hunno, Halton Chesters in Northumbria, xxiv 2.
Hybernia, Hibernia, insula, viii 2, x, xv 2, xvii 1, 2, xviii 1, 2, xix, xxiv 2, xxvi 2, xxxii 2, xxxvi, xlv, lxix.
Hybernicus oceanus, xi 2.
Hyberus insula, xviii 2.
Hyperboreus oceanus, xv 2, xvii 2.

I. & J.

Jaciodulma civitas, xxv 2. v. Magiovinto.
Jamissa æstuarium, Thames Mouth, xiii 2.
Jano civitas, xxvi.
Iberes, xciii 2.
Iberi, vii, xvi 2, l 2, lxxv 2, lxxvi.
Iberia, i 1, 2, iii, iv 1, 2, v, vi, li, lxxvi 2, lxxvii, lxxviii 1, 2, lxxxviii 2, lxxxix 2, xc, xcix 2, cii 2.
Ibernia insula, x 2, xi 1, 2, xii, xv 2, xvi 2, xvii 1, 2, xviii 1, 2, cii 2. v. Hibernia.
Ibernicus Oceanus, xviii. v. Hibernus Oceanus.
Ibernio civitas, Bere, xxv.
Ibernis, civitas Hiberniæ, Dunckerin, xii.
Iberran civitas, xxvi.
Iceni, populi qui Suffolciam, Norfolchiam, Cantebrigiam et Huntendoniam incolebant, xxxvi, xxxviii.
Iciani, Chesterford, Ickburg, Thetford, in Norfolchia, xxi.
Ictis insula, St. Michael's Mount in Cornubia, ii 2.
Iena æstuarium, Wigtoun Bay in Gallovidia, xii 2.
Ierne insula, i, iii 2, iv, v, vii, xx, xcviii. v. Hibernia.
Iernia, xviii 1, 2. v. Hibernia.
Iernus, fluvius Hiberniæ, The Erne, Kenmare, xi.
Ila fluvius, Dornoch, xiii.
Illaviani insula, xxvi 2.
Illyrici, lxxi 2.
Illyricum, xxxix 2, xcix 2.
Illyricus, lxxv, xcvii.
Illyrii, lxiii, lxv 1, 2, lxvi, lxxvii.
Illyrium, lxxvi 2.
Imensa æstuarium, xiv 2. v. Jamissa.
Indi, xcvi 1, 2, xcviii, c.
India, iv, xxxv 2, xcviii, xcix.
Indus, c, cii.
Insula Ægyptiorum, iii.
Insula Sacra, Hibernia, xix 2.
Intraum fluvius, xxvi 2.
Ionium mare, l 2.
Iouerne insula, xx. v. Hibernia.
Iouernia civitas, xx.
Iouernia insula, xviii 2, xx. v. Hibernia.
Iris, iii.
Isaca, fluvii ostia, Exmouth in Devonia, Weymouth in Dorsetia, xiii.
Isamnium, promontorium Hiberniæ, St. John's Foreland, xi 2.
Isannavatia, xxi 2. v. Bannavanto.
Iscæ Silurum, Caerleon in Monemuthia, xxii.
Iscæe, legio secunda Augusta, xxii.
Isca Augusta, civitas, xxv. v. Iscæ Silurum.
Isca civitas, legio Augusta secunda, Caerleon, xv.
Isca Dumnuniorum, Chiselborough in Somersetia; Exeter, Devoniæ, xxii 1, 2.
Isca fluvius, xxvi. v. Isaca.
Ischalis civitas, Ilchester in Somersetia, xv.
Isubrigantum, xxi 2. v. Isurium.
Isui, xxiii.
Isurium civitas, Aldborough in Eboria, xiv, xx 2, xxi.
Itali, lxxi, lxxxi, xcvii.
Italia, viii, xvi, xxx, xxxvi 2, xxxix 2, xl, xli 2, lii 2, liii, lx 1, 2, lxii 2, lxviii 2, lxxi 2, lxxv 2, lxxvi, lxxvii, 1, 2, lxxviii 1, 2, lxxx 1, 2, lxxxi 1, 2, lxxxii 2, xcv, xcviii, xcix 2.
Italici portus, lxix.
Itium portus, Witsand, Boulogne sur Mer, vi 2, xxx 1, 2.
Itucodon civitas, xxvi.
Ituna æstuarium, Solway Frith, xii 2.
Itys fluvius, Loch Eu, Loch Torridon, Loch Duich, xii 2.
Juctius fluvius, xxvi.
Judæa, xcix.
Judæi, lix 2, xciv, xcix.
Iverna insula, viii. v. Hibernia.
Jugantes populi, xxxvii 2.
Juliocenon civitas, xxv 2. v. Tunnocelo.
Jupania civitas, xxv.
Juverna, xci 2. v. Hibernia.

L.

Laberus, civitas Hiberniæ, Killair, xii.
Lactodoro, Towcester, Stony Stratford, in Northantonia, xxi 1, 2.
Lagecio, Castleford in Eboria, xxi 2.
Lagentium civitas, xxv 2. v. Lagecio.
Lavaris civitas, xxv 2. v. Lavatris.
Lavatres, xxiv. v. Lavatris.
Lavatris, Bowes Ovynford, in Eboria, xxi 1, 2.
Lavobrinta civitas, xxv 2.
Lectoceto civitas, xxv 2. v. Etvecto.
Ledone civitas, Dunbar, xxvi.
Legeolio, xxi 2. v. Lagecio.
Lelaannonius, Lelamnonius, sinus, Loch Fine, xii 2, xiv.
Lemana fluvius, xxvi 2. v. Lemanis portus.
Lemanis portus, Lympne in Cantia, xxi.
Lemanis civitas, xxiv, xxv. v. Lemanis portus.
Lemavio, xxii 2. v. Lemanis.
Lenda fluvius, xxvi 2.
Lergi milites, xxiv.
Leuca fluvius, The Low, xxvi.
Leucaro, Glastonbury in Somersetia; Lwghor in Glamorgania, xxii.
Leucomago civitas, xxv. v. Leucaro.
Leugosena fluvius, xxvi.
Leviodanum civitas, Levingston, xxvi.
Levioxana civitas, Lenox, xxvi.
Lexobii, Lexovii, populi Galliæ, vi, xxvii.
Liar fluvius, Liver, xxvi 2.
Liboius, fluvius Hiberniæ, Galway Bay, Giddore, Sligo Bay, xi.
Libya, i 2, ii, xviii, lxviii 2, lxx 2, lxxvi 2, lxxxiii 2, xcv 2, xcvii 2, xcviii.
Ligeris, fluvius Galliæ, The Loire, vi 2, liii, xcviii.
Ligures, xx.
Liguria, xlix 2.
Limnos insula, Lymen, Ramsey, Lambay, prope Dubliniam, xii.
Limnum, xxii 2.
Limnus insula, Dalkey, viii 2.
Lindonium, xx.
Lindo, Lincoln in Lincolnia, xxi 1, 2. v. Lendum.
Lindum colonia, civitas, xxv 2. v. Lindo.
Lindum Coritanorum, civitas, xiv 2. v. Lindo.
Lindum Damniorum, Linlithgow, Kirkintulloch, xiii 2.
Lineojugla civitas, xxv 2.
Linnonsa insula, xxvi 2.
Litana civitas, xxvi.
Litinomago civitas, Linlithgow, xxvi.
Locatrene civitas, xxvi.
Logi, populi qui Strathnaveriam atque Sutherlandiam incolebant, xiv.
Logia, fluvius Hiberniæ, Newry, Loch Foyle, Loch Bann, xi 2.
Londini civitas, xxv. v. Londinium.
Londiniense oppidum, lxviii. v. Londinium.
Londinis civitas, xxv. v. Londinium.
Londinium civitas, London, xiv 2, xv 2, xxxviii 2, lxxiii, xcix.
Londinium, xx. v. Londinium.
Londinio, xxi 1, 2, xx 2. v. Londinium.
Londinium Augusta, civitas, xxv 2. v. Londinium.
Longis insula, xxvi 2.
Longovico, Lancaster in Lancastria, xxiv.
Longus fluvius, Lynneloch, Innerlochy, Loch Melfort, xii 2.
Lopocarium civitas, xxv 2.
Loucopibia civitas, Broughtern, Whitern, in Gallovidia, xiii 2.
Loxa civitas, Innerlochy, xxvi.
Loxa fluvius, The Loth in Sutherlandia; The Lossie, Cromarty Frith, xiii.
Luceni, populi Hiberniæ, xix.
Lucotion civitas, xxvi. v. Loucopibia.
Luentinum civitas, Lhan-dewy-brevy in Cardigania, xiv 2.
Lugdunum, Lyons, lxiii, lxxi 1, 2, lxxix 2, lxxxi 2, lxxxii 1, 2.
Lugubalum civitas, xxv 2. v. Luguvallum.
Lugundino civitas, xxv 2.
Luguvallio, Carlisle, Old Penrith, Plumpton Wall, in Cumbria, xxi 1, 2.
Luguvallo, Old Carlisle in Cumbria, xx 2.
Lundinium Augusta civitas, London, lxxiii 1, 2, lxxiv. v. Londinium Augusta.
Lusitani, populi Hispaniæ, iii, v, xl, lxxi, lxxviii 2.
Lutudarum civitas, xxv 2. v. Lactodoro.

M.

Macatonion civitas, xxv. v. Ariconio.
Macolicum, civitas Hiberniæ, Mallow, xii.
Madus, xxii 2. v. Vagniacis.
Mæatæ populi, lx 2, lxi, lxxxiii.
Mæotis, iv 2, ix 2.
Mæsia, lxv 2.
Mæsiaci, lxxiii.
Maganica insula, xxvi 2.
Magiovinio, xxi 2. v. Magiovinto.
Magiovinto, Ashwell, Dunstable, Bedefordiæ; Fenny Stratford, Buckinghamiæ, xxi.
Magis, Pierce Bridge in Dunelmia, xxiv.
Maglovæ, Greta Bridge in Eboria, xxiv.
Magnæ, Caervorran in Northumbria, xxiv 2.
Magnis, Kenchester in Herefordia, xxii.
Magnis civitas, Old Radnor in Radnoria, xxv.
Magnis civitas, Boulnesse in Cumbria, xxv 2.
Maia civitas, xxv 2. v. Arbeia, Voreda.
Maina, fluvius, Mintern, xxvi.
Maio civitas, xxv 2. v. Maglovæ, Magis.
Maiona insula, xxvi 2.
Maleos insula, Isle of Mull, xii.
Mamucio, xxi. v. Mancunio.
Manapia, civitas Hiberniæ, Wicklow, Wexford, xi 2.
Manavi, xxvi.
Mancunio, Manchester in Lancastria, xxii.
Manduessedo, Manchester in Staffordia, xxi.
Manna insula, xxvi 2.
Mantio civitas, xxv 2. v. Mancunio.
Maponi, xxvi.

Digitized by Google

Maporiton civitas, xxv 2.
Marcotaxon civitas, xxvi.
Mare, Atlanticum, lxxvi; Britanni, xviii 2; Indicum, xvii; Orcadum, xviii 2; Rubrum, xviii, xciv 2.
Maremago civitas, xxvi.
Margiduno, East Bridgeford in Nottinghamia, xxi 2.
Maridunum civitas, Caermarthen, xiv 2.
Masona civitas, xxv.
Massalia, Massilia, civitas Galliæ, Marseilles, iii 2, iv, v 1, 2, xlix 2, liv 2.
Massaliotæ, populi Galliæ, iii, iv 2, vi. v. Massalia.
Matovion civitas, xxvi.
Maulion civitas, xxvi.
Mauna insula, xxvi 2.
Mauri populi, xviii, lxiv 1, 2, xci 2, xciv, xcvii 2.
Mauri Aurelianorum, milites, xxiv 2.
Mauritania, xciv 2.
Maurus, lxix 2, xcvii.
Maxima Cæsariensis, provincia Britanniæ, xxiii, lxxi.
Medio civitas, xxvi.
Mediolanium civitas, Meyvod, xiv 2.
Mediolano civitas, xxv 2. v. Mediolano.
Mediolano, Drayton, Whitchurch, Salopiæ, xxi, xxii.
Mediomano civitas, Mainturog, xxv 2.
Melarnoni civitas, xxv.
Memanturum civitas, xxvi.
Menapia, lxxi 2.
Menapii, populi Galliæ, vi 2, vii, xix, xxvii 1, 2.
Menapii, populi Hiberniæ qui Wexfordiam incolebant, xi 2.
Meroe insula, iii, v, viii.
Mertæ, populi qui in Sutherlandia habitabant, xiv.
Metambala civitas, xxv. v. Trajectus.
Metaris æstuarium, Boston Deep, The Wash, in Lincolnia, xiii.
Mevania insula, Isle of Man, xviii 2, xix, ci 2.
Miba civitas, Midhurst in Sussexia, xxv.
Mictis insula, viii 2.
Milidunum civitas, xxv.
Minerve insula, xxvi 2.
Minox, xxvi.
Mixa, xxvi.
Modibogdo civitas, xxv 2. v. Cocci Rhigodunum.
Modanus, fluvius Hiberniæ, The Liffey, Harrah, xi 2.
Moiezo civitas, xxv.
Mona insula, xxxii. v. Mevania.
Mona insula, Anglesey, viii 1, 2, xii, xxvi 2, xxxvii 2, xlii 2, xliv, lvii 2, lviii.
Monaoeda insula, xii. v. Mevania.
Monapia insula, viii 2. v. Mevania.
Mons Grampius, xlvi.
Morbio, Temple Brough in Eboria, xxiv.
Moricambe æstuarium, Cartmel Bay, Lancastriæ, xii 2.
Moriduno civitas, xxv. v. Muriduno.
Morini, populi Galliæ, vi 2, vii, viii, xix, xxvii 1, 2, xxix 2, xxx, xlviii 2, li 2, lxxix, lxxxvii, lxxxix.
Morionio civitas, xxv.
Mosa fluvius, liii.
Mostevia civitas, xxv.
Muriduno, xxii 1.
Muriduno, Egerton, Seaton, Honiton, Caermarthen, xxii 2.
Mutuantonis civitas, xxv.

N.

Nabæus fluvius, Tralliger, The Naver, xii 2.
Næomagus civitas, xv. v. Noviomagum.
Nagnata, oppidum Hiberniæ, Limeric, Sligo, xi.
Nagnatæ, populi Hiberniæ qui Sligoam incolebant, xi.
Nalkua civitas, Silchester in Hantonia, xiv 2. v. Calcua.
Nannetes, populi Galliæ, xxvii.
Narbone, civitas Galliæ, iii, v 2, vi.
Navione civitas, xxv 2. v. Isannavatia, Causennis.
Naurum fluvius, The Nader, xxvi.
Nemeton civitas, xxvi.
Nemetotacio civitas, xxv.
Nerigon insula, Lewis, viii 2.
Nicea, xcv 2.
Nido, Portbury in Somersetia; Neath in Glamorgiana, xxii.
Notion, promontorium Hiberniæ, Cape Mizzen, Bear Head, xi 1, 2, xvii 2.
Novantæ, populi qui Gallovidiam, Caricticam, Kyliam, Cunninghamiam atque Arraniam incolebant, xiii 2, xviii.
Novantum peninsula, Mull of Galloway, xii 1, 2, xviii.
Novantum promontorium, Dunskay, Mull of Galloway, xii.
Noviomagno civitas, xxv. v. Noviomago.
Noviomago, Woodcote in Surria; Holwood Hill in Cantia, x 2, xxi.
Novitia fluvius, xxvi 2.
Novius fluvius, The Nid, xii 2.

O.

Oboca, fluvius Hiberniæ, Ovoca, Avonmore, in Arklovia, xi 2.
Oceanus, Arcticus, lxxxiv; Borealis, xi, xvi 2, l 2; Cantabricus, xix; Cronius, xi; Deucaledonius, xii; Germanicus, xiii; Glacialis, xi; Ibernus, xi 2; Mortuus, xi; Occidentalis, xi, xviii, xlviii 2, l 2; Verginius, xi 2.
Ocellum promontorium, Spurnhead in Eboria, xiii.
Ocetis insula, Shetland, Pentland Skerries, xv.
Ocrinum promontorium, The Lizard in Cornubia, xii 2, xiii.
Ocrium promontorium, xviii. v. Ocrinum.
Octapitarum promontorium, St. David's Head, xii 2.
Œstrymnicus sinus, xix 2.
Œstrymnides insulæ, Scilly Islands, xix 2. v. Cassiterides.
Oleiclavis civitas, Ogle Castle, xxvi.
Olenaco, Old Carlisle, Ellenborough, in Cumbria, xxiv 2.
Olerica civitas, Ilkirk in Cumbria, xxv 2.
Olicana civitas, Ilkley, Eboriæ, xiv.
Omire civitas, xxv.
Onna civitas, xxv. v. Vindomi.
Onno civitas, xxv 2. v. Hunno.
Orcadæ, xci. v. Orcades.
Orcades insulæ, The Orkney Islands, viii, x 2, xv, xviii 1, 2, xix, xxii 2, xlii 2, lxxii, lxxix 2, lxxxi 2, lxxxii 2, xcviii, ci 2, cii 1, 2.
Orcas promontorium, Farohead, Dunnethead, xii 2, xiii, xv, xviii. v. Farvidum Orchades, xcix 2. v. Orcades.
Ordovicæ, Ordovices, populi qui Montgomeriam, Merionetheam, Caernarvoniam, Anglesiam, Denbeiam, Flintiam incolebant, xiv 2, xxxvi 2, xlii, xliv.
Orrhea civitas, Orrock in Fifia, xiv.
Othona, Ithanchester in Essexia, xxiv.
Otadeni, Ottadeni, populi qui Northumbriam, Mersiam et Lotheniam Orientalem incolebant, xiii 2, xiv.
Osismica littora, vii 2.
Osismii, populi Galliæ, xxvii.
Ostia, xlix 2, liv 2, lxxi.
Ostiæi, populi Scythiæ, iii 2.

P.

Pacenses milites, xxiv.
Palæsimundus, Palligemundus, insula, xvii.
Pampocalia civitas, xxv 2. v. Calcaria.
Pannonia, xl, lx, lxvi, lxxiv.
Panovius, xxvi.
Parisi, populi qui partem Orientalem Eboriæ incolebant, xiv.
Parisii, lxxiii, lxxxii.
Parthi, lxxiii, lxxxix 1, 2, xci 1, 2, xcii, xciv.
Parthus, lxvi 1, 2, xcix.
Pennocrucio, Penkridge in Staffordia, xxi.
Persæ, Perses, ix 2, xxxvii, lxix, lxxx, lxxxiii 2, lxxxviii 2, lxxxix, xcv.
Petrianis, Cambeck vel Castlesteeds in Cumbria, xxiv 2.
Petuaria civitas, Brough on Humber in Eboria, xiv.
Pexa civitas, xxvi.
Phebol insula, l.
Phœnices, v 2.
Phrissones, populi Brittiæ, lxxxiv.
Picti populi, lxvii, lxix, lxxiii 1, 2, lxxv, lxxxvi 2, xcvii 2, xcviii, c 2.
Pictones, populi Galliæ, ix.
Pictus, xcvii, xcviii 2.
Pilais civitas, xxv.
Ponte Ælii, Newcastle in Northumbria, xxiv 2.
Pontibus, Old Windsor in Berksciria, xxi 2.
Pontus, viii 2, lxviii 2.
Porco-classis civitas, Forfar, Barry, xxvi. v. Orrhea.
Portus Magnus, Portsmouth in Hantonia, xiii.
Portus Novus, Rye in Sussexia, xiii.
Præmatis civitas, xxvi.
Præsidio, xxiv, xxvi. v. Prætorio.
Præsidium civitas, Camelon, xxvi.
Prætorio, Hebberston Fields, Broughton, Patrington, Flamborough, in Eboria, xx 2.
Pretanni, xx. v. Britanni.
Pretannia, xx. v. Britannia.
Pretannicæ insulæ, xvii 1, 2, xviii. v. Britannicæ insulæ.
Pretannicus oceanus, xvii 1, 2, xviii. v. Britannicus.
Pretannides insulæ, xx. v. Brettannides.
Procolitia, Carrawburg in Northumbria, xxiv 2.
Promontorium Sacrum, xvi 2.
Punctuobice civitas, xxv. v. Verlucio.
Pyrenæi montes, v 1, 2, vi 2, vii 2, xvi, xcviii 2.
Pyrenæi promontorium, xxvi 2.

R.

Ractomessa fluvius, Racon, xxvi 2.
Rage, xiv 2. v. Ratis.
Ranatonium civitas, xxvi. v. Retigonium.
Ratecorion civitas, xxv 2. v. Ratis.
Ratis, Leicester in Leicestria, xxi 2.
Ratupis, xxii 2. v. Rutupiæ.
Ravenatone civitas, xxv.
Ravenna, lxxvi 2.
Ravimago civitas, xxv. v. Neomagum.
Ravonia civitas, xxv 2. v. Bravonocæ, Olenacum.
Regaina insula, xxvi 2.
Regentium civitas, xxv. v. Regnum.
Regnum, Chichester in Sussexia, xxi 2.
Regni, populi qui Surreiam et Sussexiam incolebant, xv.
Regulbium, Reculver in Cantia, xxiv.
Rhæba, civitas Hiberniæ, xii.
Rhætia, xvi, lxv 2, lxvi 2.
Rhage civitas, xiv 2. v. Ratis.
Rhaiba civitas, xv 2.
Rhatostathybius fluvius, The Wye, Ogmoor, xii 2.
Rhavius, fluvius Hiberniæ, The Bann, Erne, Mulroy Bay, xi.
Rhegni populi, xv. v. Regni.
Rhenus, fluvius, iii 2, v 1, vi 1, 2, vii 2, viii 1, 2, ix, xvi 2, xl, xli, xlix, l 2, li, liii 1, 2, lxxi, lxxvi 1, 2, lxxviii 1, 2, lxxxiii, lxxxiv 1, 2, lxxxv 1, 2, lxxxviii 2, lxxxix 2, xci, xcvii 2, xcviii 2.
Rherigonius sinus, Loch Ryan, Lus Bay, p. Loch Ryan, xii.
Rhetigonium civitas, Barlan, Strathnaver, in Gallovidia, xiii 2.

Digitized by Google

Rhicina insula, Rum, xii.
Rhigia, civitas Hiberniæ, Limerick, xii.
Rhigia, altera civitas Hiberniæ, Raylis, xii.
Rhigodunum civitas, Warrington, Manchester, in Lancastria, xiv.
Rhobogdii, populi Hiberniæ, qui Raphoam incolebant, xi 1, 2.
Rhobogdium, promontorium Hiberniæ, Fair Foreland, Cape Clear, xi 1, 2, xvii 2.
Rhodanus, fluvius Galliæ, The Rhone, iii, vi, xlix, liii.
Rhutupia civitas, xiv 2. v. Rutupiæ.
Ricina insula, Rachlin, viii 2.
Ridumo, xxii 2. v. Muriduno.
Riduna insula, Rachlin, xxii 2.
Ripa Alta, Ordhill, juxta Findhorn, xiii.
Ritupis portus, xx 2, xxi. v. Rutupiæ.
Roma, xxxv 2, xxxvi 2, xxxix 2, xlix 1, 2, lii, liii, lv, lx, lx 1, 2, lxiv 2, lxv 2, lxvii, lxxi 2, lxxv, lxxvi 2, lxxvii, lxxix, lxxxi, lxxxiii 2, lxxxvii, xci, xcv 2, xcvii, ci.
Romani, ii, v 1, 2, vi, vii, viii, xxxv 1, 2, xxxvii 1, 2, xxxviii 2, xl 1, 2, xli, xlv 1, 2, xlvi 1, 2, l 2, li 1, 2, lii 1, 2, lvi 1, 2, lvii 1, 2, lviii, lix 1, 2, lxii, lxv, lxviii 1, 2, lxix 1, 2, lxx, lxxi, lxxii, lxxv 2, lxxviii 1, 2, lxxix 1, 2, lxxxi 1 2, lxxxii 2, lxxxiii, lxxxv 2, xciv, xcix, c 2.
Romanus, lxvii 1, 2, lxxx, lxxxix.
Rotibis, Rochester in Cantia, xxii 2.
Raxalani, populi Scythiæ, iv 2.
Rovia fluvius, The Rother in Sussexia, xxvi 2.
Rumabo civitas, Drumbugh Castle, xxvi.
Rutubi portus, xix. v. Rutupiæ.
Rutunio, Wem in Salopia, xxi.
Rutupis, xxiv. v. Rutupiæ.
Rutupiæ, Richborough, Stonor, in Cantia, lxxiii 1, 2.
Rutupina litora, xci; Rutupinus fundus, xci 2; Rutupina tellus, xcvii; Rutupinus latro, xcvii; Rutupinus ager, xcvii; Richborough in Cantia.
Rutupis civitas, xxv. v. Rutupiæ.

S.

Sabriana æstuarium, Severn-mouth, xii 2.
Sabrina fluvius, The Severn, xxxvi.
Sacrum promontorium Hiberniæ, Cape Carnvoir, Grenore, xi 2.
Sæcana fluvius, xix.
Salassii, liii 2.
Salenæ civitas, Chesterton prope Salndy, Bedfordiæ, xiv 2.
Salice insula, xvii, xviii 2.
Salinis civitas, Nantwich in Cestria, xxv 1 2.
Samothracia, vi.
Sandonio civitas, xxv 2.
Saponis insula, xxvi 2.
Sardice, xcv 2.
Sarmaticus oceanus, xv 2, xviii.
Sarva fluvius, xxvi. v. Sabrina.
Saxo, xcviii 1 2, c, cii.
Saxones populi, xxiv 2, lxxii, lxxiii 2, lxxiv, lxxx, lxxxii 2.
Saxonia, xxiv 2, xxxvi.
Scadomi populi, xxv.
Scadum Namorum civitas, xxv. v. Isca Dumnoniorum.
Scandia insula, Sanda, Orcadum, viii 2.
Scetis insula, xxvi 2.
Scoti, Scotti, populi, xix, xxiv 2, lxxiii 1, 2, lxxxii 1, 2, xcvii 2, xcviii, xcix 1, 2, c, ci 2, cii 2.
Scotia insula, xxvi 2, xxxvi, xcix 2, c, cii 2. v. Hibernia.
Scoticus, Scotticus, xcvii 2.
Scotus, lxix 2, xcviii 1, 2, xcix, c 2.
Scythæ, iii 2, iv 2.
Scythia, iii, lxxxviii 2, lxxxix.
Scythicæ nationes, c.
Scythicus oceanus, xviii 2.
Segeduno, Cousins's House in Northumbria, xxiv 2.
Segeloci, xxi 2. v. Ageloco.
Segloes, xxvi. v. Selgovæ.
Segoncium, Caernarvon, Caerseint, Caernarvoniæ, xxii.
Segontiaci populi, xxxiii.
Seguntio civitas, xxv 2. v. Segoncium.
Selgovæ, populi qui Nithisdaliam atque Annandaliam incolebant, xiii.
Sena insula, Isle de Sain, vii 2.
Senua fluvius, xxvi 2.
Senus, fluvius Hiberniæ. The Shannon, Loch Rusmore, xi.
Sequana, fluvius Galliæ, The Seine, vi 1, 2, viii 2, lxvii 2.
Serduno civitas, xxv 2. v. Segeduno.
Setantii, xii 2.
Setantiorum portus, Mouth of the Ribble, Loyne, xii 2.
Seteia æstuarium, Mouth of the Dee, Cestriæ, xii 2.
Siambis insula, viii 2.
Sicila, lxvi, xcv 2.
Sicilia, vii 2, lxxxiii 2.
Silura insula, Scilly, x.
Silures, populi qui Herefordiam, Radnoriam, Brecknockiam, Monemuthiam, Glamorganiam incolebant, viii, xiv 2, xxxvi 1, 2, xxxvii 1, 2, xliv.
Simeni, populi qui Norfolciam et Suffolciam incolebant, xiv 2. v. Iceni.
Sinei, xviii.
Sinetriadum civitas, xxv 2.
Sinomagi, xxii 2. v. Sitomago.
Sinus Arabicus, xviii.
Sistuntiaci populi, xxv 2.
Sitomago, Wulpit, Thetford, Stowmarket, in Suffolcia, xxi.
Smetri civitas, xxvi.
Sobrica insula, xxvi 2.
Sodismam fluvius, xxvi 2.
Sorbioduni, Old Sarum in Wiltonia, xxii 1, 2.
Spinis, Speen in Berkscira, xxii 1, 2.
Statio Deventia civitas, xxv.
Stene civitas, xxv.
Stodoion civitas, xxv 2.
Stucia fluvius, The Dovie in Cardigania, Ystwith, xii 2.
Subdobiadon civitas, xxvi.
Suessiones, populi Galliæ, xxvii.
Suevi, xlv 2, lxxx 2.
Suevicum mare, xli 2.
Sulloniacis, Brockley Hill in Hertfordia, xxi.
Susura insula, xxvi 2.
Syli populi, lxxxiii. v. Silures.
Sylina insula, Scilly Islands, c.
Syria, xlviii, lx.
Syri, xxiii 2.

T.

Taba, xxvi. v. Tava.
Tadoriton civitas, xxv 2.
Tagea civitas, Menteith, xxvi.
Taifali milites, xxiii 2.
Taizalum promontorium, Kinaird Head, Buchan, Button Ness, xiii.
Tamare civitas, Tamerton, Saltash, in Cornubia, xv.
Tamaris civitas, xxv. v. Tamare.
Tamaris fluvii ostia, Plymouth, Exmouth, in Devonia, xiii.
Tamaris fluvius, The Tamar, xxvi.
Tameia civitas, Dunkeld, xiv.
Tamesa fluvius, xxxviii, liv 2, lvi. v. Tamesis.
Tamese civitas, Kingston upon Thames in Surria, xxv.
Tamesis, The Thames, xxxi 2, xxxii 2, lii 2.
Tamion fluvius, The Tavy, xxvi.
Tanais fluvius, iv 2.
Tabrobane insula, i, iii, xv 2, xvii.
Tarraconesia, provincia Hispaniæ, xviii 2.
Tarvedum promontorium, Faro Head, Duncansby Head, xiii. v. Orcas.
Tarvidum promontorium, xii 2. v. Tarvedum.
Tava æstuarium, The Frith of Tay, xiii.
Tauroedunum promontorium, xviii. v. Tarvedum.
Taus æstuarium, xliv 2. v. Tava.
Tedertis civitas, xxv.
Terdec fluvius, xxvi 2.
Termonin civitas, xxv.
Texali populi, P. of Buchan, xiv.
Thamesis fluvius, lxxix. v. Tamesis.
Thanatos insula. Thanet in Cantia, xcix 2, cii 2. v. Adtanatos.
Thule insula, Shetland, Iceland, ii 1, 2, iv 1, 2, vii 2, viii 1, 2, xv 1, 2, xvii, xix 2, xx 2, xlii 2, lxix, lxxxiii 2, lxxxiv, xci 1, 2, xcii, xcvii 2, xcviii 1, 2, c, ci 2, cii 1 2.
Thyle insula, x 1, 2, xxvi 2, lxxii 2, xcix 1, 2. v. Thule.
Tile insula, xix. v. Thule.
Tinna fluvius, The Eden in Fifia, Northesk, Tyne, xiii.
Tinoa fluvius, Teing, xxvi 2.
Tobius fluvius, The Towy, Caermartheniæ, xii 2.
Toisobis fluvius, The Conway, xii 2.
Toliapis insula, Shepey, Thanet, in Cantia, xi.
Trajectus, Henham, Bristol, in Somersetia, xxii.
Treveri, lxxxii 2, c.
Treviri, xxx, lxxii 2, lxxxii 2.
Trimontium civitas, Annand, Burrenswark Hill, Middleby, xiii 2.
Trimuntium civitas, xxvi. v. Trimontium.
Trinoantes, populi qui Middlesexiam et Essexiam incolebant, xiv 2, xv.
Trinobantes populi, xxxii 2, xxxiii, xxxviii, xlvi, lxxix. v. Trinoantes.
Tripontio, Bugby, Dowbridge, Lilburn, in Northamtonia, xxi 2.
Trisanton fluvius, The Test, Hantoniæ; Ouse, Sussexiæ, xiii.
Trutulensis portus, Richborough in Cantia; The Humber, xlviii.
Tuai æstuarium, Cromartie Frith, Murray Frith, xiii.
Tuerobis fluvius, Tyvi, Cardiganiæ, xii 2.
Tuesis civitas, Beaucastle, Nairne, Bellicon Spey, xiv.
Tuessis civitas, Berwick on Tweed, xxvi.
Tungricani milites, xxiv.
Tungri milites, xxiv 2.
Tunnocelo, Boulness in Cumbria, xxiv 2.
Turnacenses milites, xxiv.

U. V. & W.

Vacomagi, populi qui in Moravia et Atholia habitabant, xiv.
Vadeti, populi Galliæ, Caleti, vi.
Vagniacis, Northfleet, Maidstone, in Cantia, xxi.
Valentia, provincia Britanniæ, xxiii, lxxiv 2.
Valteris civitas, xxv 2, v. Verteris.
Vandali, lxxv 2, lxxx 2.
Wandali, lxxxiv 2.
Vanduaria civitas, Paisley, xiii 2.
Vara, Varar, æstuarium, Frith of Tayne, Moray Frith, Gulf of Fleet, xiii, xiv.
Varini, populi Germaniæ, xli 2.
Varis, Bodvary, St. Asaph, in agro Flintensi, xxii.
Varni, lxxxiv 1, 2, lxxxv 1, 2.
Vecta insula, xxii 2, lxvi 2, lxxii 2. v. Vectis.
Vectis insula, The Isle of Wight, xv, xvi, l.
Vectis insula, Whitehorn, viii 2.
Vecturiones, populi Britanniæ, lxxiii 2.
Vedra fluvius, The Tine, Wear, xiii.
Velabri, xix.
Velibori, Vellabori, populi Hiberniæ, xi 2. v. Ellebri.
Velox fluvius, The Ivel in Somersetia, xxvi 2.
Velunia civitas, xxvi.
Veneti, populi Galliæ, vi, xxvii, lxxix.
Venicontes, populi qui Fifiam incolebant, xiv.
Vennicnii, populi Hiberniæ, qui Tyrconnel incolebant, xi.
Vennicnium, promontorium Hiberniæ, Ramshead, Cape Bengore, xi.
Venonis, Vennonis, Cleycester, Cleybroke, in Leicestria, xxi 1, 2.

Digitized by Google

Venta, Belgarum civitas, Winchester in Hantonia, xv, xxi 2, xxii 1, 2.
Venta, Velgarum civitas, xxv. v. Venta Belgarum.
Venta, Cenomum civitas, xxv 2. v. Venta Icenorum.
Venta, Simenorum civitas, xiv 2. v. Venta Icenorum.
Venta Icenorum, Caistor in Norfolcia, xxi 2.
Venta, Silurum civitas, Caergwent in Monemuthia, xxii, xxv.
Venutio civitas, Bansey, xxvi.
Veratino civitas, xxv 2. v. Verometo.
Verginius oceanus, xi 2, xv 2.
Vergivius oceanus, xii 2, xvii 2, xviii.
Verlucione, Leckham, Spy Park, in Wiltonia, xxii 2.
Vernalis civitas, xxv.
Vernemeto, xxi 2. v. Verometo.
Verolamio, xxi 1, 2. v. Verolamium.
Verolamium, Verulam in Hertfordia, xxxviii 2.
Verometo, Willoughby in Nottinghamia, xxi 2.
Veromo civitas, xxvi.
Verteris, Brough under Stanmore, Bowes, in Eboria, xxi, 1, 2.
Vertevia civitas, xxv.
Vertis civitas, xxv.
Vervedrum promontorium, Strathy Head, Duncansby Head, xiii.
Vetasii milites, xxiv.
Veterum sive Veneris, xxiv. v. Veteris.
Vexala æstuarium, The Brent, Ivel sive Parret, Somersetiæ, xii 2.
Ugrulentum civitas, xxvi.
Ugueste civitas, xxvi.
Victoria civitas, Abernethy, Dealgin-ros, Stratherniæ, xiii 2.
Victoriæ civitas, xxvi.
Vidotara, xii.
Viduæ, fluvii Hiberniæ, ostia, Crodagh, Loch Swilly, xi.
Vienna, xl 2, lxxi, lxxx 2.
Viennenses, xl.
Villa Faustini, Dunmow in Essexia; Edmundsbury, Wulpit, in Suffolcia, xxi.
Vinderii, fluvii Hiberniæ, ostia, Carrickfergus Bay, The Lagan, xi 2.
Vindobula, Rutchester in Northumbria, xxiv 2.
Vindogladia, Cranburn, Wimbourn, Blandford in Dorsetia, xxii 1, 2.
Vindolana, Little Chesters in Northumbria, xxiv 2.
Vindolande civitas, xxv 2. v. Vindolana.
Vindomi, Farnham in Surria; The Vine in Hantonia, xxii 2.
Vindomora, Ebchester in Northumbria, xx 2.
Vindovala civitas, xxv 2. v. Vindobala.
Vinion insula, xxvi 2.
Vinnovium civitas, Binchester in Dunelmia, xiv.
Vinonia civitas, xxv 2. v. Vinnovium.
Vinovia, xx 2. v. Vinnovium.
Viroconium civitas, Wroxeter in Salopia, xiv 2.
Viroconio, xxii. v. Viroconium.
Virolanium civitas, xxv 2. v. Verolamium.
Virosido, Ellenborough, Old Carlisle, in Cumbria, xxiv 2.
Vividin fluvius, The Fowey in Cornubia, xxvi 2.
Vodiæ, populi Hiberniæ, qui Momoniam australem incolebant, xi 2.
Voliba civitas, Lestwithiel, Tregony, in Cornubia, xv.
Volitanio civitas, xxvi.
Volsas sinus, Lochbrey, Loch Assynt, xii 2.
Voluntii, populi Hiberniæ, qui Ulidiam incolebant, xi 2.
Volurtion civitas, xxv 2. v. Borcovico.
Voran civitas, Caervoran in Northumbria, xxvi.
Voreda, Old Penrith, Plumpton Wall, in Cumbria; Whelp Castle in Westmorlandia, xx 2.
Uroconio, xxi. v. Viroconium.
Urolanium civitas, xiv 2. v. Verolamium.
Usipii, xlv 2, xlvi 2.
Uterni, populi Hiberniæ, qui Desmoniam australem incolebant, xi 2.
Utriconion, Cornoninorum civitas, xxv 2. v. Viroconium.
Uxacona, Sherif Hales, Oconyate, in Salopia, xxi.
Uxela civitas, Exeter in Devonia, xv, xxvi.
Uxelis civitas, Lestwithiel in Cornubia, xxv.
Uxeludiano civitas, Hexham in Northumbria, xxv 2.
Uxelum civitas, Caerlavarock, Wardlaw, Dumfries, xiii 2.

Y.

Ypocessa civitas, xxv.

Z.

Zerdotalia civitas, xxv 2.

Digitized by Google

INDICES INSCRIPTIONUM.

INDEX I. RERUM ET NOMINUM.

A.

M. Acenna M. F. Gal. Helvius Agrippa, trib. laticla. Britanniæ leg. vicesimæ, 61.
Actor, 116.
Ædes Caracallæ posita a cohorte III. Nerviorum A.D. 213? 97.
Ædificia:—
Extructa—templum, 50, 51, 124; basilica, 23; basilica equestris, 19; cum templo, 51; balneum, 23; opus cæmenticium, 98.
Restituta—templum, 122; basilica, 76; balneum, 76, 99; horreum, 19 a; porta cum muris, 102 a; principia et armamentaria, 24; centuriæ, 26 b.
D. Ælianus, 27.
Ælianus, 43 a.
P. Ælius Marcellinus, signifer et quæstor numeri Brittonum A.D. 186; 107.
L. Æmilius Salvianus, tribunus cohortis I. Vangionum, 102, 102 a.
Agricola, 38.
C. Agricola, legatus Augustalis, proprætor Britanniæ, 91.
L. Alfenus Senecio, legatus Augustalis Britanniæ, A.D. 198-211; 16 a; amplissimus, 98; cos.? 65; vir consularis? A.D. 205-207; 102 a.
C. Alfius Restitutus, præfectus cohortis II. Brittonum equitatæ, tribunus cohortis I. Brittonum mil. equit. Flamen Divi Titi? 106.
Amandus, architectus, 125.
Fl. Ammausius, præfectus equitum, 76.
Ammonius Damionis, centurio cohortis I. Hispanorum, 92 a.
Ampeianus vel Vampeianus, 39, 39 a.
Andiatis, 120.
C. Antistius? Adventus, 102 a.
Aper eximiæ formæ captus, 75.
T. Appæus T. F. Vel. Alfinus Secundus, tribunus cohortis I. Æliæ Brittonum, præfectus cohortis IIII. Gallorum, 110.
Ἀρχιερεία, 126 c.
Architectus, 125.
Argenti massa Honorini nomine inscripta et cum nummis Honorii et Arcadii reperta, 144 a (°).
Armamentaria a Gordiano imp. restituta, 24.
L. Aruconius Verecundus, 144.
Asturum Ala I., 109.
Audagus, 116 a.
Aufidius, libertus, 52.
J. Augustalis, actor Julii Lupi præfecti, 116.
T. Aur. Aurelianus, 17.
M. Aur. Quirinus, cohortis I. legionis Gordianæ præfectus, 23, 24.
M. Aurelius Salvius, tribunus cohortis I. Æl. Hispanorum M. Equ., 19.

B.

Balnea restituta, 76, 99; balneum, 23.
Barsi Veteranus alæ I. Fl. Aug. Britton. M. C. R., 111.
Basilica instructa, 23; equestris ædificata, 19; cum templo ex voto facta, 51; vetustate collapsa a solo restituta, 76.
Belga natione, 60.
Belius, centurio legionis vicesimæ, 61 b.
Bellaunus, rex Britannorum, ad Augustum confugit, 1 a.
Biturix Cubus civis, 128.
Brigantiæ plumbum, 138.
Britannicianus natione, 113; cretarius, 126.
Britannicum bellum sub Claudio vel Nerone, 3, 4, 5.
Britannicus oceanus, 29.
Britanniæ Provinciæ:—
Legati Augustales, Proprætores:
cir. A.D. 43. Ti. Plautius Silvanus, 1;
124. Platorius Nepos, 9, 10;
133. Priscus Licinius Italicus, 12;
139. Q. Lollius Urbicus, 37;
162-180. Calpurnius Agricola, 91;
cir. 197. Virius Lupus, 16, 99;
cir. 198-211. L. Alfenus Senecio, 16 a, 65, 98, 102 a; 213. Martius Jul. Marcus, 17 a;
cir. 222-225. Marius Valerianus, 19, 66;
cir. 222-235. Maximus? 19 a;
238. Claudius Paulinus, 20;
cir. 238-244. Egn. Lucilianus, 23; Mæcilius Fuscus, 24;
242. Nonnius Philippus, 22;
254-260. Desticius Juba, 26 b;
Æræ incertæ: Cl. Xenephon, 87; Decimus Junius, 40.
Proconsules:
C. Valerius Pansa, 13;
M. Mænius Agrippa, 11, 92.
Patronus Provinciæ: M. Vettius M. F. An. Valens, 31.
Juridicus: C. Tidius Tossianus Iaonus Priscus, 30.
Præfectus alarum et cohortium: I. Neratius Marcellus, 7.
Brittones militiæ Romanæ ascripti:—
Ala Britannica mil., 104; I. Flavia Augusta Britton. mil. C. R., 111; I. Fl. Aug. Brit. M. C. R.; Juris Italici, 112; Tamue X. Brit. 104 a.
Cohortes:—
I. Brittonum, 105, 105 a; I. Brittonum mil. eq., 106; I. Flavia Brittonum, 108; I. Ælia Britton., 110; II. Britton. equit., 106; II. Flavia? Britton. equit., 11; III. Brittonum, 108 a; III. Brit. Veteranorum equit., 109; VI. Brittonum, 109 a; Turma Monta* cohortis I. Brittonum, 105; numerus Brittonum, 107; Brittonum Triputiensium, 107 a; ordo Britonum, 114 b; vigiles Brittonum, 108.

C.

O. Cæcilia . . .? præfectus cohortis I. Aquitanorum, 78.
L. Cæcilius Optatus, tribunus cohortis I. Vardullorum, 103.
M. Cæcilius Donatianus, tribunus, 126 a.
L. Cælianus, legatus Augustalis legionis sextæ, 49.
Cæmenticium opus? 98.
C. Cæp. Charitinus, tribunus numeri exploratorum, 131.
Q. Calpurnius Concessinius, præfectus equitum Cæsarensium Corionototarum, 68.
J. Camillus, evocatus Claudii in Brit., 4.
L. Cammius Maximus, præfectus I. cohortis Hispanorum equitatæ, 71.
Caurienses, Hispaniæ populus, 76 f.
Ceangi, 134, 135.
Censitor Coloniæ Camoloduni, 132.
Censor sigillorum Mercurii, 118.
Centuriæ a solo restitutæ, 26 b.
J. Certus, 118.
Ti. Claudius Cogidubnus? rex, legatus Augustalis in Brit. 124.
Ti. Claudius, Tib. filius, præfectus alæ Augustæ, 67.
Ti. Claudius Zeno Ulpian. Verræ F., tribunus confastorum, tribunus cohortis I. Fl. Brittonum, 108.
M. Cocceius Firmus, centurio leg. II. Aug., 43.
Cogidubnus? Rex, legatus Augustalis? 124.

Digitized by Google

Collegium fabricæ, 60; fabrorum, 124; ligniferorum cultorum Mercurii, 118, 119.
Con[se]cranei? milites, 103.
Consulum Paria:—
A.D. 66. C. Lucius Telesinus, C. Suetonius Paulinus, } 5;
104. M. Laberius Maximus II., Q. Glitius Atilius Agricola II., } 7; Suffecti.
124. C. Julius Gallus, C. Valerius Severus, } 9; Suffecti.
154. Commodus, Lateranus, } 58;
185. Maternus, Bradua, } 14;
186. Imp. Commodus Aug. Felix v., Glabrio II., } 107;
188. Fuscianus II., Silanus II., } 67;
191. Apronianus, Bradua, } 15, 61 (i);
207. Aper, Maximus, } 38;
208. Antoninus III., Geta, } 17;
211. Gentianus, Bassus, } 108 a;
221. Gratus, Seleucus, } 66;
238. An. Pius, Proculus, } 20;
241. Imp. Gordianus Aug. II., Pompeianus, } 21;
242. Atticus, Prætextatus, } 22;
258. Tuscus, Bassus, } 27;
Æræ incertæ { Censor II., Lepidus? II. } 76; Suffecti.
Copiæ Romanæ quæ in Britannia militaverunt:—
Legio secunda, Augusta, 10, 32-43 a;
Legio sexta, Victrix, 20, 44-52 a; in Britanniam a Germania transiit, 44;
Legio nona, 53; Alauda, 53 a;
Legio quartadecima, 54 a;
Legio vicesima, Valens, Victrix, 40, 55-61 b;
Alæ:—
I. Astorum, 65; II. Asturum, 66;
Augusta, 67;
Augusta Gordia, 22;
Classiana C.R., 6;
Indiana, 72 a;
I. Pannoniorum Tampiana, 7;
Petriana, 9, 72;
Sabiniana, 73;
Sarmatarum, 74;
Sebosiana, 75; II. Gallorum Sebosiana, 7; Sebussia, 76;
I. Thracum, 7; Thracum? 76 e;
I. Tungrorum, 6; Tungrorum, 76 c;
Vettonum, 99; Vettonum C.R., 76 f; Hispanorum Vettonum, 7;
Vocontiorum exercituus Britannici, 112 a;
Turmæ,—Albani alæ Indianæ, 72 a; Genialis alæ Thracum, 76 e.
Cohortes:—
I. Alpinorum, 7;
I. Aquitanorum, 9, 78;
I.? Asturum, 6; II. Asturum, 9, 19 a, 132;
I. Batavorum, 80; I. Bætasiorum, 7, 9, 79;
Bracarum, 80 a;
III. Bracar. Augustanorum, 7, 9;
IIII. Cæsarensium, 81;
I. Cartoviorum? 82;
I. Celtiberorum, 6;
I. Cugernorum, 7, 83;
I. Dacorum? 115; I. Ælia Dacorum, 84;
I. Delmatarum, 6? 9, 85; IIII. Delmatarum, 7;
II. Dongon? 9;
I. Frisianonum, 6, 9, 86;
II. Gallorum equitata, 69, 70; IIII. Gallorum, 88, 110; IIII. Gallorum equitata, 70 a; V. Gallorum, 89; Gallorum, 87;
I. Hamiorum, 90; I. Hamiorum Sagittariorum, 91 a; III. Hamiorum? 91;
Copiæ Romanæ quæ in Britannia militaverunt — cont.
Cohortes — cont.
I. Hispanorum, 7, 92, 92 a; I. Hispanorum equitata, 11, 71; I. Ælia Hispanorum mil. equitata, 19, 40; X. Hispanorum, 6; Hispanorum, 9;
I. Lingonum, 6, 93; II. Lingonum, 9, 94; IIII. Lingonum, 7, 12, 95;
I. Menapiorum, 9;
I. Morinorum, 7;
I. Nervana, 96; I. Nerviana mil. Germanorum equitata, 71 a; I. Nerviorum, 6; II. 9; III. 97; VI. 9, 61 b, 98;
I. Pannoniorum, 6; IV. Prætoriana, 77;
I. Sunicorum? 9;
I. Thracum, 99; II. Thracum, 7, 114 a;
I. Tungrorum, 9, 101; I. Tungrorum mil., 7, 100; II. Tungrorum Gordiana mil. eq., 21; II. Tungr. mil. equ., C.L. 76 d;
I. Valcionum mil., 7;
I. Vangionum, 9, 102, 102 a;
I. Vardullorum, 103; I. Fida Vardullorum C.R. equitata mil., 18; C.R. equ. mil. Antoniana, 76 b; I. Fida Vardullorum, 9? II. Fida Vardullorum, 6;
II. Vasconum C.R., 6;
I. Ulpia Trajana Aug. C.R., 9;
Equites,—Cæsarienses Corionototari, 68; Singulares Aug., 76 a; Centuriæ,—Sanctiana, Secundina legionis II. Aug., 43 a; Volusiana leg. II. Aug., 42; Fiari cohortis I., 63; Peregrini, 64; cohortis IIII. Prætorianæ, 77;
Decurio alæ, 112 a;
Duplaris alæ Sabinianæ, 73;
Duplares numeri exploratorum, 131;
Duplicarius alæ Tungrorum, 76 c;
Emeriti, 72;
Signifer legionis nonæ, 53; legionis quartædecimæ, 54 a.
G. Cornelius Peregrinus, tribunus cohortis ex Prov. Mauret. Cæs., 123.
Cretarius negotiator, Britannicianus, 126.
Æ. Crispinus, præfectus equitum, 22.

D.

Damno vel Domno, rex Britannorum, ad Augustum confugit, 1 a.
Dannicus eques alæ Indianæ e Rauracis, Galliæ civitate, 72 a.
Decurio Coloniæ Glevensis, 127.
Decurionum domus et ædes, 123.
Deorum dearum et rerum sacrarum nomina quibus templa vel altaria dicata erant in Britannia:—
Deus Arciacon, 126 b;
Dea Bellona, 67 a;
Deus Blatucaor? 116 a;
Bonus Eventus, 82;
Campestres et Britannicæ, 81;
Deus Cocidius, 61 a; Sanctus Cocidius, 96;
Duis? civitatis? Brigantiæ, 17;
Gadunus? 72;
Genius cohortis III. Brittonum, 108 a;
Genius loci, 82, 123;
Genius prætor? 93;
Genius et signa, 76 b;
Genius terræ Britannicæ, 43;
Genius valli, 115;
Hercules Magusanus, 76 c;
Hercules Sægon . . . 121 a;
Hercules Tyrius, 126 c;
Jupiter Optimus Maximus et Vulkanus? 24 b;
Jupiter Optimus Maximus Tanarus, 58;
Deæ Malvisiæ, 114 b;
Mogont Cad 130;
Deus Maponus, 121;
Mars Belutucadrus, 116;
Mars Braciacæ? 78;
Mars Cocidius, 43 a, 115;
Mars Militaris, 79;
Mercurius, 118, 119;
Minerva, 117, 124;
Nehalennia, 126;
Numina Augg. 17, 100, 119, 121, 126 b; dominorum nostrorum, 130;
Nymphæ, 107 a; sanctissimæ, 107.

Digitized by Google

Deus Sanctus Serapis, 50.
Deus Silvanus, 60 a, 94, 114 b. Silvanus invictus, 75.
Deus invictus Sol., 103.
Dea Sulis? 52.
Dea Syria, 91, 126 a.
Dea Vagdavera? 112 a.
Deus Vetiris Sanctus, 120.
Diodora, 126 c.
C. Domitianus, centurio legionis vicesimæ, 60 a.
T. Domitius Heron, præfectus cohortis II. Gall. equ., 69.
Dona militaria a Claudio vel Nerone donata, 3, 4, 5.
L. Duccius L. Volt. F. Rufinus, signifer legionis nonæ, 53.
Durio, 121.

E.

T. Elupius Galeria Præsens, 58.
Cl. Epaphroditus Claudianus, tribunus cohortis I. Lingonum, 93.
Eq. Singulares, 113. Aug., 114.
Evocatus a Ti. Claudio Cæsare, 4.
Ex evocato Palatino, 96.

F.

T. Fl. Felix, præfectus cohortis III. Brittonum, 108 a.
Flamen Divi Titi, 106.
Flavius? Bitucus, 72 a.
T. Flavius Crescens? eques alæ Tamue X. Brit., 104 a.
T. Fla. Secundus, præfectus cohortis I. Hamiorum Sagittariorum, 91 a.
Flavius Silvanus Dec. A . . . . fus, 104 a.
Q. Florius Maternus, præfectus cohortis I. Tungrorum, 101.
Frisiaus civis, 76 e.
V. Fronto, præfectus equitum alæ Vettonum, 99.
L. Furius L. F. Pal. Victor, tribunus legionis II. adjutricis, centurio cohortis Bracarum in Britannia, 80 a.
M. Fuscus, legatus Augustalis, proprætor, 24.

G.

A. Gabinius M. F. Quir. Priscus, vir consularis, Leg. Propr. leg. XI. Claud. Britanniæ, 54.
Gaduno? 72.
Gallorum cohors VII., 105 a.
C. Gavius L. F. Stel. Silvanus donis donatus a Divo Claudio bello Brit., 3.
Guntia, Vindeliciæ oppidum? 58.

H.

Cl. Hieronymianus, legatus leg. VI., 50.
I. Honius? Tertullus, præfectus coh. V. Gall., 89.
Honorini officina, 144 a.
Horreum Severo Alexandro imperante restitutum, 19 a.

J.

D. Juba, vir consularis, legatus Augustalis, 26 b.
C. Jul. C. Fil. Theuest Corinthianus, præfectus cohortis VII. Gallorum, tribunus cohortis I. Britonum, 105 a.
G. Jul . . . pitanus, 122.
C. Jul. Marcellinus, præfectus cohortis I. Hamiorum, 90.
M. Jul. Marcus, leg. Augustalis, P.P., 17 a.
D. Junius, legatus Augustalis, 40.
L. Junius Victorinus, 49.
Juridicus provinciæ Britanniæ, C. Tidius Tossianus Iaonus Priscus, 30.
Jus Italicum, 112.
M.? Justinus, præfectus, 67.

L.

V. Lætinianus, legatus legionis II. Aug. cir. A.D. 254–60; 26 b.
Lainianus, filius Rufini, 67 a.
Legiones:
prima, M. P. F., 109 a;
prima adjutrix, P. F., 109;
secunda adjutrix, 80 a;
tertia Augusta, 30;
quarta Flavia, 30;
undecima Claudia Britanniæ, 54;
quintadecima Apollinaris, 31;
altera vicesima, Pr. P.F., 107 a, 132 a.
Leria, Hispaniæ oppidum, 53 a.
A. Licinius Clemens, præfectus cohortis III. Hamiorum, 91.
Ligniferorum collegium, 118, 119.
Q. Lollius Urbicus, legatus Augustalis, proprætor Britanniæ, 37.
S. Longinus, tribunus cohortis I. Æliæ Dacorum, 84.
Longinus, filius Flavii Longi? domo Samosata, 59.
Fl. Longus, tribunus militum legionis vicesimæ, 59.
E. Lucilianus, legatus Augustalis, proprætor Britanniæ, 23.
Lucilianus, 39, 39 a.
J. Lupus, præfectus, 116.
V. Lupus, legatus Augustorum, proprætor Britanniæ, 16, 99.

M.

A. Macrinus, ex equitibus singularibus, 76 a.
Maelo, Cimbrorum rex, 1 a.
M. Mænius C. F. Cor. Agrippa, præfect. classis Britannicæ, proconsul provin. Britan. II., præfectus coh. I. Hisp., 11, 92.
Mais, 132 b.
T. Manus T. F. Pollia. Magnus, centurio legionis XXII., 132 a.
N. Marinianus Eq. Sing. Kas. Pr. natione Britanicianus, 113.
N. Marinianus, Nig. Marin. filius, 113.
Æ. Martinus, 21.
Martius, 115.
P. Maternus, tribunus cohortis I. Nervanæ, 96.
Mauretania Cæsariensis, 123.
C. Maximinus, 51.
A. Maximus, centurio legionis sextæ, 52.
Melacinnius Marcellus, præfectus cohortis I. Batavorum, 80.
Metallum Lutudarum, 140, 142, 143, 144.
Cn. Munatius M. F. Pal. Aurelius Bassus, præfectus coh. II. Asturum, censitor civium Romanorum coloniæ Camaloduni, 132.

N.

M. Nævius Verus Roscianus, præfectus cohortis II. Gallorum eq., 70.
F. Natalis, 72 a.
I. Neratius Marcellus, præfectus in Britannia, 7.
Pl. Nepos, legatus Augustalis, proprætor Britanniæ, 9, 10.
Nicomedia, Bithyniæ urbs, 69.
V. Nigrinus, duplicarius alæ Tungrorum, 76 c.
S. Nilus, 66.
C. Nonius C. F. An. Cæpianus . . ., præf. coh. III. Brittonum Vet. eq., tribunus leg. I. adj. P. F. præf. alæ I. Asturum, 109.

P.

Parthia, provincia, 80 a.
Cl. Paulina, 106.
C. Paulinus, legatus Augustalis, proprætor provinciæ Britanniæ, 20.
M. Petronius L. F. Men., signifer legionis quartædecimæ geminæ, 54 a.

Digitized by Google

N. Philippus, legatus Augustalis, proprætor Britanniæ, 22.
Phraates, regis Phraatis filius, 1 a.
Ti. Plautius M. F. An. Stel. Silvanus, legat. et comes Claudii Cæs. in Brit., 1.
Plumbi massæ inscriptæ per Britanniam repertæ, 133–144.
G. Pompeius M. Saturninus, præfectus cohortis II. Lingonum, 94.
M. Pontius M. F. Pup. Sabinus, trib. mil. leg. VI. Vict. cum qua ex Germania in Britanniam transiit, 44.
Portam cum muris vetustate delapsis a solo restituit cohors I. Vangionum A.D. 205-7, 102 a.
P. Postumius Acilianus, præfectus cohortis I. Delmatarum, 85.
D. Potentinus, præfectus legionis II. Aug., 26 b.
Præses N. Octavius Sabinus, 76.
Principia et armamentaria a Gordiano restituta, 24.
Cl. Priscus Licinius Italicus, leg. Aug. Britanniæ, vexillo mil. donatus in expeditione Judaica, 12.
Pudens? Pudentini filius, 124.

R.

Rami, 121.
Reges Britannorum Damno, Tim . . ., Bellaunus ad Augustum confugiunt, 1 a; Cogidubnus, 124.
Rufinus, præfectus equitum alæ Augustæ, 67 a.
Æ. Rufus, præfectus cohortis IIII. Lingonum, 95.
I. Rufus, 119.
V. Rufus, 52 a.

S.

O. Sabinus, vir consularis, præses N., 76.
Salarium militiæ, 20.
P. Sallienius vel Saltienus P. F. Mæcia, 39, 39 a.
Samosata, Commagenes urbs, 59.
S. Secundianus, tribunus cohortis, 26.
Secundinus, beneficiarius consulis, 130.
M. Secundus Silvanus, negotiator cretarius, 126.
L. Sempronius Flavinus, 53 a.
Sentius, præfectus cohortis IIII. Cæsarensium, 81.
A. Severus, præfectus coh. II. Tungrorum M. Eq. C. L., 76 d.
J. Severus, 53 a.
V. Severus, princeps? 76 d.
Sigilla Mercurii, 118.
C. Sim . . . icius Superus, 112 a.
Sinope, Paphlagoniæ urbs, 132 a.
M. Siovefius, centuriæ Vindicis, nationis Brigans, 114 a.
S. Sollennis ad legionem sextam in Britannia adsedit, 20.
V. Succius, eques, imaginifer cohortis I. Brittonum, 105.
Suebo, Marcomannorum rex, 1 a.
Sulinus, Maturi filius, 117.

T.

T. Tammon . . . Saen., 121 a.
Templum factum, 51; Serapi extructum, 50; omnium gentium restitutum, 122; Neptuni et Minervæ, 124.
L. Terentius M. F. Quir. Rufus, præfectus cohortis VI. Brittonum, centurio leg. I., donis donatus ab Imp. Trajano Bel. Dac., 109 a.
C. Tetius Veturius Micianus, præfectus alæ Sebosianæ, 75.
C. Tidius Tossianus Iaonus Priscus, juridicus provinciæ Britanniæ, 30.
Tim . . . rex Britannorum ad Augustum confugit, 1 a.
Tiridates, rex Parthorum, 1 a.
Torques cum armillis, phaleris et corona aurea a Divo Claudio donatæ, 3.
Tossia? vel toga Britannica, 20.
U. Trajanus, emeritus alæ Petrianæ, 72.
Tribunus confastorum, 108.
Trupo, 121.
Tusdrus vel Thysdrus, Africæ oppidum, 22.

U. & V.

M. Ulpius Malchius, centurio legionis XXII., 107 a.
M. Valerianus, legatus Augustalis, proprætor Britanniæ, 19, 66.
C. Valerius C. F. Claud. Pansa, proconsul Augustalis provinciæ Britanniæ, 13.
S. Valerius Genialis, eques alæ Thracum? civis Frisiaus, 76 e.
Vallum Hadriani,—res trans vallum prospere gestæ, 49; valli genius, 115.
Vallum Antonini,—opus valli, 33–36, 46–48, 56, 57, 83.
Q. Varius Vitalis, 15.
T. Varius Clemens, præfectus equitum alæ Britannicæ miliariæ, 104.
A. Verecundus ordinis Britonum, 114 b.
M. Verecundus Diogenes, sevir coloniæ Eboracensis, civis Biturix Cubus, 128;
Verecundus, eques alæ I. Fla. Aug. Brit. M. C.R. 112.
Q. Verius Superstis, præfectus cohortis I. Tungrorum, 100.
M. Vettius M. F. An. Valens, donis donatus bello Brit., 5; provinciæ Britanniæ patronus, 31.
Viducassium civitas, 20.
L. Vispius præest operi cæmenticio, Sept. Severo imperante, 98.
J. Vitalis, centurio cohortis IIII. Prætorianæ, 77.
J. Vitalis Fabriciesis, legionis vicesimæ, natione Belga, 60.
S. Vitalis Ordovix? 126 b.
. . . Vitalis, 121 a.
V. Vitalis, centurio cohortis I. Frisianonum, 86.
L. Vitellius . . . . . F. T. Ancinus, civis Hispaniæ Cauriensis, eques alæ Vettonum, 76 f.
Volca . . . us Hospeis, præfectus equitum, 88.

X.

C. Xenephon, legatus Augustalis, 87.

INDEX II. AUGUSTORUM, AUGUSTARUM, ET CÆSARUM.

A.

Ælius (L.) Cæsar, 91 a.
Alexander (Severus), imperator, 19 a; cos. A.D. 222-5; 19.
Antoninus Pius, imperator, 33, 35, 36, 46, 47, 48, 56, 57, 141; cos. III. A.D. 140–4; 83.
Aurelianus, imperator, 27 c.

C.

Caracalla, Cæsar Destinatus, 16; Augustus, 16 a, 39, 103;
Cos. II. A.D. 205-7; 102 a;
Cos. III. A.D. 208; 17;
Cos. IV. A.D. 213; 17 a, 97;
A.D. 215; 18.
Claudius (Tib.), imperator, 1, 2, 3, 4; A.D. 49; 133; ejus comes in Britannia, 1; ejus evocatus ibi, 4.
Commodus, imperator, 107.
Constantinus (Flav. Val.) Magnus, 27 g, 28.

D.

Diocletianus, imperator, 27 f, 59?
Domitianus, imperator, A.D. 81; 137, 138.

E.

Elagabalus, imperator, 66, 40?

Digitized by Google

INDICES INSCRIPTIONUM.

F.

Florianus, imperator, 27 d.

G.

Gallus et Volusianus Augg., 26, 26 a.
Gallienus, imperator, A.D. 254-260; 26 b.
Geta, nob. Cæsar, 16 a; Cæsar, 39.
Gordianus Pius, imperator, 23, 24, 24 a, 24 b;
A.D. 241; 21;
A.D. 242; 22.

H.

Hadrianus, imperator, 10, 10 a, 11, 12, 13, 32, 44, 54, 139, 140;
Britannicus, A.D. 120; 8, 8 a;
A.D. 124; 9.

J.

Julianus, imperator, 29.

M.

Mamæa (Julia) Augusta, 19 (1).
Maximianus, imperator, 59?

N.

Nero, imperator, A.D. 60-68; 134.
Numerianus, imperator, 27 e.

P.

Philippus (M. Jul.), imperator, A.D. 247; 25.
Philippus (M. Jul.), nobilissimus Cæsar, A.D. 247; 25.
Postumus (Cassianius Latinius), imperator, 26 c.

S.

Severus (Septimius), imperator, 16, 16 a, 39, 98.
A.D. 205-7; 102 a.

T.

Trajanus, imperator, 13. A.D. 104; 7. A.D. 105-6; 6.
Tranquillina (Sabinia), Gordiani III. uxor, 22.
Tetricus, imperator, 27 b.
Titus, imperator, 106. A.D. 76; 136.

V.

Valerianus, imperator, A.D. 254-260; 26 b.
Valerianus, nobilissimus Cæsar, A.D. 254-260; 26 b.
Verus (Lucius), imperator, 141.
Vespasianus, imperator, 13. A.D. 74; 135. A.D. 76; 136.
Victorinus, imperator, 27 a.
Volusianus, imperator, A.D. 252; 26, 26 a.

INDEX III. GEOGRAPHICUS BRITANNIÆ.

A.

Aballava, Watchcross, 132 b.
Amboglanna, Burdoswald, 132 b.

B.

Banna, statio militum, 132 b.
Bremenium, Riechester, 131.
Bracchium, Brough? 98.
Brigantes, 114 a, 138;
Brigantia, 125; civitas? 17.

C.

Camolodunum, colonia Victricensis, Colchester, 132.
Catuvellaunorum civitas, 129.

D.

Durocorrem? 104 a.

E.

Eboracum, colonia, York, 128.

G.

Glevum, colonia, Gloucester, 127.

H.

Habitancum, Riechester, 130.

L.

Lutudæ, Chesterfield, 140, 142, 143, 144.

R.

Ratæ, Leicester, 8 a.

T.

Tamue, 104 a.
Triputienses, Rugby? 107 a, 132 a.

U.

Uxellodunum, 132 b.

Digitized by Google

REMARKS

ON THE

ANCIENT BRITISH COINS.

VERY little can be said with certainty concerning the coinage of the Britons antecedent to the Roman invasion, though many distinguished numismatists now entertain little doubt that the Britons were acquainted with and practised the art of coining previously to that event. The existence of a large number of coins found in various parts of the island (the types and fabric of some of which are unlike any which have been discovered in other countries, and have all the appearance of being some centuries older than Julius Cæsar's first expedition into Britain,) appears greatly to support that opinion.

The few notices relative to the subject found in the works of the Roman writers may not lead to this conviction, but they are not inconsistent with it. Strabo (Lib. III. p. 239) states that the commerce of the Britons with foreign nations was carried on by means of barter; Cæsar, according to the less favourable version, says, that the Britons used "aut "ære aut taleis ferreis ad certum pondus examinatis pro nummo" (1); and Solinus writes, "Nummum refutant, dant res et accipiunt, mutationibus necessaria potius quam pretiis "parant." Each of these statements may be correct as to some parts of the island, and incorrect as to others. Their authors must have written more from extraneous information than from their own personal knowledge; for it is not probable that either Strabo or Solinus were ever in Britain; and Cæsar, in his two hasty visits, could have known comparatively little of the internal manners and customs of the country he was invading. Britain was then divided into several territories, which may have been in different stages of civilization; in some nothing but agriculture was pursued, while in others manufactures prevailed. Where the metals abounded, an extensive foreign commerce was probably carried on; and the British Merchant who exported his gold and silver would accept in return the produce of foreign countries, and might reasonably object to receive, in exchange for his pure metal, the same metals extremely debased in the shape of coin; the foreign trader might also prefer carrying home a cargo of the productions of Britain to returning with unladen ships; that is, each found it more profitable and convenient to exchange the productions of his own country for those of the others than to use money. Thus the accounts of Strabo and Solinus may be both true; and yet the Britons may have had an extensive metallic currency for domestic purposes. The statement cannot be strained to mean that they did not know its use, though their dealings with other nations were conducted without the intervention of money; and it is quite reasonable to believe that a preference was given in commercial dealings to barter, without denying the existence of a metallic currency.

It affords, therefore, a fair inference, that if the Britons refused to take foreign money in exchange for their merchandize, and coins considerably older than Julius Cæsar's invasion are found in the island, the money so found must have been coined in the national mints of this country, and not brought hither in the way of commerce; and this view of the question is confirmed by the passage in Cæsar as adduced by Mr. Hawkins.

It should, however, be remarked, that the French numismatists have claimed as Gallic the coins which are called British, though they have not made out any title to their appropriation. It has been broadly stated, that the Britons were too barbarous to need a coinage; but if that were the case, surely the Gauls could have had just as little need of a metallic currency, as they were at that time little more, if at all, advanced in civilisation than their British neighbours. It is absurd to suppose that one only of two nations, so nearly allied to each other in religion and manners as were the Gauls and Britons, and

(1) Mr. Hawkins has collated all the principal manuscripts of Cæsar within his reach in England and on the Continent, and he states that they all give the reading of the passage thus: "utuntur aut ære aut nummo aureo "aut annulis ferreis ad certum pondus examinatis pro nummo." He also states, that Scaliger, in the seventeenth century, was the first person who altered the passage to "aut ære aut taleis ferreis ad certum pondus examinatis."

Digitized by Google

carrying on together an extensive commerce, should have known the use of money. It may, therefore, be assumed, that if the Gauls had an established metallic currency before the time of Julius Cæsar's invasion of this island, which to a certainty they had, so also had the Britons.

It may, however, be asked, if the trade of the Britons were carried on through the medium of barter, how comes it that coins, which are claimed as British from being found in the island, have been also found in Gaul? The answer is obvious. It does not follow that, because the Britons generally declined to take foreign money, the Gauls, in return, refused British coins; the custom may have been general but not universal; and hence it is that some British coins have been found in Gaul, and Gallic coins discovered in Britain. It must be remembered, in favour of the British claim, that there are extant coins peculiar to this island, or, rather, coins have been discovered here unlike any which are found in any other country, such as those, for instance, which have inscriptions on tablets.

There is, undoubtedly, a great resemblance between some of the British and Gallic coins; both are thick, and dished, and appear to have been rudely formed after the model of the Grecian coins. There is, nevertheless, as marked a distinction between them as between the British coins which were minted here after the Roman invasion. The reign of Cunobelin may be considered as the time when British coins reached their highest perfection.

After the expedition of Claudius, and his establishment of the Roman power in Britain, the Britons discontinued the art of coining; and the Roman money consequently superseded all others then in use in the island, and became the only circulating medium of the country. (1)

Camden was the first who claimed and established a coinage for the inhabitants of his country, he has assigned about eighteen different types to Cunobelin, Boadicea, Caractacus, &c.; but there are as many as seventy-two other types still extant. Pegge, however, who wrote an essay on the coinage of Cunobelin, was of opinion, though without sufficient authority, that no British coins except those of that prince were genuine; and he considered that there were about forty different types belonging to that monarch alone. But as so much uncertainty on this subject prevails it has been thought advisable to give only a selection from those types which are undoubtedly genuine, and about which there is no dispute, and to leave farther discussion on this interesting subject to the numismatists.

ROMAN COINS RELATING TO BRITAIN.

The admirable custom of the Romans of recording remarkable and memorable events upon their coins and medals has been of great service in elucidating their history, for a coin often fixes the date and place of an event which is either only obscurely hinted at in the pages of the historian, or perhaps is altogether unnoticed by him. "If all the Roman "historians were lost to us," says Gibbon, "the medals, inscriptions, and other monuments "would be sufficient to record the travels of Hadrian;" "and without the help of medals "and inscriptions we should be ignorant of a fact most honourable to the memory of "Antoninus Pius." (2)

As Mr. Petrie intended to confine his collection for this branch of the Materials for the History of Britain to those coins having direct mention of Britain, it will not be necessary to refer to those which have been found in Britain, those of Carausius and Allectus being of course excepted, as they were British Roman Emperors who never exercised sovereign authority out of this island; consequently, though their coins bear no allusion to Britain, yet they were for the use of the island.

The Catalogue of the Coins has been prepared by Mr. John Doubleday, of the British Museum, to whose intelligence and great numismatic experience the writer of these pages is indebted for much valuable assistance.

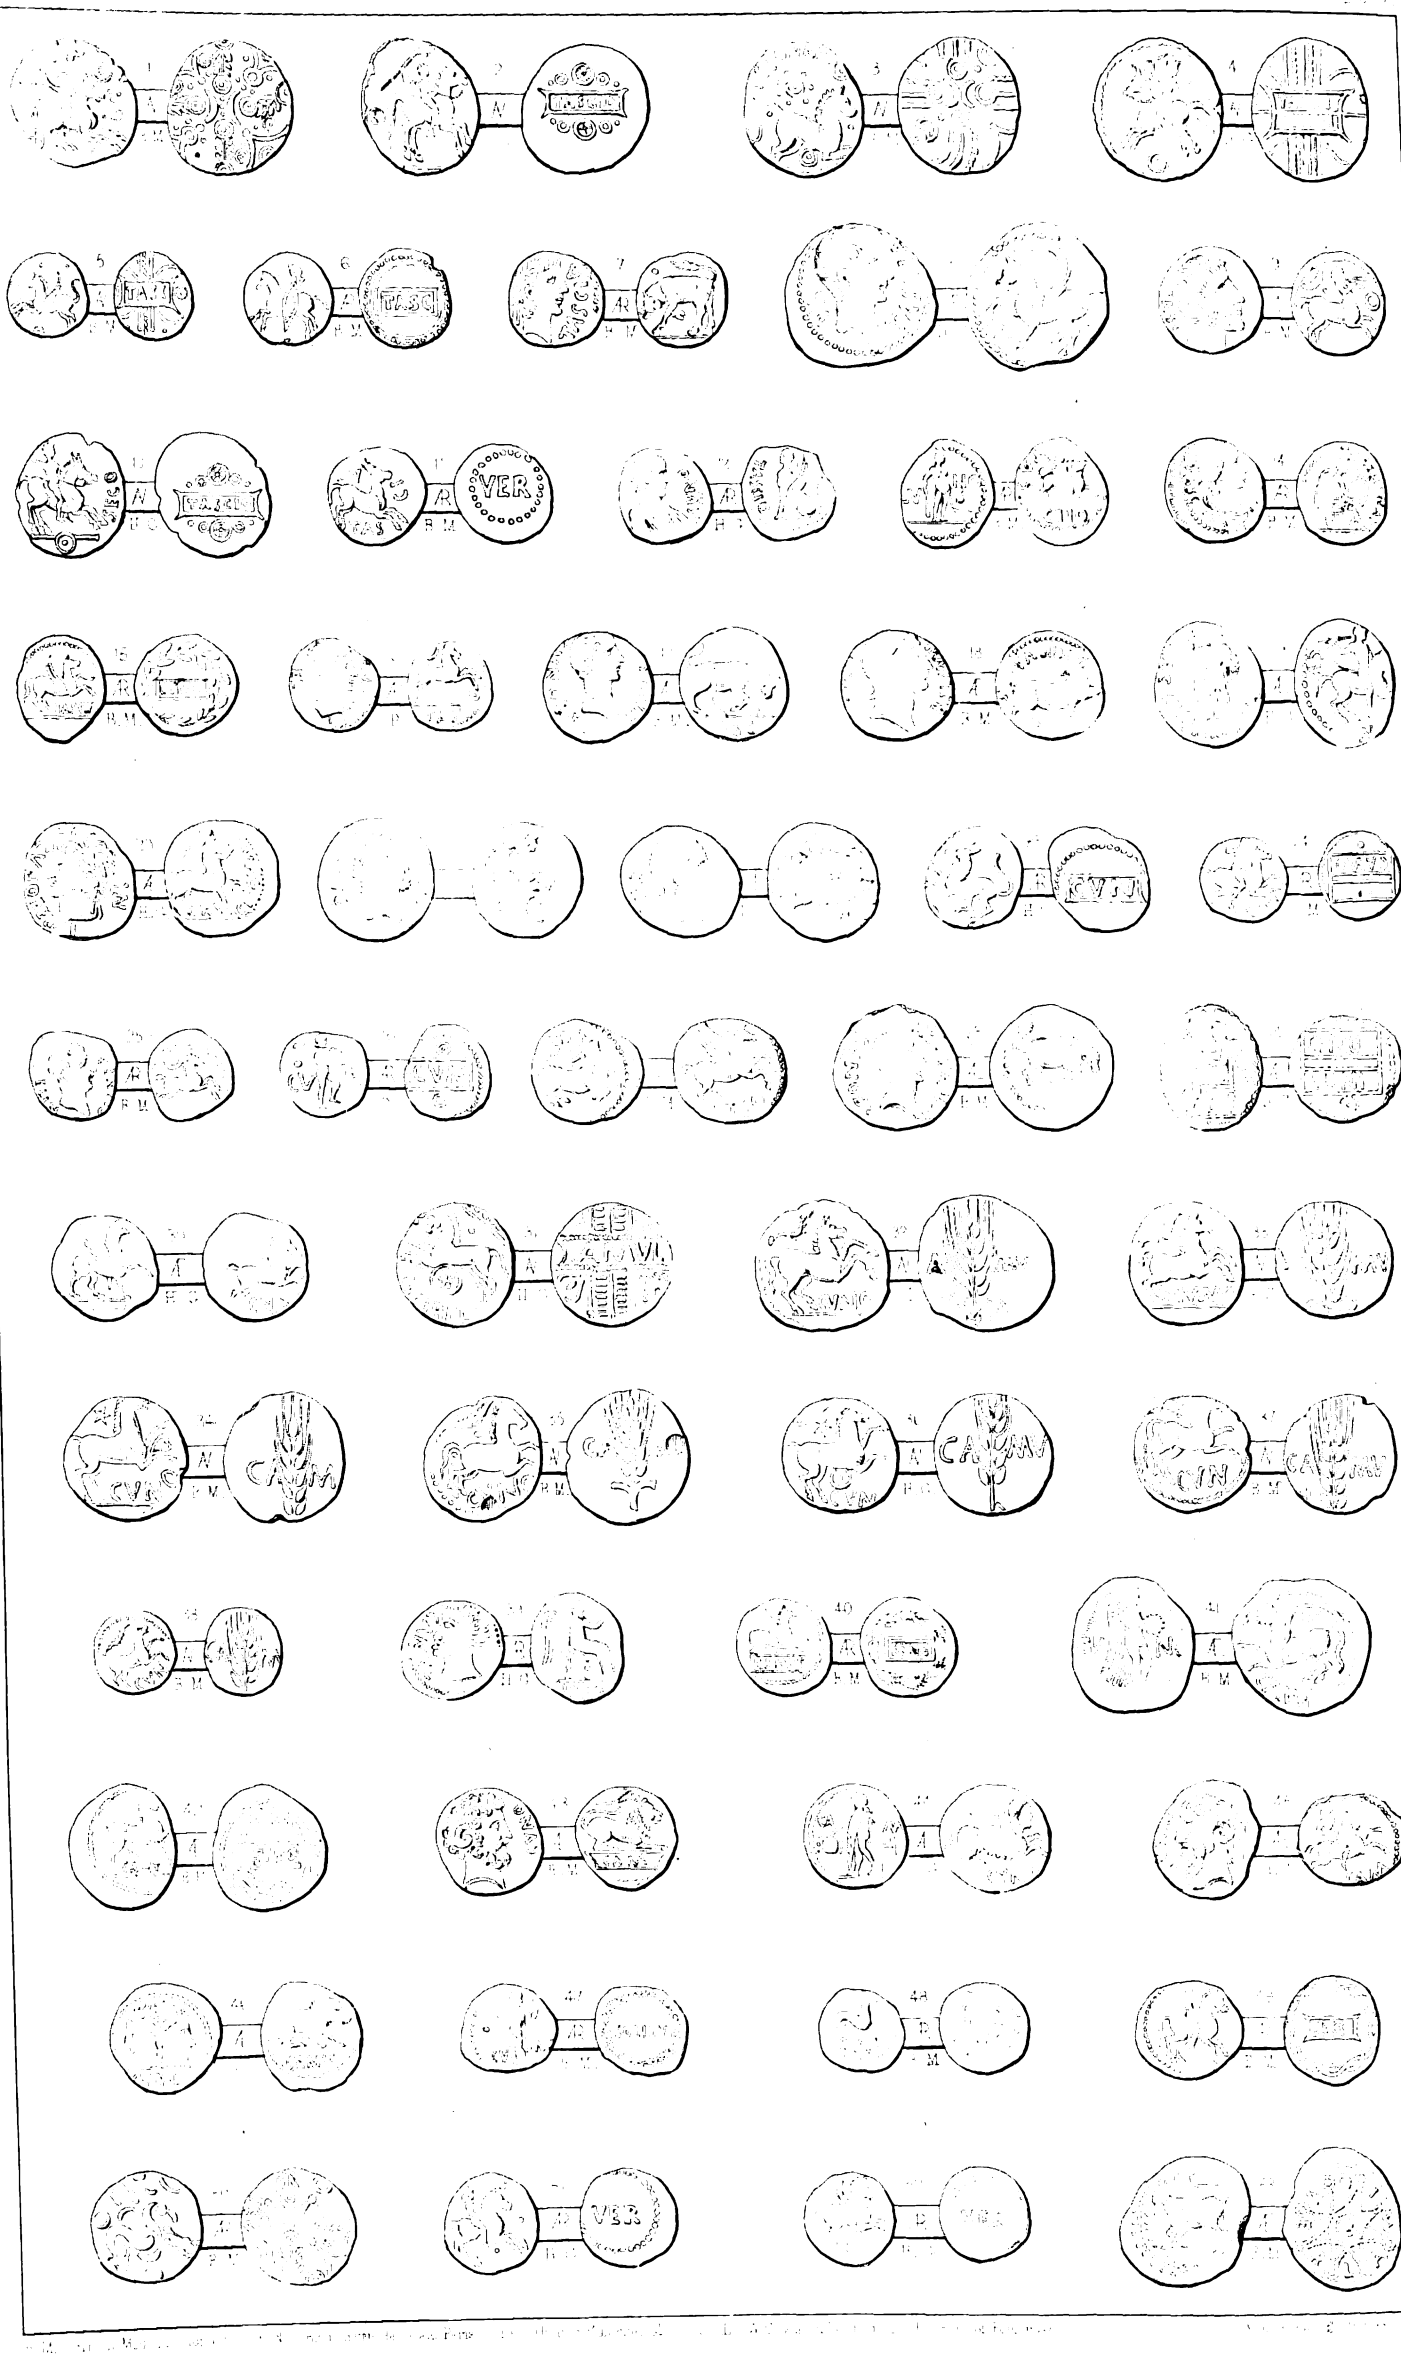
---

(1) This opinion is confirmed by the statement of Gildas, who, speaking of the Roman yoke in this island, complains, "that it was no longer thought to be Britain, but a Roman island, and all their money, whether of copper, "gold, or silver, was stamped with the effigy of Cæsar."

(2) Gibbon's Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, Cap. i. p. 10, and Cap. iii. p. 101.

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google



DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE OF THE COINS.

BRITISH COINS, PLATE I.

TASCIOVANUS.*

1. TASC. Horseman galloping to the right, in the act of striking with a war club; in front, a wheel and three pellets; behind, a wheel.
   ℞. A floral ornament in the form of a cross. British Museum. N.
2. Horseman galloping to the right, same as the last, but one wheel only, and that behind the horse.
   ℞. TASCIO. on a tablet; above and below it a wheel, two circles, and two pellets. W. C. Loscombe, Esq. N.
3. TASCIOVANI. Horse galloping to the right; above, a circle surrounded by pellets; below, another circle.
   ℞. Floral ornament in the form of a cross. British Museum. N.
4. Horseman galloping to the left, in the act of striking with a short sword; below, a circle.
   ℞. TASCI. RICONI. on a double tablet, upon a cruciform ornament, and a broad band of five lines. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. N.
5. Pegasus going to the left; above, two pellets; in front, a circle; below, another.
   ℞. TASC. on a tablet; similar ornament to the last. British Museum. N.
6. Horseman galloping to the left, with a long pointed shield.
   ℞. TASC. on a tablet, within a dotted circle. British Museum. R.
7. TASCIA. Laureated head to the right, unbearded.
   ℞. Bull butting to the left; above, a pellet. British Museum. R.
8. TASCIAVA. Unbearded head to the right.
   ℞. TA. Pegasus standing, his fore leg raised. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.
9. TASC. Bearded head to the right.
   ℞. Centaur galloping to the right, playing upon the double pipe; in front, a circle; above, a crescent and pellet. British Museum. Æ.

TASCIOVANUS with SEGO.

10. SEGO. Horseman galloping to the right; below, a circle.
    ℞. TASCIO on a tablet; above and below, a wheel, two circles, and two pellets. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. N.

TASCIOVANUS with VER.

11. TASCIA. Horse galloping to the right.
    ℞. VER within a dotted circle. British Museum. R.

TASCIOVANUS with CUNOBELIN.

12. CVNO. Draped bust to the right.
    ℞. TASCIO. Sphinx seated to the left. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. R.
13. CVNO. Hercules standing with his club and the lion's skin.
    ℞. TASCIIOVA. Female riding upon a lion. British Museum. R.
14. TASCIOV. Unbearded head to the right.
    ℞. CVNOBELIN. Apollo seated playing on the lyre; behind, a tree. British Museum. R.
15. TASCF. Pegasus galloping to the right.
    ℞. CVNO on a tablet, within a wreath of laurel. British Museum. R.
16. CVNOBELIN. Unbearded head to the right.
    ℞. TASCIO. Horse galloping to the right; above, a crescent. Earl of Pembroke, now J. Huxtable, Esq. R.
17. CVNOBELINVS. Head laureated to the right, unbearded ℞. TASC. Bull walking to the right. British Museum. Æ.
18. CVNOBELINVS. Head helmeted to the right, unbearded.
    ℞. TASCIIOVANI F. Pig walking to the right. British Museum. Æ.
19. TASCIIOVA. Warrior standing with his shield and spear.
    ℞. CVN. Horseman galloping to the right. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.
20. CVNOBELINI. Head laureated to the left.
    ℞. TASCIOVA. Centaur walking to the right, playing the double pipes. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.
21. CVNOBELIN. Head of Medusa to the left.
    ℞. TASCIO. Figure seated, at work upon a metallic vase. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.
22. CVNO. Head helmeted to the right, unbearded.
    ℞. TASCIIOVANI F. Pig walking to the right. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

CUNOBELIN only.

23. A wolf? in the act of fighting to the left.
    ℞. CVN. upon a tablet; above, a dotted half circle. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. R.
24. Horseman galloping to the right; some letters, illegible.
    ℞. CVNO IIII. retrograde in two lines upon a tablet; above, a pellet. British Museum. R.
25. CVNOBELIN. Head to the right, unbearded.
    ℞. Horse galloping to the right; above, a crescent. British Museum. R.
26. CVN. Hercules standing, holding his club upon his right shoulder; behind him a pellet.
    ℞. CVN. upon a tablet; a circle above and below, surrounded by a dotted circle. Earl of Pembroke. R.
27. Victory sacrificing a bull.
    ℞. . . . . NO. Pegasus galloping to the right. British Museum. Æ.
28. CVNOBELINVS REX. Head to the right, unbearded.
    ℞. Bull walking to the right; a portion of a dotted circle at its back. British Museum. Æ.
29. Victory seated to the left, holding a wreath.
    ℞. CVNOB ELINI. in two lines upon a double tablet; below, a circle. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.
30. A griffin walking to the right.
    ℞. CVN. Horse galloping to the right. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

CUNOBELIN with CAMVL.

31. . . . NOBELI. Two horses galloping to the left; below, a wheel.
    ℞. CAMVL. on a tablet upon a floral column. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. N.

---

* Supposed to be the father of Cunobelin. See Mr. Birch's learned dissertations on the Coins of Cunobelin, read before the Numismatic Society.

Digitized by Google

32. CVNO. Horse galloping to the right; above, a branch.
R. . . AMV. An ear of barley; below, two circles. British Museum. N.

33. CVNO. Horse galloping to the right; above, a branch.
R. . . AMV. An ear of barley. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. N.

34. CVNO. Horse galloping to the right; above it a star; between his fore legs a heart-shaped ornament.
R. CAM. An ear of barley. British Museum. N.

35. CVNO. Horse galloping to the right; above, a branch and pellet; below the tail a pellet.
R. CAM. An ear of barley. British Museum. N.

36. CVN. Horse galloping to the right; above, a star and branch; below, a circle.
R. CAMV. An ear of barley. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. N.

37. CVN. Horse galloping to the right; above, a branch and pellet.
R. CAMV. An ear of barley and a small cross. British Museum. N.

38. CVN. Horse prancing to the right; above, a branch.
R. CAM. An ear of barley. British Museum. N.

39. CAMVL. Head to the left.
R. CVNO. Winged figure seated to the right. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. R.

40. CAMV inscribed upon a base, on which rests a griffin.
R. CVNO upon a tablet, within a wreath. British Museum. R.

41. CVNO. A winged figure holding a wreath.
R. CAMV. Pegasus going to the left. British Museum. Æ.

42. CAMV. Horse walking to the right.
R. CVNO. on a tablet, within a wreath. British Museum. Æ.

43. CVNO. Head of Jupiter Ammon to the right.
R. CAM inscribed on a base, upon which rests a lion, under a branch. British Museum. Æ.

44. CAM. A draped figure standing between a vase and a building.
R. CVNO. Winged sphinx reposing. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

45. CVNO. Head of Jupiter Ammon to the left.
R. CAM. A horseman galloping to the right, armed with a short sword and circular shield. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

46. CVNO. Youthful head of Janus.
R. CAMV. Boar reposing. Earl of Pembroke, now in the British Museum. Æ.

CUNOBELIN with SOLIDV.

47. CVNO. Draped figure standing, holding a pair of scales?
R. SOLIDV within a twisted wreath. British Museum. R.

CUNOBELIN with A or V.

48. CVN. A capricorn.
R. A or V in a circle, within a wreath. British Museum. R.

49. Horseman walking to the right.
R. SEGO. on a tablet, within a twisted wreath. British Museum. R.

CUNOBELIN with VERULUMUM.

50. A rude representation of a horse and chariot.
R. VER. between the limbs of a floral cross. British Museum. R.

51. Horseman galloping to the right; in the field two pellets.
R. VER. within a dotted circle. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. R.

52. Horseman galloping to the right.
R. VER. within a dotted circle. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. R.

53. Bull walking to the left, within a wreath.
R. VERLAMIO. between the points of a star. British Museum. Æ.

PLATE II.

1. TI. CLAVD. CAESAR AVG. GERM. P.M. TR. P. Head of Claudius laureated, to the left.
R. DE BRITANNIS. The Emperor, holding a sceptre surmounted by an eagle, in a quadriga going to the right. British Museum. R.

2. TI. CLAVD. CAESAR AVG. P.M. TR. P. VIIII. IMP. XVI. Head of Claudius laureated, to the right.
R. DE BRITANN. inscribed on the front of an arch surmounted by an equestrian statue between two trophies. British Museum. N.

3. HADRIANVS AVG. COS. III. P.P. Head of Hadrian laureated, to the right.
R. BRITANNIA. Female seated, her right foot placed upon a rock, her head reclining upon her right hand, the elbow upon her knee, her left arm resting upon an oval shield, and holding a spear; below, S.C. British Museum. Æ 1.

4. HADRIANVS AVG. COS. III. P.P. Head of Hadrian laureated, to the right; his shoulders draped.
R. BRITANNIA. Female seated the same as No. 3. British Museum. Æ 2.

5. IMP. CAESAR TRAIANVS HADRIANVS AVG. Head of Hadrian laureated, to the right.
R. PONT. MAX. TR. POT. COS. III. Female seated the same as No. 3.; below, BRITANNI; in the field, S.C. British Museum. Æ 2.

6. HADRIANVS AVG. COS. III. P.P. Head of Hadrian laureated, to the right; the shoulders draped.
R. ADVENTVS AVG. BRITANNIAE. The emperor in the toga, his right hand elevated, addressing a female, between them an altar and a victim; below, S.C. Captain Smyth, R.N. Æ 1.

7. HADRIANVS AVG. COS. III. P.P. Head of Hadrian to the right, the shoulder draped.
R. EXERC. BRITANNI. The emperor on horseback, to the right; his hand elevated, addressing four standard-bearers; below, S.C. British Museum. Æ 1.

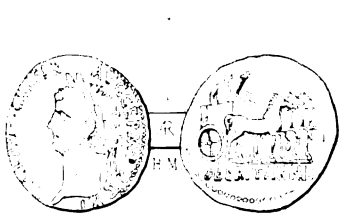
8. ANTONINVS AVG. PIVS P.P. TR. P. COS. III. Head of Antoninus laureated, to the right.
R. IMPERATOR II. Victory walking on a globe, to the left; holds in her right hand a wreath, in her left a palm branch, BRI & TAN on each side of the globe. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. N.

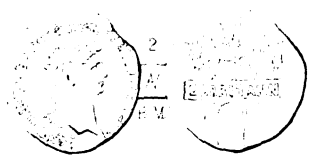
9. ANTONINVS AVG. PIVS P.P. TR. P. COS. III. Head of Antoninus laureated, to the right.
R. IMPERATOR. II. Victory walking on a globe, to the left; holds in her right hand a wreath, in her left a palm branch; across the field BRI TAN. S.C. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. Æ 1.

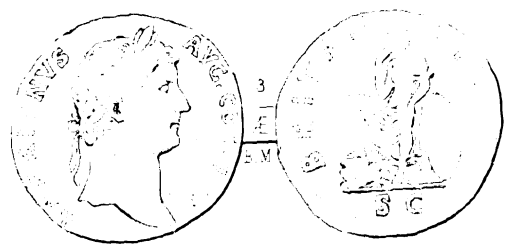
10. ANTONINVS AVG. PIVS P.P. TR. P. COS. III. Head of Antoninus laureated, to the right.
R. BRITANNIA. A draped figure* seated on a pile of rocks, holds in the right hand a military standard, the left arm rests on an oval shield, with a spiked boss,

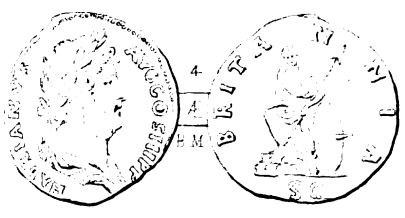
* This figure in costume and character is similar to that of Rome which occurs on the coins of Hadrian, Antoninus Pius, and other Emperors. It therefore probably represents Rome seated on the rocky island of Britain. It is not likely that the Romans would personify a conquered country with the military insignia of the conquerors.

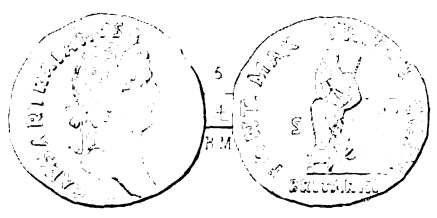
Digitized by Google

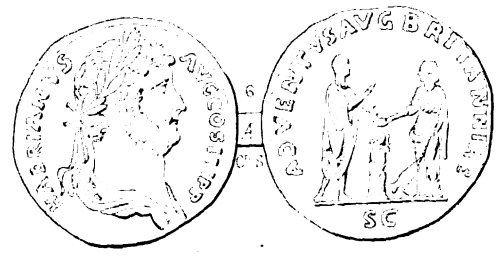


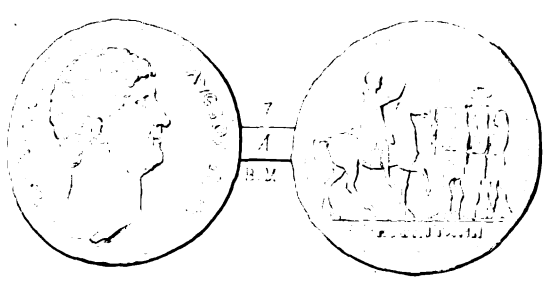


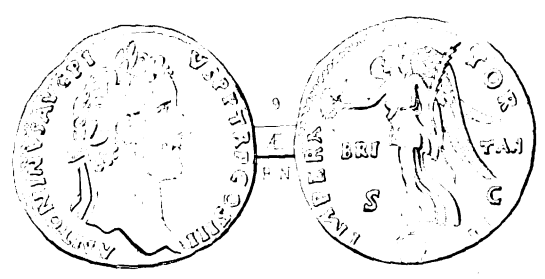


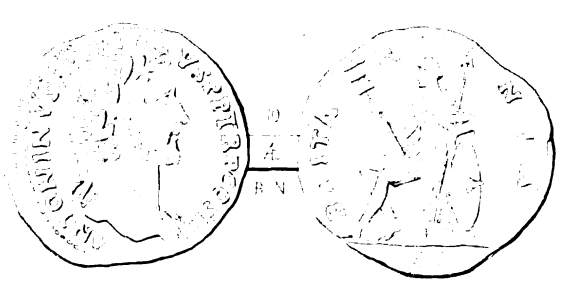


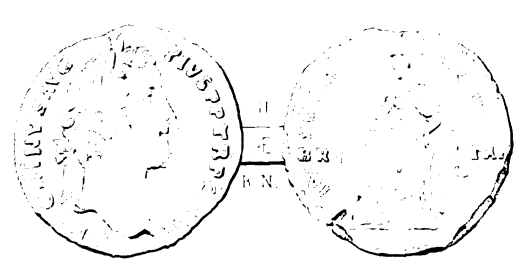


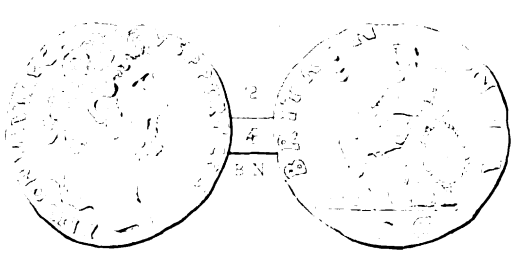


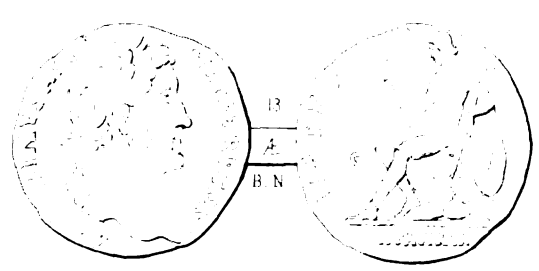


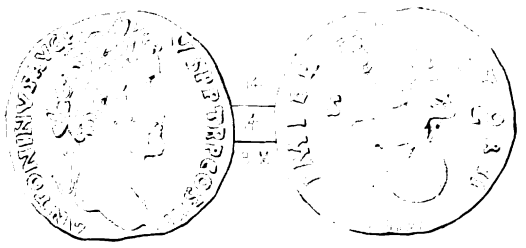


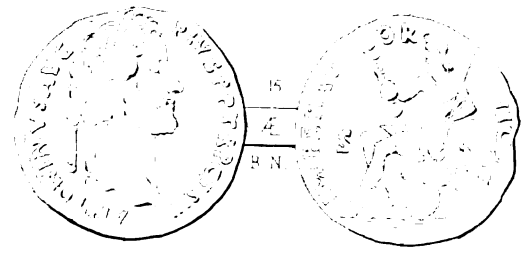


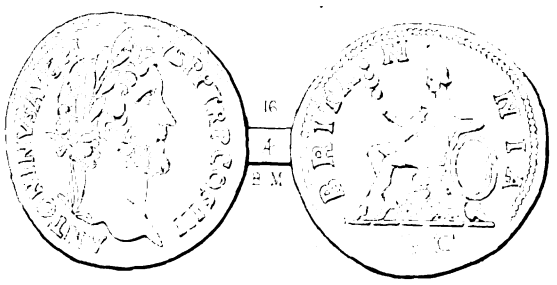


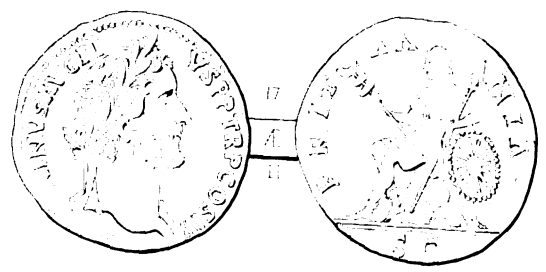












Digitized by Google

32. CVNO. Horse galloping to the right; above, a branch.
℞. . . AMV. An ear of barley; below, two circles. N.
British Museum.

33. CVNO. Horse galloping to the right; above, a branch.
℞. . . AMV. An ear of barley. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. N.

34. CVNO. Horse galloping to the right; above it a star; between his fore legs a heart-shaped ornament.
℞. CAM. An ear of barley. British Museum. N.

35. CVNO. Horse galloping to the right; above, a branch and pellet; below the tail a pellet.
℞. CAM. An ear of barley. British Museum. N.

36. CVN. Horse galloping to the right; above, a star and branch; below, a circle.
℞. CAMV. An ear of barley. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. N.

37. CVN. Horse galloping to the right; above, a branch and pellet.
℞. CAMV. An ear of barley and a small cross. British Museum. N.

38. CVN. Horse prancing to the right; above, a branch.
℞. CAM. An ear of barley. British Museum. N.

39. CAMVL. Head to the left.
℞. CVNO. Winged figure seated to the right. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. R.

40. CAMV inscribed upon a base, on which rests a griffin.
℞. CVNO upon a tablet, within a wreath. British Museum. R.

41. CVNO. A winged figure holding a wreath.
℞. CAMV. Pegasus going to the left. British Museum. Æ.

42. CAMV. Horse walking to the right.
℞. CVNO. on a tablet, within a wreath. British Museum. Æ.

43. CVNO. Head of Jupiter Ammon to the right.
℞. CAM inscribed on a base, upon which rests a lion, under a branch. British Museum. Æ.

44. CAM. A draped figure standing between a vase and a building.
℞. CVNO. Winged sphinx reposing. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

45. CVNO. Head of Jupiter Ammon to the left.
℞. CAM. A horseman galloping to the right, armed with a short sword and circular shield. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

46. CVNO. Youthful head of Janus.
℞. CAMV. Boar reposing. Earl of Pembroke, now in the British Museum. Æ.

CUNOBELIN with SOLIDV.

47. CVNO. Draped figure standing, holding a pair of scales?
℞. SOLIDV within a twisted wreath. British Museum. R.

CUNOBELIN with A or V.

48. CVN. A capricorn.
℞. A or V in a circle, within a wreath. British Museum. R.

49. Horseman walking to the right.
℞. SEGO. on a tablet, within a twisted wreath. British Museum. R.

CUNOBELIN with VERULUMUM.

50. A rude representation of a horse and chariot.
℞. VER. between the limbs of a floral cross. British Museum. R.

51. Horseman galloping to the right; in the field two pellets.
℞. VER. within a dotted circle. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. R.

52. Horseman galloping to the right.
℞. VER. within a dotted circle. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. R.

53. Bull walking to the left, within a wreath.
℞. VERLAMIO. between the points of a star. British Museum. Æ.

PLATE II.

1. TI. CLAVD. CAESAR AVG. GERM. P.M. TR. P. Head of Claudius laureated, to the left.
℞. DE BRITANNIS. The Emperor, holding a sceptre surmounted by an eagle, in a quadriga going to the right. British Museum. R.

2. TI. CLAVD. CAESAR AVG. P.M. TR. P. VIIII. IMP. XVI. Head of Claudius laureated, to the right.
℞. DE BRITANN. inscribed on the front of an arch surmounted by an equestrian statue between two trophies. British Museum. N.

3. HADRIANVS AVG. COS. III. P.P. Head of Hadrian laureated, to the right.
℞. BRITANNIA. Female seated, her right foot placed upon a rock, her head reclining upon her right hand, the elbow upon her knee, her left arm resting upon an oval shield, and holding a spear; below, S.C. British Museum. Æ 1.

4. HADRIANVS AVG. COS. III. P.P. Head of Hadrian laureated, to the right; his shoulders draped.
℞. BRITANNIA. Female seated the same as No. 3. British Museum. Æ 2.

5. IMP. CAESAR TRAIANVS HADRIANVS AVG. Head of Hadrian laureated, to the right.
℞. PONT. MAX. TR. POT. COS. III. Female seated the same as No. 3.; below, BRITANNI; in the field, S.C. British Museum. Æ 2.

6. HADRIANVS AVG. COS. III. P.P. Head of Hadrian laureated, to the right; the shoulders draped.
℞. ADVENTVS AVG. BRITANNIAE. The emperor in the toga, his right hand elevated, addressing a female, between them an altar and a victim; below, S.C. Captain Smyth, R.N. Æ 1.

7. HADRIANVS AVG. COS. III. P.P. Head of Hadrian to the right, the shoulder draped.
℞. EXERC. BRITANNI. The emperor on horseback, to the right; his hand elevated, addressing four standard-bearers; below, S.C. British Museum. Æ 1.

8. ANTONINVS AVG. PIVS P.P. TR. P. COS. III. Head of Antoninus laureated, to the right.
℞. IMPERATOR II. Victory walking on a globe, to the left; holds in her right hand a wreath, in her left a palm branch, BRI ⅋ TAN on each side of the globe. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. N.

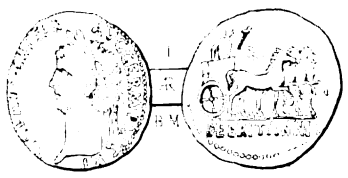
9. ANTONINVS AVG. PIVS P.P. TR. P. COS. III. Head of Antoninus laureated, to the right.
℞. IMPERATOR. II. Victory walking on a globe, to the left; holds in her right hand a wreath, in her left a palm branch; across the field BRI TAN. S.C. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. Æ 1.

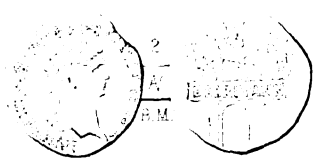
10. ANTONINVS AVG. PIVS P.P. TR. P. COS. III. Head of Antoninus laureated, to the right.
℞. BRITANNIA. A draped figure* seated on a pile of rocks, holds in the right hand a military standard, the left arm rests on an oval shield, with a spiked boss,

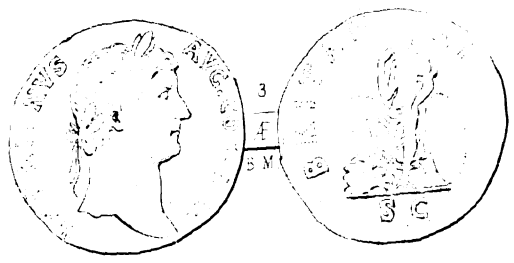
---

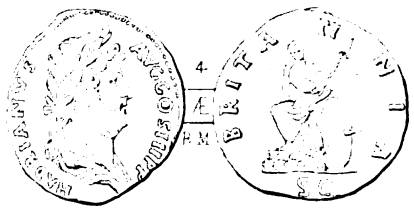
* This figure in costume and character is similar to that of Rome which occurs on the coins of Hadrian, Antoninus Pius, and other Emperors. It therefore probably represents Rome seated on the rocky island of Britain. It is not likely that the Romans would personify a conquered country with the military insignia of the conquerors.

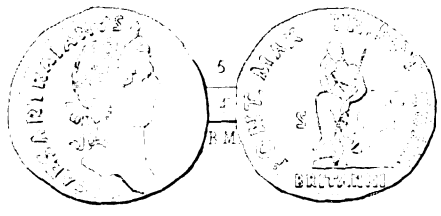
Digitized by Google

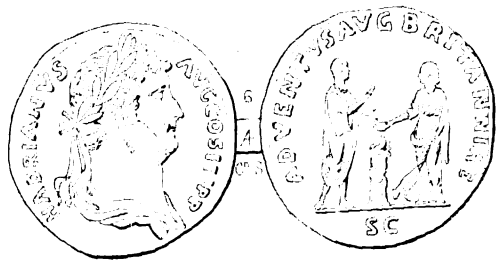


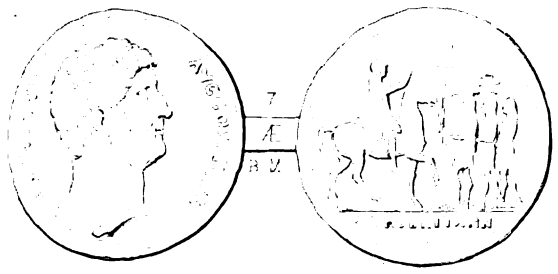


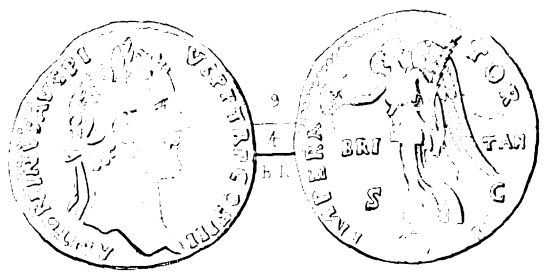


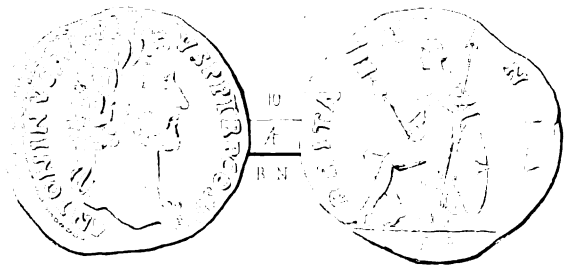


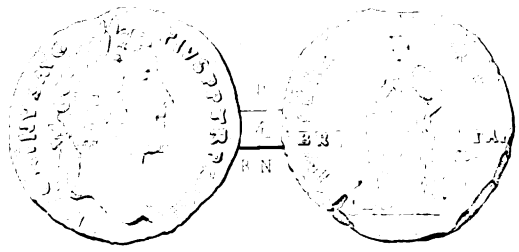


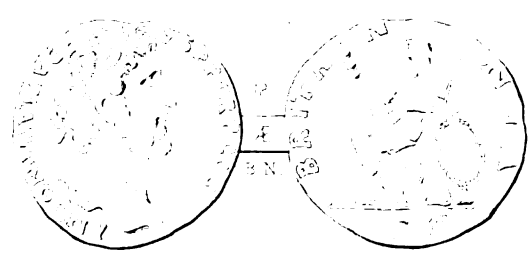


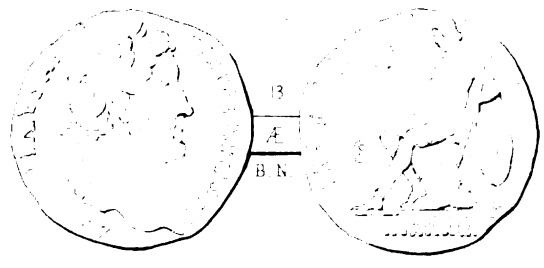


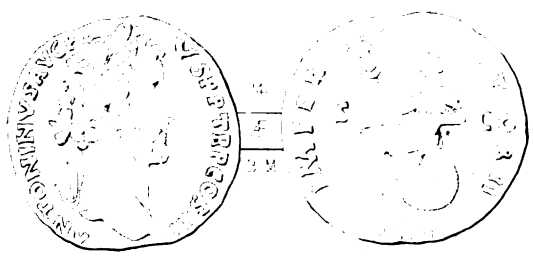


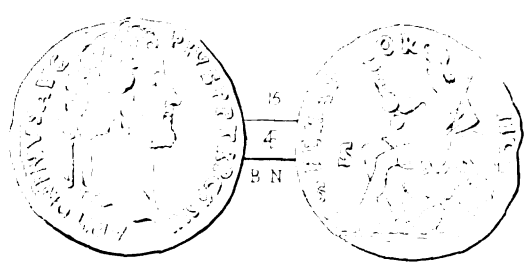


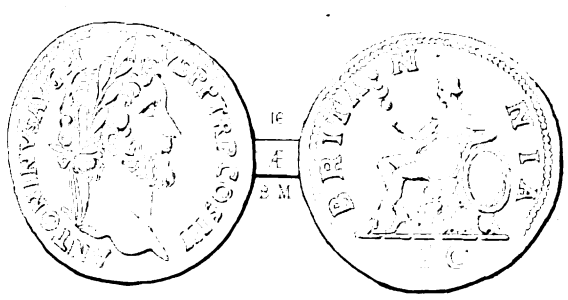


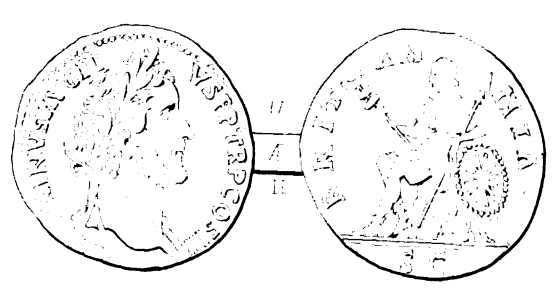








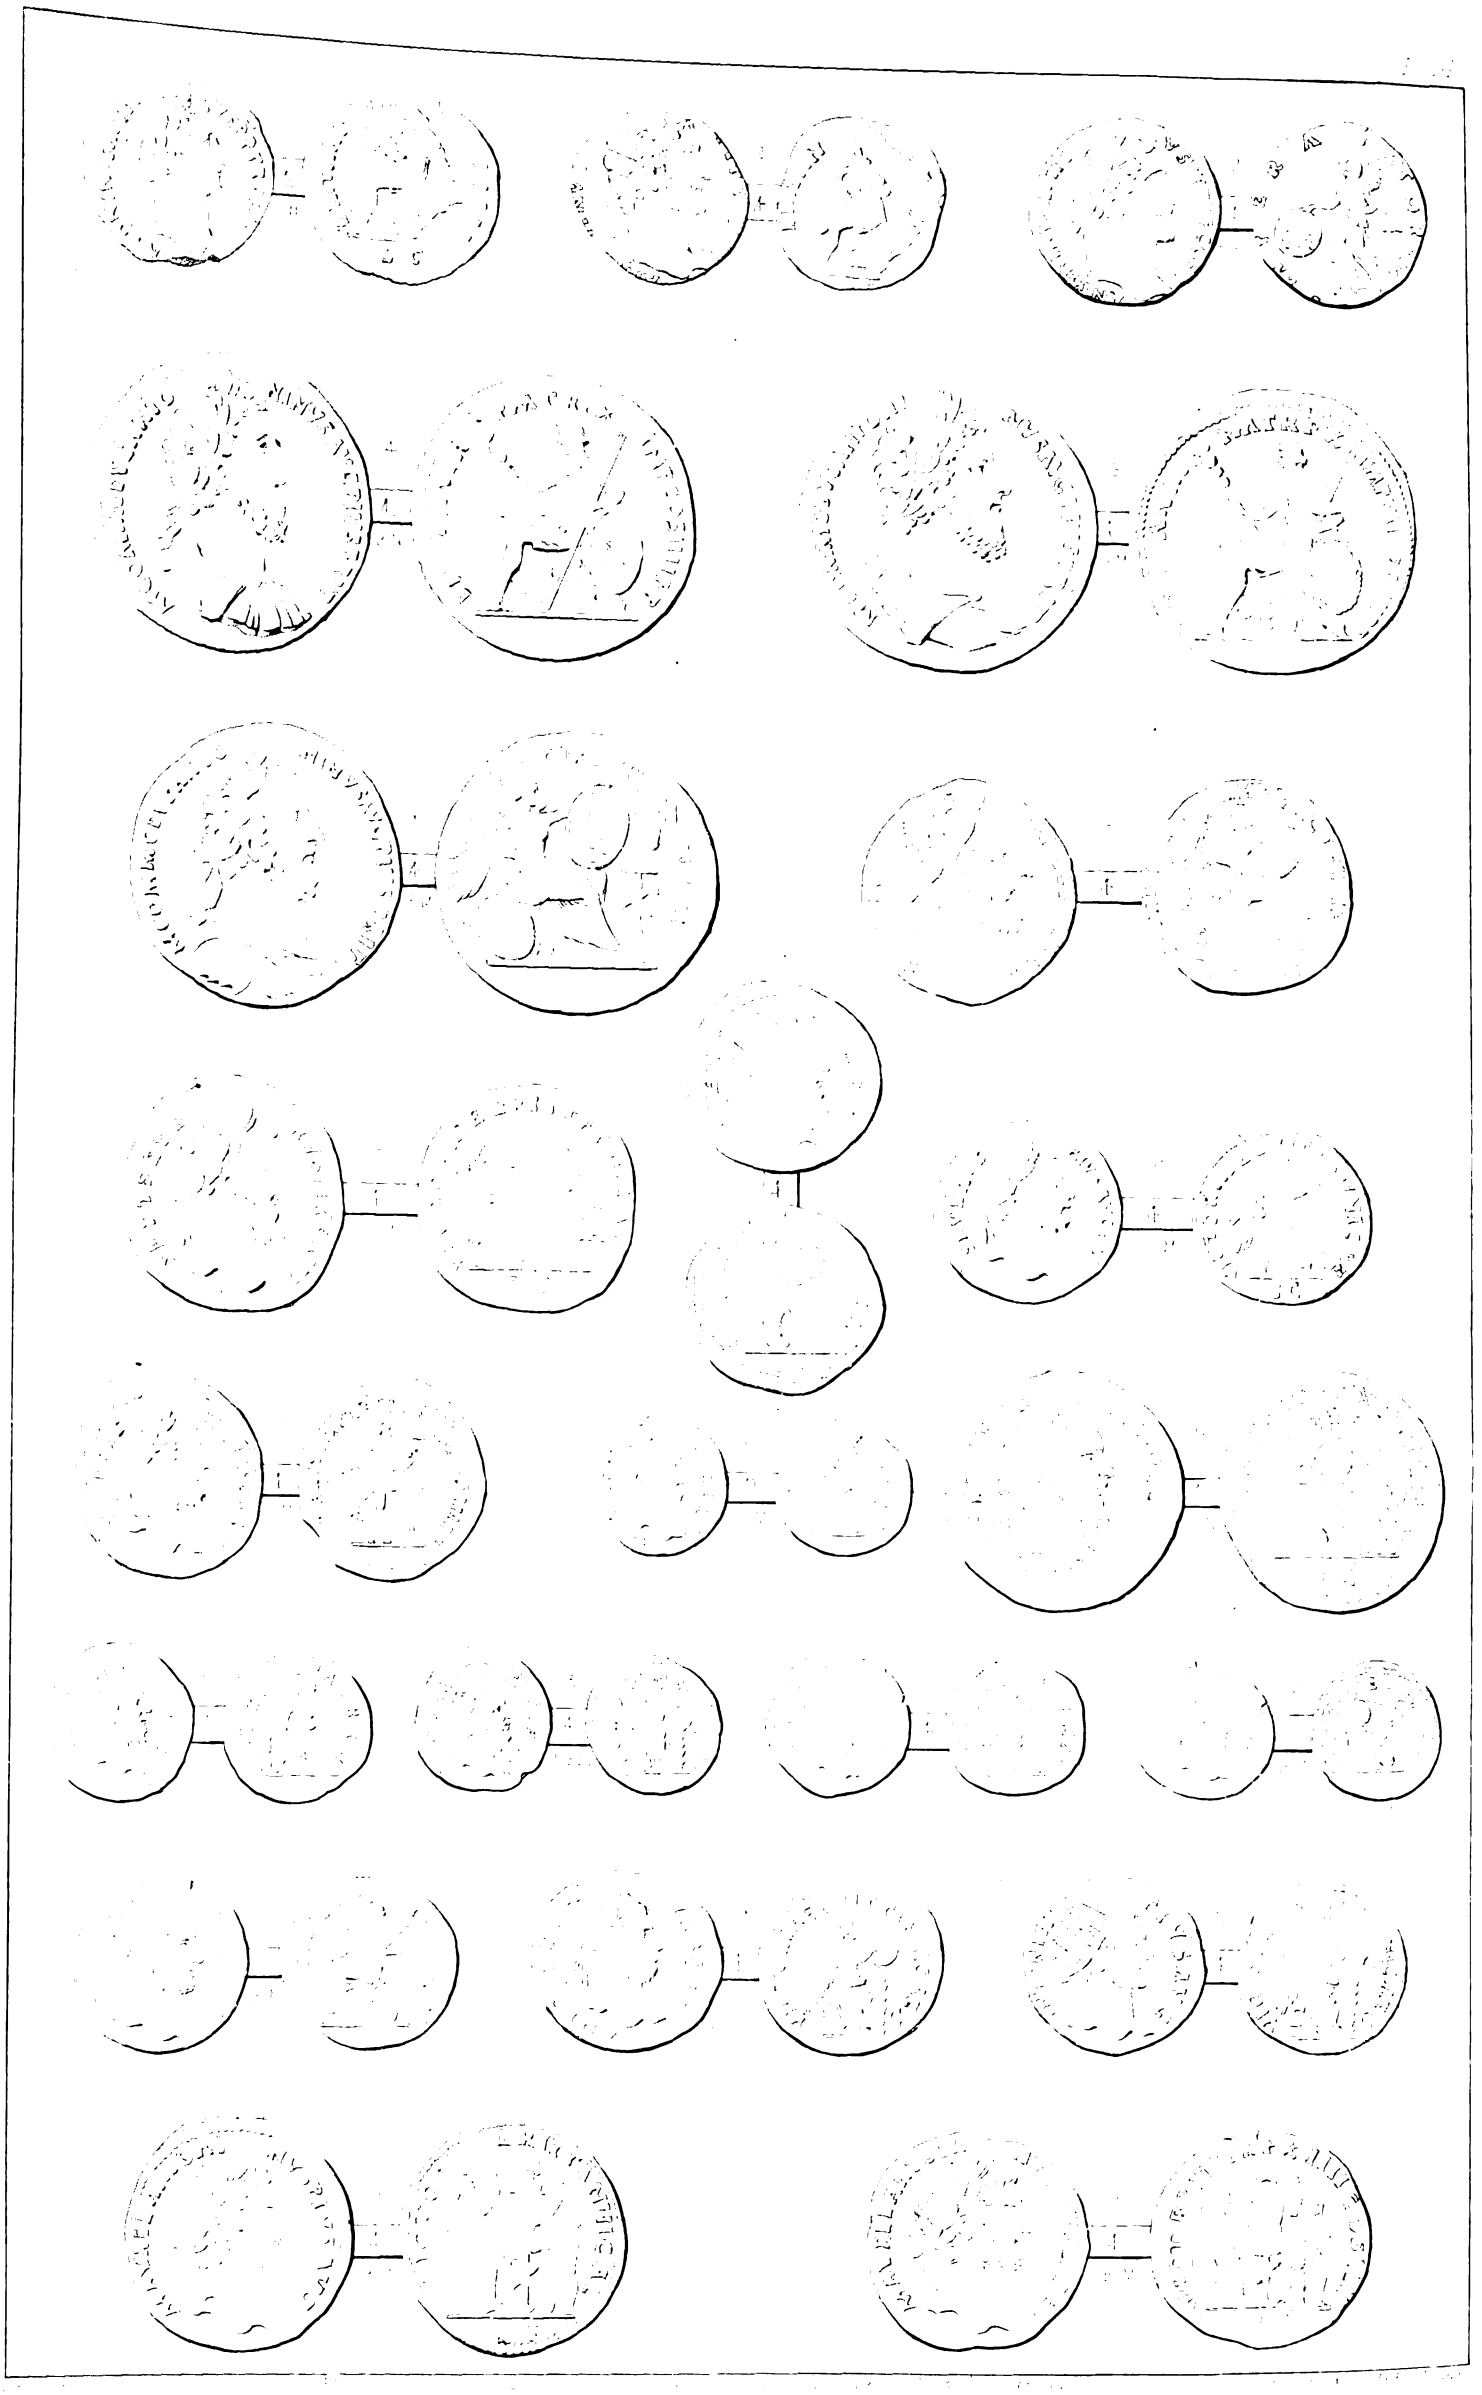




Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google



Digitized by Google

a spear in the hand; below, S.C. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. Æ 1.

11. ANTONINVS AVG. PIVS P.P. TR. P. COS. III. Head of Antoninus laureated, to the right.
R. IMPERATOR. II. Female figure helmeted, seated, resting her left arm upon a shield with a spiked boss, from which proceed rays, in her right hand a spear, BRI TAN across the field; below, S.C. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. Æ 1.

12. ANTONINVS AVG. PIVS P.P. TR. P. COS. III. Head of Antoninus laureated, to the right.
R. BRITANNIA. A draped figure seated on a pile of rocks, holds in the right hand a military standard, the left arm rests on a shield with a spiked boss, the rim of the shield beaded, a spear in the hand; below, S.C. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. Æ 1.

13. ANTONINVS AVG. PIVS P.P. TR. P. COS. III. Head of Antoninus laureated, to the right.
R. IMPERATOR. II. A draped figure seated on a pile of rocks, holds in the right hand a military standard, in the left a spear, the arm supported by a shield placed upon a helmet; the boss of the shield in the form of a grain of barley; below, BRITANNIA; in the field, S.C. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. Æ 1.

14. ANTONINVS AVG. PIVS P.P. TR. P. COS. III. Head of Antoninus laureated, to the right.
R. IMPERATOR. II. A draped figure seated on a globe floating on waves, in the right hand a military ensign, her left arm rests on a shield, a spear in the hand; in the field, S.C.; below, BRITAN. British Museum. Æ 1.

15. ANTONINVS AVG. PIVS P.P. TR. P. COS. III. Head of Antoninus laureated, to the right.
R. IMPERATOR. II. A draped figure seated on rocks, in the right hand a military standard, the left arm rests on a round shield, a spiked boss from which issue rays, a spear in the hand; in the field, S.C.; below, BRITANNI. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. Æ 1.

16. ANTONINVS AVG. PIVS P.P. TR. P. COS. III. Head of Antoninus laureated, to the right.
R. BRITANNIA. A draped figure seated on rocks, holds a military standard in the right hand, the left arm resting upon a shield; below, S.C. British Museum. Æ 1.

17. ANTONINVS AVG. PIVS P.P. TR. P. COS. III. Head of Antoninus laureated, to the right.
R. BRITANNIA. A draped figure seated on rocks, in her right hand a military standard, the left arm supported by a shield resting upon a helmet; the shield is beaded and ornamented with a large star, a spear in the hand; below, S.C. H. Hughes, Winton. Æ 1.

PLATE III.

1. ANTONINVS AVG. PIVS P.P. TR. P. XVIII. Head of Antoninus laureated, to the right.
R. BRITANNIA. COS. IIII. A draped figure seated on rocks, her head resting on her right hand, a military standard and a shield at the right side; below, S.C. J. Huxtable, Esq. 2 Æ.

2. ANTONINVS AVG. PIVS P.P. TR. P. XVIII. Head of Antoninus radiated, to the right.
R. BRITANNIA. COS. IIII. A draped figure seated same as the preceding. J. Huxtable, Esq. 2 Æ.

3. ANTONINVS AVG. PIVS P.P. TR. P. COS. III. Head of Antoninus laureated, to the right.
R. IMPERATOR. II. Victory flying, to the left; holds in her right hand a circular shield inscribed BRI TAN. J. Huxtable, Esq. 2 Æ.

4. M. COMMODVS ANTONINVS AVG. PIVS BRIT. Bust of Commodus laureated, to the right.
R. BRITANIA P.M. TR. P. X. IMP. COS. IIII. P.P. A draped figure seated on rocks, holds in the right hand a military standard, in the left a spear; a shield inscribed S.P.Q.R. rests upon a helmet and supports the left arm. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. Medallion Æ.

5. M. COMMODVS ANTONINVS AVG. PIVS BRIT. Bust of Commodus laureated, to the right.
R. BRITTANIA. P.M. TR. P. X. IMP. VII. COS. IIII. P.P. A draped figure seated on rocks, holds a military standard in the right hand, and a spear in the left; a shield, beaded and with spiked boss, rests upon a helmet and supports the left arm. British Museum. Medallion Æ.

6. M. COMMODVS ANTONINVS AVG. PIVS BRIT. Bust of Commodus laureated, to the right.
R. P.M. TR. P. X. IMP. VII. COS. IIII. Victory seated, to the right, upon arms, her left hand holds a shield, inscribed VIC. BRIT., and resting upon her knee; her right hand a palm branch; in front, a military trophy. British Museum. Medallion Æ.

7. M. COMMODVS ANTON. AVG. PIVS BRIT. Head of Commodus laureated, to the right.
R. P.M. TR. P. VIIII. IMP. VII. COS. IIII. P.P. Victory seated on shields, holds a shield with the left hand, resting on her knee, and a palm branch in the right; below, VICT. BRIT.; in the field, S.C. Captain Smyth, R. N. 1 Æ.

8. L. SEPT. SEVERVS PIVS AVG. Head of Severus laureated, to the right.
R. VICTORIAE BRITTANNICAE. Two Victories placing a circular shield upon a palm tree; at the base two captives seated upon the ground; below, S.C. British Museum. 1 Æ.

9. SEVERVS PIVS AVG. BRIT. Head of Severus with radiated crown, to the right.
R. VICTORIAE BRITTANNICAE. Victory standing, her left foot resting upon a globe, inscribing a shield affixed to a palm tree; below, S.C. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. 2 Æ.

10. SEVERVS PIVS AVG. BRIT. Head of Severus laureated, to the right.
R. VICTORIAE BRITTANNICAE. Victory standing, to the right; holds a military ensign transversely; two captives seated on the ground; below, S.C. British Museum. 2 Æ.

11. SEVERVS PIVS AVG. BRIT. Head of Severus laureated, to the right.
R. VICT. BRIT. P.M. TR.P. XIX. COS. III. P.P. Victory standing, to the right; holds a military ensign transversely; two captives seated on the ground; in the field, S.C. British Museum. 2 Æ.

12. SEVERVS PIVS AVG. BRIT. Head of Severus laureated, to the right.
R. VICTORIAE BRIT. Victory standing, to the left; holds in her right hand a wreath, and a palm branch in her left. British Museum. Æ.

13. L. SEPT. SEVERVS PIVS AVG. Head of Severus laureated, to the right.
R. VICT. BRIT. P.M. TR. P. XIX. COS. III. P.P. Two Victories placing a shield on a palm tree; at the base two captives seated; below, S.C. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. 1 Æ.

14. SEVERVS PIVS AVG. Head of Severus laureated, to the right.
R. VICTORIAE BRIT. Victory walking to the right, leading a child with her right hand, and carrying a trophy on her left shoulder. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. Æ.

Digitized by Google

15. SEVERVS PIVS AVG. BRIT. Head of Severus laureated, to the right.

   ℞. VICTORIAE BRIT. Victory standing, holding a palm branch in her right hand, her left resting upon a shield affixed to a palm tree. Rev. T. F. Dymock. Æ.

16. SEVERVS PIVS AVG. BRIT. Head of Severus laureated, to the right.

   ℞. VICTORIAE. BRIT. Victory walking to the right, holding a wreath in her right hand, and a palm branch in her left. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

17. SEVERVS PIVS AVG. BRIT. Head of Severus laureated, to the right.

   ℞. VICTORIAE BRIT. Victory seated upon a shield, holding a palm branch in her left hand, her right supporting a shield which rests upon her knee. British Museum. Æ.

18. ANTONINVS PIVS AVG. BRIT. Head of Caracalla laureated, to the right.

   ℞. VICTORIAE BRITTANNICAE. Victory seated upon shields, holding a palm branch in her left hand, her right supports a shield which rests upon her knee; below, S.C. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. 2 Æ.

19. ANTONINVS PIVS AVG. BRIT. Head of Caracalla laureated, to the right.

   ℞. VICTORIAE BRITTANNICAE. Victory standing, to the right; her left foot rests upon a helmet, and inscribing a shield which rests upon a palm tree; in the field, S.C. Captain Smyth, R.N. 2 Æ.

20. ANTONINVS PIVS AVG. Head of Caracalla with radiated crown, to the right.

   ℞. VICTORIAE BRITTANNICAE. Victory standing to the right, inscribing a shield which rests upon a palm tree, her left foot placed upon a helmet; in the field, S.C. J. Huxtable, Esq. 2 Æ.

21. M. AVREL. ANTONINVS PIVS AVG. Head of Caracalla laureated, to the right.

   ℞. VICTORIAE BRITTANNICAE. Victory standing to the right, erecting a trophy, her left foot rests upon a helmet; a captive standing with hands bound behind; another captive seated upon the ground; below, S.C. British Museum. 1 Æ.

22. M. AVREL. ANTONINVS PIVS AVG. Head of Caracalla laureated, to the right.

   ℞. VICT. BRIT. TR. P. XIIII. COS. III. Victory standing to the right, erecting a trophy; a captive, with hands bound behind, standing; another seated upon the ground; below, S.C. British Museum. 1 Æ.

PLATE IV.

1. ANTONINVS PIVS AVG. Head of Caracalla laureated, to the right.

   ℞. VICTORIAE BRIT. Victory seated upon shields, holding a palm branch in her left hand, her right supports a shield resting upon her knee. British Museum. Æ.

2. ANTONINVS PIVS AVG. BRIT. Head of Caracalla laureated, to the right.

   ℞. VICTORIAE BRIT. Victory walking to the left, holding a palm branch in the left hand, and a wreath in the right. Rev. T. F. Dymock. Æ.

3. ANTONINVS PIVS AVG. BRIT. Head of Caracalla laureated, to the right.

   ℞. VICTORIAE BRIT. Victory walking to the right, carrying a trophy transversely. British Museum. Æ.

4. M. AVREL. ANTONINVS PIVS AVG. Head of Caracalla laureated, to the right.

   ℞. VICTORIAE BRITTANNICAE. Two Victories placing a circular shield upon a palm tree; two captives seated at the base; below, S.C. British Museum. 1 Æ.

5. M. AVREL. ANTONINVS PIVS AVG. BRIT. Head of Caracalla laureated, to the right.

   ℞. IMP. BRIT. P.M. TR. P. XIIII. COS. III. P.P. Victory standing to the right, erecting a trophy, her left foot rests upon a helmet; a captive standing with hands bound behind; another captive seated upon the ground; below, S.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. 1 Æ.

6. ANTONINVS PIVS AVG. BRIT. Head of Caracalla laureated, to the right.

   ℞. VICTORIAE BRITTANNICAE. Victory standing, to the right; her left foot upon a helmet, inscribing a shield resting upon a palm tree; in the field, S.C. British Museum. 2 Æ.

7. ANTONINVS PIVS AVG. BRIT. Head of Caracalla laureated, to the right.

   ℞. IMP. BRIT. TR. P. XIIII. COS. III. Victory standing, to the right; her left foot rests upon a helmet, inscribing a shield resting upon a palm tree; in the field, S.C. British Museum. 2 Æ.

8. P. SEPT. GETA PIVS AVG. BRIT. Head of Geta laureated, to the right.

   ℞. VICTORIAE BRIT. Victory standing to the left, holds a palm branch in the left hand, and a wreath in the right. British Museum. Æ.

9. P. SEPT. GETA PIVS AVG. BRIT. Head of Geta laureated, to the right.

   ℞. VICTORIAE BRIT. Victory walking to the right, carrying a palm branch in the left hand, and a wreath in the right. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. Æ.

10. P. SEPTIMIVS GETA PIVS AVG. BRIT. Head of Geta laureated, to the right.

   ℞. VICTORIAE BRITANNICAE. Victory standing to the right, erecting a trophy; her left foot rests upon a helmet; a captive standing with hands bound behind; another seated upon the ground; below, S.C. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. 1 Æ.

11. IMP. CAES. P. SEPT. GETA PIVS AVG. Head of Geta laureated, to the right.

   ℞. VICTORIAE BRITTANNICAE. Two Victories placing a shield against a palm tree; at the base two captives seated; below, S.C. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. 1 Æ.

12. P. SEPTIMIVS GETA PIVS AVG. BRIT. Head of Geta laureated, to the right.

   ℞. VICT. BRIT. TR. P. III. COS. II. Victory seated upon shields, holds a palm branch in the left hand, her right supports a shield resting upon her knee; below, S.C. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. 2 Æ.

13. IMP. CAES. P. SEPT. GETA PIVS AVG. Head of Geta laureated, to the right.

   ℞. VICTORIAE BRITTANNICAE. Victory seated upon a cuirass and shields, inscribing a shield resting upon her knee; below, S.C. British Museum. 1 Æ.

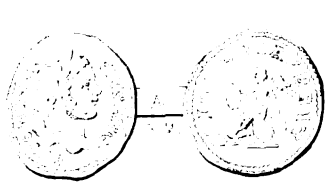
14. IMP. CAES. P. SEPT. GETA PIVS AVG. Head of Geta laureated, to the right.

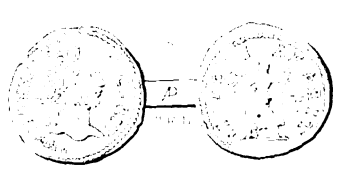
   ℞. VICTORIAE BRITTANNICAE. Victory seated upon a shield, and inscribing a shield resting upon her knee; below, S.C. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. 1 Æ.

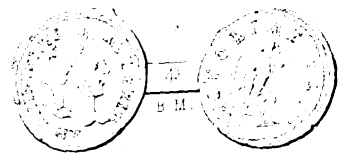
15. SEPT. GETA PIVS AVG. BRIT. Head of Geta with radiated crown, to the right.

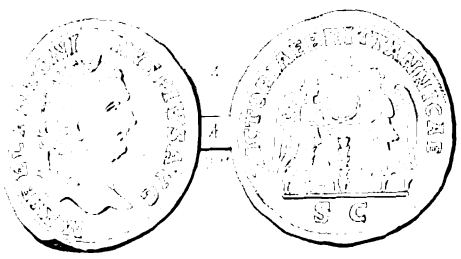
   ℞. VICTORIAE BRITTANNICAE. Victory seated upon shields, to the left; holds a palm branch in her left

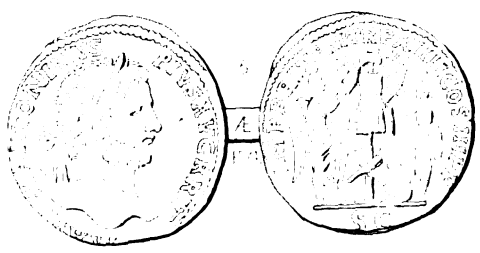
Digitized by Google

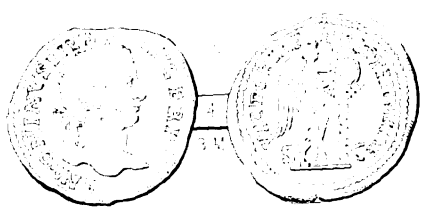


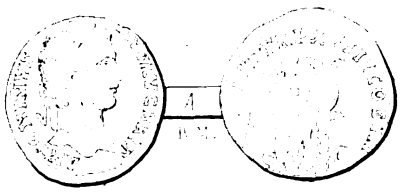


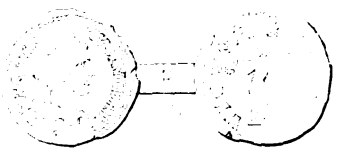


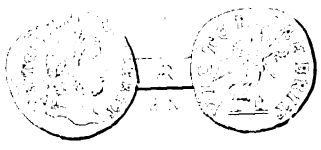


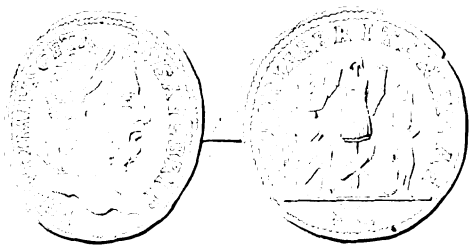


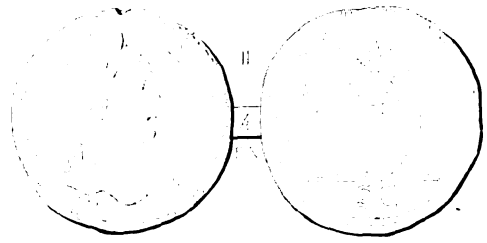


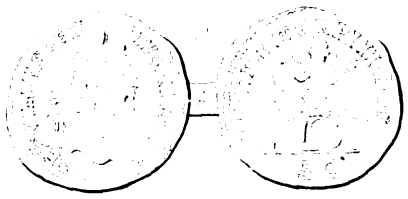


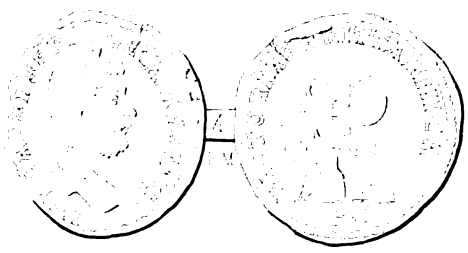


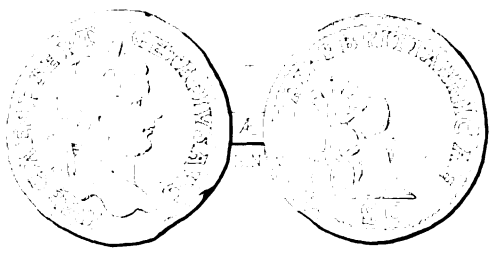


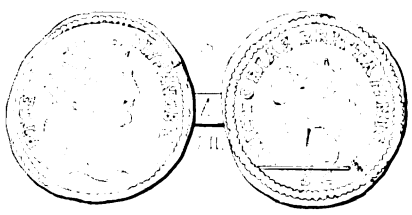


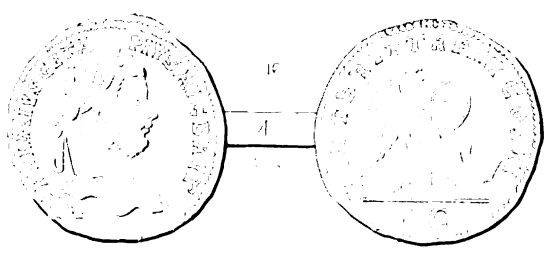


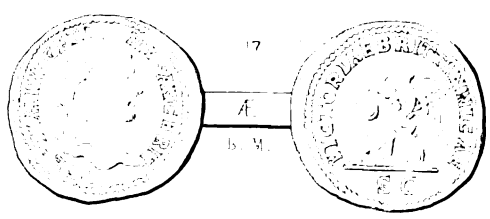








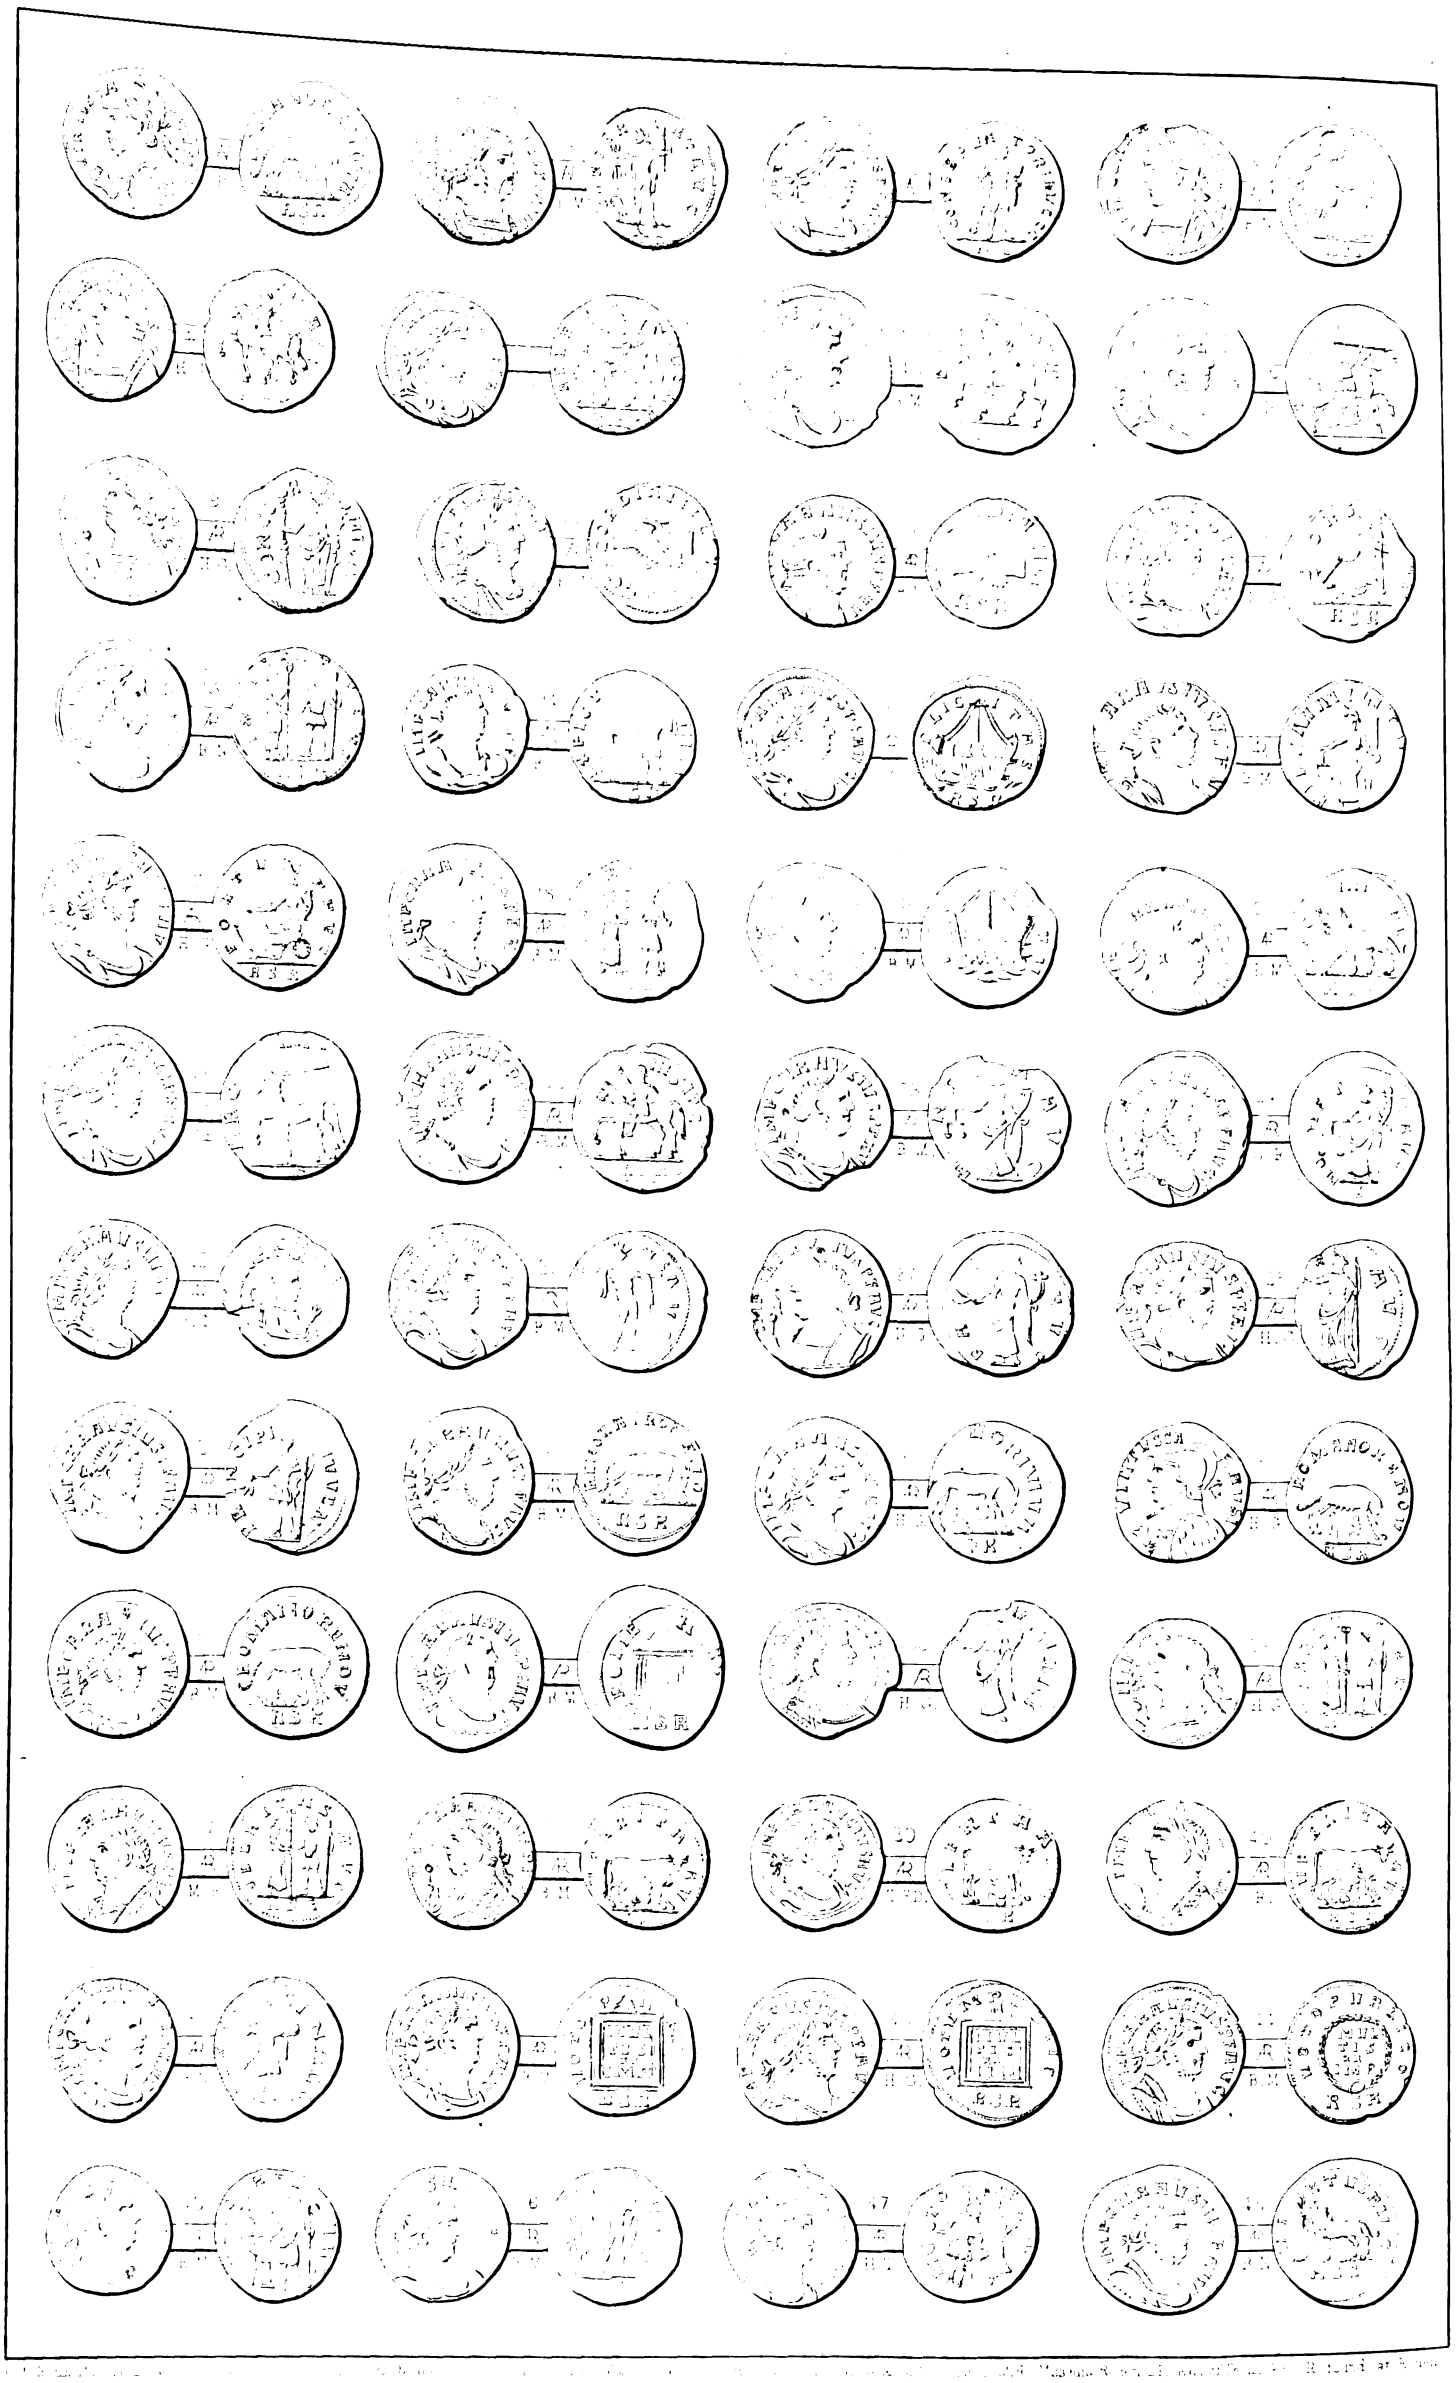




Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google



Digitized by Google

hand, her right supports a shield resting upon her knee; below, S.C. J. Huxtable, Esq. 2 Æ.

16. P. SEPTIMIVS GETA PIVS AVG. BRIT. Head of Geta laureated, to the right.
R. VICT. BRIT. TR. P. III. COS. II. Victory seated upon a cuirass, surrounded by shields, inscribing a shield resting upon her knee; below, S.C. G. Gwilt, Esq. 1 Æ.

17. P. SEPTIMIVS GETA PIVS AVG. BRIT. Head of Geta laureated, to the right.
R. VICTORIAE BRITTANNICAE. Victory seated upon shields, holds a palm branch in her left hand, her right supports a shield resting upon her knee; below, S.C. British Museum. 2 Æ.

PLATE V.

1. VIRTVS CARAVSI. Head of Carausius helmeted, to the left; holding a spear in his right hand, and a shield ornamented with a griffin on his left arm.
R. ROMANO RENOVA. Wolf and twins; below, R S R. Earl of Pembroke. Æ.
This coin is a modern cast in gold from a silver original.

2. CARAVSIVS P. F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, laureated, to the right.
R. CONSERVAT AVG. Jupiter standing, to the left; holds a thunderbolt in his right hand, the hasta in his left; at his feet an eagle; below, M.L. British Museum. Æ.

3. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, laureated, to the right.
R. CONSERVATORI. AVGGG. Hercules standing, to the right; holds a bow in his right hand, and a club in the left; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

4. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, laureated, to the left.
R. CONCORD. MILIT VM. Two figures standing, taking each other by the hand. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. Æ.

5. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, to the left; holds in his right hand a sceptre surmounted by an eagle.
R. ADVENTVS AVG. An equestrian figure, to the left; his right hand elevated, a sceptre in his left; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

6. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AV. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
R. ADVENTVS AVG. An equestrian figure, to the left; his right hand elevated, and a sceptre in the left; a captive seated on the ground; below, a thunderbolt. J. Brummell, Esq. Æ.

7. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
R. ADVENTVS AVG. An equestrian, to the left; his right hand elevated, and a sceptre in his left. British Museum. Æ.

8. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
R. ADVENTVS AVG. An equestrian figure in the act of throwing a spear, and riding over an enemy, to the right; below, R.S.R. Earl of Pembroke, now in the British Museum. Æ.

9. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, laureated, to the left; holds a sceptre surmounted by an eagle in his right hand.
R. CONCORD. MILIT. Female standing, holding two military standards; below, R.S.R. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

10. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
R. CONCORDIA MILITVM. Two hands joined; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

11. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AV. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
R. CONCORDIA MILIT. Two hands joined; below, R S R. British Museum. Æ.

12. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
R. CONS . . . AV. Neptune seated, holds the trident in his left hand, and an anchor in his right; below, R.S.R. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

13. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
R. EXPECTAT. VENI. Two figures taking each other by the hand, one holds apparently a long caduceus, the other a spear; below, R.S.R. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. Æ.

14. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. Bust of Carausius, to the right, laureated; holds in his right hand a globe.
R. EXPECT . . . . . NI . . Two figures taking hands; below, R.S.R. Bodleian Library, Oxford. Æ.

15. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
R. FELICITAS. Galley with four rowers; below, R.S.R. Earl of Pembroke, now in the British Museum. Æ.

16. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius laureated, to the right.
R. FIDEM MILITV . . . Female standing with scales and cornucopia. British Museum. Æ.

17. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AV. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
R. FORTVNA AVG. Fortune seated upon a wheel, holds a rudder in her right hand, a cornucopia in the left; below, R.S.R. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

18. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
R. IXPICTATIAE. MIL? Two figures standing, one holds a military ensign, the other a spear; below, XX. British Museum. Æ.

19. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. Bust of Carausius laureated, to the right.
R. . . ILS . . VI. AV. Galley with four rowers. British Museum. Æ.

20. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius laureated, to the right.
R. LEG. IIII. FL. Lion, with a thunderbolt in his mouth, walking, to the left; below, R.S.R. British Museum. Æ.

21. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
R. LEG. IIII. I. Centaur walking, to the left; holds a long club horizontally with both hands; below, C. J. Brummell, Esq. Æ.

22. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
R. . . . . III. SIPC. An equestrian figure walking, to the left; below, R.S.R. British Museum. Æ.

23. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
R. MONETA AVG. Female standing with scales and cornucopia. British Museum. Æ.

24. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
R. MONETA AVG. Female standing with scales and cornucopia; below, X. J. Rolf, Esq. Æ.

Digitized by Google

25. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AV. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
℞. . . . FORTVNA AVG. Bust of Fortune holding a flower behind a pedum? within a circular wreath. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. Æ.

26. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
℞. ORIENS AVG. The Sun standing to the front, holds a globe in the left hand, the right elevated; below, R.S.R. British Museum. Æ.

27. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, laureated, to the left; holds a sceptre in the right hand, surmounted by an eagle.
℞. PAX AVG. Female standing, to the left; holds a flower in the right hand, and a cornucopia in the left. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

28. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, to the right, laureated.
℞. [PA]X AVG. Female standing, holds a long sceptre in the left hand, the right elevated. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

29. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
℞. PRINCIPI IVVENT. Military figure standing, to the left; holding a flower in the right hand, a spear in the left. British Museum. Æ.

30. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, to the right, laureated.
℞. RENOVAT ROMANO. Wolf and twins; below, R S R. British Museum. Æ.

31. IMP. CARAVSIV. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
℞. . . . . ORI VIVA? Wolf and twins; below, R × R. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

32. VIRTVS CARAVSI. Bust of Carausius, to the left, in armour, head helmeted, a spear in his right hand, and a shield upon his left arm.
℞. ROMANO RENOV. Wolf and twins; below, R S R. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

33. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
℞. ROMANO RENOV. Wolf and twins; below, R.S.R. British Museum. Æ.

34. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
℞. ROME. HERC . . . Victory crowning a figure within a temple of six columns; below, R S R. British Museum. Æ.

35. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, laureated, to the right.
℞. [TEMPOR]VM FELICT. Female standing, with a cornucopia on her left arm. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

36. IMP. CARAV[SIVS P.F. AVG.] Draped bust of Carausius laureated, to the left; in his right hand a sceptre surmounted by an eagle.
℞. VBERITAS AVG. Two figures standing, one holds a trident, the other a spear; below, R S R. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

37. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. Draped bust of Carausius laureated, to the left; holds the orb in the right hand.
℞. VBERITAS AVG. Two figures standing, one holds a trident, the other a spear; below, R S R. Found at Rouen, and now in the Rouen Museum. Æ.

38. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. A. Draped bust of Carausius laureated, to the left; holds in his right hand a sceptre surmounted by an eagle.
℞. VBERITA AV. Female seated, milking a cow; below, R S R. British Museum. Æ.

39. IMP. CARAVSIVS. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, to the right, laureated.
℞. VBERTA AVG. Female seated, milking a cow; below, R.S.R. Rev. T. F. Dymock. Æ.

40. IMP. CARAVSIVS AVG. Draped bust of Carausius laureated, to the left; holds in the right hand the orb.
℞. VBERITA AV. Female seated, milking a cow; below, R.S.R. Found at Rouen with No. 37. Æ.

41. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. IN. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
℞. VIRTVS IN AVG. A figure standing, with the sceptre in his right hand, the orb in the left; below, L. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. Æ.

42. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
℞. VOTO PVBLICO. An altar inscribed MVL TIS ×× IMP in four lines; below, R.S.R. British Museum. Æ.

43. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
℞. VOTVM PVBLIC. A lighted altar inscribed MVL TIS ×× IMP in four lines; below, R.S.R. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

44. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
℞. VOTO PVBLICO. A wreath; within, MVL TIS ×× IMP in four lines; below, R.S.R. British Museum. Æ.

45. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
℞. VLTORA AVG. A military figure taking a female by the hand, between them a lighted altar. British Museum. Æ.

46. [IMP. CARA]VSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
℞. . . . . AVGG. Two figures, one with a club, the other with a spear holding a thunderbolt between them; below, + + +. British Museum. Æ.

47. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
℞. VICTORI AVG. Victory holding a palm branch in her left hand, placing a crown upon the head of the Emperor, holding a spear in his left hand, and the orb in the right. H. Tovey, Esq. Æ.

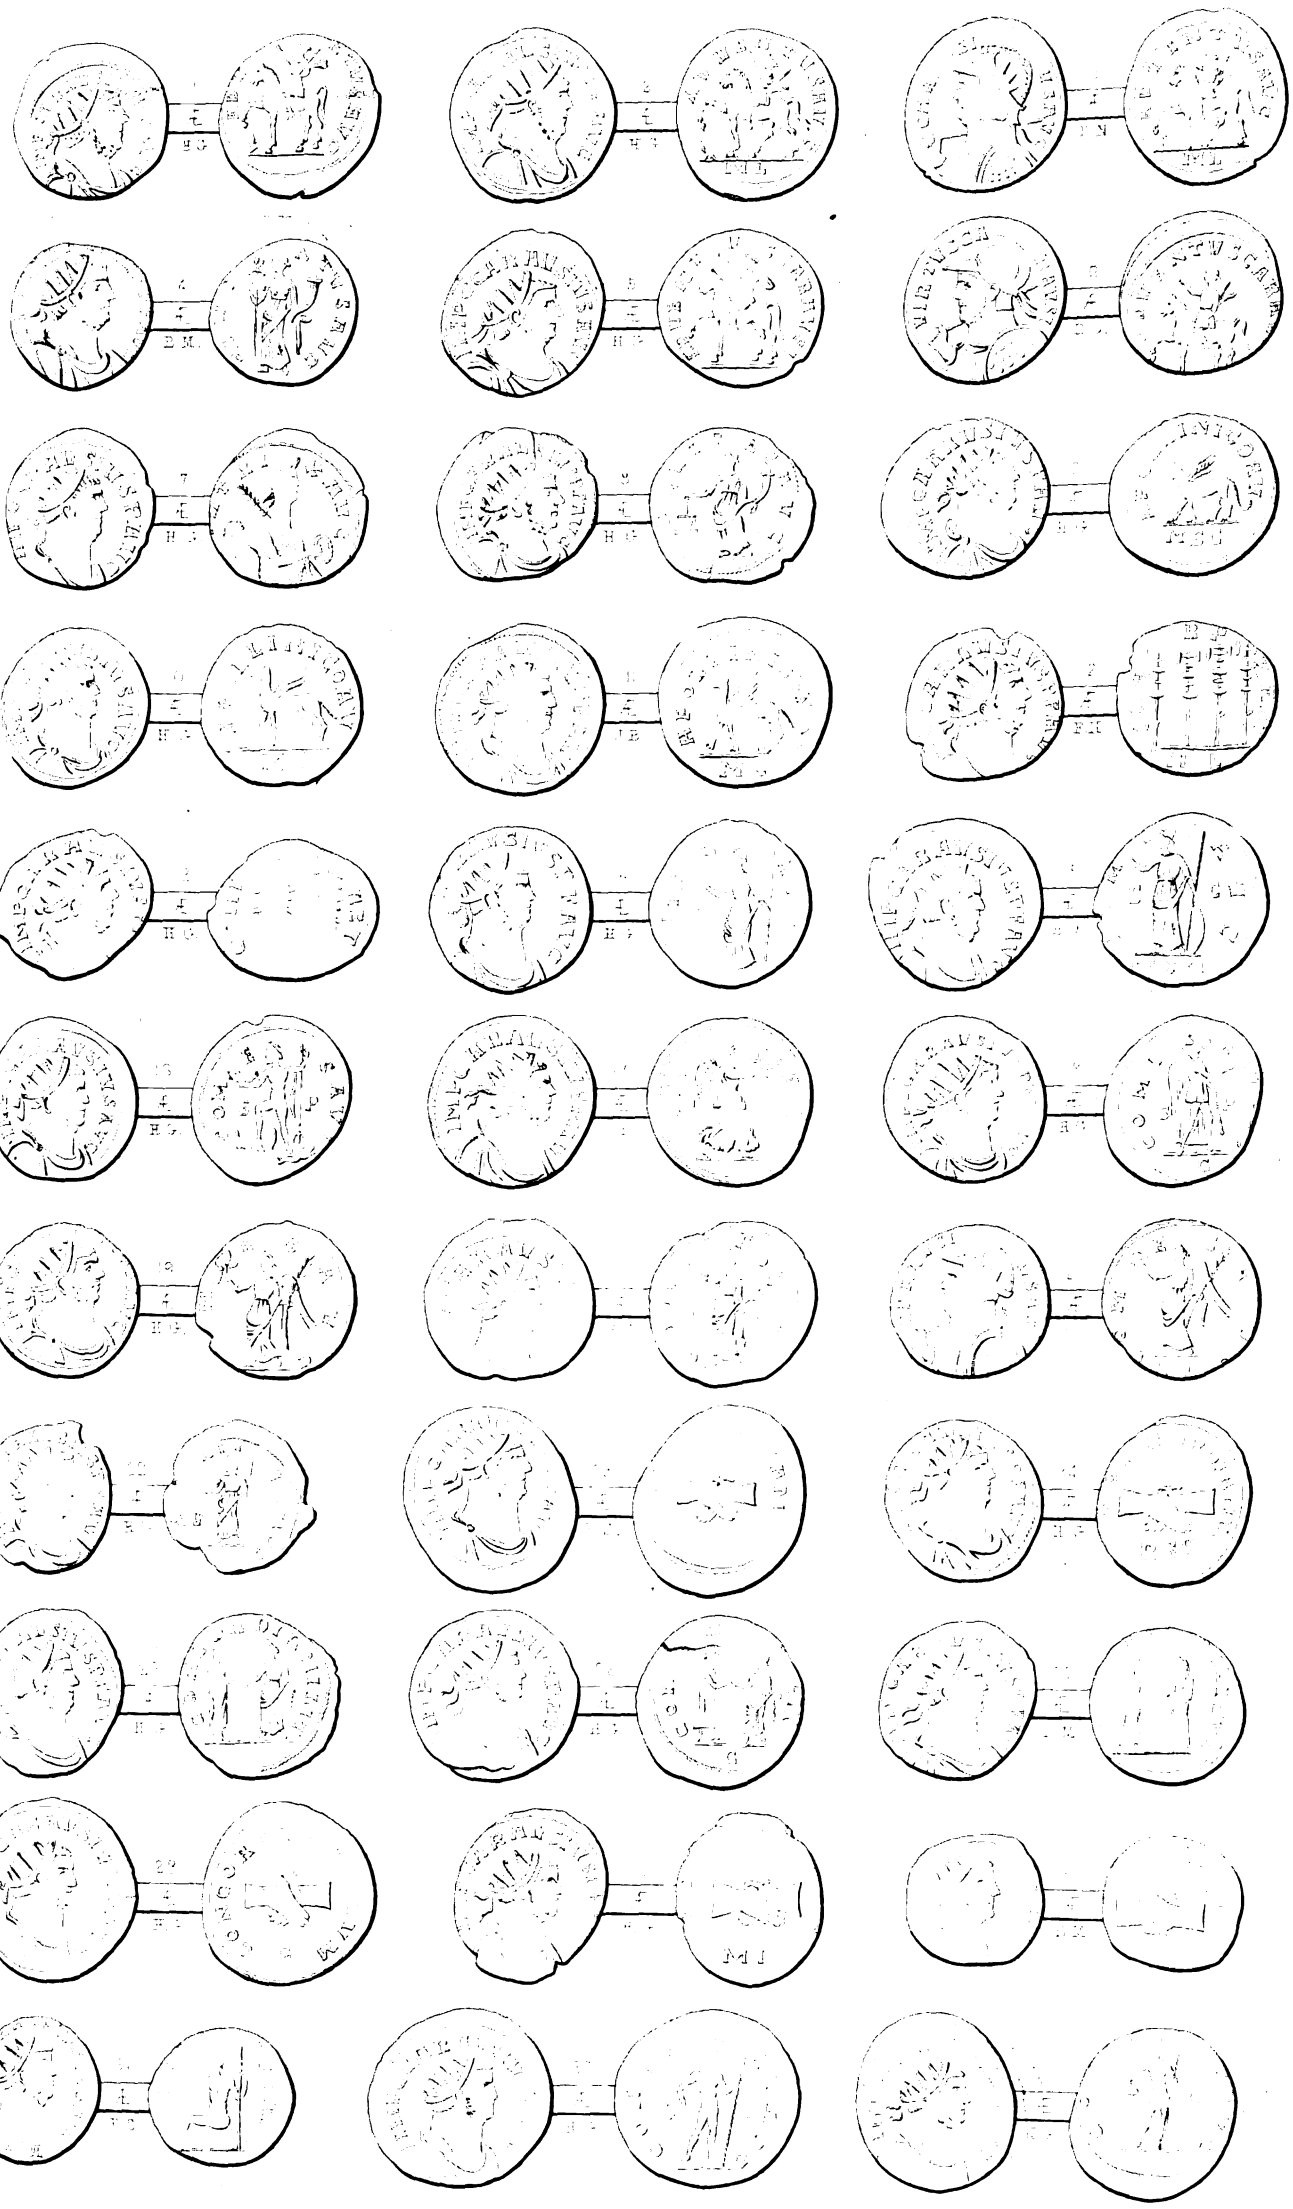
48. IMP. CARAVSIV[S P].F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, laureated, to the right.
℞. VIRTVS AVG. Lion walking, to the left, with a thunderbolt in his mouth; below, R S R. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. Æ.

PLATE VI.

1. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
℞. ADVENTVS AVG. An equestrian figure, to the left; his right hand elevated, and a baton in the left; a captive seated on the ground. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

2. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
℞. ADVENTVS AVG. An equestrian figure and captive, same as the last; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

Digitized by Google



B.M. British Museum – B.N. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris – B.O. Bodleian Library, Oxford – H.H.B. Hunterian Museum, Glasgow – S.B. Staatsbibliothek, Berlin

Digitized by Google

3. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius helmeted and in armour, a spear in his right hand, and a shield on his left arm.
   ℞. ADVENTVS AVG. An equestrian figure, same as No. 2.; below, M.L. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. Æ.

4. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
   ℞. ADVENTVS AVG. Female standing, with a long caduceus and a cornucopia. British Museum. Æ.

5. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
   ℞. ADVENTVS CARAVSI. An equestrian figure, to the left; holds an orb in each hand, elevated. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

6. VIRTVS CARAVSI. Bust of Carausius helmeted, to the left; a spear in his right hand, a shield on his left arm.
   ℞. ADVENTVS CARAVSI. An equestrian figure, to the left; his right hand elevated, a baton in the left. Bodleian Library, Oxford. Æ.

7. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
   ℞. [ADI]VTRIX AVG. Bust of Victory to the right, a wreath in the right hand, a palm branch over the left shoulder. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

8. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
   ℞. AEQVITAS AVG. Female standing, holding a pair of scales in the right hand, and a cornucopia in the left. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

9. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
   ℞. APOLLINI.CO AV. A griffin walking, to the left; below, M.S.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

10. IMP. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. APOLLINI.CO. AV. Griffin walking, to the left; below, M.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

11. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AV. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. APOLLONI.CONS. Griffin walking, to the left; below, M.C. J. Brummell, Esq. Æ.

12. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. COHR. PRAET. Four military standards; below, ML. F. Hobler, Esq. Æ.

13. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. . . . Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. COHR. PRAET. Four military standards. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

14. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. COMES AVG. Female standing, with a spear and shield, and a flower in her right hand; in the field, B. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

15. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. COMES AVG. Female standing, with a shield and spear, and a flower in her right hand; in the field, S.C.; below, MLXXI. Bodleian Library, Oxford. Æ.

16. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. COMES AVG. Neptune standing, with his right foot upon a galley, his left upon a fish which he is in the act of striking with his trident, and holds a fish in the right hand; in the field, S.P. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

17. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AV. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. COMES AVG. Victory walking, to the right; holding a wreath in her right hand. J. Brummell, Esq. Æ.

18. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. I. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. COMES AVGGG. Victory walking, to the right; a wreath in her right hand, a long palm branch in the left; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

19. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. [CO]MES AVG. Victory walking, to the left; holding a wreath in her right hand, and a long palm branch in the left. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

20. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. A. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. COMES AVG. Victory standing, to the left; holding a wreath in the right hand, and a long palm branch in the left; in the field, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

21. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius helmeted and in armour, holding a spear in the right hand, and a shield on the left arm.
    ℞. COMES AVG. Victory standing, to the left; holding a wreath in the right hand, and a long palm branch in the left; below, M.L. Bodleian Library, Oxford. Æ.

22. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AV. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. A .AIDDOONOO. Female standing with the hasta; below, I.M.; in the field, V. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

23. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AV. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. CONCORDIA M. Two hands joined. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

24. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. CONCORDIA MIL. Two hands joined; below, R S R. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

25. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. CONCORDIA MILIT. Two figures taking each other by the hand. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

26. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. CONCOR[DIA MI]LIT. Two figures taking each other by the hand; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

27. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AV. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. CONCORDIA MILITVM. Two figures standing, facing each other. British Museum. Æ.

28. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. CONCORDIA MILITVM. Two hands joined; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

29. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. CONCORD. Two hands joined; below, MI. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

30. . . . . S. P.F. AV. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. [CO]CORD. MILIT. Two hands joined; below, CXX. British Museum. Æ.

31. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius, radiated, to the right; below, S.A.
    ℞. CONSERVAT. AVG. Naked figure seated upon the ground, to the left, holding a long staff in the left hand. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

Digitized by Google

32. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
℞. CONSERVAT. AVG. A naked figure walking, to the right, with a long staff in the left hand; in the field, S.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

33. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
℞. CONSERVAT. AVG. Naked figure standing to the front, and looking to the right, holding a long staff in the left hand; in the field, S.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

PLATE VII.

1. IMP. CARAVSIVS AV. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
℞. COR. AVG. Female standing, a short staff in the right hand, and a cornucopia in the left. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

2. IMP. CARAVSIV. . . . Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
℞. COS. III. Figure standing, holding the orb in the right hand. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

3. IMP. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
℞. DIANA. CONS. Stag walking to the left; below, XX. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

4. IMP. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, radiated, to the right.
℞. ECVITAS MVNDI. Female standing, with a pair of scales and cornucopia. C. R. Smith, Esq. (Found at Rouen.) Æ.

5. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
℞. EXPECTATI. VENI. A male and female figure standing and taking each other by the hand, the female holds a military ensign, the male a spear; below, MSCL. British Museum. Æ.

6. IMP. CA[RAVSIVS] AV. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
℞. EXPICTA. Male and female standing, the male holds a spear, the female a wreath. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

7. VIRTVS CARAVSI. Bust of Carausius in armour, helmeted, to the left, holding in his right hand the orb, and a shield upon his left arm.
℞. FELICITAS. Female standing with a long caduceus in her right hand, and a cornucopia in the left. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

8. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
℞. FELICITAS AVG. Female standing, holding a long caduceus in her left hand; below, MLXXI. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

9. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
℞. FELICITAS AVG. Galley, with mast, and four rowers; below, C.S.M. British Museum. Æ.

10. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
℞. [TEMP]ORVM FELICITAS. Four children, emblematical of the four seasons. Earl of Pembroke, now in the British Museum. Æ.

11. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AV. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
℞. TEMPO[RVM] FELICITAS. Four children, emblematical of the four seasons. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

12. IMP. CAR[AVSI]VS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
℞. FIDES MILIT. Female standing in front, holding two military standards; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

13. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
℞. FIDES MILIT. Female standing, holding two military standards; in the field, S. P.; below, C. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

14. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AV. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
℞. FIDES MILITVM. Female standing, with two military standards. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

15. [IMP. C] CARAVSIVS. Busts of Carausius in the toga, radiated, and the Sun side by side looking to the left.
℞. [FORTV]NA. Female seated upon a wheel, holds a rudder in her right hand, and a cornucopia in the left; below, C. Earl of Pembroke. Æ.

16. . . . . CARAVSIVS. P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
℞. FORTVNA. Female standing, holding a rudder and cornucopia. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

17. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS IVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, radiated, to the right.
℞. [F]ORTVNAE. Female standing, her right hand upon a wheel, and in her left a cornucopia. C. R. Smith, Esq. (Found at Rouen.) Æ.

18. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
℞. FORTVNA AVG. Female standing, with a rudder and cornucopia. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

19. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
℞. FORTVNA AVG. Female standing, with a rudder and cornucopia; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

20. IMP. CARAVSIVS. Bust of Carausius in armour, radiated, to the right.
℞. FORTVNA RED. Female standing, her right hand rests upon a shield, and a cornucopia in her left hand. British Museum. (Found at Rouen.) Æ.

21. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. [AVG.] Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
℞. FORT[VNA] RED. Female seated upon a wheel, holding a rudder and cornucopia. British Museum. Æ.

22. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, radiated, to the right.
℞. FORTVNA REDV. Female standing, her right hand resting upon a shield, and a cornucopia in her left. Found at Rouen. Æ.

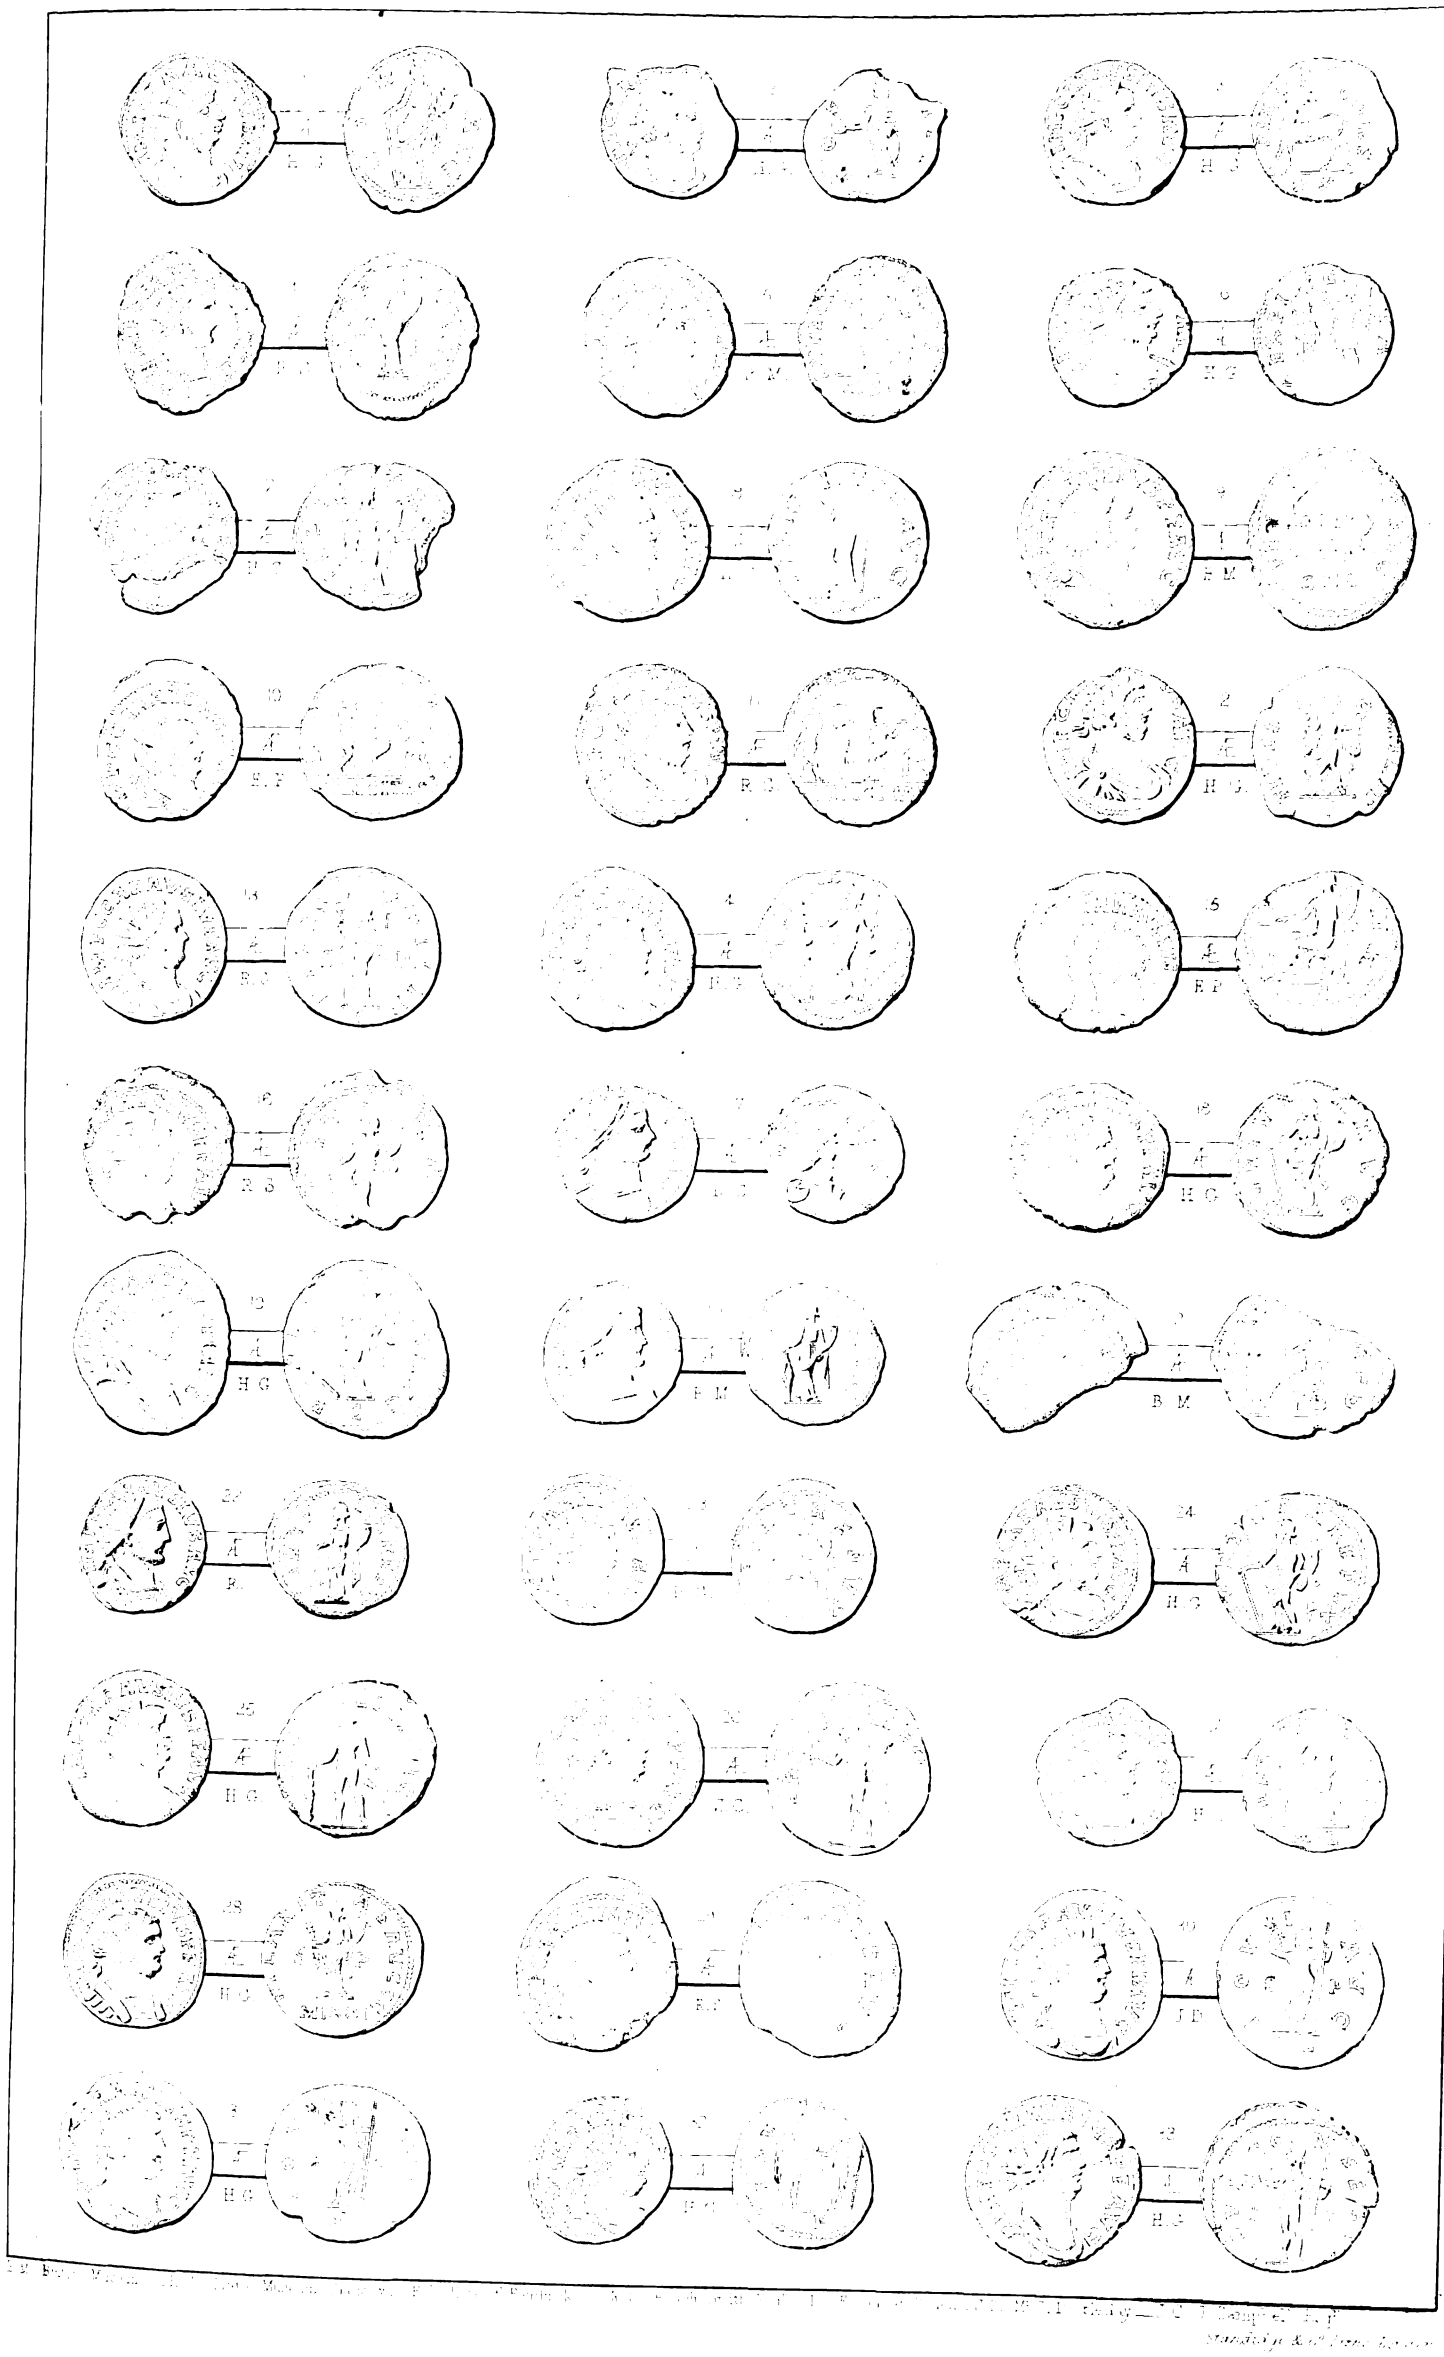
23. IMP. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
℞. FORT. REDVX. Female seated, with rudder and cornucopia. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

24. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
℞. FORTVNA REDVX. Female standing, with an anchor and cornucopia. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

25. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
℞. HERCVLI INVIC. Hercules standing, with club and lion's skin. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

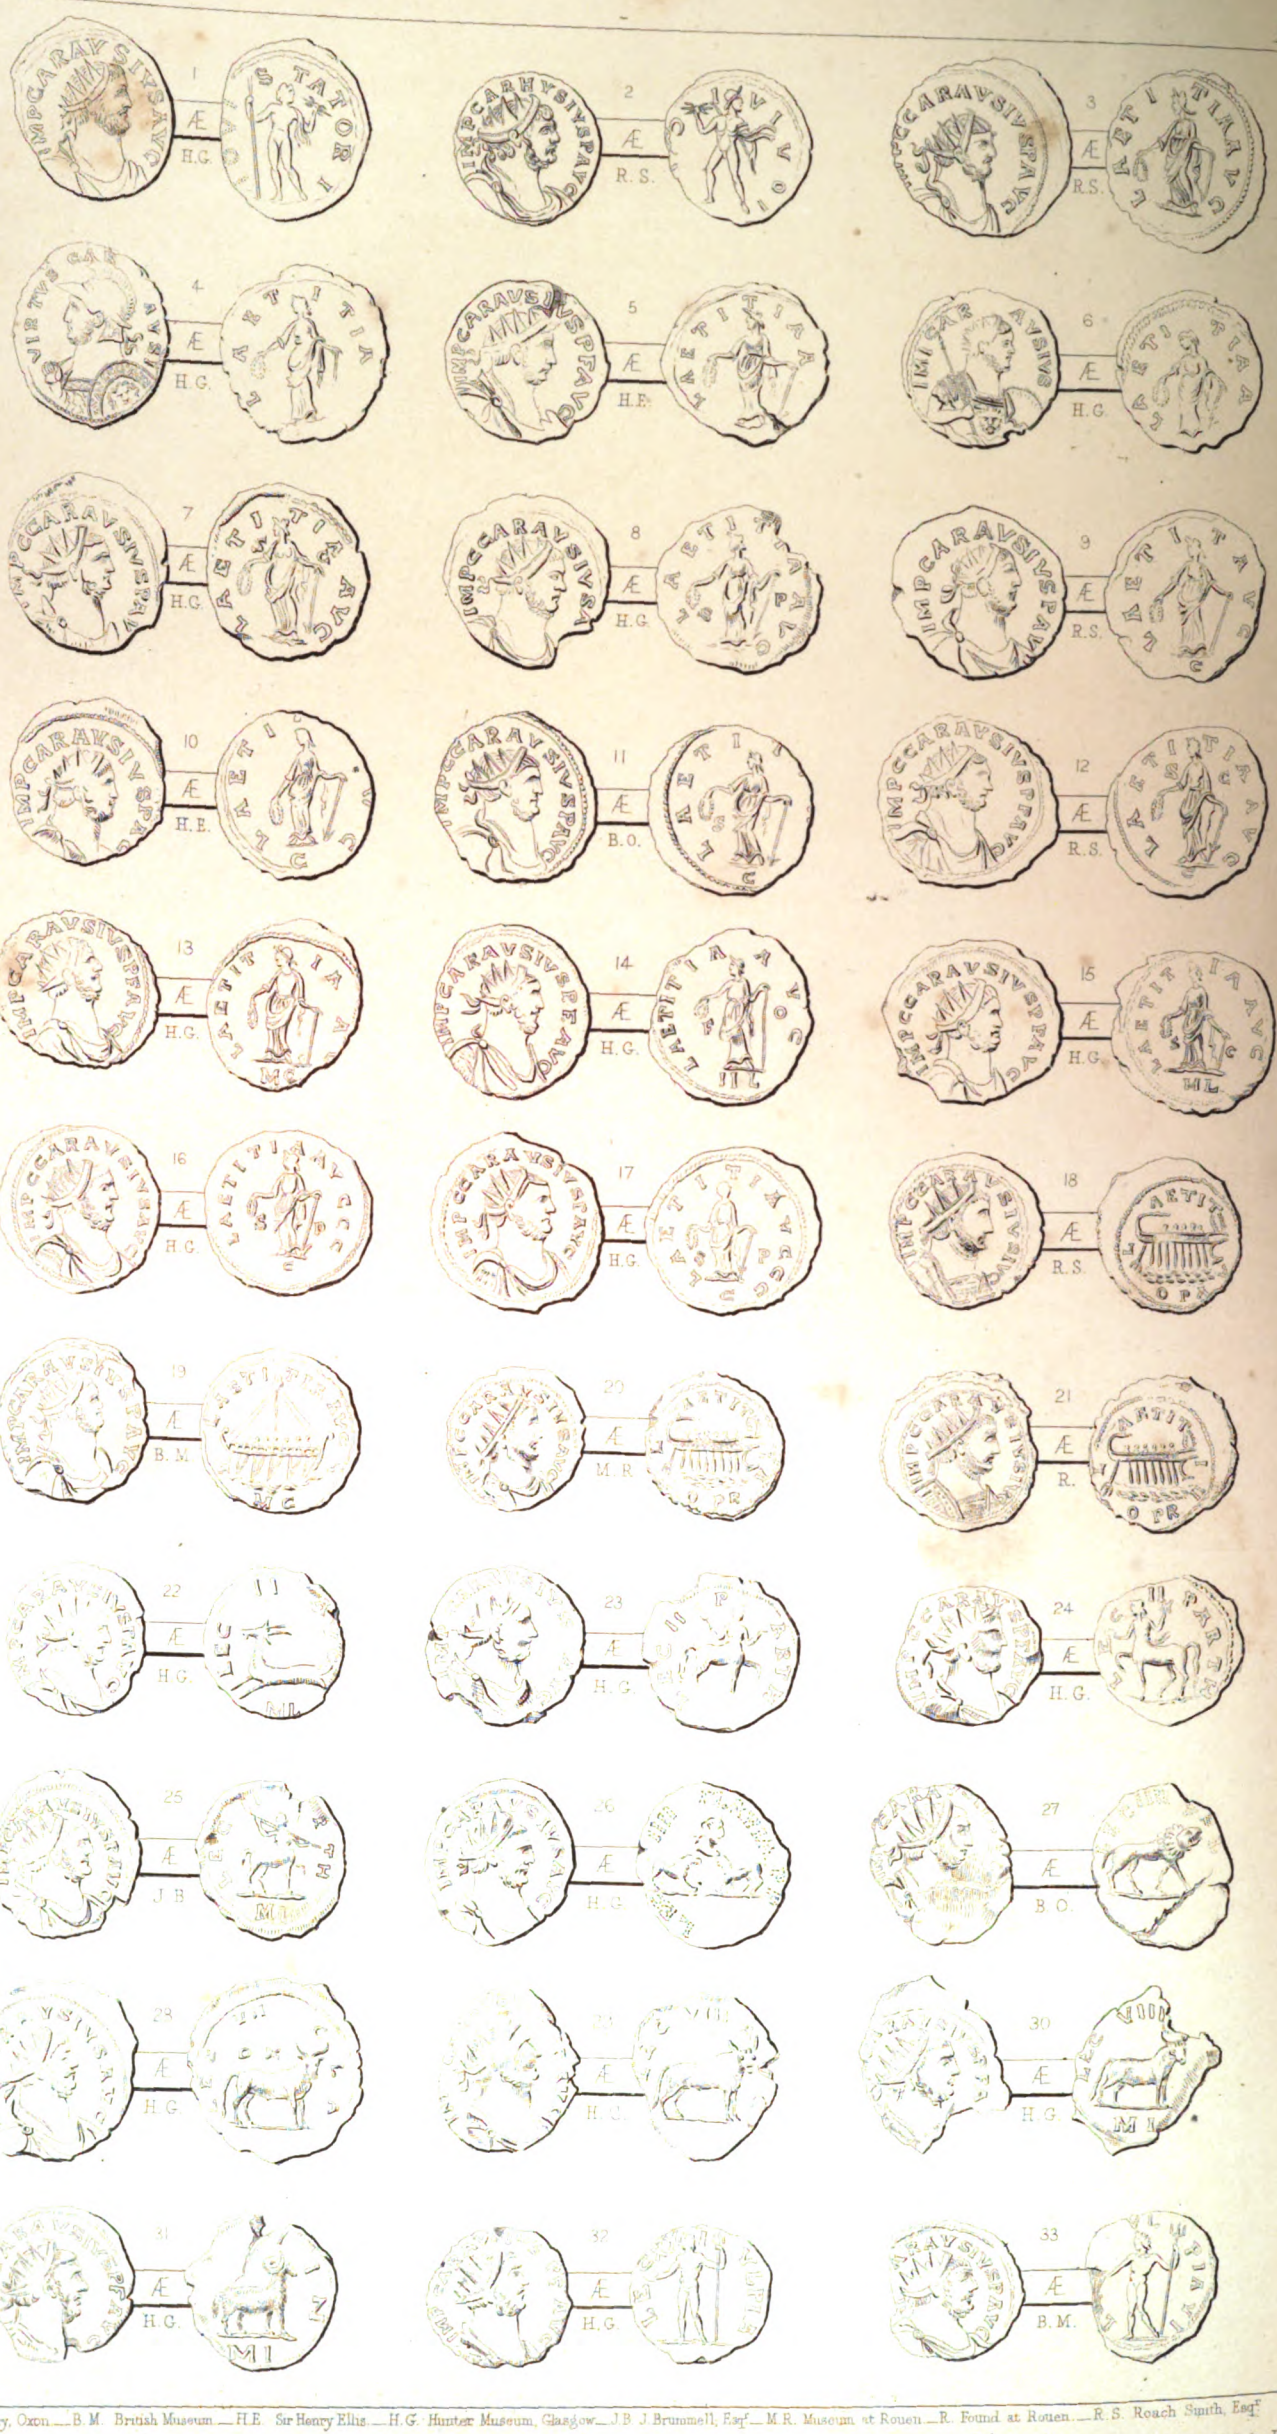
26. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, radiated, to the right.
℞. HERCVLI PA[CIF.] Hercules standing, holding a triple flower in his right hand, the club in his left, the lion's skin over his shoulders. J. C. Jones, Esq. Æ.

Digitized by Google



Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google



B.O. Bodleian Library, Oxon.—B.M. British Museum.—H.E. Sir Henry Ellis.—H.G. Hunter Museum, Glasgow.—J.B. J. Brummell, Esq^r.—M.R. Museum at Rouen.—R. Found at Rouen.—R.S. Roach Smith, Esq^r.

Standidge & Co^s. Lith^s. London.

Digitized by Google

27. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. HILARITAS AVG. Female standing, with a long palm branch in her right hand, and a cornucopia in the left; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

28. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. HILARITAS AVGGG. Female standing, with a long palm branch and cornucopia; in the field, S.P.; below, MLXXI. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

29. IMP. CARAVSIVS .... Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. INVICTVS AVG. The Sun running to the left, his right hand extended, his left holds a globe. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

30. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. IOVI AVG. Jupiter looking to the right, in the act of throwing his thunder, a long sceptre in his left hand; below, M.L.; in the field, S.P. Mr. J. Doubleday. Æ.

31. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. IOVI AVG. Jupiter standing to the front, in the act of throwing his thunder, a long sceptre in his left hand; in the field, S.P.; below, ML. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

32. IMP. CARAVSIVS ... Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. IOVI. C[ONSERVA]. The Emperor receiving the orb from Jupiter; below, P. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

33. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. IOVI CONSERVA. Jupiter standing, holding the thunder in his right hand, and a long sceptre in the left; in the field, S.P. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

PLATE VIII.

1. IMP. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. IOVI STATORI. Jupiter standing to the front, holds the sceptre in his right hand, and thunder in his left. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

2. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
R. OIV IVOI. Jupiter walking, to the left; holding thunder in his right hand, and the sceptre transversely in the left. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

3. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA AVG. Female standing, to the left; holding a wreath in her right hand, and an anchor in her left. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

4. VIRTVS CARAVSI. Bust of Carausius, helmeted, in armour, to the left; holds the spear in the right hand, and a shield on his left arm.
R. LAETITIA. Female standing, same as the last. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

5. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA A. Female standing, same as the last. Sir H. Ellis. Æ.

6. IMP. CARAVSIVS. Bust of Carausius in armour, radiated, to the right; a spear in his right hand, and a shield on his left arm.
R. LAETITIA A. Female standing, same as the last. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

7. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P. AV. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

8. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS A. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

9. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AV. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETIT. AVG. Female standing, same as the last; below, C. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

10. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETI. AVG. Female standing, same as the last; below, C. Sir H. Ellis. Æ.

11. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITI ... Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.; below, C. Bodleian Library, Oxford. Æ.

12. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.C.; below, C. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

13. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA AV. Female standing, same as the last; below, M.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

14. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, F.O.; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

15. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.C.; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

16. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA AVGGG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

17. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA AVGGG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

18. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS IVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETIT. AV. Galley with five rowers; below, O.P. C. R. Smith, Esq. (Found at Rouen.) Æ.

19. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA AVG. One masted galley with seven rowers; below, M.C. British Museum. Æ.

20. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA. Galley with six rowers; below, O.P.R. Rouen Museum. Æ.

21. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS IVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA. Galley with six rowers; below, O.P.R. Found at Rouen. Æ.

22. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LEG. II. AVG. Seagoat to the left; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

Digitized by Google

23. IMP. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LEG. II. PARTH. Centaur walking, to the right. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

24. IMP. C. CARAVS. P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LEG. II. PARTH. Centaur walking, to the left. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

25. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LEG. II. [PA]RTH. Centaur walking, to the right; holds a sceptre or long staff transversely with both hands; below, M.L. J. Brummell, Esq. Æ.

26. IMP. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LEG. IIII. FLAVIA P.F. Two lions facing each other; above, a youthful head. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

27. . . . . CARAVS . . . . Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LEG. IIII. FL. . . . Lion walking, to the right. Bodleian Library, Oxford. Æ.

28. IMP. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LEG. VII. CLA. An ox standing, to the right; above, DX. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

29. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LEG. VIII. AVG. An ox standing, to the right. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

30. . . . . CARAVSIVS P.F. A. Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
R. LEG. VIII. . . . An ox standing, to the right; below, ML. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

31. . . . CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
R. . . . . IN. Ram standing, to the right; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

32. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LEG. XXI. VLPIA. Neptune standing with his trident. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

33. . . . . ARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. L . . . . VLPIA. VI. Neptune standing with his trident. British Museum. Æ.

PLATE IX.

1. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LEG. IIXX. PRIMIC. Seagoat to the right. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

2. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. A . . . Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LEG. XX . . . . Boar standing, to the right. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

3. IMP. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LIBERALIT . . . . . Emperor seated, attended by two persons, presenting a donation to a person ascending the steps. J. Campbell, Esq. Æ.

4. IMP. CARAVSIVS . . . Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LIT . . A. Female standing, her right hand extended over a lighted altar, and a sceptre in her left hand. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

5. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. . . . Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
R. LIT . . . Female standing, holding a flower in her right hand, and a sceptre in the left. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

6. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LITITI. AV. Female standing, holding a wreath in her right hand, and a sceptre in the left. Sir H. Ellis. Æ.

7. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AV. Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
R. LITIT. AV. Female standing, holding a patra in her right hand over an altar, a long sceptre in the left. British Museum. Æ.

8. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. MARTI PACIF. Mars armed with a spear and shield, holding in his right hand a flower. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

9. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. MARTI. PACIFE. Mars armed with spear and shield, holding a flower in his right hand; in the field, S.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

10. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. MARS VICTO. Mars marching to the right, carrying a trophy upon his left shoulder, and a spear in his right hand; in the field, S.P.; below, C. British Museum. Æ.

11. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. MARS VICTO . . Mars standing to the right, his left hand resting on his shield, the spear in his right hand. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

12. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. MARS VICTO . . Mars marching to the right, carrying a trophy upon his left shoulder, and his spear in his right hand; in the field, S.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

13. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. MARS VICTOR. Mars standing to the right, the spear in his right hand. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

14. IMP. C. M. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. MARS VICTOR. Mars standing, holding his spear transversely in his right hand, and a globe in the left. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

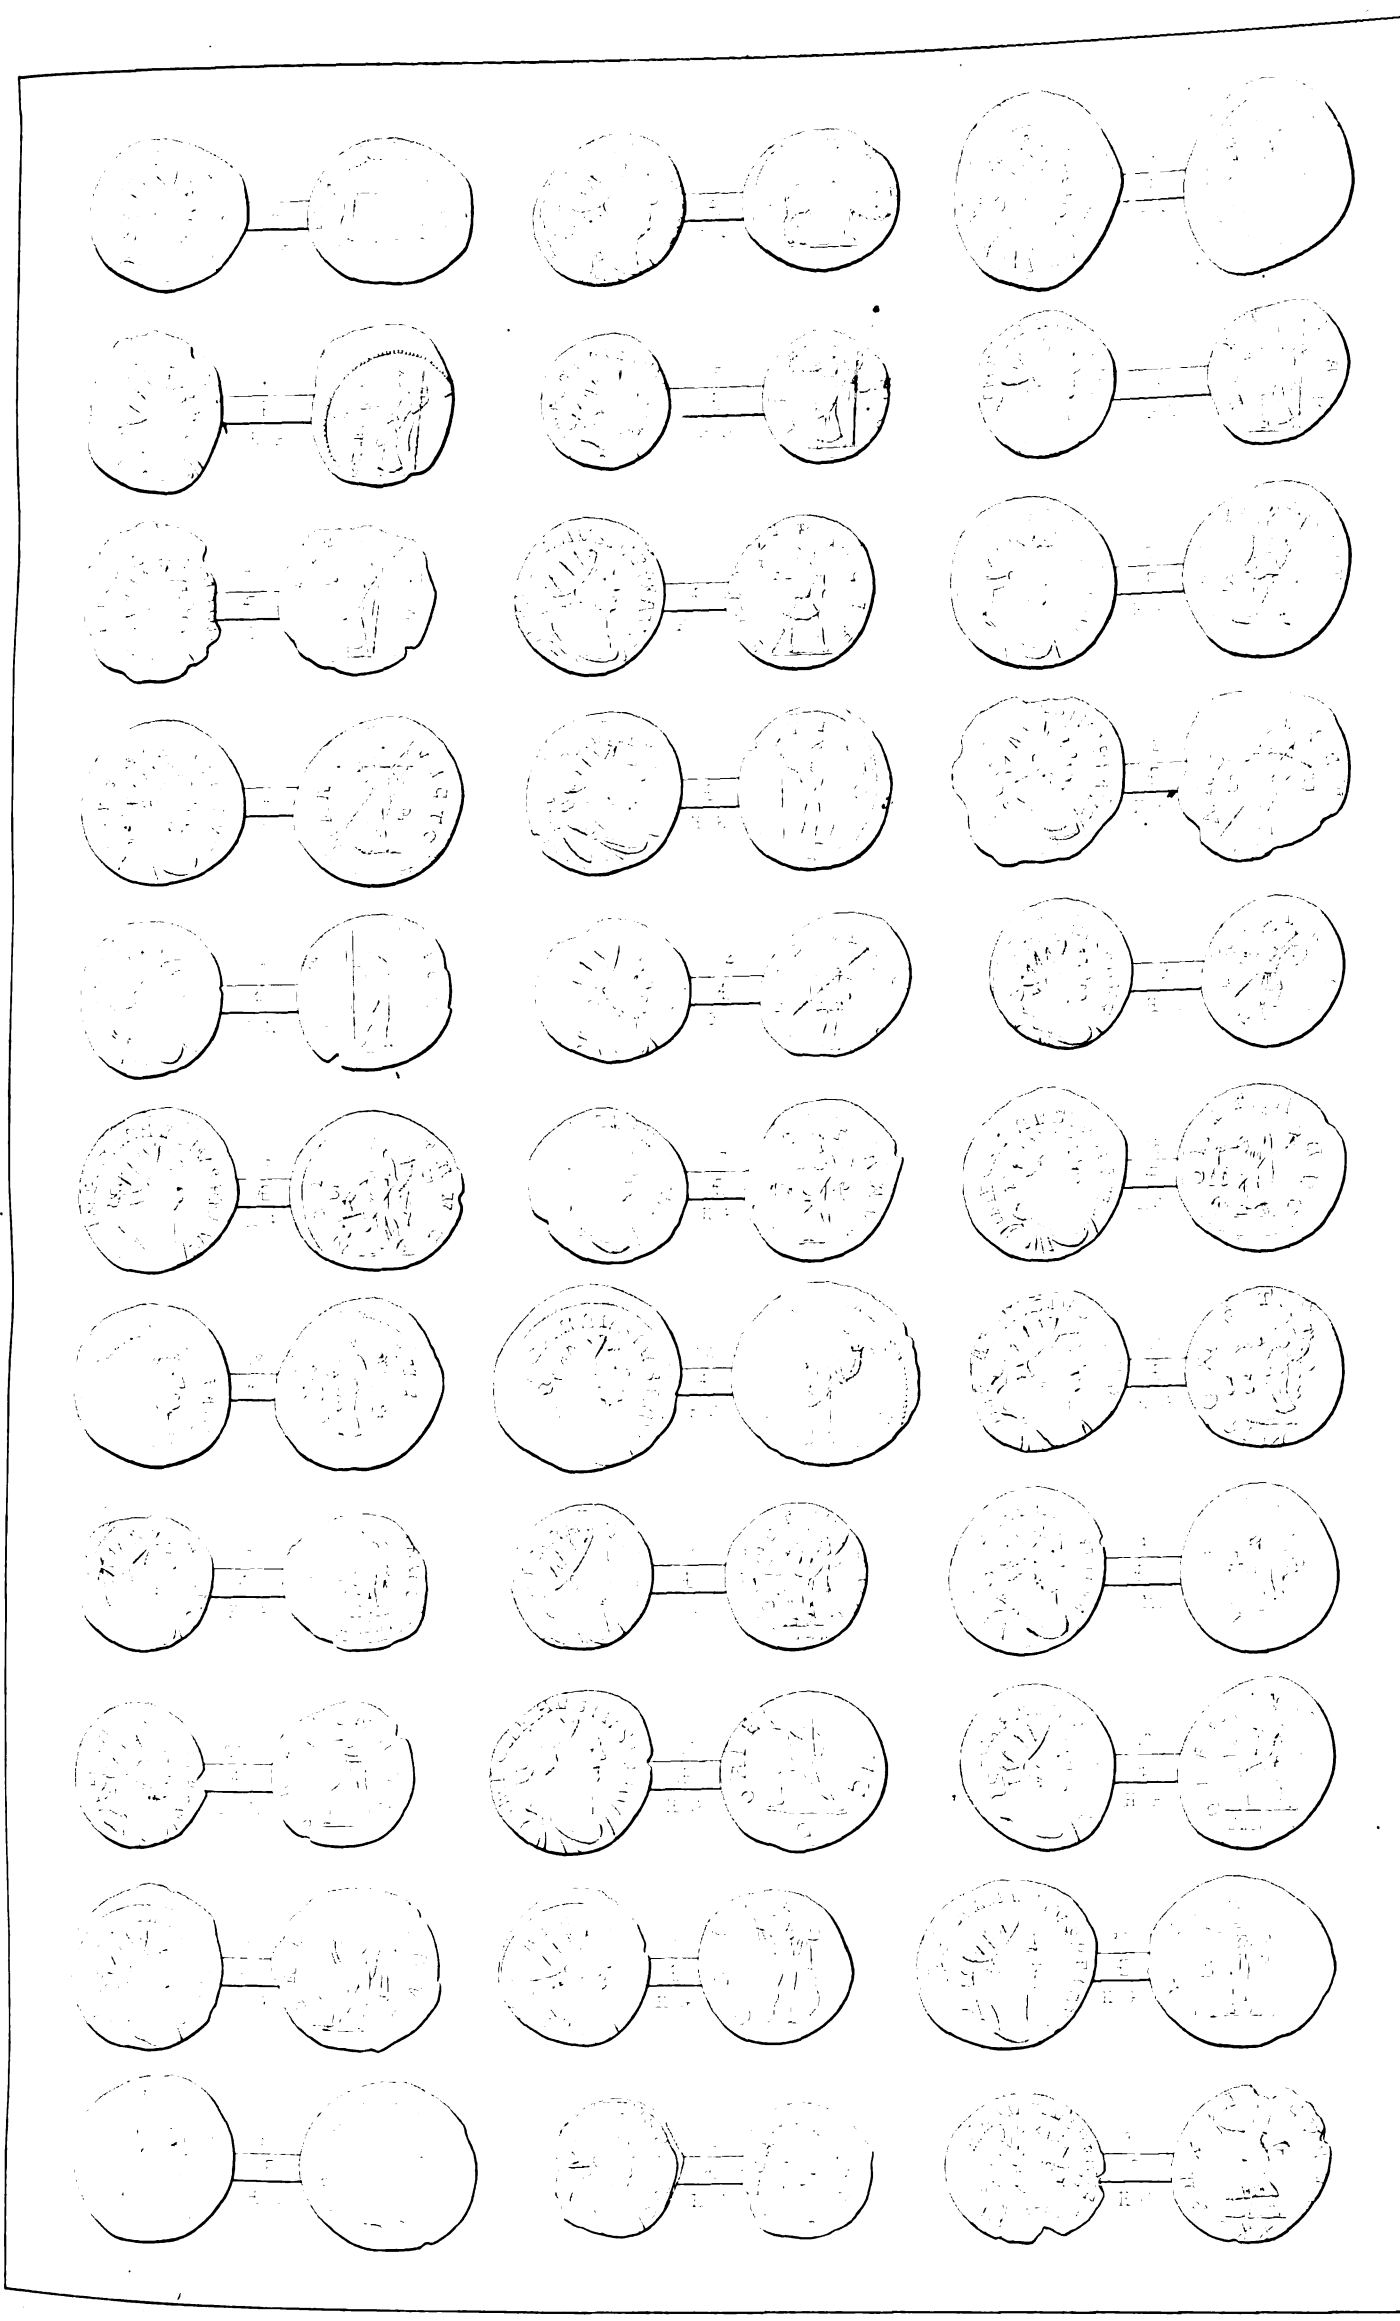
15. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. MARS VLTOR. Mars marching to the right, holding his spear transversely in his right hand, his shield on his left arm. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

16. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
R. MONETA AVG. Female standing, holding a pair of scales in her right hand, and a cornucopia in the left; in the field, S.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

17. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
R. MONETA AVG. Female standing, same as last. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

18. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. MONETA AVG. Female standing, same as the last. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

Digitized by Google



Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

B.M. British Museum — H.E. Sir Henry Ellis — H.G. Hunter Museum, Glasgow — R.S. Roach Smith, Esq^re — L. W.C. Lascombe, Esq^r

Standidge & Co. Litho. London.

Digitized by Google

19. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. MONETA AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P. Bodleian Library, Oxford. Æ.

20. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AV. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. MONETA AVG. Female standing, same as the last; below, C. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

21. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. MONETA A . . Female standing, same as the last; below, M. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

22. IMP. CAR . . . . . S P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
R. MONETA AVG. Female standing, same as the last; below, R.S.R. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

23. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AV. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. . . . ONETA AVGG. Female standing, same as the last. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

24. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. IN. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. MONETA AVGGG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, P. British Museum. Æ.

25. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. ORIEN. AVG. The Sun personified passing to the left, the right hand elevated, and holding the globe in the left; in the field a star. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

26. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. ORIE. AVG. The Sun personified passing to the left, with his right hand extended, and holding a whip in the left; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

27. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. ORIENS A . . The Sun personified passing to the left, holds a whip in his left hand, his right hand elevated; in the field, S.P.; below, MLXX. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

28. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. ORIENS AVG. Sun personified standing, his right hand elevated, in his left a globe; a captive seated on the ground. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

29. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. . . Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. ORIE . . . . . Sun personified, his right hand elevated, in his left a globe. Hunter Museum, Glagsow. Æ.

30. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. I. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. ORIENS AVG. The Sun personified standing, his right hand elevated, in his left a globe. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

31. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius, to the right.
R. PACATOR ORBIS. Head of the Sun radiated, to the right. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

32. . . . . IVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
R. PACATO . . . . . Head same as last. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

33. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Busts of Carausius and the Sun, to the left, side by side.
R. PAX AVGVSTA. Peace walking, to the right, holding a flower in her right hand, and the hasta in the left; below, CXX. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

PLATE X.

1. CARAVSIVS ET FRATRES SVI. Busts of Carausius, Diocletian, and Maximian, in armour, to the left.
R. PAX AVGGG. Peace standing, to the left, holding a flower in her right hand, and the sceptre in the left; in the field, S.P.; below, C. British Museum. Æ.

2. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

3. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. I. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

4. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last. Sir H. Ellis. Æ.

5. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

6. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AV. Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

7. IMP. CARAV . . . . . Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

8. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, B.E. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

9. IMP. CARAVSI . . . . . Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, F.O. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

10. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, S.C. British Museum. Æ.

11. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

12. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P. Sir H. Ellis. Æ.

13. IMP. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, a short sceptre in her right hand, and a long one in the left; in the field, + Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

14. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, holding a flower in her right hand, and a long sceptre in the left; below, C. British Museum. Æ.

15. . . . . RAAVSIVS P. VG. Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

16. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

Digitized by Google

17. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C. British Museum. Æ.

18. VIRTVS CARAVS . . . . . Bust of Carausius in armour, helmeted, to the left.
R. PA . . . . . Female standing, same as the last; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

19. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVGGG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C. W. Loscombe, Esq. Æ.

20. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. I. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVGGG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

21. . . . CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX A . . G. Peace standing, same as the last; below, III. British Museum. Æ.

22. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, helmeted, to the left; holding a spear in his right hand, and a shield on his left arm.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; below, M.L. British Museum. Æ.

23. IMP. CARAVSIVS . . . AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAO . . . . . Peace standing, same as the last; below, L.M. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

24. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, B.I; below, M. Sir H. Ellis. Æ.

25. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, F.O.; below, M.L. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

26. . . . CARAVSIV . . . . . Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. P . . X AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, F.O.; below, M.L. W. Loscombe, Esq. Æ.

27. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, L; below, M.L. British Museum. Æ.

28. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, S.C.; below, M.Γ. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

29. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, B.E.; below, MLXXI. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

30. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. . . AX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, B; below, . . . LXXI. British Museum. Æ.

31. VIRTVS CARAVSI. AVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, radiated, to the right; a spear in his right hand, and a shield on the left arm.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, B.E.; below, MLXXI. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

32. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; below, CXXI. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

33. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX . . . . Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, B.E.; below, MLXX . . C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

PLATE XI.

1. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, to the left, holding a flower in her right hand, and the hasta in the left; in the field, S.P.; below, ML^XXI. Mr. J. Doubleday. Æ.

2. IMP. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, holding a flower in her right hand, and the hasta transversely in the left. Sir H. Ellis. Æ.

3. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last. British Museum. Æ.

4. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

5. . . . . ARAVSIVS P.F. A. Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, an altar. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

6. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, P.Q. Bodleian Library, Oxford. Æ.

7. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. IM. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right. Æ.
R. PAX AVGGG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

8. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P. IM. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P. British Museum. Æ.

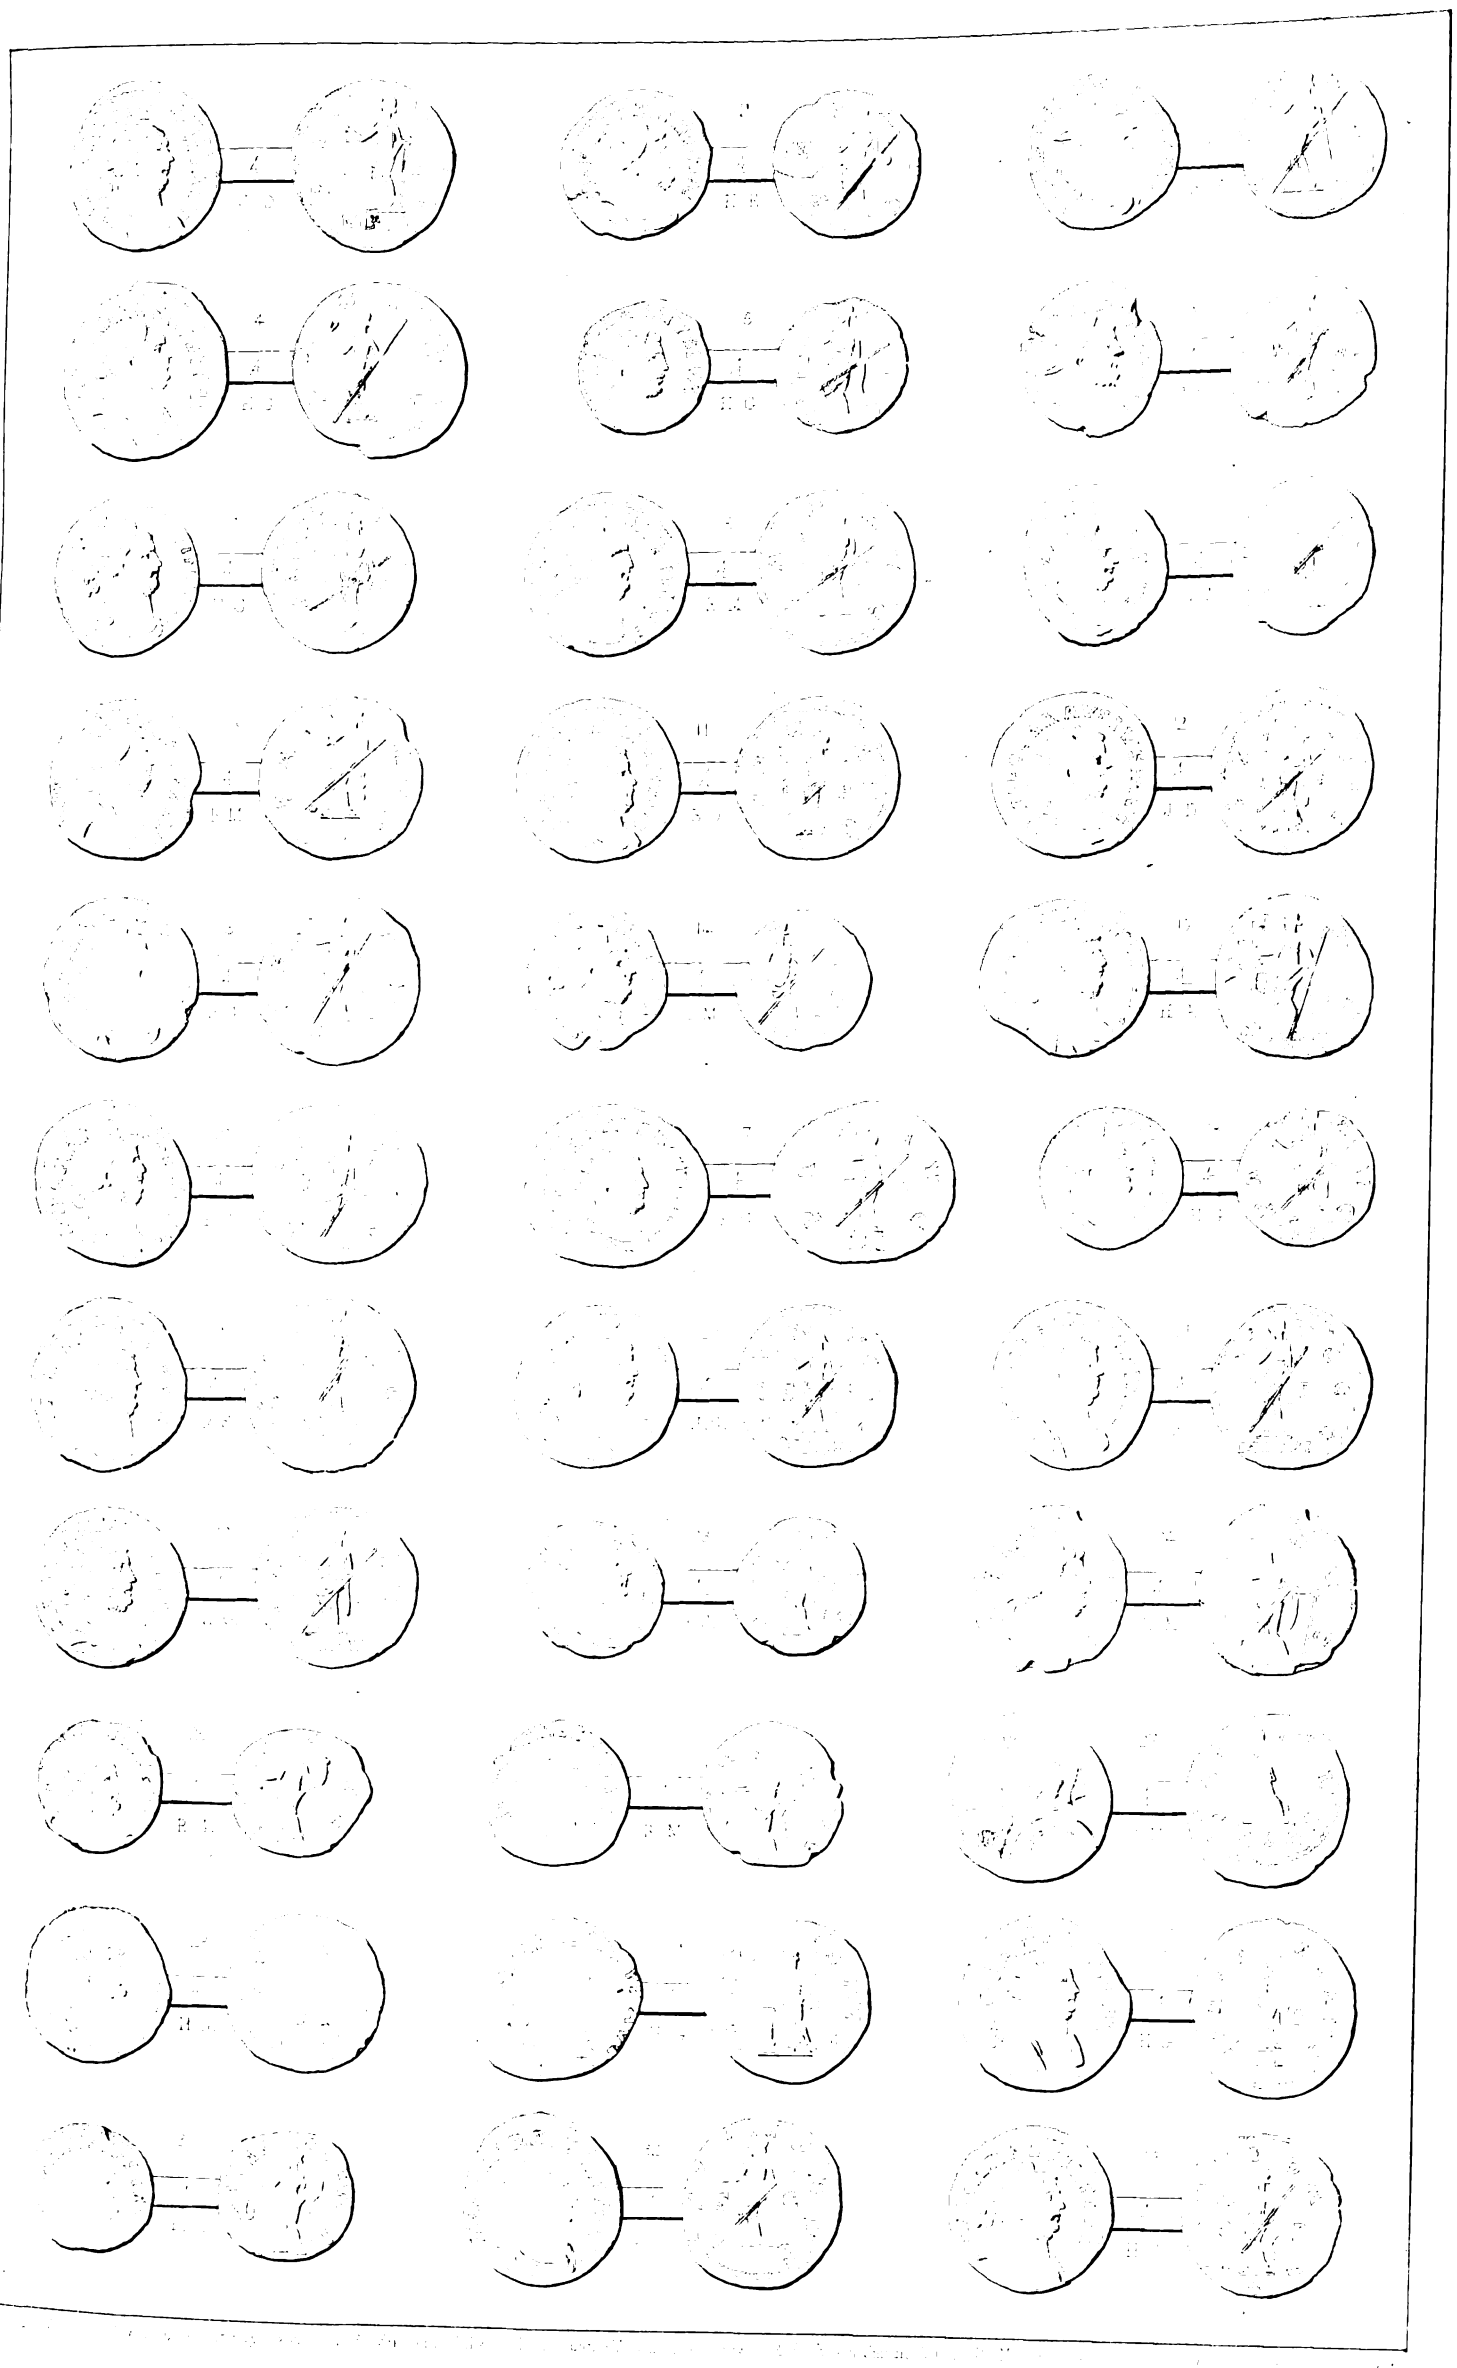
9. . . . CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, V.* Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

10. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; below, C. British Museum. Æ.

11. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Bodleian Library, Oxford. Æ.

12. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVGGG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Mr. John Doubleday. Æ.

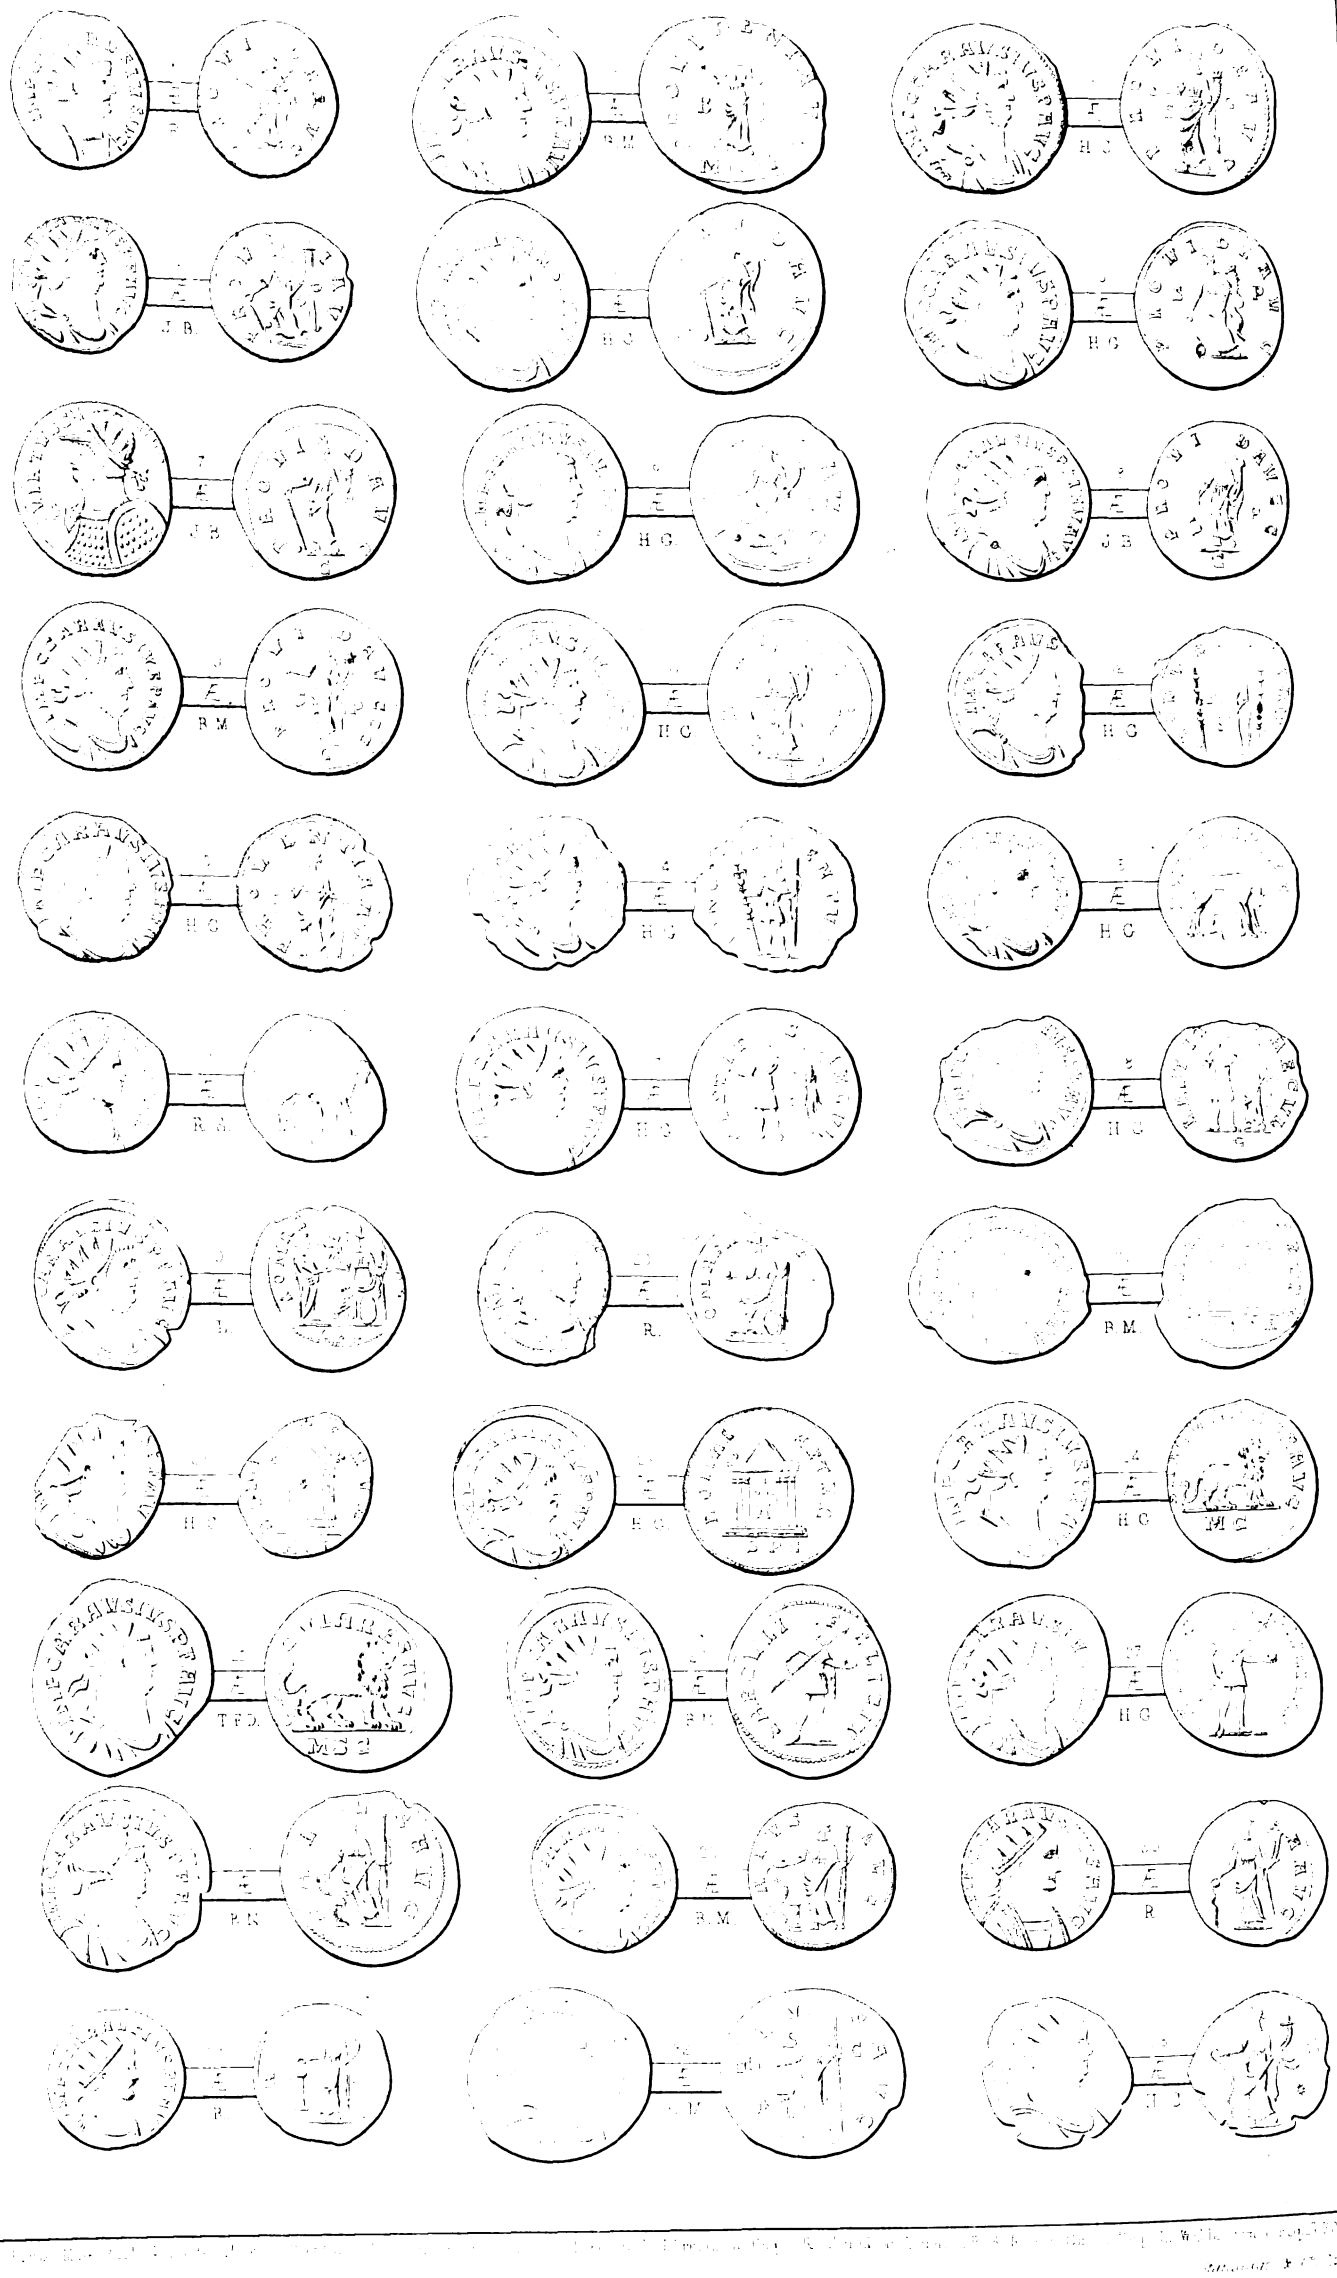
Digitized by Google



Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google



13. IMP. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; below, M.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

14. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AV. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. . . . . AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; below, M.C. British Museum. Æ.

15. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, E O; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

16. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, F.O.; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

17. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

18. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; below, I.M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

19. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, B.E; below, MLXXI. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

20. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVGGG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, MLXXI. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

21. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVGGG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, MLXXI. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

22. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, MLXXI. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

23. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, holding a flower in her right hand, her left resting upon the top of a short sceptre. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

24. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, same as the last. British Museum. Æ.

25. . . . . CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace standing, holding a flower in her right hand, and a cornucopia in the left. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

26. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. . . . AX AVG. Peace standing, holding a pair of scales in the right hand, and a cornucopia in the left. British Museum. Æ.

27. VIRTVS CARAVSI. Bust of Carausius in armour, helmeted, to the right; a spear in the right hand, and the shield on his left arm.
R. PAX AVG. Peace running to the left, holding a flower in her right hand, and a sceptre in the left; below, CXXI. British Museum. Æ.

28. IMP. C.M. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Peace running to the left, same as the last; below, MCXXI. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

29. IMP. C.M. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PIETAS AVG. Female standing, her right hand extended over an altar, and a cornucopia in the left. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

30. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. PIETAS AVG. Female standing, holding a patra over an altar; in the field, S.P.; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

31. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
R. PIETAS AVGVSTI. Female standing, holding a garland in her right hand, and a cornucopia in the left. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

32. IMP. C.M. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PROVID. AVG. Female standing, holding the orb in her right hand, and the sceptre transversely in the left; in the field, S.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

33. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PROVID. AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

PLATE XII.

1. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS IVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. PROVIDE. AVG. Female standing, holding the orb in her right hand, and the sceptre transversely in the left. Found at Rouen. Æ.

2. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PROVIDENT. AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, B; below, MLXXI. British Museum. Æ.

3. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PROVIDE. AVG. Female standing, holding the orb in her right hand, and a cornucopia in the left; in the field, S.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

4. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PROVI. AVG. Female standing, her right hand resting upon the top of a short sceptre; a small globe on the ground. J. Brummell, Esq. Æ.

5. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PROVID. AVG. Female standing, same as the last. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

Digitized by Google

6. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
   ℞. PROVIDE. AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

7. VIRTVS CARAV .... Bust of Carausius in armour, helmeted, to the left; the spear in his right hand, his shield on the left arm.
   ℞. PROVID. AVG. Female standing, same as the last; below, C. J. Brummell, Esq. Æ.

8. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
   ℞. PROVID. AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S C.; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

9. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. INV. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
   ℞. PROVID. AVGG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C. J. Brummell, Esq. Æ.

10. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. PROVID. AVGGG. Female standing, holding the orb in her right hand, and the cornucopia in the left; in the field, S.P.; below, C. British Museum. Æ.

11. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. PROVIDEN. AVG. Female standing, her right hand rests upon the top of a short sceptre, the cornucopia in the left hand; a small globe on the ground; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

12. IMP. CARAVSI ..... Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. PROVIDENTIA AVG. Female standing, holding in each hand a military standard. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

13. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. A. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. PROVDNTIA AV. Female standing, holding a wreath in her right hand, her left resting upon the top of a short sceptre. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

14. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. PRINCIPI IVVENTVT. Military figure standing, holding a standard in his right hand, and a spear in the left. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

15. IMP. CARAVSIVS. P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. RENOVAT. ROMA. Wolf and twins. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

16. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
    ℞. RENOVAT .... Female milking a cow. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

17. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. RESTIT. SAECVL. Emperor standing, holding the orb in the right hand, and a spear in the left; behind him Victory holding a palm branch. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

18. IMP. C .... IVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. RESTIT. SAECVL. Emperor standing, same as the last; behind him a female; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

19. . . . CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. ROMAE ..... AE. Rome personified seated, holding a victory in her right hand, and a spear in the left; in front, the Emperor standing; below, CXXI. W. Loscombe, Esq. Æ.

20. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. ROMAE AETER. Rome personified seated upon a shield, holding the orb in her right hand, the spear in the left. Found at Rouen. Æ.

21. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. ROMAE AETER. Figure standing within a temple of six columns; below, RA. British Museum. Æ.

22. IM ..... VS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
    ℞. ROM .... E.. RVA. Figure standing within a temple of six columns; below, R C I. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

23. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. ROMAE AETER. Figure seated within a temple of six columns; below, S.P.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

24. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AV. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. SAECVLARES AVG. Lion standing, to the right; below, M.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

25. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. SAECVLARES AVG. Lion standing, to the right; below, M.S.C. Rev. T. F. Dymock. Æ.

26. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. SAECVLI FELICIT. Emperor standing, to the right, holding the orb in his right hand, and his spear transversely in the left. British Museum. Æ.

27. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. SAECVLI FELICITAS. Emperor standing, same as the last. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

28. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. SALVS AVG. Female standing, feeding a serpent entwined round an altar, in her left hand a long sceptre. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. Æ.

29. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. SALVS AVG. Female standing, same as the last. British Museum. Æ.

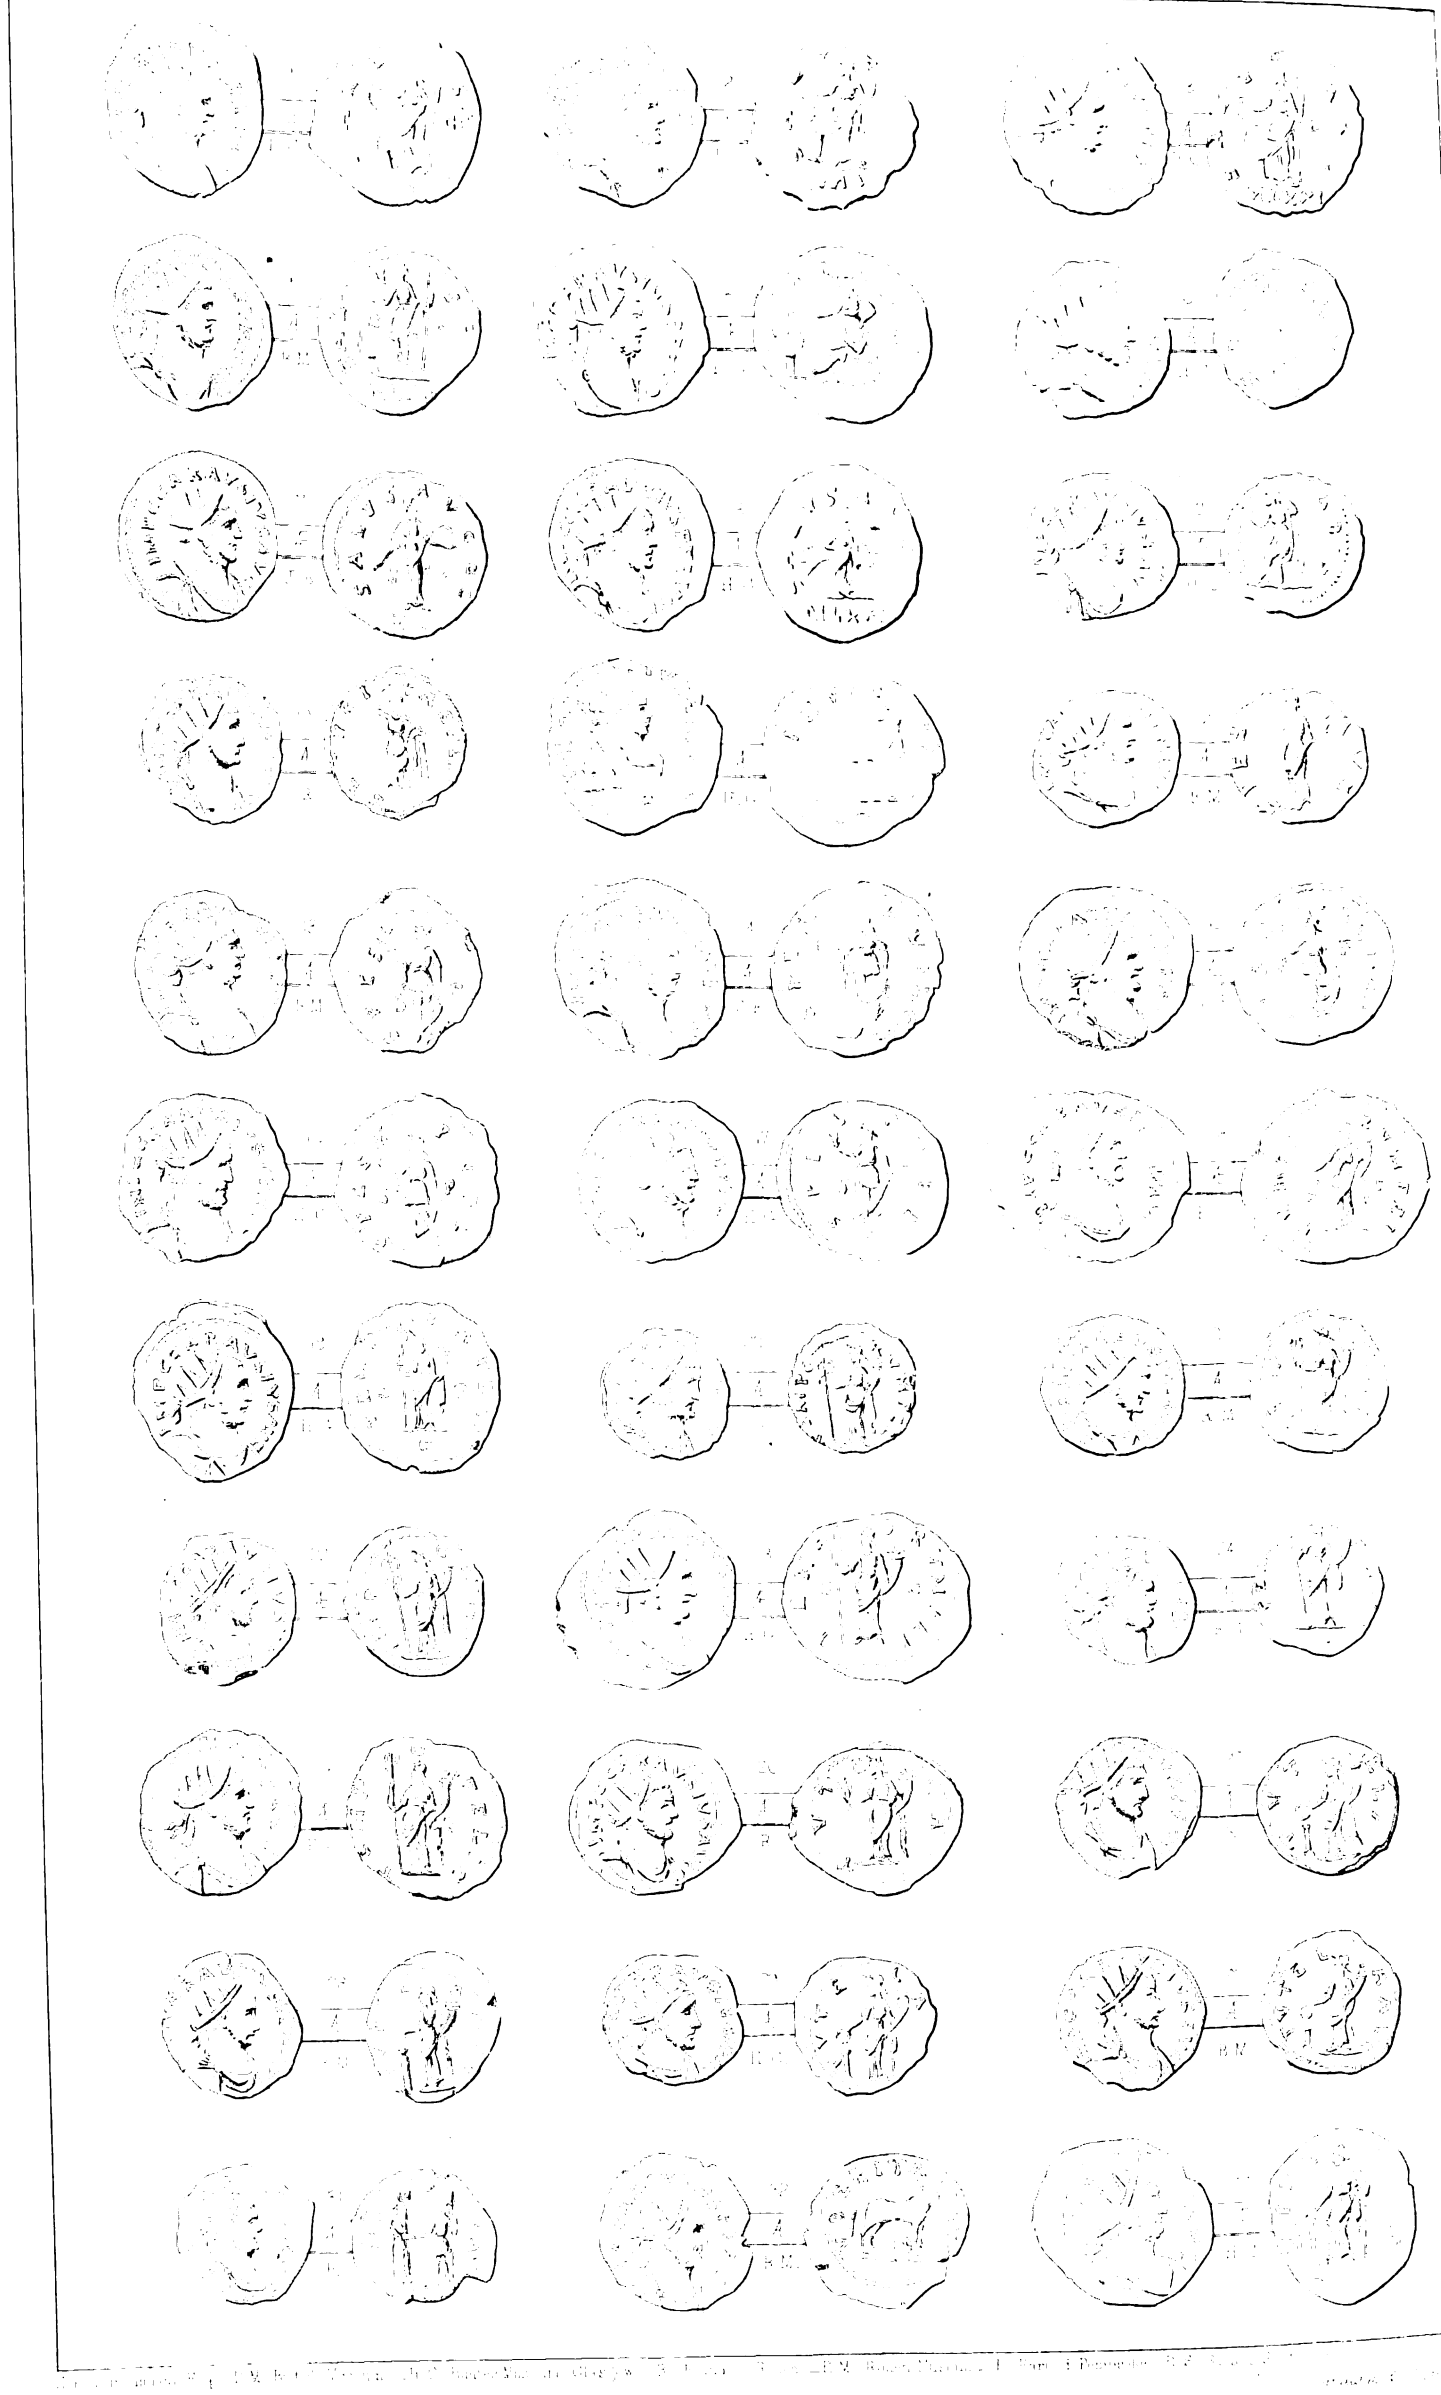
30. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS AVG. Draped bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
    ℞. .... A. AVG. Female standing, feeding a serpent, the cornucopia in the left hand. Found at Rouen. Æ.

31. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. SALVS AVG. Female standing, feeding a serpent near an altar, similar to the last. Found at Rouen. Æ.

32. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. SALVS AVG. Female feeding a serpent entwined round an altar, the sceptre in her left hand; in the field, S.C. British Museum. Æ.

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google



Digitized by Google

33. IMP. CARAV . . . . . Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. . . . . V. . . . . Female standing, feeding a serpent, the cornucopia in the left hand; in the field, *. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

PLATE XIII.

1. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. SALVS AVG. Female standing, feeding a serpent entwined round an altar, the sceptre in the left hand; in the field, C; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

2. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. SALV . . . . Female standing, same as the last; below, MI. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

3. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. SALVS AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, B E.; below, MLXXI. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

4. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. SALVS A . . . Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.F.; below, MLXXI. British Museum. Æ.

5. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. SALVS AVG. Female seated, feeding a serpent entwined round an altar. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

6. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. SALVS AVG. Æsculapius standing. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

7. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. SALVS AVGGG. Female standing, feeding a serpent which she holds in her right hand; in the field, S.P.; below, M.C. J. Brummell, Esq. Æ.

8. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. SALVS AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, MLXXI. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

9. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. SECVRI. ORBIS. Female seated, her head resting upon her left hand, a short sceptre in the right. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

10. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. SECVRITAS PERP. Female standing, leaning upon a column; her right hand raised up to her head. Found at Rouen. Æ.

11. IMP. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, radiated, to the right; spear in the right hand, his shield upon the left arm.
R. SOLI INVICTO. Sun in a chariot with four horses at speed, to the left; below, V.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

12. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. SPES AVG. Female standing, holding a flower in her left hand. British Museum. Æ.

13. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. SPES . . . . . Female walking to the left, holding her drapery with the left hand, and a flower in her right; in the field, S.P. British Museum. Æ.

14. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. SPES PVBLICA. Female walking, same as the last. J. Brummell, Esq. Æ.

15. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. IN. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. SPES PVBLICA. Female walking, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

16. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS. P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. SPES PVBL. Female walking, same as the last; in the field, S.P. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

17. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. SPES PVBL. Female walking, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

18. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. TEMPORVM FEL. Female standing, holding a wreath in the right hand, and the cornucopia in her left; in the field, S.P. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

19. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. TEMPORVM FELI. Female standing, holding a long caduceus in her right hand, and the cornucopia in the left; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

20. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. TEMPORVM FEL. Female standing, same as the last. Found at Rouen. Æ.

21. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. TEMPORVM F. Female standing, same as the last. Rouen Museum. Æ.

22. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS IVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. TEMPORVM F. Female standing, same as the last. Found at Rouen. Æ.

23. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. TEMPORVM FEL. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

24. IMP. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
R. TEM . . . . FELICIT. Female standing, same as the last; below, C. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

25. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. TEMPO. FELIC. Female standing, same as the last. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

Digitized by Google

26. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. TVTELA. Female standing, holding a flower in her right hand, and the cornucopia in the left. Found at Rouen. Æ.

27. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. TVTELA. Female standing, holding a wreath in her right hand over an altar, and the cornucopia in the left. Found at Rouen. Æ.

28. . . . CARAVSIVS F.P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. TVTELA AVG. Female standing, her right hand extended over an altar, the cornucopia in the left. British Museum. (Found at Rouen.) Æ.

29. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS F.P. AG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. TVTELA . . . Female standing, holding a patera? over an altar, and the cornucopia in the left hand. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.
 This coin agrees in the portrait, style of work, and fabric with those found at Rouen during the railway works in 1846, and appears to be from the same mintage.

30. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. TVTELA AVG. Female standing, same as the last. British Museum. (Found at Rouen.) Æ.

31. IMP. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. VBERITAS AVG. Two figures standing, taking each other by the hand, one holds a trident, the other a spear; below, R.S.R. Earl of Pembroke, now in the British Museum. Æ.

32. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. VBERITA. AVG. Female milking a cow; below, R.S.R. British Museum. Æ.

33. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. VENERA. AVG. Female standing, feeding a serpent near an altar, a long sceptre in the left hand. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

PLATE XIV.

1. . . . . VS . . . Bust of Carausius, to the right, radiated.
R. VICTORIA . . . Female standing, holding a long sceptre; below, MC. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

2. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. VICTORIA AVG. Victory walking, to the left, holding a wreath in her right hand, and a palm branch in the left; in the field, S.P.; below, C. British Museum. Æ.

3. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. VICTORIA AVG. Victory walking, same as the last; below, M.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

4. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. VICTORIA AVG. Victory walking, to the right, holding a wreath in her right hand, and the palm branch in the left; below, CXXI. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

5. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. VICTORIA AVG. Victory walking, same as the last. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

6. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. VICTOR . . . . AVG. Victory walking, to the left; similar to the last. British Museum. Æ.

7. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. VICTORIA AVG. Victory walking, to the left, holding a wreath in her right hand, and a palm branch in the left; a captive seated on the ground; in the field, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

8. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. VIC . . . IA AVG. Victory and captive, same as the last; below, M.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

9. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. VICT . . IA AVG. Victory and captive, same as the last; in the field, B*E; below, MLXXI. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

10. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. VICTORIA AVG. Victory standing upon a globe, to the left; two captives seated upon the ground; in the field, B. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

11. IMP. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. VICTOR AGER. Two captives seated at the foot of a trophy. Bodleian Library, Oxford. Æ.

12. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. VIRTVS AVG. Military figure standing, with a spear and shield. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

13. . . . CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
R. VIRTVS AVG. Military figure, same as the last. Sir H. Ellis. Æ.

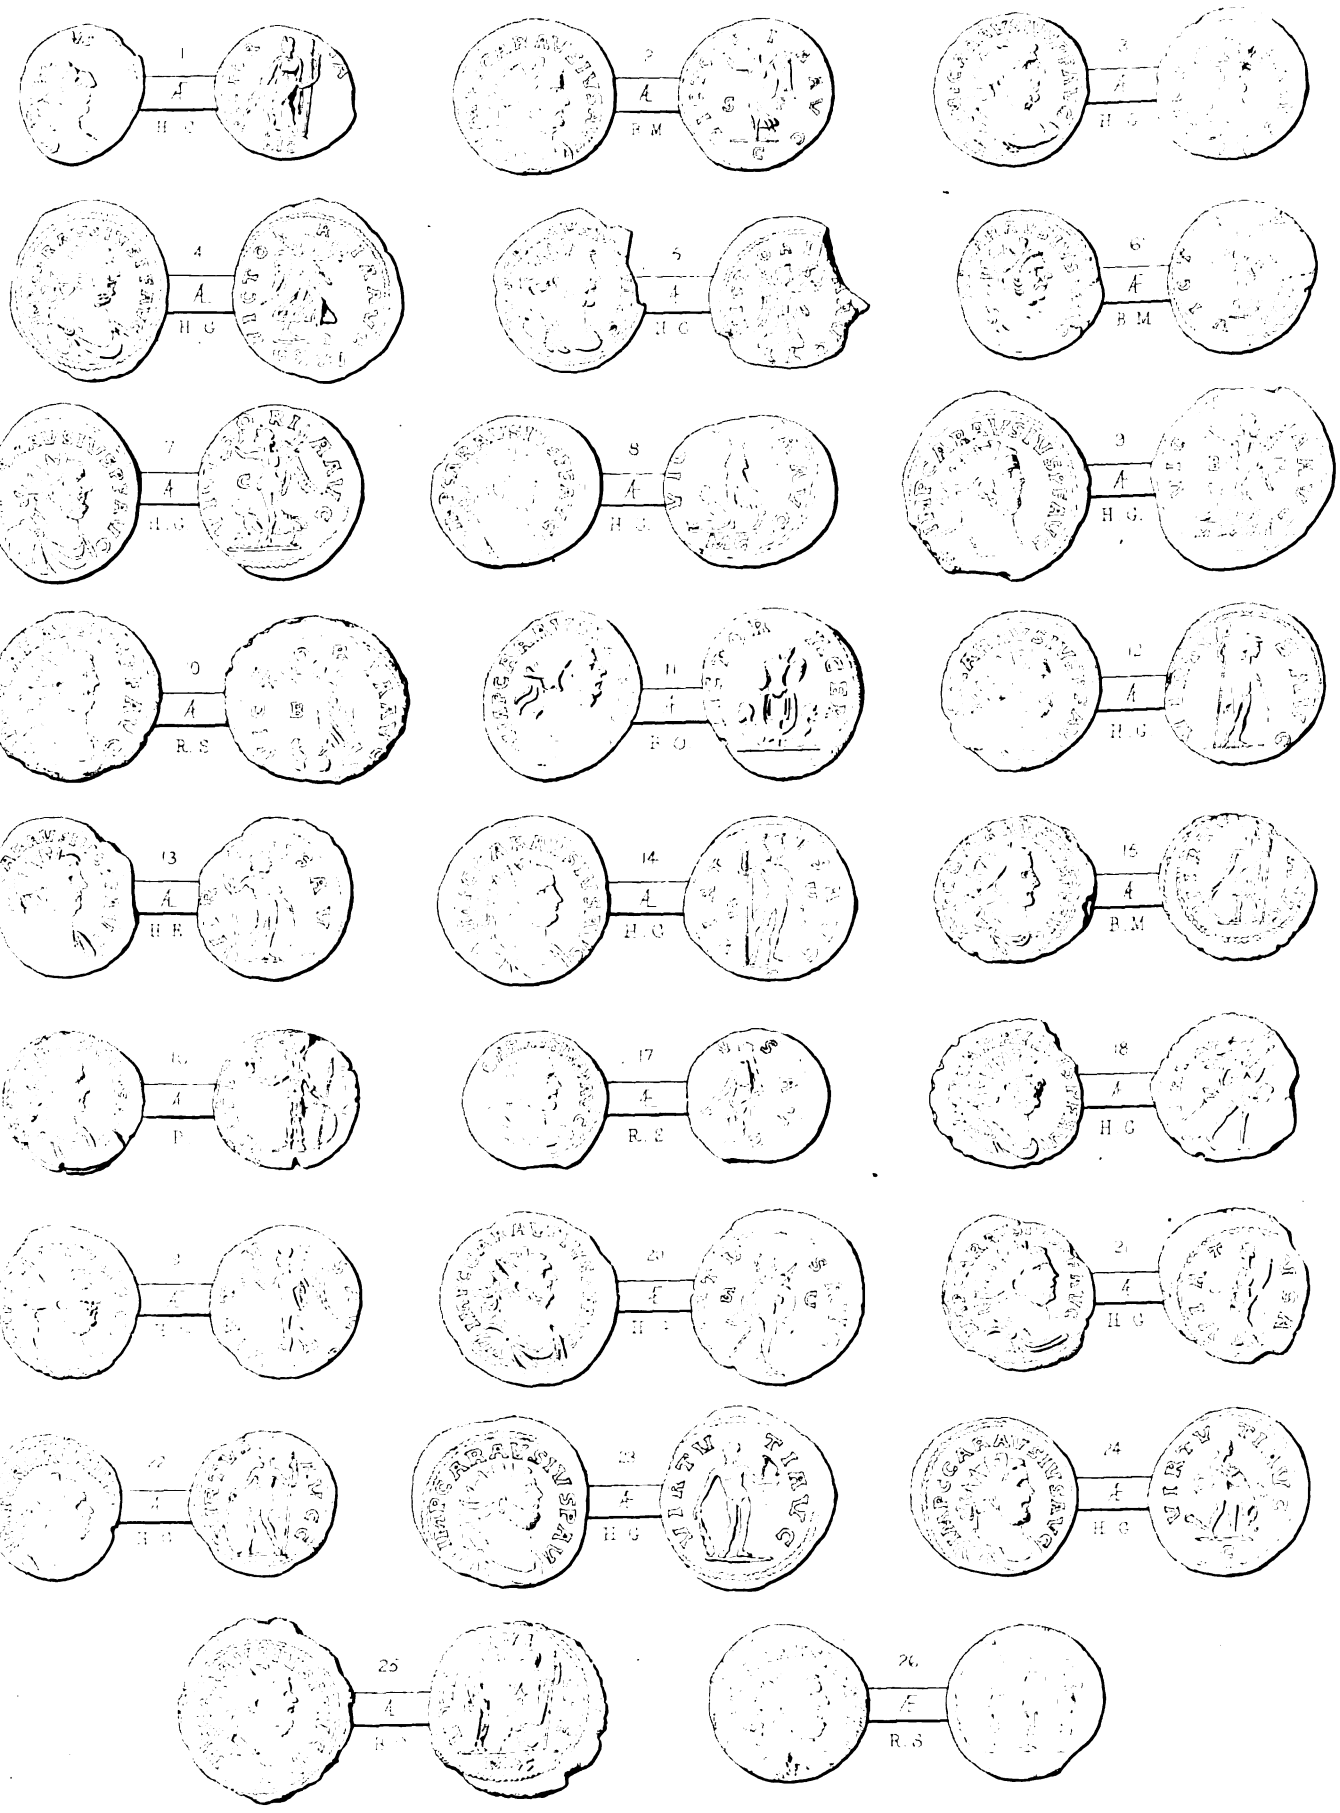
14. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. VIRTVS AVG. Military figure, same as the last; in the field, S.C; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

15. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. VIRTVS AVG. Military figure standing, to the left, with a spear and shield. British Museum. (Found at Rouen.) Æ.

16. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. VIRTVS AVG. Military figure standing, holding a victory in his right hand, and the spear and shield in the left. Found at Rouen. Æ.

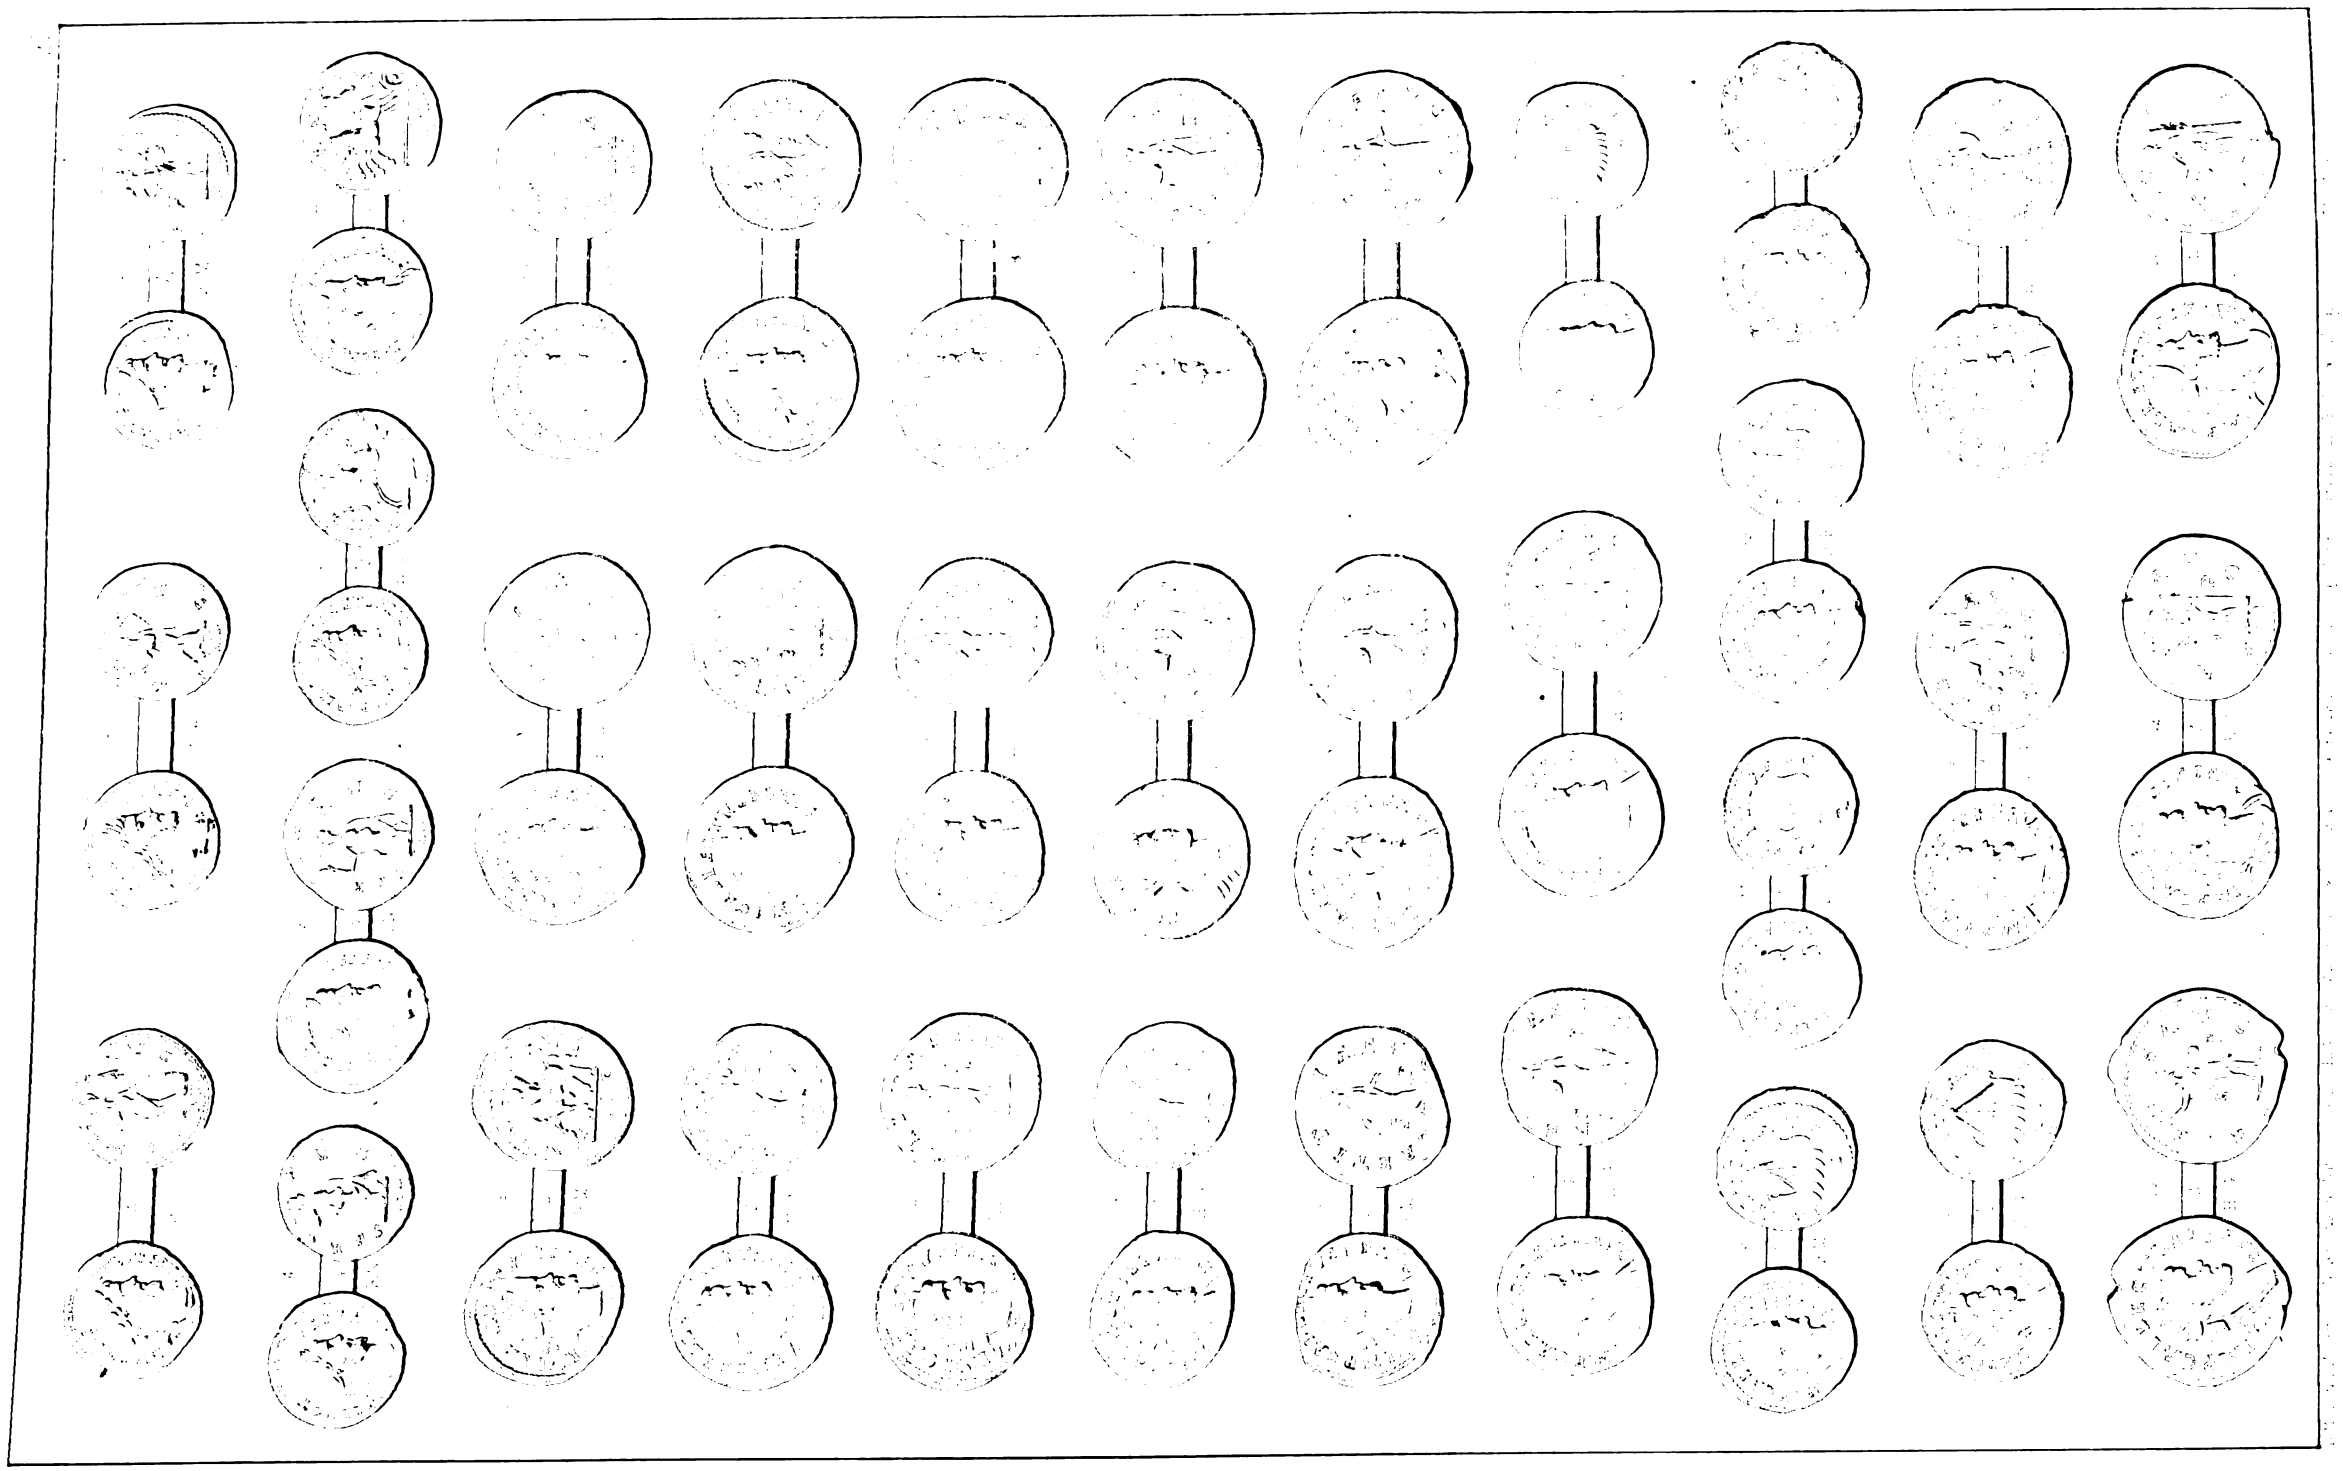
17. . . . . CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. . . . VS AVG. Veiled figure sacrificing at an altar. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

Digitized by Google



Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google



Digitized by Google

18. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. VIRTVS . . . Mars marching, to the right; holding his spear in the right hand, and a trophy on his left shoulder. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

19. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. VIRTVS AVG. Victory walking, to the left; holding a wreath in the right hand, and a palm branch in the left. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

20. IMP. C CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. VIRTVS AVG. Mars marching, to the right, with his spear and shield; in the field, S.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

21. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. VIRTVS A. Female standing, holding the orb in the right hand, and a cornucopia in the left. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

22. IMP. CARAVSIVS . . . . Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
R. VIRTVS AVGG. Military figure standing, with a spear and shield. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

23. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AV. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. VIRTVTI AVG. Hercules standing, with his bow and club. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

24. IMP. C. CARAVSIVS AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. VIRTVTI AVG. Hercules strangling the Nemæan lion; behind him his club; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

25. IMP. CARAVSIVS P. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. VOTA. QVI. CAE. Rome seated, presenting a victory to the emperor; below, MX. Bodleian Library, Oxford. Æ.

26. IMP. CARAVSIVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius radiated, to the right.
R. . . . . Three figures standing. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

PLATE XV.

1. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in the toga, laureated, to the right.
R. COMES AVG. Pallas standing, holding a flower in her right hand, and the spear and shield in the left; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. N.

2. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, laureated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Female standing, holding a flower in her right hand, and the hasta transversely in the left; below, M.L. British Museum. N.

3. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, laureated, to the right.
R. SALVS AVG. Female standing, feeding a serpent which she holds in her right hand; below, M.L. British Museum. N.

4. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in the toga, laureated, to the right.
R. SPES AVG. Female walking, to the left; holding a flower in her right hand, and her garments up with the left; below, M.L. *Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. N.

5. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, laureated, to the right.
R. SPES AVG. Female walking, same as the last; below, M.L. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. N.

6. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, laureated, to the right.
R. VIRTVS AVG. A mounted warrior armed with a spear riding over a fallen military figure; in the field, D. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. N.

7. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, laureated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Female in a chariot drawn by two horses, holding a flower in her right hand; below, M.L. Bodleian Library, Oxford. N.

8. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. ADVENTVS AVG. An equestrian figure riding over a captive seated upon the ground; below, S.P.C. British Museum. Æ.

9. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. AEQVITAS AVG. Female standing, holding a pair of scales and a cornucopia; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

10. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. AEQVI[TAS AVG.] Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.A.; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

11. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. FELICITAS SAECVLI. Female standing, holding a patra over a lighted altar, in her left hand a long caduceus; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

12. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. FIDE . MILITV. Female standing with military ensign; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

13. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. FIDES MILITVM. Female standing, holding a military ensign in each hand; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Bodleian Library, Oxford. Æ.

14. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. HILARITAS AVG. Female standing, holding a long palm branch in the right hand, and the cornucopia in the left; in the field, S.P.; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

15. IMP. C. ALLECTVS . . AVG. Bust of Allectus radiated, to the right.
R. IOVI CONSERVATORI. Jupiter standing, holding the thunderbolt in his right hand, the hasta in the left; in the field, S.P. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

---

* This and the following coin were stolen with the whole of the Roman gold series from the Bibliothèque du Roi at Paris about twelve years since, and were melted down. The metal was recovered, and amounted in value to 200,000 francs. Previously to the robbery casts were made from the originals by Mr. J. Doubleday

Digitized by Google

16. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.I. FE. AVG. Bust of Allectus in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. IOVI CONSER. Jupiter standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P; below, C. G. Bööcke, Esq. Æ.

17. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA AVGVSTI. Female standing, holding in her right hand a garland, and in her left a short javelin point downwards; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

18. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

19. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETIT. AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

20. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C.L. British Museum. Æ.

21. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITI. AVG. Female standing, same as the last; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

22. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.A.; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

23. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.A.; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

24. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.A.; below, M.C.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

25. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA AVG. A galley with mast and oars; below, Q.C. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

26. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA AVG. Galley with mast and four rowers; below, Q.C. British Museum. Æ.

27. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA AVG. Galley with mast and four rowers; below, Q.C. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

28. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA AVG. Galley with mast and four rowers; below, Q.C. Sir H. Ellis. Æ.

29. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA AVG. Galley with mast and six rowers; below, Q.C. Bodleian Library, Oxford. Æ.

30. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. LAETITIA AVG. Galley with mast and six rowers; below, Q.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

31. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. MONET. AVG. Female standing, holding a pair of scales and the cornucopia; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

32. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. MONETA AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.A.; below, M.L. Sir H. Ellis. Æ.

33. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. ORIENS AVG. Sun standing, his right hand elevated, and holding the orb in the left; in the field, S.P. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

34. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P. I. AVG. Bust of Allectus in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Female standing, holding a flower in the right hand, and the hasta in the left; in the field, S.P. Bodleian Library, Oxford. Æ.

35. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

PLATE XVI.

1. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. IN. AVG. Bust of Allectus radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Female standing, holding a flower in the right hand, and the hasta in the left; in the field, S.; below, C. Sir H. Ellis. Æ.

2. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Female standing, holding a flower in the right hand, and the hasta transversely in the left; in the field, S.P.; below, C. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

3. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. I. AVG. Bust of Allectus in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C. British Museum. Æ.

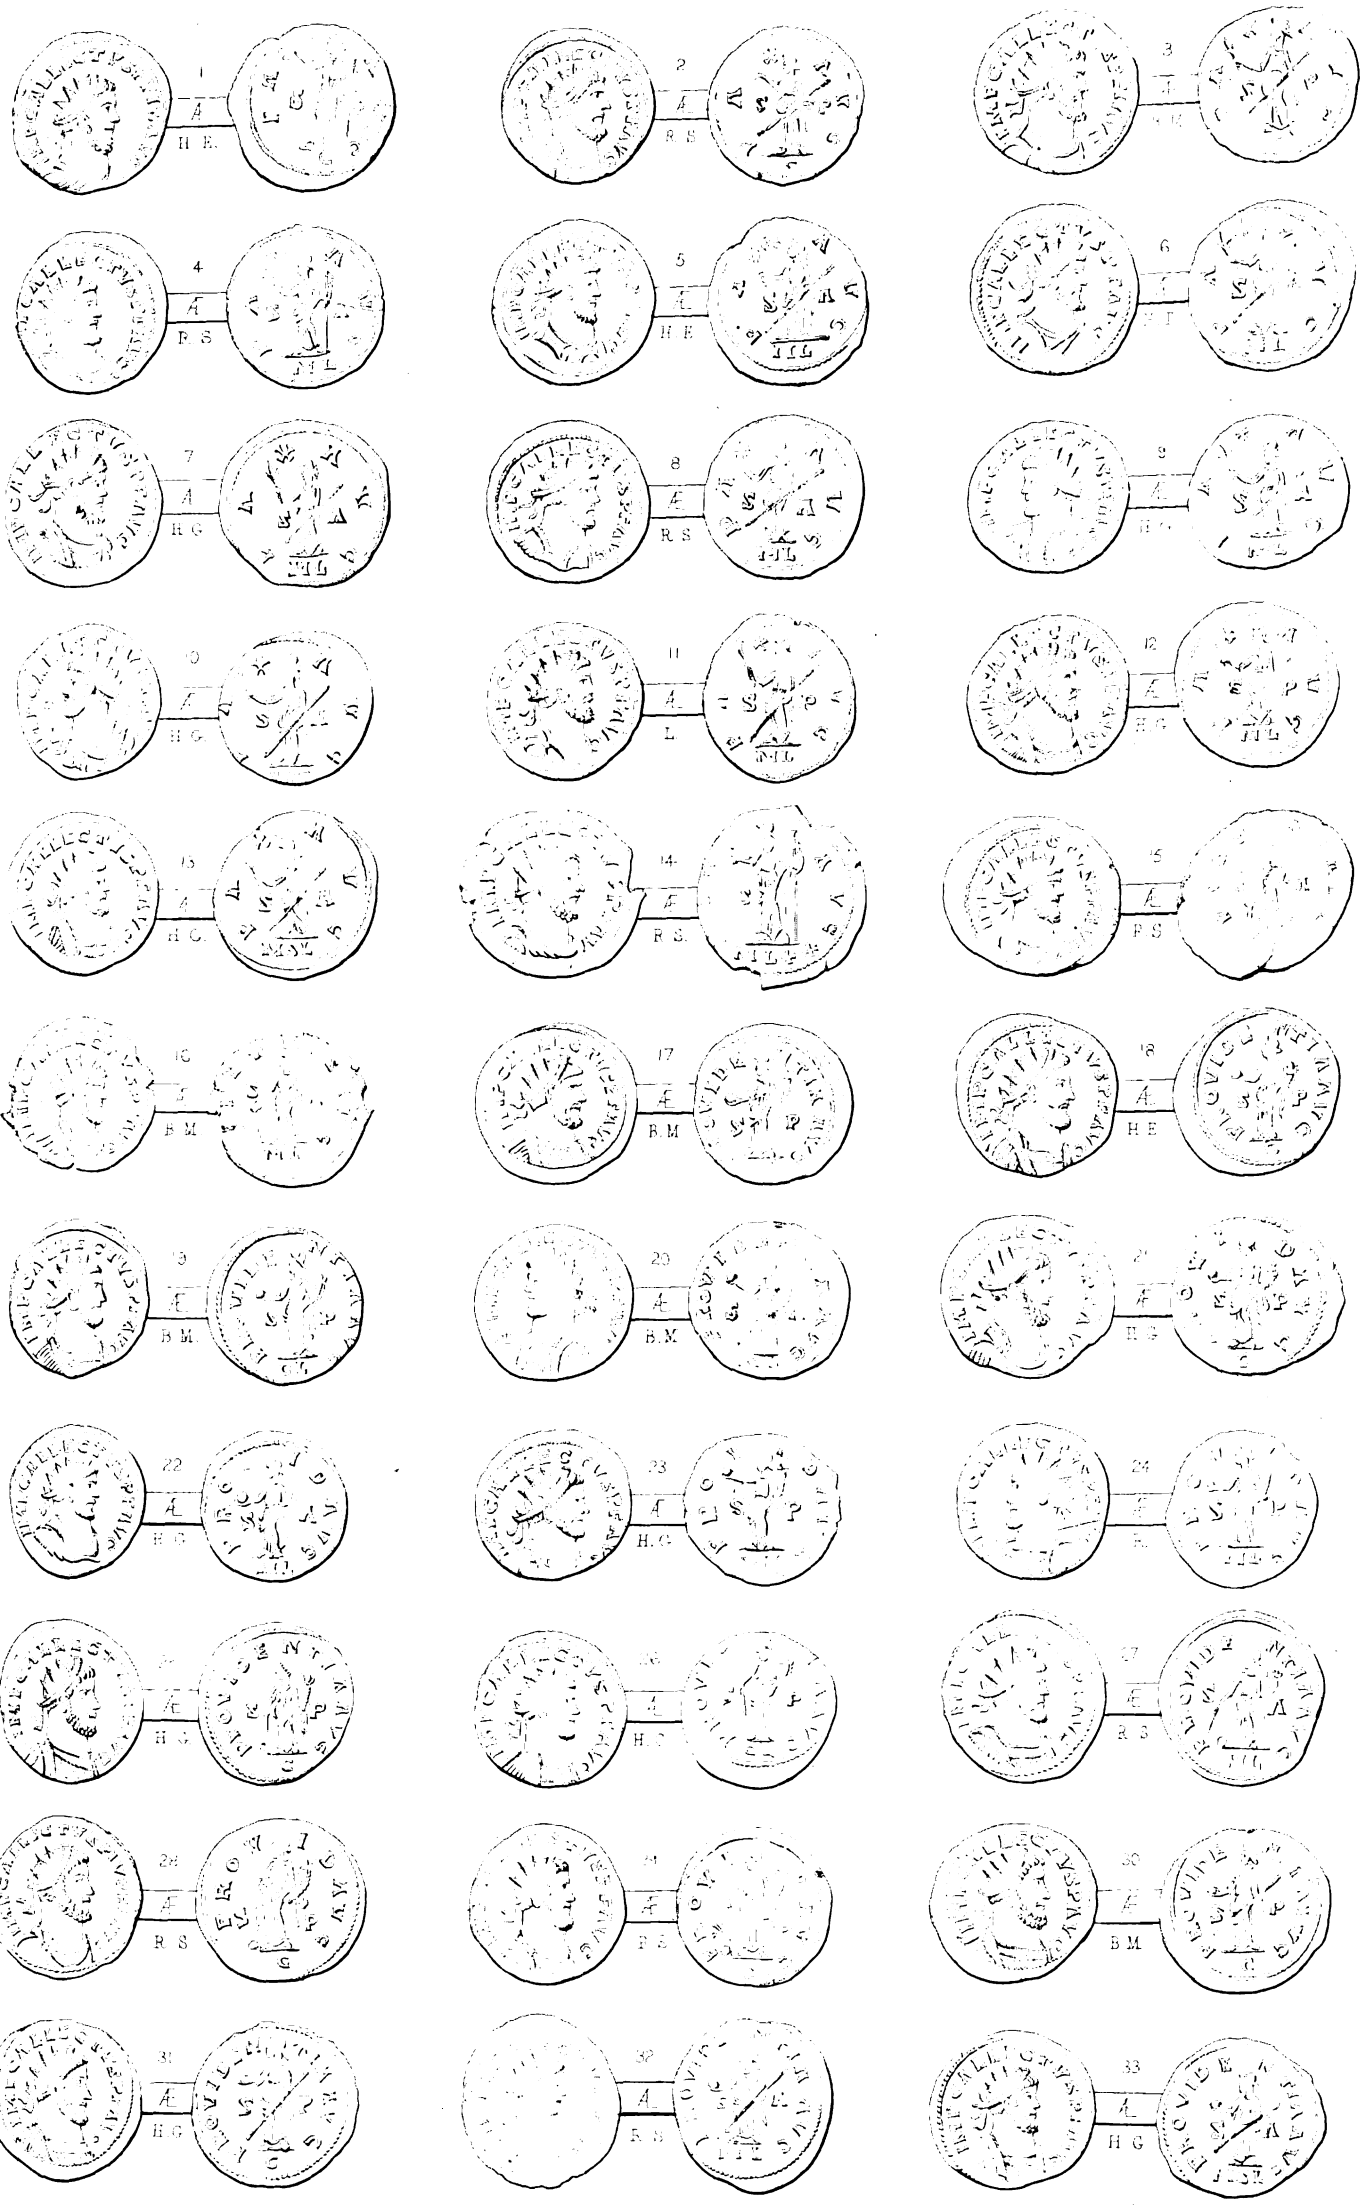
4. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Carausius in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Female standing, holding a flower in her right hand, the hasta in the left; in the field, S.A.; below, M.L. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

5. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Female standing, holding a flower in her right hand, and the hasta transversely in the left; in the field, S.A.; below, M.L. Sir H. Ellis. Æ.

6. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.A; below, M.L. H. Tovey, Esq. Æ.

7. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.A; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

Digitized by Google



B.M. British Museum — H.G. Hunter Museum, Glasgow — H.E. Sir Henry Ellis — H.T. H Teevey, Esq — L. W.C. Lascelles, Esq — R.S. Roach Smith, Esq — R. Found at Rouen.

Stanfield sc. 8, Little Tower London

Digitized by Google

8. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field S.A.; below, M.L. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

9. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the left, holding a spear in his right hand, the shield on his left arm.
R. PAX AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.A; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

10. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. A draped bust of Allectus, to the left, holding the sceptre surmounted with an eagle in his right hand.
R. PAX AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.A.; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

11. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, M.L. W. Loscombe, Esq. Æ.

12. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

13. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.A.; below, M.S.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

14. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PAX AVG. Female standing, holding the flower in her right hand, the hasta in the left; in the field, S.; below, MLXX. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

15. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus radiated, to the right.
R. PIETAS AVG. Female standing, her right hand extended over an altar; in the field, S.A.; below, M.L. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

16. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. PIETAS AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.A.; below, M.L. British Museum. Æ.

17. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. PROVIDENTIA AVG. Female standing, the orb in her right hand, the cornucopia in the left; in the field, S.P. British Museum. Æ.

18. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. PROVIDENTIA AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Sir H. Ellis. Æ.

19. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. PROVIDENTIA AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C.L. British Museum. Æ.

20. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the left; the spear in his right hand, his shield on the left arm.
R. PROVIDENTIA AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.A.; below, M.L. British Museum. Æ.

21. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. PROVID. AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

22. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus radiated, to the right.
R. PROVID. AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.A.; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

23. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus radiated, to the right.
R. PROVID. AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

24. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the left; the spear in his right hand, his shield on the left arm.
R. PROVID. AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, M.L. Found at Rouen. Æ.

25. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. PROVIDENTIA AVG. Female standing, holding a short sceptre pointing to the ground near a globe; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

26. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. PROVIDENTIA AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

27. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. PROVIDENTIA AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.A.; below, M.L. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

28. IMP. C. ALLECTVS PIV. FEL. AVG. Bust of Allectus in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PROVID. AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

29. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. PROVID AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

30. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. PROVIDENTIA AVG. Female standing, holding the hasta transversely in the left hand, and the orb in the right; in the field, S.P.; below, C. British Museum. Æ.

31. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. PROVIDENTIA AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

32. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus radiated, to the right.
R. PROVIDENTIA AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.A; below, M.L. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

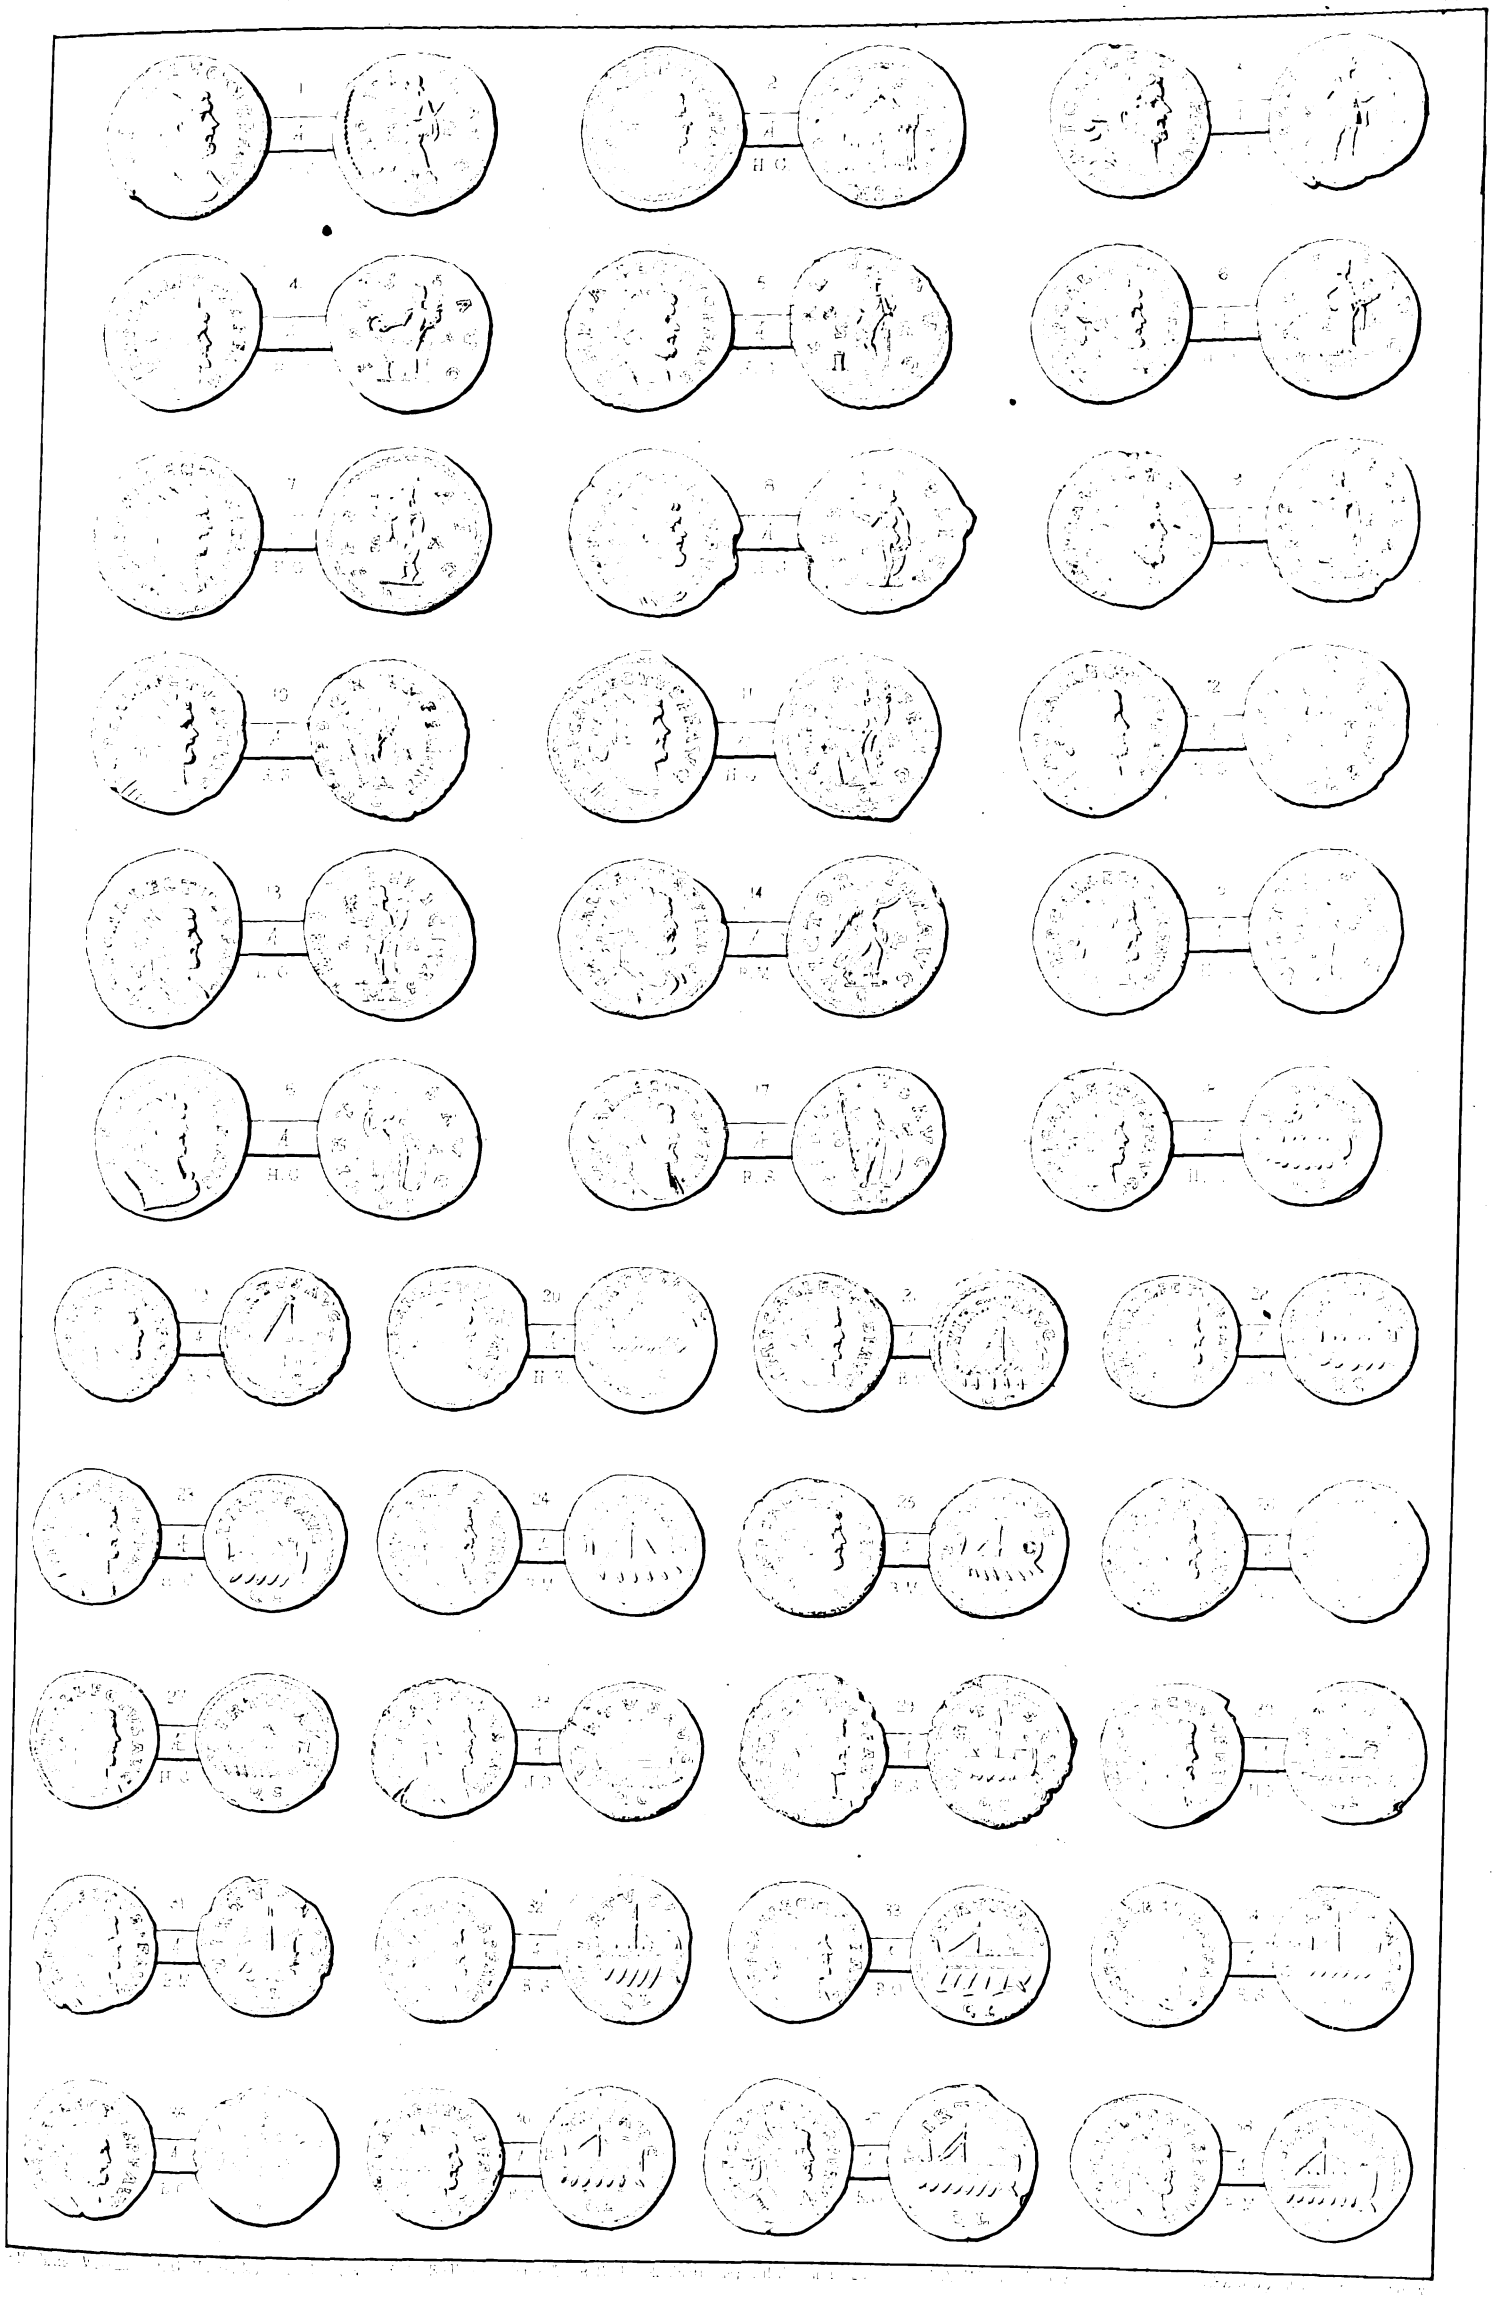
33. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. PROVIDENTIA AVG. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.A; below, M.S.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

Digitized by Google

PLATE XVII.

1. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in the toga, radiated, to the right.
   ℞. PROVIDE. AVG. Female standing, holding the orb in the right hand, the sceptre transversely in the left; in the field, S.P.; below, C. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.
2. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
   ℞. ROMAE AETERN. Figure standing within a temple of six columns; below, M.S.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.
3. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in the toga, radiated, to the right.
   ℞. SAECVLI FELICITAS. A military figure walking, to the right; holds the orb in his left hand, and the spear in the right transversely; in the field, S.P.; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.
4. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus radiated, to the right.
   ℞. SALVS AVG. Female standing, feeding a serpent rising from an altar, and holding the hasta in the left hand; in the field, S.A. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.
5. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
   ℞. SALVS AVG. Female standing, holding a patra in her right hand over an altar, the hasta in the left; in the field, S.A; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.
6. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
   ℞. SALVS AVG. Female feeding a serpent which she holds in her right hand; in the field, S.A; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.
7. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in the toga, radiated, to the right.
   ℞. SPES AVG. Female walking, to the left, holding a flower in the right hand, and her garments up with the left; in the field, S.A.; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.
8. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in the toga, radiated, to the right.
   ℞. SPES PVBLICA. Female walking, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.
9. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
   ℞. SPES PVBLICA. Female walking, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.
10. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. TEMPORVM FELICIT. Female standing, with a long caduceus in her right hand, and the cornucopia in the left; in the field, S.P.; below, C. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.
11. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. TEMPORVM FELIC. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.
12. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. TEMPORA FELIC. Female standing, with a short caduceus in her right hand, and the cornucopia in the left; in the field, S.P.; below, C.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.
13. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. TEMPORA [F]ELICITAS. Female standing, same as the last; in the field, S.A.; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.
14. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. I. AVG. Bust of Allectus in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. VICTORIA AVG. Victory walking, to the right, holding a wreath in her right hand, and a palm branch in the left; in the field, S.P.; below, C. British Museum. Æ.
15. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. VIRTVS AVG. Mars standing, with his spear reversed in his right hand, his left resting on his shield; in the field, S.P.; below, C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.
16. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. VIRTVS AVG. Mars standing, same as the last; in the field, S.A.; below, M.L. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.
17. IMP. C. ALLECTVS PF. AVG. Bust of Allectus in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. VIRTVS AVG. Mars standing, same as the last; in the field, S.A; below, M.L. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.
18. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. VIRTVS AVG. Galley with mast and four rowers, upon the prow stands a military figure armed with a spear and shield; below, Q.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.
19. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. VIRTVS AVG. Galley, mast, and rowers; below, Q.C. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.
20. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus radiated, to the right.
    ℞. VIRTVS AVG. Galley with mast and rowers; below, Q.C. Sir H. Ellis. Æ.
21. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. VIRTVS AVG. Galley with mast and rowers; below, Q.C. Bodleian Library, Oxford. Æ.
22. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. VIRTVS AVG. Galley with mast and rowers; below, Q.C. British Museum. Æ.
23. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in the toga, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. VIRTVS AVG. Galley with mast and rowers; below, Q.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.
24. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. VIRTVS AVG. Galley with mast and rowers; below, Q.C. British Museum. Æ.
25. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. VIRTVS AVG. Galley with mast and rowers; below, Q.C. British Museum. Æ.
26. IMP. C. ALLECTVS AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
    ℞. LAETITIA AVG. Galley wifh mast and rowers; below, Q.C. Sir H. Ellis. Æ.

Digitized by Google



Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

27. IMP. C. ALLECTVS AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. VIRTVS AVG. Galley with mast and rowers; below, Q.C. Hunter Museum, Glasgow. Æ.

28. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. VIRTVS AVG. Galley with mast and rowers; below, Q.C. Mr. J. Doubleday. Æ.

29. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. VIRTVS AVG. Galley with mast and rowers; below, Q.C. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

30. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. VIRTVS AVG. Galley with mast and rowers; below, Q.L. Sir H. Ellis. Æ.

31. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus radiated, to the right.
R. VIRTVS AVG. Galley with mast and rowers; below, Q.L. British Museum. Æ.

32. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. VIRTVS A. Galley with mast and rowers; below, Q.L. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

33. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. VIRTVS AVG. Galley with mast and rowers; below, Q.L. Bodleian Library, Oxford. Æ.

34. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in the toga, radiated, to the right.
R. VIRTVS AVG. Galley with mast and rowers; below, Q.L. C. R. Smith, Esq. Æ.

35. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus radiated, to the right.
R. V . . . . VS AVG. Galley with mast and rowers; below, Q. Bodleian Library, Oxford. Æ.

36. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. VIRTVS AVG. Galley with mast and rowers; below, Q.L. Bodleian Library, Oxford. Æ.

37. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus in armour, radiated, to the right.
R. VIRTVS AVG. Galley with mast and rowers; below, Q.L. Bodleian Library, Oxford. Æ.

38. IMP. C. ALLECTVS P.F. AVG. Bust of Allectus radiated, to the right.
R. VIRTVS AVG. Galley with mast and rowers; below, Q.L. British Museum. Æ.

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

FAC-SIMILES OF MANUSCRIPTS.

Digitized by Google

. . . . . ðe pulfh . . . . . .
. . . . . ha ðux piþ ðe . ıfcne . . . . . .
. . . . . tetū ⁊ ȝoðe plıle þone hefı . .
. . . ðe ⁊ . . ðenıfcan . . hton pælftope ꝯpealð· . .
. . ældofman offlogon·
. . . . . bnýht ældofmon pæf offlefen fꝑ̄ . . . .
. . . monnū ⁊ monıꝯ mıð hım on mefıfc . . .
ýlcan ȝeafe eft on lındeffe ⁊ on eaft en . . . .
⁊ on cantpafū pufðon monıꝯ m̄ offleꝯne . . .
þam hefıȝe /pıc ⁊ on hpofefceaftfe
. . . . . xıx Hef pæf mıcel pælflyht on lunðene · ⁊ on epanta-
Aꝑ̄· ðcccxl· Hef æþelpulf cýnınȝ ꝯfeaht æt caffū piþ
Aꝑ̄· ð·ccc·xlı· xxxv· fcıphlæfta · ⁊ þa ðenıfcan ahton þæl
Aꝑ̄· ð·ccc·xlıı· ftope ꝯpealð·
Aꝑ̄· ð·cccxlıı·
Aꝑ̄· ð·cccxlıı· /mufffǣtū · ⁊ ealchftan bıfceop
Aꝑ̄· ð·cccxl·v· Hef eanpulf ealðofman ꝯfeaht mıð fu
Aꝑ̄· ðcccxlvı ⁊ offıc ealðofman mıð ðofnfætum ꝯfuh-
Aꝑ̄· ðcccxlvıı ton ac pedfiðan mufan piþ ðenıfcne hefe
Aꝑ̄ ðcccxlvııı· ⁊ þæf mıcel pæl ꝯflogon ⁊ fıȝe namon·
Aꝑ̄ ðcccxlıx
Aꝑ̄ ðccc·l· /mıð ðefenafcýfe æt pıcȝanbeofche
Aꝑ̄ ðccc·lı· Hef ceofl ealðofmon ꝯfeaht piþ hæþene hef
Aꝑ̄· ðccc·lıı· ⁊ þæf mıcel pæl ꝯfl . . ⁊ fıꝯ naman · ⁊ þý ýl-can ꝯafe æþelftan . . . . ınȝ · ⁊ calchefe ðux micelne hefe offf . . æt fonðpíc on cent·
⁊ · ıx · fcıpu ꝯfenȝun · ⁊ þa ofþe ꝯflýmðon

. . . . . .

[An. 838. This year Here]bryht the ealdorman was slain by the heathen men and many with him among the Marsh-men, and afterwards the same year in Lindsey and in East Anglia and in Kent many men were slain by the enemy

[An. 839.] This year there was a great slaughter at London and at Cwantiwic and at Rochester.

An. 840. This year King Aethelwulf fought at Carrun with the crews of xxxv. ships, and the Danishmen maintained possession of the field.

An. 841.

An. 842.

An. 843.

An. 844.

An. 845. This year Eanwulf the ealdorman with the men of Somerset, and Bishop Ealchstan and Osric the ealdorman with the men of Dorset, fought at the mouth of the Parret with the Danish army, and there made great slaughter, and got the victory.

An. 846.

An. 847.

An. 848.

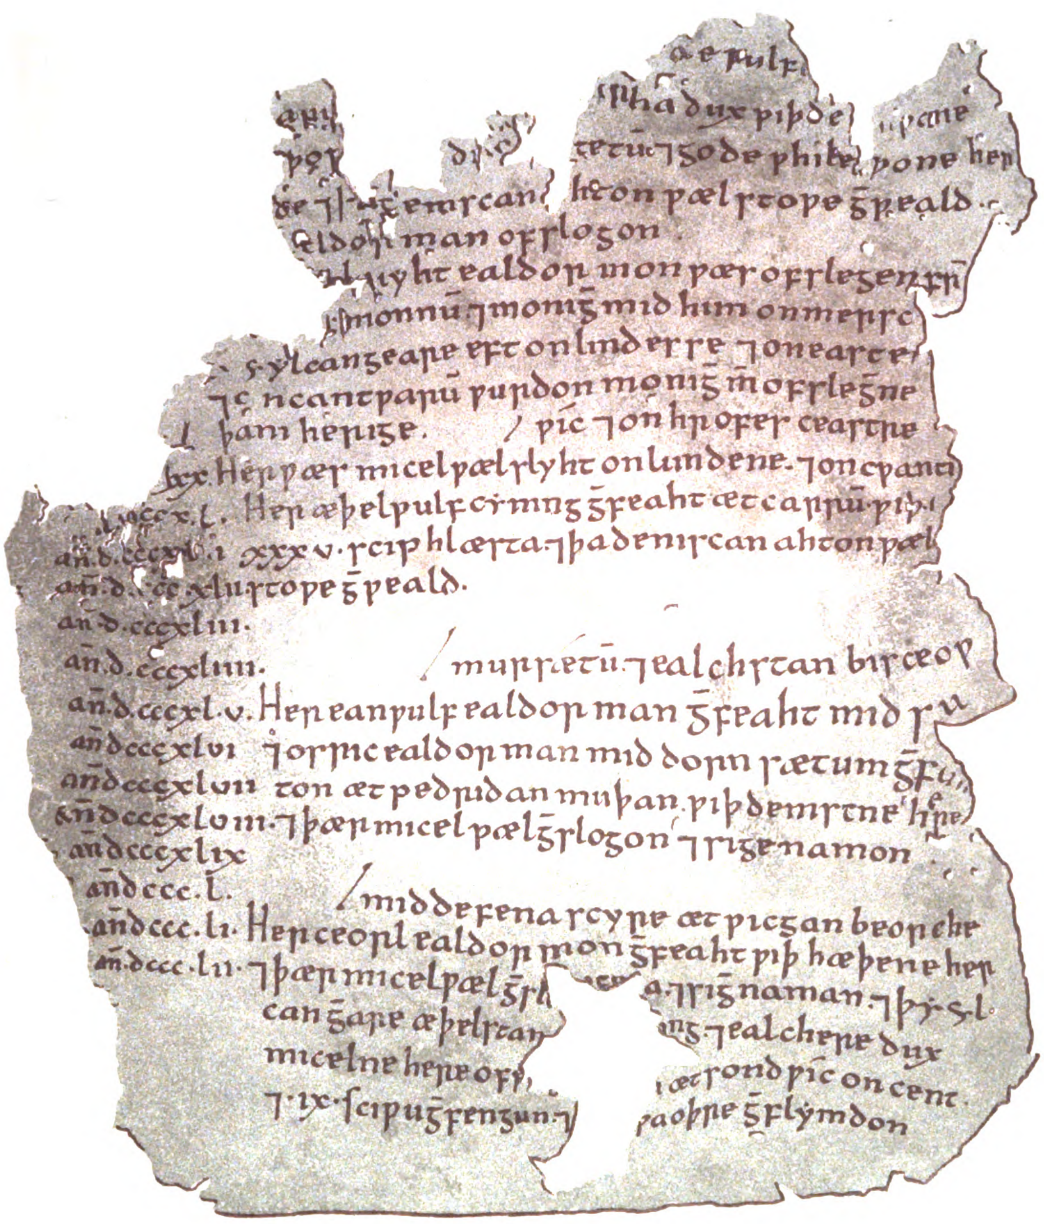
An. 849.

An. 850.

An. 851. This year Ceorl the ealdorman, with the men of Devonshire, fought with the heathen at Wicganbeorche, and there made great slaughter and got the victory. And the same year King Aethelstan and Duke Ealchere slew a great number of the enemy at Sandwich in Kent, and took ix. ships, and put the others to flight.

An. 852.

Digitized by Google



...ealdorman ofslogon
...ealdor mon wæs ofslegen...
...swylcan geare eft on lindes se ⁊ on east...
...þam herige. / wic ⁊ on hr ofer ceastre
...xx. Her wæs micel wælslyht on lundene. ⁊ on cwanti an.d.cccxl. Her æþelwulf cyning gefeaht æt carrum wiþ an.d.cccxli. xxxv. sciphlæsta ⁊ þa deniscan ahton wæl an.d.cccxlii. stowe geweald.
an.d.cccxliii.
an.d.cccxliiii. / mursætum ⁊ ealchstan biscop an.d.cccxlv. Her eanwulf ealdorman gefeaht mid su an.d.cccxlvi ⁊ osric ealdorman mid dornsætum gefu an.d.cccxlvii ton æt pedridan muþan wiþ deniscne here an.d.cccxlviii. ⁊ þær micel wæl geslogon ⁊ sige namon an.d.cccxlix
an.d.ccc.l. / mid defena scyre æt wicgan beorche an.d.ccc.li. Her ceorl ealdormon gefeaht wiþ hæþene here an.d.ccc.lii. ⁊ þær micel wæl gesl... ⁊ sige naman ⁊ þy s.l.
can gære æþelstan ... ing ⁊ ealchere dux micelne here ofsl... æt sondwic on cent.
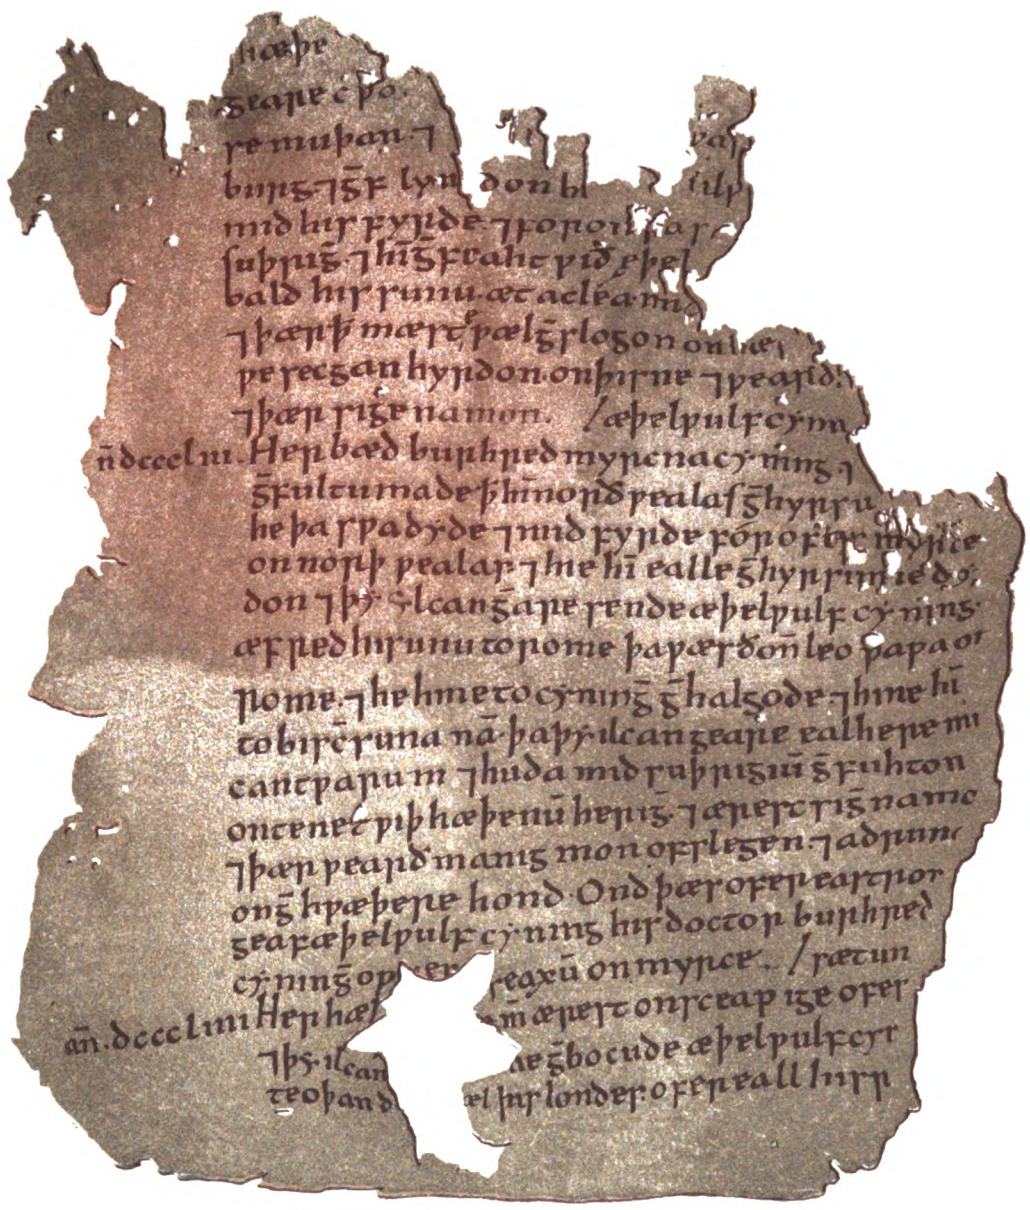
⁊ .ix. scipu gefengun ⁊ ... ða oþre geflymdon

Digitized by Google



Facsimile by Standidge & Co.

Digitized by Google

ꝺ hæþe . . . . . .

ȝeaꝛe cpo . . . . .

ꝛe muþan · ꝺ . . . . .

bupȝ · ꝺ ꝯ ȝꝛlẏmꝺon b . . ulꝛ . . . .

mıꝺ hıꝛ ꝛẏꝛꝺe · ꝺ ꝛoꝛon þa ꝛ . . . .

Suþꝛıꝯ · ꝺ hı ꝯ ȝꝛeahꝺ pıð ęþel-balꝺ hıꝛ ꝛunu æꝺ aclea · mıꝺ . . . .

ꝺ þæꝛ þ̄ mæꝛꝺ pæl ꝯ ȝꝛloȝon on hæþ . . . .

pe ꝛecȝan hẏꝛꝺon · on þıꝛne ꝺ peaꝛꝺ·

ꝺ þæꝛ ꝛıȝe namon· /æþelpulꝛ cẏnınȝ

n̄ ꝺccclıı· Heꝛ bæꝺ buꝛhꝛeꝺ mẏꝛcna cẏnınȝ · ꝺ . . .

ꝯ ȝꝛulꝺumaꝺe þ̄ hı noꝛðpealaꝛ ꝯ hẏꝛꝛu . . .

he þa ꝛꝛa ꝺẏꝺe ꝺ mıꝺ ꝛẏꝛꝺe ꝛoꝛ oꝛeꝛ mẏꝛce on noꝛð pealaꝛ · ꝺ hıe hı ealle ꝯ hẏꝛꝛume ꝺẏ-ꝺon ꝺ þẏ ẏlcan ꝯ aꝛe ꝛenꝺe æþelpulꝛ cẏnınȝ æꝛꝛneꝺ hıꝛunu ꝺo ꝛome þa pæꝛ ðon leo papa on ꝛome · ꝺ he hıne ꝺo cẏnınȝ ꝯ halȝoꝺe · ꝺ hıne hı ꝺo bıꝛꝛ̄ ꝛuna nā · þa þẏ ılcan ȝeaꝛe ealheꝛe mıꝺ canꝺpaꝛum ꝺ huꝺa mıꝺ ꝛuþꝛıȝıū ꝯ ȝꝛuhꝺon on ꝺeneꝺ pıþ hæþenū heꝛıȝe ꝺ æꝛneꝛꝺ ꝛıȝ̄ namon ꝺ þæꝛ peaꝛð manıȝ mon oꝛꝛleȝen · ꝺ aðꝛunc . . .

on ꝯ hꝛæþeꝛe honꝺ. Onð þæꝛ oꝛeꝛ eaꝛꝺꝛon ȝeaꝛ ælþelpulꝛ cẏnınȝ hıꝛ ðoꝺꝺoꝛ buꝛhꝛeð

cẏnınꝯ oꝛ peꝛꝛeaxū on mẏꝛce ·: /ꝛætun

Aū· ꝺccclıı. Heꝛ hæþ . . . m̄ æꝛꝛꝺ on ꝛceapıȝe oꝛeꝛ

ꝺ þẏ ılcan . . . ꝛe ꝯbocu eæþelpulꝛ cẏnȝ ꝺeoþan ꝺæl hıꝛ lonꝺeꝛ oꝛeꝛ eall hıꝛ ꝛ . . .

. . . . . .

An. 853. This year Burhred King of the Mercians and [his witan] begged King Aethelwulf that he would assist him so that he might make the North Welsh obedient to him. He did so, and went with an army over Mercia among the North Welsh, and made them all obedient to him. And the same year King Aethelwulf sent his son Aeffred to Rome. Leo was then Pope of Rome, and he consecrated him King and took him for his spiritual son. Then in the same year Ealhere with the men of Kent, and Huda with the men of Surrey, fought in Thanet with the heathen army, and at first they were victorious, and many there were slain and drowned on either hand. And upon this after Easter Aethelwulf King of the West Saxons gave his daughter to Burhred King of the Mercians.

An. 854. This year the heathen men, for the first time, remained over the winter in Shepey, and the same year King Aethelwulf gave by his charter the tenth part of his lands over all his realm.

Digitized by Google

Ms. Cott. Tiber. B. iv.

Aⁿ. dccviii. Her æþelred pending mýrc-na cýninz onfenz munuc-hade · ȝ ꝑ rice heold · xxix · pintra · ȝ þa fenz cenred to.
Aⁿ. dccv. Her aldfrið norþan hýmbra cýninz forðferde on · xviii · k ianⁱ · on driffelda · þafenz ofræd his sunu to rice.
Aⁿ. dccvi.
Aⁿ. dccvii.
Aⁿ. dccviii.
Aⁿ. dccviiii. Her aldelm biscop forþferde se wæs be wæstan pudu biscop · ȝ wæs todæled on forewearddum damheles dazum on tpa biscop
Scire westSeaxana landes · ȝ ær his wæs ān oðer heold daniel · oðer aldhelm · æftera aldhelme forðhere fenz to · ȝ ceolred fenz to mýrcna rice · ȝ cenred for to rome · ȝ offa mid him · ȝ cenred wæs þær oð his life ende.
ȝ þý ilcan zeare pilfred biscop forðferde in undalum · ȝ his lic man lædde to ripum.
he wæs biscop · xlv · wintra · þone ecgfreð
cýninz ær bedraf to rome.
Aⁿ. dccx. Her acca pilferdes preost fenz to þam biscop-dome þe he ær heold · ȝ þam ýlcan zeare feaht beorhtfrið ealdor.

An. 704. This year Aethelred, the son of Penda King of the Mercians, became a monk, and he had held the Kingdom twenty-nine winters, and then Cenred succeeded to it.

An. 705. This year Aldfrith King of the Northumbrians died at Driffield on the xix. of the Kalends of January. Then Osraed his son succeeded to the Kingdom.

An. 706.

An. 707.

An. 708.

An. 709. This year Bishop Aldelm died; he was bishop on the west of [Sel]wood; and in the early days of Daniel the land of the West Saxons was divided into two bishop-shires, and before that it had been one; the one Daniel held the other Aldhelm, after Aldhelm Forthere, succeeded to it. And Ceolfred succeeded to the Kingdom of the Mercians, and Cenred went to Rome, and Offa with him, and Cenred was there till the end of his life. And the same year Bishop Wilferth died at Oundle, and his body was carried to Ripon; he was bishop forty-five winters. King Ecgferth had formerly driven him to Rome.

An. 710. This year Acca, Wilferth's priest, succeeded to the bishoprick which before he had held, and the same year Beorhtfrith the ealdorman fought

Digitized by Google

An. dcciiii. Her æþelred penðing myrcna cyning onfeng munuc hade. 7 þæt rice heold xxix wintra. 7 þa feng cenred to.

An. dccv. Her aldfrið norþan hymbra cyning forð ferde on xviiii kł ianr. on driffelda. þa feng osred his sunu to rice.

An. dccvi.

An. dccvii.

An. dccviii.

An. dccviiii. Her aldelm biscop forþ ferde se wæs be westan wudu biscop. 7 wæs todæled on fore weardum danieles dagum on twa biscop scire west seaxna landes. 7 ær hit wæs an. oðer heold daniel. oðer aldhelm. æfter ald helme forð here feng to. 7 ceolred feng to myrcna rice. 7 cenred for to rome. 7 offa mid him. 7 cenred wæs þær oð his lifes ende. 7 þy ilcan geare wilferð biscop forð ferde in undalum. 7 his lic man lædde to hrypum. he wæs biscop xlv wintra. þone ecgferð cyning ær bedraf to rome.

An. dccx. Her acca wilferðes preost feng to þam biscop dome þe he ær heold. 7 þam ylcan geare wealht beorht wið ealdor

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

AN. DCCXCIIII. Her adrianus papa 7 offa cing forð ferdon 7 æþelred norð hymbra cing wæs of slegen fram his agenre þeode
7 ceolulf biscop 7 eadbald biscop of þam lande aforan.
7 ecg ferð feng to myrcna rice 7 þy ilcan geare forð ferde
7 eadbriht onfeng rice on cent þam wæs oðer nama nemned præn. AN. DCCXCV.

AN. DCCXCVI. Her cynulf myrcna cing ofer hergode cant ware 7 mere ware 7 gefengon præn hyra cing 7 gebundenne hine on mirce læddon.

AN. DCCXCVII. Her romane leone þam papan his tungon forcurfon
7 his eagan ut astungon 7 hine of his setle aflymdon
7 þa sona æft gode fultumiendum he mihte geseon 7
sprecan 7 eft wæs papa swa he ær wæs. AN. DCCXCVIII.

AN. DCCXCIX. Her æþelheard arcebiscop 7 cynebriht west sexna biscop foron to rome.

AN. DCCC. Her briht ric cing forð ferde 7 worr ealdormann. 7 ecg briht feng to west sexna rice. 7 þy ilcan dæge rad æþel mund ealdormann of hwiccum ofer æt cynemæres forda. þa gemetten hine weohstan ealdormann mid wilsætum þær wearð micel gefeoht 7 hi þær begen ofsle gene wæron þa ealdormenn, 7 wilsæte naman sige.

AN. DCCCI. Her wæs gehadod beornmod biscop to hrofeceastre.

AN. DCCCII. Her æþelheard arcebiscop forð ferde 7 wulfred wæs to arcebiscope gehalgod 7 forð red abbud forð ferde.

AN. DCCCIII. Her wulfred arcebiscop pallium onfeng.

AN. DCCC. Her cuðred cing forð ferde on cantwarum 7 ceolburh abb. 7 heabriht ealdormann. AN. DCCCV. AN. DCCCVI.
AN. DCCCVII. AN. DCCC. AN. DCCC. AN. DCCCX.

Aⁿ. dccxciiii. Her adrianus papa ⁊ offa cing forðferdon ⁊ æðelred norðhýmbra cing pær ofslegen fram his agenre þeode ⁊ ceolulf birceop ⁊ eadbald birceop of þam lande afaran.
⁊ ecgferð feng to mýrcna rice ⁊ þý ilcan geare forðferde ⁊ eadbriht onfeng rice on cent þam pær oðer nama nemned prænn. Aⁿ. dccxv.

Aⁿ. dccxcvi. Her cýnulf mýrcna cing oferhergode cantpare ⁊ mercpare ⁊ gefrengon prænn hýra cing ⁊ gebundenne hine on merce læddon.

Aⁿ. dccxcvii. Her romane leone þam papan his tungon forcurfon
⁊ his eagan ut ærtungon ⁊ hine of his setle aflýmdon ⁊ þa rona eft · gode fultumiendum · he mihte gefeon ⁊ sprecan ⁊ eft pær papa spa he ær pær. Aⁿ. dccxcviii.

Aⁿ. dccxcix. Her æðelheard arcebirceop ⁊ cýnebriht pessexna birceop foron to rome.

Aⁿ. dccc. Her brihtric cing forðferde ⁊ porr ealdorman · ⁊ ecg-briht feng to pessexna rice · ⁊ þý ilcan dæge pað æðel-mund ealdorman of hpiccum ofer æt cýnemæresforda · þa gemetten hine peohstan ealdorman mid pilsætum þær peard micel gefeoht ⁊ hi þær begen ofsle-gene pæron þa ealdormenn, ⁊ pilsæte naman sige.

Aⁿ. dccci. Her pær gehadod beornmod birceop to hrofeceastre.

Aⁿ. dcccii. Her æðelheard arcebirceop forðferde ⁊ pulfred pær to arcebirceope gehalgod ⁊ forðred abbud forðferde.

Aⁿ. dccciii. Her pulfred arcebirceop pallium onfeng.

Aⁿ. dccc. Her cuðred cing forðferde on cantpaðum ⁊ ceolburh abb · ⁊ heabriht ealdormann. Aⁿ. dcccv. Aⁿ. dcccvi.
Aⁿ. dcccvii. Aⁿ. dccc · Aⁿ. dccc · An. dcccx.

An. 794. This year Pope Adrian and King Offa died, and Aethelred King of the North-humbrians was slain by his own people, and Bishop Ceolulf and Bishop Eadbald went away from the land, and Ecgferth succeeded to the Kingdom of the Mercians and died the same year, and Eadbriht, whose other name was Prænn, obtained the Kingdom of Kent.

An. 796. This year Cynulf King of the Mercians laid waste to Kent and the marshes and took Præn their King, and led him bound into Mercia.

An. 797. This year the Romans cut out the tongue of Pope Leo and put out his eyes, and drove him from his see; and soon afterwards, God helping, he was able to see and speak, and again was Pope as he before was.

An. 799. This year Archbishop Aethelheard and Cynebright Bishop of the West Saxons went to Rome.

An. 800. This year King Brihtric died, and Worr the ealdorman; and Ecgbright succeeded to the Kingdom of the West Saxons, and the same day Aethelmund the ealdorman rode over from the Huiccii at Cynemæresford. Then Weohstan the ealdorman with the men of Wiltshire met him; there was a great fight, and both the ealdormen were slain, and the men of Wiltshire got the victory.

An. 801. This year Beornmod was ordained Bishop of Rochester.

An. 802. This year Archbishop Aethelheard died, and Wulfred was consecrated archbishop, and Abbot Forthred died.

An. 803. This year Archbishop Wulfred received his pall.

Sic. An. 800. . . This year King Cuthred died at Canterbury, and Abbess Ceolburh and Heabriht the Sic. ealdorman. An. 805. An. 806. An. 807. An. 800. An. 800. An. 810.

Digitized by Google

Ms. Cott. Tiber. A. vi.

An̄. dccc l. an̄. dccc li. an̄. dccc lii.

Dep ceopl ealdopman gepeahte pip hæþene menn mid depnapcípe æt picganbeopge y þæp mycel pæl geplogan y prge naman. y hæþenemenn æpepte on tenet open pinn̄ pætan y þy ilcan gēape coman peopþe healp hund pcipa on temepe mūþan y bpæcan cantpapabuph y lundenbupg y geplymdan beophtpulf mypcna cing mid hip pypde y popan pup open temepe on puþpige y him gepeahte pip abelulf cing y æþelbald hip punu. æt āclea mid pepte Sexna pypde y þæp þ mæpte pæl geplogan þe pē pecggan hypdan æt þypne andpeapdan dæg y þæp prge naman. y þy ilcan geape æþelptan cing y ealhepe ealdepman gepuhtan on Scipum y mycelne hepe offlogan æt Sandpic on cænt.
y. viii. pcipu gepengon y þa obpe aflymdan;
Dep bæd burhpeð mypcna cing y hip pitan abelulf cing þ he him gepultmode þ he him nopð pealap gehypppumode. y he þa ppa dyde y mid pypde fōp open mypce on nopð pealap y he him ealle gehypsume gedyde
y þy ilcan geape penде abelpulf cing ælfpeð hip punu to pome þa pæp domne leo papa on pōme y he hine to cinge gehalgode y hine him to bipceo puna nam ða þy ilcan geāpe ealhhepe mid cantpapum y huda mid Subpigum gepuhtan on tenet pip hæðnum hepe y æpept.

An. 850. An. 851. An. 852.

This year Ceorl the ealdorman, with the men of Devonshire, fought with the heathen men at Wicganbeorge, and there made great slaughter, and got the victory; and the heathen men, for the first time, remained over winter in Thanet; and the same year came three hundred and fifty ships to the mouth of the Thames, and took Canterbury and London by storm, and put to flight Beorhtwulf King of the Mercians with his army, and then went south over the Thames into Surrey, and King Athelulf and Aethelbald his son with the army of the West Saxons fought with them at Aclea, and there made the greatest slaughter that we have heard tell of unto the present day, and there got the victory; and the same year King Aethelstan and Ealchere the ealdorman fought in ships and slew a great number of men at Sandwich in Kent, and took eight ships, and dispersed the others.

This year Burhred King of the Mercians and his witan besought King Aethelulf that he would assist him that he might make the North Welsh obedient to him. And he then did so, and went with an army across Mercia among the North Welsh, and made them all obedient to him. And the same year King Athelwulf sent Aelfred his son to Rome. Leo was then Pope of Rome, and him he consecrated King, and took him for his spiritual son.

Then in the same year Ealhere with the men of Kent, and Huda with the men of Surrey, fought in Thanet against the heathen army.

Digitized by Google

an. dcccl. an. dcccli. an. dccclii.

Her Ceorl ealdorman gefeaht wiþ hæþene men mid · Defenascire æt Wicganbeorge ⁊ þær micel wæl geslogan
· ⁊ sige naman. ⁊ hæþene men ærest on Tenet ofer winter
· sæton ⁊ þy ilcan geare coman feorþe healf hund scipa
· on Temese muþan ⁊ bræcan Cantwaraburh ⁊ Lundenburh
· ⁊ geflymdan Beorhtwulf Myrcena cing mid his fyrde
· ⁊ foran suþ ofer Temese on Suþrige ⁊ him gefeaht wiþ
· Aþelwulf cing ⁊ Æþelbald his sunu æt Aclea mid Westseaxna
· fyrde ⁊ þær þæt mæste wæl geslogan þe we secgan hyrdan
· æt þysne andweardan dæg ⁊ þær sige naman. ⁊ þy ilcan
· geare Æþelstan cing ⁊ Ealhhere ealdorman gefuhtan
· on scipum ⁊ micelne here ofslogan æt Sandwic on Centum ⁊ viii. scipu gefengon ⁊ þa oþre aflymdan.

Her bæd Burhred Myrcena cing ⁊ his witan Aþelwulf cing þæt he him gefultmode þæt he him Norþwealas gehyrsumode.
⁊ he þa swa dyde ⁊ mid fyrde for ofer Myrce on Norþwealas ⁊ he him ealle gehyrsume gedyde.
⁊ þy ilcan geare sende Aþelwulf cing Ælfred his sunu to Rome. Þa wæs domne Leo papa on Rome ⁊ he hine to cinge gehalgode ⁊ hine him to biscepsunu nam.
Ða þy ilcan geare Ealhhere mid Cantwarum ⁊ Huda mid Suþrigum gefuhtan on Tenet wiþ hæþenum here ⁊ ærest

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

an̄ · d · ciiii · Her augustinus gehalgode .ii. biscopas. mellitum 7 iustum. mellitum he sende to bodiende east seaxum fulluht. ðær wæs se cing gehaten sæbyrht. ricolan sunu æðelberhtes swyster. ðan æðelbyrht gesette ðær cinge. 7 æðelbyrht gesealde mellituse biscop setl on lunde 7 iusto an hrouecestre.

an̄ · d · cv ·

an̄ dccc xciii Her on þysum geare for se micla here þe we gefyrn ymbe spræcon eft of þæm east rice westweard to bunnan 7 þær wurdon gescipode swa þæt hie asettan him on anne siþ ofer mid horsum mid ealle 7 þa comon up on limene muþan mid ccl · hunde scipa · se muþa is on easteweardre cent · æt þæs miclan wuda east ende þe we andred hatað se wudu is east lang 7 west lang hund twelftiges mila lang oþþe lengra 7 þritiges mila brad. seo ea þe we ær ymbe spræcon lið ut of þæm wealda. on þa ea hi tugon up hiora scipu oþ þone weald · iiii · mila fram þæm muþan uteweardum 7 þær abræcon an geweorc inne on þæm fenne sæton feawa ciorlisce men on 7 wæs samworht. Þa sona æfter þæm com hæsten mid lxxx · scipa up on temese muðan 7 worhte him geweorc æt middeltune 7 se oþer here æt apuldre :7

Nu þa sona æfter þam on ðys geare for se here of wir healum in on norð wealas forþam hie ðær sittan ne mehton þæt wæs forðy þe hie wæron benumene ægðer ge þæs ceapes ge þæs cornes ðe hie gehergod hæfdon þa hie ða eft ut of norð wealum wendon mid þære herehyðe þe hie ðær genumen hæfdon þa foron hie ofer norð hymbra lond 7 east engla swa swa seo fird hie geræcan ne mehte oþþæt hie comon on east seaxna lond easteweard on an igland þæt is ute on þære sæ þæt is meresig haten. 7 þa se here eft hamweard wende þe exan ceaster beseten hæfde þa hergodon hie up on suð seaxum neah cisse ceastre 7 þa burgware hie gefliemdon 7 hira monig hund ofslogon 7 hira scipu sumu genamon.

Plate XXIII.

Ms. C.C.C. Cantab. clxxiii.

An̄·d·ciiii· Her augustin⁹ gehalgode· ii· bcopas· Mellitū ⁊ Iustū· Mellitū he sende to bodiende east seaxū fulluht · ðær ƿas se cing gehaten sæbyrht · ricolan sunu æðelberhtes sƿyster · ðon Æðel-
An̄· d·cv· byrht gesette to cynge· ⁊ Æðelbht gesealde mellite biscop setl on lundenƿic· ⁊ Iusto on hrouecystre
Her

An̄° dcccxciii· Her on þysū geare for se micla here þe ƿe gefyrn ymbe spræcon eft of þæm east rice ƿest ƿeard to bunān ⁊ þær ƿurdon gescipode sƿa þæt hie asettan him on ænne siþ ofer mid horsū mid ealle ⁊ þa comon up on limene muþan · mid ccl · hunde scipa · se muþa is on easte ƿeardre cent · æt þæs miclam ƿuda east-ende þe ƿe andred hatað se ƿudu is east-lang ⁊ ƿest-lang hund tƿelftiges mila lang oþþe lengra ⁊ þritiges mila brad seo ea þe· ƿe ær ymbe spræcon lið ut of þæm ƿealda on þa ea hi tugon up hiora scipu oþþone ƿeald · iiii · mila frā þæm muþan uteƿeardū ⁊ þær abræcon an geƿeorc inne on þæm fenne sæton feaƿa cirlisce men on ⁊ ƿæs samƿorht· þa sona æfter þæm com hæsten mid · lxxx · scipa up on temese muðan ⁊ ƿorhte hī geƿeorc æt middeltune ⁊ se oþer here æt apuldre : ⁊

Ond þa sona æfter þæm on ðys gere for se here of ƿirheale in on norð ƿealas forþæm hie ðær sittan ne mehton þæt ƿæs forðy þe hie ƿæron benumene ægðer ge þæs ceapes ge þæs cornes ðe hie gehergod hæfdon þa hie ða eft · ut of norð ƿealū ƿendon mid þære herehyðe þe hie ðær genumen hæfdon þa foron hie ofer norðhymbralond ⁊ east engla sƿa sƿa seo fird hie geræcan ne mehte oþþæt hie comon on east seaxna lond easte ƿeard on an igland þæt is ute on þære sǣ þæt is meres ig haten · ⁊ þa se here eft ham ƿeard ƿende þe exanceaster beseten hæfde þa hergodon hie upon suð seaxū neah cisse ceastre ⁊ þa burg ƿare hie gefliemdon ⁊ hira monig hund ofslogon ⁊ hira scipu sumu genamon.

An. 604. This year Augustine consecrated two bishops, Mellitus and Justus. He sent Mellitus to preach baptism to the East Saxons, whose King was called Sæbyrht, son of Ricola, the sister of Aethelberht, and whom Aethelberht had placed there as King, and Aethelberht gave Mellitus a bishop's see in London, and to Justus he gave Rochester.

An. 893. In this year the great army about which we formerly spoke came again from the eastern kingdom westward to Boulogne, and there was shipped; so that they came over in one passage, horses and all; and they came to land at Limenemouth with two hundred and fifty ships. This port is in the eastern part of Kent, at the east end of the great wood which we call Andred; the wood is in length from east to west one hundred and twenty miles, or longer, and thirty miles broad: the river of which we before spoke flows out of the Weald. On this river they towed up their ships as far as the Weald, four miles from the mouth outward, and there stormed a fortress within the fen where a few Ceorlish men were stationed, and it was hastily wrought. Then soon after that Hasten with eighty ships landed at the mouth of the Thames, and wrought himself a fortress at Middleton; and the other army did the like at Apuldre.

And then soon after that, in this year, the army from Wirrheale went among the North Welsh, for they were unable to stay there; this was because they had been deprived both of the cattle and of the corn which they had plundered. When they had turned again out of North Wales with the booty which they had there taken, then went they over North-hymbra lond and East Anglia in such wise that the forces could not overtake them before they came to the land of Essex eastward, on an island that is out on the sea, which is called Mersey. And as the army which had beset Exeter again turned homewards, then spoiled they the South Saxons near Chichester, and the townsmen put them to flight, and slew many hundreds of them, and took some of their ships.

þa heoꝛa ꝛtemn ȝeꝛetenne ⁊ hioꝛa mete ȝenotuðne ⁊ pæꝛ ꝛe cyniȝ þa þiðeꝛ peaꝛðeꝛ on ꝓæꝛe mið þæꝛe ꝛciꝛe þe mið hī ꝛieꝛðedon þa he þa pæꝛ þiðeꝛ peaꝛðeꝛ ⁊ ꝛio oþeꝛu ꝛieꝛð pæꝛ ham peaꝛðeꝛ ⁊ ða denicꝛcan ꝛæton þæꝛ behinðan ꝓoꝛþæm hioꝛa cyninȝ pæꝛ ȝepunðoð on þæm ȝeꝓeohte þæt hi hine ne mehton ꝓeꝛian þa ȝeȝaðeꝛedon þa þe in noꝛþ hym-bꝛū buȝeað ⁊ on Eaꝛt-Enȝlū ꝛū hund ꝛcipa ⁊ ꝓoꝛon ꝛuð ymbutan ⁊ ꝛū ꝓeopꝛtiȝ ꝛcipa noꝛþ ymbutan ⁊ ymbꝛæton an ȝepeoꝛc on deꝓ-naꝛciꝛe be þæꝛe noꝛþ ꝛe ⁊ þa þe ꝛuð ymbutan ꝓoꝛon ymbꝛeton Exan ceꝛteꝛ· þa ꝛe cyniȝ þæt hieꝛðe þa penðe he hine peꝛt pið Exanceaꝛtꝛeꝛ mið ealne þæꝛe ꝛieꝛðe buton ꝛþiþe ȝepaldenū dæle eaꝛte peaꝛðeꝛ þæꝛ ꝓolceꝛ· þa ꝓoꝛon ꝓoꝛð oþþe hie comon to lunden bẏꝛiȝ ⁊ þa mið þæm buꝛiȝꝛaꝛū ⁊ þæm ꝛultume þe hī peꝛtan cōm ꝓoꝛon eaꝛt to beamꝓleote þæꝛ hæꝛten þa þæꝛ cumen mið hiꝛ heꝛiȝe þe æꝛ æt middeltune ꝛæt· ⁊ eac ꝛe micla heꝛe þæꝛ þa þæꝛ to cumen þe æꝛ on limene muþan ꝛæt æt apuldꝛe hæꝓde hæꝛten æꝛ ȝepoꝛht þæt ȝepeoꝛc æt beamꝓleote ⁊ þæꝛ þa utaꝓaꝛen on heꝛiȝaþ ⁊ þæꝛ ꝛe micla heꝛe æt ham þa ꝓoꝛon hie to ⁊ ȝeꝓhiemdon þone heꝛe ⁊ þæt ȝepeoꝛc abꝛæcon ⁊ ȝenamon eal þæt þæꝛ binnan· pæꝛ ȝe on ꝓeo ȝe on piꝓum ȝe eac on beaꝛnū ⁊ bꝛohton all into lunden bẏꝛiȝ ⁊ þa ꝛcipu eall oðþe to bꝛæcon oþþe ꝓoꝛbæꝛnðon oþþe to lunden bẏꝛiȝ bꝛohton oþþe to hꝛoꝓeꝛceaꝛtꝛe· ⁊ hæꝛtenes piꝓ ⁊ hiꝛ ꝛuna tpeȝen mon bꝛohte to þæm cyninȝe ⁊ he hi hī eꝓt aȝeaꝓ ꝓoꝛþæm þe hioꝛa pæꝛ oþeꝛ hiꝛ ȝoðꝛunu oþeꝛ æðeꝛeðeꝛ ealðoꝛmonneꝛ hæꝓðon hi hioꝛa onꝓanȝen æꝛ hæꝛten to beamꝓleote come ⁊ he hī hæꝓðe ȝeꝛealð ȝiꝛlaꝛ ⁊ aðaꝛ· ⁊ ꝛe cyniȝ hī eac pel ꝓeoh ꝛealðe ⁊ eac ꝛꝛa þa he þone cniht aȝeꝓ ⁊ þæt piꝓ· ac ꝛona ꝛꝛa hie to bleamꝓleote comon ⁊ þæt ȝepoꝛc ȝe and the King was then on his way thitherwards with the division which warred under him. While he was on his way thitherwards, and the other force was gone homewards, and the Danishmen remained there behind, because their King had been wounded in the battle, so that they could not carry him away, then those who dwell among the North-humbrians and among the East Anglians gathered some hundred ships and went about south; and some forty ships about to the north, and besieged a fortress in Devonshire by the North Sea; and those who went about to the south besieged Exeter. When the King heard that, then turned he westward towards Exeter with all his force, except a very strong body of the people eastward. These went onwards until they came to London; and then with the townsmen, and the aid which came to them from the West, they went East to Beamfleote. Hæsten was then come there with his band which before sate at Middleton; and the great army was also come thereto which before sate at Apuldre near Limenemouth. The fortress at Beamfleote had been ere this constructed by Hæsten, and he was at that time gone out to plunder; and the great army was therein. Then came they thereto, and put the army to flight, and stormed the fortress, and took all that was within it, as well the property, as the women, and the children also, and brought the whole to London; and all the ships they either broke in pieces or burned, or brought to London or to Rochester; and they brought the wife of Hæsten and his two sons to the King; and he afterwards gave them up to him again, because one of them was his godson, and the other Aethered's the ealdorman's. They had become their godfathers before Hæsten came to Beamfleote, and at that time Hæsten had delivered to him hostages and taken oaths: and the King had also given him many gifts; and so likewise when he gave up the youth and the woman. But as soon as they came to Bleamfleote

Digitized by Google

þa hiora stemn gesetenne ⁊ hiora mete genotudne ⁊ wæs se cyng þa þiderweardes on fære mid þære scire þe mid him fierdedon þa he þa wæs þiderweardes ⁊ sio oþru fierd wæs hamweardes ⁊ ða deniscan sæton þærbehindan forþæm hiora cyning wæs gewundod on þæm gefeohte þæt hi hine ne mehton ferian þa gegadredon þa þe in norþhym brum bugeað ⁊ on east englum sum hund scipa ⁊ foron suð ymbutan ⁊ sum feowertig scipa norþ ymbutan ⁊ ymb sæton an geweorc on def nascire be þære norþ sæ ⁊ þa þe suð ymb utan foron ymb sæton exan ceaster. þa se cyng þæt hierde þa wende he hine west wið exan ceas tre mid ealre þære fierde buton swiþe gewaldenum dæle easte weardes þæs folces. þa foron forð oþþe hie comon to lunden byrg ⁊ þa mid þæm burgwarum ⁊ þæm fultume þe him westan com foron east to beam fleote wæs hæsten þa þær cumen mid his herge þe ær æt middel tune sæt. ⁊ eac se micla here wæs þa þær to cumen þe ær on limene muþan sæt æt apuldre hæfde hæsten ær geworht þæt ge weorc æt beam fleote ⁊ wæs þa ut afaren on hergaþ ⁊ wæs se micla here æt ham þa foron hie to ⁊ gefliemdon þone here ⁊ þæt geweorc abræcon ⁊ genamon eal þæt þær binnan wæs ge on feo ge on wifum ge eac on bearnum ⁊ brohton eall into lunden byrig ⁊ þa scipu eall oðþe tobræcon oþþe forbærndon oþþe to lunden byrig brohton oþþe to hrofes ceastre ⁊ hæstenes wif ⁊ his suna twegen mon brohte to þæm cyninge ⁊ he hi him eft ageaf forþæm þe hiora wæs oþer his god sunu oþer æðeredes ealdormonnes hæfdon hi hiora onfangen ær hæsten to beam fleote come ⁊ he him hæfde geseald gislas ⁊ aðas ⁊ se cyng him eac wel feoh sealde ⁊ eac swa þa he þone cniht agef ⁊ þæt
wif. ac sona swa hie to beam fleote comon ⁊ þæt geweorc ge

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

Explicit capitula. Incipit ipse liber.

1 At interfecto in pugna Aeduino suscepit pro illo regnum Deirorum in qua prouincia ille gens erat prosapiam et primordia regni habuerat filius patrui eius Aelfrici uocabulo Osric qui ad praedicationem Paulini fidei erat sacramentis inbutus. Porro regnum Berniciorum nam in has duas prouincias gens Nordanhymbrorum antiquitus diuisa erat suscepit filius Aedilfridi qui de illa prouincia generis et regni originem duxerat nomine Eanfrid. Siquidem tempore toto quo regnauit Eduini filii praefati regis Aedilfridi qui ante illum regnauerat cum magna nobilium iuuentute apud Scottos siue Pictos exulabant ibique ad doctrinam Scottorum cathechizati et baptismatis sunt gratia recreati. Qui uiso mortuo rege inimico patriam sunt redire permissi. Accepitque primus eorum quem diximus Eanfrid regnum Berniciorum. Qui uterque rex ut terreni regni infulas sortitus est sacramenta regni caelestis quibus initiatus erat anathematizando prodidit. Ac se priscis idolatriae sordibus polluendum perdendumque restituit. Nec mora utrosque rex Brettonum Ceadualla impia manu sed iusta ultione peremit. Et primo quidem proxima aestate Osricum dum se in oppido municipio temerarie obsederet erumpens subito cum suis omnibus inparatum cum toto exercitu deleuit. Deinde cum anno integro prouincias Nordanhymbrorum non ut rex uictor possideret sed quasi tyrannus saeuiens disperderet ac tragica caede dilaceraret. Tandem Eanfridum inconsulte ad se cum XII lectis militibus postulandae pacis gratia uenientem simili sorte damnauit. Infaustus ille annus et omnibus bonis exosus usque hodie permanet tam propter apostasiam regum Anglorum qua se fidei sacramentis exuerant quam propter uaesaniam Brettonici regis tyrannidem. Unde cunctis placuit regum tempora computantibus ut ablata de medio regum perfidorum memoria idem annus sequentis regis id est Osualdi uiri Deo dilecti regno adsignaretur. Quo post occisionem fratris Eanfridi superueniente cum paruo exercitu sed fide Christi munito infandus Brettonum dux cum inmensis illis copiis quibus nihil resistere posse

Expliciunt capitula Incipit ipse liber

1 At intfecto in pugna Eduino suscepit p illo regnū deiror de q[a] pvincia ille generis psapiam et primordia regni habuerat filius patrui ə aelfrici vocabulo osric. qui ad p̃dicationē Pau lini fidei erat sacramentis inbutus. porro regnū bernicior. nā in has duas pvincias gens nordanhymbror antiq[i]tus divisa erat. sus cepit filius aedilfridi qui de illa pvincia generis et regni originē duxerat nomine eanfrid. siq[i]dem tempore toto quo regnavit eduini filii p̃fati regis aedilfridi qui ante illum regnaverat cū magna nobilium juventute apud scottos sive pictos exulabant. ibiq. ad doctrinam scottor cathetizati et baptismatis st gratia recreati qui ut mortuo rege inimico patriā st redire pmissi. accepit pri mus eor quem diximus eanfrid regnum bernicior. qui utq. rex ut terreni regni infulas sortitus ÷ sacramenta regni caelestis q[i]b. initiatus erat anathematizando pdidit. ac se priscis idolatrie sordib. polluendum pdendumq. restituit. nec mora utrq. rex brittonum ceadualla impia manu sed justa ultione pemit. et primo quidem pxima aestate osricum dum se in oppido muni cipio temerarie obsedisset erumpens subito cum suis omnib. inparatum cum toto exercitu delevit. dein cum anno integro p vincias nordanhymbror ñ ut rex victor possideret sed q̃si tyrānus saeviens dispderet ac tragica caede dilaceraret tan dem eanfridum inosulte ad se cum XII. lectis militib. postulan dae pacis gratia venientē simili sorte damnavit. Infaustus il le annus et omnib. bonis exosus usq. hodie pmanet tam pp apo stasiā regum anglor qua se fidei sacramentis exuerant q pp vaesaniam brittonici regis tyrrannidē. unde cunctis placu[i]t regum tempora oputantib. ut ablata de medio regum pfidor memoria idem annus sequentis regis id ÷ Osualdi viri dō dilecti regno adsignaret. quo post occisionem fratris eanfridi sup veniente cum parvo exercitu sed fide xp̃i munito infandus br ittonum dux cum inmensis illis copis q̃b nih[i]l resistere posse

Digitized by Google

Ms. More Pub. Lib. Camb. K.K. 5. 16.

XV. Tantum au.* devotionis Eduini erga cultū verita tis habuit: ut etiā regi orientaliū angloř earpualdo filio redualdi ꝑsuaderet: relictis idoloř supstitionib: fidem et sacramenta xp̃i cum sua ꝓvincia suscipere 7 Et quidem pať ə redualď jam dudum in cantia sacramentis xp̃ianae fidei inbutus ÷ 7 sed frustra 7 nam rediens domum ab uxore sua et quib.dam ꝑversis doc torib. seductus ÷ atq. a sinceritate fidei depravatus: habuit posteriora pejora priorib: ita ut in morem antiquoř sama ritanoř et xp̃o servire videreť et diis. quib. antea serviebat:
atq. in eodem fano et altare haberet ad sacrificiū xp̃i et arulā ad victimas dæmonioř 7 Q2 videť fanū rex ədem ꝓvinciæ alduulf:
qui nr̃a ætate fuit: usq. ad suum tempus ꝑdurasse et se in pueria[a] vidisse testabať 7 Erat au.* p̃fatus rex redualď natu nobilis: q̃libet actu ignobilis filius Tytili: cujus pať fuit uuffa. aquo reges orieñ angloř uuffingas appellant 7 Veř eorpualď ñ multo postq fi dem accepit tempore: occisus a viro gentili nomine ricbercto , et exinde trib. annis ꝓvincia in errore versata ÷ donec accepit regnū fř ədem eorpualdi sigberct. vir ꝑ omnia xp̃ianissimus ac doctissi mus qui vivente adhuc fratre cum exularet in gallia fidei sacra mentis inbutus ÷ 7 quoř participem mox ubi regnare coepit totā suam ꝓvinciā facere curavit. cujus studiis gloriosissime favit felix eꝯus qui de burgundioř partib. ubi ortus et ordinatus ÷ cum venisset ad honorium archiepisc̃ eiq. indicasset desideriū suū misit eum ad p̃dicandum verbum vitæ p̃fati nationi angloř: Nec vota ipsius in cassum cecidere quin potius fructum in ea multiplicē credentiū populoř pius agri sp̃italis cultor invenit. siquidē totā illā ꝓvinciā jux̃ sui nominis sacramentū a longa iniquitate atq.
infelicitate liberatā ad fidem et opera justitiæ ad ꝑpetuæ feli citatis. dona ꝑduxit. accepitq. sedem episcopatus in civitate domnoc et cum.x ac vii añ eidē ꝓvincię pontificali regimine p̃seť ibidē in pace vitā finivit.

---

* In ancient writings in the Saxon hand certain fixed signs represent entire words, among them is that which occurs in lines 1 and 13 of the Fac-simile, and signifies autem; but as no type of it has been cast, the word has been printed thus: au.

Digitized by Google

XV Tantum autem deuotionis Aeduini erga cultum ueri tatis habuit ut etiam regi orientalium anglorum Earpualdo filio Redualdi persuaderet ut relictis idolorum superstitionibus fidem et sacramenta Christi cum sua prouincia susciperet. Et quidem pater eius Reduald iam dudum in cantia sacramentis Christianae fidei inbutus est sed frustra nam rediens domum ab uxore sua et quibusdam peruersis doc toribus seductus est atque a sinceritate fidei deprauatus habuit posteriora peiora prioribus ita ut in morem antiquorum Sama ritanorum et Christo seruire uideretur et diis quibus antea seruiebat atque in eodem fano et altare haberet ad sacrificium Christi et arulam ad uictimas daemoniorum. Quod uidelicet fanum rex eiusdem prouinciae Alduulf qui nostra aetate fuit usque ad suum tempus perdurasse et se in pueritia uidisse testabatur. Erat autem praefatus rex Reduald natu nobilis quamlibet actu ignobilis filius Tytili cuius pater fuit Uuffa a quo reges orientalium anglorum Uuffingas appellant. Uerum Eorpuald non multo postquam fi dem accepit tempore occisus est a uiro gentili nomine Ricbercto et exinde tribus annis prouincia in errore uersata est donec accepit regnum frater eiusdem Eorpualdi Sigberct uir per omnia Christianissimus ac doctissi mus qui uiuente adhuc fratre cum exularet in Gallia fidei sacra mentis inbutus est quorum participem mox ubi regnare coepit totam suam prouinciam facere curauit. Cuius studiis gloriosissime fauit Felix episcopus qui de Burgundiorum partibus ubi ortus et ordinatus est cum uenisset ad Honorium archiepiscopum eique indicasset desiderium suum misit eum ad praedicandum uerbum uitae praefatae nationi anglorum. Nec uota ipsius in cassum cecidere quin potius fructum in ea multiplicem credentium populorum pius agri spiritalis cultor inuenit. Siquidem totam illam prouinciam iuxta sui nominis sacramentum a longa iniquitate atque infelicitate liberatam ad fidem et opera iustitiae ac perpetuae feli citatis dona perduxit. accepitque sedem episcopatus in ciuitate Domnoc et cum X ac VII annos eidem prouinciae pontificali regimine praeesset ibidem in pace uitam finiuit.

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

Ms. Hist. nº 8

inquibus & crucem magnam auream & calicem auream consecratum ad ministerium altaris quae adhuc integra cautiae seruata monstrantur. Quo intempore rofensis ecclesia pastorem minime habebat. eoquod romanus pre sul illius ad honorũ papa magusto archiepõ legatarius missus abortus fuerat fluctibus italicis maris. Ne per hoc curam illius prefatus paulinus inuitatione honoru antestitis & adbaldi regis suscepit adhuc. usque dũ & ipse suo tempore ad caelestia regna cum gloriosi fructu laboris ascendit. Inqua ecclesia morien pallium quoque quod a roma no papa acceperat relin quit. Reliquerat autem in ecclesia sua eburaci iaco bum diaconum uirum utique ecclesiasticum & sẽ quum multum tempus in ecclesia manens. magnas antiqui hostis preclas docendo & baptizando eripuit
C unus nomine uicus inquo maxime solebat habitare iuxta cataractam usque hodie cognominatur qui qm̃ cantandi in ecclesia erat peritissimus. recu perata post modum pace in prouincia & crescente numero fidelium. & iam magister ecclesiasticae cantilenae iuxta romanorum siue cantuariorum multis coepit existere. & ipse senex ac plenus dierũ iuxta scripturas. patrum uias secutus est.

EXPLICIT LIBER SECUNDUS

INCIPIT LIBER TERTIUS

HAEC CONTINENTUR IN LIBRIS TRIB. HYSTORIAE ECCLESIAS
TICAE GENTIS ANGLORUM. INCIPIUNT CAPITULA

in quibus et crucem magnam auream et calicem aureum consecratum ad ministerium altaris. quae actenus in eccła cantiae servata monstrantur. Quo in tempore. rofensis ecclesia pastorem minime habebat: eo quod romanus pre sul illius. ad honoriū papam a Justo archiepo legatarius missus. absortus fuerat fluctibus italici maris. Ac per hoc curam illius prefatus paulinus invitatione honorii antestitis et adbaldi regis suscepit ac tenuit: usque dū et ipse suo tempore ad caelestia regna cum gloriosi fructu laboris ascendit. In qua ecclesia moriens: pallium quoque quod a romano papa acceperat reli quit. Reliquerat autem in ecclesia sua eburaci jaco bum diaconum virum utique ecclesiasticum et sc̃m: qui multum temporis in ecclesia manens. magnas antiqui hostis predas. docendo et baptizando eripuit cujus nomine vicus in quo maxime solebat habitare juxta cateractam usque hodie cognominatur: qui q̃m cantandi in ecclesia erat peritissimus. recu perata postmodum pace in provincia et crescente numero fidelium. etiam magister ecclesiasticae cantionis juxta romanorum sive cantuariorum multis coepit existere. et ipse senex ac plenus dierū juxta scripturas: patrum viam secutus est.

EXPLICIT LIBER SECUNDUS

INCIPIT LIBER TERTIUS

HAEC CONTINENTUR IN LIBRIS TRIB: HYSTORIAE ECCLESIAS TICAE GENTIS ANGLORŪ INCIPIUNT CAPITULA.

Digitized by Google

Digitized by Google

Gildæ S Quare tu socium de

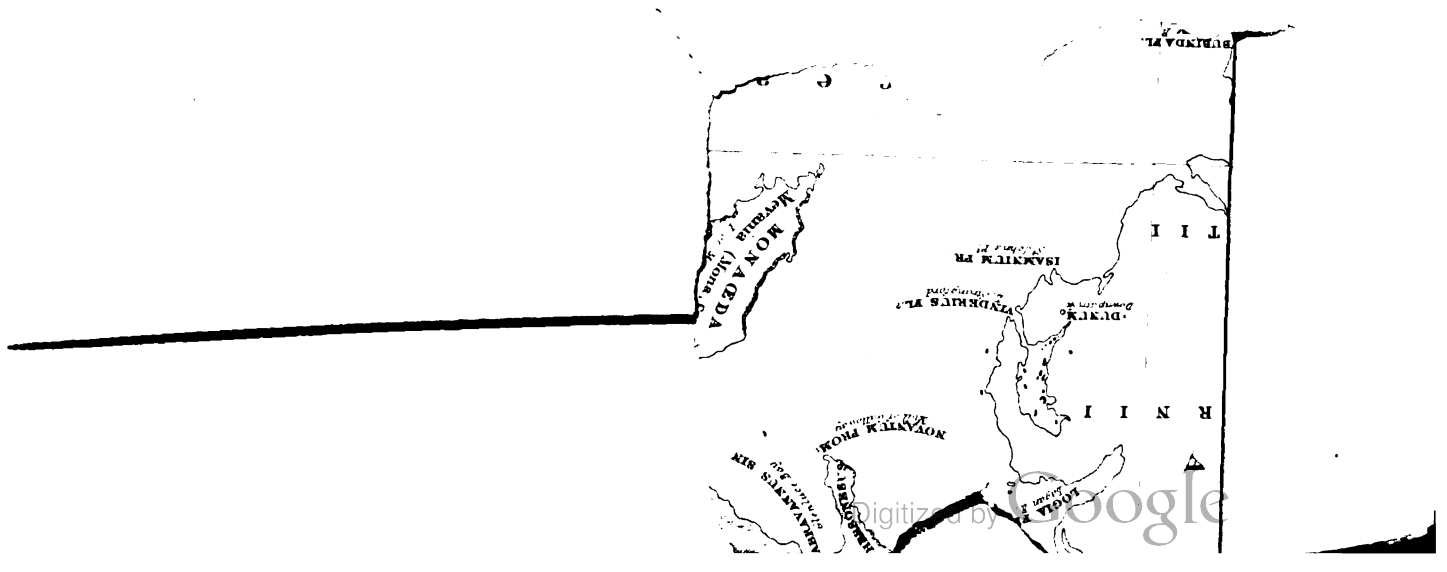
Digitized by Google



Digitized by Google

GILDÆ SAPIENTIS

DE

EXCIDIO BRITANNIÆ

LIBER QUERULUS.[a]

---

[a] Gildas, quem et Sapientem et Badonicum quibusdam vocare placuit, circiter An. 516 natus, An. 570 fatis cessit. Librum 'De Excidio Britanniæ' circa An. 560 conscripsit. Hunc ex editione Galeana Oxoniæ An. 1691 repetimus, collatis MSS. Codicibus Bibliothecæ Publicæ Cantabrigiæ F. f. 1. 27., quo usus est Galeus, et D. d. 1. 17. Horum variantes lectiones litteris A. B., quæ autem a comparatione editionis Josselini provenerunt nota Joss. distinximus. Quæ in Polydori, Josselini aut Galei præfationibus ad propositum nostrum viderentur, infra quærenda sunt. De Gilda et de opere ejus quæ latius præfati sumus videsis.

Polydorus. 'Opus Novum. Gildas Britannus monachus, cui Sapientis cognomentum est inditum, de calamitate, excidio et conquestu Britanniæ, quam Angliam nunc vocant, author vetustus a multis diu desideratus et nuper in gratiam D. Cuthberti Tonstalli Londinensis episcopi formulis excusus.' ...

'Polydori Vergilii Urbinatis in Gildam Sapientem, ad Cuthbertum Tonstallum Londinensem episcopum præfatio.

'Abhinc aliquot annos, cum ego me ad historiam Anglicam scribendam dedissem ejusque rei causa postmodùm annales assidue evolverem legi primo apud Bedam, deinde apud Gulielmum Newburgum quendam historicum nomine Gildam, quondam flebiliter suorum Britannorum calamitatem pariter, atque peccata deplorasse. Quo cognito nihil mihi potius fuit, quam eum investigare autorem, quem nobis adjumento fore, jam tum quasi pro certo haberemus, qui longo post tempore, tandem mihi quærenti in manus incidit, ex quo ut verum fatear, longe mehercule minus cepi fructus, quam putaram, quod ille in historia admodum brevis fuerit. At tu optime episcope, qui maxime omnium in rem literariam agendam continenter incumbis, haud multo post alterum codicem omnibus vestigiis indagatum reperisti. Ita fama veteris autoris inventi brevi, ad omnium bonarum artium studiosissimorum aures facile pervenit, tantumque ejus desiderium fecit, ut placuerit tandem aliquando vulgari, vel ea de causa, ut diluceret fraus nebulonis pessimi, [†] qui paucis ante annis, ex cujusdam Gaufredi scriptis breviarium composuerat, illudque Gildæ Sapientis falso compendium inscripserat. Quare tu non modo codicem, sed etiam laboris socium dedisti familiarem tuum Robertum Ridleium sacerdotem cum honestum, tum in theologia probatum. Nobis igitur ad rem aggressis codices simul conferentibus, ac errata tollere conantibus ecce subito longe gravissimus obrepsit labor, deprehendimus enim bonam partem sacrorum testimoniorum quibus autor ita utitur, ut scribendo sæpe desinat esse suus, non consentire cum suis autoribus. Tum addubitare cœpimus, si illa sic manerent, velut agnata membra facile neglectum iri, sin ad verbum reponerentur, nobis istuc haud dubie vitio datum iri, quod autoris verba mutaverimus, qui ad extremum legem jampridem librorum veterum castigatoribus datam secuti nonnulla resecuimus, addidimus autem nihil. Ipse vero postea, ut oratio per hyperbaton passim obscurata planior fieret, uno vel altero loco verbum longius positum magis perapposite locandum curavi. Hæc de opusculo, sed jam ad ipsum autorem veniamus. Fuit Gildas homo Britannus, ac monachus, et utrumque ipse attestari videtur cum Britannos vocet suos, atque de suo ordine ita scribat: 'Quiescerem nisi tantos talesque montes malitiæ episcoporum, vel cæterorum sacerdotum, aut clericorum, in nostro quoque ordine erigi adversus Deum, vidissem,' &c. Vitam vixit integerrimam, uti reor, nam cum aliorum mores castigare instituisset, necesse habuit sibi prius indicere legem innocentiæ, continentiæ, omniumque virtutum, ut ne turpiter in eo peccaret in quo alterum reprehendisset. Doctrina valuit, non item eloquentia, id quod vitium temporum fuisse dixerim, nam floruit Pelagio secundo pontifice Romano, qui factus est pontifex circiter annum salutis humanæ D.LXXX. cum bonæ litteræ non essent. Scripsit istam epistolam, sic ipse appellat, ad suos Britannos, qua postquam de situ insulæ pauca dixit, conatus est ita eos piis pungere minis, ut sua quasi sponte ad bonam frugem, ut aiunt se reciperent. Ac talis est Gildas antiquissimus autor, qui si in parte aliqua profuerit, profuerit autem omnimodo, id vel tibi acceptum referri debet, quod ille te demum duce, ex densissimis tenebris in lucem prodierit. Vale ad viij. Iduum Aprilis M.D.XXV. Londini.'

Josselinus. 'Gildæ cui cognomentum est Sapientis, de excidio et conquestu Britanniæ, ac flebili castigatione in reges, principes et sacerdotes epistola, vetustissimorum exemplariorum auxilio non solum a mendis plurimis vindicata, sed etiam accessione eorum quæ in prima editione a Polydoro Vergilio resecta erant, multipliciter aucta. Londini 1568. ...

[†] Pont. Virunnius.

Digitized by Google

'Ad Matthæum Cantuariensem archiepiscopum totius Angliæ primatem, et dominum suum, Joannis Josselini præfatio.

'Incidi nuper, humanissime domine, tua quidem autoritate usus, in duos veteres codices Gildæ Britonis, quorum alter literarum notis valde peregrinis et ab usu nostro jamdiu alienis, quippe amplius sexcentis hinc annis scriptus, ad bibliothecam Augustinensem Cantuariæ olim pertinuit: alter quidem multo recentior et scriptura non æque diligenti, qui tamen minimum ab illo altero discrepat, fuit olim Glastoniensis cœnobii, at jam est cujusdam generosi jurisperiti Cantiani solius et proprius. Hos ut contuli cum Gilda, quem Polydorus sub prelo emisit jam annis hinc elapsis quadraginta duobus deprehendi, vel defuisse Polydoro vera, integra, et accurate descripta exemplaria quæ sequeretur: vel ipsum Polydorum, pace tua dixerim, non exhibuisse nobis hunc autorem cum bona religione et fide. Nam per codices, quos dico mihi visos, reperio plane multa quæ desunt in impresso Gilda, tum eorum quæ sunt autoris propria, tum maxime sacrorum testimoniorum, quæ ab ipso etiam autore ad correctionem suæ gentis hic adducuntur. Ut interim taceam, et ipsum Polydorum non accusem, quod autoris verba quamplurimis in locis mutarit, nonnulla resecuerit, quædam alio ordine locarit, cum ex parte hoc se jure potuisse facere exemplo veterum castigatorum, qui hanc sibi facultatem permiserunt, confirmat. Verum præter hanc nimiam libertatem mutandi verborum et ordinis, quo plane factum est, ut eadem autoris sententia in verbis et ordine non maneant, ut facile comparatione facta constabit, quasdam sententiarum particulas de suo inserit, et sacra scripturarum testimonia, quæ retinet, non omnia iisdem verbis, quibus reperit, reponit: sed ex his quædam locat desumpta e scripturarum lectione, quam vulgo, sed falso, veterem dicimus, quam temporibus Gildæ in ecclesia non extitisse publico usu receptam per omnes scripturarum libros, certum quidem erit lectori quingentis locis in hoc tam exiguo libello in medium prolatis, quæ paucis quidem verbis cum vulgata lectione conveniunt. Hæc cum animadverterem, et dolerem tanti presbyteri, tam antiqui, etiam gentilis nostri, imo priscorum Britonum gentilis tam utile et fructuosum monumentum, quod Christianis gentibus omnibus seculis salutaris admonitio esse potest, qua vindictam divinam caveant exemplo calamitosorum Britonum, qui Dei spreta religione, contempta obedientia, suis peccatis et impiis affectibus inserviendo patriam amiserunt, adeo mendose in manibus hominum versari, nihil mihi potius fuit, quam ut denuo emitterem, vel maxime quod autoritate tua, penes quem est mihi imperandi potestas, ad hoc ipsum animatus fuerim. Itaque cognoscant lectores illis nunc exhiberi Gildam ita castigatum mendis sublatis, ut non solum verba, sed et integras plane sententias, atque adeo integra folia suis locis restituerim. Atqui hoc totum feci autoritate tantum veterum exemplariorum adjutus, nequaquam mihi libertatem permittens, ex ingenio ut quicquam mutem de ordine, vel auferam de verbis et sententiis. Hæc de operis castigatione: sed jam ad ipsum autorem veniamus. Is ex Britannis parentibus ortus ante mille annos claruit celebris suæ gentis vel presbiter, vel episcopus, nam hos frequenter hic suos vocat, et illi veteri Scotorum atque Pictorum doctori Columbano æqualem, ac potius paulo antiquiorem putem. Tradit enim Beda Columbanum de Hybernia venisse in Britanniam verbum Dei provinciis Septentrionalium Pictorum prædicaturum anno Incarnationis Dominicæ quingentesimo sexagesimo quinto, regnante apud illos Bridio filio Meilochon rege potentissimo, et tum fuisse natum annos quinque et quadraginta. At Gildas jam egit annum ætatis suæ sexagesimum tertium. Quod ita constat: Natus est, ut sibi ipsi dat testimonium, anno, quo Britanni secundo prælio dimicabant cum Saxonibus ad Badonicum montem. Hic annus erat, ipso etiam teste, quadragesimus quartus a primo Saxonum adventu, scilicet humanæ salutis nonagesimus quartus supra quadringentesimum. Non itaque verum est quod perhibet Polydorus, floruisse Gildam sub Pelagio pontifice Romano, qui factus pontifex anno Messiæ quingentesimo octogesimo secundo, obiit pontifex anno quingentesimo nonagesimo primo. Verum quacumque ætate vel ubicunque vixerit, certe constat fuisse illum insignem inter Britones doctorem, a Deo illis datum, cui non immerito ascribitur nomen Sapientis.' ..... 'Est tamen autor, quod solum in eo deploramus, paulo intellectu obscurior ob confusam verborum, quæ persæpe a suo loco male transferuntur, structuram, ob prolixas, quæ pene ubique occurrunt legenti, periodos: in quibus singulis non prius se respirare patitur, quam permulta, quæ vel ex abundanti ingenio, vel solicita cogitatione se illi offerant, uno verborum circuitu definiat ac terminet. Quo igitur oratio aliquando paulo prolixior aut per hyperbaton passim obscurata planior fieret, et verborum colligatio atque connectio manifestior animadverteretur, tum clausulas recte distinguendas, tum complures sententiarum particulas veluti parentheses, quibus remotis semper manebit sensus integer, semicirculis includendas curavimus, annotationibus etiam alicubi ad illustranda difficiliora loca una cum numeris ad indicandas scripturas, tam eas ad quas autor persæpe alludit, quam quas ad verbum recitat, margini appositis. Quo etiam non lateat lectorem quid quovis in loco sit a Polydoro rescissum in sua editione, id omne in hac nostra semper includimus in hujusmodi notis [ ]. Quod si id excedat unum, duo, tria, aut plura folia, ut sæpe fit, visum est etiam de eo præmonere lectorem paucis verbis e regione loci in margine positis. Verum quicquid sit, quod ipse præstiti, quo jam secundo Gildas prodit in lucem et castigatius et plenius, superest, amplissime domine, ut id totum tibi acceptum referatur, quo imperante ipse onus in me suscepi: quin etiam procurante mihi et vetustos codices, et quandoque id auxilii, quo facilius inter se codices conferrem, factum ut mihi labor minus cum molestia fuerit. Christus te sibi et ecclesiæ suæ diu conservet. Tui studiosus cliens et servus

JOAN. JOSSELINUS.'

Galeus. 'Gildas primo cum præfatione Polydori Virgilii exivit; deinde cura Joannis Josselini. Hæ duæ editiones adeo inter se discordabant, ut omnem fidem auctori suo detraherent, et Gildam in Gilda adhuc quæreres. Quare consultissimum habui eum denuo excudere; scripto codice usus, quem priorum editorum neuter inspexerat, quique purus esset a fœda et absurda interpolatione, quæ alia exemplaria infamarat. Nec uni soli in emaculando Gilda innisus sum libro: aliunde etiam ad hanc rem suppetias accersivi.'

Digitized by Google

A

[1] PRÆFATIO GILDÆ.[a]

IN [2]hoc libro[a] quicquid deflendo potius quam declamando, vili licet stylo, tamen benigno, fuero prosecutus, ne quis me, affectu cunctos spernentis, omnibusve melioris, quippe qui commune bonorum dispendium malorumque cumulum lachrymosis querelis defleam, sed condolentis patriæ incommoditatibus miseriisque ejus, ac remediis condelectantis, edicturum putet; [3]quia [4]vero non tam fortissimorum militum enunciare trucis belli pericula [5]mihi statutum est, quam desidiosorum. Silui, fateor, cum immenso [6]dolore mentis, et animi compunctione, cordisque contritione, et attonito sensu sæpius hæc omnia in animo
B revolvere, [7]et,[a] ut mihi [8]renum scrutator testis est Dominus, spatio bilustri temporis, vel eo amplius prætereuntis, imperitia, sicut et nunc, [9]una cum charis-

[1][a] Incipit præfatio libri queruli S. Gildæ Sapientis de excidio Britanniæ, de calamitatibus et prævaricationibus ejus civium, ac Britonum exulatione; et conquestus ipsius contra reges, principes et sacerdotes. A. rubrica. Incipit prologus Gildæ Sapientis, de excidio Britanniæ, et conquestu ejusdem, ac flebili castigatione in reges, principes et sacerdotes. Pol. Verg. Prologus Gildæ. Joss. [2][a] hac epistola Joss. [3] Quia A. [4] deest Joss. [5] velut A. [6][a] cordis dolore Joss. [7] Et, A. [8] renium A. [9][a] una cum vilibus me meritis inhibentibus, ne qualemcunque admonitiunculam scriberem. Legebam nihilominus, admirandum legislatorem ob unius verbi dubitationem, terram[⅄] desiderabilem non introiisse: filios sacerdotis[ϒ] alienum admovendo altari ignem, cito exitu periisse: populum verborum Dei prævaricatorem[×] sexcentorum millium, duobus exceptis veracibus, et quidem Deo charissimum, quippe cui iter levissime stratum[+] profundi glarea Maris Rubri, cibus[⅄] cœlestis panis, potus novus[ϒ] ex rupe viator, acies invicta[×] manuum sola intensa erectio fuerit, [+]bestiis, [⅄]ferro, [ϒ]igni per Arabiæ deserta sparsim cecidisse: post ingressum ignotæ acsi [×]Jordanis portæ, [+]urbisque adversa mœnia, solis tubarum clangoribus jussu Dei subruta: [⅄]palliolum aurique parum de anathemate præsumptum, multos stravisse: [ϒ]Gabaonitarum irritum fœdus, calliditate licet extortum, nonnullis intulisse exitium: ob peccata hominum querulas sanctorum prophetarum voces, et maxime Hieremiæ ruinam civitatis suæ quadruplici plangentis [b]alphabeto. Videbamque etiam nostro tempore, ut ille defleverat, [×]'Solam sedisse urbem viduam, antea populis plenam, gentium dominam, principem provinciarum sub tributo fuisse factam,' id est ecclesiam, [+]'obscuratum aurum, coloremque optimum mutatum,' quod est verbi Dei splendorem, [⅄]'Filios Sion,' id est, sanctæ matris ecclesiæ, 'inclytos et amictos auro primo,' amplexatos fuisse stercora. Et quod illi intolerabiliter utpote præcipuo, mihi quoque licet abjecto, utcunque ad cumulum doloris crescebat, dum ita eosdem statu prospero viventes egregios luxerat, ut diceret; [ϒ]'Candidiores Nazaræi ejus nive, rubicundiores ebore antiquo, sapphiro pulchriores.' Ista ego et multa alia veluti speculum quoddam vitæ nostræ in scripturis veteribus intuens, convertebar etiam ad novas, et ibi legebam clarius, quæ mihi forsitan antea obscura fuerant, cessante umbra, ac veritate firmius illucescente. Legebam, inquam, Dominum dixisse: [×]'Non veni, nisi ad oves perditas domus Israel.' Et e contrario: [+]'Filii autem regni hujus ejicientur in tenebras exteriores: ibi erit fletus et stridor dentium.' Et iterum: [⅄]'Non est bonum tollere panem filiorum, et mittere canibus.' Itemque: [ϒ]'Væ vobis scribæ et Pharisæi hypocritæ.' Audiebam: [×]'Multi ab oriente et occidente venient et recumbent cum Abraham, Isaac, et Jacob in regno cœlorum.' Et e diverso: [+]'Et tunc dicam eis: Discedite a me operarii iniquitatis.' Legebam: [⅄]'Beatæ steriles, et ubera quæ non lactaverunt.' Et e contrario: [ϒ]'Quæ paratæ erant, intraverunt cum eo ad nuptias: postea venerunt et reliquæ virgines, dicentes: Domine, Domine, aperi nobis.' Quibus responsum fuerat: 'Non novi vos.' Audiebam sane: [×]'Qui crediderit et baptizatus fuerit, salvus erit: qui autem non crediderit, condemnabitur.' Legebam Apostoli voce, [+]Oleastri ramum bonæ olivæ insertum fuisse: sed a societate radicis pinguedinis ejusdem, si non timuisset, sed alta saperet, excidendum. Sciebam misericordiam Domini, sed et judicium timebam. Laudabam gratiam, sed redditionem unicuique secundum opera sua verebar. Oves unius ovilis dissimiles cernens, merito beatissimum dicebam Petrum ob Christi integram confessionem, at Judam infœlicissimum propter cupiditatis amorem: Stephanum gloriosum ob martyrii palmam, sed Nicolaum miserum propter immundæ hæresios notam. Legebam certe: [⅄]'Erant illis omnia communia:' sed et quod dictum est: [ϒ]'Quare convenit vobis tentare spiritum Dei?' Videbam e regione quantum securitatis hominibus nostri temporis, acsi non esset quod timeretur, increverat. Hæc igitur et multo plura, quæ brevitatis causa omittenda decrevimus, cum qualicunque cordis compunctione, attonita mente sæpius volvens: si, inquam, peculiari ex omnibus nationibus populo, semini regali, gentique sanctæ, ad quam dixerat: [×]'Primogenitus meus Israel,' ejusque sacerdotibus, prophetis, regibus per tot secula, apostolo ministro, membrisque illius primitivæ ecclesiæ Dominus non pepercit cum a recto tramite deviarint; quid tali hujus atramento ætatis facturus

[⅄] Num. xx. 12.
[ϒ] Levit. x. 1.
[×] Num. xxvi. 21. 65.
[+] Exod. xiv. 22.
[⅄] Exod. xvi. 14.
[ϒ] Exod. xvii. 6.
[×] Exod. xvii. 11.
[+] Num. xxi. 6.
[⅄] Num. xiv. 45.
[ϒ] Num. xi. 1.
[×] Jos. iii. 16. [+]vi. 20.
[⅄] Jos. vii. 21. 24.
[ϒ] 2 Samuel, xxi. 1.
[×] Threnor. i. 1.
[+] Threnor. iv. 1.
[⅄] Threnor. iv. 2.
[ϒ] Threnor. iv. 7.
[×] Mat. xv. 24.
[+] Mat. viii. 12.
[⅄] Mat. xv. 26.
[ϒ] Mat. xxiii. 13.
[×] Mat. viii. 11.
[+] Mat. vii. 23.
[⅄] Luc. xxiii. 29.
[ϒ] Mat. xxv. 10.
[×] Mar. xvi. 16.
[+] Rom. xi. 17.
[⅄] Act. iv. 32.
[ϒ] Act. v. 9.
[×] Exod. iv. 22.

[a] Hoc loco monendus est lector, variantes lectiones codicum MSS. haud raro vel aperta scribarum sphalmata vel verborum transpositiones prorsus inutiles exhibere. Hujusmodi igitur varietates plerumque prætermittendas duximus: at siquando ambiguitate laboret textus, tunc eas, quantumvis absurdas, omnino repræsentandas statuimus.

[b] 'Hoc est, quatuor lamentationibus, quarum singulæ litterarum serie in Hebraico alphabeto sunt scriptæ.' Joss.

Digitized by Google

simis [1]mei amicis imperantibus, ut qualemcunque gentis Britannicæ historiolam, A sive admonitiunculam scriberem.' In zelo gitur domus Domini, sacræ legis, seu cogitatuum rationibus, vel fratrum religiosis precibus [2]coactus, nunc persolvo debitum, multo tempore antea exactum, vile quidem [3]stylo, sed fidele, ut puto, et amicale quibusque egregiis Christi tyronibus; grave vero et importabile apostatis insipientibus: quorum priores, ni fallor, cum lachrymis forte quæ ex Dei charitate profluunt, alii [4]cum tristitia, sed quæ de indignatione et pusillanimitate deprehensæ conscientiæ extorquetur, illud excipient. [5]Igitur, Deo volente, pauca, I. De situ[6], II. De contumacia, III. De subjectione, IV. De rebellione, V. [7]De secunda' subjectione ac [8]duro famulatu, VI. De religione, VII. De perse-cutione, VIII. De sanctis martyribus, IX. De diversis hæresibus, X. De tyrannis, XI. De duabus gentibus [9]victricibus, [10]De prima vastatione,' XII. De defensione, B
XIII. [11]De secunda' vastatione, XIV. De secunda ultione, XV. [12]De tertia' vastatione, XVI. De fame, XVII. De epistolis[13], XVIII. De victoria, XIX. De sceleribus, XX. De nuntiatis subito hostibus, XXI. De famosa peste, XXII. De consilio, XXIII. De sæviore multo primis hoste, XXIV. De urbium subversione, XXV. De reliquiis, XXVI. De postrema [14]pace, quæ [15]postrema victoria' temporibus nostris Dei nutu [16]donata est, dicere [17]curabo.

[18] INCIPIUNT CAPITULA LIBRI SEQUENTIS.[a]

I. Descriptio Britanniæ insulæ, et quod illa divina statera, terræ totius pon- C deratrice, sit librata: de ejus situ, habitu, et qualitate: de amœnitate, et pulchritudine: de fertilitate, et ubertate: de longitudine, et latitudine: de civitatibus antiquis, et fluminibus præcipuis: de rivis pernitidis et leni murmure serpentibus: de lucidis fontibus, et congruis animalium pastibus: de frigidis lacubus, et torrentibus exundantibus.

II. De nimia tyrannide indigenarum, et crudelitate sævissima idololatrarum.

III. Quam dolose Romani Britones sibi subegerint; et quam bellicose ipsis diutius reluctaverint.

IV. Quomodo Romani postremo Britonibus præpositos vectigales præfecerint, ita ut non Britannia, sed Romania insula censeretur: et quicquid habere po-
* imagine. tuisset æris et argenti, vel auri, *imagini Cæsaris notaretur. D est? cui præter illa nefanda immaniaque peccata, quæ communiter cum omnibus mundi sceleratis agit, accidit etiam illud veluti ingenitum quid et indelebile insipientiæ pondus, et levitatis ineluctabile. Quid? mihimet aione, miser, tibi veluti conspicuo ac summo doctori talis cura committitur, ut obstes ictibus tam violenti torrentis, et contra hunc inolitorum scelerum funem, per tot annorum spatia interrupte lateque protractum, serves depositum tibi creditum? Et: Taceas, alioquin hoc est dixisse pedi, speculare; et manui, fatere. Habet Britannia rectores, habet speculatores. Quid tu nugando mutire disponis? Habet, inquam, habet, si non ultra, non citra numerum. Sed quia inclinati tanto pondere sunt pressi, idcirco spatium respirandi non habent. ˙Præoccupabant igitur se mutuo talibus objectionibus, vel multo † Eccles. iii. 7. his mordacioribus, veluti condebitores sensus mei. Hi non parvo, ut dixi, tempore, cum legerem †'tempus esse loquendi et tacendi,' et in quadam acsi angusta timoris porticu luctabantur. Obtinuit, vicitque tandem aliquando creditor: Si non es, inquiens, talis audaciæ, ut inter veridicas rationalis secundæ a nuntiis derivationis creaturas non pertimescas libertatis aureæ decenti nota inuri, affectum saltem intelligibilis asinæ eatenus elinguis non refugito spiritu Dei afflatæ, nolentis se vehiculum fore tiarati magi devoturi populum Dei, quæ in angusto maceriæ vinearum resolutum ejus attrivit pedem, ob id licet verbera hostiliter senserit, cuique Angelum cœlestem ensem vacuum vagina habentem, atque contrarium, quem ille cruda stoliditate cæcatus non viderat, digito quodammodo, quanquam ingrato ac furibundo, et innoxia ejus latera contra jus fasque cædenti demonstravit.[b] Joss. [1] me A. [2] conatus Joss. [3] deest Joss. [4] enim atque A. addit. [5] Sed ante promissum Joss. [6] Britanniæ A. add. [7] Item de Joss. [8] diro A. Joss. [9] vastatricibus A. Joss. [10] desunt Joss. [11] Itemque Joss. [12] tertiaque Joss. [13] ad Agitium Joss. add. [14] patriæ victoria Joss. [15] desunt A. Joss. [16] ei A. add. [17] conamur. Joss. A. [18] Desunt capitula editionibus Polydori et Josselini.

[a] Hæc capitula, quæ in Cod. A. tantum occurrunt, longe post tempora Gildæ aut confecta aut interpolata fuisse constat.

[b] Hæc a Galeo quasi supposititia reprobantur: at quod Gildam sapiunt minime inficiandum est.

Digitized by Google

A V. Quo tempore Christus in mundum venerit; et quanta persecutio tempore Diocletiani emerserit.

VI. Quanta martyrum gloria tam in Britannia quam in universa tunc efflоruerit ecclesia.

VII. Quomodo ecclesia redivivo flore respiraverit; sed tamen *Arriani contagio infecta defecerit. * Ariani.

VIII. Qualiter gens Britonum imperatores Romanos attriverit.

IX. Qualiter Britones arctati a Scotis et Pictis, pro Romano miserint auxilio, et obtinuerint: et quale consilium Romani eis dederint; videlicet, ut inter duo maria murum per millia passuum plurima trans insulam instruerent, [a] a mari Scotiæ usque ad mare Hiberniæ, id est, a ×Kair Eden, civitas antiquissima, duorum × Caer-ridden.
B ferme millium spatio a monasterio Abercurnig, quod nunc vocatur Abercorn, ad occidentem tendens, contra occidentem, juxta urbem ϒAlcluth: at insulani ϒ Dunbarton.
murum non tam lapidibus quam cespitibus construentes, ad nihilum utilem statuunt; quia, statim Romanis repatriantibus, iterum ab ipsis impugnati sunt.

X. Quam misere legati Britonum Romam iterum mittuntur, scissis vestibus, nudis pedibus, opertis sablone capitibus, lubricis gressibus, lachrymosis postulationibus, querulis vocibus, cunctis membris contrementibus a Romanis auxilia petentes et impetrantes.

XI. Quomodo Britones rursum Romanorum solatium repetierunt, et qualiter Romani sese excusaverunt; sed tamen laudare et monere cœperunt, ut murum a mari ad mare facerent: quod et fecerunt, [b] a mari Norwagiæ usque ad mare
C Gallwadiæ, per octo pedes latum, et duodecim altum, et turres per intervalla construxerunt, eo in loco ubi Severus imperator maximam fossam, firmissimumque vallum crebris insuper turribus communitum, per CXXXII. millia passuum longe ante fecerat, id est, a villa quæ Anglice Wallesende dicitur, Latine vero 'caput muri' interpretantur, quæ est juxta Tinemutthe; qui murus multum distat a præfato vallo, apud meridiem, quod antea apud Kair Eden supra mare Scotiæ constituerunt.'

XII. Qualiter gens scabra Scotorum, comperta excusatione Romanorum, in Britones insurrexerint, et eos prosequendo lacesserint.

XIII. Quod Britones adhuc more solito ad Romanos mittentes, nihil profecerint: sed rursum suis viribus innitentes Pictos propulerint.

D XIV. Quomodo omnis justitia a Britonibus perierit, et omnis nequitia pro veritate, etiam inter religiosos, succreverit.

XV. Quod Britones pro Saxonibus miserunt, et eos, Deo judicante, pro peccati flagella susceperunt.

XVI. Qualiter gens Saxonica cum tribus +kyulis Britanniam appulerit, et + navibus.
postea Britones impugnaverit.

XVII. Quomodo Saxones sumptus majores solito expetunt; et hoc genere impugnandi materias quæsierunt, et sancta Dei diripuerunt.

XVIII. Qualiter Ambrosius Aurelianus solus eis restiterit; et quis Gildæ Sapientis nativitatis annus sit.

XIX. Quomodo gens Britannica postea tota idololatriæ erroribus sit subdita.

E XX. Recapitulatio singulorum quæ superius descripta sunt epigrammatum: in qua recapitulatione auctor operis promittit se majorem librum de regibus Britonum, et de præliis eorum describendum; quem et postea facit.

EXPLICIUNT CAPITULA.

[a] De muri situ, præter quod inter duo maria fuerat, nihil in textu habetur. Hæc fere e Bedæ Hist. Eccles. I. 12. hausta videntur.

[b] Hæc etiam textui desunt. E Beda H. E. I. 5. 12. plerumque desumpta sunt ut videtur.

Digitized by Google

A

[1] INCIPIT LIBER QUERULUS S. GILDÆ SAPIENTIS DE EXCIDIO BRITANNIÆ: DE CALAMITATIBUS ET PRÆVARICATIONIBUS EJUS CIVIUM: DE EXULATIONE BRITONUM, ET DURIS OPPRESSIONIBUS EORUM; ET QUAM DOLOSE ROMANI EOS SIBI SUBEGERINT, ET QUAM BELLICOSE IPSIS DIUTIUS RESTITERINT; ET QUOMODO ROMANI POSTREMO EIS PRÆPOSITOS VECTIGALES PRÆFECERINT, ITA UT NON BRITANNIA SED ROMANA INSULA VOCARETUR, ET OMNIS MONETA AURI, ARGENTI, ET ÆRIS *IMAGINI CÆSARIS NOTARETUR: QUO TEMPORE CHRISTUS IN MUNDUM VENERIT: ET QUANTA PERSECUTIO TEMPORE DIOCLETIANI EMERSERIT: QUANTA MARTYRUM GLORIA TUNC BRITANNIA EFFLORUERIT: QUALITER GENS BRITONUM IMPERATORES ROMANOS ATTRIVERIT.

* imagine.

[2]HISTORIA GILDÆ.

B

De situ Britanniæ insulæ.

BRITANNIA[3] insula in extremo ferme [4]orbis limite Circium occidentemque versus, divina, ut dicitur, statera terræ totius [5]ponderatrice [6]librata; ab Africo [7]boriali propensius tensa axi, [8]octingentorum in longo milium, ducentorum in lato spacium, exceptis diversorum prolixioribus promontorium tractibus,[9] quæ arcuatis oceani sinibus ambiuntur [10]tenens; cujus [11]diffusione, et, ut ita dicam, intransmeabili undique circulo, absque meridianæ freto plagæ, quo ad Galliam [12]Belgicam navigatur, vallata, [13]duum ostiis nobilium [14]Thamesis ac Sabrinæ fluminum veluti brachiis, per quæ [15]eidem olim transmarinæ deliciæ [16]ratibus vehebantur, aliorumque minorum, [17]meliorata: [a]bis denis bisque quaternis [18]civitatibus,[b] ac nonnullis castellis[19], murorum, [20]turrium serratarum, portarum, C [21]domorumque, [22]quorum culmina minaci proceritate [23]porrecta in [24]edito forti compage [25]pangebantur, [26]molitionibus non improbabiliter [27]instructis [28]decorata: campis [29]late [30]pansis, collibusque amœno situ [31]locatis [32]præpollenti culturæ aptis,[33] montibusque alternandis animalium pastibus [34]magne convenientibus, [35]diversorum colorum flores humanis gressibus pulsati, non [36]indecentem [37]quondam [38]ceu picturam [39]eisdem [40]imprimebant, electa veluti sponsa monilibus diversis ornata: fontibus lucidis, crebris undis niveas veluti glareas [41]pellentibus, pernitidisque rivis leni murmure serpentibus, [42]quorumque in ripis [43]accubantibus suavis saporis [44]pignus [45]prætendentibus, et lacubus frigidum aquæ torrentem vivæ [46]exundantibus irrigua.

De contumacia gentis.

II. Hæc erecta cervice et mente, [47]ex quo inhabitata est, nunc Deo, interdum D civibus, nonnunquam etiam transmarinis regibus, et [48]subjectis [49]interdum ingrata

[1] Rubrica in Codice A. deest edd. P. J. [2] Epistola Joss. [3] Locus in quo factus est hic liber est Guales insula marina, tempore Arthuri regis, persona Gildæ Sapientis. A. in margine. [4] terrarum A. inter lineas. [5] terrarum A. inter l. [6] mensurata A. inter l. [7] boreali A. [8] occentorum A. De situ patriæ. marg. [9] vel ductibus A. add. [10] deest A. [11] diffusiore Joss. [12] Belgica prima, in qua est metropolis Treveris: Belgica secunda, in qua est transitus ad Britanniam, in qua est metropolis civitas Remorum. A. marg. [13] duorum Jos. [14] fluminum Thamesis ac Sabrinæ Joss. Thamensis et A. [15] insulæ A. inter l. [16] id est, navibus, A. inter l. [17] id est, ornata A. inter l. [18] fulget Bosc. add. [19] decoratur Bosc. add. [20] quoque ac Bosc. add. [21] domorum Joss. domorum etiam Bosc. [22] quarum Joss. Bosc. [23] extensa A. inter l. [24] editum Bosc. excelso A. inter l. [25] cernuntur Bosc. fabricabantur A. inter l. [26] munitionibus Joss. Bosc. varietatibus A. inter l. [27] ornatis A. inter l. [28] est adornata Bosc. [29] quoque fulget Bosc. add. [30] apertis A. inter l. [31] congregatis A. inter l. [32] abundanti A. inter l. [33] montibus Joss. montibus etiam Bosc. [34] maxime Joss. optime Bosc. [35] quorum Joss. add. qui diversorum colorum floribus grati redduntur humanis visibus: veluti electa sponsa diversis ornata monilibus. Fontibus lucidis crebrisque gaudet, ex quibus rivuli leni murmure serpentes suave pignus soporis tribuunt viatoribus fessis. Duorum etiam ostiis nobilium fluminum, Tamesis videlicet ac Sabrinæ veluti brachiis meliorata, per quæ eidem Britanniæ olim transmarinæ deliciæ ratibus vehebantur: aliorumque fluminum minorum infusione irrigatur. Bosc. [36] indicentem A. [37] quandam A. deest Joss. [38] A. seu edd. Joss. Gal. [39] montibus ostendebant A. inter l. [40] imprimebat Joss. signabant A. inter l. [41] palantibus A. revelantibus inter l. [42] ipsorumque Joss. [43] occupantibus A. inter l. [44] piscis A. inter l. [45] dantibus A. inter l. Incipit mutilus Cod. MS. B. [46] id est, manantibus, A. inter l. [47] tempore A. inter l. [48] scilicet, hominibus A. inter l. [49] deest A. B. Joss.

[a] Civitatum XXVIII. nomina vide apud Nennium.

[b] Quæ inter variantes lectiones nota Bosc. designantur, e vita Gildæ, in Bibliotheca Floriacensi edita, accepta sunt.

Digitized by Google

A consurgit. [1] Quid enim deformius, [2] quidque iniquius potest humanis ausibus vel esse vel intromitti negotium, quam Deo timorem, bonis civibus [3] charitatem, in altiore dignitate [4] compositis, absque fidei detrimento, debitum denegare honorem, et frangere divino sensui humanoque fidem, et abjecto cœli [5] et terræ metu, propriis adinventionibus aliquem [6] ex libidinibus regi? [7] Igitur [8] *non [9] omittens priscos illos communesque cum omnibus gentibus errores, quibus ante adventum Christi in carne omne humanum genus [10] obligabatur adstrictum, nec enumerans [11] patriæ portenta ipsa diabolica, pene [12] numero [13] vincentia [14] Ægyptiaca', quorum nonnulla, lineamentis adhuc deformibus intra vel extra deserta mœnia solito more [15] rigentia, torvis vultibus intuemur; neque nominatim inclamitans montes ipsos, aut colles, vel fluvios olim [16] exitiales, nunc vero

B humanis usibus [17] utiles, quibus divinus honor a cæco tunc populo cumulabatur; et tacens vetustos [18] immanium tyrannorum annos, qui in aliis longe positis regionibus vulgati sunt, ita ut [19] Porphyrius, [20] rabidus canis orientalis adversus ecclesiam,' dementiæ suæ ac vanitatis stylo hoc etiam adnecteret: [a] 'Britannia [21] est', inquiens, 'fertilis [22] provincia tyrannorum;' illa [23] tamen proferre conabor in [24] medium, quæ temporibus imperatorum Romanorum et passa est, et aliis intulit civibus [25] longe positis mala: quantum tamen potuero, non tam ex [26] scripturis patriæ, scriptorumve monumentis, quippe quæ, vel si qua fuerint, aut ignibus hostium exusta, aut civium [27] exilii classe longius deportata non compareant, quam transmarina relatione, quæ crebris irrupta intercapedinibus non satis claret.

[28] III. Etenim [29] reges Romani' cum orbis imperium obtinuissent, subjugatis- De subjectione.

C que finitimis quibusque regionibus vel insulis orientem versus, [30] prima Parthorum [31] pace Indorumque' confinium, qua peracta, in omni [32] pene terra tum cessavere bella, potioris famæ [33] viribus firmassent; non acies flammæ, quodammodo rigidi tenoris, ad occidentem cæruleo oceani torrente [34] vel cohiberi potuit,' vel extingui; sed transfretans [35] insulæ parendi leges nullo obsistente [36] advexit, imbellemque populum [37] sed infidelem,' non tam ferro, [38] et igni, [39] machinisque, ut alias gentes, quam solis minis, vel judiciorum concussionibus, in superficie [40] tamen vultus, [41] presso in altum cordis dolore, sui obedientiam proferentem [42] edictis subjugavit.

IV. Quibus statim Romam, ob inopiam [43] cespitis, ut [44] aiunt, [45] repedantibus, et De rebellione.

nihil de rebellione suspicantibus, rectores [46] sibi relictos [47] ad enuntianda' plenius vel confirmanda Romani regni molimina [b] leæna trucidavit dolosa. [48] Quibus

D ita gestis, cum talia senatui nuntiarentur, et propero exercitu [49] vulpeculis, ut [50] fingebat, [51] subdolis ulcisci festinaret; non militaris in mari classis parata fortiter dimicare pro patria, [52] neque quadratum agmen, [53] nec dextrum cornu, [54] aliusve belli apparatus in littore [55] conseritur; [56] sed terga pro [57] scutis fugantibus [58] daban-

[1] Interrogatio A. inter l. [2] quodque A. [3] scilicet, debitam A. inter l. [4] positis Joss. [5] terræque B. Joss. [6] et B. Joss. [7] Cap. II. A. [8] deest A. B. Joss. [9] præteriens A. inter l. [10] obligatur A. [11] Britanniæ idola A. inter l. [12] multitudine idolorum supradictorum A. inter l. [13] Ægyptiaca vincentia B. Joss. [14] Ægyptia A. [15] id est, sitientia, A. inter l. [16] exitiabiles A. scilicet, periculosos vel mortiferos inter l. [17] scilicet, sunt A. inter l. [18] scilicet, gentium A. inter l. [19] Porphirius iste quidam hæreticus fuit, ideoque nominat eum canem, quia dixit quod prophetia Danielis non fuit prophetia sed historia. Adversus istum Jeronimus exposuit Danielem. A. marg. [20] rapidus A. 'rabidus orientalis adversus ecclesiam canis B. Joss. [21] deest B. Joss. [22] terra B. [23] tantum B. Joss. [24] scilicet, Britanniæ A. inter l. [25] et Joss. add. [26] scriptis B. Joss. [27] exulum Joss. [28] Cap. III. A. [29] Romanorum reges A. B. [30] primam Joss. [31] pacem Indorum Joss. pace — B. [32] deest A. [33] id est, virtutibus, A. inter l. [43] potuit vel cohiberi Joss. [35] Britanniæ A. inter l. [36] imperium adortavit A. inter l. [37] non tamen fidelis B. [38] deest B. Joss. [39] machinis B. Joss. [40] tantum A. B. Joss. [41] impresso A. [42] acies A. inter l. [43] cespites A. [44] agebant B. Joss. [45] repetentibus A. [46] Britanniæ A. inter l. [47] denuntianda A. [48] Cap. IV. A. [49] vulpeculas Joss. [50] senatus A. inter l. [51] subdolas Joss. [52] nec A. B. [53] neque A. B. Joss. [54] aliive Joss. deest B. [55] conseruntur B. Joss. conspiciuntur Pol. [56] vel innititur A. add. [57] scuto B. Joss. [58] dantur B. Joss. dabant A. Romanis inter l.

[a] Vide Hieronimum in præfatione de scriptoribus ecclesiasticis, itemque ad Ctesiphontem adversus Pelagianos.

[b] Hæc de leæna, &c. Boadiciam respexisse nonnulli putarunt. Sed et hic et infra C. XXIII. nihil aliud quam populum vel nationem designare in animo habuit Gildas: de rebus enim in Britannia aut tempore Neronis aut longe postea gestis, penitus ignorasse videtur.

Digitized by Google

tur, et colla gladiis, gelido per ossa [1]tremore currente, manusque vinciendæ muliebriter protenduntur: ita ut in proverbium et [2]derisum longe lateque [3]efferatur, quod [4]non Britanni [5]sunt in bello fortes, nec in pace fideles. A

De secunda subjectione, ac duro famulatu.

V. Itaque [6]multis Romani′ perfidorum cæsis, nonnullis ad servitutem, ne terra penitus in solitudinem redigeretur, mancipalibus reservatis, [7]patria vini oleique experte, [8]Italiam petunt, [9]suorumque quosdam [10]præpositos relinquentes,′ indigenarum dorsis mastigias, cervicibus jugum, solo [11]nomen Romanæ [12]servitutis hærere facturos, ac non tam militari manu quam [13]flagellis callidam gentem maceraturos, et si res sic postulavisset, ensem, ut dicitur, vagina vacuum lateri ejus [14]populi accommodaturos; ita ut non Britannia, sed [15]Romana insula′ [16]censeretur, et quicquid habere [17]potuisset æris, [18]argenti vel auri, imagine Cæsaris notaretur. B

De religione.

[19]VI. [20]Interea glaciali frigore rigenti insulæ, [21]et velut longiore terrarum secessu soli visibili non proximæ, verus ille [22]Sol, non de firmamento [23]solum temporali, sed de summa etiam cœlorum arce, tempora cuncta [24]excedente, universo orbi præfulgidum sui coruscum [25]ostendens, tempore, ut scimus, [26]summo Tiberii Cæsaris,[a] quo absque ullo impedimento ejus propagabatur religio, comminata, senatu [27]nolente, a [28]principe morte dilatoribus militum ejusdem, radios suos primum indulget, id est, sua præcepta Christus.

De persecutione.

VII. Quæ licet ab incolis tepide suscepta sunt, apud quosdam tamen integre, et [29]alios minus, usque ad persecutionem Diocletiani tyranni novennem; [b]in qua subversæ per totum mundum sunt ecclesiæ, et cunctæ sacræ scripturæ, quæ inveniri potuerunt, in plateis exustæ, et electi sacerdotes gregis Domini cum [30]innocentibus ovibus trucidati; ita ut ne vestigium [31]quidem, si fieri potuisset, in nonnullis [32]provinciis Christianæ religionis appareret. [33]Permansere tunc′ quantæ fugæ, quantæ strages, quantæ diversarum mortium pœnæ, quantæ [34]religionis apostatarum ruinæ, quantæ [35]gloriosissimorum martyrum coronæ, quanti persecutorum [36]rabidi furores, quantæ e contrario sanctorum patientiæ fuere, Ecclesiastica Historia[ʌ] narrat: ita ut agmine denso certatim, relictis post tergum mundialibus tenebris, ad amœna cœlorum regna, quasi ad propriam sedem, tota festinaret ecclesia. C ʌ Eusebii.

De sanctis martyribus.

[37]VIII. Magnificavit igitur misericordiam suam [38]Deus nobiscum′ volens omnes homines salvos fieri, et [39]vocans non minus peccatores, quam [40]eos qui [41]putant se esse′ justos: qui gratuito munere, supradicto, ut [42]cognoscimus, persecutionis tempore, ne [43]crassa [44]atræ noctis caligine Britannia [45]obfuscaretur, [46]clarissimas lampades sanctorum martyrum nobis accendit, quorum nunc corporum sepulturæ, et passionum loca, si non lugubri [47]divortione barbarorum, quamplurima ob scelera nostra, civibus adimerentur, non minimum intuentium mentibus ardorem divinæ charitatis incuterent: [48]Sanctum Albanum [49]Verolamiensem, [50]Aaron et Julium, [×]Legionum urbis cives, [51]et cæteros′ utriusque sexus diversis in locis summa [52]magnanimitate in acie Christi perstantes dico. Quorum [53]prior, postquam charitatis gratia confessorem [54]alium persecutoribus D

Cir. A. 303.

× Caerleon.

[1] timore B. [2] in A. add. [3] efferretur Joss. narratur A. inter l. [4] Britones nec B. [5] sint A. [6′] Romani multis Pol. [7] patriique olei vinique B. [8] relicta Pol. add. [9] suorum B. Joss. [10′] relinquentes præpositos B. Joss. [11] nomine A. [12] virtutis B. [13] flagris B. Joss. [14] deest B. Joss. [15′] Romania Joss. [16] censaretur A. [17] posuisset A. [18] et A. add. [19] Cap. v. A. [20] Dum aguntur hæc infidelitatis A. inter l. [21] ut B. [22] deest B. Joss. [23] A. B. Joss. deest ed. Gal. [24] excidente A. præcellente inter l. [25] ostentans A. [26] novissimo A. inter l. [27] volente B. [28] Cæsare A. inter l. [29] alio B. apud add. A. [30] laicis fidelibus A. inter l. [31] quid A. [32] provinciæ locis Joss. provinciæ B. [33′], permansere. Tunc Joss. B. Tunc Pol. [34] deest B. Joss. [35] gloriosorum B. Joss. [36] rapidi A. [37] Cap. vi. A. [38′] nobiscum Deus B. Joss. [39] Deus A. inter l. [40] hæreticos A. inter l. [41′] se putant B. Joss. [42] conjicimus B. Joss. [43] penitus add. B. Joss. [44] atra A. [45] obscuraretur A. [46] clarissimos B. Joss. [47] divortio B. Joss. scilicet, discordia gressus A. inter l. [48] De Sancto Albano. B. rubr. [49] Verolamensem A. [50] et A. add. [51′] cæterosque B. Joss. [52] et A. add. [53] Albanus A. inter l. [54] deest B. Joss.

[a] V. Eusebii Hist. Eccles. Ruffino interprete, II. 2.

[b] V. Eusebium, VIII. 2.

Digitized by Google

A insectatum et jam jamque comprehendendum, imitans et in hoc Christum animam pro ovibus ponentem, domo primum, ac mutatis dein mutuo vestibus [1]occuluit, [2]et [3]discrimini se, fratris in' supradicti vestimentis, libenter persequendum dedit: ita Deo [4]placens, inter sacram confessionem cruoremque, coram impiis Romana tum stigmata cum horribili [5]phantasmate præferentibus, [6]signorum miraculis mirabiliter adornatus est, ut oratione ferventi, illi Israeliticæ [7]arenti viæ minusque tritæ, stante diu arca,[א] prope glareas, testamenti, in medio Jordanis canali, simile iter ignotum, trans [8]nobilis fluvii alveum, cum mille viris, sicco ingrediens pede, suspensis utrinque [9]modo præruptorum fluvialibus montium gurgitibus [10]aperiret; et priorem carnificem tanta prodigia videntem in agnum ex lupo mutaret, et una secum triumphalem martyrii palmam [11]sistere vehemen-
B tius, et excipere fortius faceret. Cæteri vero sic diversis cruciatibus [12]torti sunt, et inaudita membrorum [13]discerptione lacerati [14]sunt, ut absque cunctamine gloriosi, in egregiis Hierusalem veluti portis, martyrii sui trophæa defigerent. Nam qui superfuerant, sylvis ac desertis abditisque speluncis se occultavere, expectantes a justo rectore omnium Deo, carnificibus severa quandoque judicia, sibi vero animarum tutamina. [15]Igitur [a]bilustro supradicti turbinis necdum ad integrum [16]adimpleto, [17]emarcescentibusque nece [18]suorum [19]auctorum nefariis [20]edictis, lætis luminibus omnes Christi tyrones, quasi post hyemalem ac prolixam noctem, temperiem lucemque serenam auræ cœlestis excipiunt. Renovant ecclesias ad solum usque destructas; basilicas sanctorum martyrum fundant, construunt, perficiunt, ac velut victricia signa passim [21]propalant; dies festos
C celebrant; [22]sacramenta mundo corde oreque [23]conficiunt; omnes exultant filii, gremio acsi matris ecclesiæ confoti.

IX. Mansit namque hæc Christi capitis [24]membrorumque consonantia suavis, donec [25]*Arriana perfidia, atrox *seu anguis, transmarina nobis evomens venena, fratres in unum habitantes [26]exitiabile faceret [27]sejungi, ac sic, quasi via facta trans oceanum, omnes omnino bestiæ feræ mortiferum cujuslibet hæresios virus horrido ore vibrantes, letalia dentium vulnera patriæ, novi semper aliquid audire volenti, et nihil certe stabiliter obtinenti infigebant. De diversis hæresibus. *Ariana. * ceu.

[28]X. Itemque tandem tyrannorum virgultis crescentibus et [29]in immanem sylvam jam jamque erumpentibus, insula nomen Romanum, nec tamen [30]mores [31]legemque tenens quin potius abjiciens, germen suæ plantationis amarissimæ
D ad Gallias, magna comitante satellitum caterva, insuper etiam [32]imperatoris insignibus, quæ nec decenter usquam gessit [33]nec legitime, sed ritu tyrannico et tumultuante [34]initiatum [35]milite [b]Maximum mittit. Qui, callida primum arte potius quam virtute, finitimos quosque pagos vel provincias contra Romanum statum, [36]per retia [37]perjurii mendaciique sui facinoroso regno adnectens, et unam alarum ad Hispaniam, alteram ad Italiam extendens, et thronum iniquissimi imperii apud Treveros statuens, tanta insania in dominos debacchatus est, ut duos imperatores legitimos, unum Roma, alium religiosissima vita [38]pelleret. Nec mora, tam [39]fertilibus vallatus audaciis, apud Aquilegiam urbem [40]capite nefando cæditur, qui decorata totius orbis capita regni quodammodo [41]cervicibus dejecerat. De tyrannis. A. 383. A. 388.

א Jos. iii. 17.

[1] occultavit A. inter l. [2] et se discrimini in fratris B. Joss. [3] periculo A. inter l. [4] deest B. Joss. [5] phantasia B. Joss. placens add. B. Joss. [6] signorumque A. [7] siccæ A. inter l. [8] Thamesis B. Joss. add. [9] similitudine A. inter l. [10] Albanus A. inter l. [11] sitire B. Joss. [12] torsi A. [13] decerptione A. [14] deest B. Joss. [15] Cap. VII. A. [16] expleto B. Joss. [17] marcescentibusque A. [18] sui A. [19] persecutorum A. inter l. [20] decretis Joss. [21] publicant A. inter l. [22] sacra B. Joss. [23] perficiunt A. [24] membrorum Joss. [25] Agricola quidam homo discipulus Arriani qui perturbavit fidem Britonum. A. marg. [26] exitiabiliter Joss. [27] separari A. inter l. scilicet, mortali discordia marg. [28] Cap. VIII. A. [29] deest A. [30] morem Joss. [31] legesque A. [32] imperatoriis Joss. [33] non Joss. [34] ordinatum A. inter l. [35] militem B. [36] deest B. Joss. [37] imperii B. [38] repelleret A. [39] feralibus B. Joss. [40] ipse Maximus A. inter l. Occidit namque G[ra]tianum, Valentinianum vero cum m[atre] Roma expulit. marg. [41] deest B. Joss.

[a] V. Eusebii Hist. Eccles. VIII. 18, 19.

[b] V. Prosperi Chronicon. An. 383. 388.

Digitized by Google

De duabus gentibus victricibus. De prima vastatione.

XI. [1]Exin [a]Britannia, omni armato milite [2]militaribusque copiis, rectoribus A [3]linquitur immanibus, ingenti juventute spoliata, [4]quæ comitata [5]vestigiis supradicti tyranni domum [6]nusquam ultra rediit, et [7]omnis belli [8]usus ignara penitus′, duabus primum [9]gentibus transmarinis vehementer sævis, Scotorum [10]a [11]Circione, Pictorum ab Aquilone calcabilis, multos stupet gemetque [12]per annos.

De defensione.

[13]XII. [14]Gens igitur Britonum, Scotorum Pictorumque impetum non ferens′, ob [15]*quorum infestationem ac [16]dirissimam depressionem, legatos Romam cum epistolis mittit, militarem manum ad se vindicandam lachrymosis postulationibus poscens, et subjectionem sui Romano imperio continue tota animi virtute, si hostis longius arceretur, vovens. Cui mox destinatur legio præteriti [17]mali immemor, sufficienter armis instructa. Quæ [18]ratibus trans oceanum in patriam advecta, et cominus cum gravibus hostibus congressa, magnamque ex eis multi- B tudinem sternens, et [19]omnes [20]e finibus depulit, et subjectos cives tam atroci dilaceratione ex imminenti captivitate liberavit: quos jussit construere, [b]inter duo maria, trans insulam murum, ut esset arcendis hostibus [21]turba instructus terrori, civibusque tutamini. Qui vulgo irrationabili, absque rectore, factus non tam lapidibus quam cespitibus, non profuit.

*eorum.

[22]De secunda vastatione.

XIII. Illa [23]legione cum triumpho magno et gaudio domum [24]repetente, illi priores inimici, ac [25]quasi [26]ambrones lupi profunda fame [27]rabidi, siccis′ faucibus [28]in ovile transilientes, non comparente pastore, alis remorum [29]remigumque brachiis, ac velis vento [30]sinuatis vecti, terminos rumpunt, [31]cæduntque omnia, et quæque obvia, maturam [32]ceu segetem metunt, calcant, transeunt.

De secunda ultione.

[33]XIV. Itemque mittuntur queruli legati, scissis, ut dicitur, vestibus, opertisque C sablone capitibus, [34]impetrantes a Romanis auxilia, ac [35]veluti timidi pulli patrum [36]fidelissimis alis succumbentes, ne penitus misera patria deleretur, nomenque [37]Romanum, quod verbis tantum apud eos auribus resultabat, vel [38]exterarum gentium opprobrio [39]obrosum vilesceret. At illi, quantum humanæ naturæ possibile est, commoti tantæ historia tragœdiæ, volatus ceu aquilarum, equitum in terra, nautarum in mari cursus [40]accelerantes inopinatos primum, tandem terribiles inimicorum [41]ungues cervicibus infigunt mucronum′; casibusque foliorum tempore certo [42]ad simulandam istam′ peragunt stragem, [43]ac fit, si′ montanus torrens crebris tempestatum rivulis auctus, [44]sonorosoque meatu alveos exundans, ac sulcato dorso fronteque acra, erectis, ut aiunt, ad nebulas undis, luminum quibus pupilli persæpe licet palpebrarum [45]convolutibus innovati, [46]adjunctis sibi D minutissimarum rotarum tautonibus, veluti′ [47]fuscantur, mirabiliter spumans; [48]ast uno [49]objectas sibi evincit gurgite moles: ita æmulorum agmina [50]auxiliatores egregii, si qua tamen evadere potuerant, [51]propere trans maria [52]fugaverunt;

[1] Exinde B. [2] militaribus Joss. [3] licet B. Joss. [4] deest A. [5] in B. add. [6] nunquam A. [7] omni B. [8] usu penitus ignara B. Joss. [9] Quia Scotti tu[nc] temporis in Hybernia habitabant, et Pic[ti] in Scotia; id est, ab Aqu[ilone]. A. marg. [10] ab A. [11] Circio Joss. [12] deest B. Joss. [13] Cap. IX. A. [14] desunt B. Joss. [15] quarum B. Joss. [16] durissimam A. [17] scilicet, occisio imperatoris Gratiani. A. inter l. [18] navibus A. inter l. [19] omnibus B. [20] a A. [21] a turba B. Joss. [22] Iterum de vastatione. Joss. [23] deest B. Joss. [24] repedante B. Joss. [25] acsi B. Joss. [26] sævi A. inter l. [27] rapidis siccisque A. [28] deest B. Joss. [29] remigiumque B. [30] juvatis B. Joss. [31] cædunt A. [32] A. seu edd. J. G. [33] Cap. X. A. [34] quærentes A. inter l. [35] velut A. [36] fidissimis B. Joss. [37] Romanorum B. Joss. [38] extranearum A. [39] deest A. B. [40] [Ad sim]ilitudinem [sun]t hæc omnia. A. marg. [41] cervicibus infigunt mucronum ungues B. Joss. [42] assimulandam iisdem B. Joss. [43] acsi B. Joss. [44] sonoroque Joss. sudoreque B. [45] convolatibus A. B. Joss. [46] adjunctissimarum rotarum lineis B. Joss. [47] eis A. inter l. [48] ac B. [49] abjectas A. [50] auxiliares B. Joss. [51] præpropere Joss. [52] Romani eos A. inter l.

[a] Pictos atque Scotos in provinciam statim post Maximi transfretationem irruisse putabat Gildas ut verisimile est; nec de Gratiano aut Constantino, An. 407—11, quicquam habet. Hos quasi hoc loco interponit Beda, ita quod, secundum eum, quæ sequuntur ad tempora post Romam captam, scilicet A. 409, respicerent; sed quoad Gildam prorsus absque auctoritate.

[b] E verbis 'inter duo maria' hoc loco, et 'a mari usque ad mare,' C. XIV. videretur Gildam autumasse tam murum cespititium quam illum quem C. XIV. 'solito structuræ more' factum dicit, eundem fere situm habuisse, ideoque ad prætenturas Hadriani et Severi necessario respexisse. Audierat forsan Gildas de reparatione quadam murorum sæculo quinto facta quam primam constructionem credebat. De temporibus hujus vel sequentis Romanorum adventus nil certi occurrit.

Digitized by Google

A [1]quia anniversarias avide prædas, nullo obsistente, trans maria exaggerabant. [2]Igitur Romani [3]patria [4]reversi, denuntiantes nequaquam se tam laboriosis expeditionibus posse frequentius vexari et, ob imbelles erraticosque latrunculos, Romana [5]stigmata, tantum talemque exercitum terra ac mari fatigari: sed [6]ut [7]insula′ potius, [8]consuescendo armis ac [9]viriliter dimicando, terram, substantiolam, conjuges, liberos, et, quod his majus [10]est, libertatem vitamque totis viribus [11]vendicaret, et gentibus nequaquam se fortioribus, nisi segnitia et torpore [12]dissolverentur, [13]ut [14]inermes [15]vinclis [16]vinciendas′ nullo modo, sed instructas peltis, ensibus, hastis, et ad cædem promptas [17]protenderet manus, suadentes; quia [18]et hoc putabant aliquid derelinquendo populo commodi accrescere, murum, [a]non ut alterum, sumptu publico privatoque, adjunctis secum miserabilibus
B indigenis, solito structuræ more, tramite a mari usque ad mare, inter urbes quæ ibidem forte ob metum hostium collocatæ fuerant, directo [19]librant; fortia formidoloso populo monita tradunt, exemplaria instituendorum armorum relinquunt; in littore quoque oceani ad meridianam plagam, [20]qua naves eorum habebantur, [21]et inde [22]barbariæ feræ bestiæ timebantur, turres per intervalla ad prospectum maris collocant; [23]valedicunt tanquam ultra non reversuri.

[24]XV. Itaque illis ad sua [25]remeantibus, emergunt certatim de [26]ϒcuricis, quibus sunt trans [27]Tithicam vallem [28]vecti, quasi in alto Titane incalescenteque caumate de arctissimis foraminum [29]cavernulis fusci vermiculorum [30]cenei, tetri Scotorum Pictorumque greges, moribus ex parte dissidentes, et una eademque sanguinis fundendi aviditate concordes, furciferosque magis [31]vultus pilis, quam
C corporum [32]pudenda pudendisque proxima vestibus tegentes, [33]cognitaque condebitorum reversione et reditus denegatione, solito [34]confidentius omnem [35]aquilonalem extremamque terræ partem, pro indigenis, muro tenus capessunt. Statuitur ad [36]hæc in edito arcis acies [37]segnis ad pugnam, [38]inhabilis ad [39]fugam,′ trementibus præcordiis inepta, quæ diebus ac noctibus stupido sedili marcebat. Interea non cessant uncinata [40]nodorum tela, quibus miserrimi cives de muris tracti solo allidebantur. Hoc scilicet eis [41]immaturæ mortis supplicium, qui tali funere rapiebantur, [42]fratrum quo pignorum′ suorum miserandas imminentes pœnas cito exitu devitabant. Quid plura [43]loquar? Relictis civitatibus muroque celso, iterum [44]quibus fugæ, iterum dispersiones solito desperabiliores. Item ab hoste insectationes, item strages accelerantur crudeliores: et sicut agni a D [45]lanionibus, ita deflendi cives ab inimicis discerpuntur, [46]ut [47]commemoratio eorum ferarum [48]assimilaretur agrestium.

De tertia vastatione.

ϒ navibus.

XVI. [49]Nam laniant [50]seipsos mutuo, nec pro exigui victus brevi sustentaculo miserrimorum civium latrocinando [51]temperabant:′ et augebantur [52]extraneæ clades domesticis motibus, [53]quo [54]et′ hujusmodi [55]tam crebris direptionibus vacuaretur omnis regio totius cibi baculo, excepto venatoriæ artis solatio.

De fame.

[57]XVII. Igitur rursum miseræ [58]reliquiæ mittentes epistolas′ ad Agitium Romanæ potestatis virum, hoc modo loquentes, [59]inquiunt: ‘ *Agitio ter consuli

De epistolis. [56]

A. 446. *Aetio.

[1] qui A. [2] Cap. XI. A. [3] patriæ A. B. Joss. [4] deest B. Joss. [5] Stigmata sunt signa victricia. A. marg. [6′] desunt B. [7] deest Joss. [8] sola add. B. Joss. [9] Hæc omnia denuntiant Romani Britonibus. A. marg. [10] deest A. [11] vindicaret Joss. [12] dissolveretur A. Joss. [13] deest B. Joss. [14] pilis scilicet, scutis, ensibus, gladiis. A. marg. [15′] vinculis vincendas A. [16] vinciendis B. [17] protendere A. [18] ex B. [19] mensurant A. marg. [20] quo B. Joss. [21] quia Joss. add. [22] barbaricæ B. Joss. [23] et Joss. add. [24] Cap. XII. A. [25] revertentibus A. [26] curucis B. Joss. [27] Styticam Joss. Aticam B. [28] evecti Joss. [29] ac verniculis B. caverniculis Joss. [30] cunei Joss. cemes B. [31] habentes A. inter l. [32] Hic calumniat Scottos quod non sunt bene vestiti. A. marg. [33] cognita B. [34] confidentiores A. B. Joss. [35] Aquilonem A. [36] hoc B. [37] piger A. marg. [38′] desunt B. [39] pugnam Joss. [40] nudorum B. Joss. [41] proficiebat B. Joss. add. [42′] quo fratrum pignorumque B. Joss. filiorum A. inter l. [43] deest B. Joss. [44] illis Joss. [45] scilicet, lupis A. inter l. [46] ita B. add. [47] commoratio B. Joss. [48] commemorationi A. inter l. [49′] Nam et ipsos mutuo nec perexigui victus brevi sustentaculo miserrimorum civium latrocinando temperabant Joss. mutuo perexigui, &c. B. [50] et A. add. Britones inter l. [51] A. inter l. deest ed. G. [52] externæ B. Joss. [53′] quod Joss. [54] deest B. [55] deest A. [56] ad Agitium Joss. add. [57] Cap. XIII. A. [58′] mittentes epistolas reliquiæ B. Joss. [59] deest B. Joss.

[a] Vide quæ de muris dicta sunt ad C. XII.

Digitized by Google

gemitus [1]Britannorum:' et post pauca [2]loquentes: 'Repellunt [3]nos Barbari A ad mare, repellit [4]nos mare ad Barbaros; inter hæc [5]oriuntur duo genera funerum; aut jugulamur, aut mergimur:' nec pro [6]eis quicquam adjutorii habent. Interea [a]famis dira ac famosissima vagis ac nutabundis hæret, quæ multos eorum cruentis [7]compellit [8]prædonibus sine dilatione victas dare manus, ut [9]pauxillum ad refocillandam animam cibi caperent; alios vero [10]nusquam, quin potius de ipsis montibus, speluncis ac saltibus, dumis consertis continue rebellabant.

De victoria. XVIII. Et tum primum inimicis per multos annos [11]in terra agentibus, strages dabant, non [12]confidentes in homine, sed in Deo, secundum illud [13]ex-emplum Philonis: [14]'Necesse est adesse divinum, ubi humanum cessat auxi-lium.' Quievit parumper inimicorum audacia, nec tamen nostrorum malitia. B [15]Recesserunt hostes a civibus, nec cives a suis sceleribus.

De sceleribus. XIX. Moris namque continui erat genti, sicut et nunc est, ut infirma esset ad [16]retundenda hostium tela, et fortis [17]et invicta' ad civilia bella, et [18]ad onera peccatorum sustentanda:' infirma [19]est, ut' inquam, ad exequenda pacis ac veri-tatis insignia, [20]fortis ad scelera et mendacia. [21]Revertuntur ergo impudentes grassatores [22]ad hibernas domos, post non [23]multum' temporis reversuri. [24]Picti in extrema parte insulæ [25]tunc primum et deinceps requieverunt, prædas et con-tritiones nonnunquam facientes. In talibus itaque [26]induciis desolato populo sæva [27]cicatrix obducitur[28], alia virulentiore [29]tactus pullulante. Quiescente autem [30]vastatione, tantis abundantiarum copiis insula affluebat, ut nulla [31]haberi [32]tales retro ætas meminisset, cum quibus omnimodis et [33]luxuria crescit. Crevit C etenim germine præpollenti, ita ut competenter eodem tempore [34]diceretur:
† 1 Cor. v. 1. †'Omnino talis auditur [35]fornicatio, qualis [36]nec inter gentes.[37]' Non solum [38]vero hoc [39]vitium, sed [40]fuerunt omnia quæ humanæ naturæ [41]accedere solent, et præcipue, quod [42]et nunc quoque in ea totius boni evertit statum, odium veritatis [43]fuit cum assertoribus [44]suis, [45]amor mendacii cum suis fabricatoribus, susceptio mali pro bono, veneratio nequitiæ pro benignitate, cupido tenebrarum pro [46]sole, exceptio Satanæ pro Angelo lucis. Ungebantur reges [47]et non per Deum, sed qui cæteris [48]crudeliores extarent: et paulo post ab unctoribus, non pro veri examinatione, trucidabantur, aliis electis trucioribus. Si quis vero eorum mitior et [49]veritate aliquatenus [50]propior videretur; in hunc, [51]Britanniæ quasi'
[52]subversorem, omnium odia telaque sine respectu [53]torquebantur; et omnia quæ D [54]displicuerant [55]Deo placuerantque,' æquali [56]saltim lance pendebantur, si non gratiora fuissent displicentia: ita ut merito patriæ illud [57]exemplum prophetи-× Esai. i. 4. cum, quod [58]veterano illi populo denuntiatum est, potuerit aptari: ×'Filii,' inquiens, 'sine lege dereliquistis [59]Dominum, et ad [60]iram provocastis Sanctum Israel. Quid adhuc [61]percunctemini apponentes iniquitatem? Omne caput languidum, et omne cor mœrens, a planta [62]pedis usque ad verticem, non est in eo sanitas.' Sicque [63]agebantur cuncta quæ saluti contraria [64]fuerint, acsi nihil

[1] mittitur A. inter l. [2] querentes B. Joss. [3] deest B. Joss. [4] deest B. Joss. [5] deest B. Joss. [6] nec pro eis epistolis A. marg. [7] compulit B. Joss. [8] latronibus B. [9] mod[icum] A. marg. [10] nunquam Joss. [11] prædas B. Joss. add. [12] fidentes B. Joss. [13] deest B. Joss. [14] Britanni super[ant] inimicos suos. A. marg. [15] Recesserant Joss. [16] repellenda A. [17] esset B. Joss. [18] peccatorum onera sustinenda Joss. sustinentia B. [19] desunt B. Joss. [20] et B. Joss. add. [21] Cap. XIV. A. [22] Hyberni domum, post non longum Joss. domos B. [23] vel longum A. inter l. [24] [U]bi Picti habitabant[ant]iquitus. A. marg. [25] tum A. [26] quietibus A. inter l. [27] famis A. inter l. [28] famis Joss. add. fame B. [29] tacite Joss. [30] vastitate B. Joss. vastatio est A. [31] habere B. Joss. [32] talis A. [33] [De l]uxuria. A. marg. [34] Paulus dicit. A. inter l. [35] inter vos A. add. [36] non auditur B. [37] fuit A. add. [38] deest B. [39] erat A. add. [40] et B. Joss. [41] accidere B. Joss. [42] deest A. [43] deest A. B. Joss. [44] deest B. Joss. [45] amorque B. Joss. [46] justitiæ A. inter l. [47] deest B. Joss. [48] crudelioribus B. [49] veritati A. B. [50] deest B. [51] quasi Britanniæ Joss. [52] in A. add. [53] contorquebantur Joss. [54] displicuerint B. Joss. [55] Deoque placuerint Joss. et quæ placuerunt B. [56] deest A. [57] deest B. Joss. [58] veteri Joss. [59] Deum Joss. [60] iracundiam B. Joss. [61] percutiemini B. Joss. [62] deest Joss. [63] agebant B. Joss. [64] fuerant A.

[a] Hanc credebat Beda famem quæ tertio consulatu Aetii, scilicet A. 446, accidit.

Digitized by Google

A [1]largiretur [2]mundo medicinæ a vero omnium [3]Medico.' Et non solum [4]hac [5]seculares viri, sed et [6]ipse grex' Domini ejusque pastores, qui exemplo esse omni plebi [7]debuerint, ebrietate quam plurimi, quasi vino madidi, torpebant resoluti, et animositatum tumore, jurgiorum contentione, invidiæ capacibus ungulis, indiscreto boni malique judicio, carpebantur: ita ut perspicue, sicut et nunc est,[א] effundi videretur contemptio super principes, [8]et [9]seduci vanis eorum et errore, in invio et non in [10]via.

[א] Psalm. cvii. 40.

[11]XX. Interea volente Deo purgare familiam suam, et tanta malorum labe infectam auditu tantum tribulationis emendare, non ignoti rumoris penniger ceu volatus arrectas omnium penetrat aures, jamjamque adventus veterum [12]hostium volentium penitus [13]totam delere, et inhabitare solito more a fine usque ad ter- B minum [14]regionem. [15]Nequaquam tamen ob hoc proficiunt, sed comparati jumentis insipientibus, strictis, [16]ut dicitur,' morsibus rationis frænum obfirmantes, per latam diversorum vitiorum [17]mortique proclive ducentem, relicto salutari licet arcto itinere, discurrebant viam.

De nuntiatis subito hostibus.

XXI. Dum [18]ergo, ut Solomon ait, [×]Servus durus non emendatur verbis, flagellatur stultus et non sentit; pestifera [19]namque lues feraliter insipienti populo [20]incubuit, quæ in brevi [21]tempore tantam ejus multitudinem, remoto [22]mucrone, sternit, [23]quantam ne [24]possent vivi [25]humare. Sed ne hac quidem [26]emendantur, ut illud Esaiæ Prophetæ in [27]eo quoque [28]populo impleretur dicentis: [ץ] Et vocavit Deus [29]populum ad planctum et ad calvitium, et ad cingulum sacci: ecce [30]cœperunt vitulos occidere et jugulare arietes, ecce manducare et bibere et dicere; manducemus et bibamus, cras enim moriemur:' ap- C propinquabat siquidem tempus, quo ejus [31]iniquitates, ut olim Amorrhæorum, complerentur.

De famosa peste.

[×] Prov. xxix. 19.

[ץ] Esai. xxii. 12.

XXII. Initur namque consilium, quid optimum, quidve saluberrimum, ad [32]repellendas tam crebras et tam ferales' [33]supradictarum gentium [34]irruptiones prædasque, decerni [35]potius deberet.

De consilio.

XXIII. Tum omnes consiliarii [36]una cum superbo tyranno [37]Gurthrigerno Britannorum duce' cæcantur, [38]et adinvenientes [39]tale præsidium, imo excidium patriæ, ut ferocissimi illi nefandi nominis Saxones[a], Deo hominibusque invisi, quasi in caulas lupi, in insulam ad [40]retrudendas aquilonales gentes intromitterentur. Quo utique nihil [41]ei [42]usquam perniciosius, nihilque amarius factum D est. O altissimam [43]sensus caliginem: O desperabilem crudamque mentis hebetudinem! Quos propensius morte, cum abessent, tremebant, sponte, ut ita dicam, sub unius tecti culmine [44]invitabant[45]: [+]Stulti [46]sunt' principes, ut dictum est, [47]Thafneos dantes Pharaoni consilium [48]insipienti. [49]Tum erumpens grex catulorum de [50]cubili leænæ barbariæ, tribus, ut lingua ejus exprimitur, 'cyulis,' nostra [51]lingua 'longis navibus,' secundis velis, [52]secundo omine auguriisque, quibus vaticinabatur, certo apud eum præsagio, quod ter centum annis [53]terram, [54]cui

De sæviore multo primis hoste.

[+] Isai. xix. 11.

[1] mundo medicina a vero omnium medico largiretur Joss. [2] evangelium A. inter l. [3] Deo A. inter l. [4] hæc B. Joss. [5] luxuria A. inter l. [6] ipsi greges A. [7] debuerant A. [8] deest B. Joss. [9] populi, id est, idolis A. inter l. [10] non in via Dei ambulant. A. inter l. [11] Cap. xv. A. [12] inimicorum A. deest B. [13] deest B. Joss. [14] regionum A. [15] Quæ B. add. [16] desunt A. [17] ad mortem Joss. [18] Autem B. [19] etiam A. inter l. [20] incumbit Joss. [21] deest B. Joss. [22] hostium A. inter l. [23] quantum A. [24] possint A. [25] mortuos A. inter l. [26] emendatur Joss. [27] hoc A. [28] deest B. Joss. [29] deest B. Joss. [30] deest B. Joss. [31] populi A. inter l. [32] refellandas tam ferales et tam crebras B. Joss. [33] Scottorum et Pictorum A. marg. [34] ruptiones A. [35] deest B. Joss. [36] uno Joss. [37] desunt B. Joss. [38] deest B. Joss. [39] Quando Saxones vene[re] in Britanniam. A. marg. [40] retundendas B. Joss. [41] eis A. [42] Nil Britonibus usquam perniciosius factum. A. marg. [43] sensum A. [44] cum essent in Germania A. inter l. [45] stulti Joss. [46] Stulti sunt principes Tafneos dantes, id est, su[aden]tibus Faraoni ut [t]r[ude]retur populus Israel et [ut] persequeretur eos iter[um] ita Germaniæ cu .... Gurtingerno insip[ienti] A. marg. [47] Taneos B. Joss. [48] insipiens B. Joss. [49] Cap. xvi. A. [50] Germaniæ A. inter l. [51] deest B. Joss. [52] deest Joss. [53] patriam B. Joss. [54] cum B.

[a] Adventus Saxonum a Beda, H. E. i. 14. Anno 449 assignatur; sed haud semper sibi constare videtur.

Digitized by Google

proras [1]librarat, insideret, centum vero quinquaginta, hoc est [2]demidio temporis, A sæpius [3]quoque vastaret; evectus, primum in orientali parte insulæ, jubente infausto tyranno, terribiles infixit ungues, quasi pro patria pugnaturus, sed eam certius impugnaturus. Cui supradicta [4]genitrix, [5]primo comperiens agmini′ fuisse prosperatum, item mittit satellitum canumque prolixiorem catastam, quæ ratibus advecta adunatur [6]cum manipularibus spuriis. Inde germen iniquitatis, radix amaritudinis, virulenta plantatio nostris condigna meritis, in nostro cespite ferocibus palmitibus pampinisque [7]pullulabat. [8]Igitur [9]intromissi in insulam [10]barbari, veluti militibus, et magna, ut mentiebantur, [11]pro bonis discrimina′ hospitibus subituris, impetrant sibi [12]annonas dari. Quæ multo tempore impertitæ [13]clauserunt, ut dicitur, canis faucem. Item [14]queruntur non affluenter sibi [15]epimenia contribui, occasiones de industria colorantes; et [16]nisi profusior B eis munificentia cumularetur, testantur se cuncta insulæ rupto fœdere depopulaturos. Nec mora, minas effectibus [17]prosequuntur.

De urbium subversione.

XXIV. Confovebatur namque, ultionis justæ præcedentium scelerum causa, de mari usque ad mare ignis [18]orientalis, sacrilegorum manu exaggeratus, et finitimas quasque civitates agrosque populans, [19]qui non quievit accensus, donec cunctam pene exurens insulæ superficiem, rubra occidentalem trucique oceanum lingua [20]delamberet. In hoc ergo impetu, Assyrio olim in [21]Judæam comparando, completur quoque in nobis, secundum historiam, [22 23]ut dicitur:′ ⁂ Incenderunt igni sanctuarium tuum, in terra polluerunt tabernaculum nominis tui:' et iterum [24]dicit: ⁂ Deus, venerunt gentes in hæreditatem tuam; [25]polluerunt templum sanctum tuum,' &c. Ita ut cunctæ [26]columnæ crebris arietibus, C omnesque coloni cum præpositis ecclesiæ, cum sacerdotibus ac populo, mucronibus undique micantibus ac flammis crepitantibus, simul solo sternerentur, et miserabili visu, in medio platearum, una turrium [27]edito cardine [28]evulsarum, murorumque celsorum saxa, sacra altaria, cadaverum frusta, crustis ac [29]gelantibus purpurei cruoris tecta, velut in quodam horrendo torculari mixta viderentur, et nulla esset omnimodis, præter [30]horribiles domorum ruinas, bestiarum volucrumque ventres, in medio sepultura, salva sanctarum animarum reverentia, si tamen multæ inventæ sint, quæ arduis cœli [31]per id temporis a sanctis angelis [32]vehebantur. Ita enim degeneraverat tunc vinea illa olim bona in [33]amaritudinem
ϒ Isai. xxiv. 13. [34]versa, uti raro, secundum prophetam, videretur quasi ϒ post tergum vindemiatorum aut messorum racemus [35]vel spica. D

De reliquiis.

XXV. Itaque nonnulli miserarum reliquiarum in montibus deprehensi acervatim jugulabantur; alii fame confecti accedentes, manus hostibus dabant in ævum [36]servituri, si tamen non continuo trucidarentur, quod altissimæ gratiæ stabat [37]in loco; alii transmarinas petebant regiones, cum ululatu magno [38]ceu
✣ Psalm. xliv. 11. [39]celeusmatis vice, hoc modo sub velorum sinibus cantantes: ✣ Dedisti nos tanquam oves escarum, et in gentibus dispersisti nos [40]Deus:' alii [41]a montanis collibus, minacibus præruptis [42]vallati, et densissimis saltibus [43]marinisque rupibus vitam, [44]suspecta semper mente, credentes, in patria licet trepidi perstabant. [45]Tempore igitur interveniente, [46]aliquanto cum recessissent [47]domum crudelissimi prædones, [48]roboratæ [49]a Domino′ [50]reliquiæ, quibus confugiunt

[1] librabat A. B. Joss. [2] dimidio B. Joss. de medio A. [3] deest B. Joss. [4] genetrix Joss. id est, barbara leæna Germaniæ. A. marg. [5′] comperiens primo agmini Joss. [6] commanipularibus A. [7] pullulat Joss. [8] Cap. XVII. A. [9] intromissis A. [10] barbaris A. [11′] discrimina pro bonis B. Joss. [12] sumptus A. marg. [13] clausit A. inter l. [14] quæruntur Joss. [15] sumptus. A. marg. [16] ni Joss. [17] prosequantur A. [18] orientali B. Joss. [19] deest B. Joss. [20] dilamberet A. [21] Judam B. Joss. [22] deplorans A. add. [23′] quod propheta deplorans, ait: B. Joss. propheta A. inter l. [24] deest B. Joss. [25] coinquinaverunt B. Joss. [26] coloniæ B. Joss. [27] ædito Joss. [28] avulsarum B. Joss. [29] semigelantibus A. sigillantibus B. Joss. [30] deest B. Joss. [31] deest B. Joss. [32] veherentur B. Joss. [33] amaritudine B. [34] deest B. Joss. [35] aut A. [36] servaturi Joss. [37] deest B. Joss. [38] A. seu edd. J. G. [39] celeumatis B. Carmen nautarum cleuma dicitur. A. marg. [40] deest B. Joss. [41] deest B. Joss. [42] vallatis B. Joss. [43] marisque A. [44] suspectam A. [45] Cap. XVIII. A. [46] aliquando A. [47] domi A. B. [48] roborante Deo B. [49′] Deo Joss. [50] Britonum A. inter l.

Digitized by Google

A undique [1] diversis in locis′ miserrimi cives, tam avide quam apes alvearii procella imminente, simul deprecantes eum toto corde, et, ut dicitur, ⁂ in- ⁂ Virg. Æn. ix. 24.
numeris onerantes æthera votis, ne ad internecionem [2]ita usquequaque′ delerentur, duce [3]Ambrosio [a]Aureliano, viro modesto, qui solus [4]fuit [5]comes, fidelis, fortis, veraxque′ forte Romanæ gentis, [6]qui tantæ tempestatis collisione, occisis in eadem parentibus purpura nimirum indutis, superfuerat, cujus nunc temporibus nostris soboles magnopere avita bonitate degeneravit, vires [7]capessunt, victores provocantes ad prælium ; [8]queis victoria, [9]Deo annuente, [10]ex voto′ cessit.

XXVI. [12]Et ex eo tempore nunc cives, nunc [13]hostes vincebant, ut in ista gente experiretur Dominus solito more præsentem [14]Israelem utrum diligat eum De postrema [11] pace, quæ postrema victoria temporibus nostris Dei nutu donata est.′
B [15]Dominus an non, usque [16]ad annum obsessionis × Badonici montis, [17]qui prope Sabrinum ostium habetur,′ novissimæque [18]ferme de [19]furciferis non minimæ [20]stragis, quique [b]quadragesimus quartus, ut novi, [21]oritur annus, mense [22]jam [23]primo [24]emenso, qui [25]jam et meæ nativitatis est. Sed ne nunc quidem, ut antea, civitates [26]inhabitantur, sed desertæ dirutæque hactenus squalent, cessantibus licet [27]externis bellis sed non [28]tamen civilibus. [29]Hæsit etenim tam desperati insulæ excidii, insperatique mentio auxilii memoriæ eorum qui utriusque miraculi testes extitere : et ob hoc reges, publici [30]privatique, sacerdotes, ecclesiastici suum [31]ordinem servarunt. At illis [32]decedentibus, cum successisset ætas tempestatis illius nescia, et præsentis tantum serenitatis [33]experta, ita cuncta veritatis ac justitiæ moderamina concussa ac subversa sunt, ut [34]eorum,
C non dicam vestigium, sed ne monimentum quidem in supradictis propemodum ordinibus appareat, exceptis paucis, et valde paucis, qui, ob amissionem tantæ multitudinis quæ quotidie prona [35]fuit ad Tartara, tam brevis [36]numeri habentur, ut eos quodammodo venerabilis mater ecclesia, [37]ut in [38]sinu suo′ recumbentes non videat, quos solos veros [39]habet. Quorum ne quis me egregiam vitam, [40]hominibus admirabilem Deoque amabilem, carpere putet, quibus nostra infirmitas, [41]sacris orationibus, ut non penitus collabatur, quasi columnis quibusdam ac fulcris saluberrimis sustentatur, [42]dixi si qua liberius de his, imo lugubrius, cumulo malorum compulsus, qui serviunt non solum ventri, sed diabolo potius quam Christo, ⁘ qui est benedictus [43]super omnia Deus in sæcula,′′ ⁘ Rom. ix. 5.
non tam disceptavero, quam deflevero. [44]Quippe quid [45]celabunt cives, quod
D non solum [46]norunt, sed exprobrant jam in circuitu nationes ?[47]

[1′] de diversis locis Joss. [2′] usque B. Joss. [3] Aurelio Ambrosio B. id est, Ambrosium Aurelium, qui comes fortis, fidelis veraxque fuit. A. marg. [4′] desunt B. Joss. [5] come A. [6] deest B. Joss. [7] capescunt Joss. [8] id est, quibus A. inter l. [9] Domino B. Joss. [10′] desunt B. Joss. [11′] patriæ victoria Joss. [12] deest B. Joss. [13] Saxones A. marg. [14] Jerusalem A. [15] deest B. Joss. [16] deest Joss. [17′] desunt B. Joss. [18] forme A. [19] Furciferos appellat Scottos et Pictos. A. marg. [20] strage A. [21] orditur Joss. vel orditur A. inter l. [22] deest A. anni vel uno inter l. [23] uno B. Joss. [24] emerso B. [25] deest B. Joss. [26] patriæ B. Joss. add. [27] extremis A. [28] deest B. Joss. [29] Cap. XIX. A. [30] privati B. Joss. [31] quique B. Joss. add. [32] discedentibus A. ad mortem inter l. [33] ac justitiæ A. add. [34] earum B. Joss. [35] ruit B. Joss. [36] numerus B. Joss. [37] deest B. Joss. [38′] suo sinui A. sinu Joss. [39] filios B. Joss. add. [40] omnibus B. Joss. [41] in B. Joss. add. [42] Cap. XX. A. deest B. Joss. [43′] in sæcula Deus B. Joss. [44] Enimvero Bosc. [45] celebrant A. [46] nostrorum Bosc. [47] + Sed ante promissum Deo volente pauca + v. p. 4.
de ⁂situ, de contumacia× ac duro famulatu, de religione, de persecutione, de sanctis martyribus, de diversis hæresibus, de tyrannis, de duabus gentibus victricibus, de defensione itemque vastatione, de secunda ultione, tertiaque vastatione, de fame, de epistolis ad Ægitium, de victoria, de sceleribus, de nunciatis hostibus subito, de famosa peste, de consilio, de sæviore multo primis hoste, de urbium subversione, de reliquiis, de postrema victoria patriæ quæ postrema victoria temporibus nostris Dei nutu donata dicere curabo. A. add. [Fe]cit namque ipse Gilda [li]brum magnum de regibus [Brit]tonum et de præliis eorum, [sed q]uia vituperavit eos mul[tu]m in illo libro, incende[run]t ipsi librum illum.[c] marg.

⁂ insulæ inter l.
× gentis inter l.

[a] De Ambrosio vel de tempore ejus nil certi occurrit. De pugnis cum Saxonibus circa hæc tempora factis vide Chron. Saxonicum ab A. 449 usque ad A. 519.

[b] Hæc annum quo advenerant Saxones respexisse, et inde Bellum Badonicum A. 493 factum putabat Beda; sed quod fallitur, hodie fere omnes consentiunt. Secundum Annales Cambriæ commissa fuit hæc pugna A. 516, qui ideo et Gildæ nativitatis annus fuerit.

[c] Conf. Giraldum ‘ De Illaudabilibus Walliæ,’ Anglia Sacra. II. 448.

Digitized by Google

[1]EXPLICIT LIBER GILDÆ SAPIENTIS DE EXCIDIO BRITANNIÆ ET BRITONUM EXULATIONE. A

Historiam Gyldæ Cormac sic perlege scriptam
Doctoris digitis, sensu cultuque redactam:
Hæc tenues superat, multos carpitque superbos.'[a]

[2]EPISTOLA GILDÆ.'

[3]REGES habet Britannia,' sed tyrannos; judices habet, sed impios: sæpe prædantes et concutientes, sed innocentes; vindicantes et patrocinantes, B sed reos et latrones; quamplurimas conjuges habentes, sed [4]scortantes et adulterantes; crebro jurantes, sed perjurantes; voventes, et continuo propemodum mentientes; belligerantes, sed civilia et injusta bella agentes; per [5]patriam quidem fures magnopere insectantes, [6]et eos qui secum' ad mensam sedent [7]latrones, non solum amantes, sed [8]et munerantes; eleemosynas largiter dantes, sed e regione immensum montem scelerum exaggerantes: in sede [9]arbitraturi sedentes, sed raro recti judicii regulam quærentes; innoxios humilesque despicientes; sanguinarios, superbos, parricidas, [10]commanipulares et' adulteros Dei inimicos, si sors, ut dicitur, tulerit, [11]qui cum ipso nomine [12]certatim delendi erant, ad sydera, prout possunt efferentes; vinctos plures in carceribus habentes, quos [13]dolo sui' potius quam merito proterunt catenis onerantes; inter altaria [14]jurando demorantes, et hæc eadem [15]acsi lutulenta paulo post' saxa despicientes. C

Increpatio in Constantinum.

Cujus tam nefandi piaculi non ignarus est immundæ leænæ [b]Damnoniæ tyrannicus catulus Constantinus. Hoc anno, post horribile juramenti sacramentum, quo se devinxit nequaquam dolos civibus, Deo primum jureque jurando, sanctorum demum choris et genitrice comitantibus fretis, facturum, in duarum venerandis matrum sinibus, ecclesiæ carnalisque, sub sancti abbatis amphibalo, latera regiorum tenerrima puerorum vel præcordia crudeliter duum, totidemque nutritorum, quorum brachia nequaquam armis, quæ nullus pene hominum fortius hoc eis tempore tractabat, sed Deo altarique protenta, in die judicii, ad tuæ civitatis portas, Christe, veneranda patientiæ ac fidei suæ vexilla suspendent, inter ipsa, ut dixi, sacrosancta altaria nefando ense hastaque, pro dentibus, laceravit, ita ut D sacrificii cœlestis sedem purpurea acsi coagulati cruoris pallia attingerent. Et hoc ne post laudanda quidem merita egit. Nam multis ante annis, crebris alternatisque fœtoribus adulteriorum victus, legitima uxore, contra Christi Magistrique gentium interdictum, [16]repulsa, dicentium: [c]‡' Quod Deus conjunxit, homo non separet:' et, [×]' Viri, diligite uxores vestras.' Amarissimum enim quoddam de [17]vite Sodomorum in cordis sui infructuosa bono semini gleba, surculamen incredulitatis et insipientiæ plantaverat, quod vulgatis domesticisque impietatibus, velut quibusdam venenatis imbribus irrigatum, et ad Dei offensam avidius se erigens, parricidii sacrilegiique crimen produxit in medium. Sed nec adhuc priorum retibus malorum expeditus, priscis recentia auget malis. Age, jam quasi præsentem arguo, quem adhuc superesse non nescio. Quid stupes animæ E carnifex propriæ? Quid tibi flammas inferni voluntarie accendis nequaquam ‡ Mat. xix. 6.

× Ephes. v. 25.

1' desunt B. Joss. 2' desunt B. Joss. 3' Habet etenim Britannia reges Bosc. 4 scorta B. scortas Joss. scorta et adulteras Bosc. 5 regionem Bosc. 6' eos autem qui Bosc. 7 deest B. Joss. 8 etiam remunerantes Bosc. 9 arbitrum Bosc. 10' desunt Bosc. 11 hos Bosc. add. 12 deest Bosc. 13' dolose Bosc. 14 intrando Bosc. 15' paulo post acsi lutulenta Bosc. 16 depulsa B. 17 B. vitæ Edd.

[a] 'Hic desinit Cod. Cant. Quæ vero sequuntur exacta sunt ad Cod. Cottonianum.' Galeus.

[b] Hodie Cornwall et Devonshire. In Annalibus Cambriæ sub An. 589 occurrit, 'Conversio Constantini ad Dominum.'

[c] Testimonia e Sacra Scriptura quæ profert Gildas, aliquando e Veteri, aliquando e Nova, quandoque ex alia quadam versione accepta sunt. Hæc, præter ea quæ a vulgari editione parum discedant, a Sabatier, 'Latinæ versiones Antiquæ,' Remis. 1743, fol. in textu aut in annotationibus exhibentur.

Digitized by Google

A defecturas? Quid, inimicorum vice, propriis te confodis sponte ensibus, hastis? Anne ipsa quidem virulenta scelerum acsi pocula pectus tuum satiare quiverunt? Respice, quæso, et +veni ad Christum, siquidem laboras, et immenso pondere curvaris: et ipse te, ut dixit, requiescere faciet. Veni ad eum qui non vult ⅄' peccatoris mortem, sed ut convertatur et vivat.' ×' Dissolve,' secundum prophetam, ' vincula colli tui fili Syon.' Redi, rogo, e longinquis licet peccatorum recessibus ad piissimum patrem, qui [1]despicienti porcorum sordidos cibos ac pertimescenti diræ famis mortem, et revertenti sibi lætus occidere consuevit ϒvitulum filio saginatum, et proferre primam erranti stolam et regium annulum, et tum spei cœlestis acsi saporem prægustans, [2]senties +' quam suavis est Dominus.' Nam si hæc contempseris, scias te inextricabilibus tenebrosisque

B ignium torrentibus jamjamque [3]rotandum urendumque. Quid tu quoque, ut propheta ait, ⅄catule [4]leoline [a]Aureli [5]Conane agis? Nonne eodem quo supradictus, si non exitiabiliore, parricidiorum, fornicationum adulteriorumque cœno, velut quibusdam marinis irruentibus tibi voraris feraliter undis? Nonne pacem patriæ, mortiferum ceu serpentem odiens, civiliaque bella et crebras injuste prædas sitiens, animæ tuæ cœlestis portas pacis ac refrigerii præcludis? Relictus, quæso, jam solus, acsi arbor in medio campo arescens, recordare patrum fratrumque tuorum supervacuam phantasiam, juvenilem immaturamque mortem. [6]Num centennis tu ob religiosa merita, vel coævus Mathusalæ exceptus pene omni prole servaberis? Nequaquam. Sed, nisi citius, ut Psalmista ait, ×conversus fueris ad Dominum, ensem in te vibrabit in brevi suum Rex ille, [7]qui per pro-

C phetam, ϒ' Ego,' inquit, ' occidam, et [8]ego vivere faciam: percutiam, et ego sanabo, et non est qui de manu [9]mea possit eruere.' Quamobrem +excutere de fœtido pulvere tuo, et convertere ad eum toto corde, qui creavit te, ut cum ⅄exarserit in brevi ira ejus, beatus sis sperans in eum: sin alias, æternæ te manebunt pœnæ conterendum sæva continue et nequaquam absumendum Tartari fauce. Quid tu quoque, pardo similis moribus, et nequitiis discolor, canescente jam capite, in throno dolis pleno, et ab imis vertice tenus diversis parricidiis et adulteriis constuprato, boni regis nequam fili, ut Ezechiæ Manasses, ×Demetarum tyranne [b]Vortipori stupide riges? Quid te tam violenti peccatorum gurgites, quos ut vinum optimum sorbes, imo tu ab eis voraris, [10]appropinquante sensim vitæ limite, non satiant? Quid quasi culminis malorum omnium stupro, propria

D tua amota conjuge, ejusdemque honesta morte impudentis filiæ, quodam ineluctabili pondere miseram animam oneras? [11]Ne consumas, quæso, dierum quod reliquum est in Dei offensam: quia ϒnunc tempus acceptabile et dies salutis vultibus pœnitentium [12]lucet, in quo bene operari potes, +' ne fiat fuga tua hyeme vel sabbato:' ⅄' Diverte,' secundum Psalmistam, ' a malo, et fac bonum: inquire pacem [13]bonam et sequere eam,' quia oculi Domini super te bona agentem, et aures ejus erunt in preces tuas, et non perdet de terra viventium memoriam tuam. ×Clamabis et exaudiet te, et ex omnibus tribulationibus tuis eruet te. ϒCor siquidem contritum et humiliatum timore ejus nusquam Christus spernit. Alioquin +vermis tortionis tuæ non morietur, et ignis ustionis tuæ non extinguetur. Ut quid in nequitiæ tuæ volveris vetusta fæce, et tu, ab adolescentiæ

E annis, urse multorum sessor, aurigaque currus receptaculi ursi, Dei contemptor, [14]sortisque ejus depressor, [c]Cuneglase, Romana lingua Lanio-fulve? Quare tantum certamen tam hominibus quam Deo præstas; hominibus, civibus scilicet, armis [15]exitialibus; Deo infinitis sceleribus? Quid præter innumerabiles casus, propria uxore pulsa, furciferam germanam ejus, perpetuam Deo viduitatis casti-

+ Marc. x. 21.

⅄ Ezek. xxxiii. 11.
× Esai. lii. 2.

ϒ Luc. xv. 22, 23.

+ Psalm. xxxiv. 8.

Increpatio in Aurelium.
⅄ Gen. xlix 9.

× Psalm. vii. 12, 13.

ϒ Deut. xxxii. 39.

+ Esai. lii. 2.

⅄ Psalm. ii. 12.

Increpatio in Vortiporium.

× Suth-wallensium.

ϒ 2 Cor. vi. 2.

+ Mat. xxiv. 20.

⅄ Psalm. xxxiv. 14.

× Psalm. l. 15.

ϒ Psalm. li. 17.

+ Esai. lxvi. 24. Marc. ix. 44.

Increpatio in Cuneglassum.

[1] dispicienti B. [2] sentiens B. [3] inferni B. add. [4] leonine Joss. [5] Canine B. Joss. [6] Unde B. [7] deest B. [8] deest B. [9] deest B. [10] appropiante B. [11] Non B. [12] licet B. [13] deest B. [14] fotisque B. [15] specialibus Joss. spiritualibus B.

[a] De Aurelio Conano, fabulosis Galfridi Monumetensis exceptis, nihil invenire licuit.

[b] De Vortipore frustra alias quæsivimus.
[c] De Cuneglaso itidem adhuc quærendum est.

Digitized by Google

moniam promittentem, ut poeta ait, summam *seu teneritudinem cœlicolarum, A tota animi veneratione vel potius hebetudine, nympharum, contra interdictum apostoli, ⁂denegantis posse adulteros regni cœlestis esse municipes, suspicis?
Quid gemitus atque suspiria sanctorum, propter te corporaliter [1]mœrentium, vice immanis leænæ dentium ossa tua quandoque fracturæ, crebris instigas injuriis?
× Desine, quæso, ut Propheta ait, ab ira, et derelinque exitialem, ac temetipsum maceraturum, quem cœlo ac terræ, hoc est, Deo gregique ejus spiras, furorem:
fac eos potius mutatis pro te orare moribus, quibus suppetit [2]supra mundum alligandi cum in mundo reos alligaverint, et solvendi cum pœnitentes [3]solverint ⁘ potestas.' Noli, ut ait Apostolus, ⁘ superbe sapere, vel sperare in incerto divi-tiarum, sed in Deo qui præstat tibi multa abunde,' ut per emendationem morum thesaurizes tibi fundamentum bonum in futurum, et habeas veram vitam, per- B rennem profecto, non deciduam. Alioquin scies, et videbis etiam in hoc sæculo, + quam malum et amarum est reliquisse te Dominum [4]Deum tuum, et non esse timorem ejus apud te; et in futuro, tetro ignium globo æternorum te exuri, nec tamen ullo modo mori. Siquidem tam sceleratorum sint [5]perpetim immortales Increpatio in Maglocunum. igni animæ, quam sanctorum lætitiæ. Quid tu etiam, insularis draco, multorum tyrannorum depulsor tam regno quam etiam vita; supradictorum novissime [6]in stylo, prime in malo, major multis potentia simulque malitia, largior in dando, profusior in peccato, robuste armis, sed animæ fortior excidiis, [a]Maglocune, in ⁂ tam vetusto scelerum atramento, veluti ⁂madidus vino de Sodomitana [7]vite expresso stolide volutaris? Quare tantas peccaminum regiæ cervici sponte, ut * ita dicam, ineluctabiles, celsorum *seu montium, innectis moles? Quid te non C ei regum omnium Regi, quem cunctis pene Britanniæ ducibus tam regno fecit, quam status lineamento editiorem, exhibes cæteris moribus meliorem, sed versa vice deteriorem? quorum indubitatam æquanimiter convitiorum auscultato parumper adstipulationem, omissis domesticis levioribusque, si tamen aliqua sunt levia, palata solum longe lateque per auras admissa testaturam. Nonne in primis adolescentiæ tuæ annis avunculum regem cum fortissimis propemodum militi-bus, quorum vultus non catulorum leonis in acie magnopere dispares [8]visebantur, acerrime ense, hasta, igni oppressisti? parum cogitans propheticum dictum:
× Psalm. lv. 23. × 'Viri,' inquiens, 'sanguinum et doli non dimidiabunt dies suos.' Quid pro hoc solo retributionis a justo judice sperares, etsi non talia sequerentur quæ ⁘ Esai. xxxiii. 1. secuta sunt, itidem dicente per Prophetam: ⁘ 'Væ tibi qui prædaris, [9]nonne et D ipse prædaberis? et qui occidis,' nonne et ipse occideris? et cum desineris prædari, tunc cades.' Nonne postquam tibi ex voto violenti regni phantasia cessit, cupiditate [10]inlectus ad viam revertendi rectam, diebusque ac noctibus, id temporis, conscientia forte peccaminum remordente, de deifico tenore monachorum-que decretis, sub dente primum multa ruminans, deinde popularis auræ [11]cog-nitione proferens, monachum sine ullo infidelitatis, ut aiebas, respectu, coram omnipotente Deo, angelicis vultibus humanisque, ruptis, ut putabatur, capacis-simis illis, quibus præcipitanter involvi solent pingues tauri [12]moduli tui retibus; omnis regni, auri,' argentique, et quod [13] majus est, propriæ voluntatis distentio-nibus ruptis, perpetuo vovisti, et tete, acsi stridulo cavum lapsu aerem valide secantem, sævosque rapidi harpagones accipitris sinuosis flexibus vitantem, ad E sanctorum tibi magnopere fidas speluncas refrigeriaque [14]salubriter rapuisti ex corvo columbam? O quanta ecclesiæ matri lætitia, si non te cunctorum morta-lium hostis de sinu quodammodo ejus lugubriter abstraxisset, foret? O quam profusus spei cœlestis fomes desperatorum cordibus, te in bonis permanente, inardesceret? O qualia quantaque animam tuam regni Christi præmia in die

[1] versantium Joss. [2] ultra B. [3'] potestas solverint Joss. [4] deest B. [5] perpeti Joss. [6] deest B. Joss. [7] deest B. [8] videbantur B. [9'] desunt B. [10] injectus B. Joss. [11] cognitioni B. Joss. [12'] desunt B. [13] hiis B. add. [14] deest B.

[a] Mailcun sive Mailguin, rex Venedotiæ, hodie Northwales, obiit, secundum Annales Cambriæ, A. 547.

Digitized by Google

A judicii manerent, si non lupus callidus ille agnum ex lupo factum te [1]ab ovili dominico, non vehementer invitum, facturus lupum ex agno, sibi similem rapuisset? O quantam exultationem pio omnium patri Deo sanctorum tua salus servanda præstaret, si non te cunctorum perditorum infaustus pater, [2]veluti magnarum aquila alarum unguiumque dæmon, infœlici filiorum suorum agmini contra jus fasque rapuisset? Ne multa, tantum gaudii ac suavitatis tum cœlo terræque tua ad bonam frugem conversio, quantum nunc mœroris ac luctus ministravit ad horribilem, more molossi ægri, ⸸vomitum nefanda reversio. Qua peracta, exhibentur ⸸ Prov. xxvi. 11.
×membra arma iniquitatis peccato ac diabolo, quæ oportuerat salvo sensu avide × Rom. vi. 13.
exhiberi arma justiciæ Deo. Arrecto aurium auscultantur captu, non Dei laudes, canora Christi tyronum voce suaviter modulante, pneumaque ecclesiasticæ me-
B lodiæ, sed propriæ, quæ nihil sunt, furciferorum referto mendaciis simulque spumanti flegmate, proximos quosque trucidaturo, præconum ore, ritu bacchantium, concrepante; ita ut vas, Dei quondam in ministerio præparatum, vertatur in zabuli organum, [3]quodque honore cœlesti putabatur dignum, merito projiciatur in Tartari baratrum. Nec tamen tantis malorum offendiculis tuus hebetatus insipientiæ cumulo sensus, velut quodam obice tardatur, sed fervidus, acsi pullus, amœna quæque imperagrata putans, per extensos scelerum campos irrevocabili furore raptatur, augendo priscis nova piaculis. Spernuntur namque primæ, post monachi votum irritum, illicitæ licet, tamen propriæ conjugis præsumptivæ nuptiæ, alia viri viventis, non externi, sed fratris filii adamata. Ob quod dura cervix illa multis jam peccaminum fascibus onerata, bino parricidiali
C ausu, occidendo supradictum, uxoremque tuam, aliquamdiu a te habitam, velut summo sacrilegii tui culmine, de imis ad inferiora curvatur. Dehinc illam, cujus dudum colludio ac suggestione tantæ sunt peccatorum subitæ moles, publico et, ut fallaces parasitorum linguæ tuorum conclamant, summis tamen labiis, non ex intimo cordis, legitimo, utpote viduatam, [4]thoro; [5]ut nostræ vero, sceleratissimo adscivisti connubio. Cujus igitur sancti viscera tali stimulata historia non statim in fletus singultusque prorumpant? Quis sacerdos, cujus cor rectum Deo patet, non statim hæc audiens magno cum ululatu illud propheticum dicat: ϒ‘ Quis dabit capiti meo aquam, et oculis meis fontem lachrymarum, et plorabo ϒ Jer. ix. 1.
in die et nocte interfectos populi mei?’ Heu! siquidem parum auribus captasti propheticam objurgationem ita dicentem: +‘ Væ vobis viri impii, qui dereliquistis + Ecclus. xli. 8, &c.
D legem Dei altissimi: Et si nati fueritis, in maledictionem erit pars vestra. Omnia quæ de terra sunt, in terram ibunt: sic impii a maledictione in perditionem,’ subauditur, si non revertantur ad Dominum, exaudita saltem tali admonitione, ⸸‘ Fili, peccasti? ne adjicias ultra, sed et de pristinis tuis deprecare:’ et iterum: ⸸ Ecclus. xxi. 1.
×‘ Non tardes converti ad Dominum, neque differas de die in diem. Subito × Ecclus. v. 7.
enim venit ira ejus,’ quia ut scriptura ait: ϒ‘ Rege audiente verbum iniquum, ϒ Prov. xxix. 12.
omnes qui sub illo sunt, scelesti sunt.’ Nimirum +‘ rex,’ ut Propheta dixit, + Prov. xxix. 4.
‘justus suscitat regionem.’ Sed monita tibi profecto non desunt, cum habueris [6]præceptorum pene totius Britanniæ magistrum elegantem. Caveto igitur ne tibi, quod a Salomone notatur, accidat: ⸸‘ Quasi qui excitat dormientem de gravi ⸸ Ecclus. xxii. 8.
somno, sic qui enarrat stulto sapientiam: in fine enim narrationis dicet: Quid E primum dixeras?’ ×‘ Lava a malitia cor tuum,’ sicut dictum est, ‘ Hierusalem, ut × Jer. iv. 14.
salvus sis.’ Ne contemnas, quæso, ineffabilem misericordiam Dei, hoc modo per prophetam a peccatis impios provocantis: ϒ‘ Repente loquar ad gentem et ϒ Jer. xviii. 7.
ad regnum ut evellam, et dissipem, et destruam, et disperdam.’ Peccatorem hoc vehementer ad pœnitentiam hortatur: +‘ Et si pœnitentiam egerit gens illa + Jer. xviii. 8.
a peccato suo, pœnitentiam et ego agam super malo quod locutus sum ut facerem ei.’ Et iterum: ⸸‘ Quis dabit eis tale cor ut audiant me, et custodiant ⸸ Deuter. v. 29.
præcepta mea, et bene sit eis omnibus diebus vitæ suæ?’ Itemque in cantico Deuteronomii: ×‘ Populus,’ inquit, ‘ absque consilio et prudentia, utinam sape- × Deut. xxxii. 28.

[1] deest B. [2] vel B. [3] quo B. [4] deest B. [5] deest B. Joss. [6] præceptorem B. Joss.

Digitized by Google

rent et intelligerent, ac novissima providerent, quomodo persequatur unus mille, A ⲗ Mat. xi. 28. et duo fugent decem millia.' Et iterum in Evangelio Dominus: ⲗ' Venite ad me omnes qui laboratis et onerati estis et ego vos requiescere faciam. Tollite jugum meum super vos, et discite a me quia mitis sum et humilis corde, et invenietis requiem animabus vestris.' Nam si hæc surdis auribus audias, prophetas contemnas, Christum despicias, nosque, licet vilissimæ qualitatis simus, nullius momenti ducas, propheticum illud sincera animi [1]pietate servantes, utcunque si non ego implevero [2]fortitudinem in spiritu et virtute Domini ut enunciem ⲭ Esai. lviii. 1. ⲭ' domui Jacob peccata eorum, et domui Israel scelera eorum,' ne simus ⲩ Esai. lvi. 10. ⲩ' canes
+ Prov. xxiv. 24. muti non valentes latrare.' Et illud Salomonis ita dicentis: +' Qui dicit impium justum esse, maledictus erit populis et odibilis gentibus, nam qui arguunt meliora ⲗ Ecclus. iv. 27. 22. sperabunt.' Et iterum: ⲗ' Non reverearis proximum in casum suum: Nec retineas B ⲭ Prov. xxiv. 11. verbum in tempore salutis.' Itemque: ⲭ' Erue eos qui ducuntur ad mortem, et ⲩ Prov. xi. 4. redimere eos qui interficiuntur, ne parcas:' ⲩ' quia non proderunt,' ut idem Pro-
+ 1 Pet. iv. 18. pheta ait, 'divitiæ in die iræ, justicia a morte liberat.' +' Si justus quidem vix salvus sit, impius et peccator ubi parebit?' Ille profecto te tenebrosus Tartari torrens ferali rotatu undisque acsi acerrimis involvet semper cruciaturus et nunquam consumpturus, cui tunc erit sera inutilisque pœnæ oculata cognitio ac mali pœnitudo, a quo, in hoc tempore accepto et die salutis, ad rectum vitæ iter differtur conversio. Hic sane vel antea concludenda erat, uti ne amplius loqueretur os nostrum opera hominum, tam flebilis hæc querulaque malorum ævi hujus historia. Sed ne formidolosos nos aut lassos putent, quominus illud ⲗ Esai. v. 20. Isaianum infatigabiliter caveamus, ⲗ' Væ,' inquiens, 'qui dicit bonum malum, C et malum bonum; ponentes tenebras in lucem, et lucem in tenebras; amarum in ⲭ Mat. xiii. 13. dulce, et dulce in amarum;' ⲭ' qui videntes non vident, et audientes non audiunt;' quorum cor crassa obtegitur quadam vitiorum nube, libet quid quantumque [[a]his supradictis lascivientibus insanisque satellitum Pharaonis, quibus [3]ejus periturus Mari provocatur exercitus strenue Rubro, eorumque similibus quinque equis] minarum prophetica inclamitent strictim edicere oracula, quibus veluti pulchro tegmine opusculi nostri [4]molimen, ita ut ne certatim irruituris invidorum imbribus extet penetrabile, fidissime contegatur. Respondeant itaque pro nobis sancti vates nunc ut ante, qui os quodammodo Dei organumque Spiritus Sancti, mortalibus prohibentes mala, bonis faventes extitere, contumacibus superbisque hujus ætatis principibus, ne dicant nos propria adinventione D et loquaci tantum temeritate tales minas eis tantosque terrores incutere. Nulli namque sapientium dubium est, in quantis graviora sunt peccata hujus temporis ⲩ Heb. x. 28. [5]quam primi, apostolo dicente: ⲩ' Legem quis transgrediens duobus mediis vel tribus testibus morietur, quanto putatis deteriora mereri supplicia, qui filium Dei conculcaverit?' En primus occurrit nobis Samuel jussu Dei legitimi regni stabilitor, Deo antequam nasceretur dedicatus, a Dan usque Barsabeæ omni populo Israel veridicus propheta signis indubitanter admirandis [6]notus, ex cujus ore Spiritus Sanctus cunctis mundi potestatibus intonuit, denuntiando primo regi apud Hebræos, duntaxat Sauli, pro eo quod quædam de mandatis
+ 1 Sam. xiii. 13. Domini non compleverat, dicens: +' Stulte egisti, nec custodisti mandata Domini Dei tui, quæ præcepit tibi.' Quod si non fecisses, 'jam nunc pararet Deus regnum E tuum super Israel in sempiternum; sed nequaquam regnum tuum ultra consurget.' Quid ergo simile hujus temporis sceleribus adulterium ne vel parricidium fecit? Nullo modo. Sed jussionis ex parte mutationem, quia ut bene quidam nostrum ait: 'Non agitur de qualitate peccati, sed de transgressione mandati.' Itemque illum objecta, velut putabat, purgantem et apologias, ut ⲗ 1 Sam. xv. 20. generi humano moris est, sagaciter hoc modo adnectentem: ⲗ' Immo audivi

[1] puritate B. [2] deest B. [3] est B. [4] volumen B. [5] deest B. [6] notatus B.

[a] Quæ uncis includuntur, a Polydoro omissa sunt.

Digitized by Google

A vocem Domini, et ambulavi in via per quam misit me,' tali animadversione multavit: ⁂ 'Nunquid vult,' inquit, 'Dominus holocausta aut victimas, et non potius ut obediatur voci Domini? Melior est enim obedientia quam victimæ, et audire magis quam offerre adipem arietum; quoniam sicut peccatum ariolandi est repugnare, et quasi scelus idolatriæ nolle acquiescere. Pro eo ergo quod abjecisti sermonem Domini, abjecit et te ne sis rex.' Et post pauca: ✕ 'Scidit,' inquit, 'Deus regnum Israel a te hodie, et dedit illud proximo tuo meliori te. Porro triumphator in Israel non parcet, et pœnitudine non flectetur; neque enim homo est ut agat pœnitentiam,' subauditur, super duris malorum præcordiis. Notandum ergo est, quod dixit scelus idolatriæ esse nolle Deo acquiescere. Non sibi scelerati isti, dum non gentium diis perspicue litant, subplaudant, siqui-
B dem conculcantes, porcorum more, pretiosissimas Christi margaritas, idolatræ. Sed licet hoc unum exemplum, acsi invictus adstipulator, ad corrigendos iniquos abunde sufficeret: tamen, ut in ore multorum testium omne comprobetur Britanniæ malum, transeamus ad cætera. Quid David numerando populum evenit? dicente ad eum propheta Gad: ϒ 'Hæc dicit Dominus: Trium tibi optio datur: elige unum quod volueris ex his ut faciam tibi. Aut septem annis veniet tibi fames; aut tribus mensibus fugies adversarios tuos et illi te persequentur; aut certe tribus diebus erit pestilentia in terra tua.' Nam arctatus tali conditione, et volens magis incidere in manus misericordis Dei quam hominum, LXX. millium populi sui strage humiliatur, et, ni [1]pro contribulibus, apostolicæ charitatis affectu, ut illos plaga non tangeret mori optasset, dicendo: + 'Ego sum qui
C peccavi, ego pastor inique egi: isti qui oves sunt, quid peccarunt? Vertatur obsecro manus tua contra me, et contra domum patris mei,' inconsideratam cordis elationem propria morte piaret. Nam quid scriptura in consequentibus de filio ejus narrat: ⁂ 'Fecit,' inquiens, 'Salomon quod non placuerat coram Domino, et non adimplevit ut sequeretur Dominum sicut pater ejus.' ✕ 'Dixit Dominus ad eum: Quia habuisti hoc apud te, et non custodisti pactum meum et præcepta mea quæ mandavi tibi, disrumpens scindam regnum tuum et dabo illud servo tuo.' Quid duobus sacrilegis, æque ut isti sunt, Israel regibus Hieroboæ et Baasæ accidit, audite, quibus sententia Domini dirigitur per prophetam ita dicentis: ϒ 'Propter quod magnificavi te principem super Israel, quia exacerbaverunt me in vanis eorum: Ecce ego suscito post Baasam et post
D domum ejus, et tradam domum ejus sicut domum Jeroboæ Nabath. Qui mortuus fuerit de suis in civitate comedent eum canes, et mortuum corpus illius in campo comedent volatilia cœli.' Quid illi quoque scelerato regi Israel istorum commanipulari, cujus colludio et uxoris dolo Naboth innocens propter paternam vineam oppressus est, sancto ore illius Heliæ atque ignifero Domini alloquio instructo minatur, ita dicente: + 'Occidisti insuper et possedisti? et post hæc addes, Hæc dicit Dominus: In loco hoc in quo linxerunt canes sanguinem Naboth, lambent quoque tuum sanguinem.' Quod ita factum fuisse certissima ratione cognitum est. Sed ne forte secundum supradictum Achab ⁂ spiritus mendax loquens vana in ore prophetarum vestrorum seducat vos, ne sermones Micheæ prophetæ audiatis, ✕ 'Ecce permisit Deus spiritum mendacii in ore
E omnium prophetarum tuorum qui hic sunt, et Dominus locutus est contra te malum.' Nam et nunc certum est aliquos esse doctores contrario spiritu repletos, et magis pravam voluptatem quam veritatem asserentes: ϒ quorum verba super oleum molliuntur, et ipsa sunt jacula, + qui dicunt pax, pax, et non erit in peccatis permanentibus pax, ut alibi propheta dicit: ⁂ 'Non est gaudere impiis, dicit Dominus.' Azarias quoque filius Obed Asæ revertenti de cæde decies centenum millium exercitus Æthiopum locutus est, dicens: ✕ 'Dominus vobiscum est dum estis cum ipso, et si exquisieritis eum, invenietur a vobis: et si dereliquistis eum, derelinquet vos.' Nam si Josaphat ferens præsidium iniquo

⁂ 1 Sam. xv. 22.
✕ 1 Sam. xv. 28.
ϒ 2 Sam. xxiv. 12.
+ 2 Sam. xxiv. 17.
⁂ 1 Reg. xi. 6.
✕ 1 Reg. xi. 11.
ϒ 1 Reg. xvi. 2, 3, 4.
+ 1 Reg. xxi. 19.
⁂ 1 Reg. xxii. 22.
✕ 1 Reg. xxii. 23.
ϒ Psalm. lv. 21.
+ Jer. vi. 14.
⁂ Esai. xlviii. 22.
✕ 2 Chr. xv. 2.

[1] deest B.

Digitized by Google

regi, ita ab Jehu propheta Ananiæ filio increpatur, dicente: ‘ Si peccatorem tu adjuvas, aut quem Dominus odit, tu diligis? propterea ira Dei est super te;’ quid illis, qui propriis scelerum suorum criniculis compediuntur, fiet? Quorum nos necesse est, si in acie dominica volumus dimicare, peccata odisse non animas, dicente psalmista: ‘ Qui diligitis Dominum, odite malum.’ Quid ad supradicti Josaphat filium, currus et auriga Israel propheta Helias, Joram scilicet parricidam, qui egregios fratres suos, ut pro ipsis regnaret, spurius trucidavit, effatus est? ‘ Sic dicit,’ inquit, ‘ Dominus Deus patris tui David. Eo quod non ambulaveris in via Josaphat patris tui, et in viis Asæ regis Juda, et ambulasti in viis regum Israel, et stuprose ut gessit domus Achab, et fratres tuos filios Josaphat meliores te interfecisti, ecce Dominus percutiet plaga magna te, et filios tuos.’ [Et post pauca: ‘ Et tu eris in magna valetudine in languore ventris tui, donec exeat venter tuus cum ipsa infirmitate de die ex die.’] Et ad Joam regem Israel, ut vos, derelinquentem Dominum, quid Zacharias filius Joiadæ vatis minatus sit, attendite; qui surgens populo dixit: ‘ Hæc dicit Dominus: Quare præteritis præcepta Domini et non prosperamini? Quia dereliquistis Dominum, et derelinquet vos.’ Quid de auctore prophetarum Esaia dicam? qui procemium prophetiæ suæ vel visionem ita exorsus est, dicens: ‘ Audite cœli et auribus percipite terra, quoniam Dominus locutus est. Filios enutrivi et exaltavi, ipsi autem spreverunt me. Cognovit bos possessorem suum, et asinus præsepe domini sui, Israel autem me non cognovit, et populus meus non intellexit.’ [Et post pauca minas meritas tantæ insipientiæ aptans; ‘ Derelinquetur,’ inquit, ‘ filia Syon ut tabernaculum in vinea, et sicut tugurium in cucumerario, sicut civitas quæ vastatur.’ Et principes specialiter conveniens ait: ‘ Audite verbum Domini, principes Sodomorum; percipite legem Domini, populus Gomorrhæ.’ Notandum sane quod iniqui reges, principes Sodomorum vocentur. Prohibens namque Dominus sacrificia et dona sibi a talibus offerri, et nos inhiantes suscipimus quæ Deo ab omni natione sunt non placita, eademque egenis et pene nihil habentibus distribui in perniciem nostram non sinimus, cum latis divitiis oneratis, sordibus peccatorum intentis ait: ‘ Ne afferatis ultra sacrificium frustra; incensum abominatio est mihi.’ Itemque denunciat: ‘ Et cum extenderitis manus vestras, avertam oculos meos a vobis, et cum multiplicaveritis orationem, non exaudiam.’ Et hoc quare facit ostendit: ‘ Manus,’ inquiens, ‘ vestræ sanguine plenæ’ sunt. Simulque ostendens quomodo placaretur ait: ‘ Lavamini, mundi estote, auferte malum cogitationum vestrarum ab oculis meis, quiescite agere perverse, discite benefacere, quærite judicium, subvenite oppresso, judicate pupillo.’ Quasi placoris vicissitudinem adjungens ait: ‘ Si fuerint peccata vestra ut coccinum, quasi nix dealbabuntur: et si fuerint rubra quasi vermiculus, velut lana alba erunt. Si volueritis et audieritis me, bona terræ manducabitis. Quod si nolueritis et me provocaveritis ad iracundiam, gladius devorabit vos.’ Accipite veracem publicumque adstipulatorem, boni malique vestri retributionem absque ullo adulationis fuco, non ut parasitorum venerata vestrorum venena in aures sibilant ora, testantem. Itemque ad rapaces judices sententiam dirigens ita affatur: ‘ Principes tui infideles, socii furum, omnes diligunt munera, sectantur retributiones, pupillo non judicant, causa viduæ non ingreditur ad eos. Propter hoc ait Dominus exercituum fortis Israel: Heu consolabor super hostibus meis, et vindicabor de inimicis meis:’ ‘ Et conterentur scelerati et peccatores simul, et omnes qui dereliquerunt Dominum consumentur.’ Et infra: ‘ Oculi sublimis hominis humiliabuntur, et incurvabit altitudo virorum.’ Et iterum: ‘ Væ impio in malum, retributio enim manuum ejus fiet ei.’ Et post pauca: ‘ Væ qui consurgitis mane ad ebrietatem sectandam, et ad potandum usque ad vesperam ut vino æstuetis. Cithara, et lyra, et tympanum, et tibia, et vinum in conviviis vestris, et opus Domini non respicitis, et opera manuum ejus non consideratis. Propterea captivus ductus est populus meus, quia non habuit scientiam, et nobiles ejus interierunt fame, et multitudo

‘ 2 Chr. xix. 2.
* Psalm. xcvii. 10.
ϒ 2 Chr. xxi. 11, 12, 13.
+ 2 Chr. xxi. 15.
‘ 2 Chr. xxiv. 20.
* Esai. i. 2.
ϒ Esai. i. 8.
+ Esai. i. 10.
‘ Esai. i. 13.
* Esai. i. 15.
ϒ Esai. i. 16.
+ Esai. i. 18.
‘ Esai. i. 23, 24. 28.
* Esai. ii. 11.
ϒ Esai. iii. 11.
+ Esai. v. 11.

A B C D E

Digitized by Google

A ejus siti exaruit. Propterea dilatavit infernus animam suam, et aperuit os suum absque ullo termino, et descendent fortes ejus, et populus ejus, et sublimes gloriosique ejus ad eum.' Et infra: ^'Væ qui potentes estis ad bibendum vinum, ^ Esai. v. 22.
et viri fortes ad miscendam ebrietatem, qui justificatis impium pro muneribus, et justitiam justi aufertis ab eo. Propter hoc sicut devorat stipulam lingua ignis, et calor flammæ exurit: sic radix eorum quasi favilla erit, et germen eorum ut pulvis ascendet. Abjecerunt enim legem Domini exercituum, et eloquium Sancti Israel despexerunt. In omnibus his non est aversus furor Domini, sed adhuc manus ejus extenta.' Et post aliquanta, de die judicii et peccatorum ineffabili metu disceptans ait: ×'Ululate quia prope est dies Domini:' si tunc prope erat, × Esai. xiii. 6.
quid nunc putabitur? 'quia vastitas a Deo veniet. Propter hoc omnes manus dis-
B solventur, et omne cor hominis tabescet et conteretur, tortiones et dolores tenebunt, quasi parturiens dolebunt. Unusquisque ad proximum suum stupebit; facies combustæ vultus illorum. Ecce dies Domini veniet crudelis et indignationis plenus, et iræ furorisque, ad ponendam terram in solitudinem, et peccatores ejus conterendos de ea, quoniam stellæ cœli et splendor earum non expandent lumen suum, obtenebrabitur sol in ortu suo, et luna non splendebit in tempore suo, et visitabo super orbis mala, et contra impios iniquitatem ipsorum, et quiescere faciam superbiam infidelium, et arrogantiam fortium humiliabo.' Et iterum: ϒ'Ecce Do- ϒ Esai. xxiv. 1.
minus dissipabit terram, et nudabit eam, et affliget faciem ejus, et disperget habitatores ejus, et erit sicut populus sic sacerdos, et sicut servus sic dominus ejus, sicut ancilla sic domina ejus, sicut emens sic ille qui vendit, sicut fœnerator sic ille qui C mutuum accipit, sicut qui repetit sic qui debet. Dissipatione dissipabitur terra, et direptione prædabitur. Dominus enim locutus est verbum hoc: Luxit et defluxit terra, defluxit orbis, infirmata est ab habitatoribus suis, quia transgressi sunt leges, mutaverunt jus, dissipaverunt fœdus sempiternum. Propter hoc maledictio vorabit terram.' Et infra: +'Ingemiscent omnes qui lætantur corde, cessabit + Esai. xxiv. 7.
gaudium tympanorum, quiescet sonitus lætantium, conticescet dulcedo citharæ, cum cantico non bibent vinum, amara erit potio bibentibus illam. Attrita est civitas vanitatis, clausa est omnis domus nullo introeunte. Clamor erit super vino in plateis, deserta est omnis lætitia, translatum est gaudium terræ, relicta est in urbe solitudo, et calamitas opprimet portas; quia hæc erunt in medio terræ et in medio populorum.' Et post pauca: ^'Prævaricantes prævaricati sunt, et ^ Esai. xxiv. 16.
D prævaricatione transgressorum prævaricati sunt. Formido, et foveæ, et laqueus super te qui habitator es terræ. Et erit, qui fugerit a voce formidinis, cadet in foveam, et qui se explicuerit de fovea, tenebitur laqueo: quia cataractæ de excelsis apertæ erunt, et concutientur fundamenta terræ. Confractione confringetur terra, commotione commovebitur, agitatione agitabitur sicut ebrius, et auferetur quasi tabernaculum unius noctis, et gravabit eam iniquitas sua, et corruet, et non adjiciet ut resurgat. Et erit, in die illa visitabit Dominus super militiam cœli in excelso, et super reges terræ qui sunt super terram, et congregabuntur in congregationem unius fascis in lacum, et claudentur ibi in carcerem, et post multos dies visitabuntur. Et erubescet luna, et confundetur sol cum regnaverit Dominus exercituum in monte Sion et in Jerusalem, et in conspectu senum nequeat, neque aggravata est auris ejus ut non exaudiat. Sed iniquitates vestræ diviserunt inter vos et Deum vestrum, et peccata vestra absconderunt faciem ejus a vobis ne exaudiret. Manus enim vestræ pollutæ sunt sanguine, et digiti vestri iniquitate: labia vestra locuta sunt mendacium, et lingua vestra iniquitatem fatur. Non est qui vocet justitiam, neque est qui judicet vere, sed confidunt in nihil, et loquuntur vanitates, et conceperunt dolorem, et pepererunt iniquitatem.' Et infra: ϒ'Opera eorum inutilia et opus iniquitatis in manibus ϒ Esai. lix. 6.
E suorum fuerit glorificatus.' Et post aliquanta, rationem reddens quamobrem talia minaretur, ita ait: ×'Ecce non est abbreviata manus Domini ut salvare × Esai. lix. 1.
eorum. Pedes eorum in malum currunt, et festinant ut effundant sanguinem innocentem. Cogitationes eorum cogitationes inutiles, vastitas et contritio in

Digitized by Google

viis eorum, et viam pacis non cognoverunt, et non est judicium in gressibus A eorum. Semitæ eorum incurvatæ sunt eis, omnis qui calcat in eis, ignorat pacem. Propter hoc elongatum est judicium a vobis, et non apprehendit vos ⁂ Esai. lix. 14. justitia.' Et post pauca: ⁂ Et conversum est retrorsum judicium, et justitia longe stetit, quia corruit in platea veritas, et æquitas non potuit ingredi. Et facta est veritas in oblivione, et qui recessit a malo, prædæ patuit. Et vidit Dominus et non placuit in oculis ejus, quia non est judicium.' Hucusque Esaiæ Prophetæ pauca de multis dixisse sufficiat.] Nunc vero illum, qui priusquam formaretur in utero præscitus, et priusquam exiret de vulva sanctificatus et in cunctis gentibus propheta positus est, Jeremiam scilicet, quid de populo insipiente rigidisque regibus pronunciaverit, parumper attendentes audite, hoc × Jer. ii. 1. 4. modo leniter verba initiantem: × Et factum est verbum Domini ad me dicens; B
vade et clama in auribus Jerusalem, et dices: Audite verbum Domini domus Jacob, et omnes cognationes domus Israel. Hæc dicit Dominus: Quid invenerunt in me patres vestri iniquitatis, qui elongati sunt a me, et ambulaverunt post vanitatem, et vani facti sunt, et non dixerunt, ubi est qui ascendere nos ϒ Jer. ii. 20. fecit de terra Ægypti?' [Et post pauca: ϒ A sæculo confregisti jugum meum, rupisti vincula mea, dixisti non serviam. Ego plantavi te vineam electam, omne semen verum. Quomodo ergo conversa es in pravum vinea aliena? Si laveris te nitro et multiplicaveris tibi herbam borith, maculata es iniquitate tua coram + Jer. ii. 29. me, dicit Dominus.' Et infra: + Quid vultis mecum judicio contendere?
Omnes me dereliquistis, dicit Dominus. Frustra percussi filios vestros, disciplinam non receperunt. Audite verbum Domini: Nunquid solitudo factus sum C Israel, aut terra serotina? Quare ergo dixit populus meus, recessimus, non veniemus ultra ad te? Nunquid obliviscitur virgo ornamenti sui, aut sponsa fasciæ ⁂ Jer. iv. 22. pectoralis suæ? Populus vero meus oblitus est me diebus innumeris.' ⁂ Quia stultus est populus meus, me non cognovit: filii insipientes sunt, et vecordes:
sapientes sunt ut faciant mala, bene autem facere nescierunt.' Tum propheta × Jer. v. 3. ex sua persona loquitur dicens: × Domine oculi tui respiciunt fidem; percussisti eos et non doluerunt, attrivisti eos et renuerunt accipere disciplinam; induave-runt facies suas super petram, et noluerunt reverti.' Itemque Dominus:
ϒ Jer. v. 20. ϒ Annunciate hoc domui Jacob, et auditum facite in Juda dicentes: Audi popule stulte qui non habes cor, qui habentes oculos non videtis, et aures et non auditis.
Me ergo non timebitis ait Dominus, et a facie mea non dolebitis, qui posui D arenam terminum mari, præceptum sempiternum quod non præteribit; et com-
* poterunt. movebuntur et non *potuerunt, intumescent fluctus ejus, et non transibunt illud.
Populo autem huic factum est cor incredulum et exasperans, recesserunt et abierunt, et non dixerunt in corde suo, metuamus Dominum Deum nostrum.'
+ Jer. v. 26. Et iterum: + Quia inventi sunt in populo meo impii insidiantes quasi aucupes, laqueos ponentes et pedicas ad capiendos viros. Sicut decipula plena avibus, sic domus eorum plenæ dolo: ideo magnificati sunt et ditati, incrassati sunt et impinguati, et præterierunt sermones meos pessime, causam pupilli non dixerunt, et judicium pauperum non judicaverunt. Nunquid super his non visitabo?
dicit Dominus: aut super gentem hujusmodi non ulciscetur anima mea?' Sed ⁂ Jer. vii. 27. absit ut vobis eveniat quod sequitur: ⁂ Loquere ad eos omnia verba hæc et E non audient te, et vocabis eos et non respondebunt tibi, et dices ad eos: Hæc est gens, quæ non audivit vocem Domini Dei sui, nec recipit disciplinam; periit × Jer. viii. 4. fides, et ablata est de ore eorum.' Et post aliquanta: × Nunquid qui cadit non resurgit, et qui aversus est non revertetur? Quare ergo aversus est populus iste in Jerusalem aversione contentiosa? Apprehenderunt mendacium, et noluerunt reverti. Attendi et auscultavi, nemo quod bonum est loquitur. Nullus est qui agat pœnitentiam super peccato suo dicens, quid feci? Omnes conversi sunt ad cursum suum, quasi equus impetu vadens in prælium. Milvus in cœlo cognovit tempus suum, turtur et hirundo et ciconia custodierunt tempus adventus sui, populus meus non cognovit judicium Dei.' Et tam vehementi sacrilegiorum

Digitized by Google

A cæcitate et ineffabili ebrietate propheta conterritus, et deflens eos qui seipsos non deflebant, ut et nunc infœlices tyranni agunt, optat sibi auctionem fletuum a Domino concedi, hoc modo dicens: ⁂ 'Super contritione filiæ populi mei contritus sum: Stupor obtinuit me. Nunquid resina non est in Galaad, aut medicus non est ibi? Quare ergo non obducta est cicatrix filiæ populi mei? ⁎ Quis dabit capiti meo aquam, et oculis meis fontem lachrymarum, et plorabo die et nocte interfectos populi mei? Quis dabit mihi in solitudine diversorium viatorum, et derelinquam populum meum, et recedam ab eis, quia omnes adulteri sunt, cœtus prævaricatorum? Et extenderunt linguam suam quasi arcum mendacii et non veritatis: confortati sunt in terra, quia de malo ad malum egressi sunt, et me non cognoverunt dicit Dominus.' Et iterum:

⁂ Jer. viii. 21.

⁎ Jer. ix. 1.

B ϒ 'Et dixit Dominus: Quia dereliquerunt legem meam quam dedi eis, et non audierunt vocem meam, et non ambulaverunt in ea; et abierunt post pravitatem cordis sui: Idcirco hæc dicit Dominus exercituum Deus Israel: Ecce ego cibabo populum istum absynthio, et potum dabo eis aquam fellis.' Et post pauca, quod etiam crebrius stylo propheta adjunxit, dicens ex persona Dei: + 'Tu ergo noli orare pro populo hoc, et ne assumas pro eis laudem et orationem, quia non exaudiam in tempore clamoris eorum ad me, et afflictionis eorum.' Quid ergo nunc infausti duces facient? Illi pauci invenientes viam angustam, amota spaciosa, prohibiti a Deo ne preces pro vobis fundant perseverantibus in malis, et tantopere incitantibus; queis e contrario ex corde ad Deum repedantibus, Deo nolente animam hominis interire, sed retractante, ne penitus pereat

ϒ Jer. ix. 13.

+ Jer. xi. 14.

C qui abjectus est, vindictam non potuissent inducere, quia nec Jonas, et quidem cum multum concupiverit, Ninivitis Propheta. Sed omissis interim nostris, audiamus potius quid prophetica tuba persultet: ⁂ 'Quod si dixeris,' inquiens, 'in corde tuo, Quare venerunt mala hæc? propter multitudinem iniquitatis tuæ. Si mutare potest Æthiops pellem suam, aut pardus varietates suas, et vos poteritis benefacere, cum didiceritis malum,' subauditur, quia non vultis. Et ⁂ Jer. xiii. 22.

infra: ⁎ 'Hæc dicit Dominus populo huic: Qui dilexit movere pedes suos et non quievit, et Domino non placuit: nunc recordabitur iniquitatum eorum, et visitabit peccata eorum. Et dixit Dominus ad me: Noli orare pro populo isto in bonum. Cum jejunaverint, non exaudiam preces eorum: et si obtulerint holocausta et victimas, non suscipiam ea.' Et iterum: ϒ 'Et dixit Dominus ad ⁎ Jer. xiv. 10.

ϒ Jer. xv. 1.

D me: Si steterit Moyses et Samuel coram me, non est anima mea ad populum istum: ejice illos a facie mea et egrediantur.' Et post pauca: + 'Quis miserebitur tui Jerusalem, aut quis contristabitur pro te, aut quis ibit ad rogandum pro pace tua? Tu reliquisti me, dicit Dominus, et retrorsum abiisti, et extendam manum meam super te, et interficiam te.' Et post aliquanta: ⁂ 'Hæc dicit Dominus: Ecce ego fingo contra vos cogitationem: Revertatur unusquisque a via sua mala, et dirigite vias vestras et studia vestra. Qui dixerunt: Desperamus; post cogitationes nostras ibimus, et unusquisque pravitatem cordis sui mali faciemus. Ideo hæc dicit Dominus: Interrogate gentes, quis audivit talia horribilia quæ fecit nimis virgo Israel? Nunquid deficiet de petra agri nix Libani, aut velli possunt aquæ erumpentes frigidæ defluentes? quia oblitus est

+ Jer. xv. 5.

⁂ Jer. xviii. 11.

E me populus meus.' Et post aliquanta, optione proposita loquitur dicens: ⁎ 'Hæc dicit Dominus: Facite judicium et justitiam, et liberate vi oppressum de manu calumniatoris, et advenam et pupillum et viduam nolite contristare, neque opprimatis inique, et sanguinem innocentem ne effundatis. Si enim facientes feceritis verbum istud, ingredientur per portas domus hujus reges sedentes de genere David super thronum ejus. Quod si non audieritis verba hæc, in memetipso juravi, dicit Dominus, quia in solitudinem erit domus hæc.' Et iterum, de rege enim scelesto loquebatur: ϒ 'Vivo ego dicit Dominus, quia si fuerit Jechonias annulus in manu dextra mea, inde evellam eum et dabo in manu quærentium animam ejus.'] Sanctus quoque Abacuc proclamat dicens: + 'Væ qui ædificant civitatem in sanguine, et præparant civitatem in iniquitatibus, dicentes: Nonne ⁎ Jer. xxii. 3.

ϒ Jer. xxii. 24.

+ Abacuc. ii. 12.

Digitized by Google

hæc sunt a Domino omnipotente? Et defecerunt populi multi in igne, et A ⲗ Abacuc. i. 2. gentes multæ minoratæ sunt.' Et ita prophetiam querulus incipit: ⲗ' Usquequo clamabo et non exaudies? vociferabor ad te, ut quid mihi dedisti labores et do-× Abacuc. i. 3. lores inspicere miseriam et impietatem?' [Contra: ×' Et factum est judicium, et judex accepit. Propter hoc dissipata est lex, et non perducitur ad finem judicium: quia impius per potentiam deprimit justum. Propter hoc exiit judicium perversum.'] Sed et beatus Osee propheta, attendite quid loquatur de principi-
ϒ Ose. viii. 1. bus, dicens: ϒ' Pro eo quod transgressi sunt pactum meum, et adversus legem meam tulerunt, et exclamabant: Cognovimus te, quia adversum sis Israel.
+ Ose. viii. 4. Bonum ut iniquum persecuti sunt. +Sibi regnaverunt, et non per me: tenuerunt principatum, nec me agnoverunt.' Sed et sanctum Amos prophetam hoc ⲗ Amos. ii. 4. modo minantem audite: ⲗ' In tribus impietatibus filiorum Juda, et in quatuor B non avertam eos, propter quod repulerunt legem Domini, et præcepta non custodierunt, sed seduxerunt eos vana eorum. Et emittam ignem super Judam, et × Amos. ii. 6. comedet fundamenta Jerusalem. ×Hæc dicit Dominus: In tribus impietatibus Israel, et in quatuor non avertam eos, propter quod tradiderunt pecunia justum, et pauperem pro calciamentis quæ calciant super pulverem terræ, et colaphis cædebant capita pauperum, et viam humilium declinaverunt.' [Et post pauca:
ϒ Amos. v. 6. ϒ' Quærite Dominum et vivetis, ut non reluceat sicut ignis domus Joseph, et
+ Amos. v. 10. comedat eam, nec erit qui extinguat. +Domus Israel odio habuerunt in portis redarguentem, et verbum justum abominati sunt.' Qui Amos prohibitus ne ⲗ Amos. vii. 14. prophetaret in Israel, absque adulationis tepore respondens: ⲗ' Non eram,' inquit, 'ego propheta nec filius prophetæ, sed eram pastor caprarius vellicans C sycomoros, et suscepit me Dominus ab ovibus, et dixit Dominus ad me: Vade et prophetiza in plebem meam Israel, et nunc audi verbum Domini,' regem namque alloquebatur: 'Tu dicis, noli prophetare in Israel, et non congreges turbas in domum Jacob. Propter quod hæc dicit Dominus. Uxor tua in civitate meretricabitur, et filii tui et filiæ tuæ gladio cadent, et terra tua funiculo metietur, et tu in terra immunda morieris; Israel autem captivus ducetur a terra × Amos. viii. 4. sua.' Et infra: ×' Audite itaque hæc, qui contribulatis immane pauperem, et dominationem exercetis in inopes super terram, qui dicitis, quando transibit mensis ut acquiramus, et sabbata ut aperiamus thesauros.' Et post pauca:
ϒ Amos. viii. 7, 8. 10. ϒ' Jurat Dominus contra superbiam Jacob, si obliviscetur in contemptione opera vestra, et in his non conturbabitur terra, et lugebit omnis qui commorabitur in D ea, et ascendet sicut flumen consummatio: Et convertam dies festos vestros in luctum, et injiciam in omnem lumbum cilicium, et in omne caput decalvationem, et ponam eum sicut luctum dilecti, et eos, qui cum eo sunt, sicut diem mœroris.'
+ Amos. ix. 10. Et iterum: +' Gladio morientur omnes peccatores populi mei, qui dicunt: Non appropinquabunt neque venient super nos mala.'] Sed et sanctus Micheas vates, ⲗ Mich. i. 2. attendite quid sit effatus: ⲗ' Audi,' inquiens, 'tribus.' Et quid exornabit × Mich. vi. 9, 10. civitatem? nunquid ignis? ×Et domus iniquorum thesaurizans in thesauros iniquos, et cum injuria injustitiam. Si justificabitur in statera iniquus, et in saccello pondera dolosa, ex quibus divitias suas in impietate repleverunt.' Sed
ϒ Zeph. i. 14. et Sophonias propheta clarus, quas minas exaggerat, audite: ϒ' Prope est,' inquit, 'dies Domini magnus, prope et velox valde. Vox diei Domini amara constiE tuta est et potens, dies iræ dies ille, dies tribulationis et necessitatis, dies nubis et nebulæ, dies tubæ et clamoris, dies miseriæ et exterminationis, dies tenebrarum et caliginis super civitates firmas et super angulos excelsos. [Et contribulabo homines, et ibunt sicut cæci, quia Domino peccaverunt, et effundam sanguinem sicut pulverem, et carnes eorum sicut fimum boum, et argentum eorum et aurum non poterit eximere eos in die iræ Domini. Et in igne zeli ejus consumetur omnis terra, quando consummationem et solitudinem faciet Dominus
+ Zeph. ii. 1. super omnes commorantes in terram. +Convenite et conjungimini gens indisciplinata, priusquam efficiamini sicut flos præteriens, priusquam veniat super vos
ⲗ Agg. ii. 21. ira Domini.]' Et quid Aggæus sanctus propheta dicat attendite: ⲗ' Hæc dicit

Digitized by Google

A Dominus: Semel ego movebo cœlum, et terram, et mare, et aridum, et avertam regnum, et exterminabo virtutem regum gentium, et avertam quadrigas et ascensores.' Nunc quoque quid Zacharias filius Addo propheta electus dixerit intuemini, hoc modo prophetiam suam exordiens: ⁂ 'Revertimini ad me, et revertar ad vos dicit Dominus: et nolite tales esse sicut patres vestri, quibus imputaverunt prophetæ priores dicentes: Hæc dicit Dominus omnipotens: Avertite vos a viis vestris: Et non intenderunt ut obaudirent me.' [Et infra: ✕ 'Et dixit ad me Angelus: Quid tu vides? Et dixi: Falcem ego video volantem longitudinis cubitorum viginti. Maledictio quæ procedit super faciem totius terræ: quoniam omnis fur ex ea usque ad mortem punietur, et projiciam eum dicit Dominus omnipotens, et intrabit in domum *furoris, et in domum *ju-
B rationis in nomine meo mendacium.'] Sanctus quoque Malachias propheta dicit: ϒ 'Ecce dies Domini veniet succensa quasi caminus, et erunt omnes superbi, et omnes facientes iniquitatem ut stipula, et inflammabit eos dies adveniens *Dominus exercituum, quæ non relinquet ex eis radicem et germen.' Sed et sanctus Job, attendite quid de principio impiorum et fine disceptaverit, dicens: + 'Propter quid impii vivunt, et senuerunt *inhoneste: et semen eorum secundum desiderium eorum, et filii eorum ante conspectum eorum, et domus eorum fructuosæ sunt, et timor nunquam, nec plaga Domini est super eos. Vacca eorum non abortivit, et prægnans eorum pertulit partum, et non erravit, sed permanet sicut oves æternæ. Et pueri eorum gaudent, et psalterium sumentes et cytharam finierunt in bonis vitam suam, in requiem inferorum dormierunt.' Nunquid
C Deus facta impiorum non respicit? Non ergo: ⁂ 'sed lucerna impiorum extinguetur, et superveniet eis eversio et dolores tanquam parturientis eos ab ira tenebunt. Et erunt sicut paleæ a vento, et sicut pulvis, quem abstulit turbo. [Deficiant filiis ejus bona. Videant oculi ejus occisionem suam, nec a Domino resalvetur.' Et post aliquanta de iisdem: ✕ 'Qui gregem,' inquit, 'cum pastore rapuerunt, et jumentum orphanorum abduxerunt, et bovem viduæ pignoraverunt, et declinaverunt *imponentes a via necessitatis. Agrum ante tempus non suum demessi sunt, pauperes potentium vineas sine mercede et sine cibo operati sunt, nudos multos dormire fecerunt sine vestimentis, tegmen animæ eorum abstulerunt.' Et post pauca, cum ergo sciret eorum opera, tradidit eos in tenebras: ϒ 'Maledicatur ergo pars ejus a terra, pariant plantationes ejus aridæ.'
D + Retribuatur ergo illi sicut egit, contribuletur omnis iniquus sicut lignum sine sanitate. In iracundia enim surgens impotentem evertit. ⁂ Propterea enim non credet de vita sua cum infirmari cœperit, non speret sanitatem, sed cadet in languorem. Multos enim læsit superbia ejus, et marcidus factus est sicut malva in æstu, velut spica cum de stipula sua decidit. Et infra: ✕ 'Quod si multi fuerint filii ejus, in occisionem erunt. Quod et si collegerit ut terram argentum, et similiter ut lutum præparaverit aurum: hæc omnia justi consequuntur.'] Quid præterea beatus Esdras propheta ille bibliotheca legis minatus sit attendite, hoc modo disceptans: ϒ 'Hæc dicit Dominus meus: Non parcet dextera mea super peccantes, nec cessabit romphæa super effundentes sanguinem innocuum super terram. Exibit ignis ab ira mea, et devorabit fundamenta terræ et peccatores
E quasi stramen incensum. Væ eis qui peccant, et non observant mandata mea dicit Dominus, non parcam illis. Discedite filii *apostatæ, et nolite contaminare sanctificationem meam. Novit Deus qui peccant in eum, propterea tradet eos in mortem, et in occisionem. Jam enim venerunt super orbem terrarum mala multa. + Immissus est gladius vobis ignis, et quis est qui recutiet ea? [Nunquid recutiet aliquis leonem esurientem in silva? aut nunquid extinguet ignem cum stramen incensum fuerit? Dominus Deus mittet mala, et quis est qui recutiet ea? et exibit ignis ex iracundia ejus, et quis extinguet eum? Coruscabit, et quis non timebit? tonabit, et quis non horrebit? Deus cuncta minabitur, et quis non terrebitur? A facie ejus tremet terra, et fundamenta maris fluctuantur de profundo.]' ⁂ Ezechiel quoque propheta egregius, quatuorque evangelicorum ⁂ Zachar. i. 3.

✕ Zachar. v. 2.
* furis. * jurantis.
ϒ Malach. iv. 1.
* supple. dicit.
+ Job. xxi. 7. 12.
* in honestate?
⁂ Job. xxi. 17. 20.
✕ Job. xxiv. 2. 10.
* impotentes.
ϒ Job. xxiv. 18.
+ Job. xxiv. 20.
⁂ Job. xxiv. 22.
✕ Job. xxvii. 14. 17.
ϒ 2 Esdr. xv. 22. 27.
* a potestate.
+ 2 Esdr. xvi. 3. 12.
⁂ Ezc. i. 5.

Digitized by Google

animalium mirandus inspector, quid de sceleratis edixerit, attendite, cui primum A ⱥ Eze. ix. 9. Dominus miserabiliter plagam Israel deflenti ait: ⱥ‘ Iniquitas domus Israel et ✕ Eze. v. 11. Juda invaluit nimis, quia impleta est terra iniquitate et immunditia. ✕Ecce ego
ϒ Eze. vii. 23. sum. Non parcet oculus meus neque miserebor.’ Et infra: ϒ‘ Quoniam terra plena populis, et civitas plena iniquitate est: Et avertam impetum virtutis eorum, et polluentur sancta eorum. Exoratio veniet, et quæret pacem, et non erit.’
+ Eze. xiv. 12. Et post aliquanta: +‘ Factus est,’ inquit, ‘ sermo Domini ad me dicens: Fili hominis, terra quæ peccaverit mihi ut delinquat delictum, extendam manum in eam, et conteram ejus firmamentum panis, et emittam in eam famem, et tollam de ea hominem, et pecora. Et si sint tres viri isti in medio ejus Noe, Daniel, et Job, non liberabunt eam, sed ipsi in sua justitia salvi erunt, dicit Dominus. Quod si etiam bestias malas inducam super terram et puniam illam, et erit in B exterminium, et non erit qui iter faciat a facie bestiarum; et tres viri isti in medio ejus sint, vivo ego dicit Dominus, si filii et filiæ ejus liberabuntur, sed ⱥ Eze. xviii. 20. ipsi soli salvi erunt, terra autem erit in interitum.’ Et iterum: ⱥ‘ Filius non accipiet injustitiam patris, neque pater accipiet injustitiam filii. Justitia justi super ipsum erit. Et iniquus si avertat se ab omnibus iniquitatibus quas fecit, et custodiat omnia mandata mea, et faciat justitiam et misericordiam multam, vita vivet et non morietur. Omnia delicta ejus, quæcunque fecit non erunt: in sua justitia, quam fecit, vita vivet. Nunquid voluntate volo mortem injusti, dicit Dominus, quam ut avertat se a via sua mala et vivat? Cum se autem converterit justus a justitia sua, et fecerit iniquitatem secundum omnes iniquitates quas fecit iniquus, omnes justitiæ, quas fecit, non erunt in memoria. In C delicto suo, quo excidit, et in peccatis suis, quibus peccavit, morietur.’ [Et ✕ Eze. xxxix. 23. post aliquanta: ✕‘ Et scient omnes gentes, quia propter peccata sua captivi ducti sunt domus Israel; eo quod reliquerunt me. Et averti faciem meam ab eis, et tradidi eos in manus inimicorum ejus, et omnes gladio ceciderunt. Secundum immunditias suas, et secundum iniquitates suas feci illis, et averti faciem meam ab eis.’] Hæc de sanctorum prophetarum minis dixisse sufficiat: pauca tantum de Sapientia Salomonis, quæ [1]adhortationem vel denuntiationem [2]exprimant regibus, non minus quam minas huic opusculo inserere necessarium duxi, ne dicant me gravia et importabilia in humeros hominum verborum onera velle imponere, digito autem meo ea, id est consolatorio affatu, nolle movere. Au-
ϒ Sapi. i. 1. diamus itaque quid propheta dixit. ϒ‘ Diligite,’ inquit, ‘ justitiam, qui judicatis D terram.’ Hoc unum testimonium, si toto corde servaretur, abunde ad corrigendos patriæ duces sufficeret. Nam si dilexissent justitiam, diligerent utique + Sapi. i. 1. fontem quodammodo, et originem totius justitiæ Deum. +‘ Servite Domino in bonitate, et in simplicitate cordis quærite eum.’ Heu quis victurus est, ut quidam ante nos ait, quando ista a civibus perficiantur, si tamen usquam perfici
ⱥ Sapi. i. 2. possunt, ⱥ‘ Quoniam invenitur ab his qui non tentant illum, apparet autem eis qui fidem habent in eum.’ Nam isti sine respectu tentant Deum, cujus præcepta contumaci despectione contemnunt, nec fidem servant illi, cujus oraculis ✕ Sapi. i. 3. blandis vel aliquantulum severis dorsum versant et non faciem. ✕‘ Perversæ enim cogitationes separant a Deo.’ Et hoc in tyrannis nostri temporis perspicue deprehenditur. Sed quid nostra mediocritas huic tam aperto sensui E miscetur? Loquatur namque pro nobis, ut diximus, qui solus verax est, Spiritus ϒ Sapi. i. 5. scilicet Sanctus, de quo nunc dicitur: ϒ‘ Spiritus autem Sanctus disciplinæ effu-+ Sapi. i. 7. giet fictum.’ Et iterum: +‘ Quoniam spiritus Dei replevit orbem terrarum.’
ⱥ Sapi. v. 14. Et infra, finem malorum bonorumque oculato judicio prætendens, ait: ⱥ‘ Quomodo spes impii tanquam lanugo est quæ a vento tollitur, et tanquam fumus qui a vento diffusus est, et tanquam spuma gracilis, quæ a procella dispergitur, et tanquam memoria hospitis unius diei prætereuntis. Justi autem in perpetuum vivent. Et apud Deum est merces illorum, et cogitatio eorum apud Altis-

[1] ad exhortationem B. Joss. [2] exprimit B.

Digitized by Google

A simum. Ideo accipient regnum decoris, et diadema speciei de manu Domini. Quoniam dextera sua proteget eos, et brachio sancto suo defendet illos.' Dissimiles etenim qualitate sunt valde, justi et impii, nimirum, ut dixit Dominus: ‡'Eos, qui honorant,' inquiens, 'me, honorabo: et, qui me spernunt, erunt ignobiles.' [Sed transeamus ad cætera: ×'Audite,' inquit, 'omnes reges et intelligite, discite judices finium terræ, præbete aures vos qui continetis multitudines, et placetis vobis in turbis nationum. Quoniam data est a Deo potestas vobis, et virtus ab Altissimo, qui interrogabit opera vestra, et cogitationes scrutabitur. Quoniam cum essetis ministri regni illius, non recte judicastis, neque custodistis legem justitiæ, neque secundum voluntatem ejus ambulastis: horrende et celeriter apparebit vobis, quoniam judicium durissimum his qui præ-
B sunt fiet. Exiguis enim conceditur misericordia, potentes autem potenter tormenta patientur. Non enim personas subtrahet, qui est omnium dominator: nec reverebitur magnitudinem cujusquam, quoniam pusillum et magnum ipse fecit, et æqualiter cura est illi pro omnibus. Fortioribus autem fortior instat cruciatio.] Ad vos ergo, reges, hi sunt sermones mei, ut discatis sapientiam, et non decidatis. Qui enim custodierint justa, justificabuntur, et qui didicerint sancta, sanctificabuntur.' Hactenus cum regibus patriæ non minus prophetarum oraculis quam nostris sermonibus disceptavimus, volentes eos scire quæ propheta dixerat: ϒ'Quasi,' inquiens, 'a facie colubri fuge peccata: si accesseris ad illa, suscipient te dentes leonis, dentes eorum interficientes animas hominum.' Et iterum: +'Quam magna misericordia Domini, et propitiatio
C ejus convertentibus ad se.' Et si non habemus in nobis illud apostolicum, ut dicamus; ‡'Optabam enim anathema esse a Christo pro fratribus meis,' tamen illud propheticum, toto corde possimus dicere: Heu quia anima perit! Et iterum: ×'Scrutemur vias nostras, et quæramus, et revertamur ad Dominum: levemus corda nostra cum manibus ad Deum in cœlo.' Sed et illud Apostoli: ϒ'Cupimus unumquemque vestrum in visceribus Christi esse.' Quam enim

‡ 1 Sam. ii. 30.
× Sapi. vi. 2.
ϒ Ecclus. xxi. 2.
+ Ecclus. xvii. 29.
‡ Rom. ix. 3.
× Thre. iii. 40.
ϒ Phil. i. 8.

libenter hoc in loco, acsi marinis fluctibus jactatus, et in optato evectus portu remis, si non tantos talesque malitiæ episcoporum vel cæterorum sacerdotum, aut clericorum in nostro quoque ordine erigi adversus DEUM vidissem montes; quos me, secundum legem, ceu testes, primum duris verborum [1]cautibus, dein populum, si tamen sanctionibus inhæret, non ut corporaliter interficiantur, sed
D mortui vitiis, vivant Deo, ne personarum arguar exceptionis, totis necesse est viribus lapidare, verecundia interveniente quiescerem. Sed mihi quæso, ut jam in superioribus dixi, ab his veniam impertiri, quorum vitam non solum laudo, verumetiam cunctis mundi opibus præfero, cujusque me, si fieri possit, ante mortis esse aliquamdiu participem opto et sitio, [2]nostris jam nunc obvallatis sanctorum duobus clipeis [[a]lateribus, invictis, dorso adversitatis mœnia stabilito, capite, pro galea, adjutorio Domini fidissime contecto crebro veracium volatu, vel alitent conviviorum [3]cautes.]

Increpatio in clerum.

[b]SACERDOTES habet Britannia, sed insipientes; quam plurimos ministros, sed impudentes; clericos, sed raptores subdolos; pastores, ut dicuntur,

[1] cutibus B. [2] vestris B. [3] cutes B.

[a] Hæc corrupta videntur; ideoque, ut verisimile est, a Polydoro prætermissa sunt.

[b] 'Acris in sacerdotalem ordinem castigatio minus religiosum, in religione per Romanorum persecutiones, pene extincta, et propterea sacerdotes complures rerum divinarum usu tyrones id temporis fuisse, minus mirum puta. Nam Britanni ab initio statim orti Evangelii, ut autor testatur, veram pietatem digustare cœperunt, ac deinde circiter annum Domini Clxxxij. autore Lucio eorum rege, qui cum Eleutherio Romano Pontifice id egerat, Christiani generatim facti sunt, qui redacti jampridem sub imperium Romanum postea per sævitiam imperatorum, ac in primis Diocletiani, religionem publicitus deserere coacti sunt, ita ut illa in paucis integra remanserit, usque ad annum Salutis DC. cum divus Gregorius omnes æque insulanos ad veram pietatem reducendos, adjungendosque curaverit. Interea igitur pauci recte dogma Christianum retinebant, quos noster Gildas bonos appellat, reliquos vero at præsertim sacerdotes ita per mala temporum, errantes castigat, laboratque, in viam reducere. Ista exponenda hoc loco erant, ut unusquisque sciret Britanniam non genuisse malos sacerdotes, sed hominum crudelitatem, atque impietatem fecisse, quando illa omnium provinciarum prima Christianam religionem recepit, ac omni tempore etiam nunc, populum longe religiosissimum tulit, habetque.' Pol. Verg.

Digitized by Google

sed occisioni animarum lupos paratos, quippe non commoda plebi providentes, A sed proprii plenitudinem ventris quærentes ; Ecclesiæ domus habentes, sed turpis lucri gratia eas adeuntes ; populos docentes, sed præbendo pessima exem-pla, vitia, malosque mores ; raro sacrificantes, et nunquam puro corde inter altaria stantes ; plebem ob peccata non corripientes, nimirum eadem agentes ; præcepta Christi spernentes, et suas libidines votis omnibus implere curantes ; sedem Petri Apostoli immundis pedibus usurpantes, sed merito cupiditatis in Judæ traditoris pestilentem cathedram decidentes ; veritatem pro inimico odientes, et mendaciis acsi charissimis fratribus faventes ; justos inopes immanes quasi angues torvis vultibus conspicantes, et sceleratos divites absque ullo verecundiæ respectu sicut cœlestes angelos venerantes ; egenis eleemosynam esse dandam summis e labiis prædicantes, [1]sed ipsi [2]vel obolum non dantes ; nefanda populi scelera B tacentes, et suas injurias quasi Christo irrogatas amplificantes ; religiosam forte matrem, seu sorores, domo pellentes, et externas veluti secretiori ministerio familiares indecenter [3]levantes, vel potius, ut vera dicam licet inepta non tam mihi quam talia agentibus, humiliantes ; ecclesiasticos post hæc gradus propensius quam regna cœlorum ambientes, et tyrannico ritu acceptos defendentes, nec tamen legitimis moribus illustrantes ; ad præcepta sanctorum, si aliquando duntaxat audierint quæ ab illis sæpissime audienda erant, oscitantes ac stupidos, et ad ludicra et ineptas secularium hominum fabulas, ac si iter [4]viæ, quæ mortis, pandunt, strenuos et intentos ; pinguedinis gratia taurorum more raucos, et ad illicita infœliciter promptos ; vultus arroganter in altum habentes, et sensus, conscientia remordente, ad ima vel Tartarum demersos ; uno sane perdito denario C mœstos, et ad unum inquisitum lætos ; in apostolicis sanctionibus, ob inscitiam vel peccatorum pondus, ora etiam scientium obturantes, hebetes ac mutos, et in flexibus mundialium negotiorum mendacibus doctissimos ; quorum de scelerata conversatione multos sacerdotio irruentes, potius vel illud [5]pene omni pecunia redimentes, quam tractos, et in eodem veteri infaustoque intolerabilium piaculorum cœno, post sacerdotalem episcopatus vel presbyterii sedem, qui nec ibidem [6]usquam sederunt, utpote indigne, porcorum more volutantes, rapto tantum sacerdotali nomine nec tamen tenore, vel apostolica dignitate accepta ; sed qui nondum ad integram fidem sunt vel malorum pœnitentia idonei, quomodo ad quemlibet ecclesiasticum, ut non dicam summum, convenientes et adepti gradum, quem non nisi sancti atque perfecti, et Apostolorum imitatores, et, ut Magistri D gentium ⁂verbis loquar, irreprehensibiles, legitime et absque magno sacrilegii crimine suscipiunt? Quid enim tam impium tamque scelestum est, quam ad similitudinem ✕Simonis Magi, non intervenientibus licet interea promiscuis criminibus, episcopatus officium vel presbyterii terreno pretio, quod sanctitate rec-tisque moribus decentius acquiritur, quempiam velle mercari? Sed in eo isti propensius vel desperatius errant, quo non ab Apostolis vel Apostolorum successoribus, sed a tyrannis et a patre eorum diabolo, fucata et nunquam profutura emunt sacerdotia : quin potius velut culmen tectumque malorum omnium quoddam, [7]quo non facile eis improperentur a quoquam admissa prisca vel nova, et cupiditatis gulæque desideria, [utpote præpositi multorum facilius rapiant,] scelestæ vitæ structuræ superponunt. Nam si talis profecto coemptionis con- E ditio ab impudentibus istis, non dicam apostolo Petro, sed cuilibet sancto sacerdoti pioque regi ingesta fuisset, eadem responsa accepissent, quæ ab apostolo auctor eorundem Magus Simon dicente Petro : ϒ‘ Pecunia tua tecum sit in perditionem.’ Sed forte heu, qui ambitores istos ordinant, imo potius humi-liant, atque pro benedictione maledicunt, dum ex peccatoribus non pœnitentes, quod rectius fuerat, sed sacrilegos et desperatos faciunt, et Judam quodammodo in Petri cathedra Domini traditorem, ac Nicolaum in loco Stephani martyris

⁂ 1 Tim. iii. 2.

✕ Act. viii. 18.

ϒ Act. viii. 20.

[1] nec B. [2] nec B. [3] levigantes B. Joss. [4] vitæ B. [5] deest B. [6] unquam B. [7] deest B.

Digitized by Google

A [1]statuunt [ϒ]immundæ hæresios adinventorem, eodem modo sacerdotio adsciti sunt: [2]et ideo non magnopere detestantur in filiis, quinimo venerantur, quod similiter ut patribus subinde venisse certissimum est. Etenim eos, [3]si in parochiam, resistentibus sibi et tam pretiosum quæstum denegantibus severe commessoribus, hujusmodi margaritam invenire non possint, præmissis ante solicite nuntiis, transnavigare maria, terrasque spatiosas transmeare non tam piget quam delectat, ut omnino talis species inæquiparabilisque pulchritudo, et, ut verius dicam, diabolica illusio, vel venditis omnibus copiis, comparetur. Dein cum magno apparatu magnaque phantasia, vel potius insania repedantes ad patriam, ex erecto erectiorem incessum pingunt, et dudum summitates montium conspicantes, nunc recte ad æthera vel ad summa nubium vellera, luminum
B semidormitantes acies librant, ac sese, nova quædam plasmata, imo diabolica organa, ut quondam [+]Novatus Romæ, dominicæ mulctator margaritæ porcus niger, patriæ ingerunt, violenter manus non tam venerabilibus aris quam flammis inferni ultricibus dignas, in tali [4]schema positi, sacrosanctis Christi sacrificiis extensuri. Quid tu infœlix populе, a talibus, ut dixit Apostolus, [ϰ]bestiis ventris præstolaris? His ne corrigeris, qui seipsos non modo ad bona non invitant, sed secundum prophetæ exprobrationem [×]laborant ut inique agant? Talibus ne oculis illustraberis, qui hæc tantum avide speculantur, quæ proclive vitiis, id est, Tartari portis, ducant? Vel certe secundum Salvatoris dictum, si non istos [ϒ]rapacissimos ut Arabiæ lupos, [+]acsi Loth ad montem, igneum Sodomorum imbrem præpropere fugeritis, [ϰ]cæci educti a cæcis pariter in inferni foveam cadetis. Sed forsitan
C aliquis dicat, non ita omnes episcopi [5]vel presbyteri ut superius comprehensi, quia non scismatis, non superbiæ, non immunditiæ infamia maculantur, mali sunt; quod nec vehementer et nos diffitemur. Sed licet sciamus eos castos esse et bonos, breviter tamen respondebimus. [×]Quid profuit Heli sacerdoti, quod solus non violaverit præcepta Domini, rapiendo in fuscinulis antequam adeps Domino offerretur ex ollis carnes, [ϒ]dum eadem mortis ira, qua filii sunt, mulctatur? [+]Quis rogo eorum, ob invidiam melioris hostiæ [6]cœlestique igni in cœlis evectæ, ut Abel, occisus? qui etiam mediocris verbi aspernantur convitium. [ϰ]Quis perosus est consilium malignantium, et cum impiis non sedit, [7]ita ut de eo veridice quasi de Enoch diceretur: [×]'Ambulavit Enoch cum Deo et non inveniebatur,' in mundi scilicet vanitate omnis post idola proclive id tem-
D poris claudicare, relicto Deo, insipientis? Quis eorum, salutari in arca, hoc est, nunc Ecclesia, nullum Deo adversantem, [ϒ]ut Noe diluvii tempore, non admisit, ut perspicue monstraretur non nisi innoxios vel pœnitentes [8]egregios in dominica domo esse debere? [+]Quis victoribus solum, et in tricentenario numero, hoc est Trinitatis sacramento, liberato justo regum quinque, victriciumque turmarum exercitus ferales vincentibus, et nequaquam aliena cupientibus sacrificium offerens, ut Melchisedech, benedixit? [ϰ]Quis sponte proprium in altari capite cædendum, ut Abraham Deo jubente, obtulit filium, ut simile quoddam huic impleret Christi mandatum dicentis, [×]oculum dextrum scandalizantem evelli debere, et prophetæ præcaveret, [ϒ9]se maledictum esse gladium et sanguinem prohibentem? [+]Quis memoriam malefacti de corde radicitus, ut Joseph, evulsit?
E [ϰ]Quis in monte cum Domino locutus, et nequaquam concrepantibus tubis exinde perterritus, [×]duas tabulas cornutamque faciem aspectu incredulis inhabilem et horrendam tropico sensu, ut Moyses, advexit? Quis eorum, pro peccatis populi exorans, imo de pectore clamavit, ut ipse, [ϒ]'Domine,' inquiens, 'peccavit populus iste peccatum grande, quod si dimittis eis, dimitte: alioquin dele me de libro tuo?' [[+]Quis zelo Dei accensus mirabili, ad ultionem fornicationis sine dilatione, sanando pœnitentiæ medicamine stupri affectum, ne ira populo inardesceret, sicut Phinees sacerdos, ut per hoc in ævo reputaretur illi justitia, ϒ Euseb. E.H. iii. 29.

+ Euseb. E.H. vi. 33.

ϰ Tit. i. 12.

× Jer. ix. 5.

ϒ Mat. vii. 15.

+ Gen. xix. 20.

ϰ Mat. xv. 14.

× 1 Sam. ii. 11. 23. iii. 12.

ϒ 1 Sam. iv. 11.

+ Gen. iv. 8.

ϰ Psalm xxvi. 5.

× Gen. v. 24. Enoch.

ϒ Gen. vii. 7. Noe.

Abraham.

+ Gen. xiv. 9.

Melchisedech.

ϰ Gen. xxii. 1.

× Mat. v. 29.

ϒ Jer. xlviii. 10.

+ Gen. l. 15.

ϰ Exod. xix. 16.

× Exod. xxxiv. 29.

Moses.

ϒ Exod. xxxii. 32.

+ Num. xxv. 7.

Phinees.

[1] faciunt B. [2] desunt B. [3] deest B. [4] scena B. [5] seu B. [6] cœlestæque regni B. [7] deest B. [8] deest B. [9] deest B.

Digitized by Google

ᴧ Psalm. cvi. 30. × Jos. xxiv. 11.

ᴧ strenue consurrexit? × Quis vero eorum, vel in extirpationem usque ad internecionem de terra repromissionis septem gentium morali intelligentia, vel ad constabilitionem spiritualis Israel, pro eis Jesum Nave imitatus est? Quis eorum, populo Dei finales terminos trans Jordanem, ut sciretur quid cuique tribui conveniat, sicut supradicti Phinees scilicet et Jesus sagaciter divisere, ostendit? ϒ Quis, ut adversariorum plebi Dei innumera prosterneret gentium millia, + unicam filiam, quæ propria voluptas intelligitur, imitans et in hoc Apostolum dicentem: ᴧ 'Non quærens quod mihi utile est, sed quod multis, ut salvi fiant,' obviantem victoribus cum tympanis et choris, id est, carnalibus desideriis, in sacrificium votivæ placationis, ut Jepthe, mactavit? Quis eorum, ad conturbanda, fuganda, sternendaque × superbarum gentium castra, mysterii Trinitatis, ut supradiximus, ϒ cum lagenas viris tenentibus egregias in manibus sonantesque tubas, id est propheticos et apostolicos sensus, ut dixit Dominus prophetæ: + 'Exalta quasi tuba vocem tuam:' et Psalmista de Apostolis: ᴧ 'In omnem terram exivit sonus eorum,' et × lagenas splendidissimo ignis lumine noctu coruscantes, quæ accipiuntur in sanctorum corporibus bonis operibus annexis, et Sancti Spiritus igni ardentibus, ut Apostolus, ϒ habentes, inquit, thesaurum istum in vasis fictilibus, post + idolatriæ luci, quod moraliter interpretatum, [1] condensæ et fuscæ cupiditatis, succisionem silvæ, et ᴧ evidentia signa Judaici velleris, imbris cœlestis expertis, et gentilis, rore Sancti Spiritus madefacti, fide non dubia, ut × Gedeon, [2] processit? Quis eorum, ϒ mori exoptans mundo et vivere Christo, + luxuriosos gentium convivas laudantes, ᴧ Deos suos, id est, sensus extollentes divitias, ut Apostolus, × et avaritia, inquit, quæ est simulachrorum servitus, ϒ concussis duabus virtute brachiorum columnis, quæ intelliguntur in voluptatibus nequam animæ carnisque, quibus domus humanæ omnis nequitiæ quodammodo pangitur ac [3] fulcimentatur, tam innumerabiles, ut Sampson, prostravit? Quis orationibus, + holocaustoque lactantis agni Philistinorum metum depellens, ᴧ insperatas tonitruorum voces nubiumque imbres concitans, × absque adulatione regem constituens, ϒ eundem Deo non placentem abjiciens, + uncto pro illo meliore in [4] regno, ut Samuel, valedicturus populo astabit hoc modo dicens: ᴧ 'Ecce præsto sum, loquimini coram Domino et Christo ejus, utrum bovem cujusquam tulerim, an asinum, si quempiam calumniatus sum, si oppressi aliquem, si de manu cujusquam munus accepi?' Cui a populo responsum est dicente: × 'Non es calumniatus nos, neque oppressisti, neque tulisti de manu alicujus quippiam.' Quis eorum, ϒ igne cœlesti centum superbos exurens, + quinquaginta humiles servans, ᴧ et absque adulationis fuco, non Deum per prophetas sed × idolum Accaron consulenti, mortem imminentem iniquo regi annuncians, ϒ omnes prophetas simulachri Baal, qui interpretati accipiuntur sensus humani, invidiæ, avaritiæ, ut jam diximus, semper intenti, mucrone corusco, hoc est verbo Dei, ut Helias egregius vates, prostravit, et zelo Dei commotus, iniquorum terræ + imbres adimens ætherales, ac si fortissimo penurii clustello ᴧ tribus annis sexque mensibus obseratos, fame, siti moribundus in deserto conquestus est: × 'Domine,' inquiens, 'prophetas tuos occiderunt, et altaria tua suffoderunt, et ego relictus sum solus, et quærunt animam meam?' Quis eorum, ϒ charissimum discipulum terrenis extra solitum ponderibus oneratum, + quæ ante ea a se magnopere licet rogato ut acciperet despecta fuissent, etsi non ᴧ perpetua lepra, ut Helisæus, saltim expulsione mulctavit? Et quis ex illis, × puero in vitæ desperatione æstuanti, atque improviso super bellico hostium apparatu civitatem, in qua erant, obsidentium tremefacto, inter nos, ut ille ϒ animæ visus, ferventi exoratione ad Deum facta, ita ut intueri poterit auxiliarium cœlestis exercitus, armatorum curruum, ceu equitum ignito vultu fulgentium, montem plenum, patefecit, et + credere quin fortior esset ad salvandum quam inimici ad pugnandum? ᴧ Et quis eorum, corporis tactu, mortui scilicet mundo, viventis autem Deo, × alii diverso funere occubanti, proculdubio mortuo

Jesus.

Phinees.

ϒ Jud. xi. 29. + Jud. xi. 34.

ᴧ 1 Cor. x. 33.

Jepthe.

Gedeon. × Jud. vii. 6.

ϒ Jud. vii. 16. 20.

+ Esa. lviii. 1.

ᴧ Psalm. xix. 4.

× Jud. vii. 16. 20.

ϒ 2 Cor. iv. 7.

+ Jud. vi. 25.

ᴧ Jud. vi. 37.

× Jud. vii. 1.

ϒ Phil. i. 23. + Jud. xvi. 23. ᴧ Jud. xvi. 24. × Col. iii. 5. ϒ Jud. xvi. 30.

Samson. + 1 Sam. vii. 9. ᴧ 1 Sam. xii. 17. × 1 Sam. x. 1. 17. ϒ 1 Sam. xiii. 14. xv. 28. + 1 Sam. xvi. 13. ᴧ 1 Sam. xii. 3. × 1 Sam. xii. 4.

Helias. ϒ 2 Reg. i. 9. 11. + 2 Reg. i. 13. ᴧ 1 Reg. xvi. 18. × 2 Reg. i. 16. ϒ 1 Reg. xviii. 40. + 1 Reg. xvii. 1. ᴧ Jac. v. 17. × 1 Reg. xix. 10. ϒ 2 Reg. v. 23. + 2 Reg. v. 16. ᴧ 2 Reg. v. 27.

Helisæus. × 2 Reg. vi. 15. ϒ 2 Reg. vi. 17. + 2 Reg. vi. 16. ᴧ 2 Reg. iv. 34. × 2 Reg. iv. 20.

[1] est densæ B. [2] cessit B. [3] fulmentatur B. [4] regnum B.

Digitized by Google

A Deo, vitiis vero viventi, quasi supradictus, proficiet, ita ut statim prosiliens Christo grates pro sanitate agat cunctorum pene mortalium ore desperata? Cujus eorum, ^carbone ignito de altari forcipe cherubin advecto, ut peccata sua delerentur humilitate confessionis, ×labia, ut Esaiæ, mundata sunt; et ˅efficaci oratione sibi adjuncta +pii regis Ezechiæ, supplantatione ^centum octoginta quinque millia exercitus Assyriorum, nullo apparente vulneris vestigio, ×angeli manu, ut supradicti, prostrata sunt? Quis eorum, ˅ob præcepta Dei, et minas cœlitus datas, veritatemque vel non audientibus proferendam, +squalores pædoresque carcerum, ut ^momentaneas mortes, ut beatus Jeremias excepit? Et ne multa: Quis eorum, ut Magister gentium dixit, ×errare in montibus, et in speluncis, et in cavernis terræ, ˅lapidari, secari, totius mortis genere pro nomine Domini

B attentari, sicut sancti prophetæ, [1]perpessus est'? Sed quid immoramur in exemplis veteribus, acsi non essent in [2]novo ulla? Audiant itaque nos, qui absque ullo labore angustum hoc iter Christianæ religionis, prætento [3]tantum sacerdotali nomine, intrare se putant, carpentes paucos flores, veluti summos de extento sanctorum novi Testamenti tyronum amœnoque prato.] Quis vestrum, qui torpetis potius quam sedetis legitime in sacerdotali sede, ejectus de consilio impiorum, +post diversarum plagas virgarum, ut sancti Apostoli, ^quod dignus habitus est pro Christo vero Deo contumeliam pati, [toto corde Trinitati gratias egit? Quis, ob testimonium verum Deo ferendum, ×fullonis vecte cerebro percussus, ut Jacobus primus, in novo duntaxat episcopus Testamento, corporaliter interiit? Quis gladio vestrum, ab iniquo principe, ut ˅Jacobus Joannis frater, capite cæsus est? +Quis, ut

C prothominister martyrque evangelicus, hoc solum criminis habens, quod ^viderit Deum quem perfidi videre nequiverant, nefandis manibus lapidatus est? Quis, inversis pedibus crucis affixus pro reverentia Christi patibulo, quem non minus morte quam vita honoraturus, ut clavicularius ille cœlorum regni idoneus, extremum halitum fudit?] Quis ex vobis, gladii ictu veridicantis, pro confessione Christi, ×post vincula, carceris naufragia, amarum virgarum cædem, post flumi-

Esaia.
^ Esai. vi. 6.
× Esai. vi. 7.
˅ 2 Reg. xix. 1. 14.
+ Esai. xxxvii. 1. 15.
^ Esai. xxxvii. 36.
× 2 Reg. xix. 35.
˅ Jer. i. 17.
+ Jer. xx. 2. xxxii. 2. xxxvii. 15. xxxviii. 6.
^ Jer. xxvi. 8. 14.
× Heb. xi. 38.
˅ Heb. xi. 37.
+ Act. xvi. 23.
^ Act. v. 41.
Jacobus primus.
× Euseb. E. H. ii. 23.
˅ Act. xii. 2.
+ Act. vii. 57.
^ Act. vii. 55.
Petrus.
Paulus.
× 2 Cor. xi. 23.

num, latronum, gentium, Judæorum, pseudoapostolorum continua pericula; post famis, jejunii, vigiliarum labores; post perpetem solicitudinem omnium Ecclesiarum; post æstum pro scandalizantibus; post infirmitatem pro infirmis; post admirabilem prædicando Christi Evangelium orbis pene circuitum, ut vas electionis Magisterque gentium electus, capite plexus est? Quis vestrum, ut sanctus

D martyr Ignatius Antiochiæ urbis episcopus, post admirabiles in Christo actus, ob testimonium ejus, leonum molis Romæ confractus est? [4]cujus verba cum ad passionem duceretur audientes, si aliquando vultus vestri rubore [5]suffusi sunt, non solum in comparatione ejus vos non putabitis sacerdotes, sed ne mediocres quidem Christianos esse. Ait enim in Epistola quam ad Romanam Ecclesiam misit: ˅'A Syria usque Romam cum bestiis terra marique depugno, die ac nocte connexus et colligatus decem leopardis, militibus dico, ad custodiam datis, qui ex beneficiis nostris sæviores fiunt. Sed ego eorum nequitiis magis erudior: nec tamen in hoc justificatus sum. O salutares bestias, quæ præparantur mihi, quando venient? quando emittentur? quando eis frui licebit carnibus meis? quas ego exopto acriores parari, et invitabo ad devorationem mei,

E et deprecabor ne forte, ut in nonnullis fecerunt, timeant attingere corpus meum: quinimo, et si cunctabuntur, ego vim faciam, ego me ingeram. Date, quæso, veniam, ego novi quid expediat mihi: nunc incipio esse Christi discipulus: facessat invidia vel humani affectus, vel nequitiæ spiritualis, ut in Jesum Christum adipisci merear ignes, cruces, bestias, dispersiones ossium, discerptionesque membrorum; ac totius corporis pœnæ, et omnia in me unum supplicia diaboli arte quæsita complentur, dummodo Jesum Christum merear adipisci.' Quid ad hæc dormitantibus animæ oculis aspicitis? Quid talia surdis sensuum auribus auscultatis? Discutite, quæso, tenebrosam atramque cordis vestri caliginem

Ignatius.
˅ Euseb. E.H. iii. 36.

[1]˅ perpessi sunt B. [2] nova B. [3] tanto B. [4] quæ B. [5] confusi B.

Digitized by Google

[1]temporis, ut veritatis et humilitatis præfulgidum lumen videre possitis. Christianus non mediocris sed perfectus, sacerdos non vilis sed summus, martyr non segnis sed præcipuus dicit: 'Nunc incipio esse Christi discipulus.' Et vos, acsi ⁂Lucifer ille de cœlo projectus, verbis non potestate erigimini, et quodammodo sub dente ruminatis et gestibus prætenditis, quæ antea actor vester depinxerat: ×'In cœlum,' inquiens, 'conscendam, et ero similis Altissimo.' Et iterum: ϒ'Ego fodi, et bibi aquam, et exsiccavi vestigio pedum meorum omnes rivos aggerum.' Multo rectius oportebat vos imitari Illum et audire, qui totius bonitatis et humilitatis vere invictum exemplar est, dicentem per prophetam: +'Ego autem sum vermis et non homo, opprobrium hominum et abjectio plebis.' O mirabile quoddam, dixisse eum opprobrium hominum, cum omnis mundi opprobria deleverit: [et iterum in Evangelio: ⁂'Non possum ego a me ipso facere quicquam,' cum ipse coævus Patri ac Spiritui Sancto, communis ejusdemque substantiæ, cœlum et terram cum omni eorum inæstimabili ornamento fecerit, non alterius sed propria potestate; et vos arroganter verba exaltasse, propheta dicente: ×'[2]Quid superbit, terra et cinis?' Sed] ad propositum [3]revertar. Quis inquam ex vobis, ut Smyrnensis ecclesiæ pastor egregius Polycarpus Christi testis, ϒmensam humane hospitibus ad ignem eum avide trahentibus apposuit, et objectus flammis pro Christi charitate, dixit: 'Qui dedit mihi ignis ferre supplicium, dabit, ut sine clavorum confixione flammas immobiliter perferam.' Unum adhuc, præter magnam verbis volans sanctorum silvam, exempli gratia ponam Basilium, scilicet Cesariensem episcopum, qui cum ab iniquo principe minæ hujuscemodi intentarentur, quod, nisi in crastinum Arriano cœno ut cæteri, macularetur, esset omnino moriturus, dixisse fertur: +'Ego sane ero cras qui hodie sum, tu te utinam non mutares.' Et iterum: 'Utinam haberem aliquid digni muneris, quod offerrem huic, qui maturius Basilium de nodo follis hujus absolveret.' Quis ex vobis apostolici sermonis regulam, quæ ab omnibus semper sanctis sacerdotibus quibusque temporibus extantibus, humanam suggestionem præcipitanter ad nequitiam festinantem recutientibus servata est, in concussione tyrannorum indirupte *custodiunt, hoc modo dicens: ⁂'Obedire oportet magis Deo quam hominibus?' Igitur confugientes solito more ad Domini misericordiam sanctorumque prophetarum ejus voces, ut illi pro nobis oraculorum suorum jacula imperfectis pastoribus, ut antea tyrannis, queis compuncti sanentur, librent, videamus quid Dominus [4]per prophetas ad desides et inhonestos sacerdotes, et non bene populum tam exempla quam verba docentes, minarum loquatur. Nam et Heli ille sacerdos in Silo pro eo quod non digno Deo zelo severe in filios contemnentes Deum ultus fuerat, sed molliter et clementer, utpote paterno affectu, admonuerat, tali animadversione damnatur, dicente ad eum propheta: ×'Hæc dicit Dominus: Manifeste ostendi me ad domum patris tui, cum essent in Ægypto servientes Pharaonis, et elegi domum patris tui ex omnibus tribubus Israel mihi in sacerdotio.' Et post pauca: ϒ'Quare respexisti in incensum meum, et in sacrificium meum improbo oculo? et honorificasti filios tuos plusquam me, ut benediceres eos a primordio in omnibus sacrificiis coram me? +Et nunc sic dicit Dominus: Quoniam qui honorificant me, honorabo eos: et qui pro nihilo habent me, ad nihilum redigentur. ⁂Ecce dies venient, et disperdam nomen tuum, et semen domus patris tui. ×Et hoc tibi signum sit, quod veniet super duos filios tuos Ophni et Phinees; in uno die morientur ambo in gladio virorum.' Si hæc itaque patiuntur, qui verbis tantum subjectos, et non condigna ultione emendant, quid ipsis fiet, qui ad mala hortantur peccando et trahunt? [Quid illi quoque perspicuum est vero vati, post expletionem signi ab eodem prædicti, et restitutionem aridæ manus impio regi, misso a Judæa prophetare in Bethel, prohibitoque ne quid ibidem cibi gustaret, ac decepto ab alio, ut [5]dicebatur, propheta,

* custodivit.
⁂ Act. v. 29.
⁂ Esai. xiv. 12.
× Esai. xiv. 14.
ϒ Esai. xxxvii. 25.
+ Psalm. xxii. 6.
⁂ Joan. v. 30.
× Ecclus. x. 9.
Polycarpus.
ϒ Euseb. E.H. iv. 15.
Basilius.
+ Ruffin. H.E. ix. 9.
× 1 Sam. ii. 28.
ϒ 1 Sam. ii. 29.
+ 1 Sam. ii. 30.
⁂ 1 Sam. ii. 31.
× 1 Sam. ii. 34.

[1] teporis Joss. [2] quo B. [3] revertatur B. [4] desunt B. [5] dicit B.

Digitized by Google

A ut parum quid panis et aquæ sumeret, obtigit, dicente ad eum suo hospite: ⁂ Hæc dicit Dominus Deus: Quia inobediens fuisti ori Domini, et non custodisti mandatum quod præcepit Dominus Deus tuus, et reversus es, et comedisti panem, et bibisti aquam in hoc loco, in quo mandaveram tibi, ne manducares panem nec biberes aquam; non ponetur corpus tuum in sepulchro patrum tuorum. Et factum est,' inquit, 'postquam manducavit panem et bibit aquam, stravit sibi asinam suam et abiit; et invenit eum leo in via, et occidit eum?'] Esaiam quoque sanctum prophetam de sacerdotibus hoc modo loquentem audite: × Væ impio in malum, retributio enim manuum ejus fiet ei. Populum meum exactores sui spoliaverunt, et mulieres dominatæ sunt ejus. Popule meus, qui beatum te dicunt, ipsi te decipiunt, et viam gressuum tuorum dissipant. Stat
B ad judicandum Dominus, et stat ad judicandos populos. Dominus ad judicium veniet cum senibus populi sui et principibus ejus. Vos depasti estis vineam meam, rapina pauperis in domo vestra. Quare atteritis populum meum, et facies pauperum commolitis, dicit Dominus exercituum?' Et item: ϒ Væ qui condunt leges iniquas, et scribentes injustitiam scripserunt, ut opprimerent in judicio pauperes, et vim facerent causæ humilium populi mei, ut essent viduæ præda eorum, et pupillos diriperent. Quid facietis in die visitationis et calamitatis de longe venientis?' Et infra: + Verum hi quoque præ vino nescierunt, et præ ebrietate erraverunt, sacerdotes nescierunt præ ebrietate, absorpti sunt a vino, erraverunt in ebrietate, nescierunt videntem, ignoraverunt judicium. Omnes enim mensæ repletæ sunt vomitu sordium, ita ut non esset ultra locus.'
C ⁂ Propterea audite verbum Domini viri illusores, qui dominamini super populum meum, qui est in Jerusalem. Dixistis enim: Percussimus fœdus cum morte, et cum inferno fecimus pactum. Flagellum inundans cum transierit non veniet super nos, quia posuimus mendacium spem nostram, et mendacio protecti sumus.' Et post aliquanta: × Et subvertet grando spem mendacii, et protectionem. Aquæ inundabunt, et delebitur fœdus vestrum cum morte, et pactum vestrum cum inferno non stabit: flagellum inundans cum transierit, eritis et in conculcationem: quandocunque pertransierit, tollet vos.' Et iterum: ϒ Et dixit Dominus: Eo quod appropinquat populus iste ore suo, et labiis glorificant me, cor autem eorum longe est a me: +ideo ecce ego addam ut admirationem faciam populo huic, miraculo grandi et stupendo. Peribit enim sapientia a sapientibus ejus, et intel-
D lectus prudentium ejus abscondetur. [Væ qui profundi estis corde, ut a Domino abscondatis consilium, quorum sunt in tenebris opera, et dicunt: Quis videt nos? et quis novit nos? Perversa enim hæc vestra cogitatio.' Et post aliquanta: ⁂ Hæc dicit Dominus: Cœlum sedes mea, et terra scabellum pedum meorum est. Quæ ista est domus quam ædificabitis mihi, et quis erit locus quietis meæ? Omnia hæc manus mea fecit, et facta sunt universa ista, dicit Dominus. Ad quem autem aspiciam, nisi ad pauperculum et contritum spiritu et trementem sermones meos? Qui immolat bovem, quasi qui interficiat virum: qui mactat pecus, quasi qui excerebret canem: qui offert oblationem, quasi qui sanguinem suillum offerat: qui recordatur thuris, quasi qui benedicat idolo. Hæc omnia elegerunt in viis suis, et in abominationibus suis anima eorum delectata est.']
E Jeremias quoque virgo prophetaque quid insipientibus loquatur pastoribus, attendite: × Hæc dicit Dominus: Quid invenerunt patres vestri in me iniquitatis, quia elongaverunt a me, et ambulaverunt post vanitatem, et vani facti sunt?' Et paulo post: ϒ Et ingressi contaminastis terram meam, et hæreditatem meam posuistis in abominationem. Sacerdotes non dixerunt, ubi est Dominus? Et tenentes legem nescierunt me, et pastores prævaricati sunt in me. + Propterea adhuc judicio contendam vobiscum, ait Dominus, et cum filiis vestris disceptabo.' Item post aliquanta: ⁂ Stupor et mirabilia facta sunt in terra: prophetæ prædicabant mendacium, et sacerdotes applaudebant manibus suis, et populus meus dilexit talia. Quid igitur fiet in novissimis ejus?' × Cui loquar et contestabor, ut audiat? Ecce incircumcisæ aures eorum, et audire

⁂ 1 Reg. xiii. 21.

× Esai. iii. 11.

ϒ Esai. x. 1.

+ Esai. xxviii. 7.

⁂ Esai. xxviii. 14.

× Esai. xxviii. 17.

ϒ Esai. xxix. 13.

+ Esai. xxix. 14.

⁂ Esai. lxvi. 1.

× Jer. ii. 5.

ϒ Jer. ii. 7.

+ Jer. ii. 9.

⁂ Jer. v. 30.

× Jer. vi. 10.

Digitized by Google

non possunt. Ecce verbum Domini factum est illis in opprobrium, et non susA ⱶ Jer. vi. 12. cipiunt illud: ⱶquia extendam manum meam super habitantes terram, dicit Dominus. A minore quippe usque ad majorem omnes avaritiæ student, et a propheta usque ad sacerdotem cuncti faciunt dolum. [Et curabant contritionem filiæ populi mei cum ignominia dicentes, pax, pax, et non erit pax. Confusi sunt, qui abominationem fecerunt. Quin potius confusione non sunt confusi, et erubescere nescierunt. Quamobrem cadent inter ruentes, in tempore visita-
* Jer. vi. 28. tionis eorum corruent, dicit Dominus.' Et iterum: *'Omnes isti principes declinantium, ambulantes fraudulenter, æs et ferrum, universi corrupti sunt, defecit sufflatorium in igne, frustra conflavit conflator, malitiæ autem eorum non sunt consumptæ, argentum reprobum vocate eos, quia Dominus projecit ϒ Jer. vii. 11. illos.' Et post pauca: ϒ'Ego sum, Ego sum: Ego vidi dicit Dominus. Ite ad B locum meum in Silo, ubi habitavit nomen meum a principio: et videte quæ fecerim ei propter malitiam populi mei Israel. Et nunc quia fecistis omnia opera hæc, dicit Dominus: Et locutus sum ad vos mane consurgens et loquens et non audistis, et vocavi vos et non respondistis. Faciam domui huic in qua invocatum est nomen meum, et in qua vos habetis fiduciam: et loco quem dedi vobis et patribus vestris, sicut feci Silo, et projiciam vos a facie mea.' Et + Jer. x. 20. iterum: +'Filii mei exierunt a me, et non subsistunt: et non est qui extendat ultra tentorium meum, et erigat pelles meas: quia stulte egerunt pastores, et Dominum non quæsierunt. Propterea non intellexerunt, et grex eorum disⱶ Jer. xi. 15. persus est.' Et post aliquanta: ⱶ'Quid est quod dilectus meus in domo mea facit scelera multa? Nunquid carnes sanctæ auferent a te malitias tuas, in C quibus gloriata es? Olivam uberem, pulchram, fructiferam, speciosam vocabit Dominus nomen tuum. Ad vocem loquelæ, grandis exarsit ignis in ea, et com-
* Jer. xii. 9. busta sunt fruteta ejus.' Et iterum: *'Venite, congregamini omnes bestiæ terræ, properate ad devorandum. Pastores multi demoliti sunt vineam meam, [1]conculcaverunt partem meam,' dederunt portionem meam desiderabilem in ϒ Jer. xiv. 10. desertum solitudinis.' Itemque loquitur: ϒ'Hæc dicit Dominus populo huic, qui dilexit movere pedes suos, et non quievit, et Domino non placuit. Nunc record-
+ Jer. xiv. 13. abitur iniquitatum eorum, et visitabit peccata illorum. +Prophetæ dicunt eis: Non videbitis gladium, et fames non erit in vobis, sed pacem veram dabit Dominus vobis in loco isto. Et dixit Dominus ad me: Falso prophetæ vaticinantur in nomine meo, non misi eos et non præcepi eis, visionem mendacem et divina- D tionem et fraudulentiam et seductionem cordis sui prophetant vobis. Ideo hæc dicit Dominus: In gladio et fame consumentur prophetæ illi: et populi, quibus prophetaverunt, projecti erunt in viis Jerusalem præ fame et gladio, et non erit ⱶ Jer. xxiii. 1. qui sepeliat.' Et iterum: ⱶ'Væ pastoribus, qui disperdunt et dilacerant gregem pascuæ meæ, dicit Dominus. Ideo hæc dicit Dominus Deus Israel ad pastores qui pascunt populum meum: Vos dispersistis gregem meum, et ejecistis eos, et non visitastis illos. Ecce, ego visitabo super vos malitiam studiorum vestro-
* Jer. xxiii 11. rum, dicit Dominus. *Propheta namque et sacerdos polluti sunt, et in domo mea inveni malum eorum, dicit Dominus: et idcirco via eorum erit quasi lubricum in tenebris, impellentur enim et corruent in ea, afferam enim super eos mala, annum visitationis eorum, dicit Dominus. Et in prophetis Samariæ E vidi fatuitatem, et prophetabant in Baal, et decipiebant populum meum Israel. Et in prophetis Jerusalem vidi similitudinem, adulterium, et iter mendacii: et confortaverunt manus pessimorum, ut non converteretur unusquisque a malitia sua: facti sunt mihi omnes Sodoma, et habitatores ejus quasi Gomorrah. Propterea hæc dicit Dominus ad prophetas: Ecce ego cibabo eos absinthio, et potabo eos felle. A prophetis enim Jerusalem est egressa pollutio super omnem terram. Hæc dicit Dominus exercituum: Nolite audire verba prophetarum, qui prophetant vobis, et decipiunt vos: visionem enim cordis sui loquuntur, non de

[1] B. Joss. desunt, Ed. Gale.

Digitized by Google

A ore Domini. Dicunt enim his, qui me blasphemant, locutus est Dominus ; Pax erit vobis : et omnibus, qui ambulant in pravitate cordis sui, dixerunt : Non veniet super eos malum. Quis enim affuit in consilio Domini, et vidit et audivit sermonem ejus ? Quis consideravit verbum illius et audivit ? Ecce, turbo Dominicæ indignationis egreditur, et tempestas erumpens super caput impiorum veniet : non revertetur furor Domini usque dum faciat, et usque dum compleat cogitationem cordis sui. In novissimis diebus intelligetis consilium ejus.' Parum namque cogitatis vel facitis ; quod] sanctus quoque Joel monens inertes sacerdotes, ac deflens detrimentum populi pro iniquitatibus eorum edixit : [+]'Expergiscimini qui estis ebrii a vino vestro, et plorate et lamentamini omnes qui bibitis vinum in ebrietatem, quia ablata est ab ore vestro jucunditas et gau-
B dium. [^]Lugete sacerdotes, qui deservitis altari, quia miseri facti sunt campi. [×]Lugeat terra, quia miserum factum est frumentum, et siccatum est vinum, diminutum est oleum, aruerunt agricolæ. [Lugete possessiones pro tritico et hordeo, quia periit vindemia ex agro, vitis arefacta est, ficus diminutæ sunt : granata, et palma, et malum, et omnia ligna agri arefacta sunt, quoniam confuderunt gaudium filii hominum.' Quæ omnia spiritualiter intelligenda erunt vobis, ne tam pestilenti fame verbi Dei animæ vestræ arescerent.] Et iterum : [ϒ]'Flete sacerdotes, qui deservitis Domino, dicentes : Parce Domine populo tuo, et ne des hæreditatem tuam in opprobrium, et ne dominentur eorum gentes, uti ne dicant gentes, ubi est Deus eorum.' Sed hæc vos nequaquam auditis, sed omnia, quibus propensius divini furoris indignatio inardescat, admittitis.
C Quid etiam sanctus Osee propheta sacerdotibus vestri moduli dixerit, signanter attendite : [+]'Audite hæc sacerdotes, et intendat domus Israel et domus regis, infigite auribus vestris, quoniam ad vos est judicium, quia laqueus facti estis Speculationi, et velut reticulum extensum [super [^]Itaburium quod indagatores venationis confixerunt.]' Vobis etiam a Domino alienatio hujuscemodi intendatur per prophetam Amos dicentem : [×]'Odio habui et repuli dies festos vestros, et non accipiam odorem in solennibus conventionibus vestris, quia etsi obtuleritis holocaustomata et hostias vestras, non accipiam ea. [Et salutare declarationis vestræ non aspiciam. Transfer a me sonum cantionum tuarum, et psalmum organorum tuorum non audiam.' Famis etenim Evangelici cibi, culina ipsa vestræ animæ viscera excomedens grassatur in vobis, sicut supradictus propheta
D prædixit. [ϒ]'Ecce,' inquiens, 'dies veniunt, dicit Dominus, et emittam famem in terram, non famem panis, neque sitim aquæ, sed famem in audiendo verbum Dei, et movebuntur aquæ a mari usque ad mare, et ab Aquilone usque ad Orientem percurrent quærentes verbum Domini, et non invenient.'] Auribus quoque percipite sanctum Micheam, acsi cœlestem quandam tubam adversus subdolos populi principes concisius personantem : [+]'Audite nunc,' inquiens, 'principes domus Jacob, nonne vobis est ut cognoscatis judicium odientibus bona, et quærentibus maligna, rapientibus pelles eorum ab eis, et carnes eorum ab ossibus eorum ? Quemadmodum comederunt carnes plebis meæ, et pelles eorum ab eis excoriaverunt, ossa eorum confregerunt, et laniaverunt quasi carnes in olla ; succlamabunt ad Deum et non exaudiet eos, et avertet
E faciem suam ab eis in illo tempore, propter quod malitiose gesserunt in adinventionibus suis super ipsos. [Hæc dicit Dominus super prophetas qui seducunt populum meum, qui mordent dentibus suis, et prædicant in eum pacem, et non est data in os eorum : excitavi in eum bellum. Propterea nox erit vobis ex visione, et tenebræ vobis erunt ex divinatione, et occidet sol super prophetas, et contenebrescet super eos dies, et confundentur videntes somnia, et deridebuntur divini, et obtrectabunt adversus omnes ipsi : quoniam non erit qui exaudiat eos, si non ego implevero fortitudinem in spiritu Domini et judicio et potestate, ut annuntiem domui Jacob impietates suas, et Israel peccata sua. Audite hæc itaque duces domus Jacob, et residui domus Israel, qui abominamini judicium, et omnia recta pervertitis, qui ædificatis Sion in sanguine, et

+ Joel. i. 5.
^ Joel i. 13.
× Joel. i. 10.
ϒ Joel. ii. 17.
+ Osee. v. 1.
^ Tabor.
× Amos. v. 21.
ϒ Amos. viii. 11.
+ Mich. iii. 1.

Digitized by Google

Jerusalem in iniquitatibus: duces ejus cum muneribus judicant, et sacerdotes A ejus cum mercede respondebant, et prophetæ ejus cum pecunia divinabant, et in Domino requiescebant, dicentes: Nonne Dominus in nobis est? Non venient super nos mala. Ideo propter vos Sion sicut ager arabitur, et Jerusalem sicut specula pomarii erit, et mons domus sicut locus sylvæ.' Et post aliquanta:
ℵ Mich. vii. 1. ℵ' Heu me, quia factus sum sicut qui colligit stipulam in messe, et sicut race-mus in vindemia cum non sit botrus ad manducandum primitiva. Heu me, anima quia periit terrenis operibus, semper peccatorum reverentia exoritur reverens a terra, et, qui corrigat inter homines, non est. Omnes in sanguinem judicio contendunt, et unusquisque proximum suum tribulatione tribulat, in Zephonias. malum manus suas præparat.'] Quid Sophonias etiam propheta egregius de vestris olim comessoribus disceptaverit, attendite, de Jerusalem namque loque- B × Zeph. iii. 1. batur quæ spiritualiter Ecclesia vel anima intelligitur: ×' O,' inquiens, 'quæ erat splendida et liberata civitas, confidens columba, non obaudivit vocem, nec percepit disciplinam, in Domino non confisa est, et ad Deum suum non accessit.'
ϒ Zeph. iii. 3. Et id quare, ostendit: ϒ' Principes ejus sicut leo rugientes, judices sicut lupi Arabiæ non relinquebant in mane, prophetæ ejus spiritum portantes viri con-temptoris, sacerdotes ejus prophanabant sancta, et impie agebant in lege: Dominus autem justus in medio ejus, et non faciet injustum mane, mane dabit Zacharias. judicium suum.' Sed et beatum Zachariam prophetam monentem vos in verbo + Zach. vii. 9. Dei audite: +' Hæc enim dicit Dominus omnipotens: Judicium justum judicate, et misericordiam et miserationem facite unusquisque ad fratrem suum, et viduam et orphanum et advenam et pauperem per potentiam nolite nocere, et C malitiam unusquisque fratris sui non reminiscatur in corde suo: et contumaces fuerunt ne observarent, et dederunt dorsum stultitiæ, et aures suas degravaverunt ut non audirent, et cor suum statuerunt insuadibile ne audirent legem meam et verba, quæ misit Dominus omnipotens [in spiritu suo in manibus prophetarum ℵ Zach. x. 2. priorum, et facta est ira magna a Domino omnipotente.' Et iterum: ℵ' Quoniam qui loquebantur, locuti sunt molestias, et divini visa falsa, et somnia falsa loquebantur, et vana consolabantur: propter hoc aridi facti sunt sicut oves, et afflicti sunt quoniam non erat sanitas.] Super pastores exacervata est iracundia × Zach. xi. 3. mea, et super agnos visitabo.' [Et post pauca: ×' Vox lamentantium pastorum, quia misera facta est magnitudo eorum. Vox rugientium leonum, quoniam miser factus est decursus Jordanis. Hæc dicit Dominus omnipotens: Qui pos- D sidebant interficiebant, et non pœnituit eos: et, qui vendebant eas dicebant:
Benedictus Dominus, et ditati sumus, et pastores earum nihil passi sunt in eis.
Propter quod non parcam jam super inhabitantes terram, dicit Dominus.'] Malachias. Quid præterea sanctus Malachias propheta vobis denunciaverit, audite: ϒ' Vos,' ϒ Malach. i. 6. inquiens, 'sacerdotes qui spernitis nomen meum, et dixistis: In quo spernimus nomen tuum? Offerendo ad altare meum panes pollutos: et dixistis, In quo polluimus eos? In eo quod dixistis: Mensa Domini pro nihilo est, et quæ superposita sunt sprevistis: quoniam si adducatis cæcum ad victimam, nonne malum? Si admoveatis claudum aut languidum, nonne malum? Offer itaque illud præposito tuo si suscipiet illud, si accipiet personam tuam, dicit Dominus omnipotens. Et nunc exorate faciem Dei vestri, et deprecamini eum: in E manibus vestris facta sunt hæc, si accipiam ex vobis personas vestras.' Et + Malach. i. 13. iterum: +' Et intulistis de rapina claudum et languidum, et intulistis munus.
Nunquid suscipiam illud de manu vestra, dicit Dominus? Maledictus dolosus qui habet in grege suo masculum, et votum faciens immolat debile Domino, quia rex magnus ego sum, dicit Dominus exercituum, et nomen meum horribile ℵ Malach. ii. 1. in gentibus.' ℵ' [Et nunc ad vos mandatum hoc, O sacerdotes, si nolueritis audire et ponere super cor ut detis gloriam nomini meo, ait Dominus exercituum, mittam in vos egestatem, et maledicam benedictionibus vestris, quoniam non posuistis super cor. Ecce ego projiciam vobis brachium, et dispergam super vultum vestrum stercus solennitatum vestrarum.' Sed interea ut avidius organa

Digitized by Google

